This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper.

Dick Phillips has promised to write some poetry for this column. He is said to be talented with the ability to write on any subject.

From the Cisco News comes a story that ought to be in some column this week, so we'll just proceed to put it here.

Cisco was given national publicity when Bob Newhall, sports announcer related an anecdote from the visit of the Cincinnati Reds to this city in 1919 or 1920.

"When the Reds were training at Cisco, a West Texas town, a tall, awkward rookie, whose name, I shall not call, was the shock of the outfit," related Mr. Newhall.

"At that time it was customary for the man to place a handkerchief over his hand to keep from rolling the gown of his dancing partner if the weather was warm.

"The rookie had a large evening with a charming young woman in a beautiful white satin gown as his partner. The night was warm.

"The rookie flushed. Well," he said, "I aim to please the ladies. It don't need it, but just as yo' say."

"And I forgot to tell the customers about the big applause given Frank Jones at the mass meeting Saturday morning. It seems that Frank had written a front page editorial for his paper last week when he hit the nail on the head by the entire satisfaction of one of the speakers.

Highway Patrolman Myers and Daniels will start checking the brakes on automobiles as the weather clears. In order to pass inspection, a car should have its brakes in such condition that it be brought to a complete stop in 45 feet at a speed of 20 miles per hour.

The officers will mark off the distance at some convenient location on the highway and test the brakes on the cars as they come.

Ate lunch today with Roy Speed, Ranger baker. We talked about the bread business and the lack thereof. Also commented on how many people there are now who bake their own biscuits or corn bread instead of buying bakers' bread.

They told Bower they would kill him unless he paid. Police guarded him closely.

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 25.—Surrounded by loyal guards, Alvin O. King, native of the Kansas jack rabbit country, took the oath of office as governor of Louisiana today amid political turmoil, caused by a second claimant to the governorship.

Verdict Awarded In Gas Suit In Eastland J. P. Court

Justice of the Peace Newman of Eastland rendered judgment by default in favor of C. F. Shepperd against the Community Natural Gas company for the sum of $143 and costs.

The suit was brought by Shepperd to recover $143 which Shepperd claimed he was overcharged on a bill for gas. Shepperd contended that his bill should have been figured on the basis of the rate in effect prior to Dec. 20, while his bill was figured on the rate put in effect at that time.

The gas company had filed a motion Saturday to transfer the case from justice court to the federal court, but Justice Newman called the case for trial this morning and rendered judgment in favor of the plaintiff.

MAN HELD IN ROBBERY CONFESSES

Harry Byars of Ranger was being held in the Eastland county jail this morning in connection with the robbery of the A. & P. grocery store in Breckenridge Saturday night.

According to Assistant District Attorney Grady Owen, Byars signed a confession which implicated another man, now being sought in connection with the robbery. It was thought today that Byars would be turned over to Stephens county authorities.

John Barnes, deputy sheriff of Ranger, captured one man, alleged to have committed a robbery at the A. & P. grocery store at Breckenridge Saturday night at 9:45. The man signed a confession, which was held by the Ranger police for delivery to the chief of police at Breckenridge. The man was taken to Eastland where, according to John Barnes, he signed a confession implicating another man.

The confession was made to Assistant District Attorney Grady Owen and the man lodged in the county jail. The two bandits hijacked the A. & P. grocery store on West Walker street, Breckenridge, Saturday night, forced eight employees to the floor and looted two cash registers of approximately $300 in cash and checks.

The two bandits walked into the store as preparations were being made of close. One of them went to the back of the store, the other remaining at the front.

Six of the eight customers were forced down behind the meat counter where they were told to remain. One of the bandits took approximately $100 from the register in the meat department.

A test case attacking the law's validity was brought by J. H. McLeish & Co., Weimar, Texas, cotton merchants, who are required to haul a great deal of cotton over the 100 miles to Houston.

A three-judge federal court held the law invalid and appeal was taken immediately by the state authorities to the supreme court.

Tree Planting Committee Named By Lions Club

A. N. Larson, president of the Ranger Lions club, has announced the appointment of a committee composed of R. V. Galloway, chairman; J. A. Throver, and S. J. Golden, to work with a committee to be appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to sponsor a tree-planting campaign in Ranger this year.

For the past four years the Lions club and the Chamber of Commerce has worked together in sponsoring planting of trees around the residences of Ranger. In the past this campaign has met with wonderful success and many thousands of trees have been planted around the city.

In the past Chinese elms have been recommended as quick growing, easily cultivated shade trees and it is thought that they will be recommended and sold again this year.

The forester from the city of Fort Worth has been loaned to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and it is expected that he will be secured to work with the committee in sponsoring the tree-planting this year.

Immigration Ban Starts Dry Goods Trade In Mexico

WASHINGTON.—Creation of a dry goods manufacturing industry in Mexico is said to be the indirect culmination of United States immigration laws curtailing admission of foreigners, according to Consul Sokobin, of Saltillo, Mexico.

Fluctuations in peso exchange, and many "distress" offerings made by Mexico City merchants, have led Saltillo retailers to buy directly from Mexico City.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY Ann and Cecily Fenwick have for years supported themselves, Mary-Frances, their younger sister, and their grandparents, known as "Rosalie" and "Grand." Because of this financial responsibility, Ann, who is 28, is unable to marry Phil Ercody, young lawyer to whom she has been engaged for eight years. Cecily, 22, loves Barry McKeel, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name their wedding date for the same reason. Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, believes herself in love with Earl DeArmount, vaudeville actor whom she has met without the knowledge of her sisters. He urges her to leave home and become his stage partner.

time do you think we'll get to Mendel Springs?" "Dough! to make it around 7 or a little later, barring tire trouble. I got to confess the tires aren't so good—but I ain't buying new tires for Butt's car."

Mary-Frances did not answer that; either. They had gone another mile before she so much as sighed. Earl said, "You'll have to excuse me, hon, for not being able to chat much. Anything over 25 and I give my 'tention to the road ahead. That's my motto. See? Anything over 25 and I give my 'tention to the road ahead. All the traveling I've done I've never had but one slight accident—see? That was the other guy's fault. Give your 'tention to the road ahead and you won't have any troubles—see?" "Yes," said Mary-Frances. "Do we come to a town before we come to Mendel Springs?" "Mendel Springs ain't a town, hon. It's just kind of a big hotel—on the order of the Harvey Houses on the Santa Fe. Trains stop there, and the passengers can get off and eat, if they want; or, if it ain't meal time, the passengers can get a drink from the mineral springs. What a drink or two of that stuff does for a man's stumeek is a miracle. That's what it is—see?—a miracle. That's why we're stopping there tonight. We could make Topknot, easy; but my stumeek has gone back on me, there, the last two weeks, an—"

Texans Raise A Total of 36 Million Pounds of Pecans

AUSTIN.—Texas pecan growers added 36,000,000 pounds of nuts to the commercial pecan supply last season, according to estimates based on truck and freight records. The pecan harvest meant an income of $2,500,000 to growers, although with normal values the crop would have been worth nearly $7,000,000.

Oklahoma pecan groves yielded 10,000,000 pounds and Louisiana 4,000,000 pounds.

Unemployment in Texas forced scores of farmers to harvest nuts and dispose of them directly to consumers, making an accurate estimate of the crop impossible. Besides these itinerant pean salesmen in various Texas towns, pean shelling has afforded more people employment in San Antonio than any other industry.

Pecan production centers for Texas vary from year to year, records show. Gonzales county produced 165 carloads or 5,000,000 pounds this past season, while Wharton, Fort Bend and Colorado counties combined produced a similar amount.

Nearly 70 per cent of the total crop came from Guadalupe, Colorado and Brazos counties, with large yields from Cuero and Victoria areas. Only about 3 per cent of the crop was harvested from cultivated trees, most of the state's 75,000,000 native trees having been top-worked to increase production.

'Dream Doctor' Tells Woman Where To Dig For Treasure

By United Press. HOUSTON.—Because a negro "dream doctor" properly interpreted her dream, Lizzie Mack, 46-year-old negro, is $500 richer. Lizzie, in a troubled dream, heard the voice of her dead husband. The voice spoke three times, directing her to dig and find the money her husband had left for her, but neglecting to tell where to dig. Lizzie confided these matters to Dream Doctor Jesse Dale and next day the two set out for Lizzie's old homestead in the Brazos River bottoms. In a large baking powder can four feet underground they found the money. Some of the bills had rotted but there was about $300 in "good money" and the rest will be redeemed by bankers.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

LOCKHART, Texas.—Are fails to limit the activities of Emily Wells, negro, who will observe her 101st birthday July 4. Although the aged negroess has the work done on her own farm by a grandson, she goes about the community working at odd jobs for "de white folks." During the past year she worked at such jobs as picking cotton, gathering peas, picking up pecans, helping at hog-killings and many other things about the farm. When there is no work to be done for "de white folks," she will either chop wood around her home or hike about the community visiting "my white chilluns," as she terms her white friends. Quite often she will walk into Lockhart, which is seven miles from her farm, visit around all day until after sunset, then walk the seven miles home after dark. More than 80 years ago, a young mistress told Emily the use of snuff—a habit which the negroess had had for years—would shorten her life. But this young mistress had been dead for 20 years while Emily continues to enjoy her snuff.

Lesson-Sermon Given

The lesson-sermon subject in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Jan. 24, was "Truth." "God shall send forth his mercy and his truth," was the golden text, taken from Psalms 57:3. Included in the passages read from the Scriptures was the following from Psalms 43:3: "O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles."

SPEAKING of SPORTS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY, United Press Staff Correspondent. Brouillard Preparing For Title Defense

Lou Brouillard, Boston southpaw, who won the welterweight championship from Jack Thompson at Boston, Oct. 23, 1931, will make the first defense of his title against Jackie Fields, former titleholder, at the Chicago stadium, Jan. 28.

The welterweight title has been a link to the last few fighters who have held it. Joe Dundee was a good fighter until he won the 147-pound crown from Pete Latzo. Dundee refused to defend his title, was frequently defeated in over-weight bouts, and finally wound up by fouting Jackie Fields in a title bout at Detroit, July 25, 1929.

Fields, a great fighter before he won the title, promptly hit the downgrade and lost his title the first time he attempted to defend it against a fighter he had previously defeated.

Jack Thompson, California negro, who gave Jimmy McLarin one of his hardest battles, won the title from Fields on a 15-round decision, May 9, 1930.

Thompson Seemed to Lost Fighting Heart Immediately after winning the title Thompson seemed to lose his fighting heart, and was frequently beaten in over-weight bouts. The first time he attempted to defend the crown he was beaten by Brouillard.

After losing the title, Fields regained his former winning form and battled his way back to the top of the division. He defeated King Tut, knocked out Ducky Lawless, won a decision from King Brady and boxed a draw with King Delmont, breaking his hand in the latter bout.

Fields lost a close decision to Young Terry in Madison Square Garden, but the bout was very close.

Immediately after he won the title, Brouillard seemed to fall under the spell of the welterweight jinx. He boxed Paul Pirrone in an over-weight bout in Cleveland, and won on a foul. The impression of spectators was that Brouillard "dogged" it. The promoter who staged the bout made a nice profit, but soon afterward he would never bring Brouillard back to Cleveland again.

Labor Camps Aid California And Jobless

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—California has found a way to stem the tide of unemployed itinerants. With the recent establishment of the 17th labor camp for unemployed workers, the plan has proved to be a success, in the opinion of state officials.

As a direct result of the camps, it is estimated the influx of itinerants has been reduced from 1,200 to 640 a day, it is estimated. The camps have proven themselves beneficial in other days as well.

Camp in Mountains Sponsored by the state division of forestry, the camps have been established mainly in mountain territory of the state. Laborers are asked to work between five and six hours a day. They received no pay, but are given substantial meals and comfortable quarters in which to sleep.

The men are employed mainly in the construction of fire breaks in forest districts, and to build fire trails and communication lines. The investment made in the camps is proving beneficial in terms of work accomplished at a minimum of cost.

Make Own Laws While it was feared the men might prove recalcitrant at first, the problem was simplified when they were given charge of their own camp government. Rules approved by the workers themselves were more strict than any the state may have considered, officials report.

At the present time approximately 1,300 men are being cared for in the camps. It is planned to put at least 2,000 to work in this manner within a short time. Men willing to work see in the plan an opportunity to get through a hard winter. Those not so willing are staying away.

TUNNEL SHOWS LOSS DETROIT—The Detroit & Canada Tunnel company suffered a net loss of approximately $1,500,000 during 1931, according to F. C. Rose, controller. During the first nine months of the year the company ran behind $1,347,001, Rose reported.

OLDEN NEWS

Special Correspondent. OLDEN.—In spite of the bad weather, the Olden community chest musicale, held at the Methodist church Friday night, was well attended.

A program featuring musicians from this and neighboring communities was greatly enjoyed. Dad Buckley and his string-tone band of Olden, composed of F. E. Maxwell, John Marlow and Mrs. E. R. Maxwell, playing old-time tunes, opened the program following the welcoming address of Prof. H. W. Collins. Mrs. Jennie Norton gave two delightful vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. Alvin Herring of Eastland at the piano, and the second number by little Miss Virgie Sue Wyatt on the xylophone. Virgie Sue played a xylophone solo, a request number, "Melody of Love," after which she and Edmond Herring played a xylophone duet and encore, accompanied by Mrs. Herring at the piano. The Cisco serenaders composed of Dick Thomas, Mr. Parks and Mr. Green, gave a series of five numbers and special request numbers on the banjo, guitar and mandolin. Mrs. E. R. Maxwell and John Marlow sang "Birmingham Jail" and "Old River Valley," playing their accompaniment on the guitar and mandolin. Little Wilbert Norton gave a couple of good numbers on the harmonica and Mr. Green and Ross of Austin gave a violin and guitar series of good numbers and Prof. Collins made a good talk on the work the community chest has been doing and including some highly flavored foods in the menu. Vitamins and minerals are supplied in abundance and make up any lack in the breakfast menu.

Salsbury steak is a bit more out-of-the-ordinary than hamburg but uses the same round steak in its make-up. To make it put round steak through the food-chopper twice. Season well, using one teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper to each pound of meat. Make into round flat cakes and broil in a fine wire broiler under or over a clear flame.

Creamed potatoes are chosen in the dinner menu for the amount of milk they add to the dietary. Keep in mind that skimmed milk can be used to excellent advantage in cooking where strict economy must be practiced.

Any vegetable of pronounced flavor can be used. The carrots were selected because of their contrasting color and texture and also on account of their cheapness. Browned parsnips, buttered yellow turnips or greens might well be used.

The dinner dessert uses dried apples in place of fresh fruit. It is such a good, simple pudding that the recipe follows.

Dried Apple Pudding One cup dried apples, 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup raisins, 1/2 cup nuts, 1/2 cup molasses, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup soda, 1/2 cup cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Wash apples through several waters. Let stand over night in cold water to cover. In the morning cut in small pieces and simmer in water in which they were soaked until tender. Dissolve soda in molasses and add to stewed apples. Mix and sift flour, spice and salt and stir into first mixture. Add shortening and beat well. Add egg well beaten and turn into well buttered baking dish. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm with hard sauce or liquid sauce.

This pudding is not especially sweet but a few tablespoons granulated sugar can be added if wanted. Molasses has comparatively little sweetening power but add many tea spoons to the pudding.

Legend has it that Deerhead buried the woman on the beach and covered the grave with a broken drum from the pirate vessel.

Hearing a faint cry, he broke into a cabin and found a white woman chained to the wall. She was near death. Deerhead administered to her in his crude fashion but soon the woman died. Before she died, however, she gave the Indian a gold locket.

Years later, old settlers testify, the Indian known as Deerhead proudly exhibited such a locket. It contained miniature of a handsome man and child, and on one side was engraved the name "Theodosia."

Walnut Hill, which is to be a moderately priced club designed strictly for golfing purposes without extensive social activities, will have 36 green greens owned in the Bermuda now in common use in this section.

Maxwell is a staunch advocate of bent grass, conceded to be the finest putting surface known, but he is skeptical about spring planting and wants to have the Walnut Hills course ready for play next June.

Each nine holes of the new course begin and end at the clubhouse. An added feature will be a 600-yard practice ground which will have a putting green on each end.

"I was thinking," said Mary-Frances, "that if we should come to a nice town before we get to Mendel Springs it might be a good plan to stop and have dinner there. Sort of break our trip, you know?"

"Now, hon. Bum steer. Most of the stuff they serve in these one-horse towns would make the horse sick. Mendel Springs for us. And you'll thank me for it when you see what they set in front of you for one dollar, and served as well as a dining car. Like a fellow said, last time we was there, she didn't see how they did it for a dollar."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

THE menus for tomorrow have been worked out to give maximum food value at minimum cost. While the age and occupation of each member of a family determines his food requirement, the average family of two adults and two children will find the menus adequate for all. The simple process of elimination will make them suitable for anyone who wants less food.

In the breakfast menu, a cooked grain cereal is suggested. This type of cereal gives the most food value for the money. A second hot dish is not planned, but extra large servings of the cereal are given and cream is provided.

The luncheon menu follows the rule of developing the flavor of bland foods as much as possible and including some highly flavored foods in the menu. Vitamins and minerals are supplied in abundance and make up any lack in the breakfast menu.

Salsbury steak is a bit more out-of-the-ordinary than hamburg but uses the same round steak in its make-up. To make it put round steak through the food-chopper twice. Season well, using one teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper to each pound of meat. Make into round flat cakes and broil in a fine wire broiler under or over a clear flame.

Creamed potatoes are chosen in the dinner menu for the amount of milk they add to the dietary. Keep in mind that skimmed milk can be used to excellent advantage in cooking where strict economy must be practiced.

Any vegetable of pronounced flavor can be used. The carrots were selected because of their contrasting color and texture and also on account of their cheapness. Browned parsnips, buttered yellow turnips or greens might well be used.

Legend of Famous Missing Woman Is Told Along Gulf

FREEPORT, Texas.—Out of the folklore of the Texas gulf coast country today came the latest story concerning the probable whereabouts of Theodosia Aiston, the beautiful daughter of Aaron Burr, who became one of history's most famous missing persons.

The most generally accepted story is that Mrs. Aiston, young wife of Gen. Joseph Aiston of South Carolina, perished when a packet, the Patriot, bound from Charleston to New York, foundered in a storm off Cape Hatteras.

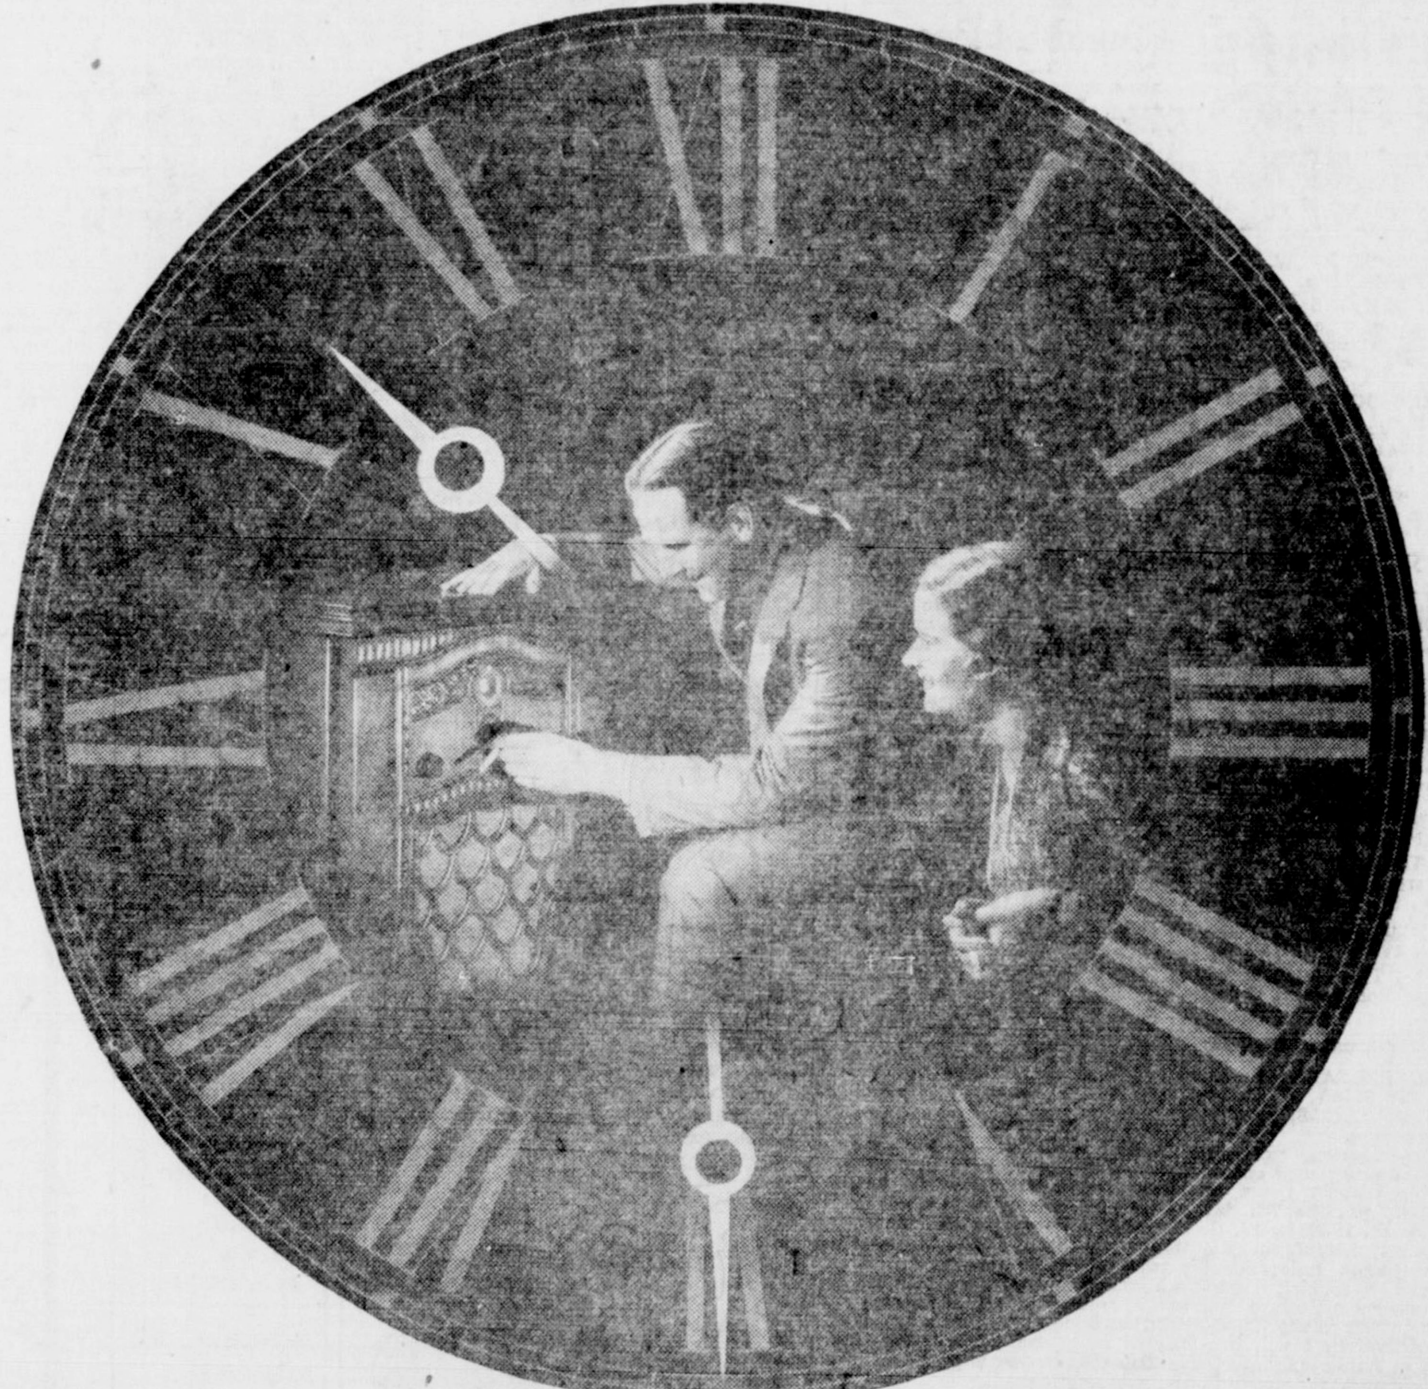

If this latest story is true, however, it will bear out the opinions of the more romantically inclined folk of the early nineteenth century, who believed that Mrs. Aiston, along with other passengers, was seized by buccanniers, who then infested southern waters in great numbers.

Be it false or fact, the story unearthed by Mrs. T. A. Humphries, local historian, has the famous beauty dying on the beach near the mouth of the San Bernard river, with a naked savage as her last audience.

The beautiful Theodosia disappeared in December, 1813, nine years after her father, then vice president of the United States, fought and fatally wounded in a duel Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury. The ship Patriot never reached New York, where Mrs. Aiston was to have joined Burr, just returned from self-imposed exile abroad.

One Deerhead, chief of the Caranubua Indians, is credited by Mrs. Humphries as witnessing a white woman's death on the beach near several months after the Patriot disappeared. Deerhead told his story to the early settlers and it has been handed down through the years. In the early fall of 1814, according to Deerhead's account, a pirate ship was caught in a storm near where the San Bernard empties into the Gulf of Mexico. Deerhead came upon the battered hulk on the beach next day.
