Honeymooners' Haven Lost in $1,000,000 Fire

The Clifton Hotel at Niagara Falls, Ontario, haven of thousands of honeymooning couples from all over the continent, was destroyed in a million-dollar fire. The hotel faces the Falls on the Canadian side. It will be rebuilt. The above picture was made as the flames were raging beyond control, and the doom of the honeymoon haven was already sealed.

Theford's Black-Draught "Good for Constipation"

"We have used Theford's Black-Draught in our home for about 20 years and have found it to be a reliable medicine," writes Mrs. Joe G. Roberts, of Porterville, Ala. "A friend recommended it to me a long time ago and it has proved its worth to me. Black-Draught is good for constipation and to rid the system of bodily poison. I find that taking Black-Draught prevents the bilious headache which I used to have. I take a dose of Black-draught, dry as I need it."

Thousands of men and women have found how well Black-Draught works in the relief of many little common disorders due to constipation. Costs only 1 cent or less a dose.

SHEILA SHAYNE, 18, whose parents were well known vaudeville actors, is in New York looking for work. Sheila is a dancer. She has spent almost her entire life on the stage, first traveling with her parents, now dead, and later in vaudeville and road shows. Sheila lives at MA LOWELL'S theatrical rooming house.

MYRT, a vaudeville performer also out of work, lives there, too. Over the breakfast table one morning Sheila confides to Myrt that her great ambition is to marry and have a home like those she has seen in small towns in which she has played.

Ma Lowell intercepts them to announce that a telephone call has come for Sheila. It is an offer for her to fill in for DAISY GLEASON, another dancer, who has sprained her ankle. Sheila agrees and sets off for JOE PARIS' office to rehearse.

At about the same time two wealthy young men, TREVOR LANE and DICK STANLEY, are discussing plans for the party Lane is to give that night. They decide to go to Paris' office to hire some entertainers. They arrive while BILL BRADY, dance instructor, is teaching Sheila the new routine. Stanley sees her dancing and is impressed with her skill and beauty.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V

JOE PARIS moved toward the practice rooms followed by the other two men. "Miss Shayne is booked at Jackson Heights tonight," he said.

Without preamble Joe opened the door. This time there was no halting of step or cessation of the music. It was Joe, the great Paris, and welcome indeed! Joe's presence in a practice room always meant something. Sheila continued with the difficult routine. She was dancing beautifully.

Her eyes met Dick Stanley's as, without stopping, she glided swiftly down the room. She smiled guardedly, a trifle mischievously. So he was a producer! Maybe he had brought Joe back. Maybe he was a producer! She decided against this almost immediately, tapping energetically, skimming like a bird across the room, breaking into kicks, tapping again. It wasn't that the newcomer was too young to be a producer! They could be as young as they pleased, providing they had money. This young man was too interested in the things about him. He didn't look bored. And a producer has to learn very early to look bored and unimpressed if he doesn't want to be besieged by would-be hangers-on at every turn.

Sheila didn't think the other man was a producer either. Had he been filling the cast of a show he would have watched her for a few minutes and then disappeared. Instead he was talking to Joe and beckoning to Bill Brady.

It was clear however that Sheila was the subject of the conversation. Tapping, whirling, twirling like a flower in a brisk wind, she smiled gently, eyes on the ceiling, and danced on.

"This girl's a real dancer," Bill began softly. And again Sheila smiled. Not five minutes before, when she had muffed a turn, Bill had called her hopeless. Five minutes more and he would make her the world's leading danseuse. That was show business for you.

"Can't I persuade you?" Dick asked in a low tone.

Timmy reached the end of the theme and began again but Bill cut in briskly. "That's all, Tim. You, Shayne—come here!"

SHE was going to meet Joe Paris! He had noticed her! Equally marvelous, she was going to meet this boy who had been watching her. She must look a sight now, her hair every which way, her face beaming. With a crumpled little handkerchief Sheila attempted to repair the ravages of the last two hours. What a moment to come face to face with any young man!

"Well, if he liked me this way he'll like me dressed up. That's one comfort," she thought despairingly. Oddly it did not occur to her to wonder if Joe Paris liked her—Joe, whose approbation could mean instant recognition.

Bill was beaming at her as though she were one of his own prize pupils and drew her into the circle.

"Miss Shayne, Joe. Miss Shayne. Mr. Lane, and—er, your friend there—I didn't catch the name? Oh, yes, Stanley! Mr. Stanley, Sheila," Bill's voice was important. His eyes were on Joe Paris' face.

"Shayne," repeated Joe meditatively, acknowledging the girl's bow with a curt nod. "Shayne. You're Johnny Desmond's daughter, aren't you? How come you changed your name?"

"I—I wanted to make good on my own, Mr. Paris." Her voice was trembling. "I didn't want managers to hire me or agents to book me on my parents' account. You see, if I got anywhere I want it to be because I am a dancer, not because my mother and father were."

The big man nodded approvingly. "Still that doesn't keep you from inheriting Johnny's spunk," he said reflectively. "And you can dance all right. You're good!"

"Good! You can dance all right." Such words as those from Joe Paris! If Joe troubled to praise a routine it meant something. Always considerate, always helpful to an actor in trouble or a down-and-out, Joe never scattered undue praise.

"The kindest thing," he would repeat firmly and frequently, "the kindest thing you can do for some of them is to send them back to the five-and-dime stores. But if they are good, tell them so!"

BILL glowed at the tribute. "Mr. Lane, here," he said, indicating that gentleman, "is looking for talent."

Sheila's eyes widened expectantly.

"—For a party he's giving this evening."

The girl's face fell.

"We thought perhaps you'd dance for him," Joe Paris added. "Just a number or two. I know you're booked with Roscoe Moody in Gleason's place—"

Sheila showed her surprise. So Joe Paris knew that! That he had known her father did not seem so unusual as did this exciting bit of news.

"We are playing Jackson Heights," Sheila murmured in confusion. "I've been resting lately. I'm—well, pretty stiff."

Joe grinned broadly. If he thought sore muscles a joke, Sheila decided, it must be because he had never experienced them. Or had he?

"Mr. Lane," Joe said, while Bill stood by attentively and the others remained silent. "Jackson Heights. That's Bailey's theater? Well—you could make it in a taxi. After the show. Just a number or so. Is that right, Lane? Or a song?"

Bill leaned forward confidentially, though his lowered voice reached and was meant to reach every corner in the room. "Shayne puts over a song number in great style."

Dick Stanley's pleading eyes met the girl's for an instant as she wavered.

"I would like to accommodate you," she began, then added hastily, "but I haven't been dancing. I'll be awfully tired I'm afraid."

"You seem in excellent practice," Trevor Lane began politely.

"It's not that!" Sheila flushed. "I may be too stiff by that time to dance well. Maybe you've ridden horseback—and know how difficult it is?" She laughed ruefully. "Perhaps some other time!"

HER heart was pounding, saying loudly, "You little fool! Why are you refusing? Mr. Stanley will be there! You'll see him. Maybe he will take you home. Tell him you'll be glad to fill in."

"We pay 50—"

"Seventy-five!" announced Dick briskly, slyly nudging Trevor. "And," grinning boyishly, "we guarantee you an awfully good time. For you'll stay for the party of course?"

This, she knew, was irregular. Unbusinesslike. They got things from you they didn't pay for—extra songs, maybe dances, even a lesson or so. The men gathered around, considering a chorus girl fair prey. The girls snubbed you if you were good-looking, or if you were clever they said catty things.

No, the wisest thing was to keep away. Still $75 is $75—a full wardrobe with careful buying! A new evening gown, new hat, new suit, shoes!

But why put herself at a disadvantage? Why appear beside society girls, wealthy young women of this man's own set, with the comparison all in their favor? Meticulously groomed, born to luxury and ease, never a worry or thought for tomorrow.

"I'm sorry. I'd love to see some other time. It's awfully nice of you to ask me."

"Some other time, then," Trevor Lane said simply. He did not appear even vaguely disturbed. Dick Stanley looked crest-fallen. Joe Paris regarded her doubtfully and Bill glared.

"Can't I persuade you?" Dick asked in a low tone as the other moved away.

"No, really I can't do it. Not tonight."

"Suppose I leave the telephone number with the girl? Will you use it if you change your mind?" She shook her head. "No. Well, maybe. Yes, leave it. But don't be disappointed—"

"Please change your mind. I'll expect to hear from you."

Why hadn't he asked for her telephone number, Sheila wondered, as he disappeared in the direction of the others. Didn't he know she had burned her bridges? That she couldn't telephone him now? He thought he could find her in the telephone book, perhaps. As if she could afford her own apartment in these days!

Sheila sighed. An opportunity had vanished. But work remained. Dazedly she went into the routine, her clicking heels beating out the rhythm as faithful Timmy played.

Preston Lingle is Buried at Lingleville

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Preston Lingle at Lingleville, who died at a local hospital here Monday morning after several days of illness. He was born in Lingleville in 1903 and lived there until 1918, when with his family they moved to Ranger where he since has resided with his mother.

He has been a member of the Church of Christ since 1929.

Surviving him are his mother and the following sister and brothers: Mrs. Avey Lingle, Mrs. L. J. Burnett, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs.

Nettie Mace, all of Ranger; Mrs. Hollis of Desdemona, Lester Lingle, Omer Lingle, both of Ranger; Jake Lingle of Breckenridge, Edwin Lingle of Lipan, Hudie Lingle of Lingleville, all of whom were at his bedside when death came.

Funeral services were conducted by Bro. S. E. Price of Church of Christ, Stephenville, a very close friend of the family. A short talk was made by Rev. K. C. Edmonds of Ranger. Interment was in Lingleville cemetery.

Another Gains Relief From Nervousness and Indigestion By Crazy Water Company, Mineral Wells, Texas.

Gentlemen:

It gives me great pleasure to advise you that since using Crazy Crystals I have greatly improved in health. I had suffered for three years from indigestion and nervousness, but I am a different man since taking your MINERAL WATER treatment. Have gained eight pounds during the past six weeks, and I can sleep at night without any difficulty. People suffering as I did, should certainly begin the use of your Crazy Crystals.

Signed: MR. W. H. TUCKER, 2617 Third Avenue, Richmond, Virginia.

Crazy Crystals are a NATURAL product, pure as sunshine, evaporated from America's greatest mineral water. See your local dealer, or write to The Crazy Water Company, Mineral Wells, Texas. Begin Today—The Crazy Crystals Way!

Takes Pro Football To Honolulu

The Hawaiian Islands are having a taste of football as it is played by American professional teams since the Green Bay Packers arrived there on a post-season tour. Coach Earl "Curly" Lambeau, above, took 18 of his players to the islands for two games against picked teams. The Packers will return to the United States in January and perform before west coast and southwestern audiences.

Mr. Ross has been in ill health for some time, and expects to spend five or six months in New Mexico. He will be missed as he has been actively engaged in Baptist church work, and is the recording secretary of the Knights of Pythias and the Rabbit Breeders association, in addition to having other important offices in organizations. Friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

Convallescing. Influenza has played havoc in Eastland and affected, especially, clubs and organizations, their membership having been stricken to a large extent with this epidemic.

Mrs. Scott W. Key is now sitting up a little at a time, following a serious and even dangerous illness of two weeks, of flu with complications.

Her illness was so serious that the Keys' son, Billie, was entertained by George Bittle during his recent holiday visit home, from the university.

W. D. R. Owen was permitted to sit up a little while Thursday, following a sharp attack of influenza. Mrs. Owen is able to be up for brief intervals, but it still suffering from the malady.

Reports continued of the wide spread, locally, of influenza, which some physicians state is more prevalent here now than at any other time since the disease first developed.

Frank Crowell, manager of the Pickering Lumber company, who has been desperately ill for several days, is making a slow recovery. Mrs. Crowell is up, but not yet well.

Rebekah Lodge Installation and Banquet

The Rebekah lodge of Eastland held a very beautiful ceremonial in the installation of officers, conducted by the Progressive lodge of Ranger, with Mrs. Dolly Taylor in command, at their regular lodge meeting held Thursday night in lodge rooms.

The new officers who will take charge of the affairs of the local lodge, present, Mrs. Blanche Nicols, noble grand; Mrs. Irma Parker, vice grand; Miss Opal Hunt, secretary.

Appointive officers installed presented, Mrs. Cassie Pearson, right support to noble grand; Mrs. Mattie Butler, left support to noble grand; Mrs. Maude Marlow, warden; Mrs. Edwina Rains, conductor; Mrs. Sadie Seed, chaplain; Mrs. Leah Daniels, inside guardian; Mrs. Mona Lynch, right support vice grand; Mrs. Bertha Beavers, left support vice grand.

There was a fine attendance, and eight members from the Ranger lodge were entertained.

A delicious banquet was prettily served from a linen covered, candle lighted and flower centered table. The menu included turkey with dressing, side dishes, salad, hot rolls and coffee, with last course of cherry pie with whipped cream topping.

Public Library Still Popular

The public library of Eastland is having a splendid patronage, in spite of the prevalent sickness among the patrons.

People who are convalescing find more time to read and are enjoying the new books now available.

Miss Cecelia Haas, the librarian, states the request for the new books continues unabated and with Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin, librarian chairman, they have compiled this list of new books, now in the library:

After Five o'Clock, Elizabeth Corbett.
Robin Hill, Lida Larrimore.
Freethaven, Kathleen Norris.
Prologue to Love, Martha Ostenso.
Half Angel, Fannie Heaslip Lea.
The Radiant Year, Elizabeth Carfrae.
Earth Horizon, Mary Austin.
