fifty, Madera Residents Agree To Work on Street

delegation of some 35 Madera St. residents and others met with the City Commission at a regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, and agreed that something needs to be done to improve the street and that steps will be taken.

Quiry, a resident of the street, was spokesman for the group, and made requests of the commission.

He prefaced his request by complimenting the city for its plan to improve the street due to the new school, making it a more travelled thoroughfare, but before the group left, he assured the commission of complete cooperation in plans for the street.

the surface, and what are future plans for paving; 2. Can an emergency sidewalk of some kind be installed immediately to provide a safe walkway or path for the children who walk the street to and from school; and 3. Could a speed zone be adopted for the street to slow traffic to further protection for the youngsters and reduce the dust problem.

In the beginning, the spokesman indicated that it was the general feeling of his group that they should not be asked for paving costs because of the increased traffic on the street due to the new school, making it a more travelled thoroughfare, but before the group left, he assured the commission of complete cooperation in plans for the street.

Tempers rose only once during the meet and that was when another visitor, not a member of the delegation, and not a resident of the street, took the floor to expound on how he, his father and others had done their own paving in years gone by without coming to the city for "a handout." "Why should the city spend my tax money to pave your street," he asked.

Quiry answered the man by stating "We're not here looking for handouts. We have offered repeatedly to do what ever we could to get the streets paved. He also denied that the people in his area had had any selfish motives in voting to have the school in that area to possible increase property values, as alleged by the lone spokesman." ATTEND SEMINAR — Pictured are a number of beauticians who attended the Beauty Seminar last Sunday in Eastland. They are as follows: back row, left to right, Carolyn Stroud and Lucille Taylor, both of Eastland; and front row, left to right, Winnie Pirkle of Ranger, Eva Carey of Breckenridge and Hair Stylist Fred Michaelis and wife, San, of Abilene. Ida Mae Martin Buried Monday In Alameda Rites

Funeral services for Miss Ida Mae Martin, 80, were held at 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 20, in Arrington Hanner Funeral Chapel with Rev. H. B. Terry, Jr. officiating.

Burial was in Alameda Cemetery.

Born Jan. 28, 1885, in Earth County, Miss Martin died away Saturday in the Green Acres Nursing Home after an illness of two and one half years. She had lived most of her life near Mineral Wells and was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. L. E. Riley of Eastland; a niece, Mrs. W. J. Stone of Eastland; and several nephews.

Funeral arrangements were made through Arrington Hanner Funeral Home.

Beauty Stylists Gather For Special Seminar

A Beauty Seminar in an auction barn? It happened the first time in Eastland last Sunday, Sept. 19, when Hair Stylist Fred Michaelis of Abilene appeared at Eastland Auction Barn before a group of beauticians from Breckenridge, Cross Plains, Ranger and Eastland, introducing to them the new fall trend in hair styles, which will be curls, curls and more curls.

Mr. Michaelis also gave a lesson on the subject of how to cut and style wigs, and introduced the new "pro-comb".

The pro-comb has a protractor, which makes possible a very even and scientific hair cut, according to Mrs. Alma Quinn who made arrangements for the Seminar to be held in Eastland.

This unusual event was in progress from 2 until 6 p.m. with dinner being catered by Eubanks.

Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the hair styling, dinner, talks by Mr. Michaelis and even seeing the cows run through the ring and weighed a couple of times, Mrs. Quinn stated.

State Aid Plan to Pave Airport Under Study

A plan whereby Eastland's airport runways could be paved is being considered by the Eastland City Commission.

City Manager, Lewis Tiner, introduced information from the Texas Aeronautics Commission at the regular city commission meeting Monday evening and Commissioner Bill Hart is reviewing the application forms.

The plan would be worked jointly with the Texas Airport Aid program in which small civilian airports are eligible for aid for improvements.

The idea was initiated by Jack Arrington recently during a discussion with an Aeronautics Commission when it was learned that Eastland could probably qualify for the assistance. Generally it is a cost-sharing arrangement whereby the city would provide so much assistance in return for materials, etc.

In a statement made recently by Shelby Kritzer, chairman of the state aeronautics commission, it was revealed that seven communities have recently been approved for the participation, and Mr. Kritzer said, "Still more communities are destined to share in this new State airport aid program as passed by the 59th Legislature and approved by Gov. Connally."

The most recent grants include: Cameron, $10,000; Heerne, $2000; Jacksboro, $10,000; Kountze, $7,500; Clarksville, $12,000; Floydada, $12,000; and Post, $12,000.

This group of communities now being offered State grants is the second to be announced following a series of public hearings. Additional hearings will be conducted as new applications are received from Texas communities. Communities interested in participating in the program this fiscal year have until Oct. 31 to make application, it was reported.

Hwy. 6 Re-Location Project Not Cancelled; Status Quo

The relocation of State Highway 6 along W. 1st St. in Eastland has not been cancelled as a future project, Resident Engineer R. P. (Buddy) Haun said Tuesday morning.

Questioned because of a report at Monday night's City Commission meeting that the project had been cancelled, Haun said that as far as he knows the project's status is "quo".

Asked what "quo" is, Mr. Haun cited a Feb. 22, 1961, Highway Department Official Minute which says in part: "Whereas the present route through Eastland will adequately serve the traffic requirements for the next five to ten years.

"Now therefore it is ordered that the improvement program on State 6 from a point on present State Highway 6, north of Eastland to be terminated at or near the South city limits of Eastland and relocation of the existing facility through and adjacent to Eastland be deferred until a future date."

Haun indicated that the proposed project would be subject to further study, including consideration of the effect of Interstate 20 and whether or not another separation for Bassett St., as presently requested, by Eastland, is granted.

So it seems as though the project is still a part of long-range highway department planning.

Mavs On Safari For Dublin Lions Here Friday Night

Friday night will be Lion-hunting night for the Eastland Mavericks as the powerful, 2-A Dublin den grows into Maverick Stadium for the 8 p.m. kickoff.

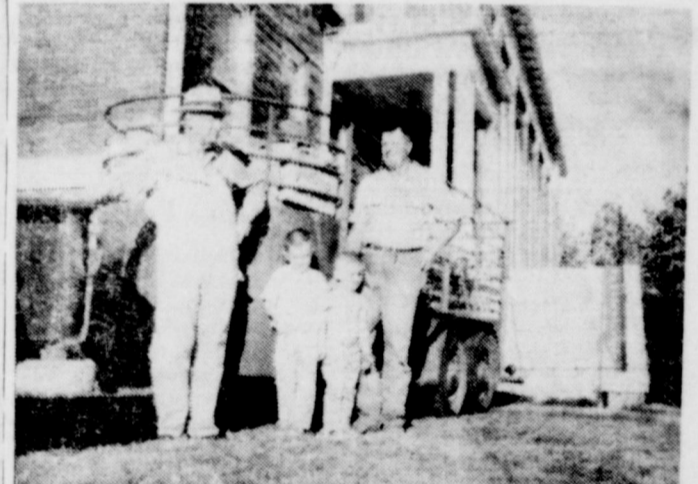

The two undefeated teams will be seeking to further their non-conference records with big wins. Eastland's small, but razzle-dazzle squad has had a potent moral booster what with their win over big Cisco Lobos last week, and the word around the town square and along the drive-in route is that if the Mavericks go into this game the way they went into the Cisco game, nobody, including the Lions can beat them.

Quarterback Jerry McCullough, who dropped out at halftime last week because of a reinjury of a knee, will probably be back in the lineup this week. Should he not be, Eastland found that their team had a fast, smart backup QB in Gene Wilson, who proved his metal through the last half against Cisco.

Line Coach Harold Price is all praise for his line that stood "ten-feet tall" against the Lobos and helped pave the way for the victory. Hitting and going through was seen against Cisco that stirred

Local Churches of Christ Aiding Betsy Victims

Frank Wolfe and Harold Courtney left Eastland Tuesday morning, with food and clothing which they delivered to victims of the floods and winds of Hurricane Betsy in Louisiana.

A special concern arose from those in each congregation who had relatives affected by the devastating storm.

Annual Pecan Field Day Scheduled For Friday

Local growers as well as those in adjoining counties are welcome to participate in the annual tour of the Eastland County Pecan Growers Association on Friday, September 24, in the Pioneer-Rising Star area, Oscar Schaefer, president of the group announced today.

"Anyone interested in pecan growing whether they have an orchard or not is certainly welcome to come and go along with us", Schaefer said.

The group will leave from the Elite Cafe in Rising Star promptly at 9 a.m. on the above date.

Four orchards will be visited prior to lunch in the above city at noon. They include Lynn Daniels, Doss Alexander, M. H. Montford, and Weldon Fenter. The C. E. Smith and the Carl Taylor orchards will be inspected after a business session to be held following lunch.

Results of demonstrations from using the new systemic insecticide — Di-Syston — applied to the soil around the first of May, to prevent yellow aphids and the resulting honey dew is expected to attract attention. This is the second year that the new material has been demonstrated with successful results. Schaefer stresses that women as well as men were welcome to be on the tour. Several Pecan authorities from over the state have been invited to attend to answer various questions. All of the orchards will be those planted on deep sandy upland soil.

And S.A. Helps Many

The Salvation Army, "With heart to God and hand to man", serves humanity at the time of need, at the point of need, regardless of race, creed or color. Standing vigilant and ready to serve, it is an agency of the Eastland United Fund.

Eastland Salvation Army Unit answered the needs of 405 persons since September of last year, according to Mike Collins, treasurer. Spent on food was $173.51; gasoline, $155; and lodgings, $39.39. The organization sent four boys to a camp for underprivileged children last summer and contributed $666.66 to the Salvation Army headquarters in Dallas. Total spent throughout the year was $1,022.21.

James Smith is president of the Eastland unit. Other members are Luce Pittman, Everett Plowman, Chief Ray Laney and Charles Freyschlag.

This organization plays a big role in giving needy children and young adults eye examinations and glasses, shoes and clothing for school age children, dental care, hospitalization for unwed mothers-to-be, toys at Christmas time, and lunches for school children.

Contributions to the Eastland United Fund assure continuation of these services in Eastland.

Other purposes of the Salvation Army include providing relief for needy families of prisoners, helping prisoners find jobs and getting back "on their feet" when released; and helps men and women in the Armed Forces.

CITY-MADERA —

"I don't know how they voted," he said.

"The school put it where it is to save taxpayers money, and it is low and degrading for a person to talk about what was done 25 years ago in view of present conditions. We're not looking for a hand-out," Quiry concluded.

At this point Commissioner James Reid said "It is a city problem and we want to help with it."

City Manager Tiner explained that the city has on hand emulsion which it had been hoped would have been put on the street before now but due to other important work which the city has been engaged in, it has been impossible to get it down, he said. Quiry was understanding of the city's current push to assist in the Valley View Estates project because of unannounced circumstances which could possibly benefit the entire city and area in the future.

It was generally agreed that preparatory work on the street will begin immediately with a view toward paving of the street next spring. Oct. 15 is generally considered last safe date to put down topping in this weather, it was said.

The group was assured that the street would be paved before school begins next year, and that work would begin immediately also on a temporary sidewalk for the street similar to one just completed on W. Sadosa St. for the purpose.

Madera is an 80-foot dedication Tiner said, providing ample right-of-way for the street and sidewalk.

After the group left the commission passed an ordinance setting the speed limit 20 miles per hour on Madera and Sadosa Sts.

In other business the Commission:

Agreed to install a bigger new-type street light behind the Production Credit Association office, and at each of the churches in town.

Voted to close the City Park at 11 p.m. in order to curtail vandalism there, making it a misdemeanor to be caught there in other than organized groups.

Agreed that the city will be out some $1,160 ($360 for ditching and about $800 for base material) in cooperating with Mr. L. C. Jones on the Valley View project, and decided that an ordinance is needed to establish procedure for the future on cooperation. The some 1,100 will be in lieu of refunds to the developer for sewerage water and other developments it was said. When all the houses are built in the addition it will mean some $9,000 a year in taxes and water sales for the city Tiner pointed out.

Decided to begin consideration of a city building code. These are mandatory on city's with as much as 5,000 population it was said.

Decided to made the south side of Commerce St. parallel parking in the block immediately south of the bank building.

Learned that Highway 80 cannot be blocked off for parades in the future.

Heard that the projected re-routing of Highway 6 through the city has been cancelled. (This was learned to be in error as shown in related story.)

Discussed paving of the city airport's runways. (As described more fully in related story.)

SEABERRY SPEAKS AT DAR CONSTITUTION OBSERVANCE

"What the Constitution of the United States was intended to do is no longer relevant, but the opinions of five out of nine men are changing your lives and mine, and the lives of our children and grandchildren," said Virgil Seaberry, Eastland attorney at law, as he addresses the Daughters of the American Revolution, at a Constitution Day program Monday at the Victor Hotel in Cisco.

People may place the blame in various places, but "ultimately we have to blame ourselves," Mr. Seaberry said "for allowing people to go to Washington who will stand for the continual decay of our constitutional form of government."

"If the founding fathers of this nation had foreseen the day when a man could not plant grain on his own land to feed his own stock without permission from the federal government, I do not believe there would ever have been a United States," the speaker stated.

Citing the Farm Program, TVA, social security, REA, the wage law and other examples as flagrant flouts of the intents of the Constitution, Mr. Seaberry said that man has never created a more noble instrument than the Constitution upon which our nation was founded, but under the politicians guise of giving everybody something for nothing, the Constitution is being torn down.

"I would see that the Con-Mr. Seaberry continued," I would realize that I could not be one without a strong central government, and there can't be a strong central government without getting rid of the Constitution.

"I would see that the Constitution was so interpreted that it would become meaningless," he added, "and I would see that the Supreme Court was composed of cast-off politicians instead of lawyers and judges."

Mr. Seaberry warned that paying mere "lip service" to the Constitution during Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, will be of no benefit if that is all that people do.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. D. R. Owen of Eastland, program chairman. Mrs. Joe Clements, Regent, introduced Mrs. Gena Cotton, Cisco High School choir leader, who accompanied Miss Cindy Broyles, choir member, on the piano as she sang "America" and "America, The Beautiful."

Cost Share Applications Being Taken

Eastland County Agriculture and Stabilization Conservation office is taking applications for cost shares under the winter legume and rye cover crop practices, according to Jesse Meredith, county office manager.

Practice D-1, establishing of the annual winter legumes in the fall of 1965 for protection from erosion, is limited to cropland which needs sufficient cover to protect from wind and water erosion during the winter months. The cover must be left on the ground until April 1, 1966, then turned under.

Practice F-1-A, seeding rye to establish a cover for the control of wind erosion, is limited to land currently seeded to peanuts. This practice may be applied after peanuts are harvested to protect the land from wind and water erosion.

On either practice, applications must be filled before starting the practice in order to be eligible for cost-sharing, Meredith said.

Special Service Friday Morning At MV Jamboree

The Morton Valley Jamboree will conduct a special memorial service Friday Sept. 24, at 9 p.m. for Preston Thorpe, it has been announced by E. P. (Pop) Whitaker.

These Jamborees are held each fourth Friday night of every month, with free admission. Pop Whitaker, who arranges Morton Valley Jamborees, entered the Old Fiddlers Contest at the Abilene Fair this year and won first place in the "61 and Over" division.

New Hurricane Season Is Here For Fall Months

COLLEGE STATION—Hurricane season is here again. Most hurricanes that seriously affect Texas are born during the months of August, September, and October. Nearly 60 percent of these form during August and the first of September, according to Tommy Hollmig, Extension rural civil defense specialist, at Texas A&M University.

The three alerts everyone should be familiar with are "Hurricane Watch," "Hurricane Warning," and "Gale Warning."

When a hurricane reaches a position that offers a threat to an appreciable area, that area is put on hurricane watch. This means there is no immediate danger, but that the hurricane is close enough for everyone in the watch area to listen for further advisories and be ready to take precautionary action in case warnings are issued.

As soon as it is expected that an area will feel the full effects of the hurricane, such as high winds, dangerously high water, and very rough seas, a hurricane warning is issued for that area. This means all precautions should be taken immediately against the full force of the storm. It should be remembered it is not the hurricane's eye or center which causes damage and casualties, but rather the high tides, strong winds, and heavy rains which proceed and surround the center.

than hurricane force, or a combination of wind and/or waves and tides which will be dangerous. Gale warnings may precede or accompany a "hurricane watch" and may be used as a warning for coastal sections adjacent to an area which is under a hurricane warning.

Hurricane names for 1965, according to Hollmig, will be Anna; Betsy; Carol; Debbie; Elena; Frances; Gerard; Holly; Inga; Jenny; Kara; Laurie; Martha; Netty; Orva; Peggy; Rhoda; Sadie; Tanya; Virgy; Wenda.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Editor
"Sure was good to hear your voice again", Glen Wood wrote his mother this week after calling her on Saturday night that they were safe at their new home in Bay Saint Louis, Miss., after a frightful drive 100 miles inland to last find shelters in Hattisburg, Mississippi, from "Betsy in all her fury".

You wanted to hear some details of "Old Betsy" Glen went on. "We got word she was to sweep directly over New Orleans. We got the news on Thursday that the eye of the hurricane was to pass over New Orleans about Mid-night.

Fern and I begin to inquire around and the people said that it would be no more than a heavy rain storm.

After serious consideration, we decided since we were new in these parts our decision was to evacuate. So about the time school was out, we started driving out.

Since Glen had just had surgery a week before and on the day before the storm hit, had stitches removed, he said to his wife that he couldn't save Peppy their dog, much less his family. We started north to Hattisburg and found that there weren't rooms and they said that we would have to go another 100 miles north.

We started out north again and because of the constant flow of traffic, we turned around and turned for Hattisburg again. We finally found a room in a trailer unit at the Holiday Inn at Hattisburg.

These were anxious moments for a mother Mrs. Wood said. "As I sat by my radio and telephone throughout the night Thursday night. Twice during the night she called station W. F. O. R. Hattisburg." First report was all are not in the shelters yet. We know the storm is headed this way but winds will not be as strong as they are in New Orleans.

Second call to the same place: All in shelters we think are the best and safe our biggest problem now will be food.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Wood found out that the course of Betsy had changed a little and suddenly had missed Hattisburg. Although as the reports went on, "People can not leave for their homes because highways out of Hattisburg are under water in places."

Mrs. Wood received a call Saturday saying that "We are home, city hard hit. Our street must have had the least damage in the whole area, Glenn was shaken up but thankful that things are so well for us."

In the letter, which came Thursday on what the family saw coming home: In Gulf Port — All swimming piers were smashed and other things were smashed all over people's lawns.

Entering Bay Saint Louis, the railroad bridge clearly visible from the toll bridge we crossed was completely in the water.

Our town, Bay Saint Louis, is just beyond the bay. We were so scared of what we might see and find, but we were lucky about our furniture, which had not arrived from Huntsville Ala., where we were moving from before the storm hit.

Bay Saint Louis downtown area was so torn up that no one was allowed to enter without a pass.

Since moving to Bay Saint Louis from Huntsville, five weeks ago, the Woods had lived on the floor with a few essentials and one mattress.

As Glen is convalescing, he is also looking forward to getting back to his work as an engineer designer. His recent promotion to the reason for their move to Bay Saint Louis.

By way of consolation to his mother, he closed his letter with a quotation from Jesus' sermon on the Mount. — Matthew 6:28, 29.

Crop Outlook Is Better in Region

Rainfall measuring up to 3.5 inches in this West Central Texas region early Tuesday morning to provide badly needed moisture for fall grain crops and pastures and to improve materially the outlook for a peanut crop.

The rain measured 2.2 inches in downtown Cisco, 1.1 in Eastland, 3.5 inches east of Cisco 2.4 inches north and northwest 1.5 at Romney, and 2.3 inches at Scranton.

The area had good showers early Sunday. Cisco got over half an inch. Considerable thunder and lightning accompanied the Tuesday morning rain as a cool front pushed into this region. Temperatures were in the high 60s after an overnight low of about 70.

The rain was expected to result in considerable plowing and planting of small grains and cover crops. The outlook for the county's peanut crop now appears to be a crop averaging 20 to 30 bushels per acre, according to reports.

Stock tanks were in good condition, and pastures were expected to improve before frost.

Lake Cisco received about two and a half inches of rain and was expected to have several inches of new water. City officials said that Battle Creek's watershed had too little rain for the pumps to be turned on there.

The forecast called for cooler temperatures and for probably rain showers through Tuesday night.

STOCK CAR DRIVERS MUST HAVE TIRES THEY CAN TRUST AT HIGH SPEEDS. THE MEN WHO PROVIDE THE THRILLS IN THIS FAST-GROWING SPORT STAKE THEIR LIVES ON RETREADS!

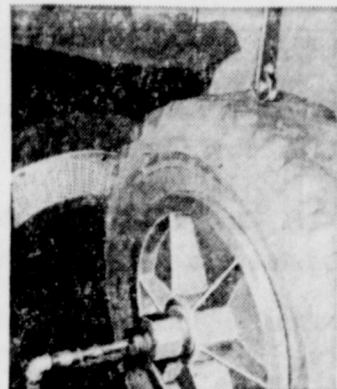

FROM NEW YORK TO SHANGHAI AND BACK! ... THAT'S THE DISTANCE THE 36-MILLION PASSENGER RETREADS TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR WOULD COVER IF LAID END TO END.

MORE THAN HALF A TON OF RUBBER IS NEEDED TO RETREAD A SINGLE TIRE! IT STANDS OVER 6 FEET TALL, COSTS ALMOST $5000 TO RETREAD AND IS USED ON ROAD CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT.

CURING

MODERN RETREADING IS SCIENTIFIC PROCESS

Since World War II, the tire shopper has seen the results of a growing skill in the production of retreaded tires due to improved methods, materials and modern equipment.

Today, retreaded tires provide economy, safety and long mileage; and good tire casings are such that they can be retreaded several times thanks to the advanced technology of tire cord and body construction.

The scientific retreading process is a relatively simple one involving five major steps.

INSPECTION

First a worn tire is carefully inspected for damage, both inside and out. Essentially, if the cord body of the tire is completely intact and undamaged, the casing is suitable for retreading. Every casing being processed for retreading must be in perfect condition. Any casing showing signs of overage, an impact break, or sidewall fatigue, is immediately rejected.

BUFFING

The casing is then buffed to remove all the old tread. Buff-ing is accomplished with a high speed rasp which rotates against the casing to shape it to exactly the proper contour and texture.

BUILDING

After the old tread has been completely removed, the building of a retreaded tire begins. Lighter sections of the buffed casing are built up to achieve perfect balance before it begins to take on its final shape. The buffed surface of the casing is then sprayed with cement and a perfectly proportioned strip of tread rubber is pressed around it.

CURING

With its new layer of tread rubber applied to it, the casing is next placed in a mold where it is cured with heat and pressure. The molds must be at just the right temperature and just the right pressure for just the right amount of time to properly cure the tire. This thermal process completely fuses the new layer of tread rubber to the tire body and imprints a fresh new tread design.

FINAL INSPECTION

The last step in the retreading process is a final inspection. A finished retread receives a final inspection to insure against any possible defects that may have occurred in the this final quality control step, preceding four steps. During the retread is also trimmed and painted. The retreader performs these final processing functions to make certain that his product meets the highest standards of safety, strength and endurance that scientific retreading provides.

THIS IS TIRE SAFETY TIME!

RETREAD FOR ECONOMY WITH SAFETY

Tire Care Adds Tire Life

Proper tire care results in longer and safer tire mileage. It can provide improved tire performance and more efficient operation of an automobile, and thus, save money.

Maintaining proper tire pressures is extremely essential. If this is not done, a tire will experience excessive tread wear because of the unavoidable heat build up and distortion at higher speeds. Therefore, tire experts recommend a frequent check of tire pressures and periodic rotation of tires.

An over-inflated tire will cause excessive wear at the center of the tread, and an under-inflated tire will cause excessive wear at the outer-most parts of the tread. Correct tire inflation causes the entire tread surface to be in even contact with the road surface, and therefore, to wear evenly.

It is a recognized fact that as car speed (heat build-up) increases, the rate of tread wear also increases. The motorist who drives 40 m.p.h. can expect an added 41 percent over normal tread wear, whereas a man who drive 80 m.p.h. can expect only 20 percent of normal tread wear. Normal tread wear is based on an average speed of 50 m.p.h.

Tires should also be checked frequently for foreign particles such as nails, stones, etc. and bruises or cuts. These irregularities should be corrected immediately before they cause serious damage.

Bad driving habits can also shorten the life of tires. Speeding, fast stops and starts, squealing around corners and not avoiding holes in the road will cause excessive tire wear. Mechanical irregularities such as wheels out of balance, excessive camber (wheels tilted inward or outward), faulty or grabbing brakes and bad shock absorbers can also be detrimental to a tire's life.

Retreading Is Secure, Economical Investment

You have invested good money in quality new tires. Why not get your full value?

Few people realize that almost 70 percent of the cost of a new tire is in the tire body, and only 30 percent in the actual tread area. People don't throw away an expensive pair of shoes just because the sole is worn out. They have them resoled because the majority of their original investment is still valuable. The exact same principle applies to quality new tires.

Tire cord technology and construction are such today that the body of a quality new tire can outlive its own tread life by as many as four or five times. Retreading provides the only means by which tire buyers can make their original investment pay off because it replaces the valuable tire body's worn tread.

Retreading cuts tire costs in half. Instead of buying a new tire when his present tread is worn smooth, a motorist can restore the life of his valuable tire body by having it retreaded.

MILLIONS OF AMERICANS ARE RETREAD USERS

The list of retread users is almost endless. It contains such users as passenger cars, trucks, buses, taxi cab fleets, racing cars, airplanes (jets with landing speeds of 145 m.p.h.), farm vehicles, off-the-road equipment and many others.

Americans feel secure with retreaded tires because they offer a cushioned ride, steering ease, road handling ability, a solid appearance, substantial looking shoulders and unscuffed, unbroken sidewalls.

More and more Americans are joining the ranks of those who use retreaded tires.

Retreading has become a way of life in the tire and automotive industries. This year, Americans will purchase an estimated 36 million passenger retreaded tires, and the trucking industry will consume 7.5 million units. "Retreaded tires can be used on just about every vehicle equipped with rubber tires," contends J. P. Curry, director of the Tire Retreading Institute

Quality Retreading Conforms To High National Standards

The retreading industry has a rigid set of national processing standards and a code of ethics.

Retreaders who adhere to the national standards produce a high quality product. National standards supply the modern retreader with a set of guide lines "drawn up in the interests of motoring safety."

Established at a meeting of industry representatives in 1955, The National Standards for Retreading Automobile and Truck Tires is comprised of nine sections. The first two sections define the purpose and scope of the specifications and retreading standards.

The standards provide nationally recognized specifications for retreading tires, act as a basis for better understanding between processors and users, protect purchasers against inferior materials and workmanship, provide fair competition among retreaders, provide a basis for confidence in properly retreaded tires and for a declaration of quality workmanship and warranty.

The remaining sections cover definition of terms used in the retreading industry, material requirements, preliminary inspection of worn tires, processing, control instructions, issuance of warranty and labeling.

Members of the Tire Retreading Institute are required to affix an authorized medallion to each tire processed in compliance with the standards.

At least one state has adopted the national retreading standards as a basis for bidding on its retreading requirements. The standards have also been adopted in several cities, including Los Angeles, also to serve as a basis for bids on retreading.

Sharon Harbin's 4-H Record Book In 1st Division

In 4-H Record Book District competition Sharon Harbin of Eastland 4-H Club was in the first division in the Senior Dress Review and will compete in the state contest in Dallas on Oct. 16, announced Bill McCutchen, Assistant County Agent.

"A fine group of 4-H record books were submitted this year for County competition," Mr. McCutchen said. "This is the best bunch of record books that have ever been submitted, but only one could be submitted to the state from each of the different project areas for district competition."

Records submitted for district competition were: Senior Division — Bobby Williams, Gorman 4-H, beef cattle; Sharon Harbin, Eastland 4-H, dress review.

Junior Division — Barbara Williams Gorman 4-H, clothing; Frank Claborn, Eastland 4-H, sheep; Tommie Lee, Cisco 4-H, achievement; Bobby Lee, Cisco 4-H, agricultural; Lynn Pippen, Cisco 4-H, beef; Christi Fuller, Gorman 4-H, swine.

Junior records are not eligible for state competition, but juniors scoring well in the district include Lynne Pippen, blue classification in junior beef; Tommie Lee, red classification in junior achievement; Bobby Lee, red classification in junior agriculture; Barbara Williams, white classification in junior sheep.
