WOODIN STEPS OUT—MORGANTHAU WALKS IN

William H. Woodin has stepped out of the treasury department. He had been its head since the inauguration of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., of New York walked in when Woodin stepped out. Morgenthau is the neighbor, the close friend, the political aide and trusted personal adviser of the President. Dean Acheson, undersecretary of the treasury and a close friend of Woodin, tendered his resignation and it was accepted by the President. President Roosevelt had warm praise for the retiring cabinet member. The former head of the treasury placed this message of tribute in the files of the chief magistrate: "You know that every policy of yours has had and still has my devoted support and I have never doubted that you are the one man who could lead this country out of its difficulties." Herbert Gaston has been Morgenthau's first lieutenant both as New York state commissioner of conservation and governor of the farm credit administration. He is a widely known newspaper writer. He has been named by the new head of the department to fill the post of first assistant to the chief. In other words, he is the successor of the very youthful Dean Acheson. Secretary Morgenthau, addressing the press reporters or correspondents, asserted "his unwavering support of the Roosevelt policy of buying gold here and abroad in the expectation of forcing commodity prices upward." Otherwise, he declined to comment on fiscal and monetary subjects. He is 42. He was born in New York city. He spent much of his boyhood in Texas because of poor health. Returning to his native heath he bought a farm in Duchesne county not far from the Roosevelt Hyde Park home. There began a friendship that has continued through years of personal and political ups and downs in the careers of the President and his newest cabinet favorite, Paul Mallon from time to time predicted the early retirement of Woodin. Thus it was that the expected happened. This is an age of fade-outs and come-ins.

Cities, as well as business concerns, compete with each other. Competition is a principle of progress in every field of human activity. The desire to do better and be better gives the punch to urge on to greater accomplishments.

Honest cooperation on the part of all merchants toward building a prosperous community and a greater city brings great results.

Experience is a hard teacher, but she is fundamentally sound. The men who go through her school have her lessons indelibly printed on their minds.

any more time. And another thing—when we start it, let's finish it. A committee was appointed not long ago to get up an Athletic Association. 100 members was their goal. They got fifty. Why? Somebody laid down on the job, and so it goes with hundreds of other things that are started . . . but never really finished. From here on out if a thing is decided on, let's either finish it or drop it at the start. If it is worth doing it, at all it is worth doing well. Imagine a theatrical company advertising three acts and the whole bunch quitting after the first act. Imagine going to a picture show that advertises five reels and quitting after the first reel. As you know, people would cry for their money back. The same thing applies to any project that is fostered by a civic organization. If the thing doesn't go over in line with plans then those that contributed have a right to ask for their money back. So let's don't start a thing from here on out unless we finish it.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN
DENTON, Nov. 24.—Miss Frances Glazner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Glazner, 309 Sue street, Ranger, was one of the students of the Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.) enabled to take advantage of the new rule concerning exemption from class attendance for the first semester of the 1933-34 session. The rule applies to those students whose work for the past semester shows a B average. The rule excuses all absences from class during this first semester. Miss Glazner is one of the selected members of the college choir consisting of 30 voices, chosen by William E. Jones, director of the music department. The choir was selected from members of the choral club, each of whom was allowed to try out for the organization before final announcement of choir members was made by Mr. Jones. The choir, which takes part in activities and programs on the campus, has in the past made appearances on programs at nearby towns and cities and will again do so this year. Miss Glazner is a junior education major. Miss Jane Whittington, daughter of Mrs. Bula B. Connelley, 515 South Lamar street, Eastland, was recently initiated into the Poetry club at a luncheon given by Miss Mamie Walker, sponsor of the organization, in the college tea room. The club consists of those who have had works published in the Daedalian quarterly. Plans for the year include regular meetings and a prospective visit to the meetings of the Poetry society in Dallas. Miss Whittington was recently in the Ray of the Spotlight, a feature column in the Lass-O, student weekly publication, in which students are honored. She is a sophomore English major.

Read the "Ads" but don't ignore medical opinion. if you want to —keep bowels regular and comfortable —make constipated spells rare as colds —avoid danger of bowel strain

Can Constipation be Corrected? "Yes" say medical men. "Yes" say thousands who have followed this sensible medical advice: 1. Take a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose that you find suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving regularly without assistance. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is no "convenience" in any cathartic that's taken so frequently, you must carry it wherever you go! What is the "Right" Laxative? In buying any laxative, read the label! Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional

 Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.
 Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion.
