DEPUTY SHERIFF IS KILLED BY HIS PRISONER

CROWD IS HELD AT BAY WITH MACHINE GUN

Three Men and a Woman Escape In Automobile After Slaying.

By United Press.
RHOME, Jan. 27.—Deputy Sheriff Joe Brown was shot and killed in his barber shop here today after he had arrested three men and a woman in connection with a theft of oil at Decatur.

The slayer, a medium sized young man, escaped in an automobile with one of the men and a woman.

Brown had stopped the automobile after receiving a telephone call from Deputy Sheriff E. C. Chapman at Decatur that the trio had stolen a quantity of oil from a cotton truck near there.

Brown was killed inside the Rhome police station while he was notifying Decatur officers of the capture.

One of the men cried, you don't want me," and jerked a gun out of his pocket.

J. E. Powell, barber and eye witness, said the woman hid behind a desk while the smaller of the two men fired repeatedly into the deputy's body. The officer was shot nine times in the head and back. He died instantly.

The larger man dragged the woman into the automobile and the three escaped. Witnesses said the machine gun was concealed under a quilt in the rear seat of the automobile.

One of the three men identified himself as a hitch-hiker who had been given a ride between here and Decatur.

The hitch-hiker ran from the barber shop after the shooting. Later he returned and surrendered.

He was brought to Fort Worth for questioning and revising his story told officers he was employed by the woman sought at a Quitaque, Bristow county, tourist camp.

Brown, about 55 years old, was one of the best known officers in Wise county. He had been a peace officer for about 20 years. Fellow officers described him as a "cool man in a pinch" and said "he had been in a tight spot with outlaws" frequently.

By United Press.
DALLAS, Jan. 27.—The automobile in which three fugitives were fleeing after the slaying of Joe Brown of Rhome, was reported sighted this afternoon half way between Rhome and Dallas on the new northwest highway.

Indians Ask His Appointment

A delegation from the Pueblo Indians has asked President-elect Roosevelt to appoint John Collier (above) as the new Indian commissioner. He is secretary of the American Indian Defense Association and a veteran crusader for Indian rights.

SUPERVISION OF UTILITIES BEING PLANNED

By United Press.
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Jan. 27. Reorganization of federal supervision over public utilities was revealed today as one of the first objectives of President-elect Roosevelt.

From conferences with railroad experts in the last few days it was indicated there has emerged the framework of a program for unified transportation regulation with railroads, shipping, buses, trucks, aircraft and pipe lines grouped under a central government agency, which would be a perfected interstate commerce commission.

The next step in the Roosevelt plan, it appeared, would be the creation of similar agencies to regulate power and communications, including telephone, telegraph and radio.

Body of Slain Woman Has Not Been Identified

By United Press.
CORRIGAN, Texas, Jan. 27.—Polk county officers said today they had been unable to establish the identity of a young woman whose body, bearing knife wounds and bruises, was found near here Wednesday.

Mrs. Ella Dunn of Huston, mother of a missing 14 year old girl examined clothing taken from the body, but failed to identify it.

New Bullets Will Disable Tanks

By United Press.
JUNCTION CITY, Kan.—Tests conducted by the department of weapons at Fort Riley convinced officers that ammunition now developed will pierce and probably disable any armored tank in existence.

The tests were of great military value, it was believed, because of the important part tanks played in the World War.

A 50-caliber machine gun with armor-piercing ammunition was used against a Renault tank of the same type as those used in the World War.

A total of 254 rounds of projectiles of which 192 rounds were armor piercing, were fired at the tank which crossed a field between 300 and 600 yards from the guns. The tank was disabled by 144 hits and disabled the tank. The armor piercing ammunition used was not the highest velocity obtainable.

Officers said after the test that the new weapons and ammunition would annihilate tanks equipped with any armor plate yet developed.

Federal Barge Cargoes Increase

By United Press.
NEW ORLEANS.—Federal barge lines carried 1,651,268 tons of cargo over the three divisions last year, a gain of 117,353 tons over the 1,533,915 of the year before, according to the annual tonnage report of the Inland Waterways Corporation.

The largest gain of the year was made in the lower Mississippi River division which carried 1,291,217 tons during the year, an increase of 120,900 over the year before.

The upper Mississippi division carried 104,105 tons, while the Warrior River division carried 255,855 tons last year.

China To Get Its First Cooled Train

WASHINGTON.—China shortly will have its first air-cooled train.

The commerce department has been informed by its Honk Kong office, that plans are now practically complete whereby passengers on the Canton-Kowloon express during the hot, humid summer months will be accommodated by air-cooled and conditioned equipment.

Large ice tanks, special blowers and improved ventilation systems are to be installed.

Flags Should Still Be At Half Mast

AMARILLO.—The local American Legion post was quick to remonstrate when certain American flags were flown at fullstaff after the death of Calvin Coolidge.

The flags should be flown at half staff until Feb. 4, in accordance with the presidential proclamation of a 30-day period of mourning, it was pointed out.

Considered for Roosevelt Cabinet

Two men being actively considered for the "liberal cabinet" which President-elect Roosevelt is expected to name before March 4, are O. Max Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, and Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico. Gardner, backed by secretary of the navy, would preserve a long line of North Carolina navy secretaries. There have been five from that state, the last being Josephus Daniels. Cutting, progressive Republican who bolted his party to support Roosevelt, may be chosen secretary of the interior. Roosevelt is expected to recognize at least one of those progressive Republicans who backed him.

Oil Leases Bring Beaumont Deposits Up By $250,000

By United Press.
BEAUMONT.—Fortunate residents of Beaumont have been paid more than $200,000 within the past 60 days by oil companies for oil leases, according to estimates of some local oil men.

The influx of oil lease money is believed to be a major reason for an increase of approximately $250,000 in bank deposits here within the past 90 days.

Major oil companies are leasing land at an unprecedented rate on the Conroe "trend." The "play" extends roughly from Conroe, 40 miles east of Houston in Montgomery county, east through Jasper, Hadden's Ferry, Leesville, La., Alexandria, La., and up to Vicksburg, Miss.

The strip of land is approximately 350 miles long and 90 miles wide.

The Humble Oil and Refining company, Standard of New Jersey subsidiary which has headquarters at Houston, has spent approximately $1,500,000 in leases and outright purchases of land in the Conroe "trend" during the past two months. The land is leasing for $1 and $5 an acre for five and 10-year periods.

The entire "trend" is regarded as a potential oil producing land, with certain "high spots" regarded as sure producers. Several independent companies are sinking wildcat wells near DeRidder and other Louisiana points, with the major companies holding oil drilling operations and concentrating on building up their lease interests.

A Dallas independent concern has leased 2,600 acres of land in the west end of Jefferson county for a five-year period, paying an unannounced consideration in cash and oil. A local concern recently received a check for $35,000 for a lease on extensive properties in the vicinity of Kountze, Hardin county.

Truck Overtakes, One Man Is Hurt

A truck driven by Fred Swoden of Arp, containing furniture belonging to C. A. Weathered, formerly of Ranger, president of the Sam Houston Life Insurance company, overturned on the highway near Ranger this morning, badly damaging the truck and breaking some of the furniture.

Neither the driver nor his helper, Buddie Drake, were injured, but one man who was riding on the back of the truck, Tim Webb of San Antonio, was painfully but not seriously injured. He received treatment for his wounds at the City-County hospital.

Swoden stated that the truck, which belongs to the Bowen Refining company, was enroute from El Paso to Arp with a quantity of furniture, which was being delivered to C. A. Weathered. He expressed the belief that defective steering gears caused the accident.

Doctor Advises End Of Fast Living

By United Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Put on the brakes, stop this fast living and forget your worries if you want to be happy this year, is the ultimatum of Dr. Wallace P. Moore, head of the Shelby county health department.

"Live by your doctor's orders or die by your own," Dr. Moore said. "Everyone should forget his troubles and meet the new year with a clear mind.

"The depression, like a disease, will leave many ill after effects. Just as excessive living in good times left many nervous and organic diseases, so the worry of hard times will tear down the health of people today," he warned.

Hunger Saved a Coal Miner's Life

By United Press.
FORT BRANCHE, Ind.—Hunger probably saved the life of Russell Mills, 26-year-old coal miner.

About the middle of the morning Mills became hungry and reached over to get a sandwich from his lunch pail. At the same time about five tons of coal and slate crashed down. He escaped with lacerations and bruises about the back and hips.

Had he been standing up straight the falling coal might have crushed him to death.

Two New Flags Made For House

By United Press.
AUSTIN.—Mrs. Susie Rudasill of Austin has become the "Betty Ross" for the house of representatives. Beautiful regulation size national and Texas flags now float over the speaker's platform as a result of nine months needle work on her part. They replace two smaller flags which have been in use for years. Mrs. Rudasill has been a warrant clerk of the house for a number of sessions.

Presentation of the flags was marked by a patriotic protest against a member's reference to the old flags as "unsightly."

The member hastened to explain that he felt sure everyone knew he referred to the physical condition into which the years have brought the material of the old flags.

LOBBY FUND CONDEMNED IN LEGISLATURE

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—In a resolution condemning collection of funds to operate a "wet" lobby in Austin, the liquor question again flashed across the house of representatives floor.

Representative P. L. Anderson of San Antonio, author of one of the liquor bills introduced, charged the Crusaders, national anti-prohibition organization, with collecting contributions throughout the state to conduct a lobby in Austin.

The resolution, adopted 63 to 53, asked the organization to cease its alleged collection activities.

"I think everyone has the right of petition but not of collection," Anderson said. "I do not think it right when an organization gets out and collects amounts from 25 cents up. That gives the idea that to effect legislation the hat must be passed around to send a lobby to assist."

A net income tax measure to replace ad valorem taxes on real estate, prepared by Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas and others, was introduced. The measure calls for a graduated tax ranging from 1 per cent on $1,000 yearly net income to 11 per cent on incomes of $11,000 for individuals and from 2 per cent on $1,000 to 6 per cent in excess of $6,000 for corporations.

Appropriation of $4,000,000 a year for rural school aid was proposed in another measure.

Representative T. H. McGregor offered a bill providing that when real estate sold under mortgage Senator W. R. Poage of Waco is to be used to cover the mortgage debt the mortgage holder cannot sell other property to obtain the difference.

A bill to stop sale of mortgaged farms for less than the amount of the mortgage was introduced by Senator W. R. Poage of Waco. It would force mortgage holders who insist on immediate foreclosure to accept the land in full payment of the debt. Otherwise the mortgage holder would have to wait two years to dispossess the farmer and sell the land.

Oil Operators of East Texas Fight Proration Plans

By United Press.
HOUSTON, Jan. 27.—East Texas oil operators today opened their assault on state-imposed oil proration before a three-judge federal court here.

The East Texas operators are fighting both the "market demand" and oil conservation law passed recently by the Texas legislature and the commission's method of enforcing that statute.

Injunctive relief was asked of the court.

Highway Officers Discuss Laws on Car Registration

State Highway Patrolmen, Myers and Daniels, in a discussion of automobile registration Thursday morning stated that apparently some farmers in this section of the State are confused in regard to the registration of trucks. Basing their conclusion on a court decision handed down recently in another part of the state some may not have to register trucks, the officers said. For the purpose of clearing up this point Patrolmen Myers and Daniels stated that farmers must take out license for trucks, if they wish to operate them, but that the farm trailers are exempt.

These officers further called attention to the fact that registrations for Eastland county are far below normal for this time of the month and that the time limit for registrations without the penalty being attached would be midnight February 1st. This means that cars may be registered all day and until midnight on the first day of February without the penalty being added.

Beginning on the second day of February cars are registered by months; that is, the amount of the fee charged depends upon the number of months remaining for the car to be used this year. However, this discount does not apply if the car or truck was used during the month of January. If the discount is allowed, an affidavit must be made to the effect that the vehicle was not operated in January; otherwise the law provides that the full registration fee and penalty must be paid.

Ranger Chamber of Commerce Will Elect Officers

An important meeting of the directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday night in the offices of the secretary, the meeting to be called to order at 7:30.

The recently elected directors, who were selected by the city commission from a list sent in by the directors will be installed into office. These directors, who have been selected to fill vacancies and to succeed themselves in office, are D. W. Conway, present president; Dr. P. M. Kuykendall, Charles Moore, J. A. Thrower, H. P. Earnest and Walter Harwell.

The next item of business to come before the body will be the election of officers for the coming year, including the president, vice presidents and the secretary.

Plans for the joint banquet of the retail merchants association and the chamber of commerce will be discussed. The date for the banquet has been set for Feb. 9 and committees from the retail merchants and the chamber of commerce have been selected to work out the details as to the menu, speakers and other entertainment features.

Merchants Meeting Called in Ranger

All members of the Ranger Retail Merchants association and any other merchants of the City of Ranger who are interested in a trade revival program, have been urged by Mrs. Alice D. True, secretary of the association, to be present tonight at a meeting to be held in the offices of the secretary at 7:30.

The first part of the session is to be taken up in a discussion of credits, followed by round table talks on plans for stimulating and retaining business in Ranger.

All merchants of the city are invited to be present and to take part in the discussions. Mrs. True announced today.

BOSTON.—Svelte figures are preferred to high marks by Boston University co-eds.

Headlight Law Appears Doomed

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—The headlight law, under which automobile owner pay $300,000 a year for headlight testing, appeared doomed today.

A repeal bill by Lon Alsup, blind legislator from Carthage, received unanimous approval by a house committee.

Complaint of its operation and failure to keep glaring headlights, one-eyed cars and unlighted cuts off the roads has been continual since the law took effect nearly 10 years ago.

Raymond Hamilton to Get New Trial

DALLAS, Jan. 27.—New trial for Raymond Hamilton, 19, became possible today through efforts of defense attorneys to reduce the 55 year sentence he received on conviction of two robbery charges here.

Hamilton and J. L. Stewart, also turned in Johnson county after investigation of the robbery of Henry and Oscar Lyles, farmers whose automobile was taken shortly after the second robbery of the Cedar Hill bank.

SHOUTS FIRE ALARM

WICHITA FALLS.—When the switchboard in the Grandfield, Okla., telephone exchange developed a short circuit and burst into flames late one night, Mrs. L. D. Keithley, night operator, relied on lung power to give the alarm. She leaped out her office window and shouted. Firemen answered and soon had the flames under control.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FINDING THE RIGHT WAY: Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.—Isaiah 55: 6, 7.

SHIFTING THE LOAD FROM COMMUNITIES TO STATES

Away back in 1931 a national survey of school finance was authorized by Paul R. Mort of Columbia University supervised the gathering of data from "a notable array of educators, economists and men of finance." This was the verdict of Director Mort: "Areas exist in the United States where schools are distinctly inferior and other areas where schools are ceasing to exist." As for the survey this is its indictment: "The present breakdown of traditional methods of financing public schools is depriving approximately 9,500,000 American children of essential schooling and threatening the welfare of millions of others." Splendid propaganda to say the least.

Well, the survey of educators and economists advise a fundamental change. This is the proposal: "Transfer of the burden of support from local communities to the entire state." Hasn't this been accomplished in Texas? A way back in 1914 a democratic convention held in the city of El Paso recommended that millions should be taken from the general revenue fund for rural aid. The Texas legislature accepted the recommendation as a platform demand, and large appropriations have been made since the innovation was ordered.

Now the 43rd legislature is grinding. Senator Julian P. Greer has introduced a bill to appropriate $4,000,000 for each year of the next biennium for rural school aid. In his introductory remarks the East Texas senator said the appropriation two years ago was only $5,000,000 for the biennium but that fund was running two millions behind and a large appropriation was necessary to make up the deficit and maintain the school aid policy. Senator Grady Woodruff of the Wise county district has a viewpoint. In his opinion "the present 40-page itemization of the educational budget is extravagant and indefensible." He advised his fellow lawmakers that the educational budget "should be in lump sums with a line only for each institution, placing the funds in the hands of the institutions for the most economical possible handling." He predicted that his plan would abolish legislative salary fixing for faulty members, "though the cut in appropriations would level out an approximately general reduction of its rate of cutting."

Really, a lump sum appropriation for each institution of higher learning would be a master stroke at this time. Why should the president of a university or a president of any one of the minor institutions of learning be hogged by a legislative itemization of the salary to be paid to a faculty member? Is the head of a university or a college a dummy? If he is not, he should be fetterless and be given free hand. The 40-page budget report of the committee follows the custom of a past and dead age. If a lump appropriation seem unprecedented, let us remember 1933 is an unprecedented year and a suitable time for breaking the fetters of the dead past.

SENATORIAL COURTESY UNDER THE BIG DOME

Former Gov. Ross S. Sterling sent to the senate the nomination of J. W. Fitzgerald of Tyler as judge of the new district court for Smith and Upshur counties. Thomas L. Pollard was the senatorial representative of the Tyler district for two terms. He retired to practice law. Will B. Pace was nominated and elected as Pollard's successor. Senator Pace opposed by courtesy against confirmation. The motion prevailed. Fitzgerald was rejected. Now Gov. Ferguson will name the judge.

Senatorial courtesy is all powerful under the big dome on the banks of the Potomac. It is all powerful under the big dome on the banks of the Colorado. Shaking the political patronage plum tree is great sport while the sport lasts, but in times like these when there are a hundred applicants for every job it is a very excruciating sport for those who are hit on the nose and fall outside the break-works.

CROP LOANS TO BE OKEYED BY THE SENATE

Now that the crop loan bill is said to have smooth sailing. "The hand of compromise smoothed the way for early enactment of a bill which will mean millions in credit for the farmers of the country to use in getting out their 1933 crop" reads a Washington dispatch. A compromise was enacted. Now it is said the crop production loan bill, passed in slightly different form by the house and senate, has been hammered into shape by conferees on the part of both bodies. Moreover, as agreed upon, it would make available many million dollars of Reconstruction Corporation funds for distribution through the secretary of agriculture in loans for the production and harvesting of the crop of 1933.

Harley Sadler To Bring New Plays To Connellee Stage

Harley Sadler, who has been called the Belasco of West Texas, brings a new idea in the presentation of stage plays when he brings his new company to the Connellee theatre, Eastland, next week. Every part of his show reflects the influence of the new show world.

A great many people are of the opinion that a tent show in West Texas isn't supposed to be listed among the best in the country and are only traveling this territory for the general amusement of those who care to attend, but if you could be carried to the dramatic centers of the east, you would be greatly surprised. Mr. Sadler is as well known in Kansas City, Chicago and New York as he is in West Texas and is held in such high esteem by show people that when Ethel Barrymore resigned her position as vice president of Equity Actors association and went to California to join her famous brothers, John and Lionel, Mr. Sadler was selected to fill her place.

All of the plays to be presented in Eastland next week are new and are from some of the best authors of stage plays now writing. These stories have been cut right down to the best there are in them and makes the action fast and full of fire without the least bit of drag. All the players in the new company have been selected for their particular ability to portray certain types of roles. Mr. Sadler will of course handle all the major comedy roles in his own inimitable way.

The opening play will be "Hot air." It was written by the author of "Brothers," which was considered the most popular play on Broadway last season.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

You should boost the home city and help to make it mighty.

Many citizens fully realize the great prospects for the development of the home city and are on the job.

Those who realize its great prospects and are asleep are equally as bad as those who fail to recognize its resources. It is the duty of those who are fully awake to see that those who are asleep do their share toward making the home city a greater city.

You should tell everybody you meet about your city. Your city should welcome all industries and strive to keep those you now have.

Firestone Dealers To Meet In Abilene

On Feb. 1 one of a series of nation-wide tire dealer service meetings, being conducted by district executives of the Firestone Tire & Rubber company, will be held at the Hilton hotel, Abilene, Texas, at 10:30 a. m.

Firestone and its dealers realize that during 1933 the public will demand a superior service and finer merchandise. Service and economy will be the governing factors in the success of the retail tire merchants.

Through its several hundred one-stop service stores located throughout the country, Firestone has developed ideas and programs, whereby the dealer can render a higher type service, giving to the automobile users the utmost for money spent on automobile replacements and maintenance. An unusually large number of dealers have been attending these meetings, and have heartily endorsed the thoughts and plans given them.

All tire dealers, whether Firestone dealers or not, are urged to attend this meeting. Realizing that in order to put back into the hands of the service-giving dealer the control of the retail tire business it will be necessary that every tire service dealer in the country understand the importance of knowing and taking care of their customers' requirements, Firestone is anxious to have all dealers better acquainted with the problems they must face this year.

Luncheon will be served to all those in attendance.

I don't spend very much on Myself

BUT, believe ME, when it comes to what I smoke, I want it right!

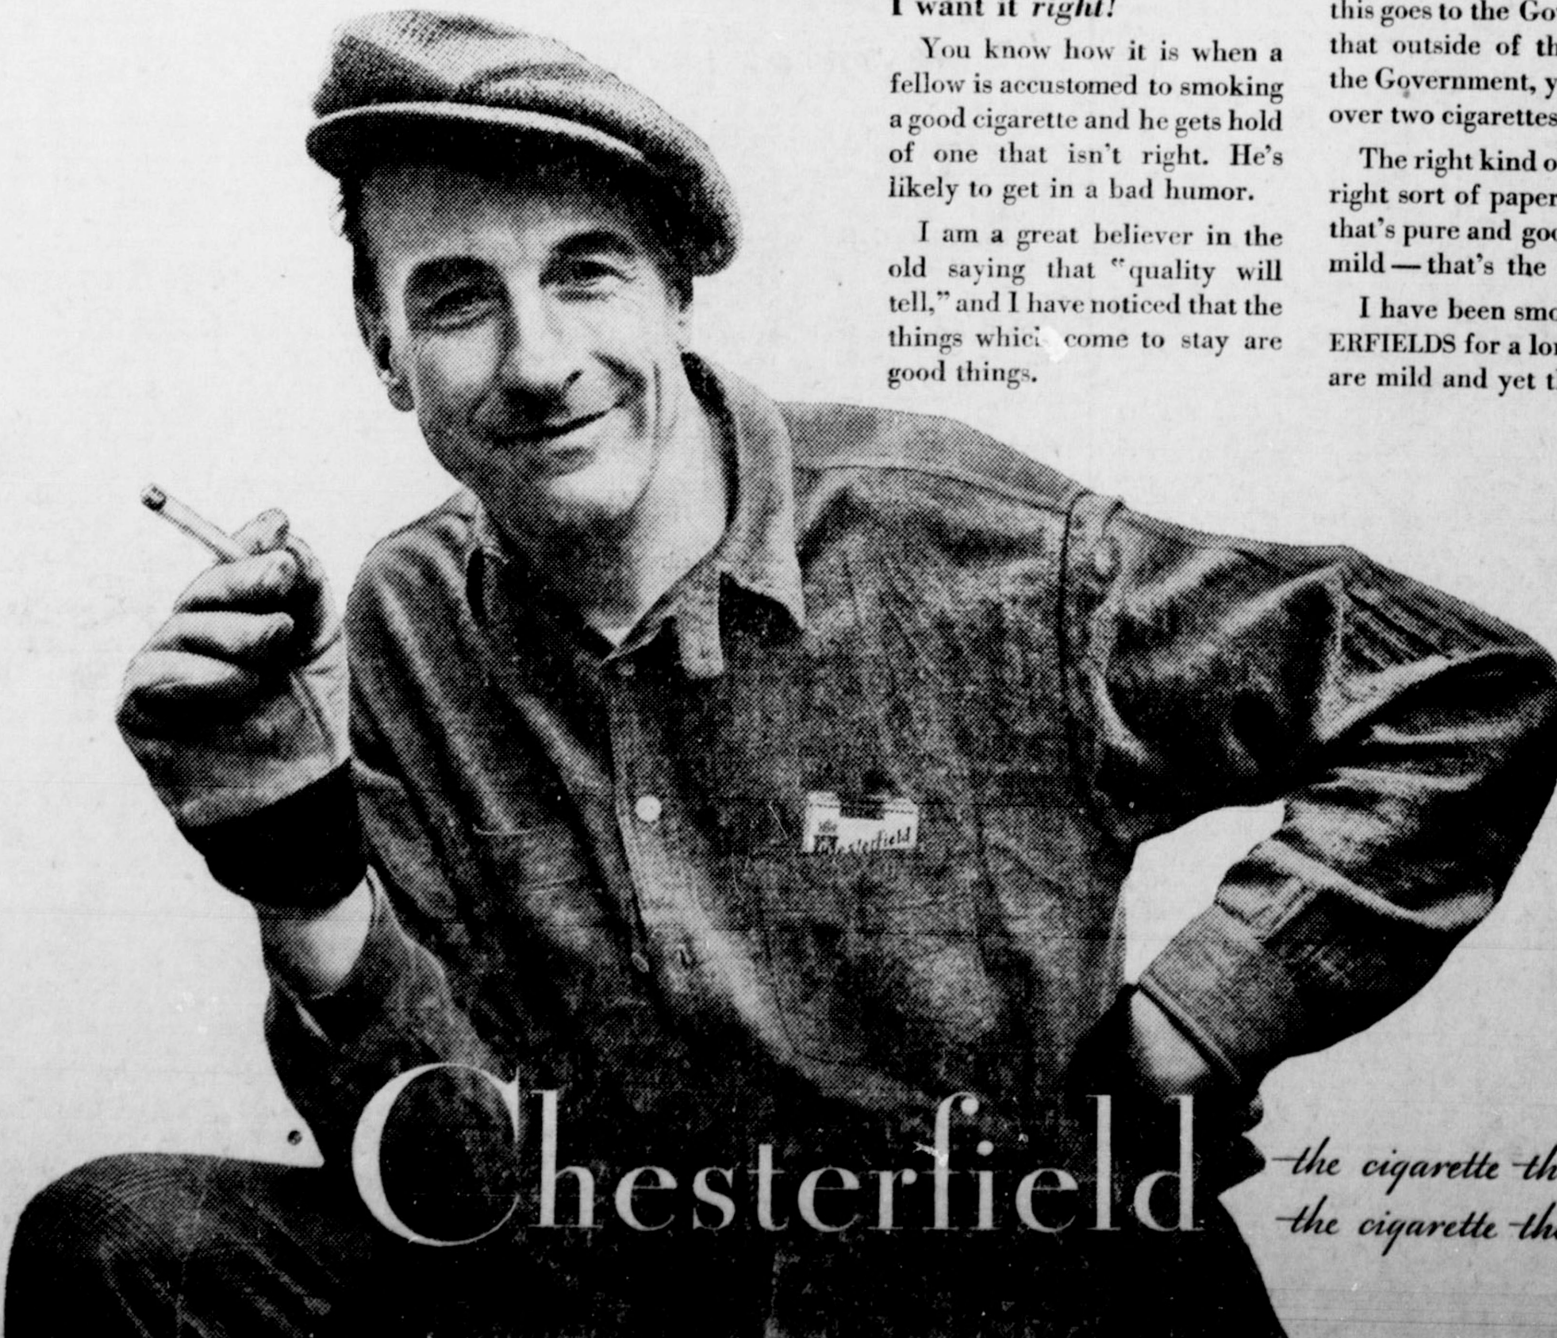

You know how it is when a fellow is accustomed to smoking a good cigarette and he gets hold of one that isn't right. He's likely to get in a bad humor.

I am a great believer in the old saying that "quality will tell," and I have noticed that the things which come to stay are good things.

You can buy a package of good cigarettes for 15c. Six cents of this goes to the Government. So that outside of the 6c paid to the Government, you get a little over two cigarettes for one cent.

The right kind of tobacco, the right sort of paper—a cigarette that's pure and good-tasting and mild—that's the kind I want.

I have been smoking CHESTERFIELDS for a long time. They are mild and yet they satisfy.

Library Regulations of Ranger High

Many of the students in Ranger High school do not know the library regulations. This is no doubt the main reason so many students keep books out overtime and in general break many rules made by the library committee. It is for the benefit of these students these library regulations are printed:

1. Fiction, biography and travel books may be checked out for seven days. They may be renewed once. A fine of 2 cents per day will be charged for over detention.
2. Reserves—History, magazines, dictionaries, and short selected list made up of literature, economics and language books which have been placed on reserve by the various teachers may be borrowed for one night only. They can be checked out at the close of the sixth period and must be returned by 8:15 the following morning. These books may be checked out for any one period each day. It is necessary therefore that no excuse be made or accepted for over detention. A fine of 5 cents per period will be charged for over detention of these books.
3. Please do not return seven-day books on the same day they are checked out.
4. Do not return books to shelves. A book misplaced is a book lost.
5. It will be greatly appreciated if students will enter and leave the library in an orderly manner.
6. Do not ask to go back of library desk until after school.

Lyric Will Have Two Saturday Shows

Effective with this Saturday the Lyric will present two complete changes of programs instead of one as has been the policy. On the matinee shows this Saturday Buck Jones in "The Forbidden Trail" will be shown. This feature will be run all afternoon starting at 1:30 p. m. and continuing until 6:00 p. m.

At 6:00 p. m. a new feature will be shown, Loretta Young in "Life Begins." This feature will be run on all the night shows including a late Saturday night performance. Another change in policy will be on the Sunday attraction. The run on all Sunday pictures will be extended through Monday instead of just playing one day as they did under the former policy.

The policy for the other days of the week will remain unchanged. One picture will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday and one attraction for Thursday and Friday.

BEGIN HERE TODAY SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, is discharged from a new play because MARION RANDOLPH, the star, is jealous of her. Sheila searches for work and finally secures a part in a musical show soon to go on tour. DICK STANLEY, rich and socially prominent, asks her to give up this job and marry him but Sheila refuses. Her idea of marriage is a home in some little town far from Broadway.

Sheila is friendly with JIM BLAINE, another actor in the company from which she was discharged. When Jim offends Miss Randolph quite unintentionally she asks CRAIG ABBOTT, who is backing the show financially, to discharge Jim. Abbott, tired of Marion and her demands, goes to see Jim and through him secures an introduction to Sheila. A few days later Sheila hears that Marion is out of the show.

Abbott takes her to tea and offers her the part Marion had. Sheila says she does not want it. Then Abbott asks her to marry him. Sheila refuses, knowing Abbott is not to love with her. A few days later the road company sets out on their tour. Dick takes Sheila to the train.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

SHEILA slipped into the routine of the road tour with alacrity. Still there were difficulties. She was a principal without the aloofness of a principal. Nor was she of the chorus. Her salary made it unnecessary for her to skimp along as the girls in the ensemble did. All this made life rather lonely for her. For company she turned to Jappy.

Jappy was a chorus girl who had won her name for obvious reasons. She had been a dancer, billed as an oriental half-caste, an appellation which her slanting eyes did not belie. Actually Jappy, born Mildred Cross, in Passaic, New Jersey, was thoroughly American. She was in the chorus now because she found no better job.

She liked Jappy. Even when she believed the press agent's tale of the other girl who had half Japanese, Sheila had been drawn to her.

They were in a small city in Pennsylvania. It was Friday and they were to play there two nights, making a jump on Sunday for another split week.

Jappy shared the chorus dressing room. Sheila missed that a little. Girls, laughing and gay, at long dressing shelves, mirrors, and cretonne covered chairs all about. She liked the crowded, brightly lighted rooms with knots of girls, dressing, powdering, flexing, scolding, rustling.

Sheila's dressing room was half as large as that into which the 30 chorus girls were crowded. Her costumes hung, as always, against a sheet along the wall. She invited Jappy to join these quarters.

But Jappy shook her head. It would "get her in wrong" with the rest of the girls, she said. They would consider her "high hat." However, after she had dressed, Jappy frequently would leave the gaiety of the dressing room and seek Sheila's. A month later she moved in.

NEITHER one of them was included in any of the chorus affairs - little parties given after the show-or in those given by the other principals.

Ralph McKee, the comedian, liked Sheila.

"Going out with him tonight?" Jappy asked.

"I thought I might."

"Alone?"

"I suppose so. Why?"

Jappy sighed. "I hope you aren't hungry. Hell buy you crackers and milk."

Later Sheila understood this. McKee had definite ideas about diet and crackers and milk were his prescription for every ill.

"I understand you turned down a chance to work in New York."

Sheila. "That was the first thing he said to me."

Sheila watched McKee's hands-long and slender-as they crumbled crackers into a bowl of milk. He had ordered a steak for Sheila. She didn't diet, he said, just because he did. His humorous little eyes regarded her across the table.

Sheila had heard that McKee had a wife and five daughters some where on Long Island. He made an excellent salary and he was the show's best drawing card. "I did," Sheila admitted. "I don't like to play in New York and I love the road."

MCKEE sighed. "But don't you know that a season there with your name in electric lights would give you a chance on the road later with a better salary? You could be a headliner instead of just one step up from the chorus as you are now."

He regarded her thoughtfully. "I wonder if you know that your dancing is extraordinary?"

"Of course."

"I mean it! It's too good for the sort of part you have-at the rate they're paying you. Go back to New York and try to land that chance to play Broadway again. That's my advice!"

Sheila told him, "I have a contract to play 40 weeks."

"Well, 40 weeks isn't forever. Save your money then and go back later. It's the only way to get ahead."

McKee, Sheila knew, was playing the road at a handsome salary. He was a headliner. She was just a dancer-not good enough for Broadway, managers might conclude, simply because they hadn't seen her there.

"I'll see about it," she told him.

McKee offered more advice. "You ought to get married," he grunted. "It's not right for a girl like you to try to shift for herself."

The comedian might have been her father from the way he talked. Sheila wondered what it would have been like to play in a company with her own father. She felt suddenly very much alone.

And for several days this talk with Ralph McKee stayed in her mind. She talked it over with Jappy and they agreed to save their money. They decided to do their own washing, to eat in cheaper restaurants and room together.

"Let's go in for exercise, too," suggested Jappy, as though the strenuous dance routines they went through nightly-and on matinee days in the afternoons as well-were not exercise enough.

IN trim suits and smart hats Jappy and Sheila went for long, brisk walks each morning. "Did you ever live in a small town?" Jappy asked one day. "I've never lived anywhere," Sheila said significantly. "I was born on the stage-practically-and I may be a queer sort of trouper but I want a home like one of these."

"Well, I had one," returned the other girl. "And do you know these girls would give their eyes teeth to have jobs like ours? I'd like, though, just for a little while, to be in a room I didn't expect to leave in a few hours. I'd like to feel I didn't have to worry all the time about money, too."

"Some of them probably worry about money, Jappy."

"It isn't the same. They don't go to sleep wondering where the price of a meal next day is to come from. They don't know anything about that."

"No. But they don't stand a chance of earning $300 or $400 a week next season either. It all evens up."

"Maybe." Jappy's voice was listless. And suddenly it occurred to Sheila that her friend's day of triumph had passed. A year ago Jappy had been a featured player, stopping the show with her specialty dance. Now she was in the chorus and would probably stay there. It happened so often in stage life.

There was Marion Randolph, for instance. Oh, yes, the stage had its disillusionments. Sheila determined she would not let it enslave her. To get out of it was the best plan. But could she? Deep in her heart did she really want to?

Ralph McKee met her at the door of her dressing room that night. He was holding a New York newspaper which he thrust toward her. "Did you see this?" he asked.

Marion Randolph had committed suicide.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

"PICTURES OF SILVER" From the Sunday School Lesson By Beulah K. Hicks

The day was a beautiful one, in May or late April, with a bright blue sky, and fields of golden grain, not quite ripe enough to thresh, when Jesus and His Disciples slowly wound their way through them after the morning service in the synagogue. As was the custom, they had eaten no food before the services and were hungry. To the delight of the Pharisees who followed to confuse Jesus, the Disciples began to pluck the corn which was probably wheat or barley, roll it in their hands and eat the kernels. The Pharisees immediately asked why they broke the Sabbath law, that they were not to reap or thresh. Then Jesus, the central part of the picture, divine, sinless, yet human, tired and hungry, answered them with a pertinent question. If they knew the law did they not remember David, when he was hungry, ate the shewbread which was not lawful for anyone but the priests to eat. As he looked at them in their narrow-minded ways, He answered them, and it might have rung out like the mighty peal of a great organ in the beauty of that summer day: "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath; Therefore the Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath." Jesus, in simple dignity but with infinite understanding, enters the synagogue, another Sabbath day. He instantly perceives the Pharisees in the great crowd, who watch Him to see if He will further break the Sabbath law by healing the man with a withered hand, who stands looking hopefully at Jesus. Jesus, in a clear, ringing voice, said to the man with a withered hand, "Stand forth." Then with a flash of anger or rebuke in His eyes, he asked them another question that revealed their hidden thoughts. Again turning to the man he said, "Stretch forth thy hand." He stretched it forth and his hand was completely cured and whole again. "Thy testimonies are very sure; holiness becometh thine house, O Lord, forever." - Psalm 93: 5. These pictures, that will stand until the end of time in their greatness and simplicity, are all-ways encouraging us who are prone to be dissatisfied with the little things of life. Jesus, in all His marvelous power, did not neglect such things as the routine of daily life. He noticed when people were tired, hungry and sick and ministered to them regardless of their station in life. What wonderful courage, as he stood out before those who would put Him to death, and defied them with words of truth that pierced their hearts as a two-edged sword. He summed up the whole law in "Love to God and one's neighbor."
