Beer Zoning Extended On Lamesa Drive

Extension of the city's beer zone to include all of Lamesa Drive was ordered last evening by the City Commission.

This extension will take about a month, it was announced, as an emergency amendment to the beer ordinance must be prepared and advertisements must be published. City Attorney Walton Morrison was instructed last night to prepare the amendment, and commissioners said they would pass on it at the next regular meeting on June 14.

The extension will make on-premise beer sales legal in the zone on Lamesa Drive between Northwest Fourth and Northwest Twelfth, which is now dry. An area 150 feet on each side of Lamesa Drive will be "wet" with the change.

Commissioners approved the extension after Liquor Control Board officials and Police Chief E. W. York said they could see no objections to the move so long as beer sales are confined to cafes.

C. B. Arnold of the Liquor Control Board stated that his agency will force the cafe owners to meet health standards or revoke the beer license. This gives the city another measure of control over the establishments.

The entire beer zone ordinance is to be studied in the immediate future, commissioners indicated, as it now appears to be outdated. Possibility of including Fourth Street in the zone was voiced.

The move was taken last night to include the Lamesa Drive sector because of a petition. Commissioners explained that since no one is pushing the other sector, that more study can be given to the situation.

The beer zone now includes all of Lamesa Drive, all of Third Street, Gregg Street south to Fifth and from 23rd to the city limits. A portion of Benton Street from Northwest First to Northwest Fifth is also included, as is the downtown business district.

Ailing Water Fund Bill Takes Bad Turn

AUSTIN — The statewide water fund amendment, ailing last week when it was delayed in the Senate by the record-breaking Corbin filibuster, took another turn for the worse Monday when the House delayed action on it until Thursday.

The proposed amendment has already passed both Houses of the Legislature — but in radically different forms. Then it went to a conference committee which adopted the Senate version. Last week the Senate, after Corbin's filibuster, adopted the conference committee's version. Rep. Leroy Saul of Kress, House sponsor, started to try for House approval of it Monday, but a cool reception caused him to postpone consideration.

The proposed amendment now calls for about what it did when Sen. Dorsey Hardegan introduced it as S. J. R. 1: the opening of the session. A $100 million water fund, supported by an ad valorem tax of 3 cents on the $100 valuation, would be set up to help finance water developments. The fund would be administered by an appointive board. The amendment would go to the voters next general election.

The House disagreed with the Senate version and voted, under leadership of Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville, to finance the bonds with a water users tax rather than the ad valorem tax. It provided, too, that the administering board would be elected.

Whether the House will accept the conference committee's recommendation that the Senate version be adopted remains to be seen Thursday.

Another of the series of water reform bills slated for House consideration Wednesday. It is Senate Bill 4, which has already passed the upper house, which would give the Railroad Commission broad powers to prevent pollution of water by requiring bonds from those who drill for oil and gas. Rep. Stanley Banks of San Antonio, who has sponsored much of the water reform in the House, said he believes a pollution bill acceptable to the oil industry has been worked out.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Certain small, silvery fish are about the size and shape of lead pencils. They are known as needlefish and live chiefly in the Atlantic Ocean.

Needlefish swim near the surface of the water, and jump over small, floating objects. If there is a piece of wood or a bit of floating seaweed, a needlefish is likely to leap across it.

The reason for the jumping is something of a mystery, but several theories exist. It may be a playful action, like the downhill sliding of an acrobat.

Another suggestion is that these little fish like to scratch their bodies on the objects which they cross. It also may be that the needlefish takes a quick glance at the floating object, to see whether anything on it can be eaten.

Some needlefish leave salt water to go into rivers and lakes. They keep up their jumping while in fresh water, sometimes crossing floating leaves, twigs or feathers.

Many needlefish are only the size of lead pencils, but others reach greater length and thickness. Whatever their length, they have sharp, pointed bills containing teeth. A needlefish which is five inches long will have a bill about one inch long.

Somewhat like the needlefish are the halfbeaks. They likewise jump over small floating objects.

Halfbeaks are found from Cape Cod down to the West Indies. Their name came from the fact that their beaks or bills are only about half there. The upper part of the beak may be less than a quarter of an inch long while the lower part exceeds an inch.

Often a halfbeak turns a flip when it crosses an object. It presses the long lower jaw against the object and flips over. The tail strikes the water first on the other side.

Similar in shape to needlefish and halfbeaks are the gars, or garfish. These often grow to a length of from four to six feet. The bill of a garfish may be more than 10 inches long.

Tomorrow: Firefly Fish.

On Being A Man

Becoming a man is more than letting your hair grow 'till it tickles the tops of your ears; or pushing your jeans a dangerous inch lower, or dangling a cigarette out of your mouth.

Manhood is characterized by suave self-assurance, and the ability to be yourself easily. "All the world's a stage; the men and women merely players," Shakespeare said.

Some boys can't relax unless they're pretending they are something they are not. Some portray the dead-end kid or gangster type, sporting shaggy hair, that hints of being a girl's Italian bob, dirty nails and wilted shirt. Others imagine they are rugged cowboys in faded jeans and boots.

The men are separated from the boys as fellows learn there is nothing wrong with being themselves.

Girls, by the score, complain that their boy friends will telephone them during the week and date them on Saturdays, but coldly ignore them in church on Sunday or refuse to speak to them at school.

Peach fuzz on the chin, a soprano voice, and adolescent bashfulness are three things that must take their leave before a boy can look into his mirror and exclaim, "Today I am a man."

When girls blush and appear embarrassed, men sometimes think it sweet and feminine. For a boy to become tongue-tied and crimson is never regarded as a mark of manhood. To be afraid to speak to a girl in Sunday School whom you took to a movie the night before, is really as cowardly as being cornered on a chair by a mouse.

Do you try to keep your dating life a strict secret from your pals? Are you the last to ask your date to dance? At a party do you excuse yourself and hide in a corner with the fellows?

No cigarette in the world will make you look like a man when you don't act like one. Remember on Halloween when you sat in a dark room and were handed part of a dead man's body? Someone said, "This is his eye," and you felt it and shivered.

Ordinarily when the sun is shining bright, you love peeled grapes.

The way you feel about girls, too, is a matter of mental outlook. Do a little serious thinking. Realize that the bravest, toughest men in history had girl friends or wives and were proud of it. Realize, too, that most men consider friendship with women important and worthwhile; never sissy stuff.

The sissy part comes in not being able to be yourself — a clean, neat, well-mannered, well-bred boy who can accept girls as a normal part of his life.

U. S. Awaits Moscow Note For Action On Big 4 Meet

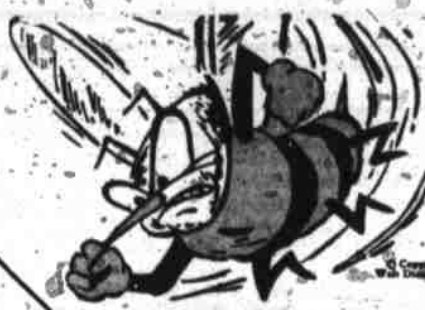

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is awaiting an official note from Moscow before deciding what is Russia's real approach to arranging a top-level Big Four conference.

Meanwhile, it is becoming clear that great difficulties lie in the way solving major problems with the Soviets. Even what kind of Big Four meeting appears to be in dispute.

The Western Powers two weeks ago invited Russia to join in the session, which would bring together President Eisenhower and the Premiers of Russia, Britain and France. A definite Soviet reply was expected by this time.

But over the weekend the Communist newspaper Pravda sharply attacked the idea that the meeting should last only about three days, as the West has proposed. The Russians said that was not long enough to deal with problems of substance.

SLOW DOWN and LIVE!

An Appeal for 101 Days of Safe Driving

During the summer months—from Memorial Day through Labor Day—highway traffic fatalities are high. So high that the Governors' Conference has endorsed a nation-wide safe driving program during the 101 days between the two holidays.

Only you, the motorist, can make this campaign a success . . . If you, and every other highway traveler, will resolve to drive at a safe speed, to follow the recommendations of Safety Associations for safe highway driving, literally hundreds of lives will be saved during this summer's travel. One of them may be your own.

Wherever you drive this summer, PLEASE DRIVE SAFELY

Safety Associations recommend that you follow these simple rules for a safe vacation trip:

- Observe all posted speed limits; don't hurry, ever.
- Regulate the speed of your car to highway and traffic conditions.
- Don't drive too long—stop when you're tired.
- Observe all highway caution warnings—slow down for curves, when descending steep hills, etc.
- Don't drink when driving.
- Follow the golden rule of traffic courtesy: give other motorists the same consideration you'd like for them to give you.

ANGRY

Is Russ Decision All Up To Tito?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN, Associated Press Foreign News Analyst
President Tito, looking like an American banker in his trim, dark suit, was bristling with annoyance when I saw him last.

His anger seemed added evidence that, if the matter was one for Tito alone to decide, there would be no full family reconciliation with the Cominform. The big question remains, however, whether it would be a matter for Tito alone to decide.

The target of Tito's anger was Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov. At the time Georgi Malenkov was deposed as Soviet premier, Molotov made a speech. Touching on Yugoslavia, Molotov hinted—just hinted—that Yugoslav Communists were sorry for their past deviations.

Speaking to his Parliament, Tito, grown gray, portly and florid, lit into Molotov for such innuendo. Molotov, he indicated, was trying to push the notion that Yugoslavia's moves toward normal relations with Moscow betrayed a willingness to "correct" past errors of dogma. This sort of thing, said Tito, was "nonsense," throwing doubt on the sincerity of other statements by Eastern leaders.

There was an implication in this that during the Malenkov regime, Tito won his battle with Moscow, that his price for full normalization was an open Moscow admission that Stalin had been wrong from the start in his feud with Belgrade. Molotov's speech thus seemed to indicate that with Malenkov gone, Moscow was renegeing on the deal.

Thus it is a matter of note that Moscow's delegation to Belgrade, ostensibly asking that bygone be bygone, does not include Molotov. He is a reminder of the Stalin era, when Yugoslavia was outlawed. Evidence at hand indicates Tito will not "redeem" completely to the East. He was educated by Moscow. He would know the risks involved.

But Western observers detect some danger. They suspect a division in the Yugoslav Communist party and that a large number of Yugoslav Communists would be happy to collaborate closely with Moscow again.

What about the ties with the West, the arms and the economic aid which came from the West?

Tito has expressed gratitude to the United States for food sent when Yugoslavia faced hunger, and for other aid. But he added: "We do not consider aid as some sort of bribe; we consider it as a thing involving humane feelings on the one hand, and on the other, something which our people have deserved for all their sacrifices."

Belgrade's Communists will tell you Yugoslavia is Communist and will remain that way. As for arms aid, the reaction one gets is that the Yugoslavs did not ask collaboration with the West; if the West wants it, the West must accept the regime and what goes with it.

It is against such a background that the Soviet Union carries its peace offensive to Belgrade with an unprecedented and humbling visit by three of the most important Moscow rulers—Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Nikita Khrushchev and A. I. Mikoyan.

Tito announced the Soviet leaders could not expect him to jeopardize his good relations with Western countries. The Soviet said of course they wanted no such thing. They wanted only to help Yugoslavia improve her relations with all countries, including those of the East.

So long as Tito remains in power, it seems likely he will also seek to retain his ties with the West. He has no future with Moscow. But there are members of his party—some of them in high places—who are suspected of seeing a future for themselves to the East. If Tito were removed from the scene by death, accident or coup, there is no guarantee what his successors might do.

There are some things Yugoslavia can gain through full normalization of relations with the Cominform, including repayment of heavy debts owed Belgrade by those states at the break in 1948, and a resumption of full economic relations which might help Yugoslavia internally.

The stakes are higher for the Russians. Apparently the least they hope for is Yugoslav neutrality to rip apart the recently formed Balkan Pact of Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey. Soviet acceptance of an Austrian independence treaty created a neutral island in the heart of Europe. With Yugoslavia ripped from the anti-Moscow framework, that neutrality would be pushed to the shores of the Adriatic, and Moscow could conceivably re-establish communications with the outer rim of the satellite empire in Albania.

There would be dividends in the propaganda effect on West Germany and France, promoting the idea of neutralism in Western Europe. A neutral belt through the middle of Europe would give the Soviet Union the time it sought to mend its internal economic and political crises and prepare to resume Communist expansion a few years hence.

Tomorrow, Moscow and Tito both taking risks.

Rotary Takes In 2 New Members

Two new members were inducted and a transfer was accepted at the Tuesday luncheon of the Big Spring Rotary club.

Inducted were Ben Johnson, dean at Howard County Junior College, and Odus Bell, new manager of the Firestone Store here. Accepted as a transfer member from Plainview was Cliff Epps, manager of the J. C. Penney Company store.

The induction ceremony was conducted by W. C. Blankenship, who traced the development of Rotary International and its ideals. Each member of the Rotary Club should strive to serve through the organization's four avenues of service — on the club, vocational, community and international levels, he stressed.

Guests at the luncheon were Orland Johnson and Austin Guidinger of Big Spring, A. B. Youngblood of Abilene, Ed Darley of Sweetwater, Howard Redding of Midland, Walker Dabbs of Snyder, and Pat Kennedy, a former Big Spring resident now living in Fort Worth.

Rotarians were reminded of the "fifth Tuesday" barbecue to be conducted at the City Park next week. Charles Weeg said those planning to attend should make reservations this week. The barbecue will be at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Show Hair At The Ear For Graduation Day Hairdo

By VIVIAN BROWN, AP Features Beauty Editor

Be feminine looking on your graduation day. If you want to look like a sweet girl graduate in cap and gown, you'll need to show some hair at your ears. "Otherwise," says hairdresser James Caesar of New York, "it may be hard to tell from the back whether it is a wig or she under the mortar board." Caesar doubts that hair will go down, down, down to the shoulders and below as in the wild and woolly long-hair era during the war. But the coiffure is a little longer this year. A blessing, he says, because so many variations of a basic haircut may be achieved. He explains:

"If the hair is kept about one inch below the hairline you can still do interesting coiffures. A simple soft page-boy type coil for daytime may be brushed into a lovely classical liss for evening wear." Avoid a kinky all-over permanent wave, the type that is given for poodle hairdo effects, he says. He recommends a soft-curl technique with smooth waves close to the head and slight curls at the ends for softness.

Mrs. Barker Shows Gardenias Taken From Her Yard

An arrangement of gardenias, grown in her yard, was brought to the meeting of the Rosebud Garden Club by Mrs. David Barker Tuesday morning. The group met in the home of Mrs. Walter Ross with Mrs. O. M. Waters as co-hostess.

Cesar says the average woman is so accustomed to the freedom of shorter hair that she will rebel as long as possible against fashion dictates that try to sell her on longer hair fashions. Says he: "Older women know that shorter hair makes them look more youthful, an effect they surely seek. Younger girls like the shorter coiffure because it is easy to care for, they can look the schoolgirl party by day and the sophisticated charmer by night, a switch that couldn't be achieved, however, with the jagged hairdos of last year."

Miss Flowers Is Given White Bible

In a formal ceremony recently held at the Westside Baptist Church, Rosetta Flowers was presented with a white Bible by members of the YWA of the church.

Caesar believes in a booster curl service for tired old permanents. His customers get one about two and a half months after the original permanent wave. He gives fresh curls from the temples down, a beauty thought for your own salon operator. The hair grooming pointer for the graduate is to observe it that clean shining look, Caesar says. Even if you do your hair at home, this may be achieved with a good shampoo and a few pin-curls at hair ends. When the hair is combed out it should look smooth and youthful. Then when you go off to the school dance and graduation parties, you can pin-up your ends or swirl them around to your liking.

Padres Record 7th Straight Victory, 8-4

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
What to do about San Antonio is puzzling the best minds in the Texas League, but if Tulsa's Oilers and Fort Worth's Cats keep up their current pace they'll be in a position to take a fling at it soon.

San Antonio Tuesday night won its seventh game in a row as it clouted hapless Oklahoma City 8-4. Tulsa was taking its sixth in the last seven and Fort Worth was winning eight out of ten.

Tulsa is nine games away from the league leaders and Fort Worth five but they're the only ones making any progress.

Houston fell out of second place by taking a double-trimming from Tulsa, 1-0 and 5-3, and Dallas managed to stagger into the spot by a half-game because it lost only once. That was a 4-3 downfall to Shreveport.

Fort Worth clipped Beaumont, 5-3. Oklahoma City named a new manager—Rudy Laskowski—Tuesday night. Laskowski, who has been playing pro baseball for 24 years, served as a minor league skipper, succeeds Tommy Tatum, who looked at Oklahoma City's standing—last by two games—and said he'd had enough.

San Antonio bashed four runs across in the fifth to snatch the lead from Oklahoma City and coast to victory.

Tulsa used the long ball to subdue Houston in both games. Mike Lutz' homer accounted for the only run in the opener. In the nightcap Bob Prentice and Joe Macko slugged homers in the first inning and Houston never could catch up.

Fort Worth's Billy Harris allowed only four hits as the Cats used eight safeties for victory.

It would be a good field for legislative action," Wade said, "if there is a real desire to put a stop to violations of the Southwest Conference recruiting laws, or offering extra financial aid."

The Penal Code covers an athlete accepting or a person offering money, gifts or some other remuneration for throwing an athletic contest, whether it be in the professional or amateur ranks.

Final Indoor Show Is Staged Here

In Promoter George Dunn's last indoor show of the season, Maurice LaChappelle and Gene Detton emerged as winners in the double main event at the Howard County Fair building Tuesday night.

LaChappelle prevailed over King Kong Cox, Jr., rallying to win the final two falls after Cox had copped the opener in 15 minutes with a Hangman Noose.

Westfall Is Fired As Abilene Pilot
CLOVIS, N.M. (U)—Bobby Westfall was relieved as playing manager of the Abilene Blue Sox last night following Abilene's 8-5 West Texas-New Mexico loss to the Clovis Pioneers.

Westfall and Catcher Charlie Gosa were banished from the game after a heated argument with plate umpire John Petrock.

General Manager Jay Hanes of the Blue Sox said he would take over immediately as permanent manager of the team.

Calvin Griffith, vice president of the Senators, and General Manager George Weiss of the Yankees held a long conference yesterday.

Out of the conference, it was learned, came a Yankee offer to give up six unnamed pitchers and infielders for either Bob Porterfield or Maury McDermott.

"We're after more hitting. Out pitching has been good but our big hitters, with the exception of Mickey Vernon, have been disappointing. Our prime need is an infielder, preferably a shortstop who can hit a little bit. We're prepared to give up somebody of equal value for such a man."

Dressen Looks To 'Changes'
NEW YORK (U)—Manager Charlie Dressen, admittedly disappointed over the fifth-place position of his Washington Senators, today promised some changes on the club "within the next 10 days."

Necciai Decides He's All Through
CORPUS CHRISTI (U)—It's all over for Ben Necciai who once struck out 27 batters in a single game to win national fame.

Inducements To Athletes Strictly Against Law

DALLAS (U)—There's a law agin' it but you can't prosecute—this business of a college alumnus offering a boy extra inducements to go to his school and play football.

Henry Wade, district attorney of Dallas County, told Jere Hayes, Dallas Times Herald sports editor, the alumnus was guilty of offering a bribe under the common law. And if any athlete who accepts an inducement in excess of what is permitted under the rules he is guilty of accepting a bribe.

But, added Wade, while it is bribery under the common law it is not covered under the Penal Code. Specific cases punishable by law are listed in the code, and there is no provision for prosecuting an athlete or one who makes an offer of extra inducement under this code.

"It would be a good field for legislative action," Wade said, "if there is a real desire to put a stop to violations of the Southwest Conference recruiting laws, or offering extra financial aid."

The Penal Code covers an athlete accepting or a person offering money, gifts or some other remuneration for throwing an athletic contest, whether it be in the professional or amateur ranks.

Morally, an athlete is just as guilty when he accepts "extra" inducements not included under the Southwest Conference rules as he would be in "shaving points."

Shaving points is where an athlete fails to give his best efforts in order to keep the score down, such as in the case of the basketball scandals.

Hayes obtained the ruling in connection with the recent trouble involving Texas A&M, which was placed on probation by the Southwest Conference for violation of the recruiting rules. Two high school athletes said they were offered money by alumni to go to Texas A&M.

Odesa Acquires Veteran Gazella
ODESSA, (SC)—The Odessa Eagles have acquired Mike Gazella, a veteran pitcher, from Tyler of the Big State League.

He had won twice while losing three times for Tyler.

Gazella formerly pitched for Abilene in the WT-NM League.

Looking 'EM OVER
With Tommy Hart
Manager-club owner Pepper Martin thought he had a first division club when the campaign got under way, and the team didn't disappoint him in the first two weeks of activity.

The bottom dropped out in a hurry after that, however. First one thing and then another went wrong.

Some of the powers-that-be in golf are still discriminating against Billy Maxwell, the local pro linkster, it would seem.

Church Softball Circuit Opens Play On June 13

Television Has A New Starr

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (U)—Television has a new star—in name as well as fact. Her first name is Kay and she spells her last name S-T-A-R-R.

Although a comparative newcomer to TV, Miss Starr has been a queen of phonograph records for seven or eight years, a favorite of disc jockey and juke box fans.

She has done an occasional TV song bit on such shows as Toast of the Town, the Jackie Gleason Show and Danny Thomas program, but has been completely absent from the video screen the past 18 months awaiting a good role.

She had it in Max Liebman's XIBC-TV musical melange Promenade, Sunday night, and came near to stealing the show from such headliners as Tyrone Power, Janet Blair, Judy Holiday and Herb Shriner.

By next morning, congratulations and offers were pouring in. One result is that Miss Starr probably will make a pilot film in Hollywood shortly for a proposed one-hour network show in the fall.

One reason Kay hasn't been on TV much is that she can't afford to wait for what she likes. Her records have been among the best sellers in the business. She commands high fees for personal appearances and, according to her business partner Hal Stanley, recently signed a five-year contract with a Las Vegas night spot for eight weeks a year at $25,000 a week. That adds up to a million dollars. She also has signed a new phonograph record contract with RCA-Victor with a $60,000 a year guarantee.

Reds Criticize Resort Waste

MOSCOW (U)—In Sochi, popular Black Sea health resort, it sometimes takes 10 years to build a sanitarium.

Trud, official newspaper of the Central Council of Trade Unions of the Soviet Union, has a special interest in this because many of the sanitariums and rest homes in resort towns are run by the trade unions. It exposes the situation with a charge that massive waste is committed in Sochi.

Trud says one project cost 11 million rubles, another two million, on hospitals still not completed. (The ruble is officially valued at four to $1.)

The trouble, says Trud, is that in Sochi alone there are 11 organizations responsible for construction and six of these deal with blue-printing or drafting. And frequently the builders don't know what the designers are doing vice versa.

4-H Club Members 'Learn By Doing'

"Learning by doing" is the method employed by the local 4-H Clubs to grow to be better farmers. And to encourage better agricultural methods through the junior farmers, national award programs have been set up.

In the meat animal program, the club members learn to raise and properly care for livestock that become part of the nation's food supply. Besides raising market animals, the 4-H members start breeding herds through their project work. Medals are available for the two county winners each year and the state winner receives a 17-jewel watch. Eight sectional winners, chosen from the state winners, receive trips to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago in December.

At the Congress, six will receive $300 scholarships as national winners. A poultry award program provides the same incentives for hard work to the club members. However, medals are given to four county winners in this program.

Last year, 530,000 4-H'ers grew over a million head of livestock and nearly 19 million fowl in the 4-H Club meat animal and poultry projects.

Presbyterians Set Vote On Church Desegregation

LOS ANGELES (U)—Presbyterians vote today on a report urging the church to "act now to abolish from its practices all forms of segregation."

Action on a committee plea for a racial "Operation Desegregation" in churches and communities highlights the closing day of the 167th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

The report of the assembly's Standing Committee on Social Education and Action says also:
1. Churches must be vigilant concerning "crippling restrictions" on schoolteachers, "abuse of loyalty oaths" and "erosion of essential human rights by a narrow definition of patriotism and insistence upon conformity. . . .

2. "Christians should be warned that the greatest danger in politics is idolatry, when we let party loyalties play a larger role in our attitudes and decisions than our loyalty to the living God."

Yesterday the Permanent Judicial Commission and the general assembly upheld the conviction of Claude Williams on charges of heresy, subversion of the faith and violation of presbytery rules. The judgment also sustained his ouster in Michigan as a minister.

Williams, former industrial chaplain in the Detroit presbytery and now a resident of Helena, Ala., had appealed rulings of the Detroit presbytery and a special judicial commission of the Presbyterian synod of Michigan

Lonely Bachelor's Will Upheld; Girl Inherits Estate

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—A lonely bachelor's will bequeathing his $40,000 ranch to a pretty 20-year-old Marietta, Okla., girl was upheld by the Oklahoma Supreme Court today.

The ruling granted full possession of the 500-acre cattle ranch to Virginia Dell Michael, known as "the girl with the $40,000 smile" since the bequest two years ago. Robert Howard Shellenberger, 37, made her his principal beneficiary shortly before committing suicide April 4, 1953. He said he never knew her name. He said he was captivated by her friendliness and the warmth of her smile when she served him as a drug store clerk

Mexico Frees Chiang Aide Accused Of Embezzlement

MEXICO CITY (U)—Mexico has freed a Chinese Nationalist general who is accused by Chiang Kai-shek's government of embezzling more than six million dollars while buying airplanes for Formosa in Washington.

The Foreign Office yesterday ordered the release of Gen. Pang Tsu Mow from prison. He has been in jail since Chiang's regime requested his extradition in August 1952.

In line with a court opinion, the Foreign Office said Mow was a political refugee and not subject to extradition.
The former general still faces trial on a charge of entering Mexico illegally. He posted a 30,000-peso ($2,500) bond before he was freed. For conviction on this count, the maximum sentence is two years in prison.

Mow fled to Mexico in 1952 after shortages appeared in the books of his office. Last year a U. S. District Court in Washington awarded the Chinese Nationalist government a $6,368,503.47 judgment against the runaway general. The sum represented the difference between the amount Formosa said it had entrusted to him and the amount he reported having spent.

Mow has never denied taking the money, which he says "is in a safe place ready to be returned to the Chinese people"
