PEEPING THRU KNOTHOLE

By BILL MAYES

The morning when we got back our daily rounds of seeking news and a knothole through which we could peep and find something to tell the clients of this knothole on our desk. The knothole in question was recently taken from a rotted end of a tree and looks as though it might have served as the passage to a squirrel's home at some time, or something. Sitting in the hole was a pencilled note read:

Bill: Keep your eyes in the hole. Stay out of trouble.

Such is excellent advice, which shall endeavor to follow to the letter. The note may have been a hat, though we are not sure. At the wall above our desk we have attached the warning just where it can be seen at all times and will be a daily and hourly reminder to us that though we keep through knotholes at times, it behooves us to use discretion as to what we report going on the other side of the fence. Essentially we mashed one finisly, in nailing the knothole to the wall, which might also serve as an example to us and remind us not to step on anyone's toes in writing the daily observations as we see them from time to time.

"Billy" Sunday Seriously Ill

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The senate today voted to begin immediately consideration of a compromise prohibition repeal resolution drafted by its judiciary committee.

The vote was made possible when the leadership broke the back of a determined dry filibuster through threats of a continuous session and a drastic cloture on debate.

The vote was 58 to 23.

Minority Leader Robinson immediately offered a substitute amendment providing for outright repeal and ratification by state convention.

A resolution of this type was offered in the house by Speaker Garner the first day of the session, but was defeated by a handful of votes.

Boys Work Forms Program Subject of Ranger Rotary

Due to unforeseen circumstances the Boy Scout program, planned for the Ranger Rotary club meeting today was not available and talks on boys and their problems filled up the time of the meeting.

J. E. Meroney, scout commissioner of Ranger, made a short talk on Scouting, in which he praised Scoutmasters C. G. King and B. S. Lemma for the progress that was made in the past year in scout work in Ranger.

H. C. Andy, Anderson made a report on the monthly attendance record of the 41st district, pointing out that the average attendance of the 61 clubs in his district was 89.48 per cent, with a gain of 15 members.

He announced that Clifton P. Anderson of Albuquerque, New Mexico, president of Rotary International, would be at an anniversary meeting of the Fort Worth club and of Rotary and urged all who could do so to attend.

He briefly outlined Rotary interest in boys work, quoting Edgar D. Bogrott of Los Angeles, Calif., who said "What a boy wants, what he does, shapes his destiny and results are eternal." He pointed out as examples Napoleon, Abraham Lincoln, Gene Tunney and Charles A. Lindbergh as examples.

Rev. J. Steward Pearce of Cisco spoke on conditions now existing in the boys world. He said we think our economic problems are difficult to solve but that unless more extensive work is done in taking care of the homeless boys who are drifting over the nation our problems will not compare with the ones we will have five years from now.

Our boys of today will be the men of tomorrow and will take our places and will have these problems to solve, he said. The boys work should extend farther than scouting and should include work in the churches and schools and that some means of reaching the boys in the alleys should be found.

The program next week will be in charge of Morris Bendix.

Guests and visitors at the meeting today were J. E. Lewis and L. G. Gray of Eastland, J. Stewart Pearce of Cisco, Gene Houghton of Fort Worth and Lion J. E. Meroney of Ranger.

Eastland Lions Hear Club History

The international organization known as Lions club, was traced from its inception to the office of District Governor Horace Condeley, program chairman for Eastland Lions regular noon meeting Tuesday, on Comelotte roof. A program talk dedicated to the district governor.

Condeley was quite interesting in his talk and showed considerable of the duties outlined for each officer mentioned.

There are five district governors in Texas, of whom F. L. Kuykendall of Albany, county judge of Shackelford county, is present incumbent. The program chairman opened with Lion's regular noon meeting Tuesday, on Comelotte roof. A program talk dedicated to the district governor.

Pickett Sentenced In Murder, Assault Cases At Austin

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—J. M. Pickett pleaded guilty to charges of murder and criminal assault in district court here today. In the murder case he was given a sentence of two years to life and in the other case five years to life.

The murder charge was based on the killing of E. C. Arledge, University of Texas student, shot September 20 while with a girl companion in an automobile. The criminal assault charge was based on an attack on a woman here on September 19.

Pickett already was under a sentence of 5 to 99 years on conviction of criminal assault on Mrs. Hazel Dillehay at San Antonio.

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—Consolidation of tax and fee collecting agencies of the various state departments in one central tax agency is provided in a bill which the Texas house of representatives considered today.

So far 68 bodies have been taken from the ruins, with 200 still missing and 300 injured. This photo was flown from Germany to London and sent to New York by R. C. A. radio transmission.

INQUIRY TO BE HELD BY STATE SENATE

Mrs. Ferguson's Charge of "Lost" Funds Partly Substantiated.

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—A legislative inquiry as to why $85,846 escrow road funds were in a bank which went into voluntary liquidation today was recommended in an audit of the state highway department by State Auditor Moore.

Moore's audit substantiates, in part, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's message to the legislature asking investigation of the process by which the state highway department had "lost" $1,000,000 through unwise deposits.

In one bank not in liquidation, payment has been suspended on $1,516,441, the audit said; in another, $97,241, and in a third $23,655, totaling, with interest, $1,654,437. A senate inquiry is to begin tomorrow.

The audit also submits a tabulation of the comparative number of road employees in May, June, July and August of 1931, a non-campaign year, and in 1932, when the recent close race was on between former Governor Ross Sterling and Mrs. Ferguson.

During the campaign Mrs. Ferguson's supporters charged that weed cutters galore were being put to work if they had paid poll taxes.

The auditor's figures said that in August, the month of the runoff primary, there was an increase of 4,622 over the number of employees in August of the preceding year. July's increase was 2,302, May's 1,750.

Chevrolet Agency Opened In Ranger By Anderson-Pruet

C. B. Pruet and T. J. Anderson today announced that they had signed a contract for a Chevrolet agency in Ranger, effective this morning, and were now ready to start taking orders for the new models.

The new agency in Ranger will be located at the corner of Pine and Austin streets, in the building formerly occupied by the Simmons Service station, where there is ample room for the business. Plans call for remodeling the building in order to provide ample space for Chevrolet parts, as well as the filling station, which will be retained.

It was said today by the members of the firm that a complete line of Chevrolet parts and Chevrolet cars would be carried and that it was expected these would be ready for sale within the next 10 days. One sale was reported made before the company had been operating more than an hour, with delivery of the car to be made as soon as possible. The firm members are optimistic over the outlook for selling cars in Ranger and will begin work in earnest immediately.

Texas Rangers Win ACC Fish Tilt

Townsend was high point man for both teams, turning in 20 markers for his contribution to ward the score. The freshmen got 15 free pitches during the game, while the Rangers were allowed nine.

At the half the Rangers were leading by one point, the score being 20 to 19. In the second half they pulled farther ahead, being six points in the lead at one time, but the freshmen almost evened the score before the contest ended.

Next Friday night the Rangers go to Stephenville, where they will meet the John Tarleton Plowboys in a conference game.

The six, wearing masks and carrying a machine gun, carried out the robbery after forcing a trembling negro cook to serve them a meal in the kitchen.

SIMPLIFIED FARM BILL IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A much-amended domestic allotment bill, simplified in its major provisions and restricted to cotton and wheat, was approved today by the senate agriculture committee.

The house bill applied to wheat, cotton, hogs, tobacco, butterfat, dairy products and rice. The senate measure was restricted in the belief it was only an experiment and should be limited in its application.

All provision for acreage control was removed on the ground it would prove unworkable.

The bounty provisions were simplified to provide the farmer the average 1909 to 1914 price for his products instead of the average pre-war price.

Supreme Court May Rule On a Wire Tapping Case

FORT WORTH.—Supreme court of the nation may be again asked to rule on the legality of "wire tapping" by prohibition agents to secure evidence against liquor law violators.

In October, 1927, the supreme court voted 5 to 4 that information secured by wire tapping was admissible as evidence. The case was that of Olmstead versus the United States from Seattle, Wash.

A new appeal, contesting evidence from "whispering wires" as hearsay evidence, is on its way to the highest tribunal. Federal agents listened in on alleged liquor sales here for 28 days, tried 18 persons, convicted three, and sentenced them to a total penalty of 10 months imprisonment.

The "wire tapping" trial bill was $2,489, exclusive of money spent for actual liquor purchases, phone tapping, and in salaries for government attorneys and a judge.

Notices of appeal have been given by Ike Epstein, sentenced to six months; J. D. Lee and William Hazel Cathcart, sentenced to two months each. All were convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

A kidnapers' move in the cruel contest took the form of a new note to the father of the missing man, setting the ransom at $50,000.

BARRY ON OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

David S. Barry, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, is on the outside looking in. Thirty-five democrats and 18 republicans voted for dismissal. Sixteen republicans and a lone democrat, Copeland of New York, voted against dismissal. Barry is 73. A former senate page and newspaper writer, he had been sergeant-at-arms 14 years. He drew a salary of $8000 a year minus the usual government 8 per cent pay cut. Texas senators voted for dismissal.

As for The New Outlook magazine, its publisher has "absolute faith in the integrity of Barry" and is proud of the efforts of that gentleman to clarify the political atmosphere. Alfred E. Smith is chief editor of The Outlook. He was not called to testify. Failure of the senators to invite the Happy Warrior "to be among those present" cost the Washington correspondents a huge volume of excellent copy. The Happy Warrior knows his onions. He is a give-and-take individual. He has held his own for many years in the rough and ready debates of life and its activities. Indeed, he has more than held his own. He has never been floored, so to speak.

David S. lost his job as sergeant-at-arms. He will be kept busy for months and months to come grinding out copy for American periodicals. As contributing editor of The Outlook magazine, he should be a tremendous success as a go-getter of additional readers and the patronage which follows in the wake of a large circulation. All intelligent men and women demand facts. A trained newspaperman, as well as a trained practical politician, of the Barry type, should be able to get the facts and then print them.

PUTNAM DEMANDS HOMESTEAD TAX EXEMPTION

Frank Putnam of "Houston and the United States" should be listed among the great demanders. He was for many years a shining light of the Houston Chronicle editorial staff. He is a democratic socialist of the mild type. He assumes all responsibility for the adoption of the homestead tax amendment exemption. A very modest man is Frank. He make the modest claim that he was the first candidate for office in any state ever to propose exemptions of homesteads exclusively "as a special class of property from taxation, along with churches and schools, believing general home ownership one safe foundation for a capitalistic state."

Now he is responsible for another tax exemption amendment "which is before the house committee on constitutional amendments." His revised amendment reads as follows: "Three thousand dollars of the assessed taxable value of all resident homesteads as defined by the constitution of Texas shall be exempt from taxation. It applies exemption local as well as state taxation. It extends the benefit of the exemption equally to homestead owners in all counties." "Sock it to the rich" is the slogan of the irrepressible Putnam. Why taxation of any kind or character? Why not make everything free? Why should man be compelled to pay for all the blessings of government? Why not free homesteads, free public service corporations, free everything? Another constitutional amendment is in the offing. It would repeal the poll tax law and perhaps provide for a state registration of voters. This is a merry old world. Heaven or nature has blessed this people with many rare humorists and interpreters of "the rights of man." Civilization comes high. All the accessories of civilization come high. Why not bludgeon civilization and substitute for it the jungle cry, "The devil takes the hindmost?"

Iowa farmers launched a farmers' strike in the fall of 1932. It was in the nature of a political revolution. They made their demands. In February, 1933, a general moratorium on farm debts in the Hawkeye state crowned the strikers with victory. Both houses of the legislature passed almost unanimously a bill proposing a moratorium on farm mortgages until March 1, 1935. A democratic governor will sign the moratorium bill.

Under the measure any farmer might ask a district court to continue a foreclosure action against him until the provided date. If the court considered the reasons sufficient, it might do so and "assume custody of the property and rule on disposition of rentals and profits." Wisconsin farmers appear to be in the saddle. That is, they were given cause for encouragement in a state supreme court ruling that "honest property owners could be protected by the court from foreclosure sale of their property at unfair prices."

Arkansas lawmakers are ready to pass their first mortgage moratorium bill and Gov. Futrell is said to be committed to the legislation. There are state courts. There are federal courts. In the last analysis the supreme court of the United States will say the final word.

Unless you practice the principles of success in a small way, you never can do it in a big way.

Some cities need more business men in business.

WELL, WE ASKED FOR IT!

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

It is not alone a reorganization of currency that is demanded by many, but a complete reorganization of the food distributing machinery of the different countries as well.

The spectacle of wheat, fruit, vegetables and all other products of nature and man's labor rotting in the fields in one section of the country because it does not pay to move them, and starvation in another is surely one that ought to take the economists off the question of gold for a while and direct them into such fields as the adequate distribution of the country's food supply.

It is, in a great way, the worship of money purely as such that the glaring inconsistencies of starvation and plenty, side by side, have become possible. Whatever happens to either gold or silver, it is this problem that will have to be solved before it can be said that we have made any real advances toward the Utopia, which seems to be the goal of the reformers.

PRENTISS BAILEY, Publisher of the Utica (N. Y.) Observer-Dispatch, says:

THAT a great deal of our present day crime is due to our lawyers. Shocked? Yes, of course you are. It's easy for one class to point their fingers at another class and say, "They did it!" But analyzing the matter down to a conclusion, isn't this the situation?

Crime is decreased by certainty of punishment. Countries which have swift and sure punishment have few major crimes. Why does not America have swift and sure punishment?

Two reasons: Corruption of public officials and legal delays. The former can only be corrected at the polls. The latter can be corrected by the lawyers. The correction will seemingly hit their pocket-books, and who wants to have his pocket-book hit? Even poetically? Consequently we drag along our criminal actions to the apparent benefit of the lawyer's pocket-book.

We arrest a man for a crime and then we have a hearing and then maybe several postponements. Then he is put in jail for awhile. Finally he is brought to trial. Then begins all the tricks of the law to muddle up the case—maybe with expert testimony, insanity pleas, etc.—and the case drags along.

Civil cases are often worse. Referees may take an interminable time to render a decision—sometimes as much as two years and then ask for a re-hearing. The longer a case runs the bigger fee the lawyer seems justified in charging. The nice garden-variety of lawyers whom we respect and with whom we rub elbows daily, is early caught in the system and become so accustomed to it that they hardly realize their responsibility for the laws' delays.

It is said that lawyers have tried to get together in their associations and abolish some of the opportunities for delays, but that lawyers can never come to an agreement. Which, if true, is further proof of the type of mind which "gums up" legal machinery and slows it down.

It seems that most people consider something new as being better than something old. This is probably Nature's way of experiments in the life process of a country. Man's mental life is the same. He is ever reaching forward to new ideas, believing that he is thus progressing towards a better and happier life. This is, no doubt, the reason for our hollitic conditions which at present trouble us.

In order for a city to press forward its citizens as a whole must be aggressive and progressive. If they are not, the city will slip backwards.

Merchants should follow the example of the home town newspaper in preaching trade. They are always in direct competition with neighboring cities.

Any city where its citizens do not show confidence in each other cannot expect the outside world to have any confidence in it.

Travel Club Program Big Success The program presented by the Travel club in the high school auditorium Tuesday was a huge success.

Frank Conley, president of the Travel club, acted as master of ceremonies. Miss Fay Brown took the lead in a short play which was presented, "The Sprained Ankle." Rupert Murphy, Vera Watt and a hot "pickle-o" player beat time in favored selections. Why! they had to hold Boris Bull-oshie in his seat when "St. Louis Blues" flew outa those horns.

Mrs. Allison sang "The Open Road," which she dedicated to the Travel club. She was accompanied by Mrs. W. Harrell.

Happy days are here again. Let's all smile and just see how much sunshine we can spread.

The Stool Pigeon Speaks Walter Winchell doesn't have a thing on Frank Conley, acting as master of ceremonies at the chapel program presented by the Travel club Tuesday.

We want to see Frank appear on our chapel programs oftener. Roberta Blankenship, Trudie Wells and Jewelle Blankenship had a tip-top time at a dance Saturday night. Their escorts were out-of-town boys, we hear.

First Step Toward Recovery Is Cited

CHICAGO, Recognition of interest rates on bonds and other securities as the "price" paid for loans which is influenced by supply and demand is cited by David Friday, a director of the National Bureau of Economic Research, as the first step in business revival.

The unnatural spread of interest rates from the rate of less than a quarter of 1 per cent on government short term loans to 6 1/2 per cent on selected corporate bonds must be righted, he claims. Not until public budgets are balanced and long-term loans restored in the confidence of investors can a recovery be expected, he declared.

Resort Waitresses Not Affected By The Depression. SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Waitresses who work in resort hotels have not been affected by the depression, a survey by the state department of education shows. The study revealed waitresses in resorts average between $8 and $10 a day in tips. In hotels, restaurants and cafes which do not cater to the more generous holiday trade, the average is from $3 per day to $5, the reports indicated.

Boxing Cheers
Boys who take their fist-fighting seriousness could do give off a few rousing cheers for Tony Canzoneri, the eyed Brooklyn Italian, light-champion of all the world, for pound Tony probably the best active fighter of his latest accomplishment, the one-round knockout over Billy Townsend, the over welter.

When Tony went into the five- or six-to-one favorite blonde opponent, none of the spectators had so much as the possibility that Tony would end the show in slightly less than one minute.

As a result, of course, is that Tony placed himself in line with Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, Madison Square (which is to say Jimmy McLarnin) plans such a bout as the attraction for its sunken Long Island.

McLarnin, if he consents to such a bout, will have the good, old "handicap" once again, the advantage named by the manager, Pop Foster, in the weights. But even if Tony comes in 10 pounds below Canzoneri, there will be of money riding on the tuned fists of the light-weight holder.

Canzoneri wants to be champion. That's why he wants to meet McLarnin, for a vicar Jimmy would give Tony to meet whoever happens holder of the welter crown at present.

TONY ALREADY HAS PUT THE FEATHERWEIGHT, LIGHTWEIGHT AND JUNIOR-WELTER GURSON HIS SHELF...
TONY CANZONERI
GUNNING FOR A FOURTH CHAMPIONSHIP CROWN...

No one can accuse little Tony Canzoneri, the smooth Italian fighting machine from New Orleans, of taking life easy as a champion. Tony's probably the most ambitious champ who ever donned the mittens.

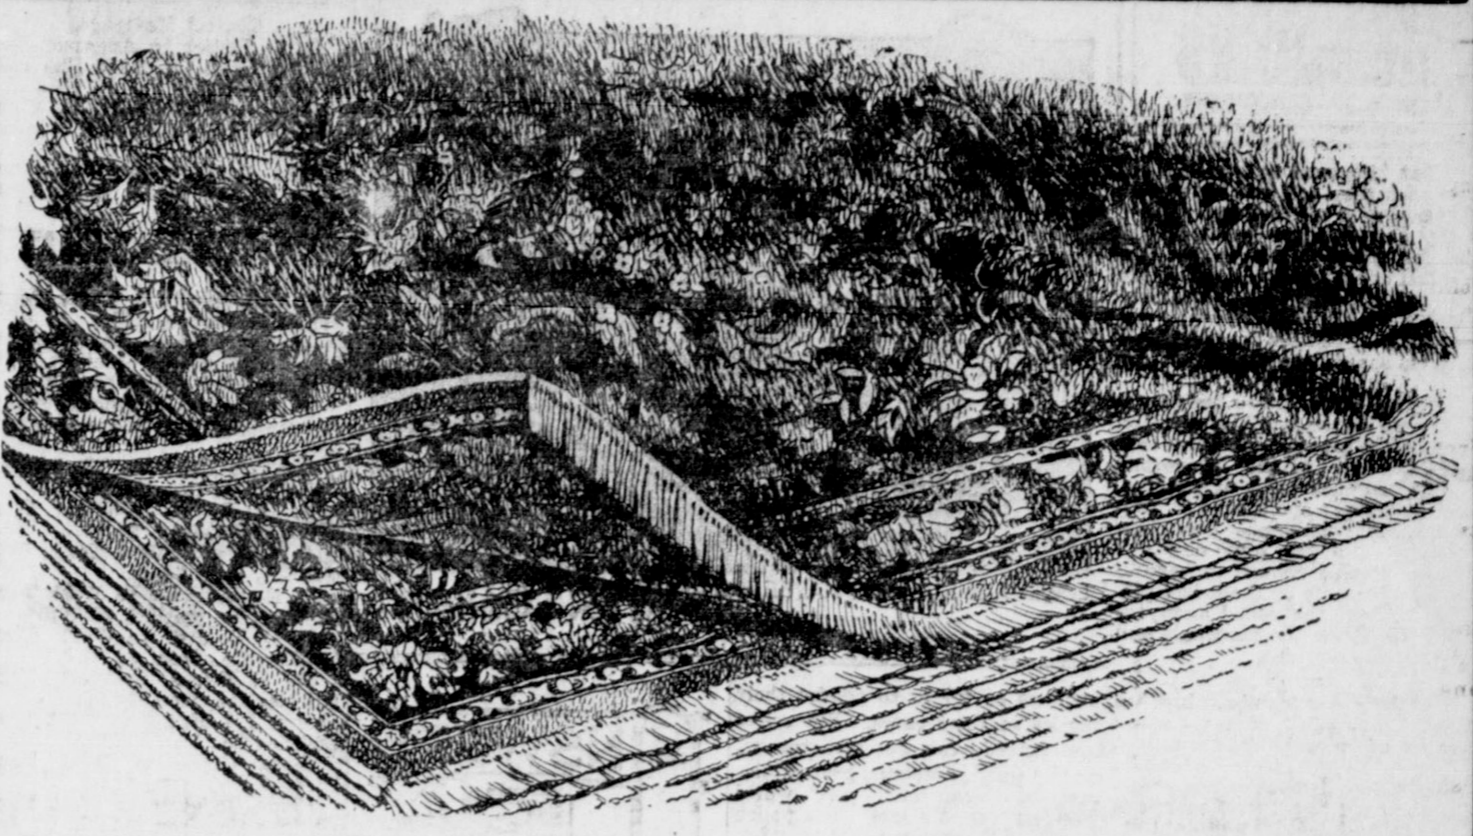

The present lightweight leader and junior welterweight titles, too, but his campaigning in the lightweight class caused him to give up his two other crowns.

Not content with the ring honors he has already won, the little fellow is stepping out of his class into the welterweight division, and hopes to gain possession of that group's toga before long.

That he's well on his way toward a welter title bout was proven recently when he soundly trounced Billy Townsend, Vancouver, B. C., warhorse. His victory over this tough boy proves he's ripe for a tangle with most anyone in the 147-pound class.

Man Threatens to Go To Chair With Husband

By United Press
LANTA, Ga.—Mrs. Sam F. Aiken, former Houston, Texas, will go to the electric chair with her condemned husband unless now being made to save her life, she says.

Aiken, who married Sam F. Aiken in Houston while the latter was fugitive from the Fulton County here, is bending every effort to save the life of her husband. She has directed circulation of a clemency petition which has over 5,000 signatures.

Although she did not know at the time he shot and killed her former wife and boy, a neighbor, here June 18, 1931, her romance with the fugitive in Houston during 1931 and their subsequent marriage there Nov. 6, 1931, binds affections to him.

Sam has to go to the electric chair, I am determined he will not go there alone," Mrs. Aiken sobbed. "I am going to stand by him if he will let me."

The fate of Aiken rests with the state supreme court. The court under consideration of the proceedings failed against J. D. Humphries' refusal to a new trial on the grounds newly discovered evidence.

GOOD cheer, old pot o' tea! The Prince, in Royal 'lignness, as taken up fox-hunting again. And now 10,000 photographers will go back to work, and 10,000 cameras will click merrily in oldie England as Edward resumes his role of champion faller-off of horses.

The Prince quit falling off of horses two years ago, curing himself of the habit by the simple expedient of not getting on any. Following the illness of his father, Edward sold his hunters, leased his hunting box at Melton and set out to shoot big game in East Africa.

Okay to Take Chance Now

THE British magazine, Britannia and Eve, offers an explanation for the Prince's absence from the sport. We quote:

"The shrewd men who advise the Prince look at it this way: While it seemed as if the throne might require him tomorrow—the hunting, more get crippled and scores break bones. But with the King as well as he ever was—why, some hunting again does no harm and can do much good."

It seems that the Prince's appearance at the hunt does much to invigorate the sport. If the Prince hunts, so do all the fashionable young crowd. Britannia and Eve is careful to point out that the snobs, no inconsiderable element in fox-hunting, follow the Prince's leads rather religiously, strike my eyebrows pink!

If the Prince does not hunt, the snobs go back to their Aiken a new trial Feb. 24, 1932, and two days later re-sentenced him to the electric chair.

Having first evaded death on a new trial motion, Aiken escaped in August, 1930, shortly after his request for the new trial had been denied by Judge Humphries. The escape was made with Fred Fair, sentenced to die for the murder of Policeman J. E. McDaniel here.

The two, using hack saws passed to them in ways of the cell and escaped by means of a rope made from bed furnishings. Fair is still at liberty.

Aiken was re-captured in Houston in early February, 1932, and again placed in Fulton tower. It has been since his return here that efforts for a new trial on the grounds of new evidence have been made.

A decision by the supreme court on the mandamus proceedings against Judge Humphries' refusal to grant a new trial is expected by March 4. If the court decides that Judge Humphries erred in not granting a new trial on the basis of the new evidence submitted, Aiken will be granted a new trial. If the decision, Aiken will face re-arrest in from 10 to 20 days after the decision.

The recourse of clemency will be the only avenue left open to save Aiken's life if the supreme court does not see fit to change Judge Humphries' decision. Mrs. Judge Humphries' decision. Mrs. Aiken's petition of over 5,000 signatures will then be submitted as DEADWOOD, S. D.—Establishment of camera points at various locations in the Bad Lands to show the effect of erosion was advocated recently by Theodore Krueger, supervisor of the Black Hills national forest.

The pictures would be used to show erosion upon buttes and peaks, and would also be useful in studying forest conditions, Krueger said.

Camera points are marked and numbered. Photographs are taken every three, five or 10 years from that point, with the camera in the same position.

DON'T QUOTE ME

WASHINGTON.—One of the current mysteries of diplomatic gossip here is the disposition of the increasing exports of antimony from China. Antimony is best known in this country for its use in linotype slugs, battery plates and as a component of metal bearings. To munition makers, however, it is serviceable as a hardener for lead in bullets—hence the international interest.

The United States normally is the largest consumer of antimony, but industrial depression imports slumped from about 7,900 tons in 1929 to less than 2,000 in the first 10 months of 1932.

Chinese total exports, however, despite world depression, climbed from 8,650 tons in 1931 to 9,660 tons in 10 months of 1932. Trade figures showed Chinese shipments to Japan in 1932 about equal to those in 1931. Shipments to Great Britain doubled, but that market sometimes imports for re-export.

Military attaches are perplexed.

Important Poundage

DURING six months of the year, the sport serves an important function in Britain. There are 180 packs of hounds in England and Wales and 19 in Scotland. When the packs are hunting the coin of the realm circulates freely in the active regions. And a neighborhood usually suffers hard times when the hounds are idle.

In a time of depression such acceleration to spending as provided by the sport is a great help. Fox-hunting spells the circulation of more than 20,000,000 pounds in agricultural districts during slack times, what with horses, hounds, wages, rents, food, entertainment and all that goes with the pastime.

An English fox-hunter is no piker. He may get by for the season on a 240-pound expenditure, but that sort of blighter has to know his way around and pick his hunt rather carefully. Many of the wealthier Britons spend 10,000 pounds on a season of the sport.

A mansion, called a hunting box, can be rented for 2400 pounds. The big shot really should have about 20 horses, at 480 pounds apiece. Suppose the hunter pays 240 pounds for his hunt subscription, and, feeling his oats, puts up a couple of thousand pounds to take over the mastership of the "bloomin' hunt itself."

If all amounts up to a couple of tons!

Princess Rides Again!

The defense, Attorney Frank A. Bowers believes, will be able to throw a new complexion on the case and save Aiken if it gains a new trial and is able to submit the new evidence available.

"We have five new witnesses, who knew both the slain woman and her husband, and evidence to prove the late Mrs. Aiken and Hunter were intimate within the Aiken home," Mr. Bowers stated. One of the witnesses, a negro servant, is said to have seen Hunter and Mrs. Aiken together.

Judge Humphries denied Aiken a new trial because, he said, Aiken did not have the information furnished by the new witnesses at the time of the double killing. The defense contends, Mr. Bowers says, that Aiken knew beyond a reasonable doubt that his wife had been untrue to him even without the knowledge of the evidence furnished by the new witnesses brought into the case.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

What happened to our operas? The ones they tell us about when mother was a girl and dad wore a derby and celluloid collar. With the shortening of skirts and rise and fall of modic modern ideas, the old playhouses began to lose patrons . . . until 1933 when we save up our pennies to go to New York to see an opera.

The old days were yawn-producers no doubt, but judging from our present productions we've hoped right out of the proverbial frying pan into a lot of nothing. With all due apologies to producers and make-up men, how about a little plot ever now and then? It's bad enough to have to sit through some of these late pictures without the added agony of trying to figure out the whys and whys of the big idea.

The three-day marriage law has given romantic Texas many months of misery, adding a host of secret weddings to her noble list of accomplishments. The great drawback to a secret marriage seems to be the bride's disappointment at not getting to flaunt the fact that she got her man.

About the hardest work we Americans do is summing up material to the point where we can blame the fates for our misfortunes. We spend a lifetime doing things wrong, and when we are sure there's no danger of a possible crafty turning point we begin pointing out the faithful "if."

"If I'd only had a chance . . . if the other fellow had played fair . . . if someone had told me . . . if I'd had your advantages . . ." Gentle readers, I add: if the world were rid of all the back-lookers there'd be a chance to see ahead.

Since the kidnaping profession has passed beyond the stage of infants and turned to full grown boys, all the big shots with ponies in their socks and bills in the bank are dodging strange cars. Thanks to the depression, most of us are immune to danger.

Late caves prove the following power of criminals. Somebody kidnaped the unfortunate Lindbergh baby, immediately infants were being snatched from their home throughout the land. Then the practice let up. Now someone has taken Boettcher, and presto . . . all brokers face the same danger.

Originality is to be praised . . . well in the crook profession. We even go so far as to admire their tactics in some cases. But crime and tragedy can get monotonous, on the public's nerves, beyond discretion. Meanwhile, the world wonders vaguely why the police can't get their men . . . do you?

There are times when we believe the wrong man was put behind the bars . . . then we pity. But when the soul of a convict is too tarnished to live peaceably in the city surrounded by walls, we detest. According to public sentiment, Thompson may get another thrill soon . . . the aftermath of his past fun.

Judging from all the new motors purling along the highways, the day of prosperity has returned. It will be fun while it lasts . . . until the baseline bill runs into the installment plan and the first knock in the motor produces that uneasy feeling that all is not well with the world. America, who planned for the future and lost it all in the crash, is learning to take her fun where she can talk a salesman into it . . . not daring to think what may be the outcome.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

HE WOULD PLACE A FISH ON A LEDGE NEAR THE BARS, AND PRETEND HE COULD NOT REACH IT, SO THAT HE MIGHT GRAB THE UMBRELLAS OF ONLOOKERS WHO OFFERED TO PUSH THE FOOD TOWARD HIM.

LEAD is not a real article of diet of any insect, but there are numerous insects which bore their way through metal when it is found in their path. In Pernambuco, Brazil, telephic service was badly hampered by a beetle which laid its eggs in the cable sheathings, where the larvae bored holes into the lead.

Second Helen Keller Honored

By United Press
SUMMIT, S. D.—A life dedicated to public service has caused citizens here to acclaim Miss Sonora Brustuen, blind since birth, as South Dakota's Helen Keller.
Born in 1900, she has spent the 32 years of her life in training herself to be of use and benefit to others. Her father was a pioneer business man, and long the president of one of Summit's banks.
Miss Brustuen attended the South Dakota school for the blind, at Gary, where she specialized in music. She graduated in 1920.
Believing she had talent that could be developed, she entered the New England Conservatory of Music, at Boston. There she studied piano and glee club work, graduating in 1924.
The blind girl returned to her home, where, realizing the lack of cultural opportunities in the western town, she started a girls' glee club. Her work was recognized by put on the regular school staff, in charge of music, where she is employed today.
Her work has included the organization of a children's choir in the Lutheran Sunday school, musical director of the Sunday school and her school work. She has been president of the local Young People's league several times.

Texas University Plans Anniversary

AUSTIN—The University of Texas will commemorate its fiftieth anniversary at the fourth annual round-up of that institution April 28, 29 and 30, with students, former students and staff members, as well as friends of the university taking part in the celebration. A stage production tracing the history of the school, "Through the Years at Texas," will be written and directed by James E. Parke, English instructor at the university and experienced playwright and director. Mr. Parke is now director of the Austin Little Theatre. Other plans for the round-up week-end will include the presentation of campus beauty candidates at the round-up ball and revue. Invitations will be sent to more than 40,000 former students of the university, and to fathers and mothers of students. Since its inauguration four years ago, the round-up has combined the ex-students reunion and the meeting of the Dads' and Mothers' association.

Sheila Shayne, dancer, refuses to marry Dick Stanley, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write

Presently he came toward her.
"You're doing well," he approved.
"Two women have asked me who you are already."

"Does that help?" asked Sheila.
Henri raised his eyes. "Help?
They will say if I can make you look so beautiful I can do the same for them."

"Of course. If anyone asks questions you can say Henri made your frock so long as you do it without seeming to introduce the subject. That's the idea. You're doing fine."

They were interrupted by a boy with a message for Miss Trevor.
"Mr. Stanley would like to speak to you on the telephone," the boy told her.

"It's Dick," she said. "I was to meet him for lunch!" Impulsively she put a hand on Sheila's arm.

"Oh, I couldn't—" Sheila began but the other interrupted.
"Of course you can. Please!"

"Well—if it's all right."
Dorothy rose. "I'll talk to Dick right now and tell him." She sped in the direction of the telephones.

That was it. An actress was supposed to be "different." That was why Jerry had hurt her so cruelly. He didn't think anyone would expect him to be sincere with a girl on the stage as with other girls. That was why Dorothy was excited by the prospect of going to lunch with her.

The Comforts of the American Home

It is a well-known fact that, home for home, the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation.

In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities.

In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the radio, the vacuum cleaner, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless labor-saving appliances.

There is a well-kept look about residence, store or outbuildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content.

Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how this condition was brought about?

It is largely due to advertising. And a big share of the credit belongs to newspaper advertising.

Stop and think how many of the foods you eat, the things you wear and other articles entering into your every-day life, you first heard of through newspaper advertisements.

You will then realize what a part they do play, or should play, in your daily life.

Read the advertisements in the newspapers regularly and thoroughly, if you are not already doing so. They mean more to you than you can tell.

Special Correspondent.
AUSTIN.—Average weekly production per unit at southern pine mills increased 14 per cent during January, to 164,718 feet, as compared with average weekly output during the preceding month of 143,942 feet or 43,589 feet in January a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.
"Average weekly shipments per unit made an encouraging gain over December," the bureau's report said. "However, at an average of 161,569 feet per unit, they are still 2 per cent under average weekly output during the corresponding weeks last year. In January, 1932, average weekly shipments amounted to 172,291 feet per unit, an excess of 29,000 feet over production."
"Unfilled orders at the close of January averaged 494,629 per mill, an increase of 24 per cent over the record low bookings of 400,127 feet per unit at the close of January. Unfilled orders at the close of January were only 7 per cent under those at the close of January a year ago."
"Although actual operating results of the lumber mills reporting to the Southern Pine association are at almost unbelievably low figures, there is some encouragement to be derived from the fact that the enormous decline as compared with the previous year which characterized these data during 1932 and 1931, have given way to small changes, whether declines or increases. For example, last year in January, average weekly production was 43 per cent under that for the corresponding month in 1931; shipments and unfilled orders made scarcely a better showing. Production in January, 1931, was 52 per cent under that for January, 1930. This year, although production is low and although shipments and unfilled orders are also meagre, yet, based on comparisons with the previous year, all three of these records make a fair showing.

Farmer Growing Cedars For Nursery

BERRYVILLE, Ark.—B. F. Pinkley, farmer near here, grows native cedars for a Girard, Kan., nursery. He is preparing a shipment of about 12,000 small cedars to be sent out soon.
Pinkley has been cultivating cedars and shipping to the company for the past 18 years. He gathers the small cedars, which range from six to 12 inches in height, in the woods near his home and hauls them out until he can't ransplant them into rows. Then they are cultivated for a year and are ready to be shipped.
Pinkley shipped a large consignment through the local station last year and is setting out 25,000 this spring.

They say an automobile can go 50 miles on a gallon of gas with correct streamlining. Maybe the engineers could do something for the dollar.

Cramps and Pains In Side and Back

"I had suffered with cramping and pain in my sides and back," writes Mrs. J. V. Bourque, of Gonzales, La. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. Cardui seemed to build me up, and after about twelve bottles I was better and stronger than I had been in years."
Women who find themselves in a weak, run-down condition can hardly expect to be free from troublesome, painful symptoms. Where the trouble is due to weakness, Cardui helps women to get stronger and thus makes it easier for nature to take its orderly course. Painful, nagging symptoms disappear as nourishment of the body is improved with the assistance of Cardui. Sold at drug stores here.

"Don't break the speed laws—but use an oil that can"

"TAKE my advice and stay under the speed limit. Take it easy. Don't try to be a mile-a-minute man...
"But use the oil that can do 100-miles-an-hour—Gulf Supreme! Why? That's simple...
"For the oil that is good at 100-miles-an-hour is doubly good at lower speeds! It's a better, safer oil. It has extra resistance... extra richness... extra ability to halt wear and keep repair bills down!"
Why do we call Gulf Supreme the "100-mile-an-hour motor oil?" Here's why...
Tests in Gulf laboratories showed that Gulf Supreme could stand almost twice the heat of the normal speeding limit.
So on August 8, 1932, Supreme was to a stiffer test than it could get in any on the roads! Under Official AAA supervision, it successfully lubricated a Duesenberg racer—flashing around Indianapolis Speedway at speeds which reached almost two miles a minute! As a result, it was the only oil to stand the test for the one-hour, non-stop run of more than 100-miles-an-hour!
Switch to Gulf Supreme now. There's a grade for every climate. It can take punishment. Give better lubrication. It's oil costs. And minimize repairs!
