In The Pictures

The center picture shows the famous rose window of Mission San Jose near San Antonio, said to be the most beautifully carved window of its type in both Americas. Because of the many legends that have grown out of the fact that a skillful carver in stone would leave a civilized country for a wilderness, the rose window has been the theme of many a story, song and play. One of these, an operetta called "The Rose Window of San Jose," will be given here on San Jacinto evening by the members of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority. The chairmen of the four committees are pictured. Upper left, Mrs. Ira Driver, upper right, Mrs. Gilbert Sawtelle; lower left, Mrs. Thomas J. Coffee; lower right, Miss Edith Gay.

"HIBDS AND BIRD CLUBS"
By George S. Foster, M. D.
The Christopher Publishing House

This new book of Dr. Foster's is his fourth, always an event of importance to his wide circle of readers.

It will be noted that the author is departing in this volume, from his usual medical subject, and this promises new interest, for his culture and interests are many-sided, and the establishment of bird sanctuaries is perhaps his most thrilling "hobby," which is pursued with all seriousness. And in fact the saving of our birds is a more sortious matter than many reulize, but this need of protecting the birds is rapidly gaining recognition, due to the activity of such nature lovers as Dr. Foster, and the few who have preceded him. The beauty of birds, and the joy of their song appeal to everyone, but saide from this, the practical and utilitarian work of the birds in degroying swarming hosts of insect life that lection.

Any effective protection of birds, on a large scale, is quits recent; one of the earliest attempts being a law passed in England in 1869. In our country the carliest large scale work was done by Mr. Mclihenny on Avery Island, La., who has saved the beautiful white herons from the total extinction which threatened them when, in 1893 he took care of the only ones left.

Mr. McIlhenny of Louisiana was a pioneer, as he was the first to prove that birds would return, after a long migration, to a place where they had been cared for, and that they would do this year after year. However, in thinking of these huge projects, we must not lose sight of the equal value of the smaller bird refuges that are being established everywhere, because these are doing such an important work in the development of public opinion. Among the well-known, small bird sanctuaries are the Roosevelt Sanctuary of twelve acres, at Oyster Bay, N. Y., in memory of Theodore Roosevelt; the Bok Sanctuary in Florida, and the Bok Sanctuary in Florida, and the Bok Sanctuary of five acres in Philadelphia; and the Christopher Memorial Sanctuary of five acres in Philadelphia; and the Christopher Memorial Sanctuary of nine acres in Fairhope, Ala., this being the first hird sanctuary established in Alabama. Connecticut has its "Bird-craft," and Meriden, N. H., a sanctuary of about twenty acres; and now Dr. Foster has added his work to New Hampshire's standing for bird protection.

BLOW IN THE DARK

In another minute Bobby was awarming up the tree. All went well and he was just stretching out his hand to take a grip of the window ledge when an ominous crack tame from the branch he was on and the next minute the bough had anapped and Bobby was pitch-forked hend-first into a clump of hydranga bushes below, which fortunately broke his fall.

The window of Nicholson's study was farther along on the same side of the house. Bobby heard an exclamation in the Doctor's voice, and the window was flung up. Bebby, recovering from the first shock of his fall, bolted across a dark patch of shadow into the pathway leading to the little door. He went a short way along it, then dived into the bushes.

He heard the sound of voices and

"Mr. Parker, miss?" said the clerk. "I don't think there's any gentlemen of thank name stopping here, but I'll see."

He returned a few minutes later.

"Come here Wednesday evening, miss. Left his bag and said he wight he in till late. His bag's still here but he hasn't been back to fetch it."

Frankie felt suddenly rather sick. Frankie shook her head. "It's all right," she managed to say. "He didn't leave any message?"

"There's a telegram came for him," he said. "That's all."

"It's all right," she said, and getting into the Bentley she drove away.

Why had Bobby not returned to

He heard the sound of voices and saw lights moving near the trampled and broken hydrangeas. Bobothy kept still and held his breath. They might come along the path. If so, finding the door open, they would probably conclude that the intruder had escaped that way and would not prosecute the search furfight. He was on the trail—that was all—on the trail.—that was all—on the trail.

However, the minutes passed, and nobody came. Presently Bobby heard Nicholson's voice raised in a question. He did not hear the words but he heard an answer given in a hoarse, rather uneducated voice.

"All present and correct, sir. I've been the rounds."

The proceedings and the trail—that was all—on the trail.

But why, asked another voice, hadn't he sent her a word of reassurance?

The inquest passed like a dream.

Friday the Scenic Mountain state park was officially com-pleted. While not as much has been done as many had hoped, it must be admitted that the nt must be admitted that the park has vastly more to offer now than a year ago. While it is not now a playground with every conceivable modern facility, it has been rounded into something of a distinct asset to this community. Someday when the drives are topped and a caretaker is on the job, it will be a show place.

And we nominate for some sort of distinction the three women who mustered a copious flow of tears when given tickets for violating city traffic laws. Particularly the broken-hearted lady who sobbed that she ran a red light because the traffic officer so utterly flustrated her. The best we can do is blush.
