

Emergency Drought Benefits Are Sought For Stockmen Of County

A recommendation that Eastland County be declared an emergency area and made eligible for livestock feed benefits due to a prolonged drought was approved Wednesday by the Eastland County Drought Disaster Committee.

This announcement was made by Jesse G. Meredith, manager of the county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, after the county group held an emergency meeting. The committee includes Elmer E. Blackwell, county ASC board chairman, County Agent J. M. Cooper, and FHA Administrator Homer Cole.

Mr. Cooper gave the committee a report on the results of a recent survey made in Eastland County on drought conditions. The survey showed a range and pasture conditions as critical, resulting in liquidation of many foundation livestock herds.

Mr. Blackwell reported that approximately 3,250,000 pounds of livestock feed was delivered under the previous drought program, which ended last May 31.

Farmers and ranchers will be informed as soon as possible on the developments of the new recommendation, it was announced.

The recommendation that the county be declared an emergency area was forwarded to the state disaster committee. Benefits are provided eligible areas under Section 407 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act. Others attending the meeting were Robert G. Lyerla and Garland Garrett, members of the county ASC committee; E. E. McAlister, head of the Upper Leon SCS; and Darrell Cooper, representing Mr. Cole. Mr. Meredith served as secretary for the group.

The county has been without measurable rainfall in more than a month and the total for the first six months of 1964 was about half of normal.

The drought has been so severe that less than 10 per cent of the normal peanut crop was planted.

President And Governor Asked for Drought Help

Impetus was added to this county's application for emergency feed relief due to extreme drought conditions Friday when County Judge Scott Bailey urged President Johnson and Governor Connally to support the matter in letters to the two government leaders.

Judge Bailey said that any federal funds spent in relief of the agricultural economy would greatly benefit the general economy.

In his letter to President Johnson, Judge Bailey said: "Due to extreme drought conditions prevailing in West Central Texas, the farm and ranch people of Eastland County are in immediate distress. Their hardship circumstances have had a devastating impact on the complete economy of the county."

"It is respectfully urged that Eastland County be declared a disaster area, that emergency feed for livestock be made available, that financial credit be extended and that some type of employment be considered for displaced persons who normally would be working on farms and ranches."

In his letter to Gov. Connally, Judge Bailey noted that the county would lose its valuable peanut crop this year and stressed the seriousness of the situation generally.

"I recalled that when you toured Eastland County in May of 1962 you promised that Eastland County would be a pilot site for an urban industrialization project . . . that you would personally go to bat for Eastland County in securing industry."

"It is my feeling that we need an industry that will provide jobs very badly. We are willing and anxious to work with you and your staff to help these study groups in any way . . ."

The county disaster committee Wednesday formally requested help through the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Local Woman's Grandchild Dies In Fort Worth

Funeral services for Mary Ann Hale, 2, of Fort Worth, granddaughter of Mrs. Pearl Bennett of Eastland, were held Saturday, at 1 p. m. in the Tabernacle Baptist Church in Fort Worth.

Mary Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hale, died in a Fort Worth Hospital Thursday after she ate an unknown amount of aspirin at her home Tuesday.

The girl's parents said they found the tot, eating aspirin and feeding some to her pet raccoon about 9 a. m. Tuesday.

"We didn't think she had taken too many of them," said Hale. "She played the rest of the day and seemed all right."

Hale said his daughter became sick late Tuesday and they took her to a doctor twice on Wednesday. She later was admitted to W. I. Cook Children's Hospital.

The father said the child got the aspirin from the top of a dresser.

Also surviving are two sisters, Karen and Nancy Hale, a brother, Charles Hale, all of the home; and grandparents, Mrs. Pearl Bennett of Eastland and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hale of Oklahoma.

Morton Valley 4-H Club Erects Road Sign

The Morton Valley 4-H Club met Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kincaid for a weiner roast and to erect the Morton Valley 4-H road sign.

4-H road signs throughout the county was a suggested club project for each of the nine community clubs in the county. Morton Valley is the first community club in Eastland County to erect their club sign.

The road sign is located just beyond the "Y" on the Breckenridge highway, on the left side, traveling north. Approaching the county from the north the sign reads "Welcome 4-H Clubs Eastland County". Leaving the county, on the reverse side, the sign reads "Eastland County 4-H Clubs Invite You Back Soon".

Road signs are good publicity for the club responsible for the sign as well as the county.

Eighteen 4-H members and eleven adults attended the picnic. A gift of farewell was presented to Mrs. Yvonne Lepley, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent.

All-Stars Throttle Breck; District-Round at Coleman

The Eastland Little League All-Stars downed a Breckenridge nine, 7-3, Friday night to sweep the Area Tournament in Albany and earn a slot in the District competition in Coleman next weekend.

Behind the pitching of Daryl Thomas and Grady Gregory, the local Stars trailed but once — briefly.

Through the second inning it was an even-up game with Thomas on the mound. Both teams three-upped, and three-downed in the first, and each scored one in the second stanza. Eastland's first tally in that second inning came with a four-bagger by Kinny Wilson.

Gregory marched to the mound to begin the third and Breck was scoreless in their portion. Jimmy McCollough got on and was brought around for an Eastland mark in that round.

Breck moved ahead in the top of the fourth with two runs, but it must have been the spark that ignited the Eastland Stars because when they came on in their part of the fourth, the flood gates opened.

Wilson started it with a base hit. Roger Berry picked up a two-bagger to march Wilson to third. Then Versatile Thomas addressed the plate and lamed one out of the park to put three more marks on the scoreboard.

Breck was scoreless in the fifth and Eastland picked up two more runs to ice the outing.

Opponents in Coleman were still to be determined with Saturday night games in other area tournaments, it was reported. Breck had beat Albany Thursday night, with Eastland drawing a bye for the opening round.

Judge Grissom's Ambition: To Serve the Law

By KATHARYN DUFF Abilene Reporter-News Assistant Editor

If Clyde Grissom could start over, could relive his 66 years, he knows what he would want to do and be.

He would learn he law, then serve it. He would become an attorney and if he could, a judge — preferably a judge at the appellate level of the judicial system.

That was his dream for this life. As a skinny, red-headed, freckled-faced kid, working in his dad's store at Haskell and peddling Saturday Evening Posts on the side, he so made up his mind.

These years later his freckles faded and his hair frosted, he can recall his early ambitions — and without the wryness which usually goes with the man's recollection of the boy's dreams.

Judge Grissom became what he wanted to be an attorney in 1918, a district judge in 1931, an appellate justice in 1935, chief justice of the 11th Court of Civil Appeals in 1945.

He remained what he had wanted to be — and in so remaining has amassed a record unmatched in the Texas judiciary, rarely matched anywhere. He has been a chief justice longer than any other in the state. And the quality of his work, as the tenure is high. A recent compilation showed that 97 per cent of the decisions of the three-justice appellate court he heads were left undisturbed on Supreme Court Appeal.

Described Dependable "A steady man," that was the description of Justice Grissom voiced to the Reporter-News by Chief Justice W. O. Murray of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio, a judicial historian and source of the information on Judge Grissom's record in the courts.

"Serenity" is another apt word for Judge Grissom. He might have lived a different sort of life.

He might have chosen private law practice, as he has been tempted, and accumulated more wealth. ("Any pretty good lawyer, moving to Abilene when I moved here, could have, if he worked pretty hard, got rich by now," the judge said.)

He might have cultivated political ambition, as he was also tempted, and won wider public acclaim. (A Supreme Court seat was offered him by Gov. Jester in 1949. He went so far as to go to Austin to look over the situation. But he decided there is "more politics" in Austin than he savors.)

Deliberately, and studiously, Justice Grissom has stayed with this life he had wanted as a boy. And, with a few changes ("I would learn more law, would be more careful of the law, if I could start over") he would do the same again.

This makes for serenity, a serenity chiseled into the face of the dignified, courtly, well-groomed judge.

Alvord Native Judge Grissom is a first-generation Texas, born at Alvord in Wise County, son of C. D. Grissom, a rancher-farmer-merchant whose family came to Texas from Mississippi after the Civil War.

Mr. and Mrs. Grissom and their children — Hardy, long-time Abilene merchant-rancher now deceased, Ernest, Abilene merchant and former mayor now in semi-retirement in Arizona, Mrs. J. V. Hudson, now of Haskell, and Clyde — moved to Haskell County in 1900 when Clyde, the baby, was two years old.

They made the journey in classic American style — as part of a 14-family wagon train.

The senior Grissom ranched and farmed before opening in 1906, the Haskell store, later expanded into a chain of stores, which established the name "Grissom" in the merchandising field.

Mr. Grissom taught his children respect for the law, tried to interest them one by one, in the study of it. Hardy and Ernest chose, rather, their father's work. Mr. Grissom got one lawyer out of three, Clyde.

Attended TCU Clyde went to Texas Christian University for his bachelor's degree (in the fine arts department — public speaking) and on to the University of Texas law school.

Then, his last year at U-T, World War I broke out and young Clyde "got a little bit excited," quit school and joined the Army.

"Took a war to get me through law school," he explains it.

He was on duty in Ohio with a gas outfit, the first one the Army formed ("Everybody knew that all wars from now on would be gas wars — just as everyone now knows all wars will be atomic"), when he got the word that the U-T law school had "graduated" all such students as he who had quit for military duty.

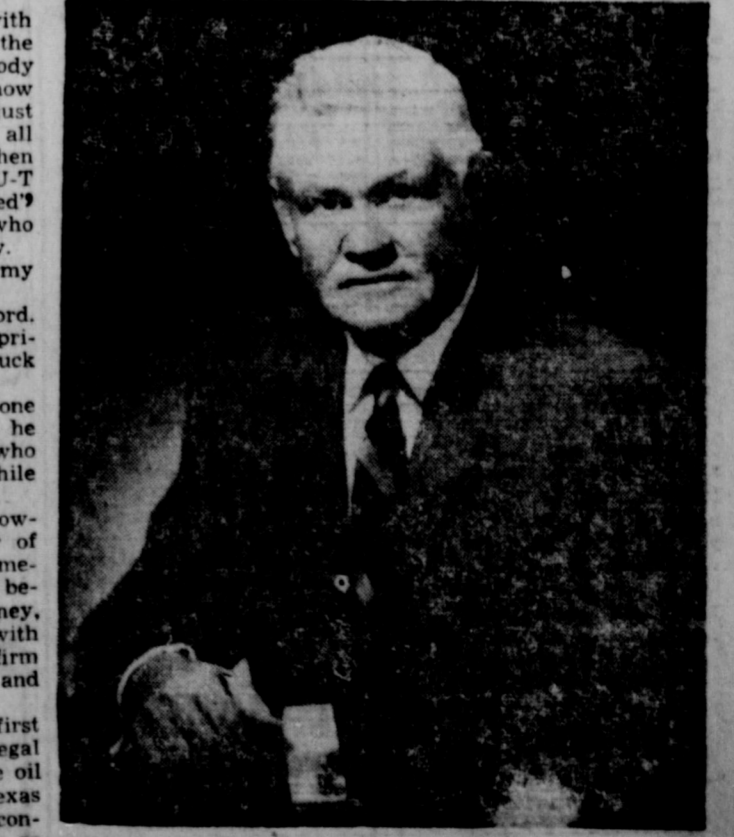

The judge was in the Army about a year.

His was an unusual record. He went in as a first class private and came out as a buck private.

"Jimmy Allred told me one time I was the only man he ever appointed anything who could say he lost rank while in military service."

Discharged, with this "glowing" record, in December of 1918, young Clyde went immediately to Fort Worth and became a practicing attorney, starting Christmas week with the old Fort Worth law firm of Paddleford, Turner and Doyle.

In this firm he got his first taste of a "new" type legal work, oil and gas law. The oil booms were coming to Texas and with them some new concepts in oil and gas law as Texas, differing with some (Continued on Page 5.)

ed," Glenn Justice, New Hope. "Pastures have dried up, temporary grazing is at a standstill. Stock water in surface tanks is very low or dried up completely. . . The calf crop will almost surely be a light one and I am afraid it will affect next years as every one I have talked to doesn't think their cows are breeding back as they should," James Chesshair, Pioneer.

"Yes (more than normal number of livestock have been marketed from your area. If it doesn't rain I believe that there will be 30 to 40 per cent leave our community by fall. This drought is as serious as any we have ever had. You might start to look for some government relief feed, unless it rains soon we are sure going to have to have it," Sam Kimmell, Cisco.

"Yes, more than normal number of stock in my area has been sold. And more will be sold if something isn't done soon. So the stock can be held over," Garland Garrett. "About 60 to 65 per cent of the peanut acreage in this area is not planted due to lack of moisture," Guy L y e r l e, Flatwoods.

"I am going to have to sell 15 or 20 head if it doesn't rain in two or three weeks. We need some kind of hay Bluff Branch.

"Stock water is low and with few exceptions, is reaching the critical stage requiring emergency actions," Homer E. White, Yellow Mound. "Water supply is only fair. Some tanks are lower than have been since first filled," W. R. Usery, southeast of Carbon.

"My community seems to be in center of very dry area. Rainfall at my place — May, 7 inches, June, 1.1 inches," Hubbard Gilbert, Carbon.

"All native pasture is from poor to no grass at all," Bill Childers, north of Cisco.

"Some tanks are getting 'boggy'," Walter Mitchell, south of Strawn.

"The drought is critical in my area. We have not had a measurable amount of rain since late February," D. F. Williamson, Morton Valley.

"Within a 5 or 6 mile radius of here, I would say there is less than 5 per cent of peanuts planted due to lack of moisture," P. P. Plambeck, Pleasant Hill.

"Worse condition and outlook in years," W. E. Tyler, Rising Star.

"I would say that about 20 per cent of livestock have moved to market than normal," G. T. Dawkins, Sabano.

"The most serious condition we have seen in a number of years," Arlin Bint, Dothan.

"90 per cent of the peanut farmers have not planted here," Herman Schaefer, Nimrod.

"It is as dry as I have ever seen it since I begin here, 27 years ago," Albert A. Hansen, Cisco.

Cooper Co. Is Low Bidder For Interstate 20 Job

A bid of $1,086,119 was apparently low bid on about 5.66 miles of Interstate Highway 20 in Eastland County by an Amarillo firm that has done highway construction in this county before.

The Texas Highway Department announced bid tabulations Thursday.

The Eastland bid, by Cooper and Woodruff, Inc. was for grading, structures, flexible base and paving, from 1.5 miles east of Ranger to three miles west of the Erath County line. The three-mile stretch on the eastern edge of Eastland County is already Interstate 20-completed roadway, an Eastland resident engineer spokes-

Girls 4-H Camp Is Held Near Lake Cisco

Girls 4-H Camp was held July 21-22 at the Presbyterian Church grounds near Lake Cisco.

Thirty 4-H girls from throughout the county and six adult leaders enjoyed two days of fun, good food, and educational programs. Sharon Harbin, Sandra Harden, and Irene Sullivent, Eastland 4-H club members, and Kathy Hooks, Olden 4-H club member, served as camp directors for the entire group.

Highlighting the fun were activities which included swimming, hootnany singing, and a night party featuring games and folk dancing.

Kay Green, Cisco 4-H member, conducted an auction of the "left-over" goods from the camp kitchen. Proceeds of the auction will go to the Girls' 4-H Treasurer.

Mrs. Yvonne Lepley, Asst. Home Demonstration Agent, conducted a Dress Right Workshop. Mrs. Lepley told the girls "clothing is a form of communication; our clothing may tell others the type person we are, how we feel, and the type activity we are engaged in. Being dressed appropriately is a major concern for all age groups."

The county camp was a follow-up activity from the training received at district camp July 1-2. The four camp leaders planned and executed the activity under the direction of the Assistant Home Demonstration Agent.

JUDGE GRISSOM

(Continued from Page One) principles in vogue in earlier oil areas of Pennsylvania, was inaugurating this system of property rights which holds today.

Returned to Haskell
Within a year Clyde left Fort Worth to return to Haskell and to work with H. G. McConnell, "one of the greatest lawyers I ever knew."

In 1919 he was appointed city attorney for Haskell. He held that post, while working in Judge McConnell's firm, for some six months, resigning it so he could take some railroad cases which as city attorney, he could not.

Judge Grissom began in 1922 his "political" career, one which has had but a single brief interruption.

That year he was elected county attorney of Haskell County.

He held that post until 1926 when he resigned to go to Wichita Falls for a year.

A friendship he had made as county attorney led to that resignation — and to some other milestones in his career. While he was Haskell County attorney a sensational murder case was moved to Haskell from Wichita County.

Young Jimmy Allred, Wichita district attorney, and young Clyde, Haskell County attorney, joined forces in prosecution.

Opposing them was an overpowering array of legal power.

Won Case

The two prosecutors were too young and too eager to know they were licked. They tied into the case with all their might. They won.

In 1926, when Allred ran for the office of Attorney General, Clyde resigned his Haskell post and moved to Wichita Falls to join Allred's firm, Martin, O'Neal and Allred — and Grissom.

He stayed there but a year, returning to Haskell where in 1927, he was appointed to fill a vacancy as district attorney of the 39th Judicial District.

From his DA days Judge Grissom remembers, most of all, Kent County.

While he was DA both he and Kent County did some growing up.

Kent County was, when he moved into office, a rather lively place.

Things seemed to happen in Kent County. And the courts had had problems there. In fact it had been the custom to move criminal cases out of Kent County because Kent juries were not very quick to punish Kent Countians.

His first night spent in Kent as DA is one the judge will never forget.

He was staying at the home of the county judge in Claremont.

Ranchers Confront

That night a delegation of a half-dozen ranchers rode up to the judge's house and yelled in the announcement they wanted to see that new, young DA.

With some hesitancy the new, young DA went outside in the dark to meet them.

A spokesman for the cowmen addressed Mr. Grissom. "We're getting damn tired of 'em moving our cases over to Haskell and Jones County," he said bluntly.

"How you gonna run things? You gonna let us try our cases here?"

The new DA decided to be equally blunt.

"Well, how are you going to do things?"

"You know the reason they move your cases — because you won't convict anybody of anything in Kent County," DA Clyde replied.

The cowpunchers thought this over.

"Why, that's the damn truth!" one of them decided.

That decision started negotiations.

Things had been a bit rough in Kent, the ranchers admitted. It was time to straighten out the situation, what with the kids coming on.

"If you'll try our cases here," they proposed, "we'll let you know what's going on."

"We don't mean stuff like playing a little poker or taking a drink — but we'll let you know what's really going on — and we'll give you good juries."

DA Grissom agreed.

Both sides kept the bargain. "I never had a "not guilty" verdict in Kent County," Judge Grissom says.

When you could get the death penalty for murder and maximum penalty for other crimes in Kent County, you know the people wanted law."

It was in Kent County that he learned this basic lesson — that the law is of and by the people as well as for them.

"The people must respect the law — and I want to run my court so that it is worthy of respect," he says.

The chamber of appellate court may be a tiny thing, for

MRS. CLYDE GRISSOM

Family First With Judge's Wife

"Behind every good man is a good woman", and certainly the case of Mrs. Clyde Grissom is no exception.

A native of Haskell, she and Judge Grissom were married there in 1924. They have three children, Mrs. James Jennings of Abilene, Mrs. Bill Sikes of Eastland, and Tom Grissom of Fort Worth. They have six grandchildren, Amy and Emily Jennings, Tom Paul and Jack Hardwick Grissom, and Cindy and William Clyde Grissom Sikes.

Mrs. Grissom is an active member of the Episcopal Church and of the Eastland Civic League Club.

A modest lady, she said, "Most of my time has been devoted to raising my children and now enjoying my grandchildren, so I have never been too active in civic affairs, outside of the Civic League and my church".

it is that sort of court, but "I want the people when they walk into the courtroom, to be able to look and listen and say, proudly, "That is my government."

Judge Grissom served as 39th DA until Jan. 1, 1931, when he was appointed by Gov. Dan Moody to the vacant bench of the 39th court.

Stevenson Appointee
He was district judge until May of 1935 when his old friend Jimmy Allred, then governor, appointed him to a vacancy on the 11th Court of Civil Appeals. He's since been reelected each term — without an opponent all these years. He was made chief justice of the court by Gov. Coke Stevenson.

As chief justice Judge Grissom serves with two other justices, Cecil C. Collings, formerly of Big Spring and associate justice since January, 1949, and Esco Walter, formerly of Abilene and associate justice since 1937.

Justice Grissom was married in Haskell to Helen Shook member of a longtime Haskell family on Jan. 11, 1925.

They have three children, Emily, Mrs. James R. Jennings of Abilene; Tom, who is in the ceramics business at Fort Worth; and Zena, Mrs. W. E. Sikes of Brownwood.

Each of the children has two children, giving the Grissoms three grandsons and three granddaughters.

The judge has through the years had various business ventures, alone or with his brother.

He got into the registered Herford business at one time (and that, he says, is a complicated business which the amateur should avoid). He has farm interests, and has interest in the Grissom merchandising firm at Abilene.

But, primarily, his business is law.

He suspects he has become a bit better at law the last few years because of something he learned. He learned that a man does have time, after all, to do some hunting and fishing.

"Took me 60 years to learn that," he says ruefully.

Now he finds that by taking off to lure the bass, by unlimbering his gun in dove and quail season, he can really do more and better work.

And that work is law, the appellate procedure which may be carried out in the chambers on the top floor of the Eastland courthouse, or may be in any other appellate court in the state to which the 11th justices, under the Texas system, may be assigned service.

This is the sort of work he always wanted.

The State of Washington has the greatest average cloudiness.

James Gibbs invented the chain-stitch sewing machine.

Party-Line Chatter

Recently a good neighbor, Mrs. Venner H. Owen, surprised us with a pie, and it was a treat.

We found the pie to be new and delightful so with her consent we would like to share it with readers of this column.

Lemon Sponge Pie

- 1 stick (1/4 lb.) butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 T. flour or cornstarch
- 3 eggs
- 6 T. lemon juice
- 1 t. grated lemon rind
- 1 c. milk

Mix sugar and flour together and add to creamed butter. Add egg yolks, lemon juice, rind and milk. Fold into mixture stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake until firm at 375 degrees.

We all need cooling, hot weather recipes. Summer-time, it seems, is the hardest time to prepare appealing meals.

Perhaps appetites just aren't as hardy in hot weather and something new would be nice. So how about it? Send your recipes in care of this column, Box 29, Eastland.

Lake Cisco Spree Brings Trouble

A 16-year-old Cisco youth has been grounded and his 22-year-old companion fined for an escapade in which Lake Cisco campers were terrorized in the wee hours of the morning recently.

The adult was fined $54.50 by Justice of the Peace, and County Judge Scott Bailey ordered he 16-year-old's right-to-drive suspended until after the first six weeks of school, when his report card grades are to be "up." A 10 p. m. curfew was also clamped on the boy.

The incident happened Wednesday at 2 a. m. when they made "about 10 fast passes" at the campsite of campers at the lake.

The campers reported that the daredevils sped toward the camp and would swerve only at the last minute, repeating this process several times, before they were reported and arrested.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH — The Christian Church was first begun in Eastland somewhere around 1878. The present church building was built on the present site in 1918 when Mr. Samuel Conner donated two lots to the church.

First Christian Church Organized Here 1878

The Christian Church had its beginning in four different and separate groups. All of these groups being frontier religious orders. When America began to expand toward the West these groups of Christian people found they had a great deal in common and decided to come together under one body and movement.

The early Church was made up of men and women from many of the protestant groups who sought greater freedom of expression of their faith. They wanted to leave the man made creeds and orders to seek their faith using the New Testament alone as their guide to a deeper faith and a better understanding of their relationship with their maker and redeemer.

The movement has taken the name of the "Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ". The congregational groups are usually called Christian Churches. The Christian Church had its beginning here in Eastland somewhere around 1878, when some of the early settlers of this area formed a congregation that used the second story of the building where the Corner Drug Store is now located, as a meeting place.

After they met together for a while they decided to move to the County Courthouse and become a part of a Union Sunday School and Church. Services were held each Sunday by a preacher from one of the different denominations.

At a later date the Christian Church was established and met in a church that stood where the Baptist Educational building now stands. This building, it is said, was the first church to stand in Eastland.

Sometime just before the oil boom of 1918, Mr. Samuel Conner donated two lots to the church. The new church was built and is the building presently being used.

In recent years the church has annexed the building to the north of the church and established a fellowship hall, Sunday School rooms, a library, and the pastors study in it. The church also annexed the old parsonage to the west of the church for additional Sunday School room space.

The present plan of the church is to build a new church on the present site. The first phase of the plan has already been accomplished in the purchase of a new parsonage at 610 S. Dixie Street. The second phase of the plan will be to move the old parsonage and garage off the present location and to build a new educational building in that area. The third phase of the new church plan will be to tear down the store building and to construct a new sanctuary in its location. The final phase of the plan will be the taking down of the present church building and landscaping the grounds. The whole plan is expected to take several years before it can be completed.

The Christian Churches have no man made creeds. The Bible alone is used as a guide and rule for life. The Churches heritage seeks to lift the Bible above all creeds and purely human traditions for the essentials of Christian faith, order, and life. The Church believes that in Christ, God is fully revealed and made flesh. And through Jesus, The Christ, the essentials of the Gospel, the Church, and Christ-like life are founded and made known. The Church holds therefore, that Jesus Christ,

REV. RAY CAMERON

His living spirit, mission and message are the main keys to unlock and interpret the Bible as a whole. And through Him, we learn what God really requires of His followers and church in the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Admission to the Christian Church is by confession of faith and baptism by immersion, or by transfer of membership.

The Christian Church observes Holy Communion each Lord's day. Communion is open to all those who have taken Jesus Christ as their Saviour and follow Him in faith and obedience.

The pastor of the Eastland Christian Church is Ray D. Cameron. Mr. Cameron is a student at Brite Divinity school, where he is studying to complete his Bachelor of Divinity degree. He has been in the ministry since 1959. He served two rural churches in Illinois while completing his undergraduate work at Eureka College in Eureka, Illinois. Mr. Cameron spent twelve years in the Christian Church at Galesburg, Illinois as a layman and worked in design and development work for the Admiral Company prior to coming into the ministry. His family, Margaret (his wife), Christine 18, Jodie 14, Mark 12, and Ray Jr. 6, reside in the parsonage at 610 S. Dixie in Eastland.

FROM MIDLAND

Vicki Jo and Timothy Scott Green of Midland visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Poe last weekend.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Green and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lasater also of Midland, attended the production of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" in Fort Worth and attended the graduation exercises at the Baptist Seminary where their pastor, Rev. Presnall Wood of the Crestview Baptist Church of Midland, received his degree.

The couples returned to Eastland and spent one night at Lake Leon before picking up the Green children to return home in Midland.

WEEKEND GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin E. Talley of Olden entertained Mr. Talley's niece and family from Temple last weekend. They all enjoyed a supper in the back yard. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Don Bridges and their three children, Doney, Patsy and Robert.

Harper's Ferry Arsenal was established by George Washington.

Olden WMU Has Royal Service Program

The Women's Missionary Union of the Olden Baptist Church met Monday, July 20, for a Royal Service program.

Mrs. I. E. Talley led the opening song, "Faith of Our Fathers" with Mrs. Jim Thackerston at the piano. Miss Nannie Allmon led the call to prayer with the reading of scriptures from Acts 16. She led in prayer for the missions.

The program, "Religious Liberty a Baptist Heritage" was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Carl Butler. The parts were given by Mrs. Warren, Miss Allmon, Mrs. Lester, Mrs. Thackerston, and Mrs. Ferrell at the beginning and the end of the program. Mrs. Ferrell presided as secretary pro-tem.

The main part of the program was presented in a very challenging way using scriptures from Mark 2 and John 8. This pertained to freedom of religion in public schools, exercise of such in military service, citizens obligation to society, community, and civic matters.

Mrs. Butler gave an impressive touch at the ending, calling attention to spiritual powers helping in all these matters.

Mrs. J. D. Browning presided over the business session and Mr. Ola Mae Jackson led the closing prayer.

Those present were Mrs. Talley, Thackerston, Allmon, Warren, Lester Ferrell Butler, Jackson and Browning.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jones and Kathy returned Sunday evening from San Antonio where they visited their son and brother, Bill Jones, who is stationed at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio. They were accompanied by Miss Karen Taylor.
