Mississippi Lady Says She Felt Stronger, Better After Taking Cardui.

Greenwood, Miss.—Mrs. W. D. Taylor, of 1313 Carrollton Avenue, this city, has written of her use of Cardui as follows:

"About five years ago, I was in ill health. I suffered a great deal of pain in my sides and in the lower part of my body. I was weak and nervous, and at the least noise I felt like I must scream.

"At times I would have to go to bed. My head would ache. It would take me three or four days to get over these spells.

"A friend told me to take Cardui, which I did. After my first bottle, I saw some improvement. When I had taken three bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in some time. I did not have any more of those bad spells.

"I certainly recommend Cardui." Thousands of other women recommend Cardui, after having found it of valuable assistance to them in building up their health.

Cardui is a purely vegetable medicine, and contains nothing harmful. The medicinal value of the herbs from which Cardui is extracted have been well-known in the history of medicine for more than six hundred years.

The FORD TRUCK has burly strength

THE Ford is a strong, capable truck. When you examine the chassis, you will see many features that contribute to its reliability and performance. An example is the new rear axle. It has a spiral bevel gear of special truck design, with straddle-mounted pinion. The housing is of exceptionally sturdy construction. Axle shafts are heavier than formerly, and because of the three-quarter floating type of construction, they serve only to turn the wheels, without carrying any of the weight of truck or load.

available at small additional cost. With the dual wheels, balloon tires of one size are used throughout, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried.

Brakes on the front wheels have been increased from 11 inches to 14 inches in diameter, making them the same size as those on the rear. This results in a high degree of safety. Brakes are of the mechanical type, internal expanding, and all are fully enclosed.

The front axle is twice as strong as formerly. The front spring is heavier, with wider leaves. Front radius-rod is heavier, and king-pins, wheel bearings and thrust bearings are larger.

Throughout the chassis, you will see many other examples of the high quality which is built into the Ford truck. Come in and let us show you why this truck is a value far in excess of the price.

KING CAROL PUNISHES ENEMY

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 10.—King Carol professed today to have forgotten the activities of political enemies against him while he was in French exile, but he moved quickly to punish those of his enemies who committed new offenses.

Upon learning that Dr. C. Angelescu, who was minister of education in the last liberal cabinet of M. V. and J. Bratianu, had spoken disrespectfully of him at a liberal meeting yesterday, he ordered him prosecuted immediately.

Dr. Kostasescu, mayor of Bucharest, and Dr. Demetrescu Braila, former minister of health, were ordered prosecuted likewise for similar offenses. Their party, named Liberga, but actually ultra-conservative, was said to have voted yesterday not to support the monarchy, although no suggestion of revolution.

In contrast to the moves to suppress objectionable political enemies, King Carol ordered that all charges of a partisan nature—both political and growing out of temper caused by extreme distress—against 20,000 persons still accountable for military offenses during the world war, be squashed. All acts and ordinances promulgated during the reign of the boy-king, Michael, Carol's son, were confirmed.

New Cabinet

Meanwhile, the new sovereign was engaged in forming a cabinet to replace that of M. Mironescu, which resigned as soon as parliament had proclaimed him king. Carol first, as a matter of courtesy, asked Professor Nicholas Jorga, his old tutor, by M. Jorga could promise no success, and Juliu Maniu resigned peasant premier, was summoned.

It was said today that M. Maniu wished Carol to come back to Rumania, but as regent rather than as king, since he felt that he was only just beginning to fulfill his promises to the country, and he wished to retain the influence he had with the regency, not being sure but that Carol as king would be less under the influence of his friends than he was as prince.

It was still mooted this morning whether the princess mother, Helen, will become reconciled with Carol—which the king desires very much—or remain apart from him. Latest reports say that Carol will be crowned in October at Alba Julia, without a queen at his side, but attended by his son, Michael, as prince of Alba Julia.

It was believed today in political circles that Princess Helen will choose a home away from the capital but near enough to watch the education of their son. She is a princess of Greece, and has no status in her own country now, and so may not return there.

Strong forces are being brought to bear to gain her consent to annulment of the divorce from Carol.

Glider Crash Fatal To Company Official

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., June 10 (AP)—Falling to his death before a crowd at the municipal airport here, E. J. Snyder, 23, division superintendent of the Mexican Aviation Corporation with headquarters here, was dashed to the ground from a glider plane, yesterday.

He had just released the towing cord with which an automobile had aided the small craft in its takeoff when the glider was shaken violently by wind currents. Apparently, Snyder's safety belt burst and he fell from a height of 200 feet to the ground. The glider crashed nearby.

Snyder was regarded as an expert airplane pilot and had made numerous glider flights in the last few months. His widow survives.

"Konjola Worked Wonders In My Stubborn Case"

Fort Worth Man Relieved Of Severe Attack Of Rheumatism Eagerly Praises New Medicine

MR. JOE CONNELLY

"For over a year I suffered with muscular rheumatism," said Mr. Joe H. Connely, 504—Belkna street, Ft. Worth. "My entire body was a mass of aches and pains. Finally I was forced to give up my work and was confined to bed. The pains were so severe that I had to be moved very carefully and was helpless and bedridden for three months. My nerves were completely gone and I felt at times that I could not bear my suffering another day.

"I sent away for my first treatment of Konjola and was amazed at the results. Within three weeks I was able to get up and around without assistance. Gradually the pain and soreness left me and I began to feel my old self again. My nerves settled, constipation was completely banished, and I do not remember when I have felt as well as I do now. Konjola certainly worked wonders in my case."

Though Konjola works quickly, and many sufferers are greatly benefited in a week, a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended for thorough results.

Konjola is sold in Big Spring at Collins Bros. drug-store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—adv.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Hado Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Norfolk, Va. I wish you success in your protests against reckless automobile drivers. But I don't see any evidence of their tribe diminishing. How do they get that way?

They are an inferior and non-social product of our highly mechanized age. If a man is hogishly inclined he is sure to show it in his driving. If he is a fool, that fact will promptly emerge in his behavior at the wheel. Give such people the tremendous power of the modern car and it intoxicates them.

Again, time is money, therefore for a considerable number time is God. "Step on the gas" is their slogan. Ever and anon they crush the life out of helpless children and the aged pedestrian. But what if the wheels are bloodstained, so long as they turn? There is no arguing with these enemies of humanity. They are as inanimate as the machine they drive. Among this wretched breed we have the bandit making his getaway and the hit-and-run coward seeking to escape the consequence of his homicidal act.

Their criminal disregard of the rights of others is further evidence of a spirit of lawlessness deeply embedded in large sections of our national life. The annual loss we suffer through deaths caused by motor vehicles is an appalling blot on American civilization, over 31,000 having thus perished in 1929.

Moral responsibility is the quality we shall have to cultivate, whether we like it or not, in order to remedy the situation permanently. But while that educational process is going on I for one favor closer police supervision and the infliction of jail penalties on all who are guilty of reckless driving resulting in shattered limbs or death.

Columbis, S. C. I have a son and daughter, who are in their early twenties. They read a lot of books which have a cynical or pessimistic slant on life, and discuss what they read with me. Both have had a college education and stoutly maintain that science is their religion. What can I do to give them a more balanced outlook?

The intellectual integrity which pure science instills is valuable beyond words. It develops that love of truth for its own sake, regardless of what disturbances it creates, which is a part of genuine religion. But science does not explain the great problems of life nor can it endow life with those generous impulses which religion supplies.

Do not take the cynicism of these young people too seriously. It is far more important to determine whether or not they dodge personal responsibility and seek to place the blame for their default upon the nature of things in general. If they do, disillusion lies in wait for them. If they do not, they will probably pass beyond the cynical stage and feel the need of a restored faith in the divine possibilities of human existence.

In any case, the will to live is strong in them, and this will pre-empt their ultimately finding that the cynical attitude is useless and inferior. Such it is, and always has been, a veritable valley of dry bones, productive of lethargy and despair, and of the cramping of ver intellectual and moral adventure. Tell them to believe in themselves and in the personality who gave them life in order that they may expend it in the great business of living.

Fort Wayne, Ind. What do you think is the greatest benefit a man or woman can secure in this life?

"To have always a conscience void of offense toward God, and toward man." When Lincoln declared he had never willingly planted a thorn in any man's breast, he unconsciously pronounced one of the finest eulogies on his own career. The individual who by heaven's help wins and keeps to the close of his or her day the peace and courage which a good conscience produces has achieved the supreme blessing of life.

It is better to be born to physical deformity or to the martyrdom of chronic illness than to become the victim of moral derangement and maligancies. We are bound to strive for bodily health and vigor. But we are even more obligated to maintain the sound ethical health which places us beyond the reach of self contempt and unavailing remorse.

Many men and women will have to cultivate a wider range of ideas about moral wellbeing if they are to successfully practice ethical principles. The God who creates conscience is all too shadowy in their conception for its efficient operation. They refer to Him as if He were one of the dead characters of history. And that conscience which does not feel the guiding presence of its Lord becomes careless and indiscriminate and finally atrophies.

But once He is enthroned the right assumes its priority and the individual's behavior benefits his fellow men. Prepare the seat of moral determination in your own soul for its Author and Giver, and your life will be a lasting triumph even in seeming defeat.

SO SAYETH THE SAGES

Or Crimes Committed by Scribblers

By COTTON CROSS
San Angelo Standard

It has been known all along various scribes over the Oil Belt are quite jealous of the writer because he is privileged to reside in San Angelo, the capital and queen city of the west, and draws his pay check (however modest it be) from the only first class newspaper in West Texas while the rest have resigned themselves to struggling along in such places as Big Spring, Abilene, Breckenridge and Ranger.

But it never had been thought any of the scribes would envy this reporter his good looks. Our features admittedly are not as grotesque as those of Boyce House and they hardly are as strange and animal-like as those of Bruce Francis, but in a handsome man's contest we would stagger a and last to sweeten faced lads like Prexy Anderson and R. C. Campbell.

Yet we find Campbell so begrudging our blond head of hair which at that when glued down with vaseline holds a better part than do the Big Spring scribe's water-curl locks, that he has cast the unpardonable taunt our hirsute is similar to that of a certain Big Spring baseball umpire. We have been called names and we have been accused of many things, but this is the first time we have been compared to an umpire. The charge, of course, is ridiculous. It is merely the jealous beating of a second-rate and chagrined sports writer who, haunted by an inferiority complex, has developed an imaginary grievance against his superior and endeavors to pull the superior down to his level by resorting to underhand methods. Ordinarily we would feel highly irritated at being compared to an umpire, but in this instance, we don't. . . Instead, we hold a feeling of magnanimity and sympathy toward the beleaguered Campbell whom fate has destined to eke out an existence in a town like Big Spring and on a newspaper like The Herald with an editor like Wendell Bediehek.

Texas Students Set For Contest

AUSTIN, June 10 (AP)—Fresh from high school commencement exercises 81 Texas youths between the ages of 15 and 20 were qualified to compete here today for the honor of representing Texas in the national Thomas A. Edison scholarship contest. The national contest will be held later in the summer at Menlo Park with the students chosen in the 58 state elimination contest participating.

The state examination will be conducted in five parts; one to ascertain the general mental ability of the contestants; one to determine their knowledge of chemistry, mathematics and physics, and a written paper setting out their ideas on either chemistry or physics.

Following the grading of the papers, the 20 students receiving the highest average will be subjected to further questioning before the state contestant is determined.

The examining board is composed of Dr. M. Y. Colby of the University of Texas; Dr. W. T. Gooch of Baylor University, and Dr. O. W. Silvey of Texas Agricultural and mechanical College.
