Presbyterians Are Facing Problems At Their Assembly

By HENRY B. HENSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND, May 22.—At least three problems were to occupy front pews at session of the 146th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A., which opened here today. More than 2,000 churchmen and laymen were in the city for the gathering, which will continue through May 30. One bothersome schism, involving a deep vale of fundamentalism; a heresy case of wide lay interest; and the recurrent issue of church union were expected to enliven this year's meeting.

Three Problems

These were: 1. Dealing with a schism centering around the Rev. J. Gresham Machen, rock-ribbed fundamentalist. 2. Pressing of heresy charges against Pearl S. Buck, missionary turned author. 3. Consideration of union of United Presbyterians with Presbyterians of the U. S. A. Laymen and clergy sit together at the assembly, as both a law-making body and the supreme court of the church. It is the second general assembly to meet here since 1875. Doctrinal Variations Breach between the two Presbyterian groups came early in the 17th Century in Scotland. Originally more a political severance than a religious difference, doctrinal variations since have crept in to widen the breach. Cleveland Presbyterian ministers who were to have voted on the union question in advance of the sessions, decided against such a ballot believing that an opinion of one large group might influence the entire assembly. Against Mrs. Buck, author of "The Good Earth," for months of 1932 and 1933 a universal best seller, and its sequels, charges of heresy will be brought. A missionary in China, where she absorbed the background for her writings, she later surrendered her credentials as a missionary, under heresy accusations. This has failed to satisfy the fundamentalists, who object to various parts of "The Good Earth." Their demurrers and demands for more severe punishment are expected to provide pyrotechnics. Possibility impends that a group of liberals in the church will counterattack by demanding that the foreign missions board reinstate Mrs. Buck as a missionary. Fundamentalists Battle The Rev. J. Gresham Machen, storm center of the fundamentalist battle, left the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary because of its liberalism and failure to adhere strictly to the fundamentalist code. He established a seminary in Philadelphia known as the Westminster Presbyterian Seminary and gathered around him a coterie of students, principally sons of well-to-do fundamentalists. Most of these have been from the South and from denominations less liberal than the average Presbyterian. The Rev. Mr. Machen will lead a movement to establish a new Board of Foreign Missions in which only the old principles of fundamentalism will hold. As for church union, even should this general assembly vote for merger, the cause would have to run the gauntlet of two more assemblies in as many years before being ratified. A general program of Christian progress and advancement will be presented during the course of the assembly.

GIVES POINTS IN HIS PLAN FOR METAL

Nationalization and Bi-Metalism Are Urged By President in Message.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Roosevelt compromised today with silver rebels in congress in a message that asked authority to nationalize the metal.

He proposed that the president be directed to purchase silver until the monetary stocks are composed of gold and silver in a ratio of 75 to 25.

No time limit on realization of the mandatory silver purchase feature of this program was intimated in the message. Nationalization would be permissive.

It was unofficially estimated the government would have to purchase 1,800,000,000 ounces of silver to realize the proposed ratio.

In submitting his plan, designed to calm the congressional silver storm, Mr. Roosevelt revealed that:

- 1. Foreign silver has been purchased with some proceeds of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund created from parts of the treasury profits through nationalization of gold. 2. Conferences had begun with "some of our neighbors regarding co-ordinated bi-metalism." He proposed: 1. Legislation declaring it to be the policy of this government to increase silver in monetary stocks until the ratio is 25 per cent silver to 75 per cent gold. 2. That he be authorized and directed by congress to make silver purchases necessary to obtain "his ultimate objective." 3. Limitation of 50 cents per ounce on the price which may be paid for accumulated domestic silver. 4. Authority be given him to nationalize non-industrial silver on payment of just compensation. 5. Provision for a 50 per cent tax on profits from silver speculation.

Barrow's Letter Cause of Arrest of Bonnie's Sister

DALLAS, May 22.—Clyde Barrow's rash letter denying implication in the slaying of two highway patrolmen near Grapevine, was revealed today as the tip-off that led to the arrest of Billie Mace, sister of Bonnie Parker, and the filing of murder charges against her and Floyd Hamilton. In the letter, sent to Assistant District Attorney Winter King, Barrow said that he had nothing to do with the slaying of the patrolmen. King believed that statement. The assistant district attorney believed also Raymond Hamilton could not have been one of the slayers as he was reported in Houston, where he released a kidnapped woman, at the time of the killing. With Barrow, Bonnie Parker, and Raymond Hamilton eliminated by this process of reasoning the hunt narrowed to other members of the West Dallas gang.

Bond Commission to Sell Bread Bonds

AUSTIN, May 22.—The Texas Bond Sale commission today complied with requests of the Texas Relief Commission for issuance of more bread bonds. Sale of the remaining $3,750,000 of authorized state relief bonds on June 2 was ordered. Sale will be on bids. Requests for more money were made by the relief commission at its meeting here May 14. It was estimated then that the proceeds of these bonds with federal funds would carry on relief until October. The sale of the bonds on June 2 will make a total of $10,500,000 marketed by the state.

NOTED LAWYER AND BANKER JOINS VAST MAJORITY

One of the closest personal and political friends of James Stephen Hogg has passed out of the picture. M. H. Gossett closed his eyes in the sleep eternal in the city of Dallas. He was 75. He was born in Cherokee county in the piney woods. He was educated in the public schools. He studied law in the office of two of the prominent lawyers of Kaufman county. He practiced law. He became a large landowner and banker. He had a flair for politics. He served two terms in the Hogg legislature. He was one of the most enthusiastic and loyal supporters of the great commoner. He was the co-author of the Texas alien land law. He backed to a successful finish the stock and bond laws. He moved to Dallas in 1906. He was one of the organizers of one of the first Texas life insurance companies. He was the first president of the federal land bank of Houston, which is a reminder that this federal land bank of Houston has been the most successful of all the 12 land banks established by the Wilson administration. He served as head of the Houston financial institution until 1934.

In many ways Mr. Gossett was a very remarkable man. He was modest and soft spoken. He was a success as a lawyer, a lawmaker, a banker and a farmer, but the two ambitions nearest and dearest to his heart were never fulfilled. First, he had hoped to wield the gavel as speaker of the state house of representatives. He was certain of victory, but, the balloting came and he lost the honor. Next, he aspired to a seat in the federal house of representatives from the old Dallas district. This was in convention days. He had a fair and square majority of all the delegates but the smooth politicians stepped in and the prize was given to Robert Emmett Burke, for many years a district judge in the county of Dallas. M. H. Gossett was able, he was honest, he was clean, he was loyal to commonwealth and country and his friends were legion throughout the entire southwest—speaking of bygone days and periods of Texas history.

We read a lot of ancient history. Not that ancient history is not interesting, but too many on the payroll are taking up too much time talking ancient history. But I imagine the average taxpayer is supposed to foot the bills and listen and admire.

Insull Demurrer Is Answered By The Government

CHICAGO, May 22.—The government admitted today that Samuel Insull may have been kidnaped or shanghai'd from Turkey, but contended that his charges carried no legal weight in the right of the federal court to try him on criminal charges. The government answer, contained in demurrer, filed in federal court, as the 74-year-old fallen utility czar attacked the jurisdiction of the court, came from U. S. District Attorney Dwight Green. After listening to the argument, the judge took the plea under advisement.

Fort Worth Team Unknown Quantity Of Texas League

By W. WINSTON COPELAND United Press Staff Correspondent FORT WORTH, Tex.—The Texas league "unknown quantity"—the Fort Worth baseball team—is making itself a known quantity, much stronger than anticipated.

Although still far from the league lead after a pitiful start this season, the club seems to have found the spirit that ruled Fort Worth teams back in the '20s when Fort Worth was a frequent Dixie Series contender.

The present status of the club is all the more remarkable when it is considered that even until late last winter it was not certain that the club even would be in the league.

Manager Del Pratt, a veteran but new at the Fort Worth helm, had only a few weeks to scramble together a club. His scrambling at first appeared lumpy, but the acquisition of Art Shires and Max West seems to have smoothed out the mixture.

There are no pennants in chancery as yet, but fan interest is reviving and there is more than a faint hope that the Cats may be in the Shanghnessy play-off.

The Cats this year are hitting. For several years they have been just another club at bat. Six regulars now are slapping the ball above the 300 mark and getting their hits at timely moments.

To Sig Broskie, rookie catcher, goes much of the credit, as much as to "Whattaman" Shires and Max West. This youngster has all the ear-marks of big league timber.

He is batting about .350 and breaking up ball game after ball game. He has a strong throwing arm, handles pitchers well, is husky, a constant hustler and is the spark-plug—along with Shires—of the team's spirit.

Another rookie, Cecil Smith, a Fort Worth sand-lotter, has stepped into the vacancy at shortstop left by injury of the veteran Jack Tavener. Smith started wobbly at first, perhaps over-eager, but his fielding now is good and he is hitting above .300, harder than Tavener did.

Shires, West, Tauby and McHenry are other regulars batting in the select ring. Only two regulars, Scarritt and Holly, now are under the .300 mark, but each makes up this weakness with sparkling defensive work.

The question facing the Cats is whether the pitching staff can stand the gaff. If so, the pre-season underdogs may turn out to be the post-season champions.

Political Races of State Are Changed During Past Week

By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Tex.—Readjustment of state political races marked the past week. State School Superintendent L. A. Woods' only opponent withdrew.

Woods and Judge W. C. Morrow, presiding judge of the court of criminal appeals, whose term expires this year, are the only up-opposed candidates.

They may still get opposition. Filing time does not expire until June 4. The early start given by the political campaign, however, works against late candidacies. Many sources of political strength already are pledged.

Withdrawal of A. M. Blackman, school superintendent at McCombe, cleared the field for Woods. Blackman was a division head in the state department of education under former superintendents. He has a large following.

Allred will go into the same territory for a Temple address Monday. McDonald is heading toward the Panhandle and West Texas on a speaking tour. He will work back through San Angelo, Brownwood and Fort Worth to a Saturday afternoon date in Taylor, former home of Dan Moody.

Reports that Moody was "for" various candidates have received no confirmation from him. Close political friends expect him to keep hands off—at least until the run-off primary.

Small and Hunter forces reported substantial gains for the week and seem to be able to back the he claims with facts.

construction upholstered in finest Bedford cord and woolen fabric broadcloth. Rear cushions are of the extra comfortable, bolster type. DeLuxe fittings give a luxurious finish to the interior. The two auxiliary seats in the rear are wide and of the Pullman type. Both face downward, folding conveniently out of the way when not in use.

Those who require a Limousine body have in the Ford V-8 Limousine an unusually roomy and handsomely appointed coach, with a specially designed three piece safety-glass partition separating the driver's seat from the passenger compartment. As in the case of the Sedan, all windows are of safety glass, with the latest type clear vision window ventilation both front and rear. This type ventilation is standard on all Ford DeLuxe cars. Only one control is necessary to operate any single window. Instead of turning out, and thus effecting the streamline of the car, this new system has the windows slide back, forming a slot through which air is drawn out of the car.

The only change in the Ford chassis assembly is a reinforcement in the rear section of the frame and special springs front and rear to accommodate the extra-sized and heavier LeBaron custom body. Power is supplied by the regular Ford V-type 8-cylinder engine—of 80 horsepower. This plant assures the same smooth and economical performance for the new models as proved to hundreds of thousands of other Ford V-8 cars.

Both the 7-passenger Sedan and the Limousine come fully equipped with five Martin Air Wheels and low pressure tires, twin deluxe horns, trunk carrier, and special chromium bumpers front and rear. Choice of colors include black, dark blue and dark green, all harmoniously striped.

Flowers, Flowers, Bring in Your Flowers

The Civic league flower show on Friday and Saturday of this week, is concentrating the attention of the citizens and it is hoped that this will be one of the best flower shows the League has had in some time.

A call comes from Mrs. W. A. Martin, general chairman for flower show, asking that each one entering cut flowers, bring them in their own vases or containers to the building, and their personal card be attached to their exhibits.

A single beautiful bud or perfect roses would be enhanced in beauty if placed in a correct bud vase or a sparkling crystal holder.

Mrs. A. H. Johnson, chairman for the Style Show, Saturday night, announces music will be furnished by George Harper for the show, who generously contributes this feature to increase the beauty of the models, and their costumes, providing them with a musical background for their graceful promenade through the aisles of the Fashion.

Mrs. R. L. Perkins asks that the women not forget to collect wild flowers and Mrs. W. P. Leslie, that the potted plants have the name of the owner and that the pots be tied in white papers.

The flower shows are free to the public both days.

Paul Muni, of course, is the big star of "The World Changes." It was produced as his vehicle. But as plans proceeded for the picture, it was decided to fill the cast with as many noteworthy players as were available. Aline MacMahon, a magnetic name to all moviegoers for her outstanding work in such pictures as "Life Begins," "One Way Passage," "Heroes for Sale," and "Gold Diggers of 1933," plays a role of great importance in the film—a pioneer woman who passes from youth to extreme old age in the course of the picture.

Mary Astor, Donald Cook, Patricia Ellis, Margaret Lindsay and Guy Kibbee will be seen in leading assignments. Jean Muir rated as an important discovery on the Warner lot, makes her screen debut in "The World Changes" and among the other young featured players who appear are Theodore Newton, Philip Faversham, Gordon Westcott, William Janney and George Meeker.

Anna Q. Nilsson, famed star of the silent screen, returns in a role which offers genuine opportunities and from the New York stage come such well-known players as Henry O'Neill, Alan Dinehart, Douglas Dumbrille, Arthur Hohl and Sidney Toler.

Still other players in the cast who are widely known to picturegoers are Marjorie Gateson, Mickey Rooney, Jackie Searle (the last two celebrated child players), Oscar Apfel, Alan Mowbray, William Burres, Wallis Clark, Clay Clement and Willard Robertson.

Mervyn LeRoy directed "The World Changes" from a script of

Edward Chodorov's, based on Sheridan Gibney's story, "America Kneels."
