House Secures Six Votes Needed for Repeal

KEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE WITH BILL MAYES

...night at Colony school play. Old-Fashioned Mother, will be presented by the pupils. Money raised for the interscholastic fund by selling home-made candies and probably some other home-made delicacies. The crowd is anticipated and times is printing the cast of characters on a special edition of paper, which will be given, in charge, to everyone who at-

...our second visit to the school, which was also the first in two days, we learned L. C. Cooksey that there were pupils in the school and that were getting along nicely in studies.

...of our spies up at the high school has brought us some information which we have not, as yet, had. We are told that the student body has challenged the faculty to put on a chapel program and planned by the student body. The reason for the challenge, we are told, is that the faculty has been forming programs for students to put on and the students want a chance to even up score, or something.

...of the challenge has been accepted, but we are not so sure that Mr. Holloway knows of it. He is to play, because he has been out of town for a few attending meetings of the board of education. The program is to be staged on March 7, and to let the teachers prance on their parts. A little.

...yesterday we ran a little item to effect that 12 copies of the edition of "The Ranger" had been found in the Times office and pupils who wanted them could have them. The supply was exhausted this morning, and there were a few left. The have no copies, but are so that all the contents are there and there may be others which would like to have these, which are free as long as last.

...several days ago we quoted "The Southwestern Ambassador" and today we again fill our column with a quotation from the same source. It is a bromide, but there is a bit of truth in it and it is well worth considering: This is the year of the 'new contract' to 'stud', or vice versa, if you prefer, recognizing that deal is but the beginning and the cards must be played. If we will get on with the playing the cards we will unconditionally score. Possibly there are no 'grand slams' nor 'big' but business will be well served with more modest wins which, as the months roll by, doubtless total to substantial sums. We need not wait for further deals. Nothing so retarded as waiting, so let us just buy our cards as we hold them and play them cautiously or, in the elegant but more picturesque of poker, 'not too close to belly,' but with skill and confidence. In the game of living we must need with our daily affairs—buying and selling, with praying and consuming. Each time you buy, someone sells and someone reproduces the commodity we consume. Each time we pay a profit, that profit is available them for another purchase. Depending not lavishly but reasonably by willingly paying a fair price and demanding consideration, we can perform seemingly miraculous feat of ourselves by our own bootstraps into an era of sound prosperity. We have our new deal, let's

MAYOR CERMAK IS REPORTED AS DOING NICELY

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17.—Mayor Anton Cerma's condition was "very satisfactory" early this afternoon, doctors said. Dr. T. W. Hutson, who is attending Mrs. Joseph H. Gill, said that she would be given another blood transfusion this afternoon.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17.—Judge E. C. Collins, today postponed arraignment of Giuseppe Zangara until tomorrow, after appointing three attorneys to defend the little fanatic, whose crazy, one-man plot to kill President-elect Roosevelt, failed Wednesday night. Zangara, already in the courtroom and still insisting he would not accept legal aid, was forced to acquiesce to the judge.

Additional charges involving the shooting of Mayor Cerma and Mrs. Joseph H. Gill, Miami society matron, await the outcome of their injuries. The sullen hater of the "rich and powerful" is formally accused of murderous attack on four persons, among them Franklin D. Roosevelt, who escaped Zangara's bullets, and three persons who suffered slight injuries.

Two Employees of Gas Company At Dallas Are Killed
DALLAS, Feb. 17.—Two company employees were killed by asphyxiation from raw gas today while regulating pressure in an underground chamber. The dead are A. D. Owens, 30, and A. N. Callahan, 27. Both men were employed by the Dallas Gas company. They had gone into the regulator chamber beneath a street intersection to manipulate pressure controls. An overflow of gas was blamed for their deaths. Efforts to revive the men failed. Firemen with gas masks raised the bodies to the street with ropes.

Texan Lives to Ripe Age of 114
SPRINGTOWN, Texas, Feb. 17. B. L. Shirley, the Methusalem of Springtown, died today in his 114th year. The patriarch drank whisky until he was 104, rode horses until he was 110. A plug of tobacco which he chewed, lay near him when he died this afternoon, with his third wife at the bedside. Death crested him of one of his chief desires by only 15 days. He wished to live through his 29th inauguration of a United States president.

Put Michigan on Bank Holiday

Gov. W. A. Comstock Centers of Michigan's eight-day banking moratorium are Gov. William A. Comstock, who ordered the holiday to save a threatened Detroit bank closure, and R. E. Reichert, state banking commissioner, who announced that small withdrawals of cash for necessary business operations will be allowed. Five hundred and forty banks were affected by the governor's order.

LEGALIZATION OF POOL TABLES IS DEFEATED

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—An attempt to legalize miniature pool tables in Texas was voted down by the house of representatives today in an "early bird" session, scheduled to begin at 6 a. m., and actually starting at 7:20. Effect of legislation on morals became a subject of heated debate. Pool halls were banned from the state in 1919. The bill sought to allow miniature pool tables in stores.

Eastland School Board Votes to Delay Penalties
At a meeting of the board of trustees for the Eastland Independent School District it was decided to postpone the collection of penalty and interest with delinquent school taxes until the first of April. Under the law the penalty and interest clause automatically take effect on February the first on all school tax assessments not paid before that date unless otherwise provided for by the board of trustees.

All poultry raisers of this section are invited to be present and to bring their poultry problems of any kind to Professor Homeyer, who will answer all questions free of charge and give methods of meeting each class of problem. The talk is being sponsored in Ranger by A. J. Ratliff, grain and feed dealer.

Two Indicted In Covington Robbery

MAN IS KILLED
HOUSTON, Feb. 17.—A man identified as W. C. Brown, 46, was shot to death today in the Rice hotel.

RANGER RIFLE RANGE TO OPEN ON APRIL 2

At a meeting of the officers and members of the American Legion Rifle club of Ranger, it was decided that the opening shoot would be held on the first Sunday in April, which will be April 2. Practice will be held during March at which time members may go out any Sunday afternoon and shoot, however.

A free barbecue for all who attend was planned and committees will take care of this detail for the opening day. Cash prizes will be awarded for the winners in all departments, rifle, pistol and shotgun, with competition in all departments. Invitations are being sent out to the gun clubs of this section of the county, inviting them to be present at the opening shoot and it is expected that between 150 and 200 shooters will be present to take part in one or more of the competitive contests.

A. M. Harrison of Ranger Dies After A Short Illness

A. M. Harrison, 53, of Ranger, died at 5:10 this morning after an illness of only a few hours. The deceased was taken ill Thursday afternoon and died this morning. He was anxious to be present on the opening day and to take part in any of the events, whether they are members of the club or not. The entire citizenship of Ranger and the neighboring communities is invited to be present on the opening day and to take part in any of the events, whether they are members of the club or not.

An Old Racket Pulled In Ranger All This Week

An old racket, in new trimmings, has sprung up in Ranger in the past few days and it is apparently finding some suckers. This morning a man of medium build, dark complexioned, walked into the Times office and told two of the employees that he had a car full of bottled in bond whiskey and that his car was broken down outside of town. He needed some money to have it fixed and promised to bring a quart of good, old-time whiskey if they would let him have the money. The money was given to him and he left. So far nothing has been seen of either the man or his "bottled in bond" whiskey, which was expected to be received at something like $1.49 a quart—a bargain.

TEXAN ACQUITTED
CLAYTON, Mo., Feb. 17.—John Weldon Dial, 20, of Lakeview, Texas, acquitted late yesterday on a charge of murdering an automobile salesman, packed his suitcase today to return home with his parents.

As Death Cult Went to Court

In a trance and gibbering "The Tongue," John H. Mills is shown here as he was carried to court at Inez, Ky., for arraignment with eight of his followers in the death cult sacrifice killing of his aged mother. The rone carried by one of the deputies was used to tie Mills to a chair in the courtroom. Hundreds of mountain people trekked to Inez to attend the hearing.

NEW CREDIT TO BE SECURED FOR FARMERS

A new source of credit for farmers of Eastland county is now available through an Eastland County Committee recently organized composed of the following: O. P. Newberry, Gorman, chairman; T. Hunter Foley, Cisco, secretary; W. E. Tyler, Rising Star; Fred Scott, Okra, and Geo. Brogdon, Eastland. This committee is a part of the organization of the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, Federal Loan Agency at Fort Worth, the benefits of which organization were first confined to livestock and feeder loans. The policy has recently been expanded, and liberalized, however, so as to permit loans to farmers on a secured basis, the loans to be used for any purpose the borrower may deem necessary for his welfare and upkeep while carrying on his farm operations. The loan may be used to pay debts, purchase tools and implements, necessary teams and farm stock, to buy supplies of groceries, and so forth. It is estimated that between $200,000 and $300,000 will be loaned to Eastland County farmers from this new source.

Former Ranger Man Dies Friday

Word was received in Ranger Friday morning of the death of M. L. Ware, formerly of Ranger, which occurred in Midland at 7:35 this morning. Ware was for about a year local manager of the Postal Telegraph company in Ranger, and had a host of friends in the city. He was transferred to Midland, where he was still connected with the Postal company at the time of his death. Funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning, but it was thought by some of his friends in Ranger that they would probably be conducted in Mineral Wells, his former home, Sunday.

REPEALER IS EXPECTED TO BE PASSED

Arkansas Votes 6 To 1 To Uphold Blaine Repeal Amendment.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—A House Democratic caucus by a vote of 115 to 46 today bound the party membership to support the repeal resolution Monday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—House passage of prohibition repeal was believed assured today by the action of the Arkansas state delegation in voting 6 to 1 to support the repeal amendment. House leaders needed only six additional votes to obtain approval of Blaine constitutional amendment, which would resubmit the prohibition question to the states. The six additional votes from Arkansas would provide this margin.

Democrats were summoned into caucus today to bind them to the support of the repeal resolution. Speaker Garner believed the clause pledging the federal government to prevent importation of liquor into dry states would assist ratification and help win new support in the house. Wet organizations have formulated plans to start ratification off with a bang in the Eastern states. Even the most enthusiastic of them admit, however, that they still have a long way to go before the 18th amendment is removed and liquor once more becomes legal. Just 13 states can block any change. Prohibition leaders were preparing for a last stand, their deputation ranks appeared to be crumbling under the weight of the party steam rollers. They were disheartened by the senate's action and said they would call no meeting for formal organization of a counter attack.

HIWAY PROBE IS UNDERWAY IN THE SENATE

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—Senate inquiry into the financial affairs of the state highway commission began today with a message from Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson that she "was not prosecuting in any manner, but was merely laying" the information before the body. Her communication was given the committee of the whole by Senator Will Martin, administration leader, who said that was all the governor and her husband "cared" to do. This was taken to indicate neither the governor nor former Governor James E. Ferguson would appear before the committee. The highway commission was represented in counsel by Alfred Petch of Fredericksburg, a former member of the house of representatives, Ben L. Cox, Abilene, and Myron Blalock of Marshall. Quibbling over who should be hired as court reporters delayed the inquiry into Mrs. Ferguson's charge that unwise disposition of funds by the commission had resulted in a loss of $1,000,000. After Senator Walter Woodward, chairman of the board of managers of the committee, declared his personal inquiry had revealed nothing to substantiate the governor's message, Senator Martin moved the matter be sent to the house of representatives. "Even if we should find the highway commission derelict in its duty, we can do nothing about it," Martin said. "If we get the information it goes to the house and the house would conduct its own investigation. This is like going into a district court to try a case before an indictment has been returned."

State Builds Road To Historic Spot

AUSTIN.—Approach of the Texas Centennial adds peculiar interest to the action of the state highway commission recently in fixing the route of Highway 112 in Gonzales county. The road will make a loop around Santa Ana Mound and there also will be a paved roadway to the monument marking the battle of Gonzales where the first shot for Texas Independence was fired from the Gonzales cannon. While visiting in the county today the three representatives said they were confident Eastland county would make an excellent showing in the contest and it was estimated that between 600 and 800 people from the county would attend.

MINISTER CLAIMS HONOR
WELLINGTON, Kan.—Dr. W. A. Van Gundy, 80-year-old retired Methodist minister, disputes the honors claimed by a man who wrote 701 legible words on a penny postcard. The minister has a card which he wrote in 1880, and on which are an even 1,000 words. The message discussed the temperance question.

FARM LOAN HEADS AND MORTGAGE FORECLOSURES

Washington has let it be known that the federal farm loan board is pursuing a policy of leniency in dealing with farm mortgage foreclosures. According to its heads or big voices, the board is making every effort to avoid foreclosures except in cases of abandonment of lands or "the hopeless insolvency of the farmer." However, the board regards itself without authority to declare a moratorium either in a state "or generally." Two Georgia senators, George and Russell, had asked the board to follow the lead of insurance companies in postponing farm mortgage foreclosures in Georgia.

A New York Times editorial is responsible for the statement that loans to farmers represent the sum total of $8,500,000,000 and that the greatest number of these loans were made "in World war days or followed in the wake of the World war after peace had been declared." Well, has a state legislature the constitutional right or privilege of nullifying a contract? More work for the lawyers after the law moratoriums have been enacted. More work for the federal judges until a test case is submitted to the highest tribunal of American justice.

KEEPING TEXAS MONEY AT HOME

There is a bill in the Texas legislature proposing to do by taxation what the Robertson insurance law would do by mandate—keep Texas money for investment in Texas securities.

It will be considered while the repeal of the Robertson law also is up.

This measure would levy a 4 per cent gross receipts tax on life insurance companies having 20 per cent or less of its Texas reserves invested in Texas. It would graduate the tax down to 2 per cent for those with Texas reserves up to 80 per cent invested in the state.

It would be an anomaly if the Robertson law were repealed and its effective tax-basis substitute enacted. If there is an average in the taxing plan, it would be the greatest option allowed the companies. Major life insurance companies walked out of Texas when the compulsory investment law was enacted.

PASSING THE BUCK TO ROOSEVELT

Power carries with it heavy responsibility. Republicans are going out; democrats are coming in. Without a record vote and only after a brief debate, the American senate voted to give the incoming president sweeping powers to reorganize the federal departmental machinery. Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, prior to final action, submitted an amendment to give "a president power to abolish an entire department." Lost.

Senator Byrne of South Carolina asked the adoption of an amendment requiring a two-thirds vote of both houses to override an executive order to transfer or abolish any agency of the government. Byrnes won.

According to those who are close to the throne, democrats plan to cut the cost of government a billion a year after the elephant has been sent to the jungle and the donkey has been domiciled "in the house of the fathers." In the year 1934 makers of "The Washington Merry-Go-Round" will tell the people then on earth of the record established to date by a democratic administration.

IDAHO LAWMAKERS ENACT BEER ILLB

Sen. William E. Borah represents the proud state of Idaho. He is among the ablest of the pro leaders. He is for world-wide prohibition. He appears to be travelling alone. Idaho has broken away from the gospel of the Lone Eagle. The house of the Idaho legislature passed a bill describing 3.2 per cent beer by volume as non-intoxicating. Vote—32 to 27. There were four dodgers. They did not answer when the secretary called the roll. Of course, the measure was sent to the Idaho senate where the proposal for beer without a kick is said to have powerful backing. Really, the Lone Eagle is a 100 years behind or a 100 years in advance of the procession.

DRUNKEN DRIVING AUTO CASES AFFIRMED

According to the records, the court of criminal appeals affirmed two cases where convictions had been had on charge of driving automobiles "while intoxicated" and reversed and remanded one case of similar charge. Really, the lower court judges only slapped the drivers on the wrist. One was sentenced to 30 days in jail and another to 20 days. Why not a license for all drivers? Why not a more severe penalty for "drunken and moronic" drivers? Why not adequate protection for life and property on state highway and city streets?

Is it wisdom to attempt to repair or rebuild one's financial house when a hurricane is blowing?

No city can be prosperous when its citizens do not patronize home stores.

Advertising is the most effective weapon in the fight for business.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Hard David Mayer, 18, a high school student, prize an autographed picture of President Hoover presented to him shortly after the 1928 Republican convention here, at which Mr. Hoover was nominated.

Mayer also has a personal acknowledgment from the President of a letter congratulating him on his victory at the polls in 1928. Among the autograph of other noted Americans which the Kansas City boy treasures are those of Newton D. Baker, ex. Peyton C. March, the late Calvin Coolidge, President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, Charles E. Hughes, Elihu Root, Charles Francis Adams, James Garfield, son of the former President; F. B. Kellogg, Kermit Roosevelt, Gov. Albert Ritchie and Maj. Gen. Hugh Leonard Scott.

Prehistoric Bone Found In El Paso

By United Press
EL PASO.—A jawbone of a prehistoric hairy mammoth, distant cousin of the elephant, was found in a sand pit within 50 feet of a mansion in an exclusive residential district here.

Prof. H. E. Quinn, head of the College of Mines geology department, estimated the giant animal lived between 10,000 and 50,000 years ago. He believes the mammoth mired in a swamp that once covered the area now a part of the city.

WASHINGTON DAILY LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The good old U. S. marines, heroes of various bloody engagements in France, Nicaragua, Haiti and other countries, are now fighting a battle of propaganda in which they imply that the life of the corps itself is at stake.

They face the grim cleaver of economy, which often acts with utter ruthlessness toward such relatively small groups as the marine corps, with all their old bravery but nevertheless with a little more inward fear than in their struggles with the blacks, the browns and the wicked Huns.

Having lost previous major engagements of the present type, they are now actually desperate and hence recruiting every possible aid and utilizing all available strategies. A few years ago they had 18,000 men. During the Hoover administration their ranks have been cut down to 15,343 and now the president's own budget carries an appropriation cut of $1,359,000 which would reduce the number of enlisted men to 13,600.

In this grievous fix they find themselves reinforced by the moans and protests of those who recall the glorious traditions of the corps, its brilliant service "from the halls of Montezuma to the shores of Tripoli," its mission of guarding American lives and property abroad. But the marines also hear the cheers of those others who regard them as the gunmen of imperialism, the villains of dark episodes in Haiti and Nicaragua, the active symbols of a once iron-fisted policy which has stimulated an ineradicable dislike for this country among the peoples of Latin America.

Lately the propaganda for the marines has become rather thick. Retired marine officers have done most of the whispering and lobbying, since active marine officers, much as they may hate Mr. Hoover, can't engage in open "mutiny" against their commander-in-chief.

A rush call was sent to Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, retired, and Butler came down the other day to see what could be done toward persuading Congress that the corps mustn't be cut any more. He is organizing every possible force against the reduction and a spectacular fight is assured which probably will break out on the floors of Congress if it isn't won in committee.

The marines argue that they are being cut to pieces while the personnel of the army and navy is being left intact. They admit that Hoover believes the army and navy could do the work of the marine corps, the army handling foreign expeditions and the navy its own policing.

Since we are not now engaged in being tough in the Caribbean area it is easy to argue that we don't need so many marines. And the marines are likely to fall once more under the economy cleaver unless they can induce President-elect Roosevelt, who used to be assistant secretary of the navy, to espouse their cause among Democratic leaders in Congress.

Church Song Book Is Being Changed

MARKED TREE, Ark.—After this year, millions of Methodists won't sing the hymns that have pictured heaven as a "crystal city" with "golden streets."

But Rev. J. Abner Sage, a member of the commission which has revised the hymnal that will be published in 1934 for the Methodist congregations, fears there will be an upheaval in the ranks of Methodism when the new book comes out.

"Nearly half of the present songs have been eliminated," Rev. Sage, pastor of the Methodist church here, said. "They have been placed aside to make way for new hymns which are more in keeping with the church of today. Medieval figures of speech caused many songs to be thrown out. Those giving the materialistic conception of future life, as expressed in hymns relating to heaven and hell, were discarded."

"The commission retained songs giving a spiritual conception of heaven rather than those painting a material heaven. We wanted the songs to leave a picture of future life as one of continuation of character and association with God."

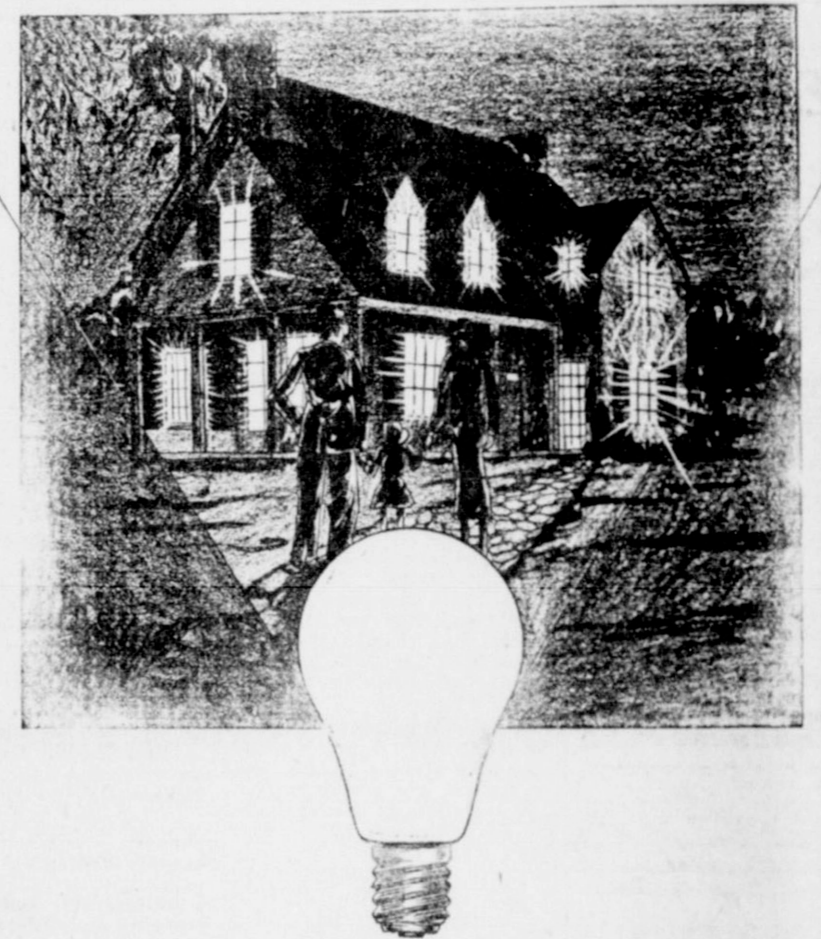

Rev. Sage, who formerly was a professor at Southern Methodist university, Dallas, Texas, declined to name the hymns that were dropped, as he explained it might cause a "row."

Every day are usually healthy. Why not add to these healthy days!

Poor health and constipation hand in hand. Get rid of common constipation by eating delicious cereal.

Tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to excite the intestines, and vitamin to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also twice as rich in iron as equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is like that in leafy vegetables. How much better than pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Chanyata Group Meets
The group meetings of the Camp Fire Girls have been so disrupted the past few weeks through either weather conditions or sickness of members that often there has not been a sufficient number present to carry on the stated meeting.

However nearly all of the little group comprising the Chanyata gathered at the home of their guardian, Mrs. W. P. Palm, Thursday afternoon and took up many details of business as well as completed their arrangements all save date, for a colonial tea, to which their mothers will be invited guests.

Saturday morning early the girls will meet at the home of Carolyn Cox to make popcorn balls, to be sold in the residence district to their friends.
Those present, Edith Meek, Carolyn Doss, Elva Lee Jones, Eleanor Ruth Ferguson, Jone Johnson, Carolyn Cox, their president, and Mrs. W. P. Palm.

Almost Serious
Betty Perkins, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Perkins, was faced by a situation on a recent morning that had the girl not had grit and presence of mind might have resulted in a tragedy.

A pan, holding paraffin which she was slowly melting over the open gas range, blew up suddenly, the hot liquid splashing against her forehead and on one hand, as she removed the pan to safety on top of a zinc-covered stand.

This act probably kept the house from catching on fire. The burns were dressed and Betty was able to attend school that day. There will be no scars.

Thursday Afternoon Club Studies Citizenship
The Thursday Afternoon club of Eastland altered their usual line of procedure, Thursday, having the meeting called to order by their president, Mrs. B. M. Collie, with the announcement that the program proper would be completed after the business session, which in turn would be preceded by the review by Mrs. W. A. Whitley of Warden Lawes' startling book, "Twenty Thousand Years in Sing Sing."

A thorough study had been given the subject by the speaker and the result of breaking the laws of citizenship and their penalties revealed.

During the business session the resolution adopted by Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at their state convention were read by Mrs. M. C. Hayes, together with a letter from the Dallas Federation of Clubs, asking this club's support of Mrs. Frank Slater for state president T. F. W. C. No action was taken.

The club will conduct their annual rummage sale, with date to be set by the committee in charge, Mrs. M. C. Hayes, D. L. Childress, H. O. Satterwhite, and Ben E. Hamner.

Mrs. W. B. Pickens, a C. I. A. student, was appointed as delegate to the Eastland County federation meeting, Saturday, in Ranger.

The program resumed, brought a very wonderful talk by Mrs. E. Roy Townsend on "Training Your Child for Citizenship." The points brought out were novel and well sustained.

Mrs. Art Johnson Calls Committee Meeting
A committee meeting of the personnel of the members of the executive committee for the coming Music club annual George Washington party has been called by Mrs. Art H. Johnson, general chairman.

Each member of the club is entitled to bring her husband as a guest, and other invitations have been extended the members of the Music club of Cisco, their husbands, and all the presidents of the federated local clubs and their husbands.

A seated tea will be featured and a charming program arranged under chairmanship of Mrs. Art Johnson.

The party is announced for next Monday night at 8 o'clock in the community clubhouse.

Pictures of Silver

By BEULAH K. HICKS

Mark 4:21-34

Jesus continues his teachings of the shore of the Sea of Galilee near Capernaum, with parables pertaining to spiritual progress.

He begins with a question which brings to them the picture of the simple home of a peasant. The candle was a small earthenware saucer filled with oil in which a wick floated, then passed through a smaller opening in the edge of the saucer. The bushel was a wooden measure holding near a peck in our measurements today. The bed was a raised framework on which cushions were placed. The candle stick was a small stand on which the lamp fitted so that all might enjoy the light. Jesus used this simple picture of the peasant family enjoying the light to emphasize the power of influence. He made them understand that His teaching was a light in the darkness of their lives; but later, at the proper time, they were to place the lamps, the word, on the stand and let the whole world enjoy the light. The complete word was to be spread over the world. The Kingdom of God would grow in the hearts of men who took heed and listened, while the unheeding would lose even the unfolding bud of the truth.

"The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."—Isaiah 11:9.

Abruptly He changes His parable and tells them, "So is the Kingdom of God, as if a man should cast a seed into the ground." He again takes the simple act of sowing seed; going about the daily routine of life; eating and sleeping while the seed sprouts, comes into leaf, ear and ripens for the harvest.

The great lesson for them was patience. None could spring from the planting to the full harvest of Christian living. They must cultivate and let life and truth grow gradually.

This lesson, He then beautifully illustrates and likens the Kingdom of God to a grain of mustard seed. It is the tiniest seed sowed by a farmer or gardener and in the hot countries grows to the height of 12 feet, so that birds may lodge in its branches.

This brought to the disciples, who were discouraged, a lesson of hope and a vision of the progress of the word that they had learned to love until it should indeed be placed on a great candle stick and give light to the entire world.

This season of the year calls to the hearts of men to prepare their soils and orchards for another harvest. Roses are pruned, trees set out and many things done so that we may enjoy the benefits and beauty during the coming year in this material world.

How many of us have a garden and diligently cultivate it in our hearts and for the benefit of our soul?

"Where by are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises; that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature."—2nd Peter 1:4.

We might lay our plan along with the one given by Peter in this same chapter. Around this garden we should have a beautiful, evergreen hedge of faith to ward off unwelcome influences from the outside world. Through it should run a clear, pure stream of water; knowledge, where white lilies of virtue nod their stately heads. Dotted here and there should be the spicy beds of the old-fashioned pinks reminding us to be tolerant and to follow temperance. The many hued roses and the restful arbor with the sweet perfume should turn our thoughts to godliness; while the modest violet, which outlines the rose garden, would whisper the message that brotherly kindness is always humble and seeks to send sweetness into the lives of others. The sweet smelling herbs of lavender and mignonette, which are tucked away in all the beds and along the pond ever remind us of charity. We must also be useful in helping other lives with which we come in contact. In the background is the tall and stately sunflower, following the sun all the day with its happy upturned face, telling us to exercise patience in following the light.

Truly it takes diligent cultivation, but,

"If these things be in you and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ."—2nd Peter 1:8.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

Hitler's late classification of German women and his ideas of what to do with them is astounding. The nation certainly boasts a diversification, according to the man, and under his careful leadership the next generation should put Germany on a half and half basis with herself: products of two opposing classes, high and low. That's building a serious and fatal wall, Mr. Hitler.

Without the presence of a middle class, to and from which persons of upper and lower lives can drift when dissatisfied, a nation is doomed to internal strife. The in-between strata is the buffer. It furnishes the ground on which quiet relations between the other two can transpire. It takes the hard knocks and feels grateful to life for the opportunity. It is the spring between the big shot and the hump. Simple.

Trouble is God's gift to friendship. It draws strangers together more quickly than any other factor. It covers up faults, misunderstandings, hatred. If you've never had trouble you have lost many friends unaware.

After all these years of practice, the custom is still very distasteful to us: the attempt to kill our president. It is a little tradition we wish to do away with. The public immediately forgets all the hard campaign speeches and opposition. All parties join together in a horrified expression of sorrow that such a thing should happen in the glorious land of the free in the glorious year 1933.

Someone has said the best way to end present economical conditions is to rid the earth of two-thirds of its inhabitants. With China giving way to Japanese barbarism and earthquakes and electrical disturbances, and Chicago bumping off opposing gangs, and the rest of the world committing suicide... we wonder if we're going to have even a bare one-third left.

We don't regret the gang tragedies if they remain within their own criminal boundaries, but when they cross the border into civilization, we resent. While we read the tragedies of their latest gunplay we admit cowardice enough to be glad we belong to the common class... too insignificant to be a target.

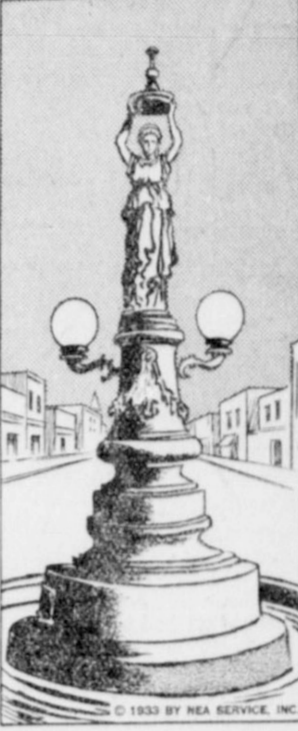

According to Hollywood and some dental advertisements, it just doesn't matter whether you boast

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

THE PRESENT DAY DEMOCRATIC PARTY WAS KNOWN AS THE REPUBLICAN PARTY FOR ABOUT 28 YEARS. THOMAS JEFFERSON GAVE IT THAT NAME IN 1792.

THE ORIGIN OF THE BOW AND ARROW IS UNKNOWN! IT WAS USED BY ANCIENT PEOPLES IN ALMOST EVERY COUNTRY ON THE GLOBE.

IN ENTERPRISE, ALABAMA A STATUE WAS ERRECTED IN APPRECIATION OF THE BOLL WEEVER. THIS INSECT TAUGHT SOUTHERN PLANTERS THE NECESSITY OF GROWING VARIED CROPS AND BETTER-PRODUCING TYPES OF COTTON.

THE BOW AND ARROW not only played an important part in history as a defensive weapon, but it is believed to have been the forerunner of all stringed musical instruments. The sound of taut bowstring, when plucked with the finger, could have been but little less musical than the first harps of ancient man. It is from these prehistoric instruments that our modern piano has descended.

blond, red, brunette, or in-between hair (or whether it be natural or acquired). In other words, the color and shade don't mean a thing... as long as you smile. We knew there was a catch in it somewhere.

It sounds like the old tune we used to sing with tears in our eyes: pack up your troubles in your old kit bag... you know. So now pack up your useless stocks and bonds and unpaid bills and returned checks, and fool the world with a smile. Begin a boost yourself campaign. The other fellow won't know it's a farce. He's too broke to know anything.

What really did happen to the match king? We all love a mystery, whether fiction or real, and maybe that's one reason we don't know just what did happen. While we wonder if his suicide was fatal or whether he may even now be in

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Sheila Shayne, dancer, refuses to marry Dick Stanley, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write plays. Sheila's idea of marriage is a cozy little home far from Broadway. Although she has spent most of her life on the stage she would be glad to leave the theater. Sheila joins a road show company and in a small western city she meets Jerry Wyman. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. Soon his affection seems to cool and he writes infrequently. Sheila returns to New York and a few months later joins another road company, this time as featured principal. The show plays in Jerry's home town but Sheila sees him only once. After that she has no word from him. The tour comes to an end. Then Sheila learns that Jerry has married a girl in his home town. She tries unsuccessfully to get a part in another play. When her money is almost gone she is hired as a model at Henri's fashionable shop. There she sees Dorothy Trevor, Dick Stanley's cousin. Dorothy invites her to lunch but Henri tells Sheila the models are not allowed to have social engagements with customers. When Sheila leaves the shop that night she finds Dorothy and Dick waiting for her. Dorothy called gayly, "Look here, Sheila, are you trying to high-hat us? Well, you can't! What was the idea anyhow of sending a message you couldn't go to lunch with us? Jump in and we'll take you home." "You don't think I enjoy lunching alone with this dangerous female, do you?" Dick asked reprovingly, with a playful glance at his cousin. "Her appetite is unbelievable!" Sheila looked at them in dismay. What if Henri should see her? What if one of the other models should report that Sheila had been seen with Miss Trevor again? Yet she could hardly tell Dorothy and Dick that she had been forbidden to accept their invitations. "Come on, Sheila! We'll take a drive and have dinner later," Dorothy said, beaming. "Dick's knocked off work for the day and that's something to celebrate." "I'm sorry," Sheila stammered. "I can't. Really, I have to hurry home. They're expecting me." "Well then," said Dick, "we'll take you there. Dorothy's made up her mind you're coming with us and when Dorothy decides anything it's settled. You might as well come. We seem to be holding up traffic here."

Seated in the tonneau of the huge car, she breathed more freely. It was ridiculous to make so much ado about a simple thing like this. Surely it should not be forbidden to drive home with a friend when declining might easily bring Henri loss of trade! "Now isn't this better than the subway bus?" asked Dorothy, ingenuously. "I've only been in the subway once and then it wasn't rush hour. It must be terribly funny to be pushed and shoved about the way the papers say you are." "Why don't you hire a private subway and try it out?" Dick asked rather acidly. Dorothy had no intention of seeming snobbish but he was afraid Sheila might not understand this. "You know what I mean," insisted Dorothy. She smiled into Sheila's face as the car turned into the park and headed northward. "Let's get this settled. We'll lure the girl into this car with a promise of taking her home. Actually nothing is farther from my mind! I want to spend the evening with you, Sheila, if you'll stand for it. If you two don't want to be my guests for dinner how about both of us being Dick's guests?" "Help!" howled Dick amiably. "I'll feed Sheila any time but once a day is all I can stand with you!" "Then let's go Dutch at an automa," suggested Sheila. "Fine!" Dorothy agreed gayly. "The very thing!" She leaned forward to give instructions to the chauffeur. "Dorothy!" Dick burst out protesting. "Listen, I've an idea. I couldn't do another lick of work today if my life depended on it. Suppose we take Sheila home if she really wants to go there. Then we'll go shopping at the Italian grocer's and I'll make some of my famous spaghetti. We'll throw a party at my apartment. How is that?" "You wouldn't do it last week when I asked you to, would you?" retorted Dorothy with pretended wrath. "Sheila, I certainly wish I had your influence over him. It's amazing! I, for one, think that's a grand suggestion, though. Will you come?" Sheila glanced inquiringly in Dick's direction. "You're sure we won't be in the way? You don't want to work?" "Say, I wouldn't miss the chance to show you what a cook I am for anything! It's my most charming accomplishment." "Then suppose we turn about. It isn't necessary for me to go home unless you think I should dress."

The other two declared she looked perfect and presently the car was gliding down Tenth avenue toward Greenwich Village. They reached a neighborhood of little shops offering real Italian spaghetti, uncooked; an array of cheeses; huge black olives; squash to be cooked in the Italian fashion; and huge pieces, tied up fresh, hot and odorless. "Think of the calories!" exclaimed Sheila, laughing, as Dick seemed bent on further purchases. Dick's East Side apartment overlooked the river. When they reached the place Sheila decided it suited him perfectly. The furnishings did not seem expensive but there was an air of comfort and quiet good taste. "It's really just a workshop," Dick explained. The living room in which they stood was large and restful. A few easy chairs stood about and there was a fireplace with simple graceful lines. A large table, littered with papers, stood near the window, flanked by typewriter, a supply of pointed pencils, and yellow and white paper. "Richard Stanley Third writes the great American play!" sang out Dorothy in some disdain. "Richard Stanley Second—to say nothing of Richard Stanley First—would be more gratified if they swung man returned to Bakton to learn the shoe business." "She's jealous because she doesn't even know how to spell," Dick said. "He's jealous himself!" returned Dorothy. "Amuse yourselves, children, while I try to get this stuff on the table," Dick went on, undisturbed. Sheila sank into a chair. There was a fine view here of the river. It was getting dark outside. The slow moving ferries gave forth twinkling lights. Other boats, laden with cargo, moved slowly up and down. Long Island City, chained to Manhattan by a rope of twinkling lights, lay across the brief stretch of water. Night had softened the grim buildings skirting the water's edge and here and there the scene a touch of theatrical glamour. "Life is like that," Sheila thought wearily. "Glamour hiding ugliness." She was tired from the day's work. Dick's apartment seemed a haven of rest. The dinner which Dick finally saw before them was really excellent. It was served in buffet fashion

Social War To Be Featured At Dance Hour By Elks Club

There will be a social war at the Elks club rooms on the evening of February 27. On yes, for further information this entertaining event, the first of its kind to be featured here is a war of music arranged for a dance hour.

Since the Elks club and spacious floor will pleasantly accommodate a large number of dance guests and orchestra personnel there will be a clever arrangement of two complete orchestras.

Needless to say our own home orchestra under the talented director, Rupert Murphy, and his nine-piece orchestra together with "Red" Krause of the music makers, will furnish the merry dance tunes for the evening. Former to this time the Murphy band has been composed of eight musicians but for this particular occasion an extra member will be seen with the music makers. From all indications and the enthusiasm thus far manifested by all who are informed of present

Mrs. Cash, Mrs. Sexton and Mrs. Bray, who were accompanied by Mrs. Greer, and Mrs. Barney, on a trip and pleasant visit to the Eastland chapter last week at which time new officers were installed, report a most profitable and delightful visit.

Members are especially urged to attend the program next Wednesday afternoon at the usual hour as interesting and important subjects will be in discussion.

A well arranged party will be given in compliment to members on the afternoon of February 22, with Mrs. Cash and Mrs. Sexton co-hostesses.

HERE--- AND THERE

By ELVIE H. JACKSON

"I'm glad it was me, not you." May or Cermak of Chicago has proven to the world his genuine brotherhood with man in those words spoken quickly without thought and from his warm heart, as he lay on the hospital bed in Miami, Fla., the unwitting victim of a would-be assassin's bullet, intended for the recently elected President of these United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

So many intimate little things are known about Mayor Cermak and his work through the turbulent months in Chicago, known even in this little far-away city of the south, by those who have mutual friends or other connections living in the windy city.

Countless acts of kindness, genuine deeds of heroism, courage under all conditions, has marked Cermak's administration of Chicago's municipal affairs.

Small wonder that he has the respect and esteem of those who know the almost unbelievable success he has had in helping to stamp out the gang murders in Chicago; by even members of the gang itself who have a wholesome desire to not be tipped off to the boss.

But he is not so large in all civic undertakings as to neglect the rights of the school teachers, whom the author of this statement knows had their back pay settled and salaries coming in simply through his stupendous efforts.

For nearly everything was at a standstill in Chicago when Cermak took hold, and the schools still as any other thing. A self-made man, with few opportunities to attend school, Mayor Cermak appreciated in full, what children lost when deprived of their public schooling.

Perhaps he had an over-estimation. But through his very admiration of the public school system, resulted one of the biggest settlements in obligations any city has incurred within modern years.

Not only the school but the individual students received his appreciation. Just two or three short years ago, in the presence of an audience that filled one of the largest opera houses in Chicago, he made a kind and encouraging talk to a shrinking young miss, who, out of several thousand public school students had been awarded the gold badge for citizenship, leadership and character in school, as he pinned the trophy on the child's breast.

It is the accepted belief that the captain is the last to leave his sinking vessel; that the sentry stands on duty and fights sleep on his feet; that babies and children and helpless women are saved first in emergency, but there is no written law or rule or precedent set for the man who in his heart knows he would lay down his life for another, without need of praise or plaudits of the public.

When Mr. Cermak said, "I'm glad it was me, not you. I wish you would be real careful. The country needs you badly. You shouldn't take any more chances as you took tonight," he explained his entire code of living.

And when Mr. Roosevelt persisted in returning to the hospital, to personally see and inform himself as to the conditions of the victims of that premeditated assassin's bullet on Wednesday night, he showed the courage that might be expected of this gallant gentleman, for courage it took to redouble over those tracks, where perhaps a fellow conspirator might be lurking. For if it was as easy to do what was done, in the presence of an army of body guards, detectives and policemen, it would have been equally as easy to have accomplished a little later and in much the same way.

Without courage, life is a flaccid thing and it is not always the opportunity of the genuinely courageous to be called to show their quality of valor. Often, such courage must be shown in one's attitude towards circumstances, and in the over-coming of self.
