PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NAMES A WOMAN FOR FEDERAL JUDGE

William Allan White is a distinguished Kansas editor and political prophet and a lifelong republican who cast his ballot for Hoover and Curtis. In a recent review of the first year of the Roosevelt administration he declared F. D. R. to be the cleverest as well as the wisest politician ever elected to the presidency.

Roosevelt certainly knows the game of politics. To date he has been a past grand master. Millions of women voters in former republican strongholds cast their ballot for Roosevelt and Garner. F. D. R. was elected President. He has been the skipper of the ship of state a little more than a year. He has appointed a greater number of women to public service posts than Harding and Coolidge and Hoover combined. Many fat jobs have fallen into the lap of the ladies. A number have been sent abroad as the diplomatic representatives of the republic. There is a woman in the cabinet. Indeed, they are holding down jobs in all the recovery acts setups.

Now the President has named Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, Ohio, to the federal circuit of appeals judgeship. Miss Allen, now on the Ohio supreme court, is the first woman in American history to be made a federal judge, while the circuit court of appeals is the highest court aside from the supreme court of the United States. She was the first woman to be placed on the state supreme court bench. She was the first to be elected a district court judge. She has a long and brilliant record. She was born in a Rocky Mountain state. First as a teacher she won laurels; she deserted teaching for the newspaper game; she deserted the newspaper game for the law. She was licensed to practice and in late years her advancement has been rapid as the most noted feminine jurist that the American world has known. Judge Allen is a lifelong democrat. She certainly ranks as one of the foremost leaders of the feminine movement in the wide, wide world. Now she has her reward.

TEXAS FARMERS REPAY GOVERNMENT LOANS

Colorado county farmers are in the picture. A news dispatch from Weimar reports the farmers of that county have repaid 98.34 per cent of the amount loaned them by the government during 1933. Speaking of state and county taxes, the farmers of Colorado county, according to Judge Charles Krueger of the commission of the court of criminal appeals, have made a remarkable showing during the same period in planting tax money on the barrel head of the collector. There are Texas farmers and stockmen who are doing their level best to keep ahead of the procession along the broad lines of their personal or individual recovery acts.

Cities have reputations the same as people -- some good, some bad.

He hoped to sell one or the other or both in order to get his fare to Cuba where Pablito, whom he so needed now, would be waiting for him.

No insect can face P.D. and live!

Advertisement for Sinclair P.D. insecticide. Text includes: '1,000,000 PAMPERED FLIES die every year to prove it!', 'Two cans of insecticide bearing the same label often vary in strength--one may kill while the other only dopes. But not so with Sinclair P.D. This insecticide is subjected to the only test which proves absolutely that every drop has power to kill flies, mosquitoes, moths, bedbugs, cockroaches, ants and fleas. Every batch of P.D. that leaves the factory has killed 1,000 flies under conditions more severe than those in your own home. Only flies 5 days old are used in these tests because flies at this age have more resistance than any other household insect. Anderson-Chance Now Displaying New Dodge Line

The new Dodge line on display at the Anderson-Chance Motor company in Eastland consists of two series—one with a wheelbase of 117 inches and the other with 121 inches. Both lines feature independent springing, aero-stream bodies and a new ventilating system.

Streamlining — aero-streaming is worked out effectively. The windshields are set at a more rakish angle; sweeping fenders, aero-streamed in conformity with the ensemble, are pantalooned for gravel deflection and mud protection; roof lines are curved and backs terminate in new beaver-tail slopes.

Independent Springing
The Dodge front suspension, to which the trade name, "floating cushion" wheels has been given, is of the pantograph type. The method is axless. The conventional long leaf springs are also absent. Spring action is furnished by large coil springs.

The main members by which "floating-cushion" wheels are attached to the car are V-shaped, drop-forged support arms. The open branches of the "V" are attached to the frame structure, the pointed end to the lower end of the steering knuckle support. The top end of the steering knuckle support is attached to a double-acting hydraulic shock absorber cross member which also serves as radiator support.

Each front wheel passes over road obstructions without communicating resulting disturbances to the opposite wheel and to the chassis and occupants of the car.

Cross-steering, while an improvement even with conventional wheel suspension, becomes of more value in independent springing in which the steering cross rods must be split to share the freedom and flexibility with which each wheel may move without affecting the other. With Dodge cross-steering the Pitman arm, which in usual construction is mounted through the chassis frame sill and moves lengthwise with the frame, is mounted directly under the steering wheel housing.

Floating Power Engine
The floating power engine mountings of the new Dodge engine place the power source low in the frame so that there is practically a straight-line drive from the rear of the transmission to the rear axle.

The engine normally develops 82 horsepower.

An X-rider type frame, described as being virtually two frames, one within the other, forms the backbone of the new Dodge chassis, with modifications to meet the requirements of independent springing.

Exhaust valve seats of heat-resisting steel alloy, introduced in last year's Dodge engines, are also used this year to make valve grinding jobs few and far between.

The engine crankshaft, formerly equipped with four counterweights, now has seven balancing units by which rotation forces are canceled out. In addition an impulse neutralizer is mounted on the forward end of the crankshaft. The pistons are of an improved steel-strut, controlled-expansion type.

Improved Automatic Clutch
The Dodge automatic clutch is vacuum operated in connection with a valve mechanism acted upon by the accelerator pedal.

Silent operation of the transmission—in all speeds, including reverse—is assured.

The body ventilation system is called a seven-point system because it offers seven ventilation features.

Falling for a Havana Widow

Handsome Lyle Talbot cannot resist the charms of lovely Joan Blondell as she cavorts her way through her latest comedy sensation, "Havana Widows," showing today at the Lyric Theatre. Glenda Farrell, Frank McHugh, Allen Jenkins and Guy Kibbee are in the supporting cast.

AT LYRIC SUNDAY ONLY

Put Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh, Ruth Donnelly and Allen Jenkins together in one picture and it's bound to spell comedy. First National has grouped this sextet of sparkling fun makers into its latest comedy drama, "Havana Widows," which comes to the Lyric theatre on Sunday. Add to this sextet Lyle Talbot, as the handsome leading man, plus sparkling, snappy, typical Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell dialogue and you have a rare combination.

The screen play, which is an original by Earl Baldwin, concerns the adventures of two Broadway chorus girls, Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell, who go to Havana to pick themselves a couple of millionaires to shake down for breach of promise money. They had been led to believe that Havana was simply flooded with rich suckers waiting to be taken for easy money.

The entanglements into which they get themselves with Guy Kibbee as the "millionaire" sucker form the basis for the hilarious situations.

Lyle Talbot, as the son of the supposed millionaire, plays the romantic lead who meets and falls in love with one of the girls, Joan Blondell, who is trying to trim his fat.

The scenes are photographed against a colorful background which takes in the famous bar rooms, hotels and night clubs of the resort town with the exotic Cuban Rumba dance presented by a score or more of beautiful dancers.

Other fun makers in the cast besides those already mentioned include Hobart Cavanaugh, Ralph Ince, Maude Eburne, George Cooper, Charles Wilson and Gary Owen. Ray Enright directed.

Belgian Socialists For Leopold Rule

BRUSSELS.—Belgium is showing herself to be distinctly antifascist.

Political circumstances attending the death of King Albert and the accession of Leopold III to the throne revealed the Belgian socialists rallying to the crown as an insurance against fascism and dictatorship.

It is noteworthy that at the time of King Albert's assumption of the scepter the socialists were violently opposed to him. But the recent ascent of the throne by King Leopold disclosed a united socialist party favoring continuance of the constitutional monarchy.

Besides the tributes which the socialist leader, Emile Vandervelde, accorded to the late Albert, the central committee of the socialist party, representing more than a third of the electorate, voted to participate in the parliamentary declaration which is the traditional message from the legislative bodies to the new king. The message, read in the form of an address to Leopold after he was sworn to his high office, implied that in their hopes and aims behind the king and constitution. By participating in the declaration the socialists hoped to strengthen constitutional government and avoid, possibly even suppress, fascism, which has not yet assumed the importance of a definite party.

Vandervelde and other socialists explained their anti-royalist attitude at the beginning of Albert's reign was due to social injustice, but they emphasized that Albert, as the most democratic of kings, gave equal privileges to the poor by social legislation and that the socialists are accordingly ready to support the equally constitutional successor to the throne, Leopold.

New History of Crockett's Life Has Been Written

DALLAS, Tex.—Davy Crockett, greatest hunter of the old west whose exploits have come down in song and myth, died a true hero at the Alamo with his back to the wall and his famous rifle "Betsey" in action to the end, according to a new biography of the great Texan martyr by Constance Rourke just issued from the press.

Published almost exactly 98 years after Crockett lost his life fighting for Texan independence, this is the first full length biography of the man from Tennessee. It is based on painstaking research in which a great number of Texans and others turned over every available scrap of information to the author. The book clears up a number of important details, among which is the fact that Crockett was slain in the assault on the Alamo, rather than captured alive and then put to death by Santa Anna.

The route followed by Crockett from Tennessee to Texas at the end of 1835, long clouded in mystery, is satisfactorily cleared up by the biographer. The frontiersman is now seen to have made two entries into Texas only a few weeks apart. Arriving at Fulton, Ark., the important early day crossing of the Red River, he scouted for several weeks through Northeast Texas, visiting the present sites of Paris, Clarksville and Honey Grove.

Automobile Drivers License Law Being Urged For Texas

DALLAS, Tex.—Movement for a statewide automobile drivers license law is underway here.

Interest in the movement gained rapid momentum during arguments before the Dallas city council for passage of an ordinance to limit and regulate the speed of ambulances.

A resolution, urging the passage of state drivers' license law, was passed by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce during a recent meeting of the Accident and Prevention Association here.

Copies of this resolution were mailed to other chambers of commerce throughout the state to assist in promotion of the movement.

The document urged that some step be taken definitely to eliminate the "careless and indifferent attitude toward traffic regulations within the state."

Charles A. Miller, president of the Accident Prevention Association, said that the state-wide campaign for the drivers' license law would continue until something is done about it in the legislature.

Miller said that letters urging support of the project also were sent to more than 300 insurance agents in Texas.

He called attention to House Bill No. 20, which provided for licensing of automobile drivers.

The bill was tabled at the special session recently ended. It will not come up again for consideration until 1935.

"We are not advocating a bill," Miller said, "but instigating a campaign that will eventually bring about state-wide interest in the passage of House Bill No. 20."

"High Finance" in a Penthouse

A "floating policy bank," making $10,000 a day profit on money collected from gullible gamblers wagging on lucky numbers, was confiscated by New York police in one of the largest raids ever conducted in the city. In addition to arresting two women and 12 men, police seized the adding machines and sacks of policy slips—worth a potential $1,000,000—which you see pictured here in the "bank's" penthouse quarters.

Murders Father In Radio Dispute

Returning to Fulton, Crockett proceeded down the Red River to Natchitoches and by January 5, 1836, had arrived at Nacogdoches where he swore allegiance to the Republican government of Texas. It was on this river journey that he met the Bee Hunter, Thimble-ree, the Indian and the Pirate, four romantic figures who are said to have accompanied him on to San Antonio and died fighting in the Alamo.

Miss Rourke's volume is colorfully shot throughout with the tall tales and legends about Crockett's lifetime, although she carefully underscores what is legend and what is historical fact. Her self related to a famous Tennessee family, Miss Rourke vividly reproduces the feeling, language and the life of frontier days in Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas more than a century ago.

Written simply enough to hold the interest of a child, the story of the man who wrote, "I leave this rule for others when I'm dead; Be sure you're right, then go ahead," also will appeal equally to adults who like accuracy, perspective, humor and good writing.

A resident of Grand Rapids, Mich., Miss Rourke is a national authority on folklore. Her previous books include "Trumpets of Jubilee," "Troupers of the Gold Coast," and "American Humor."

Thursday Afternoon Club Meeting

The Thursday Afternoon club held an interesting program on "Health," at this week's session, preceded by the business period, conducted by their president, Mrs. F. M. Kenny.

gest their choice of study for next year, at the next meeting of the club.

Mrs. Art H. Johnson, was appointed delegate to Eastland County Federation.

The club voted a sum of money towards the Frances V. Fisk art fund.

The Poetry and play writing contest in 6th District was announced and writes urged to enter work for this meeting April 3-4-5.

The roll call brought interesting response on health hints. Mrs. E. Roy Townsend, leader of program, opened her perforce with the program quotation, (Calvin Coolidge.)

"I believe in simple living, for simplicity means health, and health means happiness."

Mrs. Townsend gave an able resume of health conditions, and background.

The book review, "One Hundred Million Guineas Pig," written by Kallet and Schlink, government experts, in which patent medicine used by the public are likened to experiments on guinea pigs, was facetiously covered by Mrs. Julius B. Krause.

A reading by Mrs. Leslie Gray, of the origin of the Red Cross, and a statement of the diseases of the various races, read by Mrs. Whitley was followed by clever health poems, read by Mrs. Gray.

Kill Kare Kard Klub

Mrs. D. S. Eubanks, South Hal-bryan street, was at home to the Kill Kare Kard Klub, Thursday afternoon, entertaining in a gracious setting of lovely decorations in violets, fringed with their green leaves, a touch of the St. Patrick decoration, and appointments in tallies and scores of the bridge tables, in clover leaf design.

High score in the game, a handsomely framed picture of "Old Ironsides," was awarded Mrs. Val-sen Jones, and second high, a set of green crystal measuring cups, went to Mrs. John Burke.

Miss Lavelle Hendrick received guest high, four novelty ash trays, filled with green tinted bath salts. The tables were laid in maderia linen, for the refreshments of pecan crunch ice cream, with green tinted whipped cream topping; and angel food cake suare with green icing.

Silk shamrocks were plate favors. Club personnel, Mmes. J. V. Freeman, Valsen Jones, R. A. P'Pool, John Burke, James King, J. D. Blankenship, Morgan Myers, D. S. Eubanks; and guests, Mmes. L. Y. Morris, R. G. Porter, Fay Oldham, N. T. Daugherty, and Miss Lavelle Hendrick.

West Ward School Assembly Program

Interesting assembly programs were given at the West Ward school, both Friday morning and afternoon, that were attended by the patrons.

Miss Opal Harrell, chairman of the morning program, put on a clever St. Patrick's Day observance, opened by Mrs. J. Le Roy Arnold, who told an old Irish legend.

Artie Hennessee gave some interesting facts about Ireland, and the Rhythm Band played two appropriate numbers.

Horace Gibson told a clever story of the King of England, and a cunning tap dance was done by Barbara Ann Talft.

The afternoon assembly was conducted by Mrs. L. Y. Morris, opening with the story telling of the children in the League contest. A choral group of numbers were given by the contestants, with Mrs. A. E. Herring, directing.

These assemblies are held each Friday and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Mad Hatters Party. "Alice in Wonderland," Mrs. C. N. Nicols in reality, in a clever, quaint costume, entertained the Mad Hatters and their friends at her home Friday night in a revel, in which the Pythian Sisters found it difficult to recognize each other.

The Temple colors were used in decoration, and a charming effect was obtained by the interwinning of the strands of yellow, blue, red and white, that veiled the lights.

All were in fancy dress, and Knights, Chinese, queens and hatters vied with each other in the games and contests.

Mrs. N. T. Johnson, as a Chinaman, pigtail and all, was awarded the prize for the best costume and Mrs. Artie Liles, a clever "Mae West," received the second prize. Just like Alice's experience in Wonderland, everything to eat was served backward; the iced punch in saucers; the cookies in cocktail glasses, the clover leaf design chicken sandwiches in iced tea glasses, and a mixture of paper napkins coming last.

Blow guns were favors, for Mmes. M. Andrews, Campbell, James Watson, Milton Newman, R. L. Slaughter, N. T. Johnson, Richard Jones, Artie Liles, Clifford Byera, C. F. Shepherd, Mack Hennessee; and Mrs. Carter, mother of the hostess, Mrs. C. M. Nicols.

L-o-v-e Class Postponed

The L-o-v-e class party to have been held at the home of Miss June Hyer was postponed on account of the illness of Mrs. Hyer's little girl, Betty, until next Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, when the young people, members of Miss Maurine Davenport's Sunday school class of Methodist church, will be entertained at the Hyer residence, Bell Hurst ranch.

High School P-T. A. Postponed

On account of the interscholastic meet for which all teachers are busily preparing, the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of Eastland high school due Wednesday afternoon, has been postponed until further notice, so announced Mrs. J. Le Roy Arnold, program chairman.

AFFRONT TO SCHNOZZLE BOINS UP DURANTE

Jimmie Durante feels the pangs of frustration! He's nonplussed! He's boined up!

At least, he was for a few moments during the filming of a scene he was making with Lupe Velez, Stuart Erwin, Marjorie Rambeau and Robert Armstrong in "Palooka," the new Reliance comedy at the Lyric Theatre Monday.

It seems the old 'schnozzola' wasn't getting the prominence it deserved, and Director Benjamin Stoloff halted operations in the middle of the scene and demanded more make-up and higher lighting on Jimmie's nose.

So there was nothing to do but take time out while makeup men went to work on the famous prospect.

"It's sacrilege! It's munty!" moaned Durante.

For de foist time in my career dey insists on gidin' de lily!" Max Bear, screen star and contender for the heavyweight championship, Jimmie's guest on the set, and Irvin Berlin, publisher of the song numbers in this United Artists release who was also watching the scene, consoled Jimmie by assuring him that the 'schnozzola' was supreme as ever and no doubt the director and cameraman were feeling a little hypercritical that day.

"Palooka" is a Harry M. Goetz-Edward Small presentation.

METHODIST CHURCH

There will be a special service for young people at the First Methodist church Sunday night. The intermediate and senior leagues will take part in the opening service.

Rev. Rosemond Stanford will preach on "Life's Challenge." All are cordially invited.

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER CHURCH

Sunday will be Passion Sunday. The Epistle is taken from the Hebrews IX:11-15; the Gospel is from St. John VIII: 46-59. In this gospel Christ states in very plain language that He is God and says that "If any man keep his word, he shall not see death for ever." Death here means eternal death. It is only God could make such a statement. Mass on Sunday will be at 10 a. m. by Rev. J. Fernandez.

Like the dachshund of former years, the Scotch terrier is losing favor in this country--and so we can repeat, every dog has his day.

That Reminds Me

torius . . . Today the president is speeding ahead over more dangerous ground than ever and instead of one man falling a victim of any accident that may occur on the trip . . . an entire nation of millions of people are at stake . . . when the government fails or fails . . . we all go down with it. Lindbergh and others who know . . . are at hand as the means to accomplish the victory . . . It isn't the president or the Postmaster General who is to blame . . . they represent the people . . . and Lindbergh is one of them.

Lest we fail to remind our readers . . . we have not given up hopes for a bank . . . each day we hear different angles as to what to do to get one for Eastland . . . every body is thoroughly convinced now that we must have a bank . . . and a bank we will have with that kind of spirit . . . No matter where they put a bank . . . but lets have one . . . that's the slogan today . . . and a wonderful spirit and proves the loyalty of every citizen of the community.

Up to noon Saturday approximately 125 tickets were reported sold for the Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held Tuesday evening at the Connelley hotel. H. C. Davis, secretary states that the best program that has ever been presented has been arranged for the event. That being the case not near enough tickets have been purchased by our people for the occasion. If you haven't gotten your ticket be sure and get it and what ever you do don't miss this banquet. The Chamber of Commerce is the one organization that means every thing worth while to the community from a business stand point. Your presence will be an investment that you won't regret . . . The importance of this instance cannot be stressed strong enough . . . there should be not less than 300 people gathered around the tables and for 500 to be there would really show that every body is interested in your town and our town . . . Cooperation and personal interest is needed now more than ever.

Austrians Banning All Marxist Names

By United Press VIENNA.—In accordance with a long-standing promise to Mussolini by Prince Starhemberg, leader of the Heimwehr, that he would eradicate signs of Marxism in Vienna, which were an insult to Italian fascism, a start has been made in changing the names on municipal apartment houses.

The municipal house, Matteotti-hof, in honor of a Bolognese lawyer, who was reported to have been killed in November, 1921, by Marxists. At the same time the coloring of the letters was changed from red to green.

At the conclusion of the ceremony of altering the lettering, green and white Heimwehr flags were draped over the bronze Matteotti memorial plaques flanking the main entrance of the building.

This is the second of many planned re-christenings. The first was the changing of Indianhof to Peyhof, in commemoration of Vice Chancellor Fey's personal participation in the capture of the building.

Former Grid Star Of High School To Coach In Big Ten

By WINSTON COPELAND United Press Staff Correspondent FORT WORTH, Tex.—If someone 20 years ago had told a toul-headed North Side High School student that someday he would be head football coach at Indiana University, the youth's response would have been equivalent to the modern "Oh, Yeah?"

Yet this spring that same toul-headed youth, none other than A. N. (Bo) McMillan, will take over the Big Ten post, climaxing a football career that reeks with fame and glamor.

In 1912 McMillan's name became a football talisman in Texas high school circles. As halfback on the North Side high school team his name was on the tongue of every follower of high school football.

In 1914, as captain, he led one of the greatest high school football teams ever assembled in Texas, a team which produced several national football figures.

Beside him played Buck Weaver, later to become an All-American star at little Centre College in Kentucky, where Bo himself whirled into national prominence as All-America quarterback on the famous team that beat Harvard.

On that same team were Roscoe Minton, now a high school coach here, who became an All-American at Indiana, and Matty Bell, until this spring coach of football at Texas A. & M. College.

McMillan was not able to win the state title with his team. It was defeated in the finals by Austin. Nevertheless the passing arm that carried him to wider fame at Centre College was in evidence. His courage and daring made him a nemesis of Texas high school elevens.

Through his final years in high school, according to an account in the North Side annual for that year, McMillan directed the teams play, although he was suffering from injuries.

"Bo McMillan held his team up to championship class through sheer grit and force of will," is the tribute paid him in the annual. It was the same grit and brain power that carried him to college success, believes Sully McMillan, teammate at Centre College with McMillan, heavy-weight pug, who had a lot of running at it was like playing the Bo in a game. Sure he'll make the grade in Indiana."

The new emperor of McMillan gets $1,750,000 a year, trying to do something in his time, to make ends meet.
