SENATE ADDS WINE TO HOUSE BEER MEASURE

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The senate finance committee today amended the house 3.2 percent beer bill to include wine and fruit juices and order a favorable report to the senate.

No other provisions of the house bill were changed. The measure permits unrestricted advertising of the legalized beverages.

The beer, wine program, probably will not come before the senate until tomorrow. The house passed a bill to legalize beer only by a vote of 316 to 97 yesterday.

Ruling Is Made On Boundary of Several Counties

AUSTIN, March 15.—The state supreme court here today sustained a district court and overruled the Eastland court of civil appeals in determining the proper boundaries of Lynn, Garza, Lubbock, Yoakum, Crosby, Hockley, Terry and Kent counties.

A several thousand word finding of the district court setting out the proper survey lines was included in the opinion.

The deciding point is that the corner of Young county is the beginning place of the north line of each of the counties, each of which are declared to be 30 miles square.

Stock Exchange Is Reopened With All Stocks Higher

NEW YORK, March 15.—After nine days suspension the New York Stock Exchange opened for trading to three points above the closing levels of March 3. Trading was active.

Dr. Edmund D. Soper, above, president of Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, O., has been chosen president of the Association of American Colleges, elected by brother college presidents.

RELIEF CREWS WORK IN WAKE OF TORNADO

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 15.—Relief crews searched the wreckage of hundreds of homes in Tennessee, Arkansas and Missouri today as the death toll of a series of tornadoes reached 51, with more than 500 injured.

Additional hundreds were homeless. Hospitals were crowded with injured. In Central Tennessee where the greatest havoc was wrought, property damage was estimated at approximately $1,000,000.

Minor storms that preceded the tornado, injured eight persons and leveled scores of homes in East Tennessee, East Arkansas and Southeast Missouri.

National guards patrolled the stricken area of Nashville where nine were killed and 65 injured. The city light system failed at the height of the storm and relief work was carried on by candle and lantern light.

It was feared the wreckage of many farm homes would reveal additional dead and injured. After passing middle Tennessee the storm trailed off westward with diminishing intensity into the remote Virginia hills. The total charted distance of the tornado was 543 miles.

Extension Granted Income Tax Payers

WASHINGTON, March 15.—The deadline on income tax payments has been advanced to March 31.

The 16 day extension was granted by the treasury at the last minute to aid hard-pressed tax payers whose funds still are tied up by banking difficulties.

DRY AND WETS LINE UP FOR HOUSE DEBATE

AUSTIN, March 15.—Drys, wets and neutral submissionists began planning today for the next test of strength on the Texas prohibition repeal issue.

Representative Weaver Moore's resolution to submit repeal of state constitutional prohibition to popular vote November 6, 1934, was endorsed by a vote of 72 to 54.

This is 28 votes short of the 100 necessary to submit an amendment, but it was sufficient to engross the resolution. Its proponents are now in position to bring it up repeatedly in an attempt to get two-thirds of the total 159 house votes.

Moore's proposal is for a return to local option, but with the saloon barred. It is distinct from the movement for a bill authorizing a convention to ratify federal repeal.

Father Collins Is Speaker Before Ranger Rotary

W. N. McDONALD, who had charge of the program at the regular weekly meeting of the Ranger Rotary club today, introduced Father Michael Collins, who gave a very interesting address on the life of St. Patrick.

Father Collins said that while most of the ancient notables and traditions of Ireland were probable, still there were many that were questioned and a number questioned the fact that St. Patrick ever existed, saying that the name Patrick was not famous until 1691 when a general of that name gained favorable recognition.

He said that it was generally believed that the father of St. Patrick was a Roman citizen, who fought in France and was brought to England by the Scots.

St. Patrick was born sometime about the year 373 and was educated for the priesthood, taking the name of Patrick when he was ordained. He gave an interesting account of the great educational work as well as the religious accomplishments of St. Patrick.

St. Patrick was a native of Ireland and he presented a vivid word picture of the country surrounding the place of birth of St. Patrick.

He said that the influence of Irish educators had been felt around the world and that many wondrous things in this country as small as Ireland could produce the number of great men and great educators who had come from the country. He compared it to a drop of radium, which has thousands of rays and which will last for thousands of years. He pointed out that Texas was eight times as large as Ireland, but that Ireland has a population of about 9,000,000 people.

The Irish as a rule, he said, are a happy contented people, despite the fact that they have been known through the circulation of humorous stories to be otherwise. In closing his talk he stated that cooperation was the greatest need of the United States at this time and if the people would get rid of fear and join hands in cooperation we would be able to overcome any of our difficulties as Ireland has done.

CONFER WITH ROOSEVELT ON JOBLESS RELIEF BILL

President Roosevelt's sweeping unemployment relief program, involving a $500,000,000 bond issue for public improvements, was taking definite shape after his conference with senators who have championed jobless relief legislation. Two teams, one headed by Clint Davis, post commander of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion, and the other headed by D. W. "Buzz" Johnson, are in a membership contest, which will end tonight.

The team which secures the largest number of members will be guests at a feed at the regular meeting night Thursday, which is to be supplied by the losing side.

As a new member is secured, his name is added to the team which secured his membership. The competition has been kept throughout the campaign.

Ranger Residents Are Warned to Pen Up Their Chickens

Wade Swift, Ranger police officer, announced today that the dog catcher would be busy again this week, and warned all owners of dogs to buy their licenses before the dogs were caught and taken to the city pound, as a penalty would be added to the usual tax if paid after the dogs had been caught.

He also warned all who have chickens to keep them penned, stating that garden planting time was here and that chickens would ruin many gardens if left to run freely.

All chickens should be kept closely penned, he stated, and the owners of chickens were warned to see to it that they were kept up.

Ferguson Suit Dismissed By Supreme Court

AUSTIN, March 15.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson's suit seeking to injoin the state highway commission from the expenditure of funds was dismissed by the state supreme court here today.

The cases already decided in favor of the highway commission by the lower courts, had been appealed by Ferguson. The supreme court held that his application for a temporary injunction had become moot. The court ruled itself without jurisdiction in the application for a permanent injunction.

98 PER CENT IN STATE WERE OPEN AT NOON

Restrictions on Withdrawals May Be Placed By Banks on Deposits.

AUSTIN, March 15.—A proclamation reopening state banks generally was issued here today by State Banking Commissioner James Shaw.

It applies to all state banks, bank and trust companies, and private banks in Texas except as otherwise ordered by Shaw. Until further notice they may declare restrictions on withdrawals as heretofore permitted.

Reopening of Texas banks as summer wholesale proportions today. Throughout the morning a direct-leased wire from the treasury department at Washington brought authorization for the resumption of business to a large proportion of the 575 federal reserve member banks in the Eleventh district.

At noon approximately 98 per cent of the total 1,175 national and state banks in Texas had opened.

Texas Failures Show a Decrease During February

AUSTIN.—"Whatever other forces may cloud the business horizon, the record of commercial failures in Texas continues to stand as one from which considerable encouragement may be derived," it is stated in the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research report on commercial failures during February. "Of course, no one will deny that each failure represents a business tragedy for some individual but the number of these insolvencies has been kept at a level much lower than in previous depressions and, in fact, lower than in some 'good' business years.

For example, according to weekly reports from R. G. Dun & Co., there were only 71 insolvencies in Texas during the month of February; this number is smaller by 13 per cent than that for February a year ago and the average for February during the past 14 years. Since 1920, there have been seven cases in which the total number of failures during February was greater than the number for the month of January.

Total liabilities were $1,421,000 during February, a decline of 18 per cent from the $1,734,000 total liabilities reported in February a year ago. The average size of the bankruptcies was also smaller than in February a year ago, as is shown by the fact that the average liabilities per failure this year were $20,014 as compared with $21,146 in February, 1932.

Groceries and meat markets shared with dry goods and apparel stores first place in the number of failures, with 15 insolvencies in each of the two groups, while drug stores came third with 11 failures; last year these three groups accounted for 10, 18, and six of the failures respectively. The rest of the failures were distributed among numerous small groups of businesses, with only the general stores group involving as many as six failures.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BETTER THAN LIFE: Because thy loving kindness, O God, is better than life, may lips shall praise thee.—Psalm 63: 3.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY—KEEP COOL AND CARRY ON

"When Black Is White" told the story. It was a message to the people of the Southwest. It rang out as clear as the chimes of an ancient bell. Its follow-up clinched the argument.

"Let Us Carry On." Texas is an empire commonwealth. Why, the natural treasure wealth undeveloped to date speaks of millions under the surface of the earth. Its land wealth, the ungarnished wealth alone of millions of acres never touched by plow or hoe carries greater wealth than the gold mines of the world produced in a hundred years.

It has a vast army of tireless workers on the payroll who are conducting the various enterprises of trade and traffic and keeping their heads ever above the surging waves. It has financial institutions as stable as the Rock of Gibraltar is firmly fixed in eternal place and it has reserve food supplies that would carry the people for months and months to come and planting time coming for a new year from the Gulf coast to the foothills of the Rockies.

Yes, there is a five-day banking moratorium, and why not? Legislation is needed for the protection of the people, for the protection of financial and insurance companies and all who think and dig and plan in the land of Goliad, the Alamo and San Jacinto. Fear is a craven raven which man has carried in his breast down the ages. Timidity is the curse of mankind. Coming down all the ages and all the corridors the red-blooded have faced all emergencies or crises, and history records that they carried on and came through until they reached at last, speaking of nations and their makers, the high ground of safety and then slowly climbed to the Alpine heights of prosperity and plenty.

This is not a prophecy—it is the logic of history and the glorious record of those who carried the torch of civilization to the high point that has been reached on these shores from the first landing of the white man until a wilderness was conquered and turned to the needs of man from coast to coast and from Arctic skies to Cape Horn.

Stephen F. Austin carried the torch in Texas. His companions were few. There are millions of torch bearers today whose places are on the firing line battling as the Caucasian has ever battled to kick aside all barriers and ride all storms and to bring the ship of state (meaning the people) safely in to the harbor regardless of all hidden snags and all breakers. This is the record of the dead ages. This will be the record made in coming years under American skies and away down here in Texas where pioneers ever undaunted and unafraid carried the flag of civilization and development for mankind to its topmost height. CARRY ON.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

Many of China's foreign loans are in default, but as yet she has not attempted to repudiate liability on any of them. It would be rather amusing if China were now to repudiate some of the loans in which France is mainly interested on the grounds that economic distress rendered it advisable for China to retain the money in her own coffers. If she did, we cannot see, outside of the use of force, what France could do about it in view of her actions toward the French debts to the United States.

It is to be remembered the negotiation between Paris and Peking over the French share of the Boxer indemnity, which France demanded in gold, at a time when it was difficult for the Chinese to make payment in that currency. In the end France had her way and China paid as demanded. No doubt China is watching the action of France in the matter of her debts to the United States and perhaps at a later stage will take advantage of the precedent France has created.

A precedent has been established and there is no knowing what may happen in the future. France is far more wealthy in gold than England, yet England pays her debts. It cannot be said that France cannot pay if she wishes to; and to plead poverty in such a case would not be an excuse that she would accept from her debtors.

One of the gravest concerns of the world today is a claimed but not proven right in many cases to repudiate obligations.

Dizzy Deans Dizzy Brother Signed By Houston Buffaloes

By United Press HOUSTON.—Baseball fans who were amused—or revolted—at the antics of Jerome (Dizzy) Dean have a treat in store when they see Elmer, the Dizzy one's brother.

Elmer, according to Fred Ankenman who has signed him as rookie outfielder for the Houston Buffaloes, is dizziest of the Deans. Elmer is more than six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds, has hands like hams, and is 20, 26 or 38 years old—he doesn't know which.

Last year he played with the Dardanelles team, deep in the Ozarks of Arkansas. Citizens of that country remarked the similarity of his name with Dizzy's and Elmer admitted the relationship.

Shortly after that A. M. (Paw) Dean brought Elmer into Ankenman's office. A contract was produced and Elmer was told to sign. It developed he had never learned to read or write.

Ankenman wrote Elmer's name for him, then told him to make his "X." Elmer, according to Ankenman, could not even do that.

The elder Dean revealed Elmer had been lost to the rest of his family for four years when discovered in the Ozarks.

BOSTON.—Features of a new course to be introduced at Boston University's College of Practical Arts and Letters next semester: No regular assignments. No required work. No examinations. But, alas, the course will be limited to 16 hand-picked honor students.

Dr. O. L. Harvey explained that the course would be an informal group consideration of the lives and personalities of eight great Americans.

The communistic idea of sharing everything in common will sooner or later take wings to itself and fly away. It is a foregone conclusion in the minds of most people with average intelligence.

Cigarettes, like Foods need Seasoning

That's the part Turkish Tobaccos play in making Chesterfields Taste Better

SMOKERS notice a certain "touch" in Chesterfields that comes from having just enough Turkish tobacco in them... a spicy, aromatic flavor that's much the same to a cigarette as seasoning is to food.

For only by blending and cross-blending the right amounts of mild Domestic tobaccos with the right amount of Turkish can we get the flavor and aroma that Chesterfield smokers enjoy.

Next time, ask for "The Cigarette that Satisfies"... you'll get Chesterfields, with Milder, Better Taste.

... the only thing we have to fear—is FEAR itself!"

—Franklin D. Roosevelt

On Saturday, March 4, we saw Franklin D. Roosevelt inaugurated as the 32nd President of the United States.

We heard or read his inaugural address.

He gave us a chance to realize that we live in the soundest country in the world.

That it has the sanest and safest form of government.

That since the adoption of its constitution in 1789, we and our forefathers have been through five wars, ten panics—and have come out of each stronger, healthier, richer, saner.

We will not stampede. We will not lose our nerve. We will keep our heads.

Every day and every hour is making a turn for the better. This day is the turning point for our country's future.

It is up to every citizen.

... "the only thing we have to fear is fear itself"

—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, MARCH 4, 1933

A STATEMENT FROM A CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES TO HIS FELLOW CITIZENS:

ON Saturday I saw Franklin Roosevelt inaugurated as 32nd President of the United States.

I heard his inaugural address.

Nine hours before he spoke, the Governor of the State of New York came out of a meeting with the banking authorities and declared a bank holiday.

Why?

Solely because he knew that a public fear, by reason of its unthinking demands, was threatening to put our banks in a position where they could no longer properly serve our public. Governor Lehman wisely declared a bank holiday to give us—the public—time to realize that.

He gave us time to remember that:

1. We, the public, put our money into banks for safekeeping.
2. Banks must be reasonably paid for that service.
3. Banks must therefore put part of our money to work, to earn interest for us, and to pay the bank for protecting us.
4. The law says clearly what part of our money can be so put to work.
5. The banks, by law, put that money to work; they make legal investments to pay our interest and the bank's expenses.
6. At no time—even peak-prosperity—could the banks sell all these securities to pay each of us every dollar—without causing us and our banks great losses.
7. For all of us to ask our banks to pay each of us every dollar at one and the same time, is to force heavy loss upon ourselves as well as our banks. Governor Lehman declared the holiday to make us soberly realize all that.

He gave us a chance to realize that we live in the soundest country in the world . . .

. . . that it has the safest and sanest form of government.

. . . that since the adoption of its Constitution in 1789 we and our forebears have been through five wars, ten panics—and have come out of each stronger, healthier, richer, saner.

Our country was sick. It is getting well.

But our country has every means of cure that it ever had: in ability, in natural resources, in energy, in inventiveness, in patriotic leaders—and in citizen-courage.

We have the envy of the world for that strength. So now—just as we would stand by a sick relative, would do nothing rash, would trust the doctors we have chosen—so let us trust the leaders we have chosen.

We elected President Roosevelt because we trust him. His pledge on Saturday:

"There must be provision for an adequate but sound currency . . ."

—moved every citizen who heard it. That man, our President, knows our ailment. He knows our distress. He knows our unemployment. He will leave no step untaken which will put men back in jobs, and food back on tables.

As a citizen, the bank holiday has given me time and cause to set down a code which I am following:

"I trust my government.

"I trust our banks.

"I do not expect the impossible.

"I shall do nothing hysterical. I shall act as nearly as I can to normal. If it is normal to carry little cash in my pocket when there is plenty to go round, I shall carry little now. There never was a time when every one on earth could possess all his cash in his pocket, his stocking, his safe-deposit box, or anything else.

"I know that if I try now to get all my cash, I shall certainly make matters worse.

"I will not stampede. I will not lose my nerve. I will keep my head."

Meanwhile—in the event that occasion requires it—it will be found that the New York Clearing House banks have prepared themselves, with the approval of the Government, to furnish such need of currency as will enable every householder to carry on his normal affairs uninterruptedly.

People who have jobs will probably be paid in full in cash. At Macy's, for instance, its 8,000 people will be paid in cash Tuesday morning.

Every day, every hour, can make a turn for the better. This day can be the turning point of our country's future.

It is up to every citizen.

JESSE ISIDOR STRAUS,
President R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., New York

In the interest of sanity and our national and community well-being, the Times Publishing Company is reprinting this statement by the president of Macy's of New York.

Wage Increases Are Recorded in Week in Texas

Special Correspondent.

AUSTIN.—A second increase in average weekly wages per worker and a smaller decline in workers than usual characterized the report on employment conditions in Texas for the month of February, as indicated by reports from 946 establishments to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research and the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"As of Feb. 15, there were 61,865 workers on the payrolls of the 946 establishments, a decline of 8.5 per cent from the number employed by these same firms on Feb. 15 a year ago," the university bureau's report said. "Although the number of employees still continues to decline as compared with a year ago, the comparison is much more favorable than has been the case in preceding years. For example, last year, the number of employees on Feb. 15 was 15.1 per cent smaller than on the corresponding date in 1931, and the total for 1931 was less by 15.2 per cent than that for February, 1930. The decline as compared with January was smaller than usual—only 1.5 per cent, whereas, in previous years the seasonal drop from January to February has been as much as 3.4 per cent.

"Average weekly wages per worker increased from $21.34 in January to $21.43 in February. Because of the decline in the number of workers, however, total weekly income to wage earners on the payrolls of the reporting firms was 1.1 per cent smaller than for the corresponding period a month earlier, having declined from $1,341,000 in January to $1,326,000 in February. There was also a small gain in average weekly wages per worker from December to January. Except for these and two other occasions, average weekly wages per worker have been declining since October, 1931.

Austin, Waco and Wichita Falls showed gains in the number of workers on Feb. 15 as compared with a year ago, while Austin, Galveston, Waco, and miscellaneous small towns had more workers on payrolls on Feb. 15 than on the corresponding date a month earlier. "Of the employment groups, three increased both wages and the number of workers: Men's clothing manufacturers, electric railway car shops, and saw mills. Several groups enlarged forces but cut wages: Confectioneries, pure food products factories, beverage plants, laundries and dry cleaning plants, brick factories, cotton textile mills and newspaper publishers. Twelve groups cut wages and reduced forces too: Bakeries, ice factories, cotton compresses, women's clothing manufacturers, foundries and machine shops, structural iron works, furniture manufacturers, paper box manufacturers, cement mills, wholesale stores, and hotels. The largest number of workers was affected by those groups which reduced the number of workers but increased the average weekly wages: Ice cream factories, auto and body works, flour mills, meat packing and slaughtering plants, cotton oil mills, railroad car shops, petroleum refining, lumber mills, quarries, public utilities, retail stores, and the small miscellaneous groups."

Dallas Steers to Be a Formidable Array of Players

By JACK BISCO.
DALLAS.—Bartering, currently popular in a variety of fields of activity, has been extensively resorted to by officials of the Dallas Steers Texas League baseball club.

The result, in the professed opinion of Happ Morse, veteran Steer Manager, is that when his players turn out for their first spring practice of the season March 15 they will present the most formidable array the club has offered in many seasons. That's saying a lot for the team which last year won the latter half of the split season honors.

"I actually believe," Morse said, "that we have patched up the weak spots of last year and are ready to give the other league members a real run for their money. True, we've lost some valuable men, but I believe we have successfully offset those losses with important new acquisitions." Among the more serious player losses he faces is that of George Murray, puffy moundman, who won 24 games last year. Murray was sold to the Chicago White Sox.

Catchers—Bubber Jonnard, Adolph Krause.

Pitchers—Grant Bowler, Leslie Tietje, Oscar Fuhr, Ralph Erickson, Jimmie Minoque, Lou Garland, John Whitehead, Sal Giallo.

Happ is far from jubilant over the loss of Bernie James, stellar second baseman, last year voted the most valuable man on the team. James is now training with the New York Giants.

Hugh McMullen, catcher, whose 1932 performance was notable, has been recalled by the Minneapolis club, which owns him.

On the other side of the ledger Morse points to obtainment of Bubber Jonnard, catcher, who will fill McMullen's shoes. Jonnard comes from the Rochester Red Wings of the Cardinal chain.

"A good receiver, an experienced man, a good arm and a great hustler," is Morse's description of him.

The Chicago White Sox sent Grant Bowler, pitcher, to Dallas on option.

"All I know about that Bimbo," said the Steer manager, "is that he has a big strong arm. He'll have to show us what he's worth."

Sal Giallo is another pitching addition, coming here from New Orleans, as is Leslie Tietje, from the White Sox.

But, despite his new hurler additions, Morse is looking to John Whitehead, youngster who played with the team for the first time last year, to succeed Murray. Whitehead, acquired from an amateur lot at Bailey, Texas, won 12 games here and Morse is expecting him to win 20 this season.

Replacing James in the Steer lineup will be either Ray Morehart or Cecil Stewart. Morehart was here last year. Stewart has just returned from Tulsa where he was loaned under option.

Morse said his club made a deal for Outfielder Joel Hunt, Texas A. & M. football star of 1928, but that Hunt has refused to report, choosing rather to accept a position as assistant football coach and baseball coach at Louisiana State University. He said Dallas is still trying to bring Hunt here, but added "it doesn't look very promising."

He said Hunt was bought

Business Firms Show Belief In Future Business

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself," is the theme of advertising today by Ranger merchants, who, in offering their merchandise to the public, express the utmost confidence in the new era into which we are now entering and confidence that within a very short time things will have been worked out to such an extent that business revival will be a reality.

Joining in this campaign of confidence are many of the leading firms of the city, including the Paramount Pharmacy, M-System Grocery & Market, O. K. Grocery & Market, Hassen Company, Joseph Dry Goods Company, United Dry Goods Company, J. C. Penney Company, Schooley's Bakery, Texas Electric Service Company, the Texas-Louisiana Power Company, and The Globe, Inc.

These progressive merchants and firms, realizing that we are on the threshold of a period of better times, better business, and more confidence on the part of the people, are offering the public opportunities to help out in these times when business is beginning to stage a comeback by purchasing many of the things they need at stores that believe in the future.

EFFICIENCY," said Aesop 4,000 years ago, "is coaxing a cat across the room instead of pulling him by the tail."

If you've been taking hours to bake the morning biscuits and fry the dinner chicken, and wind up feeling as though every kitchen in the world ought to be at the bottom of the South Atlantic—we have a most pleasant surprise in store for you. For intriguing, delicious foods can be "coaxed" together in hours less time than you ever imagined. These are all sorts of little time-savers and wife-savers on your pantry-shelves, in the spice-cans in your cabinet, in scraps that you've always thrown away.

And these efficiencies are so simple, practical and easy! That's why we've planned our cooking school—just to show them to you. We know you'll enjoy every minute of the cooking school, and we urge you not to miss a single second. Come as our guest.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

By KENNETH D. FRY
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO.—A hurdler takes care of his legs as carefully as a premier danseuse...

Scheffley and the Gopher coach, Sherman Finger, decided recently that the hurdler was losing time because he didn't get his front legs down quickly enough for his next stride after clearing a jump...

Finger came up with the idea that Scheffley thrust both arms forward in order to shift his weight onto the leg that cleared the hurdle first. This shifting, it was figured out, would cause the leg to "whip" down so that the athlete would lose less time in catching his stride to continue on his way.

So Scheffley dug up a little paper-covered manual that had served as his first "coach" and found pictures that showed Earl Thompson, the great Dartmouth hurdler, throwing both arms forward in clearing his hurdles.

William K. Boice, Lansing, Mich., a member of the University of Michigan swimming team, is the outstanding scholar-athlete here this year. He was awarded 20 hours of A grades for his work in the engineering college last semester, a perfect record. He carried five more hours of work than the average student.

Out of more than 300 members of Michigan's 12 varsity and freshman squads, only 10 have been definitely ruled ineligible.

The St. Louis Cardinals will have five of their former managers in the major leagues this coming season. Jimmy Burke, 1905 manager, is the only one in the American league. He will again coach the New York Yankees.

The other four, all of whom preceded the present manager, Gabby Street, are in the National league. Rogers Hornsby and Bob O'Farrell will play regularly for the Cardinals. Bill McKechnie will again manage the Boston Braves, and Billy Southworth will return from the minors to coach the New York Giants.

Comptroller Has Busy Department Handling Taxes

AUSTIN.—A study of state finances without an analysis of revenue-collecting agencies would have little value. Six departments collect certain taxes and fees, but the bulk of state revenues are handled by the Comptroller's department. Approximately $40,000,000 of the $72,000,000 collected in taxes during the last fiscal year came from levies on gasoline, cigarettes and gross receipts. The Comptroller has exclusive responsibility in collecting these.

Another large source of income for the state is the property tax. It amounted to slightly more than 24 million dollars last year. Property taxes are collected by county tax collectors, but the comptroller is charged with the responsibility of seeing that the State gets its share.

A detailed study of the duties imposed upon the Comptroller would be interesting, but would involve such a vast number of details as to make it tedious. Four items—gasoline, cigarette, gross receipts and ad valorem taxes—constitute the major sources of state income. Last year receipts of the state government were about $97,000,000, including $15,000,000 in federal and other aid. The four taxes just mentioned accounted for approximately $65,000,000, about two-thirds of all income.

Handling of such stupendous sums of money, issuing 750,000 state warrants, keeping control accounts on state departments, dealing with 254 county tax collectors, and almost innumerable district, county and precinct officials, whose compensation in whole or in part is paid out of state funds, constitutes a task of considerable magnitude.

Yet, the Comptroller's department cost the general revenue fund of the state last year a little more than $300,000. To enforce collection of the large special taxes and protect the state's interest in collections made by county collectors, the comptroller has a force of only 30 traveling auditors. They check the machinery to handle the multitude of duties imposed upon the department, outside of office detail in the office in Austin.

Records of many thousands of business, subject to some one of the state special taxes are expected to be checked for possible evasions of tax payments. In addition representatives are expected to audit records of county collectors and check probate court records for evasions of the inheritance tax.

Something of the magnitude of the task of the Comptroller's field force is suggested by the fact that oil, sulphur, cement, gas, telephone and electric companies are subject to the gross receipts tax. Firms handling cigarettes are almost without number. Few things are more universally sold than cigarettes.

With only 30 traveling auditors to check up on evasions and violations, it is easy to believe that Comptroller George H. Sheppard is not over-stating the case when he estimates that the State is losing at least $5,000,000 annually in evasions of special state taxes.

Many evasions are attributable to inadequate laws dealing with violations. Others are due to ignorance. Mr. Sheppard is of the opinion that state finances would now be on a cash basis, if his department had been allowed adequate funds and provided with effective laws to deal with violations.

The legislature is considering, and will doubtless pass, bills to stop leaks in state revenues. Laws defining violations are being clarified, penalties increased and administration of the special taxes

State Comptroller Sheppard Has Won Confidence of Entire State Legislature

AUSTIN.—State officials, especially in these times, are accustomed to criticism. But it is seldom they hear praise like that given State Comptroller George Sheppard in the legislature.

A bill to place in his hands two-thirds of 1 per cent of gasoline tax collections for enforcement of the gasoline tax act was before the house. Objection was raised that there was no limit on how many might be employed.

Such a general endorsement of his economical and business-like administration of the comptroller's office was voiced that the opponents could only answer: "Well we have no assurance that he will continue as comptroller."

Sheppard came to the office from Sweetwater. He was formerly county tax collector of Nolan county. This made him fully cognizant of a large part of the comptroller's duties, as his office is the one into which the county collectors turn their reports of assessments and state tax collections.

But that is only a small part of the department work. The gasoline tax collection enforcement, inheritance tax collection and numerous other duties fall upon it, besides the duty of registering bond issues and approving accounts of the state department and institutions. His office is statistical headquarters for the state with R. S. Calvert, also from Sweetwater, as statistician. The annual report of the comptroller's office, just off the press, give an insight into state expenditures never before possible.

An "expenditure analysis," is a new feature of the report. It gives an analysis of all warrants issued and charged against the state general revenue fund.

From the tables it can be told at a glance, for instance, just what a specific legislative committee cost and what the money went for. You can tell from it what it costs to run the state supreme court, the state library, any state institution or any state supported school. More than that the analysis lets the inquirer know how much of the expenditure was for salaries, how much for travel expense, and every other activity or need. Though it is condensed into 275 pages, items less than $1 can be traced.

If you think state records are loosely kept, you will be surprised to find the comptroller has a record of a note dated Feb. 12, 1851. He has suggested that it and later items dated in 1827 and 1846 be struck off by the legislature to avoid the expense of carrying them forward each year. The accounts are worthless to the state, he says, as are approximately $1,000,000 in railroad bonds held by the state permanent school fund. They, too, should be cleared from the records, he said.

A part of the comptroller's report reviews the sources of income over an 11-year period. This shows the cigarette tax did not prove the income producer that had been expected; that ad valorem property taxes have increased little in the decade and are now due to make a sharp drop; that the sulphur tax has been fairly constant and that the big increase has been in gasoline tax.

A code system used in the report makes it possible to compare the receipts and expenditures of one year with another.

This has been done to assist budget preparations and to aid legislators in acting upon appropriation and revenue bills.

generally strengthened and simplified. Besides increasing revenues by stopping evasions, taxpayers will not be subjected to ruinous and unfair competition from tax evaders. In certain localities and in gasoline and cigarette retailing, particularly, this has come to be a very serious menace to legitimate dealers.

Enforcement of the cigarette tax should be a matter of special concern to friends of the public schools. Half of the proceeds of this tax goes to the state school fund. A fourth of the state school fund comes from the gasoline tax. At the present time, when schools are embarrassed by lack of funds, enforcement of special taxes should be a matter of vital concern in every community in Texas.

Mr. Sheppard does not believe it will ever be possible for any state agency to stop all the leaks. Local support, diligence of private citizens and local law enforcement officials are necessary. He hopes this will result when the people generally realize the magnitude of the tax evasion evil and its consequences.

CLAD MAN QUESTIONED

A hurried call to headquarters sent a prowler into the city in the small morning. Standing in the intersection was wearing only his long underwear. He was taken to quarters for questioning.

Just how a "legislative day" originated goes so far back into history that its birth cannot be found. The legislative manual shows that in the 31st legislature, approximately a quarter of a century ago, it was in use.

How frequently "legislative days" occurs is shown by the record of this session. The house journal printed for Feb. 27 is the house journal for the 27th legislative day though the session began on Jan. 10 and 48 calendar days had expired.

Legislative days do not exist when it comes to figuring up pay of members. They are paid on the calendar day basis.

No need to worry about what to give up during Lent this year. Most of us are going to get along without money.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

One I Love

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

JANET HILL breaks her engagement with ROLF CARLYLE after learning he has been going out with BETTY KENDALL, a society girl. Janet is secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine, and Rolf is employed in an advertising office.

THE rest of that week was so busy Janet had to break a movie date with Pauline Hayden and cut her evening French class. At noon she barely took time for a sandwich and cup of coffee at the corner lunch counter. Then she was off on hurried shopping trips.

GRANT told her gently there was no such hurry. Simpson had suggested that Pat Silvani should drop in at the office Monday morning. He'd tell him what was to be done and arrange a price. Then the work could start in the afternoon or next day.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY, NEA Service Writer. DURING Lent when meat is off the menu occasionally through the week, the cook must look for other sources of protein. Cheese is often chosen as a meat substitute and, if served with the proper combination of foods, offers an excellent and comparative cheap source of protein.

Tomorrow's Menu: BREAKFAST: Sliced pineapple, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, raisin muffins, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON: Oyster shortcake, crisp with French dressing, mixed fruits in lemon jelly, milk, tea.

130 Charters Are Granted in March

AUSTIN.—During the month of February, the secretary of state granted charters to 130 new corporations whose authorized capital stock totaled $2,679,000.

Over the boy's head Janet glanced at Jeffrey Grant. He had sent the fuel, of course. Why, he had done more than she had for the "adopted family." She would insist on paying half of the $25, though. She had the money in the bank.

It wasn't a question but an exclamation. "Don't try," Janet said quickly. "It's enough just to feel that someone is getting some good out of the things."

They were a couple of cute youngsters, weren't they? he said, climbing into the roadster beside Janet. "Too bad about Tommy's leg."

They had driven a block in silence when Grant turned to the girl. "I wonder," he said, "if you'd be willing to do me a favor."

Young Women's Association Announces Committee The Young Women's association of the Baptist church was delightfully entertained by their director, Mrs. L. J. Lambert, at her home Tuesday evening.

The president of association, Miss Opal Hunt, opened session with song service, and the devotional conducted by Miss Irene Williams.

The general topic for discussion, "Sowing the Seed," had round-table talks by each member.

Announcement was made of the house party, to be hosted by the State Baptist association, in entertainment of Y. W. A. members of District 17, over this weekend, at Howard Payne college in Brownwood, and which eight members of the Eastland group will attend.

Following the program, the president announced these standing committees for the new fiscal year.

Study course, Miss Pauline Randolph, chairman; program chairman, Irene Williams; personal service chairman, Miss Rowena Cook; membership chairman, Miss Winifred Pentecost; library chairman, Miss Della Webb; poster and bulletin chairman, Miss Mandell Dominy; social chairman, Miss Hassie Graham; reporter, Miss Pauline Randolph.

Miss Elma Edith Story, a new member, was elected treasurer. Mrs. Lambert served a dainty refreshment of cream pie with caramel topping and mints. Shammocks were plate favors.

The association will meet March 28, 6:30 p. m., in assembly room, Baptist church.

Scale Runners Club Studies Wagner The scale runners club presented a pleasing program of music and study at their session Tuesday afternoon, hosted by Helen Lucas, with meeting opened by the club president, Catherine Carter, and minutes by secretary, Anna Jane Taylor.

The junior club song preface, the program of piano numbers, simplified studies of the Wagner school, and presented by Mava Lou Crossley, Patsy Sparks, Helen Lucas, Betty Joe Newman, Marie Hart, Lorene Stahr and Marjorie Murphy, with intervening reading by Jacile Coffman, and the biography of Wagner given by Anna Jane Taylor.

An article on hand position was given by Catherine Carter and a piano duet was played by Wilma Dean Pierce and Frankie May Pierce. Program closed with piano solo by Catherine Carter, Lohengrin Wedding March.

Mrs. C. T. Lucas, assisted her little daughter in her hostess duties, and in serving the dainty plate in the rolod motif of white and green, carried out in sandwiches, pickles, potato flakes, small iced cakes, and iced tea.

Mrs. A. F. Taylor, the club director, announced next meeting for the second Tuesday in April.

Delightful Success Funfest Party A novel and unique program was arranged by the host and hostess, Mrs. Bert McGlamery, superintendent of Methodist church Sunday school, Mrs. J. E. Hickman, Miss Lorraine Taylor, and Milton Newman teachers of senior department for the entertainment Tuesday evening in lower assembly room of the church.

Initiation into a so-called "secret society" effected a novel introduction of each guest. Contending group singing was led by Mrs. J. E. Hickman, with Mrs. McGlamery as pianist, and was followed by games set to music, the program closing with an original "good-night" stunt, played by four girls, and two boys, and entitled, "The Mystery Find."

Those attending, Misses Mary Frances Hunter, Carolyn Doss, Jone Johnson, Frances Harrell, Joyce Newman, Faye Tucker, Essaline Harvey, Ima Ruth Hale, Hazel Harrell, Lahoma Turner, Jeanne Kitley, and Florence Perkins; Curtis Terrell, Ralph Mahon, Richard White, Parker Brown, Billy Doss, Tom Harrison, Harry Bill Brogdon, Rex Gray, Hiram Childress, R. Booster Class Planned for Charity The called meeting of the Booster class held last night in the classroom of the Methodist church was given entirely to discussion of ways and means for taking part in the prevailing relief plans now in vogue for the needy of the city.

The class is determined to take care of one family, furnishing food and clothing and this for an indefinite time.

The president, Mrs. Kelly, appointed a committee who will investigate conditions and act accordingly to the most urgent need.

Committee, Mrs. Neil A. Moore, Mrs. W. W. Kelly, Mrs. Ed Willman, Rev. Sam G. Thompson, pastor of the church, asked the Booster class to take charge of the prayer meeting service on next Wednesday evening.

The class was represented by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Willman, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Kelly, Mrs. J. C. Patterson, P. L. Crossley, W. W. Phillips, J. W. Hassell, Neil A. Moore, Misses Aline Walker, Lillian Thompson, Jessie Lee Ligon, Judge W. P. Leslie, and pastor, Sam G. Thompson.

As Gold Flowed Back to Banks

"That's gold in them thar bags!"... Confidence restored by President Roosevelt's emergency action, thousands of persons throughout the nation returned to the banks gold which they had withdrawn. Above is a scene in front of the Federal Reserve Bank at New York to which numerous persons brought gold, in bags and boxes, that will buttress the nation's currency. Below, armed guards are shown as they transferred gold from the Empire Trust company, New York, to the vaults of the Federal Reserve Bank in that city. Each bag contains $500 in gold coin.

EASTLAND PERSONAL

Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Harkrider of Dallas and their daughter, Miss Diane Harkrider, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Little.

Dr. J. H. Caton was shocked by the intelligence of the death of his cousin, Mayor C. M. Chambers of San Antonio, aged 55 years, and who died Monday from an attack of congestion of the brain. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon. The body laid in state in the municipal auditorium prior to the funeral services. The late Mr. Chambers was the son of Dr. Caton's uncle. The cousins had been boyhood chums, in their old home in Clarksville, Texas.

Co-Hostesses Pay Pretty Compliment to Bride-Elect

Miss Pauline Head Adding a delightful preceding note to the wedding announced for Saturday morning uniting in marriage Miss Pauline Head, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Head, Straawn highway, to Allen Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Baker, Travis street, co-hostesses, Mrs. E. L. Nelson, Mrs. L. E. Gray, Mrs. J. E. Meroney and Mrs. D. W. Nichol entertained with a pretty miscellaneous shower in compliment to the bride-elect Tuesday afternoon with the colorful affair given at the home of the former hostess, Country Club road, covering the hours from 3 until 6 o'clock.

Ferns and potted plants brought the color note of the month and clearly accentuated St. Patrick Day in a very prettily arranged fashion.

Guests were pleasingly greeted by the associate hostesses and ushered into the entertaining rooms where a social opened the 3 o'clock hour.

A guessing contest cleverly fitting for the occasion brought the prize forth encased in the chosen color notes and was presented to the honoree, Miss Sammie Ruth Matthews, talented daughter of Mrs. Hortense Matthews, favored the following period with readings, "How to Manage a Husband" and "Between Two Loves."

As guests were invited into the spacious dining room, the guest of honor drew from a "wishing well" cloaked in stripes of green and white the many lovely and useful gifts each carrying wrappings of vari-colored tints. The beautiful array of tokens for the important event were passed by Miss Head together with sincere and appreciative remarks offered for each. As the perfect hour pointed to a close hostesses passed a plate laid with green dolies finished with touches of white which carried white cake topped with whipped cream and pecans and tall beverage glasses filled with green and white ices. Nut cups filled with confections completed the delicious course enjoyed by guests.

Exhibit Shows Earth's Depths

PHILADELPHIA—Persons who long have entertained a desire to peer into the depths of the earth are being invited to the Natural History Museum here, where an exhibit—"A Section Through the Earth"—opened recently.

The display shows specimens of various mineral formations of the earth's different layers, among which is one piece of peridotite thrown up from a South African volcanic diamond-bearing "pipe."

A diagram on exhibit shows the outer, or granitic, shell, which forms the 12 1/2-mile-thick "crust" of the earth, which in turn rests upon a second layer 25 miles thick.

The third, or peridotite shell, is 960 miles thick and is composed chiefly of iron and magnesium silicates, scientists explained. The South African "pipes" extend down to just within the shell. The specimen on display was obtained by the museum's Academy of Natural Sciences in the 1929-30 expedition to South Africa.

The fourth, or pallasite shell, is 876 miles thick, and consists of silicate and iron. It surrounds the core of the earth, which is 2,125 miles through and is composed of a nickel-iron alloy resembling meteorites.

Dispatches relate that an escaped prisoner was recognized by his smile. Perhaps it was because everything was so new to him, but he showed an outstanding lack of caution in making himself so conspicuous.
