A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WINNING AN ENEMY: If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink.—Proverbs 25: 21.

'CLYDE CHAMPION BARROW SHOOTS HIS WAY TO LIBERTY

Glyde Champion Barrow is a Texas gunman. He was on his native heath again. On the broad highway near Grand Prairie, a thriving town with Dallas on the east and Fort Worth on the west, Clyde and his wife, Bonnie Parker, shot their way out of an officers' trap. They not only shot their way but they fled to parts unknown after wounding two Fort Worth citizens whose car they commandeered.

Sheriff R. A. Schmid of Dallas county set the trap. Barrow and Bonnie motored into the trap. Did they surrender? Why ask a silly question? Sheriff Schmid and his deputies opened fire with machine guns. Clyde Champion and his nery companion returned the fire. Well, the officers shot the Barrow car full of holes. Clyde and Bonnie made their getaway—in a stolen car. Clyde is a paroled prisoner from the Texas penitentiary. His brother, who was shot to death by Iowa officers, was a paroled prisoner. Verne C. Miller, the most noted of the upper country desperadoes, a man who had been a gallant soldier in France and a splendid sheriff of a North Dakota county before he went wrong, is a paroled prisoner and at the same time the head of a gang of the most desperate hijackers that the Northwest and Midwest has known.

Now just why should the governors of American commonwealths pardon or parole outlaws who have been sentenced to the penitentiary for the crime of robbery "with firearms"? Why shouldn't the social order be protected? Why shouldn't life and property be protected? Why not the law uppermost?

COTTON SPINNING HITS A HIGH MARK

This should be of interest to the cotton growers of America: The cotton spinning industry is reported by the census bureau to have operated during October at 101.9 per cent capacity, on a single shift basis, compared with 96.6 per cent during September this year and 97 during October last year. All this under the new code of the national recovery act. Why isn't the record a cheerful little earful?

Members of Congress should not at any time keep the people in ignorance of what really is happening and should always give them a knowledge of affairs as they go along, painting a picture of future prospects.

The advertisements in this newspaper throw a powerful light to guide you as to where and when to buy.

It is an ancient axiom that "from little causes great events do spring."

The road to success should be paved with good deeds for your city.

If your business men have "gone to bat" for your city, why not everybody do as much for them?

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

The other day in a large city I visited a Relief Station, one of those places that is doing its best to help all unfortunates.

I watched the scores of able bodied men and women who, through no fault of their own, have to ask for food and clothing. They belong to the great army of unemployed. And then came those with a dragging step and halting gait, the sick and maimed, many of them disabled war veterans who are forced to ask for charity. Among the crowd were sick men and women, old and young, who could not work if they had a job—old men with aching bones, men and women with tales of a hacking cough and wasted frame, and others who told of hidden diseases that penetrate until death alone brings relief.

It would be deplorable if unemployment relief and help for the sick and crippled were allowed to slow down through apathy and indifference. It is quite true that it looks as if the tide has turned, but it will be a long time before this country can say it has no unemployed.

In the meantime, it is the duty of all communities and governments to help all those too numerous victims of the economic storm until such a time as employment can be found for them.

The tide will never turn for those thousands of children who are disabled through sickness, the crippled men and women who could not work if they had an opportunity and the disabled war veterans who cannot work. Some way of permanent relief must be found for them.

The Kind of an Eagle the Country Needs Right Now

Birthday of Famous Train Recalls Progress of Railways

DALLAS, Dec. 5. — Eighteen years of progress in railway transportation is being celebrated today as the Texas and Pacific Railway observes the eighteenth anniversary of its internationally famous passenger train, the "Sunshine Special."

"The Sunshine Special," so christened to suggest the good cheer and hospitality of the Southwest, was inaugurated in response to a popular demand for a faster passenger schedule to the North and East via the Texas and Pacific and Missouri Pacific lines.

Frank Jensen, general passenger agent, said in recalling the beginning of this famous train. "At the time the Sunshine Special was put in service it was difficult to imagine how better railway transportation could be possible, but in the eighteen years that have passed remarkable advances have been made in passenger service as typified this famous train," Mr. Jensen said.

"The passenger engine that pulled the first Sunshine has become obsolete and would seem a dwarf today in comparison with the present locomotives which provide the finest and most advanced type of motive power in the United States. The entire Texas and Pacific roadbed has been completely rebuilt since that first epochal trip of the Sunshine Special.

"But it is the improvement in the passenger equipment that is most apparent to the public. Refinements were added from time to time until now the train is one of the most luxurious in the country. It was the first to introduce completely air conditioned lounge and dining cars for the comfort of passengers. These modern comfort cars exclude all dust, dirt, heat, or chill by means of air conditioning equipment, and provide such exceptional facilities as broad observation windows, a traveling library, radio entertainment en route, soda fountain service, shower baths, game tables and other features.

"How the traveling public has demonstrated its appreciation for this superior service is indicated by the frequent occasions when it has been necessary to run the Sunshine Special in two and three sections," Mr. Jensen said. "This happened often last summer and on Sept. 5 it was run in five sections to carry the immense crowd to the Century of Progress in Chicago."

The Biggest user OF FINE TURKISH TOBACCOS

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos
ALWAYS the finest workmanship
ALWAYS Luckies please!

—why Luckies taste better, smoother
On certain mountains in the Near East is a limited collar of earth—called in Turkish, "Yacca." Tobaccos grown there cost as high as $1.00 a pound. Carefully they are examined, leaf by leaf. Often it takes a man a whole day to select two pounds of certain of these fine tobaccos. Lucky Strike is the world's biggest user of fine Turkish tobaccos. For these tender, delicate Turkish leaves are blended with choice tobacco from our own Southland—to make your Lucky Strike a cigarette that is fully packed—round and firm—free from loose ends. That's why Luckies taste better, smoother.

Moscow Post Office Ironical Comment
 MOSCOW.—A report that Allan Monkhouse, British engineer, who was one of the defendants in the famous Metropolitan-Vickers trial here, is lecturing on Soviet affairs at the Bonar Law College in Britain has evoked ironical comment in the Russian press.

In the Evening Moscow the report is greeted with a long verse, satirizing the sort of lecture Monkhouse might give. He is represented as saying, in staccato rhymes, things like this:

"In the Soviet Union there is no scope for cleverness—only get started on spoiling a turbine and right way they stick you in jail."
 "An honest foreigner, like myself, can expect anything here. No money do you stop an electric station quietly than you are stopped yourself. There's an absolute oppression of intellect."

"You can't even spoil a Diesel." At one of his lectures—as imagined by the poet, Uri Kazarnovsky—the lights suddenly go out. Monkhouse is represented as apologizing. He explains that he spoiled the wiring on the way up to the hall, just an old habit.

Corpus Causeway Rebuilt After Storm
 BEAUMONT, Texas.—Although teaching horses to talk isn't exactly in the province of blacksmiths, T. A. Stewart, smithy here, claims that ability.

Now horse language has few audible sounds, the 105-pound smithy explained. Much of it is a variation of sign language. Teaching the horses their language or making them conversant, is supplementary to his regular duties.

Through kindness and deft handling of the horses, Stewart claims he can have them answering questions for him within two hours. He has done it on a bet, he said.

That's why he never has any trouble shoeing horses, Stewart added. He talks to the meanest ones instead of beating them.

And while he is rapping away at a hoof he will have a horse nodding answers to questions.

No hammock, swing or rack devices are seen in Stewart's shop. The only special equipment he has is his soothing voice.

Mules? They're different, the small smithy agreed.

"You've just got to beat a mule," he said. "That's the only way to get anything in his head."

The Silver Cord Coming to Lyric
 That thin line dividing mother love from outright tyranny is discussed in all its pernicious aspects in "The Silver Cord," RKO-Radio Picture version of the hit Sidney Howard play starring Irene Dunne Wednesday at the Lyric theatre.

Miss Dunne enacts the clear-sighted Christina who resists her mother-in-law's inordinate love for her son. A six months' bride, Christina and David Phelps return from their honeymoon to Mrs. Phelps' household. Instantly Christina discerns David's mother's diabolic undermining of her son's affection for their women. Masquerading as a paragon of mother love, Mrs. Phelps breaks her younger son's engagement. Her conniving is then bent upon poisoning David's love for Christina. She offers money and property to lure David from the maternal nest.

Christina refuses to endure Mrs. Phelps' malignant interference. Courageously she exposes the underlying motives in his mother's love for David. She refuses to surrender her husband to another woman, even if she be his mother, and dares David to decide if he wants to liberate himself from a mother's engulfing affection or to endure it until the day he dies.

Irene Dunne attains new dramatic heights as the resourceful Christina. Excellent support is given her in Laura Hope Crews as the mother; David as the son; Eric Linden, Frances Dee and others. John Cromwell directed "The Silver Cord" from Jane Murrin's adaptation of Sidney Howard's play.
