17 PER CENT RISE IN FARMER'S PRICES

Statisticians of the federal bureau of agricultural economics in their latest bulletin point to a 17 per cent rise in farm prices for the period April 15 to May 15. This information is added for the edification or information of all concerned: "This the most sensational spiral since the post-war boom days of April 10." Furthermore, the very gratifying information is given by the bureau that the upward swing has continued since that date. Statisticians of the bureau, who computed the increase on the basis of prices paid farmers at their local markets declare that during the 30 day period the prices paid by farmers for goods have remained unchanged at the pre-war level.

According to figures gathered by Raymond Brooks, of this paper's Austin Bureau, the increase in Texas commodity wealth approximated $110,000,000, and this represented a gain in excess of $100 per family for the entire state. More important than all, according to the Brooks contribution to "cheerful large earfuls" the gains "amount to nearly one-fourth the total value of the same quantity of products in 1932." All this new wealth is represented by crops, livestock, wool and mohair. According to the monthly business review of the federal reserve bank at Dallas the April sales of department stores in leading cities reflects a further gain of 21 per cent and were only 2 per cent less than in the same month last year. The review states that increased activity of business and industry and the further strengthening of confidence were outstanding developments in the federal reserve district during the past 30 days.

A factor of considerable importance has been the re-appearance of substantial forward buying in some lines and collections reflected a substantial improvement. Watch the ticker. It tells the stories of flurries and flops—or rather the tale of high lows and low highs as ancient Time goes racing along.

WORLD WHEAT RESTRICTION PLAN

President Roosevelt and his advisers hope that an agreement can be reached in the city of London for the control of world wheat production by the time the world economic conference gets under way June 15. Well, there is a fly in the ointment. Stanley M. Bruce, the Australian high commissioner, announced at the first formal session of the four power wheat conference in London that his government could not participate in a proposed international scheme for limiting production of the cereal. Of course, it is expected that the United States and Canada will agree to a most drastic cut in wheat acreage. Argentina is another important wheat producing nation and the Argentina spokesman, expressed his willingness to cooperate to the fullest extent with the great wheat producing countries for solving the question of world grain surplus. There are 38 wheat producing countries. But the United States, Canada, Argentina, Soviet Russia, and Australia lead all the rest in acreage and productivity. "It is a long road to Tipperary."

STEEL PRODUCTION ON THE HIKE

Steel ingot production has continued its rise to 41 per cent capacity compared to 36 per cent capacity in the previous week. Figures were taken from The Iron Age magazine of May 31. Since the third week in March production schedules have shown an uninterrupted advance. Remarkable upswings in tin plate demand has brought the output of the product up to 90 per cent of capacity with full operations likely to be obtained within a week. Continued expansion of specifications indicated sustained production for at least two months. Watch the ticker. It tells the story.

Real effort is essential to success.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT it pays to be courteous. The rights of others should be respected. You should not criticize your neighbors too much until you are sure you are right—you might be wrong. You should not dig up troubles; they come fast enough anyway. You should not impose upon others if you don't want them to impose upon you. You shouldn't boast—you might not always make good. A whole lot of people in every city are asleep and need some prodding. Some cities should bear in mind that visitors to their city come to spend money—not to have it taken away from them. In some cities the principal thing handed a visitor is a cold shoulder. When visitors are treated rough they usually go away knockers. Most cities have an over supply of knockers at home. No use making a lot of out-of-town ones.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—A new kind of lobbyist—no one thought there was any such thing—has appeared in Washington. Soon there may be 47 others here with assignments corresponding to that of Frederic P. Lee who has been appointed by Governor Albert C. Ritchie to see to it that Maryland gets at least her share of the billions of dollars which the federal government is going to distribute among the states.

Lee is a lawyer who knows how to deal with government agencies and legislative bodies. Ritchie long a staunch advocate of states' rights and local responsibility, took the attitude that if relief and other money were to be handed out from Washington his state should let no grass grow under her feet while moving toward the treasury.

GOV. RITCHIE explained: "The federal relief program is on so vast a scale and involves so many different pieces of legislation which require departmental construction that it seems to me Maryland is fully justified in employing a competent representative in Washington to keep constant touch with the entire relief program and with the departments which will be charged with carrying it out and allotting the federal funds."

When this was a smaller job it was left to state senators and representatives, and occasional

The beans are blanched in hot water, packed in sterilized quart jars, 1 tsp. of salt is added to each quart, the beans are covered with water and the jars sealed with fruit jar tops and rubbers. Then they are immersed in the wash tub with water kept from 2 to 4 inches deep over their tops (This is important) they are boiled 2 1/2 hours and then left in the water to cool sufficiently to be taken out. These beans keep as well as pressure cooked beans.

Silent Mobilgas Puts More Pep Into New Motors

DALLAS, June 8.—Responding to public demand for an improved automotive fuel with higher anti-knock rating to sell at standard prices, "Silent Mobilgas" is announced by the Magnolia Petroleum company. The new Mobilgas, colored a distinctive shade of purple, has been placed on sale at no premium by over 11,000 Magnolia stations and dealers serving the southwest.

"Developed in the Magnolia laboratories to meet every requirement of high compression motors, the new Mobilgas was introduced only after rigid testing under actual driving conditions by Magnolia test cars," E. P. Angus, vice president and manager of sales, said. "It has been found that under conditions that cause ordinary gasoline to knock, silent Mobilgas will give quicker starting, instant pick-up and split-second get-away for thousands of miles under varying highway conditions—in heat and cold—this new fuel not only gave knockless performance, but proved conclusively to be a longer mileage gasoline.

"While a material increase in the anti-knock rating is the most noteworthy improvement in the new Mobilgas, it's distinctive qualities of 'Climatic Control' have been increased," Mr. Angus said. "Through the preadjustment of manufacturing specifications Magnolia produces in Mobilgas a fuel best adapted to the climatic and operating conditions of the locality in which it is used. This quality of Mobilgas is called 'Climatic Control'.

In the introduction of the improved Mobilgas Magnolia has adopted as its slogan, "Full Speed Ahead," and is providing automobile owners with attractive windshield stickers carrying that phrase. The stickers, featuring Uncle Sam piloting an automobile to prosperity, are a part of Magnolia's contribution toward business recovery.

Delightful Musical Honors Visiting Guests Eastland has seldom had an informal entertainment of a social nature so markedly delightful as well as informal, as that of the musical tenders by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin to a group of friends, on Wednesday night, arranged in honor of Mrs. Edwin Montgomery of Lake City, Florida, guest of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Horton, and Misses Gordon Reeves, and Worthington Renshaw of Decatur, Texas, guests of their uncle and wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. The McLaughlin residence, brilliantly lighted throughout and decorated with flowers, and the big, handsome lawn with its setting of flowers and trees, were thrown open to the guests, who were informally received by the hostess and honorees in the music room, and by the host on the front veranda.

A wonderful program of voice numbers ranging through classical, romantic and sacred schools, was presented by Mrs. Grady Pipkin and Mrs. J. B. Leonard; B. M. Collier; duets by B. M. Collier and M. L. Keasler, and a group of lovely melodies by Mrs. Montgomery.

The talented Mrs. D. L. Kinaird was accompanied for the evening and also interpreted the Juba Dance, the only piano solo on the program. A brilliant duet, voice, by Mrs. J. B. Leonard and Mr. B. M. GOD'S GOODNESS

God knew that we must sorrow, So He sent the lovely flowers; As a promise of tomorrow, After weary, earthly hours.

God knew we'd have temptations, He sent the warming sun, As a silent meditation, As reward of bottles won.

God knew we must have happiness, So He sent a little child, A pledge of His true tenderness, So pure and undefiled.

Our God above is very good, He does so much for us, How safe we'd be if we would, In Him forever trust. —MRS. MARY LEE GALLEY.

Typical Holt Action In "Woman I Stole"

Film audiences have grown to expect a good picture whenever Jack Holt is starred, and "The Woman I Stole," Columbia's newest film featuring this popular actor, now playing at the Lyric Theatre, is no exception. There are powerful situations without number, a rapid-fire plot, and a splendid cast.

The strength of the picture lies, not only in the unusual love story, but in the dramatic punches and realistic oil-field atmosphere. The locale is an isolated oil-port on the edge of a desert, and there men struggle bare-handed to achieve personal success. They employ fair means and foul, for the desert wilderness permits only the survival of the fittest.

Jack Holt, as Jim Bradier, oil tycoon, who has built up this tremendous industry only to toss it aside as a worn-out plaything, has his usual he-man role, but he portrays it with even more than his customary punch. His love scenes with Fay Wray, a subtle adventurer who, though married, is willing to destroy her home to gratify her love for Holt, are powerful and effective.

Miss Wray's interpretation of Vida Corew is a welcome change from her previous "horror pictures." She is too splendid an actress to be forever cast in roles which demand only terrified screams. As a woman of the world who seeks merely to gratify her own desires, she offers a characterization which should delight not only her old admirers, but bring her a new following.

Raquel Torres, as a tempestuous dancer, Teresita, madly in love with Holt, turns in a performance of unusual charm, and Donald Cook, as Miss Wray's husband and Holt's rival, gives a portrayal marked by sincerity and strength. He is a likable performer. Others in the cast, chiefly Noah Beery and Edwin Maxwell lend strong support.

The production has been nicely mounted—the settings are attractive. Irving Cummings' direction is effective.

ONCE... EACH DAY

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

Inter-Eastland-Ranger:

Two girls, overall clad and grinning, thumping it Abileneward. Papa and mama stalked some 60 yards behind... practicing the same art of travel.

Just one big, happy happy family humming through life. The Lord helps those who have enough self-interest to help themselves. Maybe they caught that ride. I don't know. They hadn't 15 minutes later.

The tourist season is upon us. One car boasted three rolls of something or other on the back, a baby carriage hanging perilously from a dangling rope, three bags, and a car trunk.

We'll say they were Chicago-bound. It sounds so festive. Much more so than Fort Worth. Even the most drab of us wander into the cow town now and then.

The man at the wheel wore colored glasses and a slightly frayed cap, noticeable even across the highway. He looked very much like a depression-hit owl. Travel brings out the best in of us... makes us see ourselves as our best friends judge.

Among those globe-trotters who infest the Bankhead highway, trudged a little man with a doctor's kit dangling from an apparently lifeless hand.

The medical profession is leveling down on a plane with lawyers and undertakers and would-be-carpenters.

A freight train chugging by, laden with the cargo of lift. Sixtynine boys and men adorned the rough boxes. The things reeked with inactivity.

A cat crouched by a barbed-wire fence, watching with big, disturbed eyes. The feline instinct was probably temporarily paralyzed. Not a mew in furry observation.

A highway home and housewife being woad-mailed by a gesticulating peddler. All sympathy to the little woman. He came our way, too.

Some of these fellows have to be shut up, some of them shut out. Happy is he who peddles unwanted goods who sees disinterest and meets it like a man.

A traveling salesman with car trouble, impatiently awaiting assistance. The sun went behind a cloud for a minute. Horrified, no doubt. The air seemed rather thick around the car.

Heavy trucks thundering past. Bringing back the rumble of the oil days... and iron graveyards adorn the fields. They sell it, use it, let it lie.

College boys going home. Bags plastered with bright stickers, their hats sitting askew on toused heads. "So this," their attitude grumbles, "is the wages of education."

YOU and the WORLD

YOU can sit in your room and turn through advertising pages—demand any portion of the world before you to come to you, and it will come! You can summon an ounce of French garden in a perfume vial; intricate pieces of Switzerland in a tiny wrist watch; a corner of California packed in an orange; a handful of Virginia to stuff in your pipe; sunny Seville in olives; a taste of Ceylon in tea.

Advertisements tell you the desirable portions of the world you can buy. How most quickly to call them to you. How much you'll like them when yours. Grown on a far island—dug from a mine—if it's advertised and you ask for it, it's yours. If you ask it to do what it's advertised to do, it will. If you ask others who have used it what they found out about it, they will repeat facts advertised about that product. Advertisements are your surest, quickest means of enjoying the world. They help you obtain the best the world offers, at a price which wide use has made low.
