Expected to Be Revenue Chief

Robert H. Gore, above, is expected to be named commissioner of internal revenue in the new administration. Gore, a Chicagoan, was with Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago at Miami when an assassin's bullet wounded the mayor.

Oil Operators of This Section Form An Organization

All independent oil operators and owners in Eastland county are expected to join the new West Central Texas Oil & Gas association, which has just been organized by 10 operators in the district representing 16 counties, at a meeting recently held at Breckenridge. The counties represented in the district are: Eastland, South Young, Shackelford, Stephens, Taylor, Brown, Jones, Fisher, Coleman, Callahan, Burnell, Throckmorton, Comanche, Erath, Haskell and Palo Pinto.

The organization is destined to protect the interests of the producers and royalty owners in the district and it was decided not to affiliate with any other oil or gas association. Following officers and directors were elected at the first meeting: J. D. Sandifer Jr., president; Marshall R. Young, vice president; W. D. Gulley, vice president; Floyd W. Holder, secretary-treasurer. Directors selected from each county in the entire district were elected and are as follows: Bob Lindsey, Bob Windforf, J. E. Lewis, W. D. Conaway, W. W. Wallace, George Callahan, James B. Dunigan, C. M. Caldwell, George Lamb, E. P. Green, Jack B. Robert, W. J. Rhodes, Leon Shields, M. C. Chapman, O'Donnell, Matt Grisham, Tom Bryant, Hugh V. Smith, E. M. Meutray, A. H. Rhodes, C. W. Hoffman, George Dickie, W. E. Lowe, Will Clay, C. K. West, and M. E. Daniel.

Those who made talks at the first meeting were: Jack Lewis, W. D. Conaway, and J. A. Bearman of Eastland county; W. D. Gulley, Brown County; Leon Shields and Jack Shaffer of Coleman county; W. A. Nelson of Palo Pinto county; George Callahan and F. L. Kuykendall of Shackelford county; and the following from Stephens county: Jim Dunning, Jake Sandifer, Marshall R. Young and C. K. West.

Telegrams expressing regret at not being able to attend the meeting and endorsing its purposes and guaranteeing 100 per cent support of it were: M. C. Chaney of Coleman, Tom Bryant of Cross Plains and Fred Hyer of Abilene.

Reductions in the price of Fisher and Jones county crude oil by Shell Pipe Line company and Humble Oil & Refining company drew strenuous protest at the meeting, censuring Shell for lowering the price of Fisher county crude to 30 cents a barrel and the Humble for the same action in Jones and Fisher, the newly organized West Central Texas Oil & Gas association protested against the increased allowable granted by the railroad commission without a hearing of interested operators.

Shell Pipe Line company recently closed a contract with Cranfill & Reynolds for the purchase of 160,000 barrels of Fisher county stored oil and agreed to run 2,000 barrels daily paying 30 a barrel. Shell constructed about five miles of four-inch lateral lines from its trunk carrier to serve Fisher county.

Humble Oil & Refining company followed Shell's action by posting a flat price of 30 cents a barrel for Fisher and Jones crude. Prior to Shell's entry into the Fisher county pool, Humble purchased Fisher and Jones oil on the mid-continent gravity scale. The railroad commission issued an order increasing the allowable for all 32 wells in the Fisher county pool to 156 barrels daily. The field previously had been limited to 20 barrels a well, the amount Humble lected to run. Production in Jones and Fisher counties is comparable to that from Stephens county, averaging about 3 1/2 gravity. The price of 30 cents a barrel now prevailing is the same paid for Permian Basin sulphur oil.

FOUR YEARS IN WHITE HOUSE TOOK HEAVY TOLL OF HOOVER

WASHINGTON—Four years in the White House, during which he saw the depression envelope America like a fog that couldn't be blown away, left their deep mark upon Herbert Hoover.

His presidential career was a continuous battle, vain for the most part, against the economic forces which impoverished millions. His anti-boarding campaign was only partially successful. His reconstruction program became bogged down in a rebellious Congress. His war debt moratorium postponed the day of international reckoning.

Uneven Odds. Even his bitterest political enemies admit privately that Hoover's anti-depression plans had merit; that most of them failed of full achievement simply because one man is not match for an avalanche. Such a series of disappointments hurt Hoover deeply. Although his colorful career as a globe-girdling mining engineer, his experiences during the World War and his clashes with the mailed fists of politics gave him plenty of hard knocks, he never grew any protective callouses.

He seldom received the press during his later months in the White House. He made public appearances only when they could not be avoided. He was one of the hardest working Presidents the nation ever has had.

Only by immersing himself in the problems which beset his sunny, circular study, it seemed, could he achieve any semblance of happiness.

Typical Day
A typical day thus found him rising at 6:30 a. m. At 7 he played medicine ball on the White House lawn with a select list of cronies. At 7:30 he changed to business clothes, ate breakfast and arrived at his office at 8:30. He read his mail, conferred with secretaries and dictated until 10:30 a. m., when the cabinet met two days a week. If the cabinet did not meet, he spent the ensuing hour and a half granting 15-minute interviews to the hordes who clamored to see him.

At 1:30 p. m. he had lunch, smoked a giant cigar and returned to his office at 2:00, to stay until 6:30 p. m., working on government business. If there was no White House function scheduled, he had dinner informally with Mrs. Hoover and a few friends at 7:30 p. m., talked "shop" with them until 10:30 p. m., and retired.

When he entered the White House he was a youngish, plumpish man, given to high collars and closely cropped hair cuts. His face was smooth, almost florid. He weighed 220 pounds. His hair (Continued on page 2)

Ranger Chevrolet Dealers Attend Meeting at Dallas

T. J. Anderson and C. B. Pruet, Chevrolet dealers of Ranger, attended a meeting of Chevrolet dealers at Dallas Tuesday, at which more than 1,000 were in attendance.

The chief topic of discussion was the banking situation and its relation to the automobile business. The speakers were unanimous in their belief that the situation would soon be cleared up so that it would have no material effect on the business in general.

Mr. Dorn, national representative of the company, from Detroit, was present and made one of the principal addresses before the gathering. The business session was held in the Showhouse theatre, with a banquet at the Baker hotel.

Man Gets Death Verdict In Murder of Robert Tharp

LUBBOCK, March 8.—A jury in 72nd district court today found Paul Mitchell, 24, guilty of slaying Robert Tharp, grocery store manager, during a robbery here last October and gave him the death penalty.

Mitchell showed no emotion as the verdict was read. His attorney said an appeal would be taken and the youthful prisoner was lead back to his cell in the county jail.

Two witnesses for the state, one a high school boy who was employed part time in a Florida grocery and the second, a customer, identified Mitchell as the gunman who robbed Tharp's store in mid-afternoon last Oct. 15.

Father of Scouts Dies at Age of 71

BIG SPRING, Texas, March 8. Boy Scouts throughout West Texas today mourned the death of Charles Spencer Holmes, 71, of this city.

Holmes, known as "the father of Boy Scout work in West Texas," succumbed to a heart attack at his home here last night.

He organized the first scout troop here in 1910. Last year he was honored for his outstanding service. The loss of an only son prompted him to enter the Boy Scout work.

Assassination Bill Offered In Senate

AUSTIN, March 8.—The recent attempted assassination of Franklin D. Roosevelt in Florida prompted the introduction in the Texas senate today of a measure to make such an attempt in this state, punishable by death.

The maximum penalty now for such an assault, where the victim is not killed, is 15 years' imprisonment.

SET FIRE TO HOME—IS JAILED

JACKSONVILLE, Ore.—Nick Kay owned a home here. He went to collect some money on it, so he set fire to it. Now Nick is serving.

CURRENCY REPLACES SCRIP IN BANK PLAN

When She Says 'No' It's 'No'

Eleanor Wesa, 14, above, of Newcastle, Wash., made up her mind she wouldn't go to Russia, though her father planned to take her there. Eleanor, American-born, appealed to juvenile and immigration authorities, churches and women's clubs. After a long fight she became a voluntary ward of the juvenile court, and thus gained the right to stay in America.

WEST TEXAS LAND BILL IS FIGHT CENTER

AUSTIN, March 8.—Mrs. Sarah Hughes, Dallas representative, renewed her war on the "West Texas land bill" today and won the first skirmish. Following an appeal from its lone woman member, the house refused to set consideration of the bill as a special order of business for Friday.

The vote was four short of the required two-thirds. At the last session Mrs. Hughes killed the bill by argument that prevented enough votes to suspend rules. The bill provides a method by which surface holders can pay the state over an extended period, the amount of bonus on school oil land.

The courts recently decided that the state school fund is entitled to half of any bonus received for oil leases on school land. The bill, at the last session, proposed to give the surface owners 20 years to pay out, charging 3 per cent interest. The bill this session calls for payment in 20 years and raises the interest to 4 per cent.

Many surface owners, it is said, have long since spent the bonus they received and to which they thought they were entitled under Texas land laws.

Man Is Held For Dept. of Justice

Chief of Police Jim Ingram of Ranger today arrested Roy Pool and was holding him for F. J. Blake of the department of justice at Dallas. The chief did not know on what charge Pool was wanted, but notified the department of justice that the man was being held.

On being taken into custody today, Pool stated that he thought he was wanted in connection with a transaction over a car that was alleged to have been stolen, according to Chief Ingram.

Cermak's Body Is Met By Thousands

CHICAGO, March 8.—Under somber skies, Mayor Anton J. Cermak's body was brought home to the city of his youth in a casket on a funeral train today.

In the fog-filled streets around the railroad station were at least 50,000 persons, 16 Chicago aldermen bore the heavy casket through an honor cordon of soldiers, sailors and American Legionnaires.

A full today of her complete recovery, while not entirely out of danger, Mrs. Gill has recovered to the point where she may partake of such food as chicken and rice.

Mrs. J. H. Gill Is Reported Better

MIAMI, Fla., March 8.—Doctors attending Mrs. Joseph H. Gill, who was gravely wounded in the attack on Franklin D. Roosevelt, were hopeful of her complete recovery.

While not entirely out of danger, Mrs. Gill has recovered to the point where she may partake of such food as chicken and rice.

TEXAS BANKS REOPENING IN MANY CITIES

By United Press
Texas bankers unbolted front doors today, the first time since Texas independence day when the state moratorium was issued, and did business under limited restrictions of the federal government.

Announcement by Secretary of Treasury Woodin and James Shaw, fourth highlanders who is held for violation of the Official Secrets Act. Full details of the crime he is charged with have not been published and it is only recently that his name became known, although he has been held for some time.

Ranger Rotary Club Hears Talk On Illiteracy

Wayne C. Hickey was in charge of the program at the regular meeting of the Ranger Rotary club today, presenting a talk on the subject of illiteracy. The speaker pointed out that there were 4,500,000 people in the United States who were classified as illiterates and that 2,500,000 of these were whites.

In Texas the census showed that in 1920 the percentage of illiteracy was 8.3 per cent, while in 1930 it had shown an improvement with only 6.8 per cent of the population being unable to read or write.

He pointed out that the southern states and along the eastern coast line, the percentage of illiteracy was highest, giving as reasons the fact that there were so many Mexicans and negroes in the section of the country.

He stated that in Eastland county there were 408 people above the age of 10 years who could not read or write, with 46 of these in Cisco, 78 in Eastland and 81 in Ranger.

The speaker said that the United States was concerned, only 8 per cent of the population falling under that classification. Interesting data was quoted from the Texas State Teachers association regarding the per capita received from the state. It stated that this year the per capita allowance from the state was only $9.67 and that indications were that by next year it would be something less than $8.

He defined intolerance and that he believed the United States should be composed of tolerant citizens who would do their utmost to reduce illiteracy during the coming years.

W. N. McDonald was appointed as chairman of the entertainment committee for next week.

British Officer Imprisoned

Imprisoned within the Tower of London is Lieut. N. Baillie-Stewart (above) an officer of the Seaforth Highlanders who is held for violation of the Official Secrets Act. Full details of the crime he is charged with have not been published and it is only recently that his name became known, although he has been held for some time.

Death Penalty of Blackshear Is Reversed by Court

AUSTIN, March 8.—The death penalty conviction of Barney Blackshear of Tyler on a charge of slaying Viola Brimberry was reversed by the court of criminal appeals today and sent back for retrial.

The court's opinion said that after being confined for days, in what one witness called a dungeon, into which air came only through a crack under a door, Blackshear made an alleged confession of the killing of both Mrs. Brimberry and her husband in a $17 robbery March 21, 1932.

The court held the confession inadmissible. Other proceedings of the court were: Affirmed—George Levitan from Johnson county; William (Bull) Newsum from Johnson county; P. J. Kimball, alias R. E. Jackson, from Johnson county (three cases).

Eastland Lions Enjoy Music at Meeting Tuesday

The Eastland Lions club enjoyed an unusual program of voice and piano music presented by Mrs. Sam G. Thompson and Miss Lillian Thompson at their noon luncheon hour Tuesday.

F. M. Kenny reported the special train to the Fort Worth Stock Show for Eastland county, on March 15, and urged all to go, stating he hoped 200 would represent Eastland.

George M. Harper appointed Bert McGlamery as a member of the United charities of Eastland to represent the Lions club, and confer with the representative of the Rotary club and those from the chamber of commerce. All are to work in union with the ministers of the city for relief of the needy. A committee meeting is to be held Thursday. President Harper named as entertainment committee for next Tuesday, Joe A. Gibson, and W. B. Pickens.

WOODIN SAYS LIGHT IS SEEN BY LEADERS

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Currency instead of scrip will be used to tide the nation over the present banking emergency, Secretary of the Treasury Woodin said today in making an announcement that no scrip issued would be authorized.

It was indicated at the same time that President Roosevelt is prepared to assume dictatorial powers in dealing with the situation if no other solution appears feasible.

Additional currency necessary to pump new vigor into channels of business and trade will be loosened through the 12 federal reserve banks, all of which have been instructed to cooperate with other banks in easing the situation.

The additional currency will be in the form of regular federal reserve notes, issued against commercial paper and the gold reserve. There is ample margin for increasing the volume of this paper money by about $2,000,000,000.

In issuing these notes the federal reserve system must maintain at least 40 per cent of gold behind them. Actually the gold backing now is 62 per cent.

Woodin, smiling, sent a cheering message to the nation when he said, "We see light here. Things aren't going to pieces."

He indicated that events of the last 48 hours had convinced the Roosevelt administration that the use of scrip, I. O. U's and other types of paper were not needed.

Woodin's statement clearly indicated the Roosevelt administration is definitely, once and for all, pledged to the program laid down in President's Roosevelt's inaugural address when he said, "There must be a sound but adequate currency."

Colony to Have Old Fiddlers Contest March 10

On Friday evening, March 10, there will be presented at the Colony school auditorium a short program in connection with an old fiddlers' contest and a country store. The admission for the evening's entertainment will be 10 cents for each person.

All those entering the old fiddler's contest will be given, without charge, one paid admission, and the winner of this contest will receive a prize. The oldest fiddler and the youngest one entering the contest will each receive a prize.

All fiddlers are asked to notify at once Superintendent L. C. Cooksey, rural route No. 4, Ranger, Texas, of their intentions of entering this contest.

Livestock Prices Show Big Drop

FORT WORTH, March 8.—The livestock market here reacted sharply today to yesterday's spurt in prices although trading in cattle, hogs and sheep, generally, was higher than Monday's levels.

The hog market reacted 35 cents lower from yesterday's advance of 60 cents. The cattle market tended weak to lower.

Grand Jury Is Called to Hear Boettcher Case

DENVER, Colo., March 8.—The federal grand jury was summoned today to consider indictments Monday against the alleged kidnapers of Charles Boettcher II, as the search was intensified throughout the western United States and Canada for Berne Sankey and Gordon Elkhorn.

Sankey and Elkhorn, believed in flight with most of the $60,000 ransom, which was collected for Boettcher's release, were charged with his abduction in information which also named two men and two women as accessories.

SENATOR REED AND HIS DRASTIC PROGRAM

Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania is an outstanding republican as well as one of the lawyers and orators of the American congress. He is a third or fourth cousin of the famous James A. Reed of Missouri and just as aggressive as his democratic kinsman.

He would deprive of committee assignments and read out of the party Hiram Johnson of California. Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin and George W. Norris of Nebraska. Republican senators, of course, will hold no committee chairmanships in the next congress.

ARKANSAS READY TO VOTE ON SUBMISSION

Arkansas lawmakers and leaders are ready to ballot on the national repeal amendment. By a vote of 45 to 39 its house of representatives passed a bill submitting the amendment to a vote of the people on next July 18.

HIGHER RATES CUT P. O. RECEIPTS

Chairman Mead of the house post office committee has announced he will ask the next congress to reduce the first class postage rates from 3 to 2 cents. There is a reason for it. Chairman Mead holds that the increase from 2 to 3 cents will bring $130,000,000 decrease in postal revenue this fiscal year.

TEXAS RAILWAYS AND THEIR REVENUES

Texas railroads suffered a 25 per cent drop from their operating revenue during 1932 as compared with 1931, and at the same time cut their operating expenses 25 per cent, according to a consolidated annual report and comparison for the two years made by the Texas railroad commission.

Evolution is the order of life and living. It is the eternal law. First, the pony express; second, the stage coach; third, the covered wagon; fourth, the "iron horse"; fifth, the electrically driven interurban; sixth, the gasoline truck and passenger bus; seventh, the air flyers and carriers.

There seems to be no reason for the wave of economy hysteria that is sweeping the country. It floats about like a specter in the night and the timid buying power of the people is being bitten day by day by the dragon of economy propaganda.

Carrying Out the Moratorium Idea

Ranger High School Notes

JEWELLE JUDD, Editor

Dress Rehearsal for "Paris Habels" Tonight All students having parts in the play, "Paris Habels," will be present for dress rehearsal tonight in the high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

This one-act play will be presented in high school chapel Tuesday, March 14, under the auspices of the library club which is sponsored by Miss Burrage, high school librarian.

Elimination Thursday Mrs. Mae Healer announced today that try-out to select the four best spellers to represent Ranger high in the county spelling contest will be held Thursday.

Faculty Follies Big Success The Faculty Follies of 1933, presented by those teachers of Ranger high school who have proven themselves the best sports of any teachers in the entire state of Texas was stamped by a big success.

Boris Belovsky, assisted by Jim Blair, acted as master of ceremonies for this grand and glorious occasion.

Highlights of this program were: Mr. Von Roeder and Mr. R. L. Maddox acting as two "trap-shooting coons." Mr. Von Roeder also gave a tap dance, much to the delight of the students.

Eck Curtis put up such a good argument to keep from paying Miss Burrage, the high school librarian, a library fine that many of the students are trying to persuade him to settle up their fines.

Mrs. Wagner gave her interpretation of "What Love Really Is." Mrs. Mae Healer told how a girl feels before and after a blind date. A lot of girls thought that she had been reading their diaries.

The main event of the Faculty Follies was the "Frankie and Johnnie" act by Miss Gagan and Mr. Hair. It was so good that it took lots of force to keep the students in their seats.

Miss Lucille Buchanan demonstrated the different ways of chewing gum while Mr. Lanier taught Miss Piffon how to play a uke. The lines of Miss Piffon's dress were exceedingly becoming, while her hat was the latest Paris creation.

Mr. Holloway did not sing "Goodbye" as was announced, but explained that so classical a piece was hard for him to sing, however, his interpretation of "Katy" and "Liza Jane" would put Bing Crosby to shame.

Mrs. Maddox delighted the students with a violin solo about a man who drank too much wine. The closing number on the program was the song, "Under the Harlem Moon," by Mrs. Neill and Mrs. Wilbanks.

Campus Chatter Now it came to pass last week-end one of our Ranger Romans arrived in Dallas, dialed a certain number and upon hearing the usual salutation said, "Hello, Honey." Followed angry sputtering from the other end of the wire.

There seems to be no reason for the wave of economy hysteria that is sweeping the country. It floats about like a specter in the night and the timid buying power of the people is being bitten day by day by the dragon of economy propaganda.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

JAMES T. JACKSON, publisher of the Seminole (Okla.) Producer, says: "The old-fashioned merchant who didn't believe in advertising is as extinct as the dodo-bird. Advertising has come to be considered as important a part of the expense budget of every business as rent, clerk hire and lighting."

"And businesses advertise in many different ways. The window displays in the modern mercantile establishment are mute advertisements. Their attractiveness or lack thereof may spell the success or failure of the firm. Signs are nothing more nor less than advertising. Even the margin of difference between indifferent service to customers and speedy courteous service might well be labeled advertising."

"Newspaper advertising is considered the backbone of every important advertising effort, almost without exception. Windows, direct-by-mail, personal solicitation, radio, billboards and every other medium center around and are directly related to newspaper advertising in every well directed campaign."

"The most thoroughly read, and consequently the most effective, newspaper group is that great class known as 'home town' papers. Individually small, as a rule, they are collectively powerful, and wield a tremendous influence over the thoughts and buying habits of half the population of the nation."

"Check the successful firms in any town and you will find their advertising in the home town newspaper, carrying a direct and powerful sales message to the people they know best. Often the only conscious advertising effort of those firms is in that paper, which carries the advertising burden alone—and does it well."

DERRICK SHADOWS By V. MARIE STEPHENS

What's old's new these days. Somebody with a head for antiques introduced the idea to a fed-struck world, and immediately began gathering heirlooms and getting rich. That is, began paying the back bills, which is rich in 1933.

What we are trying to say is that anything old and gold is something new and admired. Great great grandmother's locket, on which four generations of babies have teethed, is the apple of y modern debutante's eye. The cycle goes on.

The trouble is: this antique idea doesn't disturb the realm of clothes and cars. It just won't do to wear last season's frock, and it won't do to check again . . . that's the jigsaw puzzle America is laboring on Credit corporation, cattle, stock, goats, hogs, 1929 Ford delivery today.

It was a nice exhibit . . . art. Oh, the exhibit was lovely, and the artist beamed and muttered quaint remarks, and the hostess fluttered hither and yon among her guests . . . while they oohed and ahhed.

And while I gazed intently at the paintings and tried to figure them out, I chatted with surprising intelligence with this one and that one about pictures and music and things. I wondered how many others there were . . . hypocrites.

If those little dabs of paint were the expressions of the man's soul, the artist is doomed or I'm an unimaginative observer. Those of you who find our beauty in nature, bright lights in the stars, and grand opera in the birds . . . refrain from disillusioned studio calls.

While a grief-stricken city mourns before Cermak's first Friday, Roosevelt will continue to bring prosperity back to America. We've been praying for a leader . . . have the fates saved the president for us?

Meanwhile, Hoover is breathing a little more easily. The nation having been handed over to another, the ex-leader turns human again and walks with man . . . as man to man.

Sally Eilers and Ralph Bellamy are cast as the stives of different social strata in the new Fox "Second Hand Wife," dramatized from the novel by Helen Norris.

Hoover's Four Years In the White House

He walked slowly, carefully down the long flight of steps. His silk hat, which always seemed a quarter size too small for him, was set squarely upon his brow.

Against Wisconsin Froeschauer scored nine field goals and four free throws for a total of 22 points. Ten minutes before the game ended Inky collided with a Badger player and the resultant gash across his forehead caused his removal for medical attention. Four stitches were required.

In the first Big Ten game of the season Illinois upset the dope bucket by defeating Northwestern, and it was Inky's basket that tied the Wildcats in the closing minutes and paved the way for the Illinois victory.

He is a big lad, standing six feet one inch, and weighing 180 pounds. Back home at Lincoln he remembers Froeschauer as a four sport man in baseball, basketball, football and track.

The home town folk also boast of his prowess as an eater of doughnuts. His record along that line remains untouched around Lincoln. He is majoring in physical education at Illinois and is working his way through school as a checker at the university skating rink and as a dishwasher at one of the fraternity houses.

DON'T QUOTE ME

WASHINGTON. — Representative Thomas Lindsay Blanton of Texas, the ardent dry, now is known upon Capitol Hill as "Hold That Line Blanton," all because of his vain efforts to keep the house from voting for an anti-prohibition amendment.

When Blanton was speaking in opposition to the measure, he had occasion to tell a story about himself, suffering in a hospital from a broken leg after a football game. "And all I could remember," said Blanton, in a loud and shrill voice was "hold that line; hold that line."

"And what do you think these letters said?" he asked. "Hold that line!" he shouted a wag in the back of the house.

"Hold that line!" Representative Blanton. He stalked from the chamber. A chorus of "hold that line; hold that line; hold that line!" measured his progress to the exit. The next day he made three speeches.

Every time he rose to address the speaker, one or another of his colleagues shouted: "Hold that line!"

Since then, and to his disgust, the phrase "hold that line" has become wedded to Representative Blanton, the democrat from Abilene.

The august house of representatives of the United States has risen to the heights of futility by voting not to strike out an amendment, which did not exist in the first place!

Representative John C. Shaffer, republican, Wisconsin, started the whimsical, embarrassing faux pas when he made a lengthy and impassioned speech urging his colleagues to strike out section five of the Burns amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill.

"Yes, but it doesn't even exist," drawled William H. Stafford, republican, also of Wisconsin, who had risen to a point of order. "There never was a section five in the bill."

Representative Shaffer blushed but he started to sit down, Chairman Byrns of the appropriation committee said: "What of it? Let's vote upon the measure of the gentleman from Wisconsin anyway."

$2,000 IN SCRIP ISSUED

When the "bill" has changed hands 50 times it will be redeemable at face value.

prefaced the opening of this hour, followed with a spelling demonstration given by room pupils of Miss Charlotte Radloff. Others aiding in making this miscellaneous program entertaining were young Misses Eloise Packwood, and Geat Henry, who played a violin duet, accompanied by Helen Jacobs at the piano. These talented entertainers were noted in the colorful recital rendered by pupils of Miss Gillian Buchanan last Friday evening. Again the dainty costumes were worn by the little artists.

Summarized reports were submitted from chairmen of the program, finance, hospitality, and public record book committees. Delegates were also elected at this time to represent the association at the district conference to be in session here the last of the month. These delegates include Mrs. S. P. Boon, Mrs. Herbert J. Stafford, Mrs. B. S. Dudley, and Mrs. A. N. Larson, together with the president, Mrs. Jacobs, and Principal Jarvis. This comes as one of the most important and thoroughly covered sessions to have been held in recent weeks.

Famous Shot Is One of Texas Richest Men

HOUSTON. — Many colorful stories are told about E. F. Woodward, the Houston trapshooter now breaking into sports pages on his annual tour of the Middle West gun club circuit.

Approaching his 54th birthday, he remains something of a mystery to rat-tail stogies and humble dress. Few persons know he owns one of the largest fortunes in Texas.

In Houston he has only a handful of intimate friends, who know him as a genial and generous host. Woodward detests the spotlight. He is one of the few rich men who is never seen "heading a movement."

Aside from a small group of associates in the oil business, his chief cronies is C. W. Lindsay, his gunsmith. Woodward is often found in Lindsay's small shop, discussing the mysteries of gunpowder. With Lindsay he invented the widely used "over-and-under" rifle.

When he isn't out blazing away at clay targets—and setting many new records—his dearest diversion is hunting on his many preserves. He is reputed to control more than 200,000 acres of wild country.

A few years back, according to legend, he spent a day hunting on a ranch near Hondo. The bag was large and Woodward felt his best. "Sam," he said to the owner, "I've had a very enjoyable day. Ever think about selling it?"

"Well," said Sam, suspecting a joke, "I might—if somebody would offer me $15 an acre, spot cash."

"Fourteen thousand."

"Without another word, Woodward is said to have reached for his pen and check book. He wrote a check for $250,000 and tossed it to Sam."

"All right," said Woodward. "That's that. You can send me the deed next week."

Oddly enough, Woodward's keen shooting eye, perfectly adjusted to the edge of a "blue rack" target, is not nearly as good in the field. He makes only a fair record with live game and is frequently bested by Lindsay and other hunting companions.

In some states, where trapshooting is done with real pigeons, Woodward has not shown to advantage. For many years he was unable to score 25 birds in a row, though he once broke 600 clay targets in succession.

It is nothing unusual for Norman Pilot, another Houston crack shot, to kill more than 100 live pigeons before losing a bird.

FOUND somewhere in the shopping center

One purseful of opportunities...

The opportunities, to which we refer, are the daily bargains to be found in every shopping area. Some people find them quite by chance... stumble over them blindly... and acquire them with astonishment. Others never seem to be in the right store at the right time: If there's a 25 per cent marked-down sale of shoes at Smith's, they are buying at Brown & Co. . . . If a grocer three blocks away is clearing out canned goods at half-price, they are at the corner store making routine purchases.

But—there are some people who always find these opportunities. Their money buys them more—and better—merchandise than their neighbors'. Why? Not through good luck, you may be sure; but simply because these people read the advertisements in their daily newspapers.

This advertising is NEWS. It tells WHAT. . . . It shows WHERE. Those who read it every day are informed. They save themselves time, trouble, and DOLLARS. . . . And their homes are always up-to-date, their clothes stylish . . . their meals fresh with seasonal variety . . . all through the opportunities that advertising gives them.

Read the advertising in your daily newspapers.
