MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS GIVEN A CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

Mayor George L. Baker and four minor officials in the city of Portland, Ore., faced a court trial on malfeasance charges. They were accused of having agreed to pay $200,000 too much for a municipal market site. A direct verdict of acquittal was ordered by the trial judge. Having been exonerated of all guilt, the mayor and the commissioners returned to their desks. Speaking of politics, the trial judge is a republican, the mayor is a republican and the commissioners are republicans. In the city of New York the Hon. Sam Seabury, head of the republican investigating committee, has made similar charges against public officials. These officials are Tammany chieftains. Several have been sent to trial. Verdicts of acquittal were returned. If in Portland, the proud city of the Pacific coast commonwealth, important officials and leaders are given verdicts of acquittal, why not in the metropolises of the Atlantic seaboard. Accusation is not evidence. A grand jury indictment is not a verdict of guilt. A person accused of crime is entitled to a trial facing an impartial judge or a jury of 12 of his peers. There is a bitter campaign coming in Texas. It would be well for spellbinders, demagogues or the reverse, to stick to the facts while the campaign is on.

WHEAT ACREAGE IN THE NORTHWEST

Theodore Christianson is a republican who was for six years governor of the wheat producing state of Minnesota. Theodore is on the warpath. He says to pay taxes and interest the farmer must plant more wheat. Thus the spring wheat acreage of Minnesota, Montana, and the Dakotas, this year, will be nearly 3,000,000 acres more than in 1931. Gett his from the book of Theodore:

"It now takes 1200 bushels of wheat to pay the interest on a $10,000 mortgage; in 1920 it took but 240 bushels." Mortgages are not being paid, according to this former governor, and "there will be no restoration of buying power until prices get high enough to pay debts; and until that power returns unemployment must continue."

Speaking of inflation and the charge that it would defraud the creditor, the voice of Minnesota wheat growers answered, "No. He lent dollars worth a hundred cents. It would be unjust if he should get back dollars with the purchasing power of 200 cents." Well, just now it appears to be the age old contest between the growers and the makers of things—the latter the beneficiaries of the highest tariff in American history and the former clamoring for markets for their surplus products in the nations beyond the seas.

ARCHIE ROOSEVELT IN THE PICTURE

Archie Roosevelt is the son of a great father. He saw service in the World War. He has presented to President Hoover a letter asking him to take open and determined action to cut off compensation paid "to the veterans for disabilities not resulting from war service." Archie Roosevelt is a crusader. He is for the repeal of the pro laws. He insists that the power should be returned to the state. If all the dries would move into one political camp and all the wets into another there might come a showdown on the alleged burning issue. As it is, the merry-go-round will continue throughout the years and the burning issue will continue to burn for a lot of people who make a living out of the game. Business is business.

"WHY A COUNTY AUDITOR?"

"Why a county auditor," asks the Port Arthur News, speaking of recent developments under the dome of the Jefferson county courthouse. Well, Dallas county taxpayers are asking the same question. Why a county auditor? There is a state auditor who has uncovered a vast deal of looting on the part of fee grabbers. There is a special committee of the senate that has uncovered political rotteness or corruption in many counties of the state. There are private auditors who have made it interesting for aridulous officials in certain sections of Texas. It is a pointed question or interrogatory. It will cause lots of comment. "Why a county auditor who fails to audit?"

A HUMAN INTEREST STORY WORTH WHILE

A human interest story worth while, from the pen of Helen Pool, was carried by the Sunday Waco News-Tribune. It was more than a biographical sketch. It was a feature story away above the average. It dealt with the home life of Mrs. Ross Sterling, the wife of the governor, the mistress of the mansion on the hill and the first lady of grand old Texas. Flowers for the living—to the writer of the fascinating sketch as well as the mistress of the mansion. It was homespun from foreword to finish without a gaudy or a fulsome sildlight.

PROSPERITY PROMISED TO MOVIE LAND

Carl Leammie is head of the Universal Film Corporation. He is very optimistic. He has a wonderful building program. He has a budget of $18,000,000, the largest in the history of his corporation, and this vast sum will be spent for the production of pictures this year. This enlarged budget, according to the movie king, is based on his hope and expectation that the 1932-1933 season will be one of the biggest in the motion picture industry experience.

SENATOR THOMAS THROWS DOWN THE GAUNTLET

Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma is fighting mad. He has served notice that unless congress vote an import tax on oil "we will be here until late fall." This is his plan of procedure: "Unless some steps are taken to protect the oil industry I will have amendments enough to keep us here until fall." It would be more than interesting for congress to keep grinding away until the eve of presidential election day next November.

About every place I go I find life fast. Speed everywhere. Fast talking, fast walking and fast driving. I have learned to dash across streets, to jam into street cars and to keep moving.

From the progress being made at Geneva, it looks as if final instruction to each delegate was "don't sign anything."

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

JACOB, ESAU RECONCILED

Text: Gen. 33:1-11.
 The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 22.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist.
 The reconciliation of Jacob and Esau came late, but it was very effectual when it came. Probably it was made possible by the fact that both men had grown in wisdom and also in moral outlook and character since the day when slackness in the one man and duplicity in the other had brought tragic separation between the brothers.

On the whole, the story of the reconciliation is more creditable to Esau than to Jacob, and it does much to restore the balance in one's estimate of the character of the man who sold his birthright.

Esau was the aggrieved party; the concessions were almost entirely on his side. Jacob, and it does much to restore the balance in one's estimate of the character of the man who sold his birthright.

Esau played a brother's part. There were no reproaches. There was no unholly recollection to mar the complete magnanimity of his action. He can be met Jacob, embracing him and kissing him, while the two men wept, and then as Esau lifted up his eyes and saw the great multitude with Jacob, he was moved further. The things that Jacob had brought to win his favor he refused to accept, pleading that he had enough and offering rather a present on his own behalf.

It is a delightful interlude, or climax, in the story of the two brothers. The narrative lights up the whole drama like sunlight pouring through the clouds on a dark and troubled day.

The man of aggressive, selfish ambition may become a strong and noble character when he is purged from his meanness and duplicity; and on the other hand a man who lacks ambition, who is rather slack and indifferent, may become a very gentle and admirable character when he orders his life aright, faithful in the things that are needful, but unselfish, and generous, and free entirely from greed and acquisitiveness.

The story is a record of how men of very diverse natures and characters may, under the operation of right forces, alike come to the better way of life. And it reveals how the finer things of character—fairness, courage, unselfishness and magnanimity—outlive all achievements of aggressiveness and acquisitiveness. Men are sometimes ultimately for what they have been rather than for what they have gotten.

Pressure Cookers to Be Demonstrated at Montgomery Ward

Harry Devitt, factory demonstrator for the Windsor pressure cooker, will arrive in Ranger early Monday morning to demonstrate the cookers for Montgomery Ward & Co., according to H. J. Barham, manager.

Mr. Devitt will give his first demonstration Monday afternoon. Further announcements will be made daily in the advertisements for the store.

Some of the politicians are coming out for free silver again. But the really wise ones will advocate free beer.

DESDEMONA

The "21" Study club had a very interesting music day program on Tuesday of last week at the home of Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass with Mrs. Roy Ashburn and Mrs. Mattie Henry as hostesses. Eighteen members responded to roll call with topics on music. The program was led by Mrs. Plummer Ashburn who gave a talk on negro spirituals and melodies. Mrs. C. M. Bratten had a paper on National Anthems and Sacred Songs and their writers. Indian music and Cowboy Songs were discussed by Mrs. C. W. Maltby and a sketch of the life work of Stephen C. Foster was given by Mrs. Earl Lane. Group singing of "America," "Home, Sweet Home," and "Old Uncle Ned" formed an enjoyable part of the program. A color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the delicious refreshments of angel food squares laced in green strawberry ice cream, coffee and favors of pink mints in green baskets. A Stuffer piano, tuner from Ranger was here on business Monday. Mrs. W. E. Barron, Mrs. Gifford Acrea, Mrs. C. M. Bratten and Rev. R. A. Walker went to Breckenridge Tuesday to attend the two days session of the Cisco District conference of the Methodist church. W. C. Bedford and his daughter, Mrs. Betty Vestal, drove up to Cisco Thursday to attend the funeral of Harry Scott, only son of Judge and Mrs. D. K. Scott. The deceased had passed away Monday at a Veterans' hospital at Sheridan, Wyoming. Mrs. Clara Beamer and her daughter, Miss Irene Whiteshot and Mrs. Charles Lee drove down to Fort Worth Sunday and spent the day with Miss Eryle Gallagher who came from Denton to meet them there. Mr. and Mrs. Lon Quinn drove down to Mineral Wells Sunday to visit their daughter, Mrs. Robert

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

BECAUSE IT DISAPPEARED SO SUDDENLY, THE CAROLINA RAIL ONCE WAS THOUGHT TO TURN INTO A FROG WHEN WINTER CAME.

A NEGRO, MATT HENSON, ACCOMPANIED ROBERT PEARY ON HIS EXPEDITION TO THE NORTH POLE!

FEATHERS ARE MADE OF A MATERIAL UNLIKE ANYTHING ELSE IN NATURE. IT IS NEITHER BONE NOR FLESH, MEMBRANE NOR TENDON.

THE SORA, or Carolina Rail, disappears so mysteriously when cold weather comes, that old-time naturalists believed they turned into frogs, and spent the winter months in the water. Swallows were thought to bury themselves in the mud and become torpid through the cold weather. As an experiment, John Hunter, the English anatomist, shut several swallows in a room and placed tubs of mud at their disposal. Of course the birds died of starvation. As late as the nineteenth century, hibernation of birds was still believed in by many persons.

Weir, who is said to be improving. Mrs. Otis Bucnan and little daughter of DeLeon were guests of her uncle, J. R. Buchan, Thursday when they came to attend the funeral of Will H. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Richardson and children spent Sunday at Stephenville with his parents.

Mrs. Plummer Ashburn spent the weekend at Pioneer with her brothers, I. C. Plumlee and Arthur Plumlee. She was accompanied by Miss Gladys Scott, of Gorman. Gene Plumlee of Rising Star, youngest brother of Mrs. Ashburn came home with her to visit for a week.

Dick Schuman of DeLeon, was here Saturday on business.

J. H. Bratton of Nixon is visiting his son, C. M. Bratton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hendrickson were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Bruce last week.

Cesar Martin and family left Monday for the East Texas oil fields where they will reside. We regret very much to lose them from our town.

The Methodist Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon and had a very interesting program on "Prohibition." The leader was Mrs. W. H. Whitworth and others taking part were Miss Mollie O'Brien and Miss Gifford Acrea, and C. M. Bratton.

Mrs. Carvante, sister of W. H. Davis, and her two daughters, Miss Pansy Day and Frank Jones, and Mrs. John Small, a cousin and her son, all of Dallas, were here to attend the funeral of Will H. Davis Thursday.

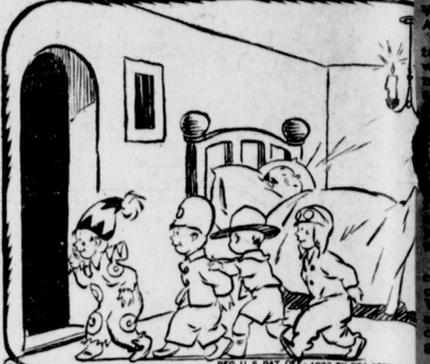

Lester Cotton and wife of Dalhart, Mrs. Frank Brewer and children of Coleman and Miss Elizabeth Cotton of Georgetown, brother and sisters of Mrs. Davis, and her mother, Mrs. Cotton, of Dalhart, were also here to attend the funeral of their loved one, Will H. Davis.

Friends here were grieved to learn that Mrs. N. V. Ellison a pioneer settler of Desdemona, passed away at 6 o'clock Friday morning at her home at Stephenville at the age of 79 years. She had not been ill the rather frail for several years. She was laid to rest at Stephenville Saturday afternoon. We extend sympathy to the sorrowing relatives. Those from Desdemona who attended the funeral were Arch Brown, Alton Brown, Roy Rushing and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rushing.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist church over the remains of Will H. Davis, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis who was burned Tuesday afternoon by the explosion of a gasoline motor on the back of his car, the cause of which could not be determined. He was rushed to the Blackwell sanitarium but passed away at 10 o'clock just five hours after the accident. He was terribly burned except his head and face. He was at home alone when the accident occurred but neighbors reached him almost at once and found that he had put out the fire by rolling on the ground but not before he had received deep burns all over. He retained consciousness to the last breath and said he was ready to die. He had been a constant christian and member of the Methodist church several years. He will be greatly missed from the church and Sunday school as well as the town where he had lived since childhood. He graduated from high school here two years ago and a few months ago completed a course in electrical engineering at North Texas State Agricultural college at Arlington. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. A. Walker, Methodist pastor, Rev. Chambliss Baptist pastor, and Rev. Alva E. Miller, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Handley. Floral offerings were unusually numerous and beautiful. Since sympathy is being extended to the grief-stricken parents and sister and other relatives in their loss of this much loved and popular boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Will St. John of Cisco, were here Sunday watching the completion of the Coghurn well being drilled by Gallagher-Lawson and St. John. It was making over half a million cubic feet of gas with show. ign of oil at 2730 feet. It is confidently expected that it will make a good well.

WHEN old man play had told you eat, the food is good and you eat the bunch 'bout work that you good and keep you fit play, he had a hunch that he could give them more advice on other things galore. "If you don't mind my talk," said he, "and listen attentively, I'll tell you how you ought to eat." He then heard Duncy roar.

"Speaking of eating," said the lad, "I know that I'd be mighty glad if I could have a bite of lunch. Most anything will do."

"If you'll make sandwiches for us, and promise not to fret and fuss, we'll thoroughly enjoy them and be much obliged to you."

"ALL right," replied the play man. "Come! I'll very gladly make you some. And while you are enjoying them I'll tell you 'bout your meals."

And so they went inside his door and ate till they could eat no more. "Oh, gee," said Scouty, "when a fellow eats, how good he feels!"

The play man said, "If you're discreet and always careful how

Ranger Lions Chop Weeds Around Swimming Pool, Eat An Outdoor Breakfast and Raise Many Blisses

Nineteen members of the Ranger Lions club, one substitute and two volunteers met at the Willows this morning at 6 o'clock and worked hard toward getting all the weeds and grass cut from around the pool. A team and mower belonging to John Thurman was also donated to help out with the work. The club members assembled, after being awakened by President Al Larson and Secretary Jess Mordbak and notified that it was time to get to work. The club members and volunteers entered into the work wholeheartedly while Lions Stephens, Throver and Golden acted as cooks, preparing a breakfast of bacon and coffee. The workers, after about half an hour, began to smell the cooking bacon and coffee and each began to work gradually toward the scene of the culinary activities in order to be on time when "chow" was ready. The morale of the company was broken when B. E. Garner and Saule Perlestein withstood the pangs of hunger longer and led the way to the kitchen. Five dozen eggs, lots of butter and large quantities of bacon were consumed, several were raised in hands and arms, and to such work and practice the weeds and grass cut, and reports.

Those taking part in the cutting and bacon and eggs were Lions Reese, Moore, son, Nichol, Stephens, Throver, Golden, Holloway, Ringold, Throver, Galloway, Davis, K. Curley and Murray. A. J. Curley who could not be present, substituted to chop weeds for several Lions who did not have time to get to the pool. Detailed reports before the next meeting as to what were unable to be present. Dent Larson said today.

High score favor, a pottery vase was awarded Mrs. Lawrence. A dainty salad course was served and roses and cornflowers carried out the color note of tallies and other appointments in pink and blue. Club announcement of next meeting later.

PARIS STYLES

United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS.—The ostrich-cloth mania is increasing in intensity over here. There are collar and cuff sets of it, little guimpes and gilets, belts and whole blouses—and not only in white, but in every color of the well known rainbow.

But even at that, it has lost none of its original charm or practicability. It may still be called "new" and certainly, decidedly "different" and almost invariably when a stranger is introduced to it for the first time, he, or she will exclaim, "Well for pity's sake—what in the world is that?"—which proves its merit.

Patou recognizes this new material in one of his important blues this season. It is the in-between blue that he has named after himself, Patou's Blue, and in combination either with his navy or mid-night blue, or with the lighter flash shade, or with a frill of white showing somewhere near the throat or cuffs, there is nothing lovelier for spring.

Keeping Up With Eastland County Students at C.I.A.

Special Correspondent. DENTON, May 20.—Frances Glazner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Glazner, Ranger, attended a picnic given by the Philomathia Literary society, last Thursday, at Lake Dallas. Miss Glazner, who became a member of the Philomathia Literary society this semester, is a freshman education major in Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.).

Maydelle Sikes, with Erez Me-Micken of Weatherford as her escort, attended the formal dance of the senior class, Saturday night, in colonial garden setting in the F. M. Bralley Memorial library. Proceeding the dance which was at 9 o'clock, the senior and their dates were entertained with a five-course dinner in the college cafeteria. Dinner music was furnished by Buster Welch's University Collegians who also played for the dance. Little sisters in organly colonial dresses served their big sisters. Little sisters presented each boy with a white buttoniere.

Miss Sikes, who will receive her degree in June, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sikes, Eastland.

On Tuesday evening, May 17, the Faculty club gave a reception for the seniors of 1932. The reception is an annual event sponsored by the club. The reception committee of this year is comprised of Dr. and Mrs. Hubbard, Miss Margaret Gleason, Miss Willie I. Birge and Miss Julia E. Lipscomb, president of the club.

Joyce Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson, 201 South Oak street, Eastland, attended a garden party given by Miss Edith Tullis, for the Library club. Three new members were initiated into the club at the closing meeting of the club of the year, Thursday, when Miss Tullis entertained at her home, 508 Third street. Miss Johnson is doing graduate work in library science at the college.

The annuals are out and everyone has stopped counting the days on the calendar long enough to look at them. They must be good. Friday, dead week begins and that means those last-minute themes and notebooks must be finished. Girls will begin to look hollow-eyed and sorely in need of sleep, but it will soon be over and another year of school will be history.

Ranger High School Notes MISS JEWELLE JUDD Editor

Let Us Tell You What Our Home Economic Department Has Accomplished This Year. Miss Hagaman and the Home Economic girls of Ranger high school wish to extend their appreciation to Joseph Dry Goods company, J. C. Penny company, Shoppe Modern, J. C. Smith, Hassen company, Golden Florist, and P-T. A. women clubs and to each and every person who have gave us aid and encouragement this year.

The entire year's work of the home economic department in high school has been filled with many profitable activities which might be of interest to those who have helped us accomplish these things—some of which are: Served Public Speaking Banquet; Father and Son Banquet for the Future Farmers of America; Band Banquet, and helped serve the Annual Travel Club Banquet. Other activities on the calendar for the year were: Feb. 2.—Served P-T. A. ladies with a luncheon. March 2.—Style Review for P-T. A.

April 21.—Sandwich sale. April 22.—Style review, served judges and guests refreshments. April 23.—Served County Federation refreshments at Gholson hotel. April 23.—Had bake sale to raise funds to send representatives to Home Making Rally. April 24.—Sponsored musical review in high school chapel. April 28.—Sent four of the Home Economic girls to State contest, and each won places. May 11.—Served faculty with refreshments.

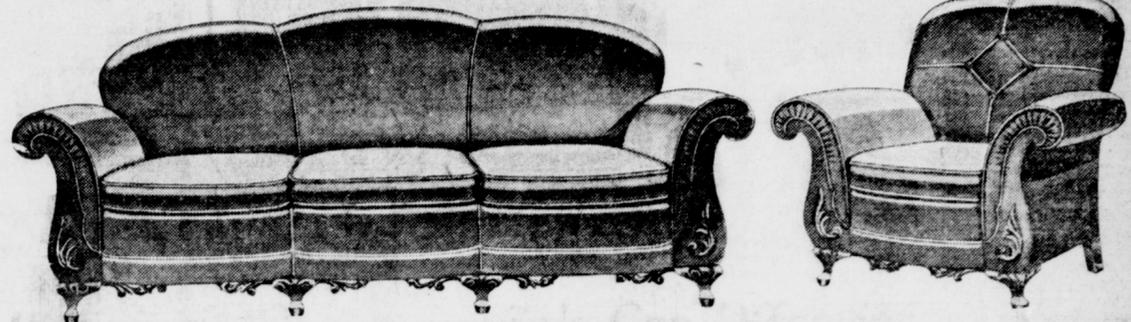

Members of this department have also presented a play, "Hen Peck Hollow Gossip," in high school chapel and entertained with a tea and informal parties. This department has proven itself to be one of the most interesting as well as educational in high school, and each girl in the department feels as if her time spent at work in this department has indeed been well worth their efforts.

Allen Dabney Is Candidate For Dist. Attorney

Allen D. Dabney of Eastland will be a candidate for criminal district attorney of Eastland county at the coming Democratic primaries should he yield to the solicitation of numerous people throughout the county. So far, however, he has declined to become a candidate.

Judge Dabney served Eastland county as county attorney some years ago and made an enviable record. It is to this record and the fact that he is a fearless, conscientious and fair prosecutor that his friends point when urging his candidacy.

There are three candidates in the district attorney's race at this time, but so far none of them have announced any platform, it is pointed out.

These urging Judge Dabney's candidacy say that should he enter the race he would make an active campaign and let the voters know his views on the important issues of the day.

The Cisco Citizens this week will say:

Friends of Hon. Allen Dabney are suggesting his name as a candidate for district attorney of Eastland county.

This may be an election year when the office will seek the man, as already several prominent people have been important to make the race for some of the offices. Now, there is a demand from the voters that Allen Dabney, than whom there is no barrister in the county better qualified, being drafted for the office of public prosecutor. The Citizen is not informed as to Mr. Dabney's decision in the matter, but should this demand reach that stage when he is convinced that he is the choice of a considerable number of the voters of the county, we know the man to be too patriotic and too loyal to his friends and the county wherein he resides to turn a deaf ear to these importunities. That he will make a splendid prosecutor none there be who would say to the contrary. In no sense would he be a persecutor, but would be vigilant in prosecuting those guilty of violating the criminal statutes of the state. His are such broad views that he would not force those accused into a defense against a criminal charge where the evidence was such that there was a strong probability of their innocence, or that there was a doubt of winning a conviction from the facts that would develop before the date of trial.

Should he be the prosecuting attorney he would elevate the dignity of the office, and establish it on such a high plane, that few could hope to raise the standard he would set, but his successors would be proud to take up the work where he would lay it down.

Should he consent to make the race it is admitted that he would be a formidable candidate, with every prospect of election.

The Citizen believes Mr. Dabney has enough personal friends in the county who would exert their influence in behalf of his candidacy to insure his election. He has been a citizen of this county "so long that the memory of man (the present generation) runneth not to the contrary."

It is understood there are other aspirants for this office but theirs is the policy of "still hunting," which rarely gained an office, as none of those who are supposed to be candidates for district attorney have announced their intentions through the county press, which today is the source of information upon which the voters rely. And none of those aspiring for the office were brought out by a popular demand as that which is behind the curtain to induce Allen Dabney get in the running.

So far, the only thing France, England, Germany, Italy have agreed on at the armament conference is that United States should pay for World War.

BABY FRETFUL, RESTLESS?

Look to this cause

When your baby fusses, tosses and seems unable to sleep restfully, look for one common cause, doctors say. Constipation. To get rid quickly of the accumulated wastes which cause restlessness and discomfort, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Castoria, you know, is made specially for children's delicate needs. It is a pure vegetable preparation; contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. It is so mild and gentle you can give it to a young infant to relieve colic. Yet it is as effective for older children. Castoria's regulative help will bring relaxed comfort and restful sleep to your baby. Keep a bottle on hand. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

©1932 BY NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SUSAN CAREY, 20 and beautiful, is in love with BOB DUNBAR, son of a millionaire. Although she is engaged to ERNEST HEATH, her former employer. She believes Bob is engaged to DENISE ACKROYD, society girl. DENISE ACKROYD, former admirer of Susan's, shows an early wedding. He arranges for Susan's aunt who has been ill to go south. JACK WARREN advises Susan not to go through with the marriage, stressing the difference between her age and Heath's. At a masked ball Susan meets Bob and the old love for him flares up again. Denise intervenes. Bob bids Susan at her home and urges her to elope with him. Heath overhears the conversation. He writes a letter asking her to release him from the engagement. Susan finds Bob just as he is about to board a train for New York.

There is nothing more to say, I guess.
His father detained him. "Where do you think you're going?"
"Back to my desk of course."
Mr. Dunbar stood up, emphasizing his words with a shaking forefinger. "You're to do nothing of the kind," he announced. "Until this affair is settled, you're persona non grata in this office. Do you understand?"
It was a blow but the boy gave no sign other than the darkening of his eyes.
"Very well, sir, if that's the way you feel about it." He turned again but his father's bellowing voice arrested him.
"What do you think you're going to live on, you young idiot, if I turn you out?"
The youth said grimly, "I suppose I can get a job."
"You do! You're very optimistic. There are hundreds of stevedores and truckmen walking the streets looking for work. They can't find it. What makes you think you can?"

THE elder Dunbar glared at his tall son. "What's that you're saying?" he demanded. "I can't seem to get what you're driving at."
Deliberately Bob repeated, "I told you, sir, I expect to be married next week."
"Hah!" The veins stood out alarmingly on the forehead of the man in the swivel chair. "You're trying to tell me—you have the face to announce that you're marrying a nobody. You know very well it's been understood you're to marry Denise."
Bob shrugged his shoulders. "That's just it," he said.
His father rapped out, "What's just it? You're talking rot this morning."
Bob tried patiently to explain. "You talked me into that engagement. You and mother—everybody."
"I suppose you don't know your own mind, hey? I must say, young man, I think you're behaving in devilish bad fashion. First you give us to understand that you want to marry Denise. Then you come around with a cock and bull story about a girl nobody knows. Someone you picked up God knows where!"
Bob gripped his hands against the back of the chair until the knuckles stood out. "I'll have to ask you to take that back," he said with deadly quiet. "I've told you all about her. There's nothing the matter with her family. She happens to be poor—that's all."
The two men continued to stare at each other. The younger moved toward the door.

There was a faint rumble in the hall and he stood up rather ill at ease. The man faced him was tall and slender, dressed in black woolen suit and a black frill of white. The man noticed that her eyes were enormous. Her eyes were enormous. As the girl advanced, Susan was to speak quickly and decisively. Susan was not the sort he had expected to see, so simple. His method of signing. He would play the simple feeling. He would see that marriage with a boy would be quite different marriage to the heir of a fortune. Susan was not a From Bob the night before heard the whole story. He wanted you to think, "I'm afraid, very impulsive here in an antagonistic way, the contrary, I feel very toward you and now that you I must applaud my own. He seated himself at the table. "I only want to make clear that there were good for my behavior as I did. son told me his plans. I'm afraid, very impulsive here he shook his head extremely sick. Perhaps he know that he is virtually another agreement." He let the words sink in. Susan said, "I'm afraid quite understand."
Mr. Dunbar smiled, "You don't, my dear, you've assured her. "The secret never tell you about him. do know all about that," he quietly.
The man's jaw dropped you do! Then I know you to be sensible about it. fond of my son you understand in his way. His feel deeply on the subject marrying Denise. In fact, future depends upon it. father's money is being trust for him. Robert will it when he is 25 on the that he marries with out. You see?" He smiled at her. "You mean, then, all slow, "that it would marry if he were to marry me. (To Be Continued)

THE boy did not answer for an instant. Then he said quietly, "Whose fault is it if I'm useless? When I wanted to study agriculture, the only thing I cared about, who discouraged me?"
"You were expelled from college. Don't forget that."
"I was because I was bored stiff. But you had your way and that was all you cared about." Bob threw his young shoulders back and eyed his parent defiantly. "This is one time you're not going to have it!" he said. "I'm going to marry Susan no matter what happens."
The older man gave a sharp, resentful laugh and spread his hands out. "Go ahead," he said, "but don't come whining to me when things go wrong!"
"I won't," Bob promised grimly. The door slammed. The father continued to stare at the spot where his son had stood a moment ago. The mottled flush died in his cheeks and once he smiled shrewdly. The boy wouldn't go far, he soliloquized. He would think it over and come to his senses. Most young men experienced these flurries of emotion over a pretty face, but there was no sense in taking the thing seriously! The girl was undoubtedly a common little piece who had her eye on Bob's inheritance. What was it Bob had said she did? Worked in an office somewhere. Young fool!
And yet unwillingly the father admired the boy for his defiance. "Didn't think he had it in him," he muttered. "He'll come round all right. He's going to talk turkey in a day or two."
Nevertheless, Mr. Dunbar rang for his secretary and demanded the telephone directory. He had a good memory and there flashed into his mind the name Bob had dropped earlier in the conversation. The girl's name was Carey. She lived with her aunt Jessie, Bob had said, on the west side. His spatulate thumb ran down the list of telephone subscribers. Sure enough, there was the name. In his small, neat, copper-plate script Dunbar wrote the street number in his pocket address book. It might be handy to have during the next few days.

To his father's surprise and irritation, Bob did not come round. The servants reported that he had returned home around noon, had packed a bag and departed without leaving any word. Mrs. Dunbar was at Hot Springs. She was one of those fretful, chronic invalids. Her husband was relieved that there was no necessity of explaining the situation to her.

AFTER a day of waiting during which his digestion was annoyingly impaired the older man mapped out a course of action. Hard-shelled autocrat that he was, he loved his only son dearly. This open break with Robert disturbed him. Mr. Dunbar decided to see the girl and talk a little sense to her.
He frowned with distaste as his taxi, bumping along the shabby side street, came to a stop. It was just as he had expected—a house in a row of brave, run-down dwellings badly needing paint.
"Wait for me," he commanded the driver. Dunbar rang the bell with some trepidation. It was not a pleasant errand but it was one he must go through with whether or not he liked it.
A lean, gray-haired woman in a spotless blue house dress answered the ring.
"We don't want to buy anything," she began firmly. Then, struck by something in her caller's bearing, she stopped, confused.
"I want to see Miss Susan Carey," Dunbar said in his courtliest manner. "Is she in?"
"Oh, yes, I'll call her." The gray-haired woman gave him another penetrating look and then invited him to enter. As the man waited in the small living room he glanced about with annoyance. It was not at all the sort of interior he had expected. The old rosewood chairs, carved and upholstered in the manner of the '80's, had a decent self-respect about them. So

"LEAP YEAR BRIDES"

A NEW EXCITING SERIAL WHICH BEGINS IN THIS PAPER MAY 25

She was a Leap Year BRIDE

Why shouldn't a girl ask the man she loves to marry her? I did.

I'm Cherry Dixon, the "Leap Year Bride" of the new serial by that title.

Maybe you think girls should sit back and wait for the Boy Friend to propose. If you do—or if you don't—I'd like you to read my story, "Leap Year Bride," beginning in serial from May 25.

There will be no admission charge and parents, friends and the general public are invited to be present.

Nurses Attend District Convention At Abilene

Miss Beulah Bowles, West Texas Clinic and Hospital associate, accompanied by Miss Mary Jo Caulfield of Eastland, and Miss Sue Hamilton of Olden, were visitors in Abilene yesterday where they attended the district nurses convention.

The convention was reported as unusually interesting as general reports were heard from the National session which convened at San Antonio recently. The three representatives are well known nurses throughout this section of the country.

German Riots Beat Football

By United Press.

EUGENE, Ore.—Election riots in Germany are far more interesting than American football games. That's the opinion of Dr. Robert D. Horn, professor of English at University of Oregon.

Dr. Horn observed first-hand conditions of that country while doing research work in libraries of some 20 German cities. The professor witnessed his first riot in Berlin.

"I was walking one day towards the Potsdamerplatz. As I approached the flower stands, so brilliant in color, there was a crash of glass and a hotel man complained to two policemen.

"From far off, there was the murmur of many voices and the rush of many feet. As I took shelter against a tree, a crowd of men and boys pressed widely past. There was no escape for me.

"Streets were blocked in all directions. Stalled street cars and taxis made a wall of obstruction on one side, while hundreds of police, mounted and on foot, and appearing out of nowhere, commanded any other possible exits.

"The mob whirled across the Platz to a huge department store. More windows were smashed. At one of the most popular restaurants broken windows showed torn hangings and drapes, and some of the jaunty red and white striped sun shades in the garden were battered. Yet, to the annoyance of the mob, there still remained visible tea and coffee drinkers, daring to be nonchalant in face of actual danger.

"Much of this may sound like a cheap detective story, but I learned that the master mind and instigator of the riot was Adolf Hitler. He occupied a room overlooking Potsdamerplatz while his followers carried on in the streets below."

RESENTED COW KISSES
SEATTLE.—Armand Eckman, Maple Valley rancher, caught his foot in the crotch of a tree while pruning branches. He hung, head down, and yelled for help. A Jersey cow insisted on licking his face. He punched the bovine in the nose, but it placidly licked his face until he was rescued.

WALKED 18 MILES FOR DINNER

By United Press.
GREENFIELD, Mass.—Henry Hayden, 86, recently walked here from his home in Northfield, 18 miles away, for his usual birthday dinner at the Mansion House in memory of his father and mother, who were cooks at the hotel 111 years ago. After dinner and a short rest, he walked home.

HERE--- AND THERE

Society Editor Eastland Telegram

Eastland has a novel group known as the Christian social relations, which is doing some interesting work, along contact lines with various phases and conditions in life. This committee is a branch of the Missionary society of the Methodist church, and is the active result of a meeting held early in the season, when each officer was allowed three minutes in which to tell the duties of her office, and why she considered it the most important work in her church society. One of these women, Mrs. Bert McGlamery, read her original poem, and which was later published in the Central Texas Conference Bulletin. This poem graphically describes the scope of work of Christian social relations. Some most unusual work has been accomplished, and these women have a just pride in the record attained. As local superintendent of Christian social relations for the society, Mrs. McGlamery was made chairman of a group to be organized here with sub-chairmen of departments, women of her choice. The organizer is also superintendent of this work in the Cisco district, and is an assistant to Mrs. F. P. Culver, of Fort Worth, the superintendent of Women's Missionary Societies of the conference.

In an attempt to, at least partially, limit the showing of pictures not deemed exactly suitable, a chairman of motion pictures was appointed, who observes the attractions of local theatres and reports on her work. Mrs. B. M. Collier is chairman.

Social welfare and relief work is in charge of Mrs. George W. Shearer.

Inter-racial co-operation, Mrs. Lola Mitchell and Mrs. W. K. Jackson. This committee works among the Mexican settlement and better conditions of Eastland's colored folks.

Rural co-operation, Mrs. W. H. Mullings.

The child welfare work is in charge of Mrs. Earl Bender, and "sunshine for shut-ins" by Mrs. H. O. Satterwhite.

Often, matters arise in the path of the Christian woman's work, for which relief can sometimes be secured through legislative action. Mrs. C. C. Robey, a lawyer of this city, is chairman of legislation.

Law observance, Mrs. W. C. Marlow, chairman.

Juvenile delinquency, Mrs. Milton Newman, chairman. Attends court trials of juveniles.

Citizenship training is taught by Mrs. R. E. Sikes, who meets with less fortunate people and illustrates the precepts and habits in good citizenship.

Contact with the Better Homes work in America, is handled through Mrs. Jack London, and oversight of city and county jails and institutions, by Mrs. Frank Castleberry.

News stands and billboards are supervised by Mrs. Edward Everett. And, international relations and work in world peace, is under chairmanship of Mrs. J. C. Cheamer.

All these various activities are

Country Boy Makes Good

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robey left for Mineral Wells last evening to attend the bar association now in convention in that city, and especially to hear the address of their friend, Martin W. Littleton of New York, a lawyer of wide reputation in the east. Mr. Littleton was formerly of Weatherford and later of Dallas. He has been for many years a friend of the Bobeys. Texas is proud of such examples as that given in the meteoric career of Mr. Littleton, who, from the modest obscurity of a small-town lawyer, swept into fame on his defense of Harry K. Thaw of New York, tried for the murder of Stanford White, the famous architect.

Eastland Friends Heard From

A few years ago the Thurmond White family filled a prominent and important place in the social, musical and business life of Eastland. Since then, they have made their home in Shreveport, La., where Mrs. White has two successful music studios, and in addition goes concerting in voice and piano, at stated intervals, over the musical circuit of Texas. During her Eastland residence Mrs. White was president of the Music Study Club. The first musical pageant of the History of Texas was given under her direction, at the old Comellee ball grounds and was witnessed by an audience of 2,000 people.

When the Whites departed, their two little daughters were long pigtails, and were at the knobby-knee age. Today, the graduation cards of Miss Thalia Thurmond White are received, to the commencement exercises at the Byrd high school, in municipal auditorium, next Tuesday evening, Shreveport, La.

Miss Elizabeth Pitzer, who was the guest of Mrs. Louis Pitzer and Sid Pitzer the past three days, left yesterday for Tyler, Texas, to visit her sister, Mrs. Robert D. Gordon.

Mrs. Edith La Belle, of Los Angeles, Calif., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Guy Quinn, and family, at the Leon power plant.

If you were one of the visitors to the United Dry Goods store opening Thursday night, you must have been pleased with the flood of golden light that bathed the handsome show windows, and flooded the store and that came from a huge spotlight, on the courthouse facade, opposite the store.

The light was so brilliant that Campbell's band of 18 pieces read their music easily. Crowds of visitors enjoyed the handsome showing, the music, and the general ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conner have had as guests on various days through the week, Miss Alline Burch, Chief Justice Court of Civil Appeals, T. H. Conner and wife of Fort Worth, Mmes. Anderson and Foxworth of Cisco.

An Eastland group of lawyers and their wives and other friends that attended the Martin Littleton of New York address, Thursday night at the bar association in Mineral Wells, included Judge and Mrs. Oscar Chastain, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Seaberry, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Grisham, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Springer, Judge and Mrs. J. E. Hickman, Rev. George W. Shearer, John W.

Metal Industry In Germany Shows Depression Change

By United Press.
BERLIN.—Conditions in the German metallurgical industry are showing a significant change. On the one hand certain branches of the industry are experiencing a slight improvement in the domestic market. On the other hand the export situation is growing worse.

Thus structural steel is again in demand and plants which have been idle in recent months are again working at half capacity. The production of bicycles also has improved, but manufacturers of machines complain of a further decline in their business, which already was severely affected by the world crisis.

This deterioration is primarily due to the decrease in foreign orders. While domestic orders in Turner, and Earl Conner, Jr. also an attendant of junior bar association.

Judge and Mrs. John D. McRae returned home yesterday from a stay at the Glenrose sanitarium.

Miss Majorie Davidson, who has been teacher of expression in Dallas, at Our Lady of Good Council college, will spend the summer with her parents, the George A. Davidsons. Their son, George, Jr., will also return next week from his duties as mathematical instructor in Roswell Military Academy, at Roswell, New Mexico.

January and February were 57 per cent below last year's level, foreign orders decreased by 60 per cent over the same period.

Machine factories are working to 29 per cent of capacity and laborers are working an average of 37 hours per week. This time last year the plants were working to 43 per cent of capacity and the laborers an average of 42 hours weekly.
