A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THY KEEPER: The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand.—Psalm 121: 5.

SPEAKING OF THE POWER OF ORGANIZATION

Speaking of the power of organization, the publicity agent of the American Cooperative association writes that the price of fine wool in the Boston market last season was 26.2 per cent a pound higher than London prices; that for the 10 years ending 1929 before the National Wool Marketing association was formed, the price averaged only 15 cents above London—a gain of 11.2 cents a pound having been made as compared with the London market since organization of the Wool Marketing association. All this concerns Texans. Texas is the greatest of wool producing states and as for mohair production, it is one of the leaders among all American commonwealths.

This spokesman for the American Co-operative association writes that President-elect Roosevelt, "having insisted that the farmers tell him and congress, through their organizations, what they want the farm organizations "are getting together in a way they never have before and they are being listened to." This comment is furnished by the publicity department of the organization: "Farmers who have had enough of following the other fellow's advice have the chance now to speak up and give their own thoughts a chance to blossom; but they have to do it through organization. One man's voice is a straw in a cyclone." Texas is the banner agricultural state, or it was before the purchasing power of the farmer had been reduced to the low level of today.

There is a Texas legislature grinding. Farmers are reminding that the cost of government must be reduced and that waste of the taxpayers' money eliminated. In other words, that the lawmakers in making appropriations for the support of government should see to it that the income is greater than the outgo without an increase in the burden of taxation. All the people engaged in the activities of life and wealth-making are clamoring for tax reduction. They should be the masters.

"CURRENCY INFLATION IS IN THE AIR"

Rodney Dutcher is one of the most interesting as well as one of the most accurate newspaper writers "sitting in" on the banks of the Potomac. He furnished peppery comments on men and measures. His latest is, "Currency inflation is in the air." His advice is, "You are going to hear and read a lot about it because it directly affects you and everybody else. A reminder that the first of four special articles, "Analyzing the arguments for and against inflation of currency," appeared in The Austin American on the morning of Monday. This was the first of a series which will be carried by The American for the education as well as the information of all concerned. People should read the Dutcher contributions. After reading, all the readers should digest the arguments for and against the inflation of currency.

All of which is a reminder that the currency was devaluated. Now this biggest of all problems has powerful advocates who are insisting that deflation should follow in the wake of deflation for the relief of the American public. This is a fast moving world. All Americans are reminded that thinking time as well as planning time is here. Careful reading leads to sound thinking. There are mighty problems uppermost. These problems will be passed on to the Roosevelt administration. There must be solution found for some of them to restore purchasing power to the millions, to provide markets for the staples and wares of America, and to lift some of the heavy load of federal and state and county and city tax burdens that are the handicaps of the present generation, including all branches of business in the rural as well as the urban sections of the republic. Wild thinking will not do. Sane thinking will be necessary to bring about the relief for which the people clamor in every section of the country.

Your city should be a self-starter. Leave no chance for it to become a self-stopper.

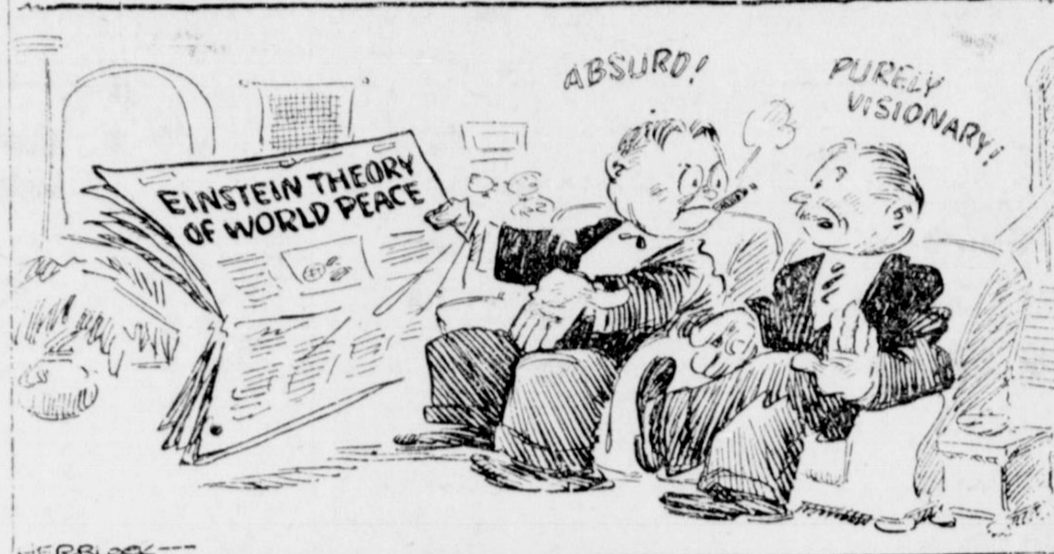

One dramatic symptom draws more public attention in masses of statistics and dry dissertation.

All Pueblo, Colorado, school children regularly enrolled in school, regardless of age, ride on street cars for half fare during months school is in session, according to an announcement by W. N. Clark, president of the Southern Colorado Power company. A card signed by an official of the school must be presented. This action was taken to assist children in attending school under present conditions. This is a fine public spirit and the officers of this company are to be commended in taking this method of helping the school children.

"Life Begins" Opens At Arcadia Today

Hailed by preview critics who have seen the picture in Los Angeles and New York as "the most unusual picture of the age," "Life Begins," is headed for the Arcadia theatre, Ranger, where it will play today only.

Unusual both in theme and treatment, "Life Begins" gives the movie audience its first intimate glimpse of a hospital maternity ward and the lives and tragedies of the women confined there. The delicate subject is most effectively handled by the producers.

Opening with the story of a young woman serving a long prison term for murder who is allowed to enter the hospital in order to give birth to her child, the attention of the audience is drawn to the various other inmates of the ward. There is Florette, a pleasure-loving lady of the night clubs, who despises her twins. A snobbish, intellectual young lady who has fed on cold psychological material about the upbringing of babies changes her mind when hers is born. Then there is a woman who strays into their midst from the psychopathic ward, with fancies of becoming a mother and wanting advice.

The parts of the leading young couple are played by Loretta Young and Eric Linden, with Aline MacMahon prominently cast as the head nurse.

Every member of the large cast has an important part to play in the unfolding of the story. This task is handled by Preston Foster, Dorothy Peterson, Glenda Farrell, Frank McHugh, Gloria Shea, Elizabeth Patterson, Walter Walker, Reginald Mason, Gilbert Roland, Ruthelia Stevens, Mary Phillips, Herbert Mundin, Helena Phillips, Hale Hamilton, Dorothy Tree, Vivienne Osborne, Clara Blandick and Terrence Ray.

The two directors who gave us "The Mouthpiece" have once more collaborated to bring forth a masterpiece in "Life Begins." James Flood and Elliott Nugent are proving themselves a splendid directorial team.

Bandits Defend Marksmanship

LONG BEACH, Calif.—The traditional pink-whiskered, irascible old gentleman, who wrote letters to the Times, has a new and startling companion in bono paper.

A gentleman wrote a local paper to protest against a libel that had been cast publicly upon his marksmanship. The target in question was one Richard Maddox.

Maddox went to Los Angeles recently as an in-between in negotiations seeking to recover some stolen diamonds. The bandits, former employees, allegedly were willing to make a deal.

When Maddox met the bandits, however, they shot him instead. Maddox later told police the men were standing 10 feet away and fired eight times, his life having been saved only by their poor marksmanship.

Stung to the quick, an anonymous correspondent wrote the newspaper:

"The shooting was at Fifth and Fairfax. The gunman had been hired to kill Maddox, but decided only to wound him. They shot only three times, not eight. They were only two feet away instead of 10, and could easily have killed him if they'd chosen. They deliberately missed a vital spot."

Of such extraordinary interest was the communication it found its way into the news columns instead of the "Letter-to-the-Editor" box on the editorial page.

It was an act of kindness for that Chicago tobaccoist to inform the newspapers after a thief had smashed his show window and stolen several boxes of wooden stogie. But for the publicity, the thief might never have known his mistake.

Two Announce As Candidates For Ranger Council

Two men, both of whom are old-timers in Ranger, are today announcing their candidacy for commissioners of the city of Ranger. They are E. H. Mills and Judge W. S. Adanson.

Mr. Mills came to Ranger in 1905 and has been a resident of the city since that time and has raised a family of five children in the city, educating them in the Ranger schools.

He was a member of the school board before the boom and continued in that capacity during the boom when the schools were becoming overcrowded and it became necessary for the members of the board to sign notes to secure money to keep the school going. He continued on the board for six years after the boom started.

Judge Adanson came to Ranger in 1921 from Snyder, where he had just completed four years as county judge, his term expiring the last of December. Prior to being elected county judge he had practiced law for 11 years in Snyder.

Since coming to Ranger he has practiced law in the same location. He served for a time as city attorney under the administration of Mayor Hodges, has been on the board of equalization of both the city and the independent school district for a number of years and was on the refinancing committee which reached an agreement with the bondholders of the city last fall. It was then that he saw the financial needs of the town and became interested in the work of the city commissioners.

Ranger Elks to Have Ladies' Night At Wrestling Show

The Elks club of Ranger announces a "ladies night" at next Tuesday's wrestling show. J. M. Loughry in charge of publicity for the Elks Club Wrestling cards states that in view of the fact that we have "Mothers Day" and "Fathers Day" that the Elks club decided to have the ladies as their guests next Tuesday and call it "Ladies' Night." With each general admission ticket a lady will be admitted free when accompanied by a gentleman.

The last main event for Ladies' Night brings together two artists of the anatomy well liked by local fans. Irish Eddie O'Shea, ex-junior middleweight belt holder meets Sammy McElarren in the two out of three fall bout.

"Tiger" Billy McEun, popular favorite of followers of the grab and grunt meets a newcomer to the Ranger ring. This new face to be seen is none other than "Wild Bill" Edward from San Jose, Cal.

"Wild Bill" would be a very orthodox wrestler if it were not necessary that referees and spectators catch hold of him for compensation whatever if they would allow him to wrestle without referees. He believes that referees are in the way and are a useless race of people. Please leave your dogs at home next Tuesday as the club can not afford to pay for the canines that this "Bill" might bite.

Excellent preliminaries will precede the two main events and don't forget that the show starts at 8:15 p. m.

The sanitary inspection of dairies, drug stores, cafes and other similar establishments, is under the direction of Wade Swift, sanitary officer, who is the only other member of the sanitary commissioner's staff. For several years he has gone off to sanitary schools, at his own expense, in order to learn more and more about modern sanitation and the ways in which the work should be carried on.

This schooling, coupled with the instructions and pointers given by the state inspectors, has made him most efficient and his rating, too, is high in the records of the state inspectors, who say that they have always found Ranger to rank up in the list of cities as far as sanitary measures and precautions are concerned.

Direct Action is Cry as Farmers Plan March

AIM TO EASE DEBT BURDEN IN NEBRASKA

By NEA Service LINCOLN, Neb.—A march on the legislature to present with overpowering force the demands of Nebraska's "embattled farmers," is expected here Feb. 16. Organized farmers plan to insist on a program that amounts to a debt moratorium; no deficiency judgments, no crop mortgages, lower auto license costs, no foreclosures, no evictions.

This march, which is planned along the lines of the parade to Congress of last year, is the climax of months of "direct action" by farmers to prevent foreclosures and eviction of hard-pressed farmers from their homes.

The movement in Nebraska is only slightly more militant than in several other states. In Iowa, where for weeks farmers have been working on a proclamation designed to give relief, probably a moratorium on foreclosures. Wisconsin already has such a measure, and Indiana has one in effect until February, 1934.

Hundreds Enlist Organization of the Nebraska farmers is going on nightly, with hundreds signing the membership cards of the "Holiday Association, Madison County Plan."

"Battle of Lexington" Leaders regard "Nebraska's Battle of Lexington" as the occasion when Mrs. Theresa Von Bonn and her seven children, living six miles southwest of Elgin, were saved from foreclosure.

comparison, and interesting stories. The tedium of the heavier subjects was broken by the introduction of music, between papers, Mrs. Pipkin singing, "Ma Lil' Battered," a Creole-French chanson with Mrs. D. L. Kinnaird as accompanist.

The Thursday Afternoon Club interesting session. The Thursday Afternoon club program on "Speculation" as heretofore announced to be given by Mrs. Julius B. Krause, Horace Conley, R. E. Sikes, on the various features of Boards of Trade, futures and stock market, was masterfully handled.

FARMERS UNITE TO STOP FORECLOSURES ATTEND SALES ALLOWING ONLY NOMINAL BIDS. RETURN PURCHASED PROPERTIES TO FARM OWNERS.

Columbia graduate, Lief Dahl at 24, left, leads Nebraska farmers in their "no foreclosure" program while Mrs. Theresa Von Bonn and four of her seven children, right, live securely on the income from cattle saved from foreclosure by organized farmers in what Nebraska farmers regard as their "Battle of Lexington."

and had them truck to Columbia, Neb. There he advertised the sale. But it was never held. A committee visited the mortgage holder at his home one night. He agreed to return the chattels "in the same condition" as seized, pay all expenses, and extend the note. The expenses were more than $100.

There will be 14 sections in all of which the first was displayed and each club member requested to donate a book to help fill the folders. The holiday leaders, believing that hundreds of foreclosures have been voluntarily postponed this winter through fear, are feeling a new sense of power.

Lief Dahl grew up on South Dakota and Iowa farms. Finishing high school, he hitch-hiked to New York and worked his way through Columbia University, aided by a $1200 scholarship he won in his last year. Graduated last spring with honors, he turned westward again. In addition county, Nebraska, he found the growing Farmers' Holiday organization.

Filling Station To Open In Ranger

HERE-- AND THERE

By ELVIE H. JACKSON

It is sometimes funny and sometimes pathetic the way one's opinion of prejudices vary with the average individual according to circumstance or condition.

When things are going along smoothly, without friction, a person is apt to have a satisfied feeling, and not to quibble, or find points of view differing from a pleasing acceptance of present facts.

For instance a young girl was seen crossing the street, literally panting along, as she was wearing denim pants, tennis shoes, and a boy's reefer jacket, over which her curls hung in disarray.

The cynic observing her sported, "I don't know what the world is coming to. Girls have boys' names, smoke cigarettes, wear pants and can't think of their future, for I'm afraid the race is going to become extinct, if the present masculine attitude carries on."

"Yes," replied her friend, "but then that is only your prejudice. It's just a fad with the girls, this mannish attitude, and they will continue to have their babies when they marry, just in the same old way, for you can't beat nature, whose styles do not change with the seasons."

Many interests, varying prejudices, changes of opinion, make up interesting problems. A local man had been in the habit of criticizing everything in Eastland pertaining to school taxes, the schools, the management of same, the teachers, and in fact the whole school system.

He left the car for mother, oh yes, and mother could take the children to school each morning. Had he paid his school taxes. Well! Not a fellow had so much to pay out when he had a family, and his children would get a schooling anyway, whether he paid or he didn't!

Not so as you could notice. He didn't have time to go up to the top of the world, to see the high school; it was enough to hear about it.

But alas, one day, mother fell sick, and father's prejudices were put to the test. The little high school girl was a delicate child who needed careful attention, and was not accustomed to long walks several times a week. So what to do? Comes the question, should Father take her to school in his car, or leave her at home, for she would get an education anyway somehow?

Monroe Walker and Elmo Decker are having the building on corner of Rusk and Pine streets, Ranger, repaired and put in shape for the opening of a filling station, an announcement of which will be made in the next few days. They will handle the Marathon products. Watch for opening announcement in the Times.

At least a historian digs up evidence that George Washington did tell a lie. Now if the debunkers can establish that Godiva went for her gallop in a chic three-piece ensemble they ought to feel pretty proud of a thorough job.

Work in progress; studied the graded grounds, the hall and garden courts, and in fact explored every nook and corner, gave suggestions that proved valuable about certain work in progress, and took everything to be seen and heard during his morning visit to the high school, the first he has ever made.

And enthusiastic over the busy lives of young people, their ordered work, their class silences, their recitation periods? Well yes; we will say so.

As he left the high school grounds in his car, this time Father drove rapidly to the office and paid all his back and present school taxes with the statement, "I wish I had thought this school business out a long time ago; real wonderful work, and the making of our American citizens, among both young men and young women. The school life is most interesting one, habit forming, and moral making."

Circumstances had changed this man's prejudices. But this is not strange. Sometimes the soul wrapped in its bush of selfish indifference refuses to find the blessings of the Mercy Seat, and the revealed Word of God. But when some condition or circumstance arises that brings distress, or sorrow, then that soul either seeks comfort of a Higher order, or finds it through some unexpected and God given solace. And regrets the "back taxes" once indifferently ignored.

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sheila Shayne, dancer, is discharged from a new play because Marion Randolph, the star, is jealous of her. Sheila searches for work and finally secures a part in a musical show soon to go on tour. Dick Stanley, rich and socially prominent, asks her to marry him but Sheila refuses. Her idea of marriage is a home in a little town far from Broadway.

The company departs on the tour and in a little midwestern city Sheila meets Jerry Wyman. He seems to be a hard working young man with little money. Sheila is not aware that Jerry's father owns the factory where he works. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. After she leaves, however, Jerry's affection seems to cool. He writes infrequently and this makes Sheila unhappy.

Back in New York again, she gets a job in a night club. Weeks pass and then one night while dancing she sees Jerry sitting at a table. He comes to speak to her but does not introduce her to the others in his party. Jerry tells Sheila he has tried to call her. She does not believe this and refuses to make an engagement with him.

Sheila goes to room at the home of the Sanger sisters who are also on the stage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXX

Sheila's engagement to dance at Club Volens came to an end and again she went job hunting. This time the situation was more promising.

"How'd you like a part in 'Sky High,' my new show?" Craig Abbott asked her.

Sheila didn't think she wanted it. She asked Johnny Harrell, an agent, to try to find her a job in a traveling company.

He pursed his lips and looked at her over the tops of his spectacles. "When you can land a place in a Broadway show why do you want to do a thing like that?" he asked. "The streets are full of men and women who would jump at the chance to get a part in 'Sky High.'"

"Maybe. Just the same I don't want it."

"Need any money?"

"No. If I did I'd take a job I didn't like."

Jappy was dancing in a vaudeville act playing "the subway circuit"—theaters not far from Manhattan which could be reached by riding the subway. In her free time the two girls went shopping together.

"Got holding on to your money, are you?" Jappy remarked. "Well, when a girl has only one beau she has to have a lot of clothes. Give her four or five to take her places and one dress will serve a job at more money right here on Broadway."

"Are you referring to Dick Stanley?"

"Of course. What's he doing now?"

Sheila laughed. Dick was writing a play. He was very serious about it but Sheila who had seen a dozen aspiring young authors give up in despair before the second act was finished, who knew how many plays were locked away in safes in producers' offices—never to be produced—could not show much interest in Dick's efforts. She was not even excited when he told her that the title of the new piece was "Red Geraniums" and that she was to play the lead in it.

"Oh, he seems to be keeping busy," she told Jappy. "He's trying to write another play."

Mrs. Sanger called Sheila to the telephone one morning. Someone from Harrell's office wanted to speak to her.

"Can you get down here right away?" asked Johnny teasingly when Sheila reached the wire. "I want to see you at 11."

Sheila was in the midst of a bath but Mrs. Sanger and Mae helped her scramble into her clothes. She left the house in 15 minutes and reached Harrell's office at 11:10. It proved to be 15 minutes before he was ready to see her.

Ten minutes later she had signed a contract to play the lead in "Fine Weathers," a musical show booked for a long tour of the country.

"I can't understand you," Harrell grumbled. "I could get you shortly. "Well, I don't mind with Joe Small."

Sheila insisted. "Sheila, I do hope you're not marrying me!"

"Oh, of course not!" Dick said. "But it's not Flossie who's doing the talking. It's me who's doing the talking."

"But it's not me who's doing the talking. It's you who's doing the talking. We'll have a little tea where you say, just at Junior Endeavor."

"I don't mind with Joe Small."

"I hope you're not marrying me!"

"Oh, of course not!" Dick said. "But it's not Flossie who's doing the talking. It's me who's doing the talking."

"We aren't hungry now, of course, but let's go to one of those Italian gardens for dinner," Dick said. "Maybe later you'd like to see a show."

But dinner delayed was not finished until it was too late to see a show. They decided on a movie and rode through Times Square in a cab.

The rain had cleared and the sidewalks were swarming with late moviegoer like themselves. The electrical signs blinked with dazzling brilliance.

"Are you really set on going out with that show?" Dick asked abruptly. "Still determined to keep off Broadway?" Oh, Sheila, this time I can't let you go! You've got to marry me!"

Sheila leaned toward the cab window. "Look!" she said. "In front of that orange glow."

Dick glanced as she directed. A girl in an expensive, too ornate costume was walking briskly beside a well set-up, distinguished looking man. It was Florrie King, the comedienne, and her non-professional husband, Joe Small. No one knew exactly what Joe did. Many hinted that he lived on Flossie's earnings.

"That's Broadway!" Sheila said

...to feed the soul

A GREAT department store, one of the largest in the country, published a most unusual advertisement. "Buy something you don't need," it read. And there is a sound and worthy philosophy beneath that seemingly cold and calloused plea... a philosophy that has endured for centuries.

"If I had two loaves," wrote the Persian poet, Sadi of Shiraz, "I would sell one, and buy white hyacinths, to feed my soul." And throughout all history, men have sold their loaves to buy white hyacinths.

We would modify the exhortation of the department store. Buy something you could do without, but something you very much want... The antique chair you've been promising yourself. The new carpeting for the dining-room... The electric grandfather's clock, or the sterling silver.

Values were never so great, for the amount expended as now. You have only to turn to the advertisements in this newspaper to be convinced. Here is written a story too important for you to miss. And very often you will find you may keep both loaves... and have your hyacinths as well.

One Variety Of Cotton Urged As Improvement Move
By United Press.
CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas.—One-variety cotton projects, designed as a crop improvement move, will be organized in several South Texas counties within the next few weeks.
County agents and agricultural teachers will sponsor formation of the new units along lines of organizations already operating throughout the cotton belt.
Larger yield per acre, improvement of staple value and attraction of more buyers are expected results of the single variety program.
The variety to be grown in each county will be selected by representative farmers. Registered seed, purchased by all co-operating farmers, will be grown by a selected few during the first year. Seed from the crop will be distributed to organization members at a minimum cost for the more extensive second year planting.
Each year a tenth of the total cotton acreage of each county is to be planted in seed direct from

Earthquake Doubled Soda Spring Flow
By United Press.
LINDSAY, Cal.—Ed Nash, owner of a soda spring at Springville, near here, rejoiced today that there was an earthquake in California, Dec. 13.
The shock, which sent shivers over most of the Pacific west, doubled the flow of the spring, he reported. The flow before the quake, he said, was 2,100 gallons each 24 hours, and after the tremor, 4,320 gallons each 24 hours.
LAST OF FIRE BRIGADE STILL LIVES
BOSTON.—Only one of the firemen who responded to the alarm from Box 52 for the great Boston fire of Nov. 9, 1872, is still alive. He is Charles H. Knox, 93, who recently underwent a major operation. The great fire destroyed 776 buildings.
gram is credited with raising the market at least $2 per bale.
Growers around Gonzales will plant approximately 15,000 acres of an improved strain this year with seed saved from a 4,000-acre crop last year.

"Treat 'Em Rough" is "Slang" to remember when planning menus.

In planning your menus for health—"treat 'em rough!" Following this sage advice does not mean that you must slam pots and pans, bang open doors or wrench cook books apart. All it means, and sense it is too, is to be sure there is sufficient roughage in our daily food—and that there is enough bulk for our bodies' needs. The body needs bulk just as a ship needs ballast, and the roughage is what helps keep our bodies clean and functioning properly.

Animals get their bulk and ballast naturally, in the form of bones and sand and the woody parts of plants, but much of the food of our two-legged animals is so refined that unless we are careful, we may eliminate bulk from our dietary almost entirely.

For this reason we must take particular pains to eat foods which are rich in cellulose, for these are the bulky foods. Celery and cabbage and bran and spinach contain cellulose; a very excellent source—and certainly one of the tastiest—is dates, which also contribute large amounts of valuable mineral salts in addition to their vitamin content. They are especially valuable in the "regulatory" diet for the child—and are one thing he will eat without a single protest.

Deflectable forms of getting your roughage are simple. Try some of these recipes which taste good while they do you good.

Date Bran Muffins
 1 1/2 cups white flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 package pasteurized dates, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups bran, 2 eggs, 1 1/4 cups milk, 3/4 cup molasses, 3/4 cup liquid shortening.

Sift white flour, soda, baking powder and salt together into mixing bowl. Mix sliced dates through flour, with fingers tips. Add bran. Beat eggs, add milk, and stir mixture into dry ingredients. Add molasses and liquid shortening. Stir as little as possible to mix. Fill well-oiled muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

(1) To make lighter-colored muffins, substitute brown or white sugar for molasses and omit soda, increasing baking powder to 5 teaspoons. (2) Sour milk may be substituted for sweet by increasing soda to 3/4 teaspoon and reducing baking powder to 3 1/2.

Cabbage Salad
 3 cups shredded cabbage, 1 cup diced pineapple, 1/2 package pasteurized dates, salad dressing, lettuce.

Soak cabbage in cold water until crisp. Drain thoroughly. Dice pineapple (fresh or canned), slice the dates and add to French dressing or mayonnaise. Toss with two forks until well mixed. Serve in a cup of lettuce leaves.

Graham Pudding
 1 1/2 cups graham flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 cup butter, 1 package pasteurized dates (sliced), 1/2 cup molasses, 1/2 cup milk, 1 egg.

Mix dry ingredients without sifting. Mix dates through flour with finger tips. Melt butter; add molasses, milk, and beaten egg; stir this mixture into dry ingredients. Fill well-oiled molds two-thirds full of batter. Cook tightly. Steam for 2 1/2 to 3 hours. Serve with hard sauce or a liquid pudding sauce.

Bran-Date-Nut Salad
 3/4 cup peanut butter, 3/4 cup

bran, 1 package pasteurized dates, orange or lemon juice, lettuce, salad dressing.
 Mix peanut butter and bran; moisten with orange or lemon juice. Stuff pitted dates with this mixture; arrange on bed of crisp lettuce. Serve with any favorite salad dressing.

Celery Mold
 1 package lemon gelatin, 1 1/2 cups warm water, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup celery diced, 1/2 package pasteurized dates.

Dissolve gelatin in warm water. Add vinegar and salt. Chill. When slightly thickened, fold in diced celery and quartered dates. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with mayonnaise.

Health Bread
 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 cup bran, 1 cup milk, 1/2 package pasteurized dates, 1 egg.

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. All bran. Add sliced dates and well beaten egg to the milk; then stir these materials into dry ingredients. Pour batter into well oiled loaf pan. Bake in very moderate oven for one hour. 1 loaf.

Senior Play, "Polly With a Past," Is Delightful Entertainment
 The senior play, "Polly With a Past," presented by a cast of talented seniors at the high school auditorium Friday evening, was quite a success and proved delightful entertainment for the appreciative audience.

"Polly," played by Miss Lorene Harrell, was ably assisted in making the play the success it was by other members, Max Williams, Wayne Mitchell, J. F. Whitefield, Marie Galloway, Elizabeth Earnest, Maeon Younce, Hazel Davis, and George Allison.

Ushers for this evening's affair were the attractive Misses Bessie Leon Grant, Louise Sharp, Opal Carter, and Bertha Parrish.

Club to Meet With Mrs. Kuykendall
 The Columbia Study club will meet with Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The book reviewed, "For Awey Bried," by Stella Benson, will be given by Mrs. Stanley McAnelly.

Members are invited to be present.

Junior New Era Club Meeting In Green Room Monday Evening

 The young son born to Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moseley, at home, 1006 Vitalious street, Feb. 2, has been named Jerry Don. Mother and son are reported resting very nicely.

Study Group Meeting Tuesday
 A meeting of the Parent-Teacher association study group of Young school will be held Tuesday afternoon in Miss Marguerite Adamson's room, at 2:30, at which hour every member is asked to be present.

Dinner Party
 Honors M. H. Bobo covers were laid at a prettily appointed dinner table centered with a lovely bouquet of violets, spring's favorite blossoms for a group of friends and relatives last week when Mrs. M. H. Bobo entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner party in honor of her husband's birthday.

Rupert Murphy Named New Director of Greater Eight-Piece Orchestra
 According to an announcement made by Mrs. Vera Watt, popular and talented pianist with the orchestra formerly known as the Clayton Hunt Greater Eight-Piece orchestra, Rupert Murphy, another well known local musician, has taken charge of the orchestra and the group of musicians in the future will be recognized as Rupert Murphy and his band.

This bunch of peppy music-makers will furnish the music on the evening of Feb. 15 when the St. Rita's Altar society entertains with a charity ball at the American Legion clubrooms.

Admission will be $1 per couple and the public is invited to attend this affair.

Joe Martin Honors George Rogers on Birthday
 Joe Martin, popular associate of the Texas Electric Service company, was the pleasant host at his home, Pine street, Friday evening, when he entertained with a surprise party naming as honor guest George Rogers.

This very enjoyable "stag" affair was attended by Messrs. Rogers, Bill Odum, Lloyd Bailey, Jerry Lindsay, J. B. Peacock, "Spray" Reynolds, Elmer Rogers, Harry Sikes, Russell Smith, Robert Sell, Ray Trammell and Ben Weaver.

Luncheon and Business Session To Be Held With Mrs. Bray
 The Beth Sunday school class of the Central Baptist church will be entertained with a joint luncheon at the 1 o'clock hour, Tuesday, with Mrs. Owen Bray hostess at her home, 955 Oddie street.

The business session will be opened at 2:30 and presided over by the president, Mrs. J. E. Houghton. Any member unable to attend the luncheon is urged to be present for the business period of the meeting.

Feb. 11 Named as Date for Transaction of Club Business
 According to the carefully and attractively outlined year-book for the New Era club, Feb. 11 has been named as the day for transaction of club business.

Parliamentary drill will be given under the direction of Mrs. M. H. Hagaman. Members are especially urged to attend this meeting.

Study Club to Observe Founders Day With Program
 Child Study Association No. 2 will meet at the home of Mrs. F. E. Jacobs, Young street, Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock for a program to be given in observance of Founders day.

Principal speakers to be presented and giving interesting topics will be Mrs. W. R. Avant, program director, and Mrs. C. E. Maddocks, prominent and valued member of several study clubs.

Members are sincerely urged to attend.

Program From World Outlook To Be Given at W. M. S.
 An interesting program will be given at the Women's Missionary society meeting at the First Methodist church Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock taken from the World Outlook and Missionary Bulletin. This part of the program will be given by the president, Mrs. Leslie Hagaman, and Mrs. B. A. Tunnell, past president.

Splendid Lesson Enjoyed
 The Ivy Leaf Study club met Thursday afternoon and enjoyed a splendid lesson under the direction of Mrs. B. E. Rigby. Plans were made for a practice lesson Monday evening at 7:30 and also an all-day meeting Thursday with a covered dish luncheon served at noon. Both meetings will be held at the Masonic temple. All members are urged to be present for these meetings.

1920 Club Elects For Coming Year
 In addition to the selection of new officers for the coming year, an interesting resolution was read by Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, at the meeting of the 1920 club Thursday afternoon and adopted by the club. This particular feature of the meeting appears in this column as read by the active member.

Members heard reports from the garden committee reporting 180 roses and 36 crepe myrtles were sold during the campaign which makes a very satisfactory record.

The following officers will serve the 1920 club during the ensuing year: Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, president; Mrs. J. E. Fletcher, first vice president; Mrs. J. A. Shackelford, second vice president; Mrs. Walter Jackson, recording secretary; Mrs. Ross Hodges, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. H. Hodges, student loan chairman; Mrs. Gid J. Bryan, parliamentarian; Mrs. George Armstrong, press reporter.

1920 Club Endorses C. I. A. As a Woman's College
 The membership of the 1920 club of the Ranger believe that the College of Industrial Arts as a college for women is necessary in the system of higher education of Texas, and

That we give our full and wholehearted support to this great institution and ask you as our representative in the legislature give your support to the continuation of the College of Industrial Arts as a college for women, and further

That this college be enabled to continue its present high standard of giving to the girls of Texas the best there is in practical and cultural education.

Signed by the entire membership: Mrs. Mills Davenport, president; Mrs. Fred Warren, recording secretary; Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, regent C. I. A.; Mrs. J. A. Shackelford, Mrs. J. E. Fletcher, Mrs. George Armstrong, Mrs. W. L. Jackson, Mrs. R. F. Holloway, Mrs. R. R. Stafford, Mrs. W. R. Hodges, Mrs. R. H. Hodges, Mrs. Barney Carter, Mrs. John M. Gholson, Mrs. Arthur Allison, Mrs. S. P. Boon, Mrs. I. N. Griffin, Mrs. L. C. G. Buchanan, Mrs. C. D. Woods, Mrs. Gid J. Bryan, Mrs. C. E. May, Miss Dora Baskin, Mrs. Walter Harwell, Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall.

"Leisure" To Be Discussed As Subject at P-T. A.
 A well directed program under the personal arrangement of Mrs. Roy Baker will be given at Young School Parent-Teacher association meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2:45.

A musical number will open the latter part of the program followed with a room demonstration given by pupils of Miss Jo Burch's room. A paper on "Wise Use of Leisure" will be ably given by Mrs. J. D. Bishop.

The full co-operation of all members and their presence at each program is appreciated and strongly urged by the president, Mrs. F. E. Jacobs.

Valentine Carnival to Entertain Young School
 St. Valentine day dotting the month of February in a very popular manner, has for years been a much discussed and well celebrated event, and the old tradition of sending your heart's wishes in pretty boxes of candy and various other not to be forgotten expressions has been devoted to a large extent to wives, mothers and sweethearts, but this year through the clever arrangement of the Young school's active Parent-Teacher association a Valentine carnival will entertain every pupil attending this ward school.

Friday night a king and queen will be crowned at this gala entertainment and a lot of fun is in store for every member present.

This is the first affair of its kind to have been given at a ward school for several years and promises to be a success.

At an interesting conversation with the president, Mrs. F. E. Jacobs, she said all details would be worked out this week and reports are to be made from time to time. A capable committee has been appointed and their sincere efforts are being exerted in every way possible to make this an event to be long remembered by the children and other guests who will be extended invitations.

Mothers Singers Club Meets
 The Mothers Singers club of Young School Parent-Teacher association met last Wednesday evening, and enjoyed a splendid practice hour under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Stafford, with Miss Marguerite Adamson, pianist.

The club will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Nath Pirkle as hostess at her home, 601 Young street, at 7:15 o'clock.

Members present included: Mmes. A. W. Turner, W. R. Avant, Herbert Stafford, A. N. Larson, F. E. Jacobs, and Nath Pirkle.

Any mother interested in this fine work is cordially invited to join this group of members.

Cooper P-T. A. Has Successful Dinner Friday
 Under the capable management of their president, Mrs. F. P. Brashier, the Cooper Parent-Teacher association gave a chicken dinner Friday at noon, and were reimbursed a greatly financially as they were in co-operative good fellowship, evidenced in the large group of mothers and patrons who donated various appetizing edibles and so willingly and graciously helped in the serving.

Such days make the history of the school a worthwhile, not-to-be-forgotten one, for with such admirable perseverance, an organization is bound to go ever forward.

The organization will have their regular meeting Tuesday, Feb. 7, at which time every parent and patron is urged to attend.

Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Swift Entertain With Bridge Function
 A pretty triple color note of red, white and blue adorned the clubrooms of the Elks club last week when Mrs. Ralph Arnold and Mrs. W. A. Swift entertained with a "bridge" function in compliance to a large number of bridge lovers.

Each table carried appointments of covers, score book and pencils emphasizing the month's color motif to a pretty advantage.

At the close of the pleasant games high score was made by Mrs. R. P. Avery; second high, Mrs. C. S. Clark, and low, Mrs. J. A. Thrower.

Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, exalted ruler of Ranger Elks, attended as a special honorary guest and favored the club with a pleasing talk in which he assured the ladies the club was indeed happy to offer the clubrooms for this series of bridge parties.

The next party comes on the afternoon of Feb. 22, when Mrs. Harry Logsdon and Mrs. E. C. Swoveland will entertain as associate hostesses.

Guests present named: Mmes. Frank Ford, H. J. Barham, Ray Fesmire, Owen Bray, A. L. Murrell, Ralph Herring, Clyde Parsons, Clyde H. Davis, Rupert Murphy, Vacon Julius, J. A. Thrower, D. H. Davenport, Jerry Lindsey, E. C. Byars, Bob Allen, E. E. Hadley, Walter High, and E. M. Glanville, and club members, Mmes. Agnew, E. C. Swoveland, E. E. Crow, Bob Westbrook, Jimmie Nottingham, Morris Hendix, Sault Perlestein, George Murphy, Esker Curtis, J. E. Houghton, H. Avery, J. D. McClester, and Miss Marguerite Navokovich.

New Willys Attracts Much Attention At National Show

At the Chicago National Automobile show, which was held in Chicago this year, the Willys-Overland caused more comment in the national newspapers than any other car on the floor. The radical changes in design were largely responsible for this comment, because the Willys is far ahead of other cars in streamline design, it is the more recent product of modern research, a large proportion of package medicines in general are based upon solid scientific knowledge, and deserve the confidence of the public.

Proprietary medicines which can ease human suffering, mitigate human distress, or add to human health and physical efficiency, at a price within the reach of the poor man's pocketbook, are indeed worthy adjuncts to American life, as well as American commerce.

"They can be safely relied upon, as Lord Bacon said, to tune the curious harp of man's body."

Ranger Personals
 Pretty entertainments honoring out-of-town guests including Mrs. James P. Overheart of Sherman and Mrs. Gladys W. Thompson of Houston were given by their hostess, Mrs. Saunders Gregg, Fine street, the latter part of last week.

Miss Florene Killingsworth, Alla Rae Kuykendall, Virginia Acree and Kathryn Galloway, accompanied by Mrs. B. A. Tunnell and young daughter, Gwendolyn, are week-end visitors in Dallas. Misses Killingsworth, Kuykendall, Acree and Galloway will be the guests of Florene's mother, Mrs. Lee Killingsworth, who has been in Dallas for the past few days, while Mrs. Tunnell and Gwendolyn will be the house guests of Mrs. Tunnell's sister.

C. G. King was a business visitor in Breckenridge Saturday morning.

Miss Kate Kramer is spending the weekend with relatives of Mrs. J. D. Ashcraft of Longview.

The Willys Six is distinguished by its sloping hood and its sloping rear, designed to make the wind flow freely around the body instead of meeting the resistance of surfaces.

It was announced Saturday that the C. J. Moore Auto Mart would be open all day today in order that the new Willys might be displayed to the people of Ranger and the visitors in town today.

History of Package Medicines Marked By Romantic Origin
 Some of the most interesting romances will be found in the march of industry; for back of nearly every product which gains public acceptance is the story of the life of somebody's ideal, ambition, ingenuity, enterprise, disappointment, struggle, and final achievement.

The privation and hardships which accompanied the early days of the development of package medicines are an important part of the history of our nation. The public seldom appreciates the doubt, the ridicule, the ostracism and the enormous financial risks which were suffered by the early inventors of medicines. Their faith, determination and pioneering spirit were responsible for developing and bringing to our medicine shelves those well known package medicines which afford economy and convenience, and which are so essential to our everyday lives.

Whether the demand grew so rapidly that the old doctor found himself unable with his limited equipment, his modest kit, to fill the need. Often he, sometimes assisted by his kinsmen or friends, prepared to meet the demand by a quantity production, that the meritorious prescriptions might receive the widespread use which their popularity justified. Then came years of toil, hardships, risks, struggles with life's earnings and life's efforts invested. Eventually the laboratory and the machine entered a modern world was utilized to increase perfection, production and distribution.

Whether an individual package medicine has been on the market for scores of years, or whether it is the more recent product of modern research, a large proportion of package medicines in general are based upon solid scientific knowledge, and deserve the confidence of the public.

SPOTLIGHT

BY H.W. CORLEY

She laughed. "Providing I don't want it more than 15 minutes from Times Square. Is that it?"

As usual the argument came to nothing. Later, however, dancing with Dick, matching her careful, graceful steps to his, Sheila wondered if perhaps she wasn't falling in love with him—at least a little. His serge-covered arm enclosed her. His soft voice murmured the words of the dance tune—the season's love song—in her ears. His eyes caressed her whenever her glance met his. Their steps matched beautifully.

"Blind Timmy wrote that song. Did you know that, Sheila?" Dick asked as they resumed their seats.

"Yes, he wrote it last year. Had to sell it outright because he needed the money and I understand he didn't get much for it. Now the publisher is cleaning up in it in a big way."

"There, Dick, that's just what I've been telling you," Sheila said. "That sort of thing is considered fair enough on Broadway. It wouldn't be any where else. That's Broadway for you!"

They danced again, Dick humming the words of the tender little love song dreamily. Sheila was dreaming, too. She thought of a time to come when she would be mistress of her own home far from Broadway. She would see it that Blind Timmy should end his days in peace and security.

Sheila was young and bitter. She had not yet learned that the struggle and not attainment is the bread of life for many thousands. Blind Timmy was one of those.

Four days later Sheila packed to depart for the road tour. This time she went as a featured principal. She was not a star, although there was little difference except in her salary and the billing. Announcements read, "Fine Feathers with Sheila Shayne" instead of "Sheila Shayne in Fine Weathers."

She had six specialty numbers in the new show and liked them all. The chorus was clever and attractive. Skilful dancers were plentiful on Broadway that year and easily selected.

"Don't be upstage with the girls now, will you?" Jappy cautioned Sheila, as she folded underthings, slid trees into slippers, and folded skirts.

"Of course not. My memory is too good."

"So is your heart, honey," Jappy paused. "I wish," she said, "it could be a little kinder toward Dick Stanley."

She wanted to ask about Jerry Wyman. Was Sheila's eagerness to return to the road because it might mean an opportunity to see Jerry again? The show would play in Jerry's home town, Jappy knew. She had looked up the routing. She wished somehow that she could say just the right thing to her friend. Desperately she tried.

"You aren't keeping a little corner in that heart for Jerry, are you?" she said, trying to keep her voice casual.

"Maybe it was his sister, Jappy."

"If you see him in Spencer are you going to be friendly again? You know—talk to him, have dinner with him?"

"I might."

That was all that was said but in her heart Sheila knew she longed to see Jerry. Somehow she would find a way to bring about a meeting.

TO THE CITIZENS

Having been selected times for the past mission, especially by Ranger to work out the city of Ranger ing company.

I feel that I know enough about the details, as was the case in 1905, and you since that time, my family here, all of whom from the Ranger all have gotten schooling here.

I served on the Ranger independent before the war years during and during my term of the school board of people came to most overnight the schools jumped from four hundred to two thousand because we had realized subjects—the results of the election and good necessitated the move.
