Her 'Secret Sorrow' Is Revealed Hollywood, seeing Sylvia Sidney in doleful poses such as this, often attributed to her a secret sorrow. The reality of this sorrow was revealed the other day when the demure screen star, who always had been known as the daughter of a New York dentist, filed papers in New York Supreme Court against her real father, Victor Kosow.

EMPLOYEE TELLS OF A GIFT TO GEO. SHEPPARD Saye Comptroller Was Reluctant to Accept Christmas Gift of $700. Calvert estimated that about $1,300 was sent to agents of the department in North Texas for that purpose.

that reminds me... Lee Tracy picked a most unusual and bonched manner to reveal himself in a public manner. It was a bad time to go to a public gathering and get the public and making something out of himself and at the same time having the public to pay to see his good work and then all of a sudden snatch himself out of the benches and go haywire to the extent of getting "executed" for a foolish attempt to gain selfish publicity. A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

REAL PEACE: Wisdom's ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace.—Proverbs 3: 17.

'THE HAPPY WARRIOR' AND THE NEW DEAL PRESIDENT

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the President and Alfred E. Smith, who failed to be elected president, under the sheltering roof of the White House slaked their respective thirsts with tea, exchanged the compliments of the season, and discussed their grandchildren. They have been pals for, lo, these many years. They did not discuss politics. They did not discuss old or new deal programs. They had a very jolly hour together. The right hand man of Postmaster General James A. Farley conveyed "The Happy Warrior" from the railroad station to the White House. President Roosevelt mad James A. Hoey collector of internal revenue for the very important district of New York. It is one of the richest plums at the disposal of the President. "The Happy Warrior" refused to cooperate with the Curry Tammany Tiger in the recent election. James J. Hoey refused to follow the flag of the Tiger. He was a candidate on a McKee ticket for the office of city comptroller. He lost.

Now the McKee democrats have ben given due recognition by the President. Alfred E. Tichenor is the publisher of The Outlook magazine. "The Happy Warrior" is the editor of the magazine. Hoey was the Smith campaign manager in 1928. "The Happy Warrior" cast his ballot for Hoey for comptroller. Publisher Tichenor had charge of the publicity campaign for Mayor-elect LaGuardia. Now the publisher and Mrs. Tichenor are the guests of the mayor-elect down on the isle of Bermuda.

There is to be a reorganization of the New York democracy. Tiger Trainer Curry is on the way out. As a Tiger manager he was a failure. He opposed the nomination of Roosevelt at Chicago. He lost. He opposed the nomination of Herbert H. Lehmann for governor. Roosevelt and Smith jammed Lehmann down the throat of the Tiger. There is to be a new democratic party in the Empire state of the East. Now the O'Connor brothers of Albany are in the Roosevelt camp. Their choice has been named as collector of internal revenue for the Albany district. Farley is said to have extended the olive branch to the victorious brothers. Now they are on the Roosevelt band-wagon.

Many of the important cities upstate, including Buffalo and Rochester, were captured by the democrats on Nov. 7. In other words, there is a new deal on in the democratic wigwam in New York state and the Tger appears to be in the tall timber blinded in both eyes, teeth broken and claws removed with the doors of a museum-zoo attached ready for the reception of the crippled beast.

A city is usually judged by its appearance. A whole lot of citizens get the idea that responsibility for the appearance of the city rests upon city officials. The fact of the matter is, personal responsibility for the appearance of the city rests upon the shoulders of every citizen. Cooperation is absolutely necessary for the beautification of any city.

In some cities reckless automobile and truck drivers endanger the lives of other drivers, as well as the innocent pedestrian for whom this class of drivers has no respect. Some of them seem to treat traffic regulations as a joke. Speed demons, corner cutters and all kinds of reckless drivers should become good citizens, obey the law or go to jail where they belong.

Merchants who stock up with the merchandise that people want and then let them know about it through newspaper advertising are the ones who get somewhere.

Some cities seem like cities of neglected possibilities, while others seem like cities of opportunity, yet they often fail to seize the opportunities that present themselves.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT when you buy all you buy in the city in which you live, you benefit and so does the home city. Therefore, it is easy to see that onl foolish people spend their money away from home.

Some people never seriously attempt to learn anything about the business concerns of their home city and permit themselves to go along with a mistaken idea that their city acy progress without business. It can't be done, and the sooner they realize this fact the sooner their city will grow to be a better place in which to live and make a living.

A dam of education should be erected to stop the flow of money that is made in a city and allowed to flow to other cities, building up other cities at the expense of the home city.

Every effort should be made to divert this money back into the right channel so it will be spent at home where it will do constructive work and benefit all.

OUT OUR WAY

'Forgotten Men' Showing at Lyric

The cost of producing a big feature has frequently been stressed by producers in their advertising. The public is often impressed by their catch lines, "Million Dollar Production," "Thousands of Extras," "All Star Cast," and similar statements. Such adjectives as "Stupendous," "Amazing," "Gigantic," etc., are also employed. All producers however seem agreed that figures mean more than adjectives, hence the cost, or reputed cost, of a big feature picture seems to be the favorite method of enlisting public interest.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the one picture that actually cost as much as all other motion pictures combined; the picture that is actually the "most costly picture ever made"; the picture for which the entire civilized world is still paying; is not using figures in its advertising.

The most costly picture ever made or that ever will be made is "Forgotten Men," the huge war spectacle now on exhibition at the Lyric Theatre. It cost to the entire world in round billions of gold, millions of lives, misery, suffering, woe, starvation and want has not yet been ascertained after fifteen years.

In "Forgotten Men" the staging of every scene flashed on the screen cost millions in money. Every scene is an authentic official record of action during the war. Every scene represents the wanton destruction of lives and property. These scenes were not "staged" for exhibition purposes—they were taken as records for the archives of all the countries participating in the war. For years these films were suppressed. Recent world developments and the agitation for disarmament led to their release for exhibition purposes.

"Forgotten Men" is the result of years of labor and research. It is a complete history of the War in chronological order, showing the activities of every country participating. It is unbiased, frank and authentic, because each country presents its side of the controversy on the screen with its own pictures filmed by its own cameramen.

No exhibition could be more timely and every one who sees "Forgotten Men," be they pacifist or warlike, will be impressed with the necessity for world agreement at the disarmament conference.

T&P Reduces Fares For Thanksgiving

DALLAS, Nov. 23.—Texans can do their Thanksgiving traveling this year at bargain prices.

According to Frank Jensen, general passenger agent of the Texas & Pacific railway, fares to all points on that line in Texas and Louisiana will be 60 per cent of the one-way fare for a round trip for Thanksgiving travelers.

"Such low fares," Mr. Jensen said, "are almost unheard of, especially during recent years. More than that, travel is made safe, comfortable and fast by the most modern of trains and conveniences."

These special low fare tickets, Mr. Jensen explained, will be on sale at all Texas & Pacific ticket offices Nov. 28, 29 and 30 with a return limit of Dec. 5.

"A fare of two cents a mile for distance traveled," the general passenger agent explained, "will also be on sale Nov. 28, 29 and 30 to Little Rock, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul, with a return limit of 10 days." Fullman fares will also be reduced for these Thanksgiving fares.

production and distribution. Strikes will not remedy the situation. The "boss" who comes out of his shell and says "we" instead of "I".

Senator Tom Connally is in deep water in New Orleans, and frankly we fear that he has not handled the thing as tactfully as we feel he is capable of doing. That's unfortunate just at a time when another election for his office is just around the "corner." Joe Bailey has already thrown his hat in the ring. He did it tactfully. He refused to say a word about the man that he intends to oppose. And Tom Connally did hedge to some extent on the question of repeal. Which was quite a contrast to the manner in which Morris Shepherd handled his views in the matter. Shepherd not only opposed it but stumped the state against it. He was open and above board; made no bones about it and the people respect him for it—even deep dyed in the wool republicans. More than ever, in these days and times a man must stand on his belief, firmly and fearlessly. Mr. Connally is a qualified senator and public official, but he simply failed to get in the heat of the battle at a time when he could have made his influence felt. And now some of the Louisianans are after him. Which probably won't do him any great harm. But at the same time it won't do him any good. So his fate politically is in the balance with such a crusader as Joe Bailey after him.

The holiday season is now on in earnest. There is money in the country and it is going to be spent. It depends upon Eastland's business interests just how much of this money that rightfully belongs here will be spent in Eastland. It takes one hundred percent whole-hearted cooperation to put a thing over successfully. This is one time that whatever is done to stimulate buying in Eastland should be done with everybody behind the move. Quibbling and personal differences can well afford to be buried.

ANCIENT SILVER VESSELS FOUND IN SWEDEN

By United Press
KALMAR, Sweden.—Ancient sacred vessels have been discovered in a well at Kalmar castle, oldest, a silver wafer box, stamped with the year 1646, and a gilded goblet was manufactured in 1736. It is believed that the vessels are part of a loot stolen from the castle, and forgotten by the thief. The castle was used as a prison up to 1852, and it is possible that some inmate, who knew his way about, picked up the vessels from the castle's collection of silver, and hid them in the well.

So ROUND, so FIRM, so FULLY PACKED

Luckies draw easily - burn evenly

It's easy to see why so many women prefer Lucky Strike. Luckies are fully packed with long strands of choice tobaccos, round and firm to the very tips. That means Luckies always draw easily, always burn smoothly. It also means no annoying loose ends to cling to lips or mess up the nice things in a woman's purse. And every day more and more women are showing their appreciation by saying "Luckies please".

Brilliant Entertainment Offered Clubwomen
The Thursday Afternoon club offered a pleasing entertainment Tuesday, 2:30 p. m., to the clubwomen in the presentation of the brilliant reader and author, Mrs. Harry McGee of Brownwood, in a book review of the recent novel, "No Second Spring."

Mrs. F. M. Kenney, president of the club, opened the program in a charming welcome to the guests, and presented the chairman of the library committee of Thursday Afternoon club, Mrs. James Horton, who made a delightful introduction of Miss Carrie Reeves of Brownwood, second vice president of the Texas Federation of Women's Club, introduced Mrs. McGee.

Mrs. McGee is a magnificent reader, brilliant in impersonation, of pleasing personality and easily won the admiration of her audience.

It is interesting to note that Mrs. McGee is co-author of the Texas Centennial opera, "Tejas," now being prepared for 1936, and is, as well, a writer of note.

The colorful character of the novel setting was further noted in dance number presented by Miss Onetta Russell of Eastland and Miss Baker of Coleman; by pupils of the former, Helen Rosenquist and Jackie Belew, in a Scotch folk dance with Miss Wilma Belew at piano, and an intricate Scotch tap number by Miss Baker, assisted by Miss Sue Eppler of Gorman as pianist.

The affair, given as a benefit for the public library of Eastland, was attended by a large number of women. Out of town guests were Mrs. D. L. Connolly of Brownwood, Mrs. O. L. Phillips and Mrs. T. L. Lauderdale of Kainer, and Misses E. C. Sutton and Foster of Gorman. Guests were received by the club president, Mrs. Kenney, and registered by Mrs. Carl Springer.

The program was announced by Mrs. Horton. The library committee served a characterful refreshment of tea and oatmeal cookies, assisted by Mrs. W. A. Martin and Mrs. J. M. Perkins.

West Ward P. T. A. Interesting Meeting
The Parent-Teacher association of West Ward school, held Tuesday afternoon, had an attendance of some 75.

Miss Lavelle Hendrix, with Mrs. F. O. Hunter at piano, opened the meeting.

The president, Mrs. Paul McFarland, opened the program.

Mrs. Karl F. Page, program chairman, assumed charge of the program offerings, presenting the West Ward school glee club, in numbers "Marching Along Together," a rhythmic melody, and "Brahm's lullaby," directed by Virginia Garrett, with Mrs. Hunter as pianist.

A clever reading was given by Elizabeth Ann Sikes.

Mrs. W. K. Jackson was the guest speaker, and spoke on Book week and "Education."

The talk was illustrated by numerous pictures of authors and stories of their most prominent works.

The business program was opened by Mrs. McFarland; minutes submitted by secretary, Mrs. E. M. Anderson, were approved.

The president stated that many people thought that all the P. T. A. did was to meet, list names, award a room prize and adjourn.

NERVOUS WOMEN
Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly..." My nerves are all out of order... I wish I were dead... how often have we heard those expressions from some woman who has become so tired and run-down that her nerve can no longer stand the strain. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition if she can help herself. She should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. For nearly sixty years women have taken this wonderful tonic to give them renewed strength and vigor.

So out of every 100 women who report to us say that they are benefited by this medicine. Buy a bottle from your druggist today... and watch the results.

but that this was erroneous, and quoted the recent activities of her association in the leveled and graveled school grounds at West Ward, the street filled so that children could reach the school in muddy weather; hectograph supplies kept up, flowers sent the sick and bereaved and first aid kit maintained.

New business, allowed $12 for teachers' supplies; Mrs. J. U. Johnson, treasurer, reported final balance on hand $68.15.

Miss Hendrix presented the request of Mrs. James Horton that a committee be appointed to confer with other committees from clubs and P. T. A.'s on payment of taxes, in order to maintain Eastland public school teachers' salaries.

Mrs. McFarland took the matter under advisement. The supper to be given Friday night by Junior High P. T. A. was announced.

The Civic league community Christmas tree on the square, Dec. 22, at 6 p. m., was announced and

THIS LETTER WILL BRING JOY TO FAT FOLKS AND Neuritis Sufferers

"Dear Sirs: I was so crippled with neuritis all down left side of my head that I could hardly get up and down. At times my feet pained so badly I thought my toes would break off. I tried everything. The doctor told me I would be no better while I lived here but I stopped in a drug store in Brooklyn, N. Y., one day last November and the man in charge told me to take Kruschen for 3 weeks—steady and I would get relief which I did. Never felt better and along with it, have lost weight. I weighed 210 lbs. Now I weigh 154 and while I'm over 50 yrs. old I feel 30. I took it for one thing—got two—so I now have 6 others here taking it." Mrs. A. V. Carr, Ft. Tilden, N. Y.

"It's the little daily dose that does it," so take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast. Get Kruschen at any large druggist in the world—a jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle.

The president urged the members to contribute toys for the tree for the poor children of Eastland.

Miss Hendrix's room was awarded the $2 premium for having the most mothers in attendance.

Informal Luncheon
Mrs. W. A. Whitley, 905 South Seaman street, entertained with luncheon, noon Tuesday, Mrs. McGee of Brownwood and Mrs. J. E. Hickman and Mrs. D. L. Childress, local guests.

Miss Brogdon Entertains Club
Miss Lucille Brogdon was a charming hostess to Just-A-Mere club at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Brogdon on South Seaman street, Tuesday night, entertaining with three tables of bridge, appointed in clever pilgrim design tallies and score books.

Handsome bouquets of chrysanthemums adorned the rooms and prettily shaded lights added their charm.

The favors in game scores were very novel; an elephant carrying a clothes brush and hat brush with red handles, was high score game favor, awarded Miss Hattie Graham, and consolation, a pair of salt and pepper shakers in china dog design, went to Mrs. Homer Norton. Traveling prize, a clever daschmud filled with bath salts, was awarded Miss Lillian Smith.

At close of a delightful evening the hostess, assisted by her mother, served a supper plate of

To improve Any child's APPETITE

A sluggish appetite means sluggish colon. Correct this condition called stasis, and see how quickly a listless, drooping boy or girl begins to eat and gain! The only "medicine" such children need is pure, unadulterated fig syrup.

California syrup of figs is doing wonderful things for ailing, sickly children all over the United States. If your baby, boy or girl is bilious—pale-faced and dull-eyed from constipation—breath bad mornings, tongue coated all the time—don't give cathartics that weaken twenty feet of bowels! Instead, a little syrup of figs that doesn't disturb either stomach or bowels, but does act on the lower colon—where the trouble lies.

Nature never has made a finer laxative for children; they all love the wholesome, fruity flavor of the real California syrup of figs. It's purely vegetable, but every druggist has it all bottled, with directions. Begin with it at once. Your child will soon be eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the syrup of figs a few days and see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight and spirits.

Children who get syrup of figs now and then, keep well and avoid colds.

NOTICE: The bottlers of California Syrup of Figs respectfully warn mothers that the promises made here apply only to the genuine product in bottles plainly marked CALIFORNIA. Member N. R. A.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

DRUGAN turned a look of bewilderment in his eyes. There he understood. "Five dollars an hour—sixty cents," he announced abruptly. "Five dollars an hour—sixty cents!"

Bannister pulled a wallet from his pocket, was counting out the change. "Here you are," he said, smiling, and handing over the amount. "Five dollars and sixty-five cents. Now if I can have the check—"

"Why certainly! Certainly!" The sight of the money seemed to dissolve all of Drugan's troubles. He stepped forward, put his hand in Bannister's and grasped it firmly. "Pat!" he exclaimed. "You're my pal!"

Bannister returned the hand clasp. "O.K., Drugan," he said. "I'm your pal, too. Drugan, Gainey put in eagerly. "Come on, let's be on our way."

Before the befuddled Drugan thoroughly understood the situation all three of them were outside.

It was a side street, not brightly lighted, and a cold wind had come up. As the sharp air smote his cheek and blew open his topcoat Drugan drew back, protesting.

Gainey said easily, "Come on, Drugan! Where you bound for? We'll see that you get there."

The musician straightened. "Listen, he said, "you think I'm drunk, don't you? Well, I'm not. Just had a drink or two. Just a couple little ones. If a fellow who's been through all I've been through in the last day and night isn't entitled to a couple little drinks—"

"Why, what have you been through?" Gainey asked innocently.

"Don'tcha know!" Amusement made the words more an exclamation than a question. "Don'tcha know what happened last night? I thought everybody knew. Don'tcha know about Tracy King? Found 'im dead—the best pal a fellow ever had. Dead, like a dog, that's how I found 'im. Shot down. Tracy King was the finest friend I ever had. There'll never be another one—not like ol' Tracy!"

FOR a minute the other two thought Drugan was going to burst into tears. Then they understood it was the cold wind and not over-wrought emotions that had brought the moisture to his eyes.

Neither Bannister nor Gainey wore topcoats. Bannister, stamping to warm his feet, said, "Let's get going! Can't we get a cab around here somewhere?"

Gainey said, "Suppose we walk along with Drugan. I'd like to hear more about his friend." He turned, addressing Drugan. "Why, that's terrible!" he said. "You mean Tracy King, the orchestra leader who was killed last night, was a friend of yours?"

"Bes' friend I'll ever have," Drugan said mournfully. "Shot down like a dog."

"And you say you found him—the body I mean?" Gainey persisted.

Drugan hadn't said precisely that but he agreed, nodding. "Terrible thing!" he exclaimed, closing his eyes as if in pain, then opening them instantly. "Never forget it as long as I live! Terrible!"

They were walking now Bannister wondered what Gainey hoped to learn from the half-drunken musician. It was possible, of course, that the night might sober Drugan. Possible that talking about the tragedy of the night before might help clear his befogged brain. But nothing the man could say in his present state seemed to Bannister of importance.

They turned into brightly-lighted Sixth street and Bannister's eyes met a sight that made him forget Al Drugan, made him forget that Gainey's voice was coming in so persuasive questioning.

It was an ordinary poster advertising a motion picture, that Bannister saw. The poster was exhibited in a shop window at the top in large letters were the words, "Coming Attraction" below was the name of the picture, a few lines of type—and a photograph of Adele Allen.

ADELE'S face, sweet, freshly appealing, smiled up at Bannister. It gave him a shock that was almost physical. It was the first time he had seen her picture displayed on a poster. She wasn't the star of the film, he knew. Merely a featured player. Bannister was quite sure of this because he read three Hollywood news columns daily. He read them to know what Adele was doing.

For an instant eyes on the photograph, Bannister hesitated. Then the others swung forward and he moved on with them. It occurred to him—and this thought, too, was a shock—that he had not read the Hollywood news columns that day. He hadn't even thought of Adele for 24 hours!

"Why did I have to see that damned poster!" he thought. He had been forgetting—yes, actually forgetting the wound in his heart. And now it all came back.

Well, if trying to unravel this murder case had helped him to forget once it might do it again. Bannister deliberately shook off his preoccupation. He heard Gainey saying, "But the police—"

Drugan cut in with a sharp, short oath. "The police won't listen," he said bitterly. "They've got their theories. Think they know it all! I've been talking to them all afternoon. I've been telling 'em how they should go on at this thing!"

Evidently the walk in the cold air had done something for Drugan. His words were not slurred now. All at once memory seemed to come back to him. He said to Gainey, "Say—wait a minute! A while back—while we were in the restaurant—didn't you say you'd been lookin' for me today? Didn't you say that? Just who are you and what's the idea any how?"

"Sure," Gainey told him frankly. "I said that. My name's Gainey and I'm on the Post. This is my friend, Mr. Bannister. We've both been working on this murder all day."

"Newspapermen!" Drugan ejaculated. "So that's it. Well, I'm glad to know you. I think you're right guys, both of you. What's more, I've got something to tell you two." He hesitated. "It's what I've been telling the cops," he went on. "There's just one person in the world who had any reason to want to harm Tracy King!"
