First Case Encephalitis Reported at Lake Leon, But No Epidemic Likely

First known recent case of encephalitis — or "sleeping sickness" — in Eastland County was reported over the weekend.

Mrs. James B. Krantz of Lake Leon was taken to Eastland Memorial Hospital Saturday, a victim of the disease in very early stages.

She is the former Miss Janice Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Page of Ranger. Her condition is reported as steadily improving and physicians are of the opinion that she will recover rapidly.

Dr. W. P. Watkins, Ranger city health officer, said Monday that "precautions to prevent and eradicate mosquitoes should be taken by area and county residents. All containers and trash cans should be covered so they won't retain stagnant water — common breeding place of the mosquito."

Commenting on the possibility of an epidemic of encephalitis breaking out in this area — such as the outbreak reported in the Houston vicinity along the Gulf Coast — Dr. Watkins said: "At this time it is very improbable that such an epidemic will strike here. Nevertheless," he added, "residents should be vigilant in eliminating possible breeding places for mosquitoes, some of which may carry the disease."

Although recent downpours cut down the number of mosquitoes in the air, standing water from the rains provides new breeding places, and in a few days there'll likely be more of the insect pests.

The disease is not contagious in that it may be transmitted directly from one person to another. But it is spread by the female culex mosquitoes which carry the St. Louis encephalitis virus. They receive the virus from biting birds or reptiles which are infected, passing it on to all persons whom they happen to bite.

Most of the persons infected will suffer no ill effects or will become only mildly sick, but in some cases the disease produces severe illness or death. Many cases are at first diagnosed as aseptic meningitis, which is similar to, but not as severe as encephalitis.

Grid Prospect Preview Program For Lions Club

"We're not going to be whipped this year — 'course, we might lose a ballgame or two!"

That was the word from the Eastland High School coaching staff as they sized up this season's team as program for the Eastland Lion's Club Tuesday.

Guest speakers were Head Coach Millard Glass, Backfield Coach Denson Moody and Line Coach Harold Price. Jim Parks was program chairman and introduced the coaching staff.

"Desire" was the one item listed by each coach, as the team's biggest asset this year. "We may not have the size or the speed, but we do have the desire to play ball," Coach Glass said.

Even though three backs were graduated last year, Coach Moody said, the backfield this year is in good condition and has been improving daily.

We'll have four lettermen on the line, Coach Price pointed out in sizing up his line. "Right now we're proud of all our linemen, but we're really 'proud' of five of them," he joked.

Glass sized up the opposition like this: Albany, toughest; Dublin, next toughest; and Ranger, a question mark. Guests were Herman and Vernon Gregory, brothers of Truitt Gregory; Bill White, formerly of Eastland and now of Houston; David Whittington; and John Elliott of Grand Prairie.

Local Woman's Nephew Dies

Mrs. Hattie Baker received word Tuesday evening of the death of her nephew, Mr. Mark Boren, 49.

Other survivors include his wife, two brothers and one sister.

Revival Continues At Bethel Baptist

Rev. H. B. Terry, Jr., pastor, extends a cordial welcome to the public to attend the services.

IN CHARGE OF CHEER—These six misses are in charge of the good cheer department for the Eastland Mavericks this year and are soliciting the active support of every loyal Maverick fan to generate the "spirit for the team". From left the ladies are Sue Underwood, sophomore cheerleader; Sherry Butler, junior; Sharon Sayre, head cheerleader; Julie Elrod, senior; and Kathy Kincaid, freshman. C-C Directors Meet Thursday For Business Reports on projects and studies will be part of business when the Eastland chamber of commerce directors meet Thursday at noon at the White Elephant, President James Smith said.

Reports will be heard on a study of campsite development at Lake Ringing and at Lake Cisco by Director A. D. Taylor. At the last directors' meeting it was discussed briefly, when it was pointed out how important is the "self-contained" camping tourists now, and the importance of providing locations for such visitors to camp.

It was suggested by directors, and later by citizens in entries to the chamber's tourist contest, that development of camping sites would be important to luring tourists off Int. 20 and into the area for a visit.

Other business will include a report by Don Viereger, chairman of the chamber's special events committee, on a membership breakfast.

Frank Deaton will also report on the chamber's current Tourist of the Month program.

New business will include discussion of the chamber's entry of a float in the forthcoming Peanut Bowl parade, and the purchase of a duplicating machine.

Local Woman's Brother Dies In Arkansas

James B. Nunn, brother of Mrs. Donald Kinnaird, Sr., died suddenly Tuesday morning in Camden, Arkansas. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday (today) in Camden.

Mr. Nunn was labor relations director for International Paper Company. He was a former resident of Eastland and attended Eastland High School.

His survivors include his wife, Alice, and a daughter, Betty Jo. Mr. and Mrs. Kinnaird have gone to Arkansas for the funeral services.

Masons to Confer Master Degrees

Eastland Lodge No. 467, AF&AM, will confer two Master Mason degrees Friday at 7 p.m. at the lodge, it has been announced.

All master masons are invited, it was reported by L. E. Huckabay, secretary.

Classes Tuesday

School Registration Friday 8 a.m. 'til Noon

Eastland Public School students in grades two through eight will register from 8 a.m. 'til 12 noon, Friday, August 28 for the 1964-65 school year.

Students in grades two through six will register in the new elementary school building and those in grades seven and eight will register at the Junior High building.

First grade registration was completed at the school business office on August 15 with 79 first graders registered. The first grade will be divided into three sections, with grouping to be done by age. Superintendent Wendell Siebert said. If there are those with first graders who have moved to Eastland since the completion of the registration of August 15, they are urged to register their child as soon as possible at the school business office. The child must have a birth certificate and a smallpox vaccination certificate when they register.

A total of 235 high school students were registered in the spring and any high school student who was not registered at that time should register at the school office prior to the opening of school, Principal Charles Marshall has announced.

6 Games On Tap For J-High Team

The Eastland Junior High football team has been scheduled for six games this coming season.

The games include two each with Cisco, Ranger, and Clyde. The team will be coached this year by Kenneth Norris, and the three high school coaches.

The team will be made up of the seventh and the eighth grade boys.

Marcus Bassett of Haynes City, Florida visited last week with Mr. and Mrs. Benn Bassett. He is the nephew of Mr. Bassett.

BREAD of Life

And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love. Corinthians 13:13.

All things change He Changeth not. Nor e'er forgets, though oft forgot; His love's unchangeably the same. And as enduring as His name.

Local Post Office Air Conditioning Okayed by GSA

Air conditioning of the Eastland post office in an estimated $60,000 project has been approved by the General Services Administration, according to a telegraphed report from Cong. Omar Burleson.

Bid opening date for the project has been set for Sept. 24. Postmaster Marene Johnson said, in announcing that plans and specifications will be posted on the bulletin board at the post office as soon as they are available.

The GSA report stated that bids would be solicited after Aug. 27.

Modernization of the Eastland postal facilities are in line with the improved mail-handling systems such as the use of the Zip code and sectional centers, Mrs. Johnson pointed out.

Bids have already been opened and contract let for lighting improvements and other repairs, she said. Robert Hanna of DeSota is contractor for this work, and will begin work as soon as all the equipment is delivered here.

A "Face-lifting" of the interior service area is among the plans and will include the remodeling of the window areas.

The air conditioning of the building of Eastland's Class A postal facility has been a prospective project for the past six years and will be of benefit in comfort and convenience for both postal employees and patrons.

Cooling of the building has been needed, it is reported, with certain areas of the building, particularly the west loading dock area registering as high as 120 during the hot weather this summer.

Already one of Eastland's finest showpieces thanks to the flag bed and stamps mural, created by Mrs. Johnson.

DRIVE-IN JEST for fun

A visitor looked dotingly at the little boy of the house and said to the mother, "You know, he has your mouth."

And the mother said softly, "And his father's chin and eyes."

"Yeah," spoke up the lad, "and my brother's trousers."

the post office will, with the addition of air conditioning and certain other modernization, be an outstanding example of attractive government facility.

County Farms Yield $7,425,000 in 1963

For Eastland County's farm population, 1963 proved to be a better year, by and large, than it was for farmers in many parts of the country.

Although some local operators barely held their own in the year, others, especially those with well-equipped, commercial-size farms, ended up on the plus side.

They were able to raise more livestock and produce a larger volume of crops than before, despite the smaller amount of land under cultivation.

Much of this gain was offset, however, by the drop in prices for farm products and cattle.

Details on the year's operations, for the local area and for all other sections of the United States, are contained in the annual survey report released by the Standard Rate and Data Service.

It shows that Eastland County farmers accounted for gross revenues of $7,425,000 in 1963. This is a gross figure — before taxes and before deductions for operating costs. Included in it are the cash proceeds from farm marketings, Government payments and "income in kind," which is the value of products grown and consumed on the farm.

An estimated 30 percent of the income from the marketing of farm goods came from the sale of livestock, poultry and dairy products.

While the average American farmer has been able to boost his production and thereby increase his gross receipts, he has not succeeded in turning this gain into added net income. The price squeeze has been against him.

As a result, he has failed to share in the prosperity enjoyed by the country as a whole. Only because there are fewer farmers than before to share in the income has per capita earnings gone up.

For the farm population of Eastland County, the gross income, $7,425,000, was at the rate of $2,183 per capita.

Despite the difficulties connected with farming, it continues to be the nation's largest single industry, providing jobs for more than 6,500,000 people.

Gross income from farming and ranching in the year amounted to over $41 billion.

Eastland C-C Working On County Count

The Eastland Chamber of Commerce would appreciate help in "guess-timating" the populations of the various incorporated and unincorporated towns in the county. Such information is valuable for inclusion in information about the county, President James Smith said, and is another of the valuable tools the chamber uses to interest others, including industry, in settling here.

The 1960 census figures for all areas in the county are given below, and a post card from persons in these areas now, explaining any changes, up or down, will certainly be appreciated, he said. The information will be passed on for use in the Texas Almanac. According to the 1960 census the population was:
Bluff Branch, 10; Bullock, 10; Carbon, 299; Chaney, 24; Cisco, 4,545; Cook, 25; Corinth, 10; Desdemona, 198; Dothan, 10; Eastland, 3,342; Flatwoods, 25; Germania Settlement, 25; Gorman, 990; Kokomo, 25; Lake Cisco, 50; Lake Leon, 100; Long Branch, 10; Mangum, 10; Merriam, 10; Mitchell, 10; Morton Valley, 25; Mountain Top, 10; Nimrod, 25; Okra, 10; Olden, 200; Pioneer, 35; Pleasant Hill, 10; Pueblo, 25; Punkin Center, 10; Ranger, 3,363; Rising Star 916; Romney, 16; Sabanno, 11; Seranton, 60; Staff, 51; and Union Center, 24.

CB Jamboree To Have Hundreds To Represent For Two-Day Meet

The big second annual Ten-Ten CB Club-sponsored "Jamboree" will be staged in Ranger on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 5-6.

Several hundred owners and operators of the increasingly popular citizens' band short-wave sets — base and mobile units, many of them used for business and professional purposes — will attend the two-day meeting, Ed Black of Ranger, president of the Eastland County Ten-Ten CB Club, said Friday.

Highlights of the two-day "Jamboree," he added, will include:

A barbecue at the National Guard Armory, U. S. Highway 80 west, to be catered by Ranger Frozen Food Center, owned and operated by Mayor Morris Newham.
Displays and exhibits of citizens' band equipment. Short wave units valued at $15,000 or more will be shown, Black said.

A Look at the Aborigines In Remote Australia Bush

By JOSEPH PERKINS

More About Alice Springs While eating breakfast the morning after my arrival in Alice Springs, a gentleman sitting at my table got into conversation with me, as often happens in Australia.

He is with a large contracting and engineering firm and came in the night before in the company's private plane from Darwin. In a little while he asked me what I had planned for the day, and I told him I intended to visit one of the settlements of the aborigines.

He then asked if I would like to join him and other company men in a short flight to Ayers Rock, one of the great tourist attractions of the region. I could not refuse such a wonderful opportunity and at 10 a.m. seven of us left the airport in a fine new Beechcraft capable of carrying eight.

My new friend introduced me to the others and in about an hour and a half we had flown roughly three hundred miles to the great red granite monolith, said to be the largest in the world.

The part above ground is shaped like a loaf of French bread and rises to a height of 1,148 feet above the surrounding level plain. There is no telling how large it may be underground. The distance around its base is 5 1/2 miles. At places there are caves where the aborigines have left rude paintings of men and animals.

After landing at a nearby air-strip we were met by a bus of the Broomerang Tours and taken for the seven-mile drive around the rock and back to a refreshment center where we all had cool drinks, as the weather was dry and very warm.

Soon we were in the air again flying at 6,000 feet over the desert with its dark ridge-winding stream beds and dried up lakes. This central Australian desert, unlike those in the United States, has no cacti. At 1:30 p.m. we were back in Alice Springs after a wonderful and exciting trip.

That afternoon I hired a taxi and was driven eight miles to the Amoonguna Settlement where about 500 aborigines live. In northern territory there are about 17,000 aborigines and they are increasing in number. Most of them are wards of the state and all are citizens. All can get assistance from the state as well as medical care whenever it is needed, and the state is doing a good job of caring for these rather backward, but deserving people. They are restricted regarding liquor and firearms, but are privileged to help themselves to all wild game and firewood everywhere.

There are 13 government settlements in northern Territory, and also 14 Christian missions. At the Amoonguna Settlement, I was escorted about and given a chance to see the school, hospital, mess hall, workhous, vegetable gardens and all of the facilities for the care and convenience of these wards.

The houses are all made of sheet iron. Wooden houses were not suitable because they were soon torn apart and the wood was used for firewood. Every effort is being made to give the children something of an education and to teach them to work and earn a living.

Many have advanced in civilized ways and work in Alice Springs and are earning wages. They are very poor at farming, but are much better with horses, cattle and ranch work. Men over 65 get pensions, and women over 60 do.

There is a weekly picture show at the Settlement and cowboy and wild west pictures are the kind preferred. Young girls are encouraged to join an Aboriginal group of Girl Guides, which correspond to our Girl Scouts.

The young man who served as my guide certainly is a dedicated man! He has a firm belief that he is making some progress with these irresponsible people. He has one tough problem that worries him constantly and adds greatly to his work. It is the habit of the aborigines to take a name, use it for awhile and discard it for another that seems more attractive. Thus Marc Smith may soon be Violet West, and Roy Timbers may become John Teacake. Such is the life of a social worker in Northern Territory!

Note: You recall that Brother Paul was lost for days after driving away from Alice Springs about ten days ago. His car broke down on the Jack Arrington Is President Of Insurance Co.

Ben Hamner resigned as the president of Hammer Life Insurance Co. this week after serving for 42 years as head of the Eastland company.

Bill Arrington was elected president to replace Hamner during a board of directors meeting Tuesday. Arrington has recently come to Eastland and joined a corporation that owns the Hammer Funeral Home and other holdings.

Hammer Life Insurance Co. was organized in 1922 and has paid over $300,000 in claims since that time, a company spokesman said.

In other board action, Frank Sparks resigned as a director and was replaced on the board by Bill Angus.

Mrs. Arrington was elected vice president. Dale Bakker, also a director, is secretary of the firm. Ray Laney is the one holdover director.

Mr. Hamner will continue to be active both in the insurance and funeral home businesses, he said, to help assist Eastland County patrons.

Odessa Man Winner In Old Rip Drawing

An Odessa resident, Jimmy Johnson, walked away with the top money in the Old Rip Scrip drawing held Saturday in Eastland. He won the $50 prize in Old Rip Scrip with a ticket from Earl Bender & Co.

Mrs. Bill Bass of Eastland, with a ticket from Safeway, won $30 in Old Rip Scrip; and $10 each was won by J. H. Windland of Eastland, with a ticket from Super Save, and Mrs. Waverly Massengale of Eastland, with a ticket from Perkins Implement Co.

A larger crowd was in attendance for the Saturday drawing as compared to the past three or four drawings, probably due to the cooler weather, a spokesman said.

The Old Rip Scrip Drawing is sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and Chamber members participate by giving their customers tickets for the drawing when they purchase merchandise at their place of business. The participating merchants redeem the Old Rip Scrip at the Chamber of Commerce office. The Scrip is redeemable in merchandise at any of the participating merchants and may be used only in Eastland.

A large number of Eastland shoppers have been lucky winners of the Scrip since the drawings began in March.

The next drawing will be held Saturday, September 5, at 2 p.m. on the West Side of the Square in Eastland. There will be $100 given away in four separate drawings, one will be for a $50 certificate, one for $30; and two for $10 certificates.

Shoppers may deposit their ticket stubs in the barrel which is located until next drawing day at the Eastland Drug.

1965 Wheat Program Will Remain Same As Past Year

The 1965 voluntary wheat program in general will operate about the same as the 1964-crop program, E. E. Blackwell, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Eastland County Committee, has announced.

While some program provisions have been modified for 1965, he said, participating farmers can get about the same returns as from the 1964 program. Some farmers may get more by using new options that will enable many producers to adapt the program more closely to their farming operations.

The principal changes, compared with 1964-program provisions, are:

1. Domestic certificates will be worth 75 cents per bushel (were 70 cents), and export certificates will be worth 30 cents per bushel (were 25 cents).
2. Price support national average loan rate will be $1.25 per bushel (was $1.30).
3. Program participants can qualify for domestic certificates on as much as 45 per cent and export certificates on as much as 35 per cent of the normal production from their allotment (were 45 per cent

4. Wheat and feed grain, including oats and rye, acreage substitution will be possible. (There was no provision for substitution in the 1964 program).
5. If the grower underplants his 1965 wheat allotment by at least 10 per cent and devotes those acres to an approved conserving use — in addition to the 11.11 per cent minimum diversion — payment on such additional acres diverted to conserving use. Maximum diversion for payment can be 20 per cent of the allotment or enough additional acreage within the allotment to make a total of 15 acres. No payment will be made for diverting to an approved conserving use the minimum diverted acreage, equal to 11.11 per cent of the 1965 allotment. (Payment in 1964 was at 20 per cent for all acres diverted to conserving use.)

6. A producer can qualify for loans and certificates even though he exceeds his acreage allotment by not more than 50 per cent on any farm in which he has an interest if he stores the wheat from the excess acreage under bond and carries out conserving-use requirements of the program. (This provision was not included in the 1964 program.)

The chairman pointed out that the sign-up for the 1965 wheat program in predominantly winter wheat areas will be held in the ASCS county office from August 24 through October 2.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

AUSTIN — Anyone who is under the impression that glue sniffing gives a fellow a few harmless kicks is sadly mistaken.

Serious damage can be caused by the solvents in glues. Exactly how serious or extensive the damage can be is not yet known.

But it is a fact that nine recent deaths are attributed to this practice. Six of these involved glue sniffing while the victim's head was covered with a plastic bag.

Some of the "sniffing" symptoms reported to poison control centers ranged from headache, dizziness and breathlessness to intoxication, unconsciousness, blurred vision and paleness.

Apart from the physical injury produced by the inhalation of the solvents from glues, incalculable harm can be done while youngsters are

One youngster described his sensations: "I saw two of everything, and everything far away looked real near. I had noise in my ears like a fire-cracker going off, and then I blacked out."

One boy in his early teens was so exhilarated by glue sniffing that he assumed a fighting stance before an oncoming freight train, narrowly escaping death.

A 12-year-old who had never been known to steal, robbed a florist shop while under the influence of glue. Another young glue-sniffer jumped off a low building, convinced he could fly.

Inevitably, the question must be asked: What can be done? Some local jurisdictions have passed legislation aimed at combating the problem. Researchers are searching for a method of eliminating toxic vapors and thereby eliminating the glue-sniffing practice.

Unfortunately there seems to be no single simple answer.

Recommendations from the National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers include advising parents and children as to the potential risk of sniffing, making glues and related substances less available in self-service stores, and substituting less toxic ingredients in glue products.

It is important not to consider glue sniffing as amusing nonsense. A little sniffing may cause serious consequences.

AUSTIN — All available money and manpower of the Texas Water Commission is being dedicated to a long-range state water master plan.

Gov. John Connally authorized the agency to transfer money already appropriated by the Legislature for other purposes. Existing state plans, in Connally's opinion, "fall short of satisfying the water needs for all of Texas."

In 1961, the Commission produced a plan for meeting Texas water needs to the year 1980.

Both the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, are coming up with their own long-range plans covering parts of Texas. They propose diversion of water from surplus areas like the Sabine to water-shy areas like the Nueces.

Connally said the federal government is considering a water pollution control bill which would supplant state authority in the field.

He urged the Commission to explore "all reasonable alternatives," including those contained in preliminary reports of U.S. Agencies.

The Governor indicated he will authorize other state agencies to cooperate in the crash program. He also pledged his help in any way possible and to recommend to the Legislature "necessary funds to fulfill this important responsibility."

Pressure from prosecuting attorneys is beginning to sift through legislative candidates who are being urged to pass a gun registration law during the 1965 session in an attempt to reduce the crime rate and help police solve crimes.

Latest of the recommendations along this line comes from Dallas' District Attorney Henry Wade. Gun registration is on the list of the most controversial issues a legislature can tackle and proposals on the subject frequently are skirted.

About 500 individual letters and 39 petitions bearing some 3,398 signatures concerning three high school biology books have been received by Governor Connally, Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar, and the State Board of Education.

And more are arriving every day. Most protestors claim three of the eight biology books being considered for public school adoption by the State Textbooks Committee have "an excessive amount of evolution in them."

All letters and petitions are being filed for the State Textbooks Committee to review, since Connally, Edgar and the State Board have no say on Textbooks selection.

The 15-member committee has the task of picking five books each in 18 subjects from the 220 books under consideration. Public then will have an opportunity to make formal complaints about the biology texts, as well as any others which are considered "objectionable," before the committee's selection list is submitted to individual school districts.

Some 23 counties now qualify for drought aid under two federal programs.

Eligible for emergency loans through the Farmers Home Administration are Brazoria, Dallam, Dawson, Falls, Gonzales, Hardin, Hartley, Jefferson, Lavaca, Navarro, Wharton and Wilson counties.

Eligible for haying and grazing privileges until October 31 under a U.S. Agriculture Department program are Collin, Dallas, Doney, Eastland, Freestone, Jones, Rockwall, Rusk, San Augustine, Scurry, and Taylor counties.

A Texas State Teachers Association spokesman last week suggested the Legislature raise additional funds for education through increasing the sales tax rate or removing present exemptions.

L. P. Sturgeon, TSTA public relations director, said a half cent increase would raise $50,000,000 a year and an across-the-board amendment another $61,000,000. TSTA is driving for a $5 a month increase in teachers' pay.

BROWSING with BEV.....

By BEVERLEY NICHOLSON
Eastland County Home Demonstration Agent

There are many different types of velvet, but all are described as a "pile construction." Some imported types are described as having raised and flat figured sections produced by weaving on a Jacquard loom. The background fabric may be satin, twill or plain weave.

Velvets also may be classed as to the type of pile — the V-type and the W-type. In the V-type, the pile goes under only one warp yarn; while in the latter type, the pile goes under and over two warp yarns and is more firmly locked into place.

Terms used to describe various types of velvet may be of interest to consumers. Here are some of them:

Silk velvet — silk background weave, silk pile.

Cotton-backed velvet — cotton background weave, silk or synthetic fibers in the pile.

Chiffon velvet — a lightweight soft velvet with a short, thick pile. When held to the light, it's transparent. Hence, the name chiffon.

Brocade velvet — sometimes called faconne velvet, it is a fabric woven like others from velvets, then chemicals are applied in the desired pattern to the back of the fabric.

Crusheq velvet — fabric is placed between rollers and heat, and moisture and pressure are applied. The pile is not pressed in one direction, and there is a variation of reflection of the pile, creating a mixed effect.

Embossed velvet — also known as sculptured velvet. In making this fabric, areas of the pattern that are to stand higher are first laid flat, then the fabric is sheared to a lower height. The fabric is then steamed to raise the pile that has been flattened so that it stands higher than the sheared part of the design.

Moireed velvet — the fabric is passed through rollers that are engraved with a design. In the presence of heat, pressure and moisture, the design is transferred to the fabric.

Velvet with metallic yarns — metallic yarns are woven into the velvet construction to create an unusual all-over effect.

Laminated velvet — fabrics intended for use in coats are sometimes laminated to urethane foam. This type of velvet is found in rainwear, coats, theatre coats and other special garments.

Eastland Co. Home Dem. Agent You can judge a cantaloupe by the way it smells and the way it looks. Don't rely on how it feels or how it sounds. Feeling the blossom end of a melon to find out if it's ready to eat is not always a good test. If you're the first one to do it, that's all right. But what if a few other shoppers have made the touch test before you?

The same thing is true about shaking a melon to see if the seeds are loose — another sign of ripeness. The seeds may rattle because so many other people already have given it a shake.

The most reliable way to get a good cantaloupe is by smell and sight.

Look at the netting. It should be coarse, corky and well-defined, and the color underneath the netting should be turning from green to yellow. Look at the stem end. There should be a slightly sunken, smooth, well-cauloused scar.

Smell the melon. If it smells good, it should taste the same.

Chiggers can be controlled by spraying. But often it's hard to tell where to spray. These mites are so small they are not easily seen. And often the bites are not felt until several hours after you've picked them up.

Here's a tricky way to locate chigger-infested areas. Place a piece of black cardboard or construction paper edgewise on the ground, or lean it against a tuft of grass, or fallen branch where you suspect there might be chiggers. Watch it carefully for a few minutes. If you see small orangeish or pinkish mites moving rapidly across the paper and accumulating on the upper edge, you've found them.

Now spray!

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICIAL CLEARS MISUNDERSTANDING

Over the years three major misconceptions have arisen here and there concerning social security financing, according to R. R. Tuley, Jr., district manager of the Social Security Administration in Abilene.

Tuley lists the most common of these as the belief that the social security trust funds are "in the red." In the opinion of such believer, the social security program is bankrupt and there won't be enough money to pay off when many of these working today reach retirement age.

"These critics," Tuley said, "base their assertion on the fact that we do not operate on a 'full-reserve' basis like private insurance companies do."

Tuley pointed out that private insurance must be ready to pay off 100 per cent on the dollar if they should cease to operate. No such total reserve is required under the social security program, because social security is a non-voluntary program for coverage of future as well as present generations of workers.

The program is thus guaranteed new entrants year after year. Therefore, the social security program does not need a 100 per cent reserve because it is assured permanent income from those who work for a living.

"A second misconception," he stated, "is that the social security program always pays out more than it takes in. Here again it is implied that the social security program is slowly going broke and won't be able to meet future com-mittments." He added, "This is simply not true. It is true that for short periods of time the expenditures exceeded the receipts. But this is a temporary condition due primarily to expanding the program. The point the critics miss is that the social security law has provided for a higher tax scale at specified times to assure its solvency."

The third misconception, cited by Tuley, is that the payment of full scale benefits to people who have worked under social security only a short time is financially dangerous. Here the critics fail to understand the basic concept of social legislation, he said.

Tuley explained that social security was born during the depression of the 30's. A primary concern at that time was to get purchasing power into the hands of the older people who were the first thrown out of work and would be the last rehired. Over the long pull, social security was intended to compensate for loss of earning power due to old-age, death or disability.

Browning Is Queen For Year

Browning will be crowned as the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kathy began her reign over county Farm Bureau activities Thursday evening at the City Park in Eastland when she was chosen from a covey of beautiful county girls for the title.

KATHY BROWNING

Joe Bob Browning, Rt. 1, Gorman, Queen Kathy replaces Susan Griffin, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Griffin Jr. of Carbon, who has reigned for the past year.

The queen contest was held in conjunction with the Bureau's annual barbecue and the event held under a cloudy, cool sky attracted some 200 people.

First runnerup was Glenda Jordan, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn O. Jordan, Rt. 1, Gorman.

Kathy will be a junior this fall at Gorman High School, where she played basketball in her freshman and sophomore years. She is a member of FHA, and was reporter her sophomore year and elected to the same office for the coming year. She belongs to the Rock Bluff Baptist Church and is pianist for that church.

County Bureau President, Jack Cozart presided and introduced James Wright as master of ceremonies. Wright presented and talked with each entrant as she appeared on the beautifully-decorated outdoor stage adjacent to the barbecue area. All queen entries appeared in evening wear and talked briefly on the subject, "Why I'm glad my family belongs to the Farm Bureau."

Other entries were Carolyn Key, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Key of Eastland; Betty Easter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Easter, Cisco; Ruby Wende, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Wende, Cisco; and Sharon Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Ranger; and Judy Pippen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pippen, Cisco.

The Rev. H. B. Terry, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church, gave the invocation. Guests included B. J. Gist of Abilene, state FB director from this District 7 and Ed Cumbly, area field director, from Bronte.

Escorts for the queen hopefuls were Ronny Yeager and Larry Slatton.

ORGAN IN CONVENTION HALL IS DESCRIBED BY CISCOAN

By WINIFRED FISHER HITTSON

The largest organ in the world is in convention hall at Atlantic City, scene of the National Democratic Convention which opened August 24. It is the only console in history to have seven manuals and also twelve portable keyboards.

The largest console contains 1477 stop controls, 1250 stop tablets and 933 speaking stops. There are 220 combination pistons and canels. The wiring in the connections between the pipes and this console could circle the earth five and one half times at the equator.

It takes eight large rooms to house the over 33000 speaking pipes in the organ and another twelve rooms to accommodate the electrical and mechanical devices. Wind for the pipes is supplied by eight motors with a combined output of 395 horsepower. These motors can supply 36,400 cubic feet of air per minute at anywhere from 3 1/2 inch to 100 inch pressure.

The organ includes the following departments: pedal organ, great, grand great solo, woodwind, great ancillary, swell, choir, un-enclosed choir, grand choir, swell ancillary, brass chorus, fanfare, echo, three distinct string organs, four gallery organs and a percussion division.

The total number of speaking pipes is 33,112 and the range from the 64 foot low C of the diaphone profunda stop to a pipe whose speaking length is about 1/4 inch. Where most organs have no, or at the most one, 32 foot stop, the Convention Hall organ has 10 such stops in addition to the 64 foot diaphone profunda. The low C mentioned above is the largest organ pipe in the world, is made of Oregon fir three inches thick, and the pipe tapers from a 10 inch square at its base to a 36 inch square at the top.

This tremendous instrument, in a room seating 41,000 people, was designed by Emerson L. Richards of Atlantic City, later State Senator, deputy attorney general of the State of New Jersey, and for several months in 1933 served as acting governor. The organ required four years to build, having been completed in 1932, and many of the large pipes were built right in Convention Hall by Midmer-Losh, Inc., organ builders of Merrick, Long Island.

A total of 225,000 board feet of lumber was used to construct the organ estimated to have cost nearly half a million dollars to build. Metal pipes are made of tin, lead, zinc and brass.

Miss Lois Miller, official organist at Convention Hall for the past twenty three years, will be at the console during the Democratic Convention. She plays annually for an estimated 150,000 to 200,000 conventioners and at such special events as the Miss America Pageant.

VALUES FOR MODERN HOMES

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I will not be responsible for any debts other than made by me. I am not married and never have been. I am innocent of the accusation against me. P.F.C. Lonnie Joe Basham, U.S.M.C.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In as much as two property owners are threatening all except myself, who go across their land with the law, I am asking all who have loved ones in the cemetery on my land and all that have bought land from me to come to my house and sign a petition to have the county commissioners court to open a road on section lines that goes across the property in question. Everyone interested in seeing justice done, may also sign.

W. E. HALLENBECK

It's Almost Unbelievable —

... but statisticians tell us that we Americans go more places in our cars and trucks nowadays than ever before, with an increase of 30 million vehicles since 1954. Every extra mile is a hazard and the chance for another accident. So far 1964 promises to be the Big Daddy of them all! Since the driving public determines the insurance rates it must pay, higher rates are inevitable. Better begin revising your budget now to include the high cost of driving in modern '64.
