Progress Report

West Ward Building Being Demolished --South Ward to 'Wait'

coming down.

Demolition of the sturdy old building is moving fast and is expected to be completed on contract schedule. The school board awarded contract for demolition to the Brown Wrecking and Lumber Co. of Abilene, and the contract, dated July 1, is for 60 days on the West Ward building. John E. Brown is in charge of the local project.

Contract was for the demolition of both West and South Ward buildings, but school officials are going to "hold off" a little on tearing down the South Ward plant "just in case" something should go amiss and prevent the moving L. W. Mitchell into the brand new elementary plant sa soon as planned. No such delay is foreseen, but officials agreed it's better to be safe than "building-less at the last mnute."

Terms of the demolition contract call for the wrecking firm to be paid $445.75 on completion of the contract and have salvage rights to all that comes out of the building, except certain usable fur-

TOURIST ATTRACTION? - Italy, Greece and other ancient countries have done wonders exploiting their ruins as attractions to visitors. This particular site is about two blocks from the center of Eastland and some contend that it might be publicized as a crumbling coliseum, standing pillars and all.

C-C Tourist Contest Needs Entries -- Yours

There haven't been a dozen entries received yet in the Chamber of Commerce's current "Pick a Project" for Eastland contest, which ends the last day of Contest officials report that the entries to date have contained some good ideas, but it is felt that there are probably many more yet to be offered by local residents. The idea is to suggest something that Eastland can do now to help attract tourists off Interstate 20 when that highway skirts Eastland to the south. Many ideas were discussed recently in a meeting at the chamber and some are being explored, but it was decided at that time to stage a contest and let the people of Eastland speak out on what they think could be done to attract tourists, and the resulting business they bring, to the city.

Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 are being offered for the best three suggestions. Secret judges will huddle at the end of the month, and weigh the entries to pick the winners. So your suggestion might win some cash now, and could pave the way for a better economy for your city in the future. So put it on paper, and mail it to the Eastland Chamber of Commerce. All entries must be written and signed, but judging will be impersonal with judges not knowing whose entry is being considered.

"A staged un-entombment of Old Rip," "a domestic zoo (goats, rabbits, sheep, etc.) downtown" or a 'pirates treasure at Ringling Lake?" Which of these? Neither? Then what? Get your entries to the chamber of commerce before time runs out.

TORRID TEMPS

(Continued from Page One) grit their teeth and bear it. West Texans are used to the dry, dusty, desert heat; whereas those in South Texas down around Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Galveston are acclimatized to the humid, stickine's that makes you feel like a clam all over when the steam seems to rise from the

The lucky ones have refrigerated air in their homes, air - conditioned automobiles and a bountiful supply of ice. Few people consider a long trip or vacation without an air-conditioned auto, and few manage to make the summer without a fan or air condition er to cool their home.

How to beat the heat? Well, there are a number of ways. And they all boil down to the four W's and the H, the primary factors in any journalist's life - who, what, when, where and how.

1. Who? You that's who Who are you trying to keep cool anyway? And well, the wife and kids, too, unless you want to listen to heat-irritated tempers

2. What? The air conditioner - in house, in car, and anywhere else you're going to be for a while - like a motel on a vacation, a mountain cottage, a seaside lean-to, or what have you.

When? Mainly in the middle of the day, But July and August sun often requires air-conditioning and other heat treatments during the whole day - sun up to sun down and double time during the hot noons.

4. Where? Oh. in a hamconditioner or in bed. if the bedroom is air-conditioned. But certainly not in a hot of-5. How? With a glass of

Four Counties Will Send Boys To 4-H Campout

RIAI

More than 100 boys, local leaders and dads from various 4-H Clubs in Eastland, Callahan, Shackelford and Palo Pinto Counties will hold their annual camp at Lake Cisco Park Monday and Tuesday, according to an announcement from J. M. Cooper, Eastland county Agricultural Agent.

The camp will include swimming, washers, horse shoe and washer pitching, a track meet and baseball games. An interesting Monday evening program on wildlife conservation has been arranged.

All Eastland County club boys, dads and local leaders have been invited to attend. Most of the food for the camp is brought from home so as to keep costs per boy for camp insurance, ice, swims and other incidentals to a minimum.

all ours, and we did not that time. I do not know what great deal of money would do to one who had never had enough; it didn't happen to me.

At some time my father reminded me, "No, Pet, you must always remember that Desdemona was named for your mother's aunt, Desdemo-Wynn, whose father was ole' Squire Wynn; she taught the first school in these parts; Come here to keep Molly and Tom Henry company, mostly Indians back then!."

My next memories are of hearing my father say to my mother, "No, Lizzie, you keep the kids away from the matches: don't let 'em strike a match. The Cosden is runnin' wild and with all that gas, we'd all explode. The whole country would explode! Aunt Kizzie - Kizzia Shuler-won't let 'em drill up by the graveyard, and I guess I don't blame her, but there might be big oil there." Aunt Kizzie was grandpa Carruth's sister, and she said she just didn't need money bad enough to let em drill near where her husband, son-in-law, my greatgrandfather and grandmother, and my great-great grandfather and grandmother were

My father went into the drug business which I remember because I ate all the ice cream cones I wanted. I can see the street, the side-walks made of boards, the streets of mud, O'Rear's General Store stocked with crackers, pickles, and salt in barrels, and smelling of saddle leather soap, and tin.

I remember the Rip Andersons, Dr. Kuykendalls, Dan Powers, Griffins, and others who lived on our street in Desdemona. Both the Baptist and Methodist Churches were on the street and I got religion every time they had a revival until I am not sure of the times I was converted three times, I think.

The young men in my fathanother Gallagher, a Mr. Brocan't recall. I am not saying sons. They may have been. I do remember that the meetings to which they went were in Fort Worth, and they didn't take their wives. At any rate,

I remember that, on one of came flagrantly brave and that when the men returned, the base; and, that the effect was startling; my father had big nose. My mother became very indignant the time some single women living near us put their flesh-colored underwear on the clothesline. This, I think, especially funny now, since her daughters, who are no longer young hang very-very-briefs on her line and she doesn't say a word! I recall living in a big house called the 'Green House', because it was painted a putrid, pea-green color, and that not so many years ago I went back to Desdemona; and, I wish I hadn't. There was the big silver-leaf maple standing in a forlorn vacant-lot where we had had our home, and where my mother planted the small sapling.

My grandmother, Mattie Carruth, cried when they dug up part of her peach orchard to drill an oil well; an uncle my age, Richard Carruth, and I climbed to the top of the old, cable tool derrick in the orchard and were amazed to see the small, insignificant things below who were our parentsurging us to climb down; and, I was scared to death I would get a whipping. It was many years later before I understood why my father didn't whip me, why he shook and cried and crushed me to him Calif., Mrs. Ione Bownds of and told me how much he loved me. I remember the new school all moved to Lubbock along all night long, with the steady with many other families. I remember Dan and Della hole in the ground - up and Powers, who came with us; down, slowly, pounding. and, though he has long since rock at Post in high; and I bumping our head, and I don't can still see and hear and know why. I don't remember know my father's glee when whether this was a cracking his high-powered automobile plant, or what it was called.
