MONTH NEEDED TO COMPLETE SHOP PROJECT

Completion of the power plant and round house of the new Texas & Pacific Railway engine terminal is expected within the next 30 days, it was announced by C. F. Duvall, division engineer, Saturday.

As soon as the two structures are completed by R. E. McKee, contractor, installation of new machinery will be started by machinists of the Texas & Pacific.

Already machinery and equipment have started arriving in Big Spring. New machinery for converting a 100 foot center bearing turntable to a three point bearing table, have arrived and await installation.

New boilers have been received and have already been installed in the power plant.

According to Duvall the construction program is advancing on schedule.

Although none of the thirteen buildings have been completed, each is nearing that stage rapidly.

Officials of the T&P have set September 15 as the date for putting the new engine terminal into operation. All structures will have been completed several weeks before that date and it is hoped by officials to have all machinery installed and working by September 15.

At the present time the work is proceeding along definite schedule. Duvall announced the old yards will be retired when the new terminal is placed in operation.

AMAZING URBAN GROWTH OF TEXAS SEEN IN FIGURES

BOY SCOUT CAMP WILL BE OPENED

Thirty Big Spring Lads Ready For Week Of Fun

Thirty Big Spring lads were preparing Saturday for a big event—the annual camp of the Buffalo Trail Area, to be held in the regular camp of the Concho Valley council, near Water Valley, north of San Angelo.

The camp will open Monday and continue through June 28. It will be considered in two parts, one group of boys attending this week

The Concho Valley Boy Scout camp on the Concho river near Water Valley, where scouts of the Buffalo Trail area will open their annual camp Monday was to be ready to receive them. The Herald learned last night from San Angelo.

A heavy rain of Friday evening, which sent the stream out of banks for about 12 hours, had left the place muddy, but the river was back in its banks and no more rain had fallen.

and another next week. Scouts for the first period should be in camp for the noon meal Monday and should leave after breakfast or before noon Monday, June 23. If more convenient, they may leave Sunday afternoon.

Scouts for the second week should be in camp for the noon meal, Monday, June 23. Scouts coming for the second week may be brought Sunday afternoon, June 22, provided an equal number of boys are carried home that day.

The troop committees and scoutmaster are responsible for getting their boys to and from camp. Cooperation in providing transportation is urged.

The following boys of Big Spring had signed Friday to attend camp (several others will be ready for one of the two weeks): First week, (Continued on Page 6)

By WALTER C. HORNADAY
DALLAS, June 14.—The story of an amazing growth of Texas cities has been unfolded by a compilation of reports on the 1930 census covering municipalities of 10,000 population and over.

The increase in the population of Texas, which counted 4,663,228 inhabitants in 1920, will come to a large extent from its urban centers, the survey discloses, but added to the growth furnished by the enlarged cities will be the heavy gains of West Texas and Southwestern Texas counties, to which farmers from the Middle West and from older sections of this State have flocked in numbers during the last decade.

Texas now has three cities of better than 250,000 population and five of over 100,000. These cities are, in the order of their size, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth and El Paso. Within their corporate limits reside 1,069,250 persons, compared with 642,683 in 1920, a gain of 426,567, or 66.3 per cent.

In 1920, Texas had thirty cities of more than 10,000 population. In 1930 the cities in this class had increased to thirty-six. These thirty-six cities have a population of 1,816,435. In 1920 the total of these same thirty-six towns, one of them of less than 1,000 at that time, was 1,049,258. The increase was 690,108, or 65.7 per cent.

The population figures used in this compilation were obtained from the most part from the files of the district census office here, and in other cases from newspaper reports published at various times on the census.

A killing pace was set by the growing cities of Texas during the last ten years, and those that were unable to stand the gait fell by the wayside in their ranking. Cities that gained only a small percentage dropped several places in this ranking. The few towns that lost were badly outstripped. It is worth noting, however, that only one city within the 10,000 and above class in 1920 fell below this figure. It was Ranger, Eastland County oil town, that dropped 16,200, fourteenth city in the State, to 6,153 in 1930.

The other cities in the same class showed smaller decreases. Denison, thirteenth city in 1920, fell

MILLER IS HEARD AT MINEOLA

Lieutenant Governor Launches His Campaign

MINEOLA, June 14 (AP)—Barry Miller, of Dallas, opening his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor here today said he offered his official record as a guaranty that things he promised to do would be done in good faith, if elected.

Speaking before an audience of Wood county citizens, the lieutenant governor and former legislator, enunciated a platform bearing mainly on taxation, education, highways and prisons. He declares he was not making the race on issues of the last or the next national elections.

One of the fundamental problems is taxation, he said. Solution of this question largely depends upon economic administration, he declared. He favored readjustment of laws so taxes might be equitably distributed.

The candidate asserted he always had been a friend of organized labor. To workers, organized and unorganized, he submitted his official and political record as a platform.

He said the most sacred trust is to provide for the education at public expense of the children of Texas. He had always stood for public free schools "from the little red school house to the highest educational institutions."

Mr. Miller promised to do everything possible to develop highways, but said this should be done on an absolutely cash basis. He was opposed to a state bond issue.

"On the stump," the speaker continued, "I shall amplify my views on this subject so that no voter may misunderstand my position upon this question. I also hope on the stump to amplify my views on all the questions touched on herein and all other questions affecting state government which I have not felt should be incorporated in this statement for fear that it might become too long to receive the attention I hope to have it received by the people."

"It is the duty of the Chief Executive of this state to see to the enforcement of all laws and I will use every effort permitted by law and every resource of the department to see to the fair, fearless and full enforcement of all the laws in this state."

"My long experience in the legislative halls has convinced me that much money can be saved to the people by cutting out unnecessary extra sessions of the legislature and the enactment of the necessary legislation at the regular session. To that end I promise you that I will not call an extra session of the legislature while I am governor unless it shall be to meet some emergency."

It is being built jointly by the Texas & Pacific, Howard county and the city of Big Spring, at a cost of approximately $120,000. Casting of concrete piling has been started and it is expected actual driving of the piling will start June 27.

The contract calls for completion of the construction work in 135 working days, dating from May 29.

Five army planes also will come here during the celebration.

LOWER HOUSE PASSES TARIFF BILL; HOOVER SLATED TO SIGN

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The house today adopted the conference agreement on the tariff bill, completing congressional action.

The action brought an end to the year and a half old tariff struggle and sent the measure to the White House. The senate took final action yesterday by a vote of 44 to 12.

Administration leaders in both houses believe President Hoover will sign the measure after he studies its manifold provisions and obtains comments from the treasury and other interested government agencies.

The measure as it goes to the White House carries 87 increases in rates and 235 decreases more than 250 of the higher levies being on farm products. Based on 1928 imports it is estimated to raise $630,000,000 in revenue an increase of $107,000,000 over receipts of two years ago.

The final vote came one year, five months and seven days from the day the measure began to take form in a house committee back in the last days of the Coolidge administration. Almost continuously since that time it had been before committees or on the floor of one

The body of P. C. Lee of Luling, who was drowned when his automobile was swept from a crossing on highway 9, near Carlsbad, Tom Green county, late Friday, by flood waters from Grape creek, had not been recovered last night, according to advices from San Angelo.

ABILENE, Tex., June 14 (AP)—Tents and eight trucks and automobiles, equipment of a Mexican construction camp of 100, were washed away by the swollen waters of Elm Creek last night. One Mexican was missing.

The rise was due to heavy rains in Haskell county. Highway 28, which is under construction, was damaged by the creek, which was the highest since 1900.

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex., June 14 (AP)—Flood waters of Threadgill Creek today destroyed the historic Langes Mill, near Doss, the annual mecca of thousands of tourists.

In northwest Gillespie county the ranch home of William Friedrich was wrecked, his automobile ruined and the garage of Emil Albertal washed away. Many residents along Arroyo and small creeks were forced to flee their homes as unprecedented rises sent the waters of Bavr creek up in several places in Mason county.

The rains ranged from 1.20 inches at Fredericksburg to cloudburst stages in the Doss community.

MUCH DAMAGE
ABILENE, Tex., June 14 (AP)—Additional heavy downpours in West Texas last night and today interrupted rail and road communications, flooded business houses and in scattered instances washed away small cottages and property.

Property damage estimated at $100,000 was done in and near Monday. Business houses stood from six to eighteen inches in water. The Wichita Valley tracks and highway 30 were washed out for several hundred yards.

Several cottages of a tourist camp on the outskirts of Olney were swept away, and water flowed into stores, hotels and filling stations. A washout closed the Olney-Jacksboro road and the Wichita Falls and Southern Railway reported track breaks on either side of Olney.

Crops were badly washed at Oklahoma, near Vernon, and travel over highway 5 was suspended. Trucks, automobiles and tents of a Mexican construction camp near Throckmorton were carried away by one of the rising streams but no one was hurt. One of the laborers, thought drowned, was found in a tree.

Row crops in the vicinity of Wichita Falls were benefited, but wheat-harvesting was delayed. The Wichita Valley Railroad reported washouts near Haskell and Gore, and state highways were damaged near Seymour.

"What Mileage will my Tire Dollars buy?"

16,000 MILES over all kinds of roads... smooth and free of cracks and age marks. Never wear down slowly and evenly. Water-curing makes the last bit of tread rubber wear as slowly as the first, makes the tire tough clear through.

NO SIGNS HERE of cupping or uneven wear! Silvertowns have a dense, tough tread that wears down slowly and evenly. Water-curing makes the last bit of tread rubber wear as slowly as the first, makes the tire tough clear through.

SEE THAT EDGE? Sharp and clean, even after enough service to satisfy most any tire buyer. No question here of traction or protection against skidding. That's why the Silvertown tread is admitted to be the finest tread pattern in the field.

Publicly established Mileage Records show you what Silvertowns can do on your car

LOOK at the picture above... study the captions just below it. See the condition of this Silvertown after 16,000 grueling miles. There's the answer to your question! There's the proof of what Silvertowns can do!

This Silvertown is one of the 42 that toured the country with the Silver Fleet last year. It was photographed after 16,235 punishing miles.

And look at it! Know any other tire that looks as good after that much service? We have the blood brothers of this tire in stock right now. Casings identical to it in ability to stand up under terrific punishment. Come in... see them... price them.

They cost less than you think... and, mile for mile, are the lowest-priced tires you can buy. Yes, we have your size!

Miss Southern Democracy Sues Tom Heflin For Divorce; Will Rogers Gets A Real Kick Out Of Clippings From Birmingham, Alabama, Newspaper

BY WILL ROGERS
Every once in a while something shows up in the way of real humor, and its generally by somebody that most everybody else never heard of. In the case I am presenting to you it says in there that it was presented by a Mr. A. Berkowitz. But anyhow whoever it is, lets get him some credit, and maybe spoil his life by making a writer out of him. A Mr. F. W. Kuhn of Troy, Alabama, sent it to me as a clipping from the Birmingham Age-Herald. The case is that its a bear and I want you to read it. Course they use Tom as the example but its really hitting at all the Hoovercrats.

He brought into their happy home an ungainly Elephant.

I havent heard much from Tom's race lately, but I bet they have a tough time cleaning him. Those town boys might be against him but when he pulls off his old alpaca, and gets to illustrating the weakness of his opponents with those Negro stories, (which he can tell like nobody else) why he will give em a tough battle. But let me repeat you this just as is. The Petition follows:

"Miss Southern Democracy complainant, vs. Thomas J. Heflin, alias 'Cotton Tom' Heflin, alias 'Admiral Tom' Heflin, respondent, in the Circuit Court of Jefferson County, Alabama, tenth Judicial Circuit of Alabama, in equity. To the honorable William M. Walker, Judge of said Court, Humbly complaining your complainant, Miss Southern Democracy shows unto your honor the following facts as a basis of complaint.

"First, that your Complainant is over the age of 21, and has been a bona-fide resident of the Sovereign State of Alabama since the year 1865. Your complainant retains her maiden name in this bill, for reasons well known to this court and the world at large.

"Second—That the respondent, Thomas J. Heflin, is over the age of 21, and though absent from the state a bona-fide resident of the state.

"Three—That your complainant and respondent were married to each other in the fall of the year 1894, at Lafayette, Alabama, where the respondent was a lowly Cotton grower, and where your complainant through her aid and influence, first aided the respondent to the rank of Public officer of this great State—Your complainant will in all fairness aver that until the time of the acts herein complained of the respondent was a model husband. That his courtship at Lafayette was swift and ardent, that down through the years respondent was loyal and true, and appreciative of helping hand of complainant, which in love bestowed upon him many high offices, finally the Toga of United States Senator, in November of the year 1920.

"Four—Your Complainant avers that she and the respondent lived together in holy blissful union until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November of the year 1928, at which time they separated and have not lived together since.

Your Complainant charges that in the spring of that year she first noticed changes in her erstwhile model Spouse. He began to stay out late at nights, with disreputable Characters known as Republicans. That he would come home in a bad mood and mutter "Ras-kobite," that he no longer fed and cared for the pet Donkey, that had been their comfort during their married life, but brought into their happy home an ungainly Elephant. Your Complainant further charges that he was cruel to her, and threatened to break her up and destroy her forever, that he shamed her in the presence of her Enemies, by speeches so threatening in tone that your complainant was made to blush and hang her head in shame. That he failed to support her, and furnish her with those necessities of life, and that on said November day he utterly abandoned her, leaving her broken and destitute, and beset by many many foes, and he charges that at the time he abandoned her, she was wrong, unchaste and defiled.

"Your complainant avers that she was ever faithful and true and brought to respondent blessings never before reaped by any man. That she gave to him the best years of her life, and now she has grown frail and weak and cannot support herself, and that but for friends would have long ago been forced to spend her years in want and poverty. Furthermore complainant avers that respondent is in good health, strong, and well able to work, and Complainant being without relief except in a Court of Equity, and prays that your Honor will cause him to plead answer, to this bill, within the time and manner required, and shall pay to Complainant such a sum as will be necessary for her support and maintenance, in accordance with her future support.

"Complainant further prays that upon final hearing of this case,

N. B. A. TO RECOGNIZE SCHMELING LAUNDRY-BARBER CLASH FEATURES BILL

Provided Old Justice Fluv himself in person goes out on a double play at Stuy D, there will be a double header for the benefit of the customers this afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock and lasting until later. The very nominal price of twenty-five cent per head, grey, curled, sandy or otherwise, will be charged. Take it from us the League needs the money, on account of some of the managers threatening us with hurried obituary unless we bring forth a basket of new baseballs for them to clout around Comstock like they did Friday afternoon.

LEADERS OF LEAGUE BATTLE

Bankers And Barbers Play First Of Double Affair

In an effort to get in all games possible before the end of the first half of the City League, which ends June 27, two games will be played this afternoon at the city baseball park, east of town. The initial contest will start at 2:30 o'clock, the nightcap following about 4 o'clock.

Although nothing definite was agreed upon between the three teams which will participate in the two games, it was generally accepted the first clash would be between the Bankers and the Barbers, as this is the game scheduled for Sunday. The Laundry and the Barbers will battle in the second game.

Today the Barbers and the Laundry are in a deadlock for first place, with Ricohe close by and Cosden not far behind either of the three teams.

Winning from the Bankers 15 to 1 Friday afternoon, Ricohe advanced a half game ahead of Cosden, breaking a tie for second place laurels.

The week's schedule has the Laundry playing Texas and Pacific and Ricohe, the Barbers clashing with Ricohe, and Cosden meeting the Bankers and T. & P.

However, after today the Barbers might hit the toboggan. L. Madison, the skipper, declares he is quitting the helm and staff after today's game. Madison is probably the best defensive and offensive combination the Barbers have. He is to join the umpiring game if the pebbles hold out. Reminds us of another manager of a city league team that heeded the wild call of the umpire's job. He came, he saw, and he galloped back to the fold of his countrymen, more than tickled to be among the umpire riders rather than the umpire ridden.

Beautiful game Friday. Beautiful. The Richardson Refinery outfit hit everything but the Settles Hotel lobby, if any yet. Cook poked the long one of the day, sending it over the left field fence, causing Ruge the ball chaser to cast certain unkind remarks in Cook's direction. Tab Clark, wielding a red bat that reminded us of the tongue on the old wagon back home, had a bad day. All he got in four times to the bat was two triples and a single. He got on via the walk-off, and by an error another. He walked five runs. Ganoway, Larrimore and Hurt, were used by the Bankers. Haley was invincible for Ricohe. That's a nice word.

LAUNDRY HAS MONOPOLY ON 1500

BROWN ONLY ONE OF LEADERS TO BOOST AVERAGE OF WEEK

Lydia of the Barbers, and Nesbitt and Brown of the Laundry continued to lead the city league sluggers in batting though the latter was the only one of the trio that was able to increase his percentage. Neither C. Madison nor L. Madison of the Barbers scored during the week but were still tied for the lead in runs scored with seventeen each. Schwarzenbach and Aiken, the former of the T&P, the latter of the Laundry, were deadlocked in hits with twenty each. Hoehn of Ricohe put on a spurt to take the leadership in two base blows with five to his credit. L. Madison retained his leadership in triples with the same number, and as yet no player has secured more than one home run. Brown and Kindrick, both of the Laundry, hit circuit clouts to join the group tied for the league lead.

Tinsley and Aiken, of the Barbers and Laundry respectively, are the leading pitchers with two wins and no defeats. Crouch of the Laundry and Dickinson of Ricohe have each won six games.

Two hundred hitters in four or more games through Thursday:

BRUCE BARNES DEFEATS QUICK TO TAKE TEXAS TENNIS TITLE

DALLAS, June 14 (AP)—Bruce Barnes, University of Texas tennis ace, added another title to his collection today when he defeated Jimmy Quick of Dallas in the finals of the Texas district tournament here. The scores were 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

A torrid battle in the doubles finals a few minutes before they took the court for their championship tussle was responsible for the wearied condition of the two stars. Quick, paired with his clubmate, John Barr, won from Barnes and Jake Hess, Fort Worth, 6-4, 6-2, 14-12.

Ruth Bailey, St. Louis, another University of Texas entry, ran true to form in defeating Mary Zita McHale, Dallas, 6-0, 6-0 in the finals of women's singles. She now has held the title two years, dropping not a single set in the last two tournaments. Paired with John McDiamand, Fort Worth, Miss Bailey was victorious in the mixed doubles, downing Daniel "Doc" Barr, Dallas, and Miss McHale 6-2, 6-4.

Championship in women's doubles went to Miss McHale and Charlotte McQuinn, Dallas, state interscholastic titleholder.

Miss Lillian Brunner left for Texarkana, Ark., Saturday to visit her mother. Later she will spend three weeks in Hot Springs, Ark.

Miss Polly Speed is visiting relatives in Fort Worth.

Speaking of Purvis—where is that hitting stride he flashed so suddenly the first day he landed at Dusky B?
BANGS—Thrifty votes to consolidate with Bangs school district.
BONHAM—Contract awarded for repairing Fannin county courthouse.

FORT WORTH, June 14. (AP)—It was gratifying to all concerned with the cattle trading at Fort Worth when a lack of supply failed to materialize at Fort Worth Saturday morning. This followed a week when all classes showed a downward revision of prices.

The yard's figure called for 100 cattle, 25 calves, 500 hogs and 25 sheep. Some of the cattle were directed and others were classes carried over for Monday's trading.

Most of the hogs listed in the receipts were direct. No rail hogs offered and truck hogs sold at 9.25. Not enough sheep on hand to test the trading.

Woman And Man Given Death Penalty

TOM'S RIVER, N. J., June 14 (AP)—Mrs. Hattie Evans and Tjcor Underdown, a United States marine, were convicted today and sentenced to die for the murder of Robert Evans, the woman's sailor husband, and Albert Duffy a former shipmate of Evans. Although one woman on the jury of four women and eight men had said she could not vote for a verdict of guilty if it meant capital punishment, the verdict was returned without a recommendation for mercy, which would have permitted a sentence of life imprisonment, and so the pair automatically were sentenced to death in the electric chair.

Amazing—

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) from 17,065 to 13,851 in 1930, giving it twenty-sixth place. Cleburne, nineteenth in 1920 with 12,820, dropped to thirty-second place in 1930 with 11,466 population. The prize for greatest percentage of gain appears to have gone to Pampa, Gray County oil town in the upper Panhandle. In 1920 Pampa boasted of 987 persons. In 1930 it showed 10,453, a gain of 969.2 per cent, and it ranked thirty-sixth among Texas cities. Oil development accounted for heavy gains in several cities, but in the Lower Rio Grande Valley a remarkable growth has been indicated by the 1930 census, with oil playing no part. In this case it was irrigation of arid lands and the influx of truck and fruit growers. Seventeen towns in the Magic Valley showed 92,574 population in 1930, compared with 37,227 in 1920, a gain of 55,347 of 149.2 per cent. Texas had six towns in the class between 25,000 to 100,000 population in 1920. In 1930 there were ten in this class, and El Paso had passed up to the 100,000 and better size. The new census figures show a considerable shifting in ranking of Texas cities. Austin, for example, in tenth place in 1920, with 34,876, leaped to seventh place in 1930 with 53,188, passing Wichita Falls and Waco by its stride. Big Spring, about midway between Dallas and El Paso, jumped into the 10,000 and better class in 1930. Its 1920 population was 4,273, and in 1930 it reached 13,731, a gain of 221.3 per cent, placing it twenty-seventh among Texas cities. Oil was a big factor in this growth. The golden fluid did not account for Lubbock's growth, however. This South Plains city went from 4,051 in 1920 to 29,612 in 1930, a gain of 408.8 per cent. It now stands eighteenth among Texas cities. Seven cities grew from very small towns sufficiently to reach the 10,000 class during the decade. They were Lubbock, Big Spring, Brownwood, Harlingen, from 1,784 to 12,124, a gain of 579.5 per cent; Sweetwater, with 150 per cent gain; San Benito, and Pampa. Two of these cities are in the Rio Grande

New features of the FORD TRUCK

BY INCREASING strength, length of service, safety, reliability and economy, new features combine to make the Ford truck a value far in excess of the price. Important among them is the 4-speed transmission, which gives a wide, flexible range of speed and power. Another is the new rear axle. It has a spiral bevel gear of special Ford truck design, with straddle-mounted pinion. Axle shafts are heavier than formerly, and because of the three-quarter floating type of construction, they serve only to turn the wheels, without carrying any of the weight of truck or load. Brakes on the front wheels have been enlarged to the same size as those on the rear, providing increased braking area and a high degree of safety. Brakes are of the mechanical type, internal expanding and all are fully enclosed against grit, gravel and moisture. Controls have been redesigned. Dual rear wheels, available at small additional cost, will be found both convenient and economical. Balloon tires of one size are used throughout with the dual equipment, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried. The front construction shows greater strength. The front axle is twice as strong as formerly. The front spring is heavier, with wider leaves. Front radius-rod is heavier, and king-pins, wheel bearings and thrust bearings are larger. Many other features add to the quality and length of service you may expect from the Ford truck. Come in and let us show them to you.

Carroll Barnett Announced King Of Oil Men's Jubilee

TODAY IS 8TH FATHER'S DAY

Celebrated First In 1910 At Spokane, Washington

Today, being the third Sunday in the month, is being nationally observed for the eighth time as Father's Day throughout the United States and Canada.

Only One Success: The observance of this day—thanks to the endorsement and enthusiastic support of Mrs. Dodd's idea, by the Ministerial Association and the Y.M.C.A.—began to spread.

Her original observance plan included special customs, most of which are still followed, or have suggested present Father's Day practices.

Not Easily Achieved Mrs. Dodd still resides in Spokane, having had the rare privilege of seeing her idea attain its present national growth.

First State Legislation Occurred In Delaware in 1913 when a charter was granted to Charlotte K. Kirkbride, C. Carrie Sternberg, and others for the celebration of Father's Day on a Sunday in June each year.

But in spite of this discouragement, general observance of Father's Day increasingly progressed, even though the various groups celebrating it did not all agree on the exact date of observance.

Personal Speaking Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Currie and children, Miss Agnes and Temp Jr. were visitors in Dallas the forepart of the week.

Water And Egg Throwing Story All A Mistake

Surely and it's no wonder that men think that women in business are more nuisance than help when they read of the trouble that poor Secretary Wilbur has been having with Mrs. Minnie L. Ward, the newspapers and jealous co-workers of Mrs. Ward.

Well, Mrs. Ward was accused of throwing eggs and water at a gentleman in the department of the federal power commission who was her superior.

All A Mistake And then after this delightful story comes a bulletin from the department of the interior itself saying that after carefully looking into the matter they find that it is all a mistake and is just the gossip of some nasty little secretary who wished that SHE had the nerve to throw eggs at her "boss."

The Dirt The genesis of this unfortunate incident, the secretary's statement explains, was as follows: On March 21, Miss Ward, file clerk of the federal power commission, attacked Mr. F. W. Griffith, chief clerk, by throwing water and eggs on him during office hours, which action resulted in her suspension from duty on charges of gross insubordination.

Following her action Mrs. Ward charged that Mr. Griffith had violated section 129 of the United States criminal code by removing and destroying letters from the files of the federal power commission pertaining to the recommendations of F. E. Bosner and Paul S. Clapp for the position of executive secretary; that Mr. Bonner had neglected properly to administer the affairs of the commission by failing to investigate appeals made to him by Mrs. Ward to protect her against persecutions she alleges to have suffered from Mr. Griffith; and that Mr. Bonner had permitted Mr. Griffith to distribute into small packages the files of the commission as a direct detriment to the organization and for

Gets Pinched For Making Love To Man

AURORA, Ill., June 14. (INS)—Robert Van Winkle, 22 is particular as to where, when, and by whom he is kissed.

So particular is Robert that when he received osculatory attentions under conditions he regarded as all wrong, he quit his job and had the young lady arrested.

Until he quit, Robert was motor-man and conductor of a one-man trolley car running between Aurora and Elgin. A farm lad of modest tastes, he enjoyed his work. Every inch of the 22 mile run was home to him. Robert knew most of his passengers by their first names, and they knew his affectionately as Bob.

Helping ladies on and off the car, carrying milk cans, delivering bundles, and doing occasional favors—these were but delightful interludes in Robert's routine.

There was excitement in the work, too. Who could tell, on a lonely night run, whether some armed bandit might not emerge from the shadows and hold up the car? Bob was prepared for such dangers, but one peril which he failed to foresee proved his undoing.

One Wednesday night, Bob, on his last run back to Aurora, had but a single passenger—a comely young lady he had never seen before. Bob, intent upon his responsibilities, as pilot, navigator and crew of his one-man car, gave no thought to the romantic possibilities of their complete privacy, but his passenger apparently did.

As Bob told the story to Police Magistrate Weber here, he had just stopped in Aurora when the lights went out and he found himself in the arms of the strange young lady. Not only were her arms around his neck, but she was kissing him and murmuring words of love.

"What could I do?" asked Bob of the court. "I couldn't leave my post of duty. I nearly went mad, trying to think of a way out. At last I broke away, called the police and had her arrested. I want her punished. I intend to pick my own wife."

The young lady, blushing, said she was Marie Koch, 19 years old. Judge Weber decided to let the girl's family handle the case, and dismissed Van Winkle's charge of disorderly conduct.

WILL RETURN BY PLANE Mrs. Douglas Watson of San Angelo will return to her home by plane soon. She is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Watson of this city.

THE SAN HEDRIAN, A SECRET ORGANIZATION OF ELEVEN MEMBERS, ALSO PICKS QUEEN

Ranger And Midland Have Chosen Queens And Many More Cities Have Promised To Do So Without Delay

The San Hedrian, a secret organization of eleven members, after a series of meetings, announces that Carroll Barnett will be King of the First Annual Oil Men's Jubilee to be held here July 3-4-5.

This organization was planned for the purpose of selecting a King and a Queen. The Queen has also been selected, but her identity will be kept a secret until her coronation on the night of Thursday, July 3.

The duties of the King will extend throughout the Jubilee. He will crown the Queen on the night of the third and with her, reign over the celebration. Mr. Barnett who is a Big Spring resident, has lived here all of his life. He is practicing law and has offices in the Petroleum Building.

It is planned to retain this organization, the San Hedrian, from year to year for this purpose.

There are two more duchesses announced. Ranger will send Miss Flora Turner and Midland will send Miss Alberta Yang.

The following towns have written that they are selecting their duchesses and will be represented: Odessa, Colorado, Abilene, Hobbs, N. M., San Angelo, Fort Worth and Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The Duchesses to the Oil Men's Jubilee to be held here July 3-4-5, will be brought to Big Spring by plane. After they arrive each will be assigned a car for use while she is here. The cars will be decorated with streamers and marked for the town of the Duchess.

The girls will arrive on the afternoon of the third. There will be a tea for them that afternoon and a small banquet for the girls and their escorts in the evening.

In the evening, following the coronation at the Jubilee Grounds on West Third street, the Queen's Ball will be held at the Crawford.

It is planned, according to Chris Ming, to erect a miniature oil derrick at the grounds and have the Queen appear out of this.

The Duchesses will not be in costume, but it is suggested that they wear pastel colored chiffons, picture hats and silver or gold slippers. The escorts will be in white.

Pageant On the night of the third and fourth there will be a pageant, "Texas Under Six Flags." About 500 people will take part in the pageant. The costumes will be supplied by the St. Louis Costume Company.

The pageant will follow the coronation on the night of the third and will be given before the fireworks on the night of the fourth.

"Over the Top," sponsored by the American Legion will be held on the evening of the fifth. The National Guard of Abilene will cooperate with the Legion to put this over. About 100 men will take part.

Turtle Derbies The turtle derbies will be held on the fourth and fifth. Each turtle will be painted the color desired by his owner and a number inscribed on his back. About 100 turtles are expected to be entered in the Derby.

A stree dance is planned for the night of the sixth, which is the closing date of the Jubilee.

Duchesses Miss Marguerite Boldin will be the duchess of Lamesa and Miss Willie Epley will be duchess of Stanton. Duchesses are already being chosen by Fort Worth, San Angelo, Ranger and other cities.

Meter Is Legal Lover's Distance In Fair Holland BERLIN—A noteworthy effort to protect people from the allurements of spring is reported from St. Martendijk. The burgomaster of this beautiful place in the Dutch province of Zeeland had a notice attached to the entrance of municipal park, decreeing:

"While seated on the park benches people of different sex must strictly observe that there is a distance between them of at least one meter."

Though the draconic degree does not explicitly say so, it must be assumed that trespassers will be chased out of the St. Martendijk gardens of Eden by an angel Gabriel, disguised in the plain uniform of a Dutch policeman.

FEDERATION MEETS The Women's Federation met at the club house Friday afternoon in an important called meeting. Mrs. E. O. Ellington, president, presided.

Those present were: Mesdames Seth Parsons, E. O. Ellington, B. Reagan, O. L. Thomas, Ashley Williams and L. L. Freeman.

WILD TROUT PULLS WOMAN INTO LAKE RED BLUFF, Calif., June 14. (INS)—It's gotta be a pretty good fish and get up awfully early in the morning to get away from Mrs. Charles Ray, Red Bluff sports enthusiast.

Mrs. Ray recently exhibited a seven pound trout which she landed from Lake Almanor. The trout pulled Mrs. Ray in the lake but she held on to her pole until she and the fish were rescued by her cousin, Ray Savercool.

Miss Jennie Lucile Kennedy entertained with a picnic at the city park, followed by a slumber party, for Miss Gladys Wilcox of Lubbock Friday evening.

The guests were: Misses Mary Louise Gilmour, Barbara Freeman, Dorothy Mae Miller, Margaret McDonald, Louise Wright, Minnie Earle Johnson, Ruth Mellinger, Jennie Lucile Kennedy and the honoree.

Clara Bow, In "True To The Navy," Opens Today At Ritz

NAUTICAL NUMBER DISCLOSES NEW CHARMS OF BROOKLYN'S EFFULGENT CINEMA DAUGHTER

The new Clara Bow, who caused such a furore of excitement in the brief glimpse possible in "Paramount on Parade," is back with an eye-filling of charms in her latest "IT" hit, "True to the Navy," opening at the Ritz theatre this afternoon for a three-day run.

She is slim, lithe, peppy, and has all the famous vitality and vivaciousness which have made her the most popular female star in motion pictures. In "True to the Navy," she brings a real enthusiasm, a new beauty and appeal.

"True to the Navy" is all Clara Bow. A soda-fountain girl with a great personality, she has all the sailors from the fleet wild about her. Every boat that comes into port brings a special boy-friend for the "Teddy." She has only about half-a-dozen steady beaux. Each thinks himself the only one. Clara is wholehearted, a good sport, none of the gobs means more than a good friend to her. Then the whole fleet drops anchor at once, and Clara's clamoring boy-friends try to settle their rights by force. When this doesn't work, they all declare war against her.

Then Clara meets a new boy-friend, Fredric March, and loses her heart. Just as March is about to pop the question, to which Clara is eager to answer yes, her discarded suitors warn March that Clara is a heartless flirt. March veers off. But Clara goes after her man, proves she loves him and adds a wedding ring to her collection of souvenirs.

In addition to Clara and March, who will be remembered as Clara's boy-friend in "The Wild Party," Harry Green, the funny man of "Kibitzer" and "Honey," furnishes loads of laughs. The supporting cast is exceptionally good, and includes Sam Hardy, recently seen as the race-track promoter in "Burnin' Up."

"True to the Navy" is a fast-moving romance with a nautical tang, dominated by a forest-fire of "IT." Frank Tuttle, director of "Sweetie," made it.

Injecting A Sour Note

Charles Farrell, Janet Gaynor and Joyce Compton in a scene from the Fox Movietone musical romance "High Society Blues."

Janet Gaynor And Charles Farrell Again To Captivate Ritz Audiences

Janet Gaynor, dainty little audience screen favorite, comes closer to playing "herself" in her role as Eleanor Divine in "High Society Blues." Fox Movietone musical romance, in which she is co-starred with Charles Farrell than in any other picture she ever has made.

As the daughter of Horace Divine, enacted by William Collier, St. multi-millionaire, she lives in luxury and associates with the best society; at the same time she is a distinct personality without a trace of "high hat" commonly found in such rarified social atmosphere.

And Eleanor, just as Janet in real life, prefers simple pleasures and activities to the more elaborate functions characteristic of wealth.

Although ranking as a reigning princess of Hollywood society, Miss Gaynor seldom exercises her royal prerogatives. Rather, she seeks to avoid formal social events. She lives simply in her Beverly Hills home or at her beach cottage in Santa Monica. She might easily have an elaborate, beach home at exclusive Malibu, the "Gold Coast" of Hollywood. Instead she prefers a simple, five-roomed cottage.

"My good friends—the ones I care for, don't mind where I live," Miss Gaynor explains, simply. "They know they are welcome any time they want to come. But the idlers and triflers stay away. There is nothing here to attract them."

"I value my time too highly to waste it on people whose sole aim in life is to have a good time. If I lived at some fashionable place, I would be constantly entertaining and being entertained. Not that I don't like parties—for I do, occasionally. But I do want some time to myself to read and swim and play tennis and just lay in the sand and dream. I find the best way to do it is to be far from the crowd.

"It is a real effort for people to come to see me, now and I feel that those who take the trouble, do so because they really like me."

In addition to Farrell, others prominent in the cast of "High Society Blues," which will be seen and heard soon at the Ritz theater, beginning next Wednesday, include William Collier, Sr., Joyce Compton, Hedda Hopper, Louise Fazenda, Lucien Littlefield, and Brandon Hurst.

David Butler who made the first Gaynor-Farrell musical comedy, "Sunny Side Up," directed this production.

Robert Hage, reviewer for Motion Picture News, in the June 7 number describes "Safety in Numbers," Paramount's all-talking attraction which will be shown Friday and Saturday at the R&R Ritz theater, as "that rare combination of intelligent direction, brilliant dialogue—and rich humor. The result is a picture that is entertainment plus."

The lion's share of honors is accorded Victor Schertzinger, the director, and the authors, George Marion, Jr., and Percy Heath. Their labors would have put the picture over with almost any kind of a cast but an excellent roster of players, Mr. Hage declared, has been enlisted and adds to the box office appeal.

"Buddy Rogers is decorative and adequate as the hero. Kathryn Crawford is convincing as the heroine and Roscoe Karns in the role of a taxicab chauffeur nets most of the laughs.

"Buddy" loses his job as an employe in the San Francisco office of his uncle, because he turns the establishment into a dancing school, and is sent to New York in care of three relatives, who are to teach him the social graces during the three months before he receives his patrimony of $25,000,000. The three turn out to be Follies beauties and "Buddy" learns plenty about women from them.

Another chorus dancer tries to make "Buddy" and his millions and the manner in which his three "guardians" rescue him from her designs is a riot. He falls in love with one (Kathryn Crawford) but the customary plot requirements make the going tough until the happy ending. It travels at a fast tempo, clicking laughs without end, most of them due to the clever dialogue.

Skirts Will Be Circular And Flaring Curves Undoubtedly Have Returned To Stay For Fall; Plaits And Godets Vanish

By ADA E. LINGO We shall be very circumspect and business like in this column today and tell you flatly what IS and what WILL be in style, for what with the seasons rushing us like they are we haven't time for foolishness.

FLARING AND CIRCULAR FOR FALL You may not yet have finished huying your entire summer wardrobe, but here are some hints just in case you get some little thing "that can be worn right on through into the fall, you know."

Skirts will be flared and circular. Plaits will disappear entirely and godets as well. Flaring and circular should be your watch word in selecting gowns to be worn in the fall.

Redingote gowns which were so popular some ten years ago, are reappearing in a new version. The Grecian influence which has been shown for summer, will be very popular for autumn evenings.

Ruffles will also be back with renewed vigor. An autumn model comes in black and white with checked chiffon, the skirt composed of four deep flounces. A fine white voile frock has matching mitts to replace the sleeves.

Jeanne Lavigne is introducing yokes and bibs of white pique on the models of her autumn collections, giving them just a touch of the masculine in this feminine whirl.

WEAR YOUR CHIC ON YOUR SLEEVE Sleeves will express the character of the dress this season. By this season we mean both summer and fall.

Cuffs have sometimes been moved from the wrist to the elbow and above. Several frocks in silk crepe have lace pieces in points inset in this intriguing style. Several of the designers are showing a tendency toward the magy or raglan sleeves which are cut in one with either the back or front yoke.

YOU MUST SHOW A CURVE IN THE WIND No doubt about it ladies, the curves are coming back. Among those in the happy receiving line will be candy manufacturers, corset designers and dress goods people.

After years of ruler straight lines things are beginning to turn a pretty corner. You know the old adage "It's a long lane that runs straight." Well that is what has happened to women's styles. The long lane got to monotonous.

In this connection we find a little note from Alice Lange-lier I.N.S. fashionist, who says that curls have come back to solve the coiffure problem for those who are growing out their locks, as well as for those who have determined never to stick another hairpin into their heads.

"The number of the latter is legion, for, in spite of news from the other side, French women seem loathe to part with their bobbed hair, after taking some little time to make up their minds to adopt this fashion. Smart French coiffeurs say that five out of every six women who come to them with their hair grown out hair go out of the shop with it all cut off again, annoyed at trying to keep it neat and tidy at the ugly length.

Sausage uncombed curls are being worn over the ears by many smart Parisiennes, with a top roll coming right across the center. It is a becoming fashion to most women. "Center-parting with flat curls at the sides is also popular for those who can wear it. Some women are wearing tiny flat ring curls on the forehead with the curls at the sides combed into ringlets.

Those who did keep their long locks are wearing them in coronet braids for evening, making a kind of diadem which is smart for most women."

FIRST HAND INFO FROM THE FRENCH Mrs. Ethel Holland Little in her "Weekly Style Letter" from the Women's Home Companion quotes the following from their French correspondent:

"Let me tell you what is very chic at present in Paris," continues our correspondent. "It is a plain black Moroccan short jacket and skirt with a colored chiffon blouse—emerald green, for instance. I noticed a costume of this type not long ago at a Champs Elysees restaurant. Carved emerald jewelry, and green heels on a pair of black lizard pumps carried out the color effect."

SENSIBLE STYLES WE CALL EM This business of wearing shorts and overalls sounds swell. Listen to the little quotation below from the same Mrs. Little quoted above:

"There doesn't seem to be much doubt about the popularity of shorts and overalls. What with Palm Beach behind them and now with several of the girls' colleges taking to them en masse their place in the summer scheme seems assured.

"A friend of mine who spent Saturday and Sunday at Bryn Mawr tells me that actually she saw nothing else in the way of clothes but shorts and overall outfits. The girls wore them for sports, on the campus, in study-hall—everywhere. They liked bright-colored shorts in cotton or linen worn over white tuck-in shirts and for the overalls they preferred natural-colored denim piped with bright shades. There were very few hats—just some berets, an occasional bandana—and practically no stockings. The favorite shoes were white canvas with rubber soles.

"At Vassar, too, my assistant tells me the girls wear shorts for tennis and other sports, although they cover them up afterwards with a wrap-around flannel skirt. Up there jay crepe is the favorite shorts material."

Grandmother would gasp at some of the new bed coverings is not hidden when the comfortable is folded.

Some borders strike the key notes in the whole color scheme. For instance, in the plain-colored saten group some are embellished with borders in two tones of gold and green or other combinations.

Another series successfully blends three colors. One comfortable has a lavender center within a double band of peach and a wider border of turquoise blue.

The good old quilting designs are cleverly, but faithfully, used to make them even more fascinating. The new printed cottons bring joy to bedrooms without a twinge to the budget. One cotton comfortable displays an unusual hand-blocked, printed design in a smart flower design of many colors; and the wide border repeats the two predominant tints.

New indeed is the idea of charming boudoir-pillows styled to match the comfortable. Small pieces of the same fabrics are used in these and the quilting and color schemes make the pillows "belong," unmistakably.

Slat Sunbonnets Flap Silently And 'Kaleidoscope' Needs Border Of Roses Morosely In Bleak Literary Wind

By ONA BEAGAN PARSONS "Prairie Women" by Ivan Beede. (Harper and Bros.)

Prairie women are becoming popular. There was once a time when prairie women smacked only of a coarse sunbonnet flapping in the wind and an inert, thin, pinched figure battling with the elements for the essentials of housewifery.

Today the sunbonnet and the thin figure have their inning—in fiction. It began with men dreaming of their grandmothers romantically. There was—there has always been—romance about women's part of the taming of the frontier, but it takes a grandson or a great-grandson to appreciate it. Anything less is too close for a proper perspective.

Of these women pictured in "Prairie Women," some one of them (we aren't too enlightened on that point) is doubtless a portrayal of his grandmother—possibly his mother, for he does not go back so very far.

There is one woman, very wise, very reasonable and very unhappy. He introduces her as a bride and then as a disillusioned wife. She is worth a more clear-cut picture than Mr. Beede gives us. In fact, she is worth a whole book. I can think of no other women just like her in modern fiction.

She was a pacifist in the World War and no one understood her, until it was over. Someday Mr. Beede will probably make a more exhaustive study of her.

The book is really not a picture of prairie women. It is too slight for that. I do present a midwestern prairie village through cross sections of the lives of various women. It shows how entangled their relationships became with the years.

Even the cross sections, however, are merely sketches. If Mr. Beede had been willing to work longer on the book and give it fullness he could have made it a more valuable contribution to Americana. His underlying idea is splendid; but his sketches are immature. I believe his development will be toward a fuller use of words rather than a more economical use, if he develops at all.

Most likely he saw, as his readers do, that as a cross section the book was limited; hence the title.

There are, possibly, many women today who spent their honeymoons at the World Fair in Chicago. Those who did will enjoy reading "Prairie Women" for the opportunities it gives them of reliving their past. Most of them will enjoy a good cry and the book will probably prove true, in that most of them will be able to sympathize with Mrs. Mason, without having the opportunity she had.

June Kaleidoscope Well, the Kaleidoscope, a national magazine of poetry, appears this month in a green cover. All it needs is a border of roses.

We were relieved and disappointed to learn that the silhouettes on the inside cover were not those of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery. We hoped they were; and think the confession slightly unwise.

Apparently the only difference between a review and a letter to the publishers of aforesaid magazine, is that we get our sentiments printed first.

The contributors, as usual, range from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico. Our favorite this month is one awarded the Monthly Beginner's prize. It has more music and poetry, we think, than the effort of many an old-timer. Who would have thought it was by a young Methodist minister except for its title, which is "The Higher World." It is by Patrick D. Moreland, who lives in Archer City.

A sonnet by Barbara Young, who founded the Poetry Society of New York, called "For All Saints" is well worth quoting:

"Only the higher wisdom knows The day span of a wild white rose. Or why the sunlight through tall trees Makes golden stairs for dying bees.

Or yet the sorrows of a leaf That falls as silently as grief. Soundlessly upon the ground. (A heart breaks also without sound.)

And who can tell when fate draws near? His trumpet sounds. Who can hear? For the sweet rest of that unlettered saint Whose name we have forgotten or denied.

The unanointed, the uncrucified, Whose lips have shapen neither prayer nor plaint Kindle a beacon on the hill today. Pour out a drop of amber-wine and break A honeyed morsel for remembrance' sake. Bend down the unaccustomed knee and pray.

Think on him in the busy noon awhile He who has trodden every weedy street. The valley roads confess his patient feet. The lonely are befriended of his smile. He is a vast, unnamed, unnumbered host. May love sustain him to the uttermost."

Prexys Declare Student Drinking On The Decline

EVANSTON, Ill., June 14.—Presidents of 255 colleges in 45 states believe there is less student drinking, that there is a larger number of non-drinking students than ever and a growing trend of student opinion against liquor, according to a questionnaire sent out by the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The 255 answers in regard to present condition, as tabulated and made public today by national headquarters of the W.C.T.U., follow: Less drinking than before prohibition, 135; no drinking, 44; drinking either unknown or almost unknown, 47; same amount as before prohibition, 8; drinking conditions bad, 7; drinking conditions worse than before prohibition, 3.

"The views of the presidents," the W.C.T.U. said, "coincide with the statements of the two famous football coaches, Alonzo Stagg, University of Chicago, and Fielding Yost, Michigan, who told the judiciary committee of the house that student drinking was vastly less since prohibition and arg in disagreement with the idea expressed by Coach W. W. Roper, who said drinking conditions are so bad that he hesitated to send his children college.

"Presidents report almost three times as many colleges where there is no drinking as the organized wetts have put forward as institutions where there more drinkers than non-drinkers."

The W.C.T.U. said the inquiry was undertaken "because of widespread propaganda that college is unsafe."

Many college presidents, the report said, blame student drinking on the older generation and quoted President Hibben of Princeton as saying: "College communities are not wholly to be blamed, for young men and women in college are reflecting merely what is going on in their homes and in their social environment."

Slender Obelisk Marks Spot Of British Defeat

CONCORD, Mass.—An unusual museum among institutions housing the nation's historic treasures, has been established in this picturesque community whose name figures so prominently in the chronicles of early American progress.

It is a large red brick building set on an attractively landscaped plot diagonally across the street from the old homestead of the famed poet Ralph Waldo Emerson. Gifts made last year in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shepard Barrett of this town enabled the Concord Antiquarian Society to create the novel repository.

Though offering to public view for the first time a host of relics recalling Revolutionary days, the museum was not erected primarily for the exhibition of such objects. Its principal purpose is to depict the evolution of the American home during the approximately two centuries from 1650 to 1840.

The singular beauty of the structure, known as The Concord Antiquarian House, probably lies in the fact that it actually was built around the rooms that it contains. Typical rooms in Concord homes known to date back to a certain period were transferred intact to the new building and installed in their original state.

Pricelless Antiques Antiques, virtually all of them gathered from Concord homes and many of them priceless, have been used in furnishing the house, being divided among the rooms of the periods they represent. A 17th century chest in the oldest room would easily bring $15,000 to $20,000 if put on the market, according to antique connoisseurs.

Possibly the outstanding feature of the Antiquarian House is the Emerson room. All during the years that this room was a part of the poet's old homestead, the public was barred from it. Now it has been transferred intact to the new museum, where visitors will be permitted to inspect it from a glassed-in vestibule.

Who's the Hero? Lived Unknown Near Home

BROWN CITY, Mich.—The story of a man who wandered from his home in his youth and for thirty-six years lived within forty miles of it, unable to communicate with grief-stricken relatives because he could neither read nor write, was revealed here when Thomas Murray returned home, an old man with gray hair.

When he was only 25 years old Murray, who could pronounce just three words, "Yes," "No," and "Dave," his uncle's name because of throat paralysis, wandered into a swamp near his home and never returned. The countryside was diligently searched for the speechless youth and his disappearance was widely advertised but no word was ever heard of him.

How long he lived in the swamp is not known but one day he appeared at a farm and made gestures indicating he was hungry.

as a surveyor. Purely historical relics which have been assembled at the museum include one of the two lanterns hung in the belfry of Boston's Old North Church to warn Paul Revere that the British were coming by sea; part of one of the original timbers of the old Concord Bridge; and a mirror which was broken by a bullet fired during the battle at the bridge.

ONE WOMAN'S WAR

ONE WOMAN'S WAR (Anonymous), just published by Macaulay, has many interesting personal sidelights on some of the most famous American aviators in the war—Eddie Rickenbacker, Quentin Roosevelt, Major Spatz of Question Mark fame. The writer, a Virginia girl living in France when the war broke out, joined the Red Cross, but was discharged because of a love affair with one of the aviators. She tells how Major Spatz failed to quiet the Aviation Cadets when they decided to celebrate the New Year 1918 by shooting up camp, how this, the most spirited and grandest army of undisciplined troops in the War, booted their officers, went AWOL, broke all regulations, but when the time came to fight, they were the most spectacular and unbelievable soldiers in history.

LADIES' MAN Although many authors come from the ends of the earth to see their new novels published, Rupert Hughes sailed for Europe, the day after his latest, Ladies' Man, was brought out. Mr. Hughes studied the typical ladies' man carefully before depicting him in the novel. As a result, he is so realistic that many women readers protested to Mr. Hughes against his murder. The murder takes place at an eighth story window overlooking Broadway near Times Square and about ten thousand people see it—and yet, due to Mr. Hughes' own special formula for composing a mystery, Harper's guarantees this to be one of the most exciting mysteries they have published.

BOOKS And Bookmakers

Writers will ridicule us about our susceptibility to "bargains," our herd instinct in choosing everything from pork and beans to tooth paste, and Mr. E. K. Knott, who has written a satirical and interesting book "King Mob," much on the order of "The Great American Caravan," carries it even farther than the average.

"However," says the New Yorker, there are points in mob psychology that Mr. Knott fails to take into consideration. For instance, persons with a low intolerance usually have a fuller and richer life than those with more discrimination critical faculties."

The Pup And Seal In Modern Versification

Two clever poems by Laura Bennet in the New Yorker, Miss Bennet has a charming feeling for the subtle human characteristics of animals recognized so seldom by the people who just will take animals sentimentally.

THE DOG Dog and his tail forever spell Interrogation. It is well. Dog and his tail are here to stow. Man's definite search for woe. Tail, that wobbling bit of truce, Surely has an occult use; Without the same the pup would be Half of a monstrosity. He's canonized and made far-seeing. By this appellation of his being.

THE SEAL Child of sleek and slippery fin Begun with such a vim To be a loving daughter. What strange perversity Polished your skins And left you in the water? Out of your round, devoted eyes Huge possibilities arise. For tea and toast. But wavering extremities Formed for fluctuating seas Or chilly icebergs' rim Deny this comfort's goal. Staunch feminine seal in yet another life. You, functioning as mother and as wife. Shall oscillate a placid rocking chair. And on upholstered porches take the air!

One Convict's Bitter Story

Prison riots and investigations throughout the country and the much-discussed penitentiary situation in Texas, particularly, makes "The Man Called Eighty-Eighty," by Roy W. Hinds, interesting reading for its timeliness as well as for the attraction the story itself may have for the individual reader.

Penal institutions have been making page 1 of the dailies consistently for many months with spot news—breaks for freedom, mutiny—the disastrous Ohio fire. Convicts have told their stories in magazine articles and several have gained the spotlight through the medium of radio. It is not surprising that the penitentiary should break into the field of the novel.

"The Man Called Eighty-Eighty" emphasizes the need of prison reform, citing, of course, only one instance without identifying it, but inferring, nevertheless, that similar conditions exist elsewhere.

Hinds tells the story in the first person. It reads convincingly. One actually feels that "No. 8080" really experienced the adventures recited and that he is now where the closing chapter says he is. "No. 8080," central figure in the story, is given the name Harry Fyler. Only 20 years of age, he is convicted of embezzling $50,000 from a bank. The jury gave him five years. Recitation of what happens in the average penitentiary would likely be dry reading to everybody unless it was printed in connection with some spot news about the prison, but presented through the experiences of youthful Harry Fyler and the effect of prison life on him makes the story sparkle with interest.

Hinds does a fine piece of descriptive work in this novel. Particularly vivid are his first two chapters when he describes the prison at night in a storm when young Fyler and several other convicts are brought there, handcuffed, for incarceration. Various emotions well up in the youth's heart as he realizes he is leaving the world and freedom behind.

Another thing about the story is its fairness to all sides of the prison reform question. It is a lesson in law observance and right living so fascinating in its recital that one forgets "No. 8080" is preaching a sermon out of his life.—C. L. Richhart.

Murder at High Tide by CHARLES G. BOOTH

SYNOPSIS: Allan Hunt, seeking Caroline Brent and her captors, explores a dilapidated wharf at one end of San Lucas Island. He finds the launch of Bec and le Balafre, whom he believes were her abductors. He hears voices, hears the two ex-convicts torturing Caroline. She tells them Dan Parados was a shot. Le Balafre's body drops on top of Hunt, who is clinging to the launch. Another shot—and Bec drops dead. Hunt then can see Caroline, imprisoned in a hidden shed under the wharf. The voice of another man tells her that he cannot let her live. Caroline retorts that she is not afraid.

Taxes should be evenly distributed, however, so as to touch all property of value, both tangible and intangible, and no one branch of industry should bear a disproportionate burden. Like the man who entices the gobbler with corn before he cuts his head off, we can not invite industries to the state only to load them down with excessive taxes.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Boise, Idaho.
Who are the most dangerous enemies of our country? Would you consider the Reds to be such?
Anarchist propaganda respects no restraints of religion, law or civilization. Anarchists are divided into two groups, the philosophical and the active, and that division should be kept in mind. Philosophical anarchism is largely theoretical, with a correspondingly small constituency. Active anarchism is confined to certain extreme elements responsible for infamous crimes and assassinations which usually occur where tyranny is rampant.

Both groups are negligible in the United States and have never seriously menaced its welfare. That is threatened by men and women who use patriotism as a mask for personal gain, financial or otherwise. The people who lend a ready ear to pleas for race prejudice and religious separatism are far more inimical to the unity and integrity of this Republic than all the Reds in the world.

The bearer of the fiery cross, the night rider, the hierarchies of ignorance and hoodlumism who have made life hideous in many of our rural communities, exhibit a virulent bigotry and provincial narrowness unparalleled in the history of this country. Those who sow hatred reap what they sow and are their own worst victims. They live on their own lives and the lives of their children. With burners as extinct, but they bequeathed their ignominious passions to venomous coeteries which assume that they are the elect of God, and as such privileged to exercise private vengeance. Fix your attention on these groups, for they are the real foes of genuine Americanism and its constitutional freedom. They will bear close watching.

Chicago, Ill.
What would you suggest the Protestant ministers and churches should do to promote the growth of Christian unity? I urge the formation of local conferences in our various churches for the study and discussion of the subjects embraced in the program adopted at the Lausanne World Conference on Faith and Order held in 1927. Reports of these local conferences should be sent to the secretary of the Continuation Committee, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass., who will be glad to give any information desired of the conference itself and also of those of the sessions of the Continuation Committee which have since been held. The eight days of 1930 ending on Whitsunday (the seventh Sunday after Easter) were designated by the Continuation Committee as a month for special prayer that the efforts now being made for Christian unity may be divinely directed. Indeed, your prayers are desired at all times that God will bless the movement for Christian oneness and prepare the hearts and minds of His children everywhere for reconciliation.

Ardent and patient effort is essential on the part of every one of us to promote study and discussion in our own constituencies concerning the cardinal points upon which agreement is necessary before corporate union of any kind can be effected. Surely the reintegration of Christianity is the concern of every one who loves the Lord and treasures the church which is His body. It is high time we took our needless divisions to heart and resolved to understand and overcome them.
Boston, Mass.
Why do you call Plato the father of theology? That farred me as a Roman Catholic.

I did not coin the title you mention. It has long been in use and originated with Dr. John Cairns, an eminent British philosopher and theologian. Christian teachings of Plato and the Greek masters cannot fall to recognize their kinship with our experience as believers.
"Oh," said Plato, "is not far from every one of us, but is near to all without their knowing it. It is they themselves who flee away from Him or rather they flee away from their own true selves. . . . We are not cut off from God. . . . We breathe and consist in Him. . . . For since the soul is indeed other than God and yet from God, she loves and longs for Him of necessity."
What nobler interpretation of man's inmost being has any modern mind offered than this utterance of a truly inspired guide who lived and taught twenty-five centuries ago? Your own church, in common with all the churches, owes much to the profound experiences of Plato and the thought forms of Aristotle.

Much of the cheap, muddled and confused religious thinking of today could well afford to imitate the late Dr. George A. Gordon of your city by turning back to the ancient non-Christian sources of spirituality. They demonstrate that God has not left Himself without a witness at any time. We should be less than human and utterly lacking in historic imagination if we did not realize that these distant seekers and finders bequeathed to us their tolls and triumphs, and all the earnings of their painful quest.
