MERCHANT'S GOOD WILL PROGRAM A SUCCESS

"That reminds me..."

Here's worth while cooperation for you: Around one hundred business men, some with their wives, went out to Flatwoods Tuesday night and put on a program that was as enthusiastically received as it was rendered. J. H. Pittman, resident of the Flatwood community, in his honest-to-goodness manner welcomed the trippers and every word was full of sincerity and exemplified the fine hospitality of his people.

It is a great thing to bring people together. It simply makes them understand each other. Thanks, Flatwood, for the wonderful reception you gave us. Don't think that Eastland will forget it.

We are just wondering if the newspaper fraternity, the city and county officials, the ministers or the merchants, who let the theatres put cards in their windows, expect free complimentary passes to the theatre or if the passes come just as an act of courtesy from the theatres themselves.

Gifts of any kind come from the source of friendship and courtesy—never with a string tied to them. It takes money to operate a picture show just as it does to operate a business and, besides, amusements always have a special tag attached to them because they are considered "luxuries."

The theatres would do well to do away with "class distinction" and the public could well back up the theatre management when any force of power is practiced to receive the special favors.

Public officials are paid a salary for their work, newspaper representatives are paid a salary, and merchants are in business for a profit. So let's cut out the passes altogether unless the management wants to confer the courtesy upon a basis of simply "I like you and don't mind letting you in free."

Then its the theatre's loss and nobody has received something because the theatre might think that it was necessary to give a pass for the reason that some adverse reaction might occur towards their business.

We have heard much criticism towards this practice in other communities and we believe it would be well for Eastland's progressive theatres to issue passes according to the dictates of their own conscience without feeling that they are issued because of some expected favor, or fearing some calamity if they don't do it.

There is no more reason why anybody should be admitted free to theatres or any other kind of entertainment, unless they can render a service that is taken as compensation for the tickets.

The newspaper expects pay for the theatre advertising. Theatres pay taxes for operating to the government; so why any special favors? Besides the charges of theatres in Eastland is so small that any one can afford to pay for their admission on the barrel head. This is the new deal and the new deal provides for fair and equal distribution of everything. It is great to live in a country like this—much greater to be a part of Eastland's community life. Special favors are fast becoming unpopular, and rightfully so.

Eastland citizens are beginning to get their heads together as to the disposition of the old high school ground.

First thing we know it will be the new football field, a track for track events, and a place for holding the annual county inter-scholastic meet. If that comes to pass, nothing can touch us in seven counties.

Did it ever occur to you that when people get down to real hard thinking that most any problem can be solved. There is no use talking. Eastland folks are beginning to think, and think hard. It is an indication that the Rip Van Winkle era, caused by the so-called deep depression in the wool depression, is over.

Now then, there is the bank situation. We need a bank. Guess that subject has been brought up before. This old word, wait, is a dangerous crossing. When a thing is needed, it is time for immediate action. A bank for Eastland is an emergency. The siren of the rushing remedy should continue to scream until the victim is picked up and brought back to normal.

Let's keep on having meetings, every day if necessary, until something is done to get a bank. We are just itching to print the news and tell the world that Eastland has a bank and the world is itching to hear it.

And what about the old burnt building on the corner of West Commerce and South Mulberry. Let's get it out of the way.

DOYE ARNOLD FILES APPEAL FROM SENTENCE

By United Press
AUSTIN, May 31.—The court of criminal appeals today had submitted to it without oral argument the appeal of Doye Arnold, given a death verdict in Stephens county on conviction of killing his former wife, Zelma Arnold, at Breckenridge, Sept. 10, 1932, by beating her with a rock.

State Attorney Lloyd Davidson submitted a brief in reply to the contention that the verdict was void because the jury discussed matters in the testimony.

One juror was holding out for a 99-year sentence. He said that "matters" discussed in the jury room were previously known to him. The state's brief contends that because he already knew of these matters, their mention in the jury room need not void the death verdict.

By United Press
DALLAS.—Texas' three largest cities—Houston, Dallas and San Antonio—ran a close race during the past year in mortality from automobile accidents.

San Antonio, like Dallas, showed an increase in the number of deaths and the automobile mortality rate over a year ago from 53 to 58 and from 22.6 to 23.6.

Minister's Son Sponsored Prize Fighting Measure

By United Press
AUSTIN.—Rep. George (Battling) Butler of Bryan, author of the bill to legalize prize-fighting in Texas, is a minister's son.

But he does not think his sponsorship of the boxing bill is a demonstration that "preachers have the worst boys."

"The first fight I saw, I attended with my father," Butler said. "I like a clean fight and the purpose of the boxing bill is to get clean fights instead of the unregulated fights that are being held over the state despite the law against them."

"The night the house of representatives committee held a hearing on the boxing bill, there were two illegal fights going on in Austin."

HOSTAGES ARE RELEASED BY DESPERADOES

Mutineers Thought To Be Near Chetopa, Where Slaying Occurred.

By United Press
LANSING, Kan., May 31.—Murder was attributed today to 11 desperadoes fleeing from the Kansas penitentiary, where they mutinied yesterday.

Otto L. Durkee, night watchman of Chetopa, Kan., was slain today by unknown assailants who shot him on a street and hid his body in an alley.

A few hours before the killing one group of fleeing convicts was known to be north of Chetopa and another south of Chetopa, where they released six hostages who had been seized as the mutineers fled from the prison.

Chief of Police Dennis Owens told the United Press he believed one of the bands of convicts had killed Durkee when he encountered them.

The murder occurred about 1:30 a. m., but was not discovered until hours later when Durkee was missed and a search revealed his body.

One group of convicts, including the ring leader, had released Warden Kirk Prather and two prison guards at Welch, a few miles south of Chetopa, only a few hours before.

A second group had released three women hostages a few miles north only three and a half hours before the murder.

The women, Mrs. M. J. Wood of Kansas City, Kan., an invalid, her daughter, Louise, 17, and Clarence Weats, 17, formerly of Higgins, Texas, were set free, unharmed, at the farm home of William New, two and a half miles south of Pleasanton, Kan.

The women and their captors arrived at the New farm last night and demanded "supper for eight."

Brandishing razors and revolvers, they forced Mrs. New to prepare them a meal of bacon and eggs.

The fugitives left the farmhouse after the meal and scattered. "We're going to stay around this country a while and rest up," New quoted the ring leader as saying.

Decoration Day Observed Here

Through the offices of the guardians of the Camp Fire Girls under chairmanship of Mrs. W. F. Palm, the direction of Dr. H. B. Tanner and the assistance of Ed T. Cox Sr., as well as the Boy Scouts, the contribution to Decoration Day in Eastland was observed in a dignified manner, befitting the memory of all those loyal sons, who lost their lives in defense of their country.

The opening exercises at the cemetery at 9:30 a. m., witnessed the decoration of the graves of sixty-two soldiers, by nineteen Camp Fire Girls, representing the Charyata, Talahi and Nettopenpe Groups, under direction of Mmes. Palm, Cecil W. Webb and Fred L. Drago of the Civic League Camp Fire Committee assisted by Mmes. Bert McGlamery and J. L. Johnson.

The service at 11:00 a. m., at the Soldiers Memorial Fountain was opened with the bugle call by Clyde Chaney.

The Camp Fire Girls assembled on west steps of courthouse, lined up in march with Alice Jones as flag bearer, preceding Joe Earl Utz and Eleanor Ruth Ferguson, who carried the wreath presented them through Mrs. Bula B. Connelley, chairman fountain for Civic League.

The wreath was placed over the shaft of the monument following the prayer by Rev. Sam G. Thompson.

The group of seventeen Camp Fire Girls formed a circle about the wreath bearers and sang America, gave the salute to the flag, and followed with the hymn The Flag We Love, as the wreath sank slowly over the fountain, where it was fastened with streamers of red white and blue tulle, as Chaney blew Taps.

The wreath was made by the Parker Floral Company and was very handsome, in background of pansies, marigold filling, and fern edging.

The three Camp Fire groups, were represented in Nettopenpe by Alice Jones, Talahi by Joe Earl Utz, and Chanyata by Eleanor Ruth Ferguson.

The cemetery held a good crowd for the memorial program at 2:00 p. m. The ceremony at the bridge over Lake Eastland was witnessed by ten or fifteen carloads of sightseers, about 60 present.

This beautiful service opened with invocation by Rev. Thompson; the Camp Fire Girls sang The Long Long Trail, and gave the salute to the flag. Bugler Chaney blew Taps as the girls dropped beautiful flowers on the face of the water, in memory of sailors who lost their lives at sea. The salute to the flag was given and the day was ended.

CARTER GLASS PUTS OVER HIS BANKING BILL

Sen. Carter Glass is a former secretary of the treasury. He is one of the high aces of Southern democracy. He is a dry pro and a consistent democratic regular. His banking bill was passed by the senate with less than four hours of debate. It carried provisions for both emergency and permanent insurance on bank deposits and calls for the severance of banking and investment business. That is, it would divorce national banks and their affiliates. Now the bill is in the hands of the conferees. This committee will reconcile differences between the senate bill and the measure passed by the house.

Incidentally, the two are similar except for slight differences in deposit insurance provision.

An amendment providing for the insurance of deposits in all banks for one year, beginning July 1, after which time the last permanent insurance fund would begin to operate was put into the bill. It provides for the insurance of deposits up to $2500 in federal reserve member banks and state banks certified by state authorities to be solvent. The Glass insurance clause to become operative July 1, 1934, creates a corporation with assets approaching $2,000,000,000 to guard deposits in reserve member banks and to speed up the liquidation of closed institutions.

Away down here in Texas the veto of the Hopkins bill placed state banks in a sorry plight. Those whose officials desire to bring about liquidation and go out of business must close their doors before they are permitted to liquidate. William Jennings Bryan in his lifetime was the champion of what was known as "the guarantee deposit law." It was given the acid test in Nebraska. It was a rank failure. It was given the acid test in Oklahoma. What happened to it is ancient history. It was a failure and the lawmakers repealed it. Texas tried the Bryan plan. It cost efficient and successful bankers a vast deal of money to meet the losses of the inefficient or the crooked or the indifferent who invaded the state banking field.

Huey P. Long voted for the Glass bill as amended. He led the filibuster against the Glass measure last year. He has an alibi. He said he favored and voted for the new measure because it contained "protection for the little banks which the former bill didn't have." Well, maybe the Glass protective guarantee measure will succeed regardless of the colossal failure of the Bryan plan adopted by the lawmakers of a number of American commonwealths.

"MILK IS MAN'S FIRST FOOD"

"Milk is man's first food and, throughout life, milk and milk products are considered man's chief food," declared Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald. "Milk is one of the foods that has the highest quality when consumed in the immediate section where produced unless adequate refrigeration is provided for during the period of transportation. Very wisely our state and city officials have established milk laws which require that milk which is to be sold to the people should be produced under very sanitary requirements. These requirements prescribe the manner in which dairy barns and milkhouses must be constructed and maintained. They also require the dairy herds be regularly tubercular tested."

Commissioner McDonald's verdict, speaking of needed legislation: "In order to get the highest quality of milk to the consumer at the lowest price consistent with good business, there must exist between the consumer and distributor complete harmony and accord." Commissioner McDonald appears to be in hearty accord with the New Deal gospel given to the American people by the president of the United States.

A whole lot of people seem to forget that everything comes from the land in the first place, that agriculture is a basic industry and that the prosperity of the country cannot be put on a stable foundation unless agriculture is prosperous.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

That great progress, increased population, industrial and commercial development and prosperity are ahead for the city that is wide-awake and whose citizens are up and doing all the time.

The speed of this progress depends wholly on the local people. Keep ALIVE!

Every city must think ahead; it must plan for the future and have a vision of what can be accomplished.

Now is the time to build a greater city, to make it greater for both the present and the future. There is no progress in sight for the city that builds for today only and does not look for its future needs and requirements.

No city would be what it is today if the early settlers had not built for the future.

The city that keeps well-thought out plans for the future constantly before it is the city that amounts to something today and will be a bigger, busier city in the days to come.

DARLING FOOL

BEGIN HERE TODAY. MONNIE O'DARE, young and beautiful, sailed for Europe with her old friend, Miss ANSTICE COREY. Monnie believes DAN CARROLL is with whom she has been in love, has lifted her, partly because his parents look down on Monnie, who is poor. Dan's parents want him to marry wealthy SANDRA LAWRENCE. Sandra, pretending to be Monnie's friend, does her best to win Dan, even telling him Monnie is going mad.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVIII. MONNIE turned the letter slowly in her hands. Dan's familiar writing, black and bold, stared back at her. Her heart turned over. How odd--how very odd it was to receive a letter from him at this moment, when she was trying to make the most momentous decision of her life! It was as if Dan himself had reached across the many miles that separated them, saying, 'Wait, Monnie! Don't forget me. I'm still here!'

WELL, pirate or not, she liked him. A girl liked to be swept off her feet. The boldness, the swiftness and unexpectedness of the situation appealed to her. Beyond the morrow she would not look. When his deep voice came to her over the telephone she would say, 'I'm coming with you.'

Capt. Goering to Plan Defense for Future Air Attacks

By United Press BERLIN, Germany -- Captain Herman Goering has completed the organization of his Reich's Ministry of Aviation by adding a department for protection against aerial attacks. The department is headed by two experts, ex-General Grimme and ex-Major Waldschmidt. General Grimme was commander of all German anti-aircraft forces during the World War, while Major Waldschmidt was department for the protection of the hinterland and Western Germany against aerial attacks. The new department's first task will be the organization and unification of the various local bodies, which have been formed for protection against aerial attacks by the various municipalities. Simultaneously it is preparing for country-wide propaganda aiming at educating and training the population as to the most effective means of protection against attacks from the air. Education and training in this respect is vital for Germany in the opinion of experts. In a future war, they point out, every part of the country may be affected by aerial attacks. Germany borders on eight countries each of which has an air force. Four of these countries, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland, and Lithuania, have, however, but small air forces. Yet the other four neighbors possess big air fleets and, according to German figures, France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, and Poland between them have approximately 6,500 war planes of which approximately 1,700 can be used for bombing purposes.

Brownville May Have Race Track

By United Press BROWNVILLE -- Northern race track men and capitalists are planning a winter racing resort three miles from Brownville on the Rio Grande. Members of a syndicate have been in touch with the Brownville chamber of commerce and a local attorney discussing possibility of purchasing 868 acres ideally situated for a track, and a local civil engineer has been retained to draw up preliminary plans. A quarter-of-a-million dollar project was launched at Matamoros on the Mexican side of the river ten years ago, and scores of fine horses were taken there, but a revolution broke out suddenly and ended the venture. Since then unfavorable Texas laws have made racing on the American side unfeasible until May 24, when Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson signed the bill carrying the rider which legalizes certificate wagering at horse races. Conditions of climate, scenic beauty and accessibility make the site tentatively chosen ideal.

OAK GROVE

The rains for the past two weeks have put the farmers in this locality very badly behind with their work. Gen. Green Gross and Colonel Cockleburn have spread their forces out on the land like grass in a hot frying pan. But the sun shined from Friday to Monday has so dried the ground that our farmers and farmettes are waging "battle royal" against the intruders and they are disappearing like a pot of new potatoes before a bunch of hungry eaters. Miss Ruby Barton of Carbo spent the week-end with Miss Grace Cannaday and they entertained their beaus with a fish-at the Rockhole on Sabanno Saturday afternoon. Russell Barton of the Bear Springs community was visiting in this community Saturday night. Several new cases of measles have been reported this week, but every one is getting along fine. J. E. and Mrs. Cannaday attended services at the Baptist church Sunday and spent the remainder of the day with Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Moore.

SCARCITY OF 14... p-y Makes Cats Reduce

By United Press HOUSTON.--The case of Clementine, the sooty white federal building cat, is a sad one, everybody agrees. It took Clementine several years to destroy all the rats and mice in the building. Now there are no more. Clementine is forced to subsist on scraps from employees' lunches. These are extremely few, which accounts for Clementine's recent decline in weight and the sadness of the case.

The little folks of the Spencer Kindergarten acquitted themselves most beautifully in their cunning operetta, The Sugar Plum Tree, given in the High school auditorium, Tuesday night, before an appreciative audience of parents and friends.

An outstanding feature was the Rainbow Dance, by the fairies, lovely in crepe paper-rainbow costumes, and led by the queen of the fairies, Eulalee Hart.

After the operetta, the little people were whisked back scene, where they donned dignified black cap and gowns, and marched in double file, down the main aisle of the auditorium, to the people, lining up one side and girls as they followed the other and meeting in the center.
