Rambling Holiday Creek, which winds through the east side of Wichita Falls, backs up into the residential section of the city following recent heavy rains. The Wichita River reached the flood stage and backed its waters into smaller streams.

More Rain Increases Danger At Flood-Stricken Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (P)—More rain fell today, increasing danger from flooding streams which have inundated 150 blocks of this north Texas city and forced more than 500 persons from their homes. Rising flood waters over the town already were estimated at from a few inches to as much as

McCarthy On Stand At Contempt Trial

WASHINGTON (P)—A contempt of Congress trial testing further the powers of congressional Red hunters went into its second day today with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) still on the witness stand. On trial in Federal District Court for contempt is Harvey O'Connor, 58-year-old author of "Mellon's Millions" and other books. He refused in 1953 to tell the Senate Investigations subcommittee, then headed by McCarthy, whether he had been a Communist at the time he wrote books purchased by the State Department for its overseas libraries program. O'Connor did not rely on the Fifth Amendment's protection against possible self-incrimination. Instead, he contended that "Under the First Amendment to the Constitution, my writings, my books and my political opinions are of no legitimate concern to this committee." McCarthy testified yesterday that O'Connor was questioned in an investigation undertaken by the Senate subcommittee after it received "a vast number of complaints" that the State Department's overseas information program was "serving the cause of communism."

Noted Minister To Highlight Meeting

The special effort of the Big Spring Pastors Association to encourage church attendance during October will be inaugurated this evening with Dr. Louis Hadley Evans, one of the nation's top ministers, as the speaker. Time of the service is 7:45 o'clock at the First Methodist Church. There will be half an hour of organ meditations before the call to worship by the Rev. E. Otis Moore, pastor of St. Paul Presbyterian Church. Dr. Evans' appearance here is part of the aim of the Pastor's Association to bring at least one of the leading religious personalities of the nation here annually. Now minister-at-large of the board of national missions for the Presbyterian Church U. S. A., Dr. Evans formerly was pastor of the world's largest Presbyterian Church at Hollywood, Calif. Song services will be led by Dr. Hines Simms, Nashville, Tenn., head of the department of gospel music for the Southern Baptist Convention. Dr. Simms is here for a series of meetings with the First Baptist Church, which is advancing its revival services an hour today in order that the congregation may hear Dr. Evans. Invocation will be led by the Rev. Maple Avery, East Fourth Baptist pastor, and Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will read the scriptures. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, is to word the offertory prayer, and Mrs. Don Nevenson is to be the soloist. Jack Hendrix will be at the console of the organ, and prayer will be led by the Rev. Hal Hooker, Main Street Church of God minister. Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor, will pronounce the benediction. telling what will happen." The river stood at 20.8 feet as he talked.

Railroad and highway bridges were washed out and traffic closed northwest, west and southwest of the city. More than 5,000 acres of farmland were under water, and the cattle county communities of Hackberry, Dumont, Grow, Chalk and Sneedville had been water-bound since Sunday night.

Evacuation of marooned families slowed down last night, but calls for aid were still frequent. Bone-tired National Guardsmen, airmen from Sheppard Air Force Base, county and city police and auxiliary police toiled through another night.

A shipment of antityphoid serum was en route from Austin, the state capital, and Dr. Houston H. Terry, county health officer, warned of the possibility of disease. Motorboats ran where automobiles usually were the chief transportation.

Holiday Creek which runs into the Wichita, a Red River tributary, continued to widen slowly because it could not empty its waters into the already overflowing river.

Holiday Creek runs through the southeastern edges of Wichita Falls and normally converges with the Wichita River about four miles east of the city. It appeared to be one big rising lake.

Rains upstream, which amounted to as much as 9 inches to start the floods, continued at Vernon, Seymour, Mankins and Dundee. Some were heavy. All combined to prevent any decrease in the rising waters.

Storm Moistens Most Of County

A long, thin squall line swept across Howard County late Tuesday afternoon, splashing a half inch or more of moisture on most of the area.

The thunderstorm was accompanied by steady winds and lightning which struck at least one Big Spring residence.

Mrs. Charles Brown, 2113 West Third, said a bolt struck a television pole at her home. The lightning burned out the Brown's television receiver, an electric range, automatic washing machine and several small appliances. All outside wiring also was ruined, but no fire occurred and no one was injured.

The squall line moved in from the west, striking Big Spring about 5:30 p.m. Twenty minutes later it was well past the city, but during its passage it dumped .64 of an inch of rain at the U. S. Experiment Station, 4 at The Herald, and 3 in the eastern part of town.

The Lomax area received from 4 to 5, and 5 fell at the Ley Acuff farm eight miles northwest of Big Spring.

Texas Electric Service Company gauged 27 at its station east of town, 48 at North Second and Gollad, 54 at Otischalk, 32 at Morgan Creek, 17 at Snyder, 37 east of Colorado City, and 16 at Sweetwater.

TESCO also reported another 7 at Lamesa, Downtown Colorado City received 33 of an inch. Coahoma reported a "hard shower." Three miles north of Big Spring the gauges caught up to 1.3 inches, and similar amounts were reported for areas northeast of Big Spring.

Lake J. B. Thomas continued to rise upward, reaching elevation 2,255.65, or only 2.35 feet from the (See WEATHER, Pg. 9, Col. 7)

8 Shot In Pitched Battle Near Strike-Bound Plant

1 Reported Killed In Indiana Dispute

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (P)—Eight persons were shot today in a pitched battle involving an estimated 5,000 sympathy demonstrators outside the little strike-plagued Perfect Circle Corp. foundry.

Police received an unconfirmed report that one person had been killed. Three of the victims who were wounded by bullets, one seriously, were non-strikers inside the plant. Five demonstrators were wounded as city police fired from inside the plant.

The interior of a house near the plant used by police as a headquarters was broken into and all furnishings destroyed.

Rocks and bottles broke all windows in the guard house at the plant's main gate.

Gov. George N. Craig's office ordered 150 state police troopers into the area immediately. They were to join city police before moving into the trouble area.

Horace Coats, Craig's executive secretary, said "we're hopeful and confident the disturbance can be quelled and order restored without calling out the National Guard."

Thousands of demonstrators, apparently coming from as far away as Kentucky and Tennessee, stormed onto the foundry parking lot, some shouting, "let's go home and get our guns. We'll show the dirty B—"

Part of the crowd pulled back after appeals for dispersal were made from an automobile rooftop by Capt. Robert Dillon of the Indiana State Police and E. J. Kuscia, Indianapolis, assistant regional director of the striking CIO United Auto Workers.

Capt. Dillon, commander of the state police post at nearby Connersville, warned the demonstrators to disperse on threat of bringing in "200 state police within two hours."

However, some of the demonstrators stayed near the foundry, throwing stones, bottles and bricks.

An official inside the plant said Ethel Roberts, 28, Greensboro, Ind., was shot in the hip by a bullet that came through a plant window. She was later taken through the demonstrators in an ambulance.

Also taken to a hospital was a demonstrator, Paul Carper, who was shot in both legs.

Another of the demonstrators wounded was Henry Gibson, shot in the right ankle and left thigh. The Ingersoll Steel Plant of Borg-Warner Corp., reported only a small fraction of its 550 workers on the job today.

The demonstration was blamed on Perfect Circle's firing of 35 workers Tuesday, largely because of a picket line disorder eight days ago when 55 pickets were arrested on night charges.

The firings included top officials of the UAW local. The UAW is on strike also at Perfect Circle plants at Hagerstown and Richmond in Indiana.

The strike now is two months old, and settlement appears to be at least another month away. The National Labor Relations Board is considering petitions for decertification of the UAW at the Hagerstown and Richmond plants.

The company has refused to enter into a new contract for those plants until the decertification issue is settled, and the union has refused to bargain for the New Castle plant alone.

City police sent out a radio appeal for all available Indiana State Police as the striking CIO United Auto Workers shouted they were going inside the plant to bring out non-strikers.

Police said the marching line "of thousands" of demonstrators stretched out for 10 to 12 blocks.

Some of New Castle's biggest industries, including the Chrysler Corp. forge and machine plant were virtually shut down, and chartered buses indicated demonstrators came from as far away as Kentucky and Tennessee.

The Perfect Circle Foundry, scene of frequent violence in the two-month-old strike, employs only 200 in this city of 15,271.

Nothing's Too Good For A (Good) Pig

That old notion of pigs wallowing in a mud hole doesn't hold water at the annual 4-H and FFA pig show starting today at the Howard County Fair Barns. In fact, nothing is too good when it comes to making those pigs shine and sparkle. Well-Bred Pigs Go On Display At Annual Jaycee Swine Show

Approximately 75 well-bred pigs went on display here Wednesday with the opening of the annual fall pig show sponsored by the Jaycees.

Before deadline for weighing falls at 5 p.m., no less than 50 head of fat pigs were to be in place along with 25 breeding hogs. Most of the latter class will be in the Sears' Foundation program, held in conjunction with the regular swine show.

L. M. Hargraves, member of the agriculture department at Texas Tech, will begin the judging of fat pigs at 9 a.m. Thursday, and breeding classes will be judged at 1:30 p.m.

The traditional sale will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the main fair building with Randall Sherrod serving as auctioneer. The top 15 in each class will be auctioned.

Howard County entries will have eight gilts and one boar placed in the Sears' division, and these winners will in turn compete against a like number from Martin County for area honors. The Sears' winners will receive $15, $10 and $5 in the county and $30 and $20 in the area in merchandise.

In various classes, there will be 10 places awarded. First place will receive $10 and others will scale down $1 for each place. The grand champion will earn $10 and the reserve $5, and there also will be a $10 showmanship award.

The Jaycees are handling details of the show, assisted by Jimmy Taylor, county agent; and the FFA teachers, Truett Vines, Big Spring, Wayne White, Coahoma, Cyril Keith, Knott. Members of the sales committee are Jack Buchanan, chairman, Bill Gray, David Sims, Max Alexander, Ralph McLaughlin, Bill Cox, O. F. Priest and Donald Lay. Showmanship awards will be presented at the sale by John Taylor and Jack Buchanan.

Grandstaff Appeal Due Hearing Today

Frank Grandstaff, ex-convict-composer who has been ordered returned to Wisconsin to face parole violation charges, was to submit his appeal of the ruling to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin today.

Grandstaff was ordered returned to Wisconsin authorities several months ago at a hearing on that state's request for extradition. The composer of the Big Spring Cantata fought the extradition on grounds that he completed a Wisconsin prison sentence and was not on parole as the state claimed.

Runaway Truck Derails Train; Five Are Killed

WEST NEWTON, Pa. (P)—A runaway lumber truck, horn blowing frantically, roared half a mile down a steep hill and smashed into a moving train yesterday.

Nine freight cars were flung from the Baltimore and Ohio tracks. They crushed the train like a tin can and demolished two buildings.

The truck driver, Claude Brandt, 31, Warrenton, N. C., and four other people were killed.

Three derailed cars contained explosives but did not blow up. Some of the cars smashed into the Cassie Fruit Store on one side of the tracks, others into a hardware store on the other side.

Dead were Jacob Casale, 50 owner of the fruit store; Sheryl Ross, 6 daughter of a West Newton restaurant proprietor; Sheryl's grandmother Mrs. Dora Whiteman, about 70, of Industry, Pa.; and Mrs. Martha C. McConnell, 70, West Newton.

Mrs. William Ross, mother of Sheryl, suffered a broken back and fractured pelvis. Emily Peternel suffered minor injuries.

Engineer William McManus, Conellville, Pa., said he saw the speeding truck "but there was nothing I could do."

Lloyd Mauk, a civil defense auxiliary policeman, said he heard the truck horn wailing.

"After the truck hit the train all I saw was lumber flying," he related. "Then there was a big cloud of dust. I jumped down and went over to help."

Grimly, Mauk told how he saw the body of the Ross child, a blood-stained doll in her arms. There were few people on the street of this community of 3,500, about 35 miles southeast of Pittsburgh, when the crash occurred. One businessman said: "It was terrible but it would have been worse except for the World Series. Most everyone was indoors looking at television or listening to the radio."

Two railroad wrecking crews worked through the night to clear the B&O's main east-west route between Cumberland, Md., and Pittsburgh.

A large area was blocked off while the dynamite was unloaded. Sheriff Howard E. Thomas estimated total damage might be close to one million dollars.

Meanwhile, several investigations were launched to determine the cause of the wreck. One official said he believed the truck brakes had failed.

Egyptians Said Boat Carried Spirits Of Dead

By RAMON COFFMAN
According to the Book of the Dead (which contains holy writings of ancient Egypt) a spirit, or double, would set out in a westerly direction. Besides the lakes of fire and snakes which I mentioned the other day, the spirit had to be careful about other dangers, including the big crocodile known as Sul. Another bad animal was a lynx with long, sharp claws. If the spirit had good fortune, there would be a meeting with Shu, the god of light and air. This god gave good advice. At certain places pools of water existed. If a good person, who spoke the truth, drank this water, he would quench his thirst. If a wicked man took a drink, however, the water would boil and would scald his throat. When a man knew the right words, he could change his form at will. He might become a golden hawk, a heron or a swallow. It was even possible for him to turn into a snake, a crocodile or a water lily! Although the spirit traveled westward at first, there soon came a change of direction. Getting into a magic boat, the spirit "sailed across the northern heavens." At length the Mountain of the Sunrise was reached, and from there the Morning Star was seen. The Egyptians said that a god named Osiris (pronounced "oh-SY-rus") was the chief ruler of the Other World. They declared that this god had been the ruler of Egypt before he was slain by Set, the wicked ruler of darkness. Osiris had come back to life, and then had taken charge of the Other World. Before entering the presence of Osiris, the spirit had to pass through a gateway which led to the Seven Great Halls. Three passwords were required before the gate could be passed; the spirit had to speak the names of the watchman, the messenger and the porter. Similar passwords were needed for entrance to each of the Seven Great Halls. Even with this knowledge, the task of the spirit was far from being ended. For HISTORY section of your scrapbook.

Peron's Labor Group Seems To Be Splitting

BUENOS AIRES (U.S.—The giant General Confederation of Labor, which helped boost Juan D. Peron to power, appeared to be splitting today. Leaders complained to the government that dissidents were seizing key units by violence. It was still too early to say whether these rifts spelled doom for the CGT's Peronista hierarchy which, despite the dictator's overthrow, still held sway. A new top labor commander would strengthen the power of the military rebels headed by provisional President Eduardo Lonardi who dethroned Peron. Top CGT officials, including Secretary General Hector Hugo di Pietro, marched to the Government House last night to complain that certain "groups" of workers were taking over headquarters of several CGT-affiliated unions. Di Pietro and three other leaders told Lonardi that "all organizations making up CGT stand ready" to hold government-supervised elections to determine who should run the unions. The leaders reportedly told Lonardi they are ready to step down from their posts if the governments wants them to do so. CGT claims a membership of six million. A cooperative leadership could help the government ride out economic problems ahead. Peron continued his exile in Asuncion, Paraguay. Foreign Minister Mario Amadeo said a large group of Peronistas remain at the Paraguayan embassy here where they sought asylum. The provisional government arrested Austrian-born Dr. Ronald Richter, commissioned by Peron to produce atomic energy in this country. The nature of the charges against him was not disclosed. Rifts in the old Peronista organization are coming to light. Adm. Alberto Teissaire, who was vice president under Peron, told Lonardi that Peron was a "cowardly deserter" who "practically abandoned government affairs for sports and artistic activities."

Anybody's Guess On Morrow Successor

FORT WORTH (U.S.—"Anybody's guess" was good today on who will be named to fill the shoes of Wright Morrow, ousted Democratic National Committeeman from Texas. Edward Badough of New Braunfels, chairman of a subcommittee named by Texas Democratic leaders to screen possible replacements for Morrow, came here today hoping his group could meet "for several hours" to finish its job. The full State Executive Committee meets tomorrow to act on the nominations and make further plans for capturing precinct conventions next spring and thus hold control of the party machinery. Badough said thinking apparently had not jelled among the members of his committee, which has been meeting by correspondence since it was given the task last July 25. He said it could be any one of the 14 names suggested to the subcommittee, or some dark horse not named. These are the definite possibilities as named by Badough: State Rep. J. O. Gillham, Brownfield banker and member of the Legislature; Jack Blalock of Houston, brother of the late Myron Blalock of Marshall, who served a long term as national committeeman; Wright Matthews, Dallas attorney; Gov. Allan Shivers; Sen. Price Daniel; Chairman George Sandlin of the State Democratic Executive Committee, Austin; U.S. Rep. Joe Kilgore, McAllen; former U.S. Rep. Lloyd M. Bentsen, Mission; Palmer Bradley, Houston attorney; Cecil Burney, Corpus Christi attorney; Elmo Burke Jr., San Antonio businessman; S. Perry Brown, Beaumont, former national commander of the American Legion; Fred Korih, Fort Worth banker; former Gov. Dan Moody, Austin. Morrow and Shivers came to open verbal blows when the governor recommended that the committee oust his former political associate. Morrow and Shivers worked together to support Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952. The national committee then refused to let Morrow attend its meetings. Shivers subsequently has sought to get back in the good graces of the committee and Morrow charged that his removal was to pacify House Speaker Sam Rayburn and other national party leaders. Shivers replied that ousting Morrow was the only way to give Texas a full representation on the committee. Mrs. H. H. Weibert, Seguin, national committeewoman, has been the state's lone representative since Morrow was shut out.

Morgenthau's Resignation Told In Truman Memoirs

WASHINGTON (U.S.—Former President Harry S. Truman says he accepted Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.'s resignation on the spot after refusing to take Morgenthau to the 1945 Potsdam conference. Truman tells the hitherto-undisclosed story of Morgenthau's departure from the Cabinet in the latest installment of his memoirs. They are being published by Life magazine. In this installment, Truman discusses what he thinks the vice president's role in government should be—a matter which draws added point from the situation stemming from President Eisenhower's illness. Truman also recalls circumstances leading to his 1944 nomination as vice presidential running mate to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, on whose death in 1945 Truman rose to the presidency.

So excitingly new, we couldn't wait!
The new long Lincoln for '56 is here—Now!

WE ANNOUNCED the 1956 Lincoln early this year. We just couldn't wait.

For this Lincoln sets a new standard for fine car styling and performance—proves conclusively that a car can possess length and luxury and still be as lithe as the most cat-like of sports cars.

This is a truly long Lincoln... over a foot longer in the frame. And it's a lean, crisp length.

This is a truly luxurious Lincoln. Incomparably rich in fabric and color and detail.

And this is a Lincoln with unprecedented maneuverability. The 1956 Lincoln's new V-8 engine turns out 285 horsepower with scarcely a whisper. An advanced automatic transmission puts that power to work with a smoothness unequalled in any motor car. And improved suspension makes even country roads seem like superhighways.

We invite you to break with the past. Drive the completely new 1956 Lincoln and prove to yourself that length and luxury can, at last, be as maneuverable, as easy to handle as a sports car.

The new 1956 LINCOLN
The only completely new fine car

HOME OF THE BLISSARD FAMILY
Place improved steadily since purchase in 1946

Mr. And Mrs. Doris Blissard Put Savings Into Lomax Farm

Uncle Sam could use Mr. and Mrs. Doris Blissard as a case in point when talking about savings bonds.

The Blissards put away every spare dollar during the war years into bonds, and then, when the opportunity came, bought a farm with it. This was last week's Mystery Farm.

Their place is located in the Lomax Community, and they had bought it from Cliff Turner in 1946, taking possession in January of 1946. Turner had obtained the farm from his father, who bought it at the time the Lomax community was being developed. The place has 160 acres, of which 140 are in cultivation. This year the cotton allotment was 61 acres, but unfortunately weather didn't permit a good stand on even that much.

Almost since Mr. and Mrs. Blissard and their two children, Bennie Joe and Jane, moved on the place weather has been working against a bumper yield, but they thought they had it in 1950. Fields were perfect pictures and Durward Lewter, then county agent, estimated the yield would be at least a bale to the acre. But on Sept. 22 a hail storm swung across the southeast corner of Martin County and into the Lomax area, battering the beautiful crop. Although it appeared ruined, it did recover enough to make half a bale.

This is not their only farm operation, but it is their own place, so they have improved the place steadily. In the five-room house they have sheet-rocked the closets, have wired it for electricity, refinished the interior and otherwise modernized it. There is a strong well on the place but the water is too hard for drinking purposes. Blissard has got around this by construction of a large cistern between the house and barn, both of which have tin roofs. The water thus saved is crystal clear, and neighbors come in to sample its fine taste or "borrow" a bit for washing hair. The well is used for livestock, but is hardly suitable for irrigation.

While he was at home Bennie Jo, now 18 and in the animal husbandry department at Texas Tech, was active in 4-H Club work and was always feeding out one or more club calves. One year he was the county's Gold Star club boy. Jane, now 16, is following in his footsteps, and in fact has won some major titles. Last year Bennie Jo was second high individual in the statewide 4-H livestock judging contest at Texas A&M. Jane is a class officer, yearbook editor and a host of other things in the junior class at Stanton, and still finds time to carry on her club work. Recently, she won the county dress making project.

The children come by the activities honestly, for both Mr. and Mrs. Blissard have taken a leading hand in their community and country. Almost from the time they were married in the First Methodist parsonage on Nov. 30, 1935 by Dr. C. A. Bickley, the Blissards have been helping in some sort of organization. Mrs. Blissard has held every office in her home demonstration group, has been on the Howard County council is still serving as a 4-H club leader, is on the finance committee for the Stanton P-TA, has been a Sunday school teacher at Lomax and Stanton, worked in the Vacation Bible Schools, was on the Friends of the Library Association board and serves on the juvenile drivers license screening board.

Mr. Blissard has served on the Lomax school board, has been a community leader in the Farm Bureau, served as a 4-H leader and on its county advisory group, and is on the board of supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation district board.

Brought up on a farm, Blissard always regarded farming as his life. Not until he and Mrs. Blissard moved on to the H. G. Keaton farm in Martin County in 1941 did he come to grips with farming on a massive scale. There were no less than 4,500 acres to take care of. This required 13 tractors, and when the war hit, supplying them with gasoline, rubber and parts became an almost endless task.

"Sometimes we almost ran them on rags," he recalled. He got some new machines but they had steel rims and cleats. Later these were cut off and replaced with recapped tires. Only help available was "kids and old folks," and many night it was long after midnight when they got to bed and had to be at it again before daybreak. They raised cotton, peanuts, feed and whatever else the government said was needed. Besides, they had 350 mother cows on the place.

When the children got to school age, they decided to look for a place near a school. In the Turner place at Lomax they found what they wanted.

The Blissards still farm 1,600 acres of the Keaton spread, and have another operation in southern Glasscock County. There they have 2,500 acres in pasture and 700 in cultivation, some of it irrigated from three relatively small wells. So you can see that keeping busy is still no chore for them.

that the "bugging" of the jury room and recording of jury deliberations was done with the consent of U.S. Dist. Judge Delmas C. Hill.

The Times' story further asserted:

The recordings were made by a University of Chicago Law School team financed by the Ford Foundation.

The jurors were not aware of the eavesdropping, but counsel on both sides of the cases involved were said to have agreed to the project.

Later, however, the recordings were played at a semipublic meeting in Denver, leading to the current probe.

The laboratory study of the American jury system is under the supervision of Dean Edward H. Levi of the law school.

The Wichita project was under the direction of Prof. Harry Kalven Jr., assisted by another lawyer and a sociologist.

Judge Hill "reportedly concealed the recording apparatus in his judicial chambers and not only admitted but defended his stand to investigators," the Times' dispatch said.

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman declined to comment on the story.

"So unthinkable, apparently, is the idea, that a microphone could be secreted in a jury room that legal experts so far have been unable to find any law, civil or criminal, against it," the story continued.

MAY MEAN FIGHT

Governor To Head California Group

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight said today he intends to head California's delegation to the 1956 Republican National Convention even if it means an open fight with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He reiterated that if President Eisenhower, his first choice, doesn't run, he will seek control of the state's important bloc of votes himself as a favorite son—and only nominal—candidate.

Knight, in an interview marking the start of his third year in office, made no attempt to hide his coolness toward Nixon.

He said he has heard rumors that the vice president's home state supporters are planning to enter their own slate of delegates in the June California primary if Eisenhower bows out of the race. California voters select convention delegates of both parties in a presidential primary election. The delegates must be pledged to a candidate who has given his written consent.

Asked if a Nixon ticket would affect his plans for a Knight-pledged delegation, the governor replied, "Not in the slightest."

"We are going all the way regardless of what Mr. Nixon does," he said firmly.

Knight agreed the California delegation—second only, with 70 votes, to New York's 96 in 1952—would be vital to Nixon's presidential hopes but, he said:

"The Republicans of California will want to be represented by a completely independent delegation devoted to the Republican party and not to the ambitions of any one man."

He said he has heard no talk of a slate committed to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.). Knight and Knowland have worked closely together on state party organization.

The governor said the California delegation would decide during the convention in San Francisco next year on the presidential nominee who would be best for the party.

Judge Tosses Out Bell Jury

SEGUIN (AP) — Judge W. W. Ellison ruled today that the grand jury which indicted Rep. John Bell (D-Tex) in the veterans land scandals was illegally constituted.

The first-term congressman from Cuero had been indicted on charges of conspiring to steal $154,000 under the veterans land program. He has not been tried and has said money paid him was paid only for his services as an attorney.

Ellison did not rule directly in the Bell case. His ruling came when he quashed an indictment handed down by the same grand jury as a result of Henry Holmes, charged with murder in connection with the death of a Seguin woman. Holmes' attorney asserted the indictment was invalid because one of the grand jurors failed to pay his poll tax. The court upheld the attorney.

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — Louis Koehl was awakened from a nap on his living room sofa yesterday by an airplane propeller.

Koehl, 65, was unhurt. Philip McNamamy, 46, reported he was instructing student Lloyd Martin in his twin-engine Cessna when the left propeller tore loose. McNamamy safely landed the plane at Hayward Airport and then drove to Pleasanton to search for the propeller.

He found Koehl's house with a three-foot hole in the roof.

Lewis Heart Attack Called 'Not Severe'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors have diagnosed John L. Lewis' trouble as a heart attack like the one that felled President Eisenhower, but not as severe.

Dr. John Minor, Lewis' physician, said last night it now appears the 75-year-old boss of the United Mine Workers suffered a "very minimum heart attack" about two weeks ago. Minor said Lewis is progressing so well he probably would go home at the end of this week.

Lewis was admitted to Emergency Hospital Sept. 25 — the day before Eisenhower was stricken in Colorado. It was said at the time he was in for a rest and checkup.

Gardeners Hold Clinic On Flower Arranging

In preparation for the Flower Show to be held Nov. 3, the Big Spring Garden Council sponsored a clinic on the mechanics of arranging flowers Tuesday morning at the Episcopal Parish House.

Mrs. V. A. Whittington, president of the council, was in charge of the program and introduced the instructors. The teachers included Mrs. Clyde Angel, Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mrs. Bob Stripling, Mrs. Wilson T. Smith and Mrs. John Knox. "You should make your arrangement look as if it were growing," Mrs. Smith told the group.

She spoke on Japanese arrangements, and has had extensive training in flower arranging in Tokyo. She explained that the Japanese stress that the centerpiece has three main lines to depict heaven, man and earth.

"Japanese arrangements always look at you, therefore never have any leaves or flowers in the back of centerpiece," she pointed out. Mrs. Bristow traced the history of flower arranging to the group. She stated that only in the last 20 years has the interest grown in the United States.

"You should imagine a definite line, either a triangle, circle or cube, and then make the arrangement one and one-half times the height of the container," Mrs. Bristow pointed out.

She also told the members that in the future the trend will be away from accessories with flower arrangements.

She also told the members that in the future the trend will be away from accessories with flower arrangements.

"For a while, the best arrangement was not the flowers, but who could find the cutest bobble to set with it, but now the emphasis is turning to the flowers themselves," the speaker explained.

Mrs. Bristow said that proportion and scale are just as important as color and texture.

The other instructors displayed individual arrangements and discussed them with the members present. Following the talks, practical experience was gained by making various flower arrangements.

There were 25 present at the clinic.

Ticklish Situation In Middle East

Officially the United States and Soviet Russia see eye-to-eye on one proposition and we quote Assistant Secretary of State George Allen to exemplify the point: "A sovereign nation has the right to get arms from any source."

That is what Egypt held when it made a deal to swap cotton for Czechoslovakia in exchange for heavy weapons. That is what Moscow said when it upheld Egypt's contention, and that is what our Mr. Allen said while on a special mission to the Middle East in an effort to head off the Egyptian-Czech deal.

Moscow's Double Standard Revealed

WASHINGTON — At last the "cold war" has reached a climax in which the western nations can once more take the initiative. The withdrawal of France from the current session of the United Nations Assembly in New York marks the emergence of the West from the anaesthetic of fancied security administered last July by the Russians at Geneva.

lem of that kind in North Africa if it can be demonstrated that the peace of the world is threatened there, which, of course, is not true. But at the same time the French foreign minister might insist that if the principle of discussing internal affairs is applied, it should be first considered with respect to those nations which have already won their independence and proved themselves capable of self-government but which have lost their liberties and their sovereignty due to usurpation of control by Moscow and by the International Communist party.

Mr. Breger

By insisting that they will discuss North Africa after the safety of the peoples in the satellite countries of Eastern Europe is assured, the French can strike a real blow for human freedom in the propaganda battles of the "cold war."

For, despite the smiles of the Russians during the Geneva conference and since then in what nowadays is ironically described by Moscow broadcasts as "the Geneva spirit," the Communists have been increasing the tension in the "cold war."

Moroccan Rebels Press Hard Attacks Against French Forces

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—Moroccan Nationalists stabbed at hard-pressed French forces today in relentless guerrilla attacks for the fifth successive day in the rugged Rif Mountains. The fighting echoed all the way to Paris, jeopardizing Premier Edgar Faure's coalition government.

A top Nationalist leader, Mohamed Lyazidi, warned the resurgence of terrorism "is bound to get worse" if the French do not speed their plan for Moroccan reforms. There were indications Faure's program might be delayed even longer or possibly scrapped. Lyazidi said that "if the French had kept their promises, it (the fighting) might not have happened." He referred to agreements hammered out by the French and Nationalists calling for removal of pro-French Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, creation of a three-man regency, formation of a new Moroccan government and granting of much more self-rule to the protectorate.

The only point fulfilled thus far was the removal of the Sultan to the international city of Tangier.

Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour du Moulin, new French resident general, said last night he was working for a "solution to the problem of the throne acceptable to all."

Boyer de Latour made no mention of a regency council, and Moroccan newspapers claim he does not intend to form one.

The resident general left Rabat for Fez to tour the area under rebel attack.

Reports from the area were still sketchy, but the worst fighting appeared to be concentrated about 70 miles northeast of Fez and within a few miles of the Spanish Moroccan border, in the Rif range.

Three French military outposts were reported surrounded by rebels. They were Bouard, 6 miles south of the Spanish protectorate line; Tizi Ouzil, 20 miles east of Bouard, and 5 miles from the border; and Aknoul, a military post and village of about 300 residents between Taza and the frontier.

Rebels pushed back a column of Foreign Legionnaires trying to relieve Aknoul. Two squadrons of native troops — Spahis and Goumiers — defended the post, as French civilians stood by to help. Officials said the relief column lost two killed and seven wounded. Nine rebel corpses were found, and 20 rebels were captured.

Newspaper reports said the rebels had suffered heavy losses on all active sectors. There was no official estimate of casualties.

At Tafaralt, another French outpost in the narrow corridor of French Morocco between Spanish Morocco and Algeria and only 25 miles south of a U.S. radar station at Saadia on the Mediterranean coast, the French reported more success. They said they had split an attacking rebel band, forcing one group to retreat toward Spanish Morocco and the other toward Algeria.

About 200 Americans, including women and children, are at Saadia. Reliable sources here said today further movement of dependents of U.S. Air Force men to the Moroccan bases has been banned because of the terrorist uprisings.

Thus far no Americans have been involved in the clashes.

It was not clear why the guerrillas struck after a comparative lull and after the Nationalists had won the political scalp of the unpopular Sultan. Some French sources believe the rebels, learning of the Sultan's departure and assuming the French also were on their way out of Morocco, had closed in for the kill—and incidentally to loot French posts.

Another interpretation was that the Nationalists did not like the way the Sultan, without abdicating, had left his authority with his equally unpopular cousin, Moulay Abdallah Ben Moulay Abdel Hafid.

The French charged the new uprisings were fostered in Spanish Morocco, citing Spanish arms and ammunition left behind by the rebels. Weapons bearing U.S. and British markings also have been found, the French admitted.

The new outbreaks could scarcely have come at a worse time for the Faure government. The French Parliament reconvened yesterday after a two-month summer vacation. The big question was whether the seven-month-old government could withstand attacks from right and left on its North African policies.

Move Afoot To Hold Off Debate On N. Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Informed sources say a move is afoot to hold off U.N. debate on France's Algerian dispute and other hot issues until tempers subside.

The informants said the top Political Committee at its opening session today would get a proposal to start debate with the atom-for-peace program and avoid scheduling other items for the time being.

Still shaken by France's walk-out, most delegates were loath to get into a wrangle over Algeria that might prompt the French to quit the U.N. altogether.

The French labeled the Assembly decision to debate Algerian independence demands a flagrant violation of the U.N. Charter. The French hold that Algeria is an integral part of France rather than a colony or protectorate and therefore outside the competence of the Assembly.

Most delegates also were anxious to avoid any controversy that might cloud the international atmosphere before the Big Four foreign ministers meet in Geneva Oct. 27.

Disarmament is the most important item on the Political Committee's agenda, but it has been generally agreed to hold off discussion until the foreign ministers had a chance to thresh out the question.

10 Visiting Russians Due To Inspect Boston Housing

BOSTON (AP)—Ten visiting Russian construction experts today were scheduled to begin a two-day inspection tour of Boston housing and building projects. The tour opens a monthlong visit to 13 American cities.

The Russians arrived last night and ran into an anti-Communist demonstration at their hotel.

The visitors, led by I. K. Kozulla, minister of city and urban construction of the U.S.S.R., are in the United States as guests of the National Assn. of Home Builders.

Kozulla told an airport news conference last night that his group does not want to talk about its American experiences until the tour is completed.

"We might underestimate things at first glance," he said through an interpreter. "We might be misunderstood. That would be regrettable."

The Russians arrived in Washington Monday night and yesterday toured a housing development in Virginia.

There was nothing violent about the Boston demonstrations. State police officers mingled with the crowds at both the airport and the Kenmore Hotel, where the Russians are staying.

The visiting delegation missed the demonstration at the airport when their hosts spirited them into a chartered bus for a 200-yard ride to the news conference, held in the office of the airport management board.

Floods Cover Tampico
This is Tampico, blown about and flooded by slashing rains and three hurricanes, including the last, Janet. The Mexican city is mostly under water with railroad, telegraph and telephone lines out. Tampico is on the Panuco River, a few miles from the Gulf. The river channel is at right. This picture was made from a U. S. Navy plane hauling in food, medical supplies and doctors.

More Floods On Way To Tampico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A U.S. Navy relief mission painted a black picture of ravaged Tampico today, predicting a mounting death toll and even more serious floods in the wake of Hurricane Janet.

"The situation is going to get a lot worse before it gets better," said a Marine officer who flew to Mexico City from the stricken Gulf Coast oil port of 110,000 population.

Adm. M. E. Miles, commandant of the 15th Naval District, flew from his Panama headquarters to take command of rescue operations. These were centered on the aircraft carrier Saipan, anchored off Tampico with 14 helicopters, 12 doctors and a large store of food, clothing, and medicine aboard.

Navy reports said hundreds were in "urgent" need of rescue. They told of refugees in trees, on rooftops, on dikes and atop improvised rafts.

"Much as Tampico needs medicine and food and clothing, our main goal now is rescuing living people," one officer said.

Despite earlier reports that the Panuco River's crest had passed Tampico and the worst was believed over, the Navy said "blinding thunderstorms" in the interior were sending the rushing waters still higher.

Unofficial tabulations have put the death toll for eastern Mexico and the Yucatan Peninsula at about 300, but this was certain to rise.

A belated report from Puebla state said a tornado there Saturday, believed touched off by Janet, had killed about 40 persons around the town of Pahuatlan.

The 16 officers and 46 enlisted men operating the Saipan's helicopters were described as "aching with overwork from the continuous rescue missions." They plucked 38 persons from a sinking barge in the Panuco, picked up between 500 and 1,000 others from trees, tops of houses and islands, grabbed 55 from a boat overturned southeast of Tampico and another 75 from a capsized craft in the Panuco.

By the thousands the refugees were jammed into the few patches of ground still above water. Thousands had to sleep outdoors in the heavy rain.

"The only land around Tampico which isn't under water is the airport, the cemetery, the golf course and a small portion in the center of town," reported Lt. Cmdr. R. F. Lyons of the U.S. Embassy after a flight over the area.

Far to the northwest, in the state of Sonora, a new flood was reported sweeping the rich Yaqui Valley about 150 miles south of Hermosillo. Seven persons were reported dead and thousands believed to be homeless.

Jose Healy, publisher of El Imparcial here, last night said he's received reports that about 10,000 persons have been evacuated from Plano Oriente, Pueblo Yaqui and other small towns around Ciudad Obregon.

In Ciudad Obregon, he said, water is several feet deep in some streets. There is no electricity or water there or in the outlying areas, he said.

Healy said cotton and other crops in the Yaqui Valley, richest agricultural area in Northwest Mexico, have been buried by water.

Rain fell 48 hours in the valley beginning Sunday. Five to six inches fell in some areas.

Missile Ground Expansion OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has cleared the way for a $47,000-acre expansion of the Ft. Bliss guided missile and anti-aircraft proving ground in New Mexico.

The Senate Armed Services Committee said today its real estate subcommittee followed the lead of a comparable House subcommittee in approving the expansion.

The program calls for exchange of 143,000 acres of federal land for state-owned land in the Ft. Bliss area, the withdrawal of 438,400 acres of public domain, and the purchase of 66,000 acres of privately owned land. The land is in Otero County.

Amerada Petroleum and Rycade No. 16 Dora Roberts is a Howard-Glasscock field location about two miles east of Forsan. Drilling to 1,500 feet is to be with rotary tools. Drillrate is 990 from north and 330 from east lines, southwest quarter, 12b-23-WANW survey.

Humble No. 1 Anderson is at 6,250 feet in shale. This wildcat cased 6,200-6,250 feet and recovered 50 feet of sand and shale. A test of perforations between 6,200-50 feet has just been completed. Operator is coming out with the tool. The tool was open an hour and there were strong gas blows for two minutes. Drillrate is 660 from north and 780 from east lines, 15-31-2n, T&P survey.

Phillips No. 1 Satterwhite is drilling ahead at 9,531 feet. The wildcat hit Sylvan shale at 9,608 feet. A test Tuesday from perforations between 9,510-06 feet had gas surges in 30 minutes, the volume not gauged. The tool was open two hours and five minutes and operator used a 1,600 feet water blanket. The blanket surfaced in 70 minutes, and oil in 90 minutes. Oil flowed to pits in 35 minutes and recovered 36 barrels in 30 minutes in the tanks. Gravity of the oil is 48.8 degrees. Operator could not reverse out the fluid in the pipe because of a Spraberry cave-in. The pipe unloaded the oil and gas coming out of the hole. Recovery was 10 feet of oil cut mud below the circulating sub. Drillrate is 660 from north and 1,980 from east lines, 12-32-1n, T&P survey.

Nolan

C. L. Norsworthy No. 1 R. A. McCallum, wildcat about six miles south of Roscoe, has been plugged and abandoned at 7,332 feet in the barren Ellenburger. Drillrate is 1,980 from south and 660 from east lines, 61-23-T&P survey.

At Station Operators' Dinner

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, is shown presiding over the successful dinner to express appreciation to service station operators. The affair was part of the observance of Oil Progress Week and was made possible by the Chamber of Commerce, the oil jobbers and wholesalers. At the right is Gene Mitchell, Plainview, who helped originate the station operator dinner idea in that city three years ago. Dr. Lloyd kept the group in an uproar as master of ceremonies. Speaker was Delbert Downing, Midland Chamber of Commerce manager.

Burglary Suspects In Jail At Lamesa

LAMESA — Two youthful suspects, reported to have made oral confessions, are being held in connection with the burglary of the Welch-Fretwell Shamrock Service Station south of here last night.

Entry into the establishment was made by prying a back window loose. A preliminary check showed that nothing of value was taken. One of the boys apprehended lives in Lamesa. The other, resides in Coolidge, Arizona, was visiting here.

The two were apprehended by Sheriff Henry Mayfield and Deputy Shorty Hancock.

The suspects were to be formally charged sometime today.

Three Run-Aways Apprehended Here

Two run-away boys from Arlington and Dallas and a girl who strayed from her Lamesa home were taken into custody here by police Tuesday.

The Lamesa girl, 15, was returned to her parents. The boys remained in the juvenile ward at county jail. A. E. Long, juvenile officer, said he was attempting to contact authorities in Dallas. The boys were in possession of an automobile and two saddles when they were apprehended.

Station Men Told Service 'Returns'

Service has a habit of returning in measure and kind, Delbert Downing, Midland, told more than 100 service station operators and oil jobbers Tuesday evening.

It is impossible to render an unselfish service, for somehow that service returns, he said. He also urged operators to go beyond merely the mechanics of a successful business, to be well enough informed on Texas to encourage tourists to spend an extra day in the state.

"You have responsibility to your community," Downing, who is Midland's Chamber of Commerce manager, declared. "You owe it to your community to participate and support the worthwhile things. You have a responsibility to your product, and certainly a responsibility to the oil industry."

He and Mrs. House brought their family here in March of 1931, and over the years he was active in numerous affairs, including the Rotary Club where he was secretary for year on year until ill health forced his retirement. Play Rehearsal Slated Tonight

A final dress rehearsal will be held tonight in the high school auditorium for the all school play, "Outward Bound," which will be presented Thursday and Friday nights.

The play opens at 8 p.m. Thursday. Tickets are 60 cents and are being sold by the high school junior class. The unusual play was first presented 30 years ago and has been a success on Broadway for many years.

The climax of the first act is extraordinary. A group of persons suddenly find they are all dead and riding on a ship across the river Styx.

The ship has only one crew-member and is sailing without lights. When one of the passengers asks the attendant whether the destination is Heaven or Hell, the answer is "Both. It's the same place, you see."

Director Del McComb has brought an excellent play to the high school stage. His actors are veterans of previous school plays and include Gary Tidwell, Eunice Freeman, Tom Guin, Rodney Shepard, Marilyn Morris, Leon Clark, J. T. Baird, Clara Freeman, and Tommy Pickle.

A technical rehearsal Tuesday had Don Shore and Nowlin James managing stage properties with Billy Gage and Bennie Compter providing the sound and special effects.

Farm Bureau Members Choose Directors, Pass Resolutions

About 400 members of the Howard County Farm Bureau, at their annual convention last night, chose eight new directors and approved two resolutions for submission at the state convention next month.

Voting for a ninth director ended in a tie. Ralph White, president, said the full board of directors probably will be asked to make a selection for the director-at-large post.

C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma, district director and vice president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, spoke at the county convention, discussing three issues which he said will have a bearing on farm income for the next few years. The issues are foreign trade, proposed amendments to state labor laws and the brackets contract with Mexico, and ad valorem taxes.

De Vaney said American farm commodity exports have dropped 30 per cent in the last three years because of trade restrictions. Neither reduced acreage nor lower prices is the answer to the problem, he said.

For every acre of cotton taken out of production in this country, 1 1/2 acres of new cotton land is put in in other countries, he declared. Exporters have estimated that American producers would have to reduce the price they receive for cotton by 15 to 20 cents per pound to get another 3,000,000 bales into the foreign market, DeVaney declared.

The Farm Bureau leader also hit at what he called subsidies American farmers are required to pay ship owners for shipment of cotton to foreign markets. Requirements that 50 per cent of cotton exports be carried on American ships costs producers heavily, he said, since it costs two to three cents more to ship on American vessels.

Efforts have been made in the last three legislatures to increase state ad valorem taxes, DeVaney said. He listed figures to show that farmers would carry the bulk of any such tax increase.

Texas collects ad valorem taxes on farm and ranch land valued at $3.5 billion — the largest single source of state tax revenue, DeVaney said. Second on the list is the $2 billion worth of city lots, with taxes paid principally by homeowners and small businessmen. Manufacturing industries, including railroads and pipelines, pay ad valorem taxes on property valued at around a half billion dollars, according to the speaker.

Resolutions adopted were one providing for substantial increases (for one year) in cotton allotments in areas hit by crop ruining disasters, and another calling for prompt payment for soil conservation practices performed under the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation program.

Frank Lovelace, chairman of the resolutions committee, said such arrangements would help the disaster-stricken farmer to help himself.

New directors named were Ellis Iden and B. M. Newton from Precinct 1; E. T. O'Daniel and Clay Reed from Precinct 2; Nell Fryar and Ross Hill from Precinct 3, and E. V. Fryar and Johnny Walker from Precinct 4. Voting for the director-at-large ended in the tie, with Frank Lovelace and Cecil Phillips each receiving 3 1/2 votes.

The new directors will join eight holdovers to form the board for the next year. The directorate will name officers.

A barbecue dinner was served prior to last night's meeting by county Home Demonstration women.

Traffic Signal Changes To Increase Speed Of Vehicles

Do you watch the traffic light at the next street corner because it is easier to see than the one at your corner?

Many Big Springers do, according to Roy Rogan, city electrician, and it works out all right under the present system of traffic lights. All the lights change at the same time and the colors are alternately red and green.

But the new system which will be installed in the early hours of Sunday morning will be different, he said. The lights will change in pairs.

For instance, on Third Street, the lights at Main and Rannels under the present system are not the same color at the same time. They are always opposite. Under the new system, the two lights will change at the same time and be the same color.

All over the city, the traffic signals will be changing in pairs. Thus, the motorist will not be able to tell for sure what the signal at his corner is by looking at the signal light at the next street.

LAMESA HAS WET SEASON

LAMESA—Rain has fallen in Lamesa every day this month. Yesterday, a total of .58 of an inch of moisture was gauged here, bringing October's aggregate to 3.06.

Tuesday's fall reportedly was fairly general over Dawson County.

Clear skies were reported throughout the county this morning, however.

service spillway level. This meant that the lake had 185,000 acre feet of water or 91 per cent of capacity.

The new catch at the rumor mill spinning again, and there were so many tales at Colorado City of an impending dam break that authorities made a special trip to the lake. Of course, they found everything in order. E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, said that closing of the dam to all but emergency traffic may have inspired some of the tales. Rains had made the road below the dam impassable so all traffic had been going over the dam. Some of it was heavy oil field equipment and had chewed through the gravel blanket and created chug holes. To prevent unnecessary wear on the dam top, Spence ordered the road closed to all but necessary traffic.

The dam will be closed entirely for two or three days as soon as the lower road is passable again. This will permit equipment to be moved in to fill up the chug holes and blade the dam top, said the manager.

Fireman Answer Two False Alarms

Firemen answered two calls Tuesday, but both of them turned out to be errors. A fire was reported at the First Methodist Church about 6:30 p.m. Firemen discovered that it was workmen using a welding torch that caused the alarm to be made.

A call out on Morrison Street in the Monticello Addition also proved to be a mistake. Persons were burning down an old shack and the fire was carefully controlled.

Missing Girls Are Reported Located

Police said this morning that 14-year-old Eva Joyce Walker and 16-year-old Helen Norajean Brewer have been located.

Apparently, both of the girls returned home the same day they were reported missing, but police were not informed about it until Tuesday.

TV's Greatest Cowardice On Topic Of Negro

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (U.P.)—On no subject does television display greater timidity than on the Negro. So it's news that two Negro performers were prominently featured on two programs within an hour on NBC-TV the other evening.

If you want to ask an embarrassing question, just inquire why you rarely see (A) Negro performers or (B) serious dramatic treatment on Negro characters. The most frequent answer you get is "fear of the Southern market."

I think this is malarkey. Furthermore, I think it's an insult to the South. I've traveled extensively in both the South and the North and I do not believe that prejudice of any sort can be measured solely in terms of geography.

Television's timidity on the subject of the Negro is not a commentary on Americans; it's simply a commentary on television. In no other field can 20 letters from 20 cranks raise such a timid turmoil.

So it was a pleasure last Sunday night to see the Colgate Variety Hour devoted half an hour of its program to the singing of the great Negro folk balladeer Harry Belafonte. It was an equal pleasure to see on the succeeding Television Playhouse an excellent drama in which a fine Negro actor, Sidney Poitier, played the lead.

The drama, entitled "A Man is Ten Feet Tall," concerned men on the waterfront. It did not concern a "Negro problem." In it a man who happened to be a Negro lived with as much dignity and courage as many men who happen to be white constantly live with dignity and courage in innumerable TV dramas.

Information on the Negro in TV with Harry Belafonte at lunch the other day, he told me: Television has recognized the Negro much faster than the theater, radio and the movies did. The chief reason, I think, is because TV has come to the fore in times when racial prejudice is decreasing.

Yet when you consider the millions of man-hours going into TV, Negro life does not have an adequate representation and could be drastically increased. There is little used of Negro technicians as well as of Negro performers.

There has not been either a great enough exposure of established Negro talent or enough opportunities for Negro newcomers.

Phone Phobias

"Who's calling?" Ugh! This expression never fails to ruffle my feathers, along with several other forms of telephone techniques.

We all have our phobias, I suppose. Mine are all phone phobias. People who ordinarily are quite polite and live in the best of taste often seem to throw Emily Post right out of the window when the telephone rings.

"Who's calling?" Ugh. Busy executives have to employ this approach and no one resents it in business, but it sounds both noisy and smug in a social call.

In the first place, what business is it of this strange voice to know who you are? Your business is with your friend. Or does your friend want to know who is calling so he can decide whether or not to be "out"? H-u-m-m.

The question is more irritating

Coahoma Eleven Badly Crippled

COAHOMA, (SC) — A badly crippled Coahoma Bulldog football team will go to Grandfalls Friday night for a practice game.

Coach Dub Behrens lost Pat Nixon, 16, a sophomore back, in a scrimmage Tuesday, most probably for the season.

Nixon, who was being converted from a guard, suffered a fractured leg when blocked downfield and was carried to a hospital in Big Spring.

Doctors said young Nixon suffered a lineal fracture and were to place his leg in a cast this morning.

He is the third Bulldog forced out of action in recent days. Gene Burris, first string tackle, sprained an ankle prior to last week's game with Roscoe and missed that game. It's doubtful he will be available against Grandfalls this week.

Harold Harrington, first string end, is favoring a bruised shoulder and it's doubtful he can play Friday. Harrington was injured in the early moments of Coahoma's game last week.

Coach Behrens' troubles are not confined to the football field. His wife recently underwent an appendectomy in Big Spring and is still hospitalized.

Dub remains in good spirits, however, and says his burdens have

Brooklyn Bums Should Be Tough Again Next Year

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Their long-cherished dream finally a reality, the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers loomed today as the team which will represent the National League in the 1956 World Series.

Walton Alston, first of 20 managers dating back to 1890 to lead the Brooklyn club to a world title, modestly predicted his team would be even stronger next year than the one which whipped the New York Yankees in the series 4 games to 2.

"Improved pitching will make us stronger," the tall, taciturn former Ohio school teacher said during a lull in the Dodgers' riotous victory celebration after their 2-0 triumph in the final game.

"Johnny Podres (who was so superb in his two victories over the Yankees) should develop into one of the game's greatest pitchers," Alston said. "He has all the stuff to make a great one and he may come into his own next year. Those World Series victories should give him the necessary confidence."

Hayworth May Start Tribe Game Against Midwestern

BOBBY HAYWORTH

ABILENE, (SC) — The McMurry College Indians are pinning no stock whatever in comparative scores as they prepare for a Saturday night date with Midwestern's Redskins at Wichita Falls.

Last week the McMurry Tribe just barely edged Sul Ross 18-12, after holding a six-touchdown advantage on the basis of comparative performances against West Texas State and a West Texas State victim.

The same West Texas State team rolled over Midwestern 34-0 last week at Canyon, after edging McMurry 6-0 the previous Saturday.

Even so, Coach Doug Cox sees his McMurry Indians as only a match for Midwestern at best.

McMurry entered the Sul Ross game last week oozing confidence, and wound up thankful for a six-point victory. That near brush with calamity had a sobering influence which should aid the McMurry cause this week against Midwestern.

Revenge psychology as well as the home-field advantage will favor the Wichita Tribe, which lost 14-7 to McMurry last autumn in Abilene. In over-all rivalry, McMurry has won 3, lost 4, and tied none.

Two of Texas' newest college coaches will match wits in the inter-tribal clash. They are Doug Cox, new chief of the McMurrys; and Dick Todd, new mentor at Midwestern.

Another factor which will influence the odds-makers for the McMurry-Midwestern encounter is returning letterman — McMurry has only 18 to match against Midwestern's 26 veterans.

For the past two weeks, McMurry's wing-T offense has been centered around the power running of little All-American candidate Eloy Payne and the speed of tailback Weldon Brevard. With Payne and Brevard in the Indians' starting backfield will probably be wingback Buddy Fornes and quarterback Bob Hayworth. Joe Bill Fox, McMurry's number-one signal selector, is still sidelined with a shoulder ailment.

Hayworth, who hails from Big Spring, scored a touchdown against Sul Ross last week.

He's carried the ball 15 times in scrimmage plays this season and gained net yardage of 58 yards for an average gain of 3.8 paces.

He's completed one of eight passes for 17 yards. One of his aerials was intercepted.

Then we have Karl Spooner, Roger Craig, Don Bessent and Sandy Koufax. All are young, strong and have shown tremendous promise. And remember, we still have our reliables such as Don Newcombe, Carl Erskine, Billy Loes, Clem Labine and others."

Alston did not mention such standout stickmen as Duke Snider, Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo. All undoubtedly will be at the old stand next year, including the aging but still brilliant Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson. Junior Gilliam, Sandy Amoros, Don Hoak and Don Zimmer, representing the younger element, all figure prominently in the Dodgers' future plans.

There's no denying that all figured prominently in the great Dodger victory of 1955 climaxed by the pulse-pounding triumph at Yankee Stadium before 62,465 spectators.

Even the staunchest American League die-hards could not begrudge Brooklyn's finest hour as they wait to be crowned the 25-year-old Podres become the first Brooklyn pitcher to win two games in a World Series. They saw the Dodgers make maximum use of their five hits and marveled at the brilliant Brooklyn defense that five times turned the Yankees back when it appeared they were about to break through.

At the finish, when Reese, the stonewall shortstop, threw out Elston Howard, the big park rocked with human emotion as the entire Dodger team raced out on the field to embrace the gritty young south-paw.

In one blazing, thrill-packed afternoon, after four decades of trying, a Dodger team finally succeeded in winning a world title, and they won it from a team which had humiliated them in five previous series.

Never before had a team won a seven-game series after dropping the first two games. Another record that brought joy to the victors was the total net receipts of $2,367,515.34, making it the richest World Series ever.

Brooklyn had to beat Tommy Byrne, the veteran southpaw who had given them a lot of trouble. They managed to drive him from the box in the sixth inning with the help of an error after scoring both runs off him.

Podres, who hails from Witherbee, N.Y., and Byrne, a resident of Wake Forest, N.C., duelled on even terms for three innings but in the fourth, Campanella crashed a double to left and scored on a two-out single by Gil Hodges.

A costly error by Yankee first baseman Bill Skowron in the sixth paved the way for the insurance run. It forced the withdrawal of Byrne, although he had given up only three hits.

Reese led off with a single. Snider sacrificed, but was safe at first when Skowron took Byrne's throw wide of the bag and dropped the ball as he made a swipe at the Duke. After Campanella had moved the runners along with another sacrifice bunt, Yankee manager Casey Stengel allowed Byrne to give Furillo an intentional pass before taking him out. Bob Grim took over on the mound and served a long sacrifice fly to Hodges, who thus drove in both Dodger runs.

It was a frustrating, fruitless afternoon for the Yankees and Stengel, who, in six World Series as a manager, went down to defeat for the first time. In every inning but the first and ninth the Yankees had threats going but could not break through.

The play of the game came in the sixth. The Yankees had runners on first and second with nobody out when catcher Yogi Berra came up. Billy Martin had opened with a walk and had gone to second on Gil McDougald's surprise punt single.

FATE PLAYED BIG HAND IN BROOKLYN VICTORY

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP) — By an irony of baseball, a pinch hitter who grounded out set the stage for the key play of the 1955 World Series.

The pinch hitter was Gene Shuba, who batted for Brooklyn Dodger second baseman Don Zimmer in the sixth inning with the bases loaded. He dribbled to Moose Skowron, who tossed in time to pitcher Bob Grim covering first and the side was retired.

This meant that Junior Gilliam came in from left field to play second base, and Sandy Amoros, the fleet Cuban, took his place in the bottom of the sixth. Billy Martin, led off by working Johnny Podres for a walk. Gil McDougald dropped a bunt down the first base line and beat it out.

With Brooklyn leading by the scant margin of 2-0, nobody out, two men on base and the series' heaviest hitter, Yogi Berra, at bat, the Dodger bullpen sprang into action and the atmosphere of Yankee Stadium became tense.

Berra is a left-handed batter, so the Dodger outfield shifted far to the right, which is sound strategy.

Then Yogi sliced a high one into the far left corner of the stadium. It looked like a double, bringing two runs across the plate. But Amoros raced at top speed. His gloved right hand extended. Here again fate favored the Dodgers, for Amoros is a left-handed thrower. Gilliam, whom he replaced, is right handed.

Amoros caught the ball on the tip of glove, wheeled and rifled a throw to Pee Wee Reese, who scooped a quick relay to Gil Hodges at first base, and McDougald was doubled — the 12th Dodger double play of the series, a new

Prairie View And Southern Joust

HOUSTON (AP) — Prairie View and Texas Southern clash here Saturday in one of the most important games of the year in the Southwestern Conference.

Prairie View, undefeated and untied this season, has been conference champion five years.

The last time the two arch rivals met was New Year's Day when Prairie View edged through 13-12.

Prairie View features the running of John Payton and the quarterbacking of Leon Brooks. Texas Southern's stars include Ernest Lang, who scored 31 touchdowns in his last year of prep school play, and Adolphus Ford, a quarterback with a great record as a passer.

The game will start at 2 p.m. with a crowd of 10,000 expected.

TO FACE OKLAHOMA

Clements Will Be Ready Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Joe Clements, Texas' passing sensation, is ready to go and the Longhorns will journey to Dallas Saturday with the idea of stomping the longest winning streak in college football—that great 21 straight owned by Oklahoma.

Clements, knocked cold early in last week's game with Southern California, has fully recovered and the Sooners may expect a shower of passes to remind them of a fellow who once set them on their ears—Bobby Layne.

Coach Ed Price of Texas said he thought his Longhorns had a chance of winning the game and that they are full of spirit and the fire of conquest despite the fact that they have lost two games out of three thus far, were going to Dallas expecting to win.

There's one thing certain: Texas will have one of the best-conditioned teams and it'll be as tough in the last half as the first.

Price said his scouts found that Oklahoma was a "typical OU ball club—a strong running team that can throw, too, if necessary." They found Tommy McDonald, the half-back who ran for two touchdowns and set up another against Pittsburgh last week, to be outstanding; quarterback Jimmy Harris and halfback Bob Burris to be most capable; and the Oklahoma line powerful.

Clements, a lanky youngster who reminds some of Sam Baugh, the famed passer of Texas Christian 20 years ago, threw 30 and completed 22 for 299 yards in his first two games. It gave him the national leadership in total offense but he lost it last week when he was able to try only one pass against Southern California.

Back when Texas was beating Oklahoma so often there was agitation for moving the game from Dallas to a home-and-home basis. Bobby Layne was the scourge of all Sooners. The year Layne finished up—1947—was the last time for Texas to beat Oklahoma except in 1951.

Bums' Record Now 17 Wins, 34 Losses

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the series:

Brooklyn's victory gave the National League two World Series winners in a row for the first time since 1924 when the St. Louis Cardinals damped the Detroit Tigers on top of the Giants' conquest of the Washington Senators the previous season.

The Dodgers now have won 17 series games and lost 32 for a .347 percentage while the Yankees' record is 74-38 for .661.

Yogi Berra wound up with the series' highest batting average. The Yankee catcher collected 10 hits in 24 at bats for .417. Duke Snider paced the Dodger regulars with .320.

There were 19 double plays for a record and Sandy Amoros was the only participating outfielder. If he didn't have his hand (or glove) in the one yesterday, there's no telling what might have happened.

Neither the Dodgers nor the Yankees scored in the ninth inning of any game.

Bovines Idle But Other Local Teams See Action

The Big Spring Steers aren't scheduled to see action this weekend but there'll be plenty of football involving other local teams. The High School B eleven takes on Snyder's powerful reserves in a game at Snyder Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring's outlook for the continuance of professional baseball can be summed up in one word. Bleak.

Pepper Martin says he's through as an independent operator in the game, and came out with such a statement after he's had time to get the 1955 season out of his system and begun to think about the future. Pepper isn't 'down' on the game here. Far from it. He thinks he got good support for the type of ball his team played—his Couden Cops were considered out of the running for a first division berth by June 15 and wound up seventh in the running.

But, he reasons, baseball has become too big an operation for one man. He thinks some sort of community enterprise would stand the best chance of succeeding here.

The outlook would be much improved here, Pepper concedes, if a new ball park could be constructed. The one which has been used here for the past eight years has about served its purpose. The fences are about to fall down. The lighting system is one of the worst in the league. The playing field is considered an "ash heap" by the players—an "ash heap" for the information of those not familiar with the term, is a most uncomplimentary term applied to rocky and uneven diamonds. The box seats are poorly arranged. The grandstand is about to fall down. Outside of that, the local park appears to be in fairly good shape, other than that the approaches to and from the parking lot wouldn't get a passing grade anywhere in the land.

Around the circuit, Midland says it will have professional baseball over there, even if the Longhorn League doesn't operate. The spokesman for the Midland people didn't elaborate but it's evident that the city will seek entry into the WT-NM League, should the Longhorn vote to disband.

Artesia found it didn't get hurt too badly and the officials out that way reportedly are ready to try it again. Stubby Greer probably won't return to Roswell but the Roswell people are very likely to re-organize and give it another try on their own. Stubby has been in Odessa looking over the situation there.

There is every indication a new park will be built in Odessa and the city will foot the bill.

Martin is telling at the local compress these days, with his busy season just ahead.

His brother, Floyd, is back in college at North Texas in Denton, where he hopes to finish next June.

Floyd, who played only part of last season due to the fact that he couldn't leave school, is majoring in personnel management and may go to work at the local Air Base after he gets his sheepskin.

The former Virginia Costello, a Latin-American girl whom Coach Arah Phillips still considers as just about her best all-around volleyball player here, recently gave birth to a baby girl in El Paso and named the newcomer after her former coach. Virginia is now Mrs. Salvador Aranda. She played volleyball ball here from 1944 through 1948 and won her letter four years running.

Texas Tech Set To Launch League Campaign Saturday

LUBBOCK, (SC) — As Texas Tech's Red Raiders launch their Border Conference title defense against Texas Western in El Paso Saturday night, their leading threat is Don Schmidt, a second stringer when practice began Sept. 1.

No. 2 left halfback behind M. C.

Cubs Meet UT Frosh Friday

WACO (SC) — Coach Bob Barfield's Baylor Cubs try for a clean sweep of their Temple series with the Texas Shorthorns this Friday night, when the two freshmen clubs meet once more on the Temple High School gridiron.

The series between the two clubs began in Temple in 1953, when Temple's famed passer, Doyle Traylor, was a Baylor freshman. The Cubs won that meeting, 19-7, then won again at Temple last fall, 21-7. Friday night's game ends the three-year contract with Temple sponsors of the game.

Coach Barfield and Line Coach Charley Driver, stymied by rain Monday, planned to spend much of the balance of the week working on pass defense, for they know that a big Shorthorn threat will be the passing of Vince Matthews.

Barfield saw Matthews throw for S. P. Austin of Houston, state AAAA finalists last year, and also for the South All-Stars, coached by Baylor Coach George Sauer in the annual all-star game in San Antonio last August, and knows what his Cubs can expect from the Shorthorn sharp shooter.

Following is a roster of the Baylor team:

Northam of Littlefield, Schmidt was switched to right half in time to start in Tech's opening 20-14 win over Texas. Now he's far out in front of Tech ball carriers with 186 yards, leading the punters with a 41.3-yard average, pacing scorers with 18 points, and averaging 30.7 yards on three kickoff returns.

Schmidt's ascendancy to stardom is no surprise to close followers of the Raiders under DeWitt Weaver. Schmidt is a graduate of Olney, the home of halfback Jim Turner, Tech starter in '51 and '52 (all-conference his last year), and Walter Bryan, regular in '53 and '54, Tech's leading halfback last season. It just follows that a halfback from Olney makes a good Tech starter.

Quarterback Jack Kirkpatrick's worth to the Raiders isn't reflected in the bare statistics. Although the Post senior guided Tech to all its points against Texas and all but seven in the Raiders' 24-6 win over Oklahoma A&M last week, he is leading only in punt returns and passing. Kirkpatrick has averaged 31 yards on three punt returns and has completed five of 37 passes for 69 yards and a touchdown. Northam paces pass receivers with three for 45 yards and one touchdown.

Four SWC Teams Are Favorites

By The Associated Press
The Southwest Conference is expected to pick up some lost ground in intersectional football this week—four of five are picked to win against outside opposition. Texas is a 7-point underdog to Oklahoma but Texas Christian is a 16-point favorite over Alabama, Southern Methodist 14 over Mississippi, Texas A&M 7 over Nebraska and Rice 7 over Clemson. In the only conference game scheduled, Baylor is a 7-point choice over Arkansas.

Bettye Mims Danoff Takes Medal In Open Tournament

FORT WORTH (AP)—Firing a five-over-par 80, pretty Bettye Mims Danoff, Dallas, the lone professional in a field of 94, won medal honors in the 59th annual Women's Texas Open Golf Tournament. Wet grounds and a stiff wind were blamed for the high scores of the players, including some of the state's top amateurs. Mrs. Danoff carded a pair of 40s to come out ahead of second-place Mrs. George Nobis, Washington, D.C., who fired an 81. Polly Riley, Fort Worth, and Pat Garner Staples, Midland, two of

Robinson Plans To Play Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson, generally recognized as baseball's greatest current competitor, said today he wants to play one more year with the Brooklyn Dodgers so he can realize his dream of rounding out a 10-year career in the major leagues. The versatile veteran, still a dangerous batter and spectacular base runner despite the wear and tear of nearly 37 years, thinks he can be useful to the Dodgers for at least another year. He expects the Brooks to win the pennant again in 1956 and is anxious to play on another world championship club.

"I would love to play another year," he said yesterday during a lull in the clubhouse celebration proceedings after the Dodgers' World Series triumph over the Yankees. "It's up to the ball club, whatever they decide. If they want me, I'll play—but not for nothing. I feel that even though I didn't have one of my best years, I still have a little bit of good baseball left in me. As I said, I want to play provided they don't cut me to death. I am going to talk to Buzzie Bavasi (Dodger vice-president) tonight or tomorrow. I want to get this thing straightened out as soon as possible."

Series' Hero Never Doubted He Could Slay The Yankees

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Hero of the 1955 World Series is a brash, 23-year-old miner's son who holds Yankee baseball power and prestige in a disdain bordering on contempt. "I think I can whip 'em seven times out of eight," Johnny Podres said yesterday after he had pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a seventh-game 3-0 victory which brought Flatbush its first world championship.

It was Podres who stopped Casey Stengel's naughty New Yorkers in the third game 8-3 after the Yankees had won the first two games. It was Podres who clinched the series yesterday with a crafty eight-hitter, cowing the big Yankee bats in the clutch.

"I never once doubted I could take 'em," the young left-hander from Witherbee, N.Y., said. "Sure, I was in a tight spot once in a while. But all I had to do was bear down."

The Yankees left eight men on base as Podres whistled his fast ones past the ears of powerhouses Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle, the latter in a pinch-hit role, and teased them with curves and change-ups.

With two men on base in the eighth and only one out, Podres made Berra fly out to right field and Bauer swing for a third strike on a bad pitch—high and outside. If the odds were long that the

Bovine Drills Again Stopped

Rain again chased the Big Spring Steers to cover Tuesday afternoon but not before the boys had gone through two hours of workouts.

The Longhorns are not scheduled to play this weekend. However, they are trying to get ready for the invasion of the undefeated Levelland Lobos, who come here for a conference game the night of Oct. 14.

The afternoon was dedicated to scrimmaging and perfection of plays the locals will employ against the Lobos.

The Steers have been showing good enthusiasm in their workouts and seem to have renewed confidence in themselves following their 33-7 victory over Palo Duro last weekend.

Jerry Barron, diminutive half-back, glistened in Tuesday's workout by picking up some fine yardage from time to time. Johnny Janak, Stormy Edwards and Charley Johnson also ripped off good yardage on occasions.

More of the same type of work is on tap for today and coaches hope to put in a full afternoon of it. Coach Carl Coleman himself will probably scout the Lobos this weekend against Palo Duro. Levelland is heavily favored to topple the Dons.

Boys Admit Art Objects Theft; Three Are Returned

NEW YORK (AP)—Police today recovered three of the missing eight priceless silver figurines stolen from the Brooklyn Museum Saturday. They described the theft as the devilry of two teen-age cousins.

The boys didn't realize what they had done, police said, until they read about it in the newspapers.

Frightened, they scattered the tiny sculptures around the housing project where they live.

Later, one of the cousins returned two of the art pieces. A third one was found by a woman in a nearby gutter.

The boys said they threw a fourth one, a ram's figure, down a sewer, because they didn't like it.

Angelo Couple To Test Budget

SAN ANGELO (AP)—The experts said they could so a San Angelo couple is going to try to eat on $8.56 a week.

In fact, Airman and Mrs. Burdick Myre are even going to try to beat the figures announced by nutritionists at the Utah Experiment Station.

The Myres were from Madison, Wis., before the 6-foot-3-inch airman was assigned to Goodfellow AFB here.

Mrs. Myres, pretty and only 5 feet tall, is serious about the low-budget plan. As the Utah experts suggested, she is making a close study of food store bargains.

She will be allowed to use staples already on hand such as flour, sugar, cornmeal and seasonings. All other foods, including bread, meat, vegetables and dairy products, must come out of the weekly $8.56—or less, if they can make it on less.

Myres is wistful about giving up his nightly half-jar of peanut butter but thinks he will make it. Mrs. Myres thinks her biggest problem will be keeping her husband from nibbling snacks at the base.

Mrs. Myres, who is employed in the San Angelo Standard-Times classified ad department, announced her first day's menu: For breakfast, orange juice, cereal with milk and coffee. For lunch, ham and tomato sandwich, raspberry jello with bananas and ice tea. For dinner, pot roast, mashed potatoes, corn and lime jello with carrots.
