Two Men, Three Women, Held as Bandits

Reveals Strange Kidnap Story
Men Reported To Have Been In Penitentiary On A Previous Occasion.

HILLSBORO, Feb. 7.—Two men with prison records and three young women were held in jail here today, charged with robbery of the Covington State Bank.

A Dallas laundry man, found on clothing left in the automobile abandoned by the bandits after they had fled with approximately $4,000 last January 26, led to their capture in Dallas last night.

The men were identified as J. B. Stephens, 26, and David L. Cates, 28. The women gave their names as Maggie Cates, Mrs. B. T. Dakes and Nettie Fudge and each was charged with being an accessory to the holdup.

Stephens, two sentenced from Dallas county to the state prison, and Cates, are charged with robbery of the bank. Officers said the men were charged with robbery with firearms in Johnson county courts for forcing a farmer to aid them in their flight.

Blizzard Expected To Be Prolonged

By United Press. DALLAS, Feb. 7.—A blizzard struck across Texas today with a shower of snow and hail to send temperatures down like a plummet. Air and land traffic was delayed.

The average temperature drop for the state was 39 degrees in six hours. No immediate relief was seen today by weather men. In East Texas temperatures were to range from 6 degrees in the north to 28 in the south. In West Texas 10 to 24 degree temperatures were to prevail.

Temperatures today averaged around 15 degrees below freezing. Amarillo had a low of 9 degrees below at 7 a. m. Sleet was general in the mountains of West Texas. Snow fell at Amarillo and in scattered sections of north and central Texas as far south as Waco.

Amarillo's nine below appeared to be the coldest temperature in the southwest. It was five below zero at Kansas City, one below at Oklahoma City; it was 14 above zero at Dallas and 10 above at Fort Worth.

Snow was general during the night in Eastern Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and South Dakota. Now that plan has been submitted as a possible qualification for the Nobel peace award. No less authorities than Dr. George P. Adams, professor of philosophy at the University of California, and Representative Arthur M. Free, have submitted the plan to Nobel award authorities.

Farmer-Veteran Backed For Nobel Peace Prize

By NEA Service GONZALES, Calif.—The world may yet be rescued from the scourge of war not by bearded and be-ribboned diplomats, but by a big blond California grain farmer who saw war's horrors with his own eyes.

Henry C. Kornvetd was the first from this little town to enlist when the call to war came in 1917. He was the oldest of 12 children born to Danish immigrants on a farm, attended grammar school, played trumpet in the school band, composed music, led a dance orchestra. Then he went to France.

"My main service was ambulance driving and duty in a large general hospital," he tells. "To this came the maimed wreckage of war, the armless, the legless, the blind-ed. Millions were killed and wounded that way. And the world long enough to raise a sunburned face and blue eyes, and tell how his plan would act in the present Asiatic troubles."

"The World Court—with one member nation—would have China and Japan present their cases." Kornvetd says. "An impartial decision would be reached. Should either or both refuse to accept the decision, the dissenter would be required to submit the question of rejection to its citizens."

"Should one vote to reject, it would be classed a hostile nation. If such a hostile nation started invasion of a member nation, the World Court could mobilize a world police—as high as 75 per cent of the armed forces of all member nations—to bring peace by blockade."

"Should both nations' electors reject the court decision, each would submit the question of a referendum of its able-bodied men of military age. Each man voting affirmatively would automatically enlist for service."

Henry C. Kornvetd, a farmer with a peace plan.

Kornvetd's plan is that of a World Court with teeth. He stops chopping wood in his farmyard long enough to raise a sunburned face and blue eyes, and tell how his plan would act in the present Asiatic troubles.

MAINTENANCE OF HIGHWAYS DRAWS FIGHT
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The treasury J. Floyd Malcom & Co., Thurber, view, telling exactly how to get into the treasury's new money vault, now under construction.

The guide is a thick book of blue prints and mimeographed sheets in the contractor's room of the treasury department, where it may be examined by burglar and good citizens alike.

"The data tells how the locks are to be made—with two keys required to open them, but only one to close them. The guide explains how strong steel and heavy concrete are to be welded together, and how an intricate alarm system will work."

The treasury department said it wasn't worried about crooks, no matter how long they might pore over the specifications. Within each vault, it developed, there will be a "progressive attention and alarm device" to operate buzzers, bells and sirens whenever there are disturbances of a type likely to be encountered in an attack upon the structure.
