

Silver Bloc Confers with President on Train

Officers believe little June Robles...
What minds me...
FEAR ROBLES CHILD KILLED STILL GROWS
TUCSON, Ariz., May 5.—The fate of June Robles, 6-year-old kidnaped Arizona heiress, remained wrapped in mystery today, hours after the time set for her release had passed.
Hope yielded to disappointment when the kidnapers failed to deliver the girl to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Robles.
Indications had pointed to the child's surrender late Friday or Friday night, but the night passed without bringing word from her. Ransom negotiations appeared to have been near conclusion, some persons even believing they had been completed, but apparently they were frustrated by timidity of the kidnapers.
Each passing hour revived fears she might be dead. It was 11 days ago that she was kidnaped by a dark man as she was returning home from school.

British Now Fear Japanese Rivalry For Wool Trade
LONDON.—Fears that the fate of the cotton industry also may overtake the British woolen industry when Japanese competition reaches its peak have disturbed investors and led to a weakening of the prices of leading woolen shares.
The financial press has avoided comment, but steady selling of these highly regarded securities has disturbed the London Stock Exchange.
Within a fortnight of the breakdown of the Japanese-Lancashire cotton negotiations, the shares of the highly successful company, Patons and Baldwins, had fallen from 74 shillings sixpence to 68 shillings, those of Woolcombers from 119 shillings to 114 shillings, and others similarly.
The financial editor of J. M. Keynes' weekly organ, "The New Statesman and Nation," breaks the general silence to protest against the effect of the "Japanese boogymen" upon investors in an industry now enjoying definite prosperity.
"This is an unreasonable alarm," he declared, "for the woolen trade is not so stupid, or so lacking in the power of cohesion as the cotton trade. Moreover Japan is not yet a serious competitor in the woolen textile export trade."
But the financial editor admitted that in the cheaper lines Japanese competition might be effective in a much shorter time and concluded by suggesting that investors who feel uneasy should stick to the protected woolcombing sections of the trade.

THREE ARMS OF LAW COMBINE AGAINST GANG
CHICAGO, May 5.—Three powerful arms of the law combined today in new plans for location and capture of John Dillinger in Chicago, while across the ocean British officers investigated a report he was a passenger on the steamer Duchess of York.
Melvin Purvis, Chicago chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice and director of the search for Dillinger, refused to say why the outlaw was thought en route to Europe.
While the trans-oceanic search developed, federal agents, police and state's attorney officers perfected a new organization of their squads.
Expert marksmen of the police department, each a reputed "tough guy," were assigned to the search. A special arsenal was outfitted for their use, including machine guns, shotguns, tear gas bombs, hand grenades and bullet-proof vests.

British Officer, In Speech, Declares King Was Killed
NOTTINGHAM, England, May 5.—Lt. Col. Graham Setton Hutchison, former army intelligence officer and internationally known author, revived today reports that King Albert of Belgium did not fall from the mountainside to his death, but was murdered.
"I know the facts," Hutchison said in a speech to the Writers' club. "The story about his death was about the biggest piece of nonsense put over on the world in six months."
"It was put over by planned perjury. I ascertained that there were no bruises on the king's body or hands. He was tapped on the back of the head. This is known in Belgium and nobody dares speak of his death in Belgium today."

L. C. KEEL NOT INDICTED IN RANGER CASE
The 88th district court grand jury late Friday afternoon adjourned for the term after returning 28 true bills, all felonies, to Judge B. W. Patterson.
The grand jury failed to return indictments against either L. C. Keel, Jim Vinson, Jim Fox or Otis Dabbs, charged in complaints in connection with the robbery of the Ranger National Guard armory on the night of March 19, last. In fact no indictments were returned against anyone in connection with the Ranger armory robbery.
Raymond Hamilton, notorious Texas bank robber, who is now in the Dallas county jail, is credited in news dispatches with having made the statement that he robbed the Ranger armory. A portion of the loot from the Ranger armory is also said to have been located in Dallas and one man, said to have had the loot, is alleged to have pleaded guilty to a federal charge of possessing stolen government property.
Among the indictments returned by the grand jury was one against Seaman Garrison for assault with intent to murder. This was in connection with the case in which Milton Day was struck over the head with a billiard cue. Day, who was taken to a Fort Worth hospital for treatment of his eye, returned to Eastland Wednesday, and is able to be up and about.

Honor Guest
MEETING WILL BE CONTINUED NEXT MONDAY
Hope Expressed For Administration Backing For Silver Measure.
BALTIMORE, Md., May 5.—Silver bloc leaders ended an unusual train conference with President Roosevelt today, still hopeful that their fight for silver legislation at this session of congress would win administration approval.
The meeting of Mr. Roosevelt and senators took place in the president's private car as a special train bore high officials to New York to mourn at the bier of William Woodin, former secretary of the treasury.
The congressional group left the train here after a 45-minute discussion with the president.
Conferees admitted no definite arrangement had been reached, but that they had accepted the president's invitation to meet at the white house Monday for further discussion.
Mr. Roosevelt promised the silver leaders he would make a close study of the proposals over the week-end.

Former Ranger C. of C. Secretary Receives Honor
Capt. C. C. Patterson, convention manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, will be one of the honored guests at the first annual Oil Belt Reserve Officers' association dinner-dance, to be held May 11, at the Gholson hotel, Ranger.
Captain Patterson has served during the past year as vice president of the Department of Texas, Reserve Officers' association. During the state convention which was recently held at the Texas hotel in Fort Worth, Captain Patterson was unanimously elected as president of the association for the coming year.
During the World War Captain Patterson enlisted in the first officers training camp at Leon Springs, at the conclusion of which he was commissioned as a first lieutenant. Upon being transferred overseas, he was attached to the United States forces in Siberia, where he was commissioned as captain. During this portion of his service, his outfit served in the same area as that of General Wrangel, commander-in-chief of the Russian White army.
Captain Patterson's visit to the Oil Belt is looked forward to with pleasure by a host of friends who know and love him.

Ranger and Comyn In Double Header This Afternoon
Ranger baseball fans have a treat in store for them this afternoon when the Ranger club of the New Deal league meets the fast and snappy Comyn club in a double-header beginning at 2:30.
The two teams met at Comyn last Sunday in one of the best ball games of the season in the New Deal league, Ranger winning by a 2 to 0 score without making an error or allowing a man to reach second.
Comyn comes to Ranger this afternoon "loaded for bear" and will be fighting to take both of the double attractions.
The games are being played at the new park on the Eastland road just beyond the Prairie crossing, where a good diamond has been put in shape for the games.

Cummings Answers Claims of Mellon
WASHINGTON, May 5.—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings today answered Andrew Mellon's attack on the government income tax suit against him with a blunt statement the former secretary could expect no special privilege.
"He must reconcile himself to being treated like anyone else in a similar situation," Cummings said. "Mr. Mellon is not as much in the dark as he would have the public believe."
"He knows the basis on which the treasury department made the additional assessment and why the department of justice has taken action."

Oil Rig Builders In Kansas Strike
MPHERSON, Kan., May 5.—Approximately 200 oil field rig builders in the McPherson field were on strike today for higher wages. No decrease in hours was sought.
M. D. King, Fort Worth, head of the striking workers' council, said the walkout will spread to other mid-continent fields where it may affect as many as 2,000 men.
The rig builders seek $10 and $12 daily instead of the $8 and $10 they now are receiving.

Florida Planning A Celebration of Her New Prosperity
MIAMI, Fla.—With building permits, tax collections, post office receipts and other barometers of business soaring, Florida, in the wake of its greatest tourist season, finds itself so prosperous it's going to celebrate.
Plans now under way call for the state to officially mark its rising economic fortunes with an All-Florida Pioneers' Day on May 5 to pay tribute to the leaders, both present and past, who have contributed to the new prosperity.
According to Al I. Leysnon, executive secretary of a committee of Florida publishers and business men sponsoring the celebration, parades and pageants will feature a state-wide festival, but the actual purpose of the event will be to revive tangible evidences of Florida's progress.
Figures already compiled show a tremendous upswing in business in the state. In Miami, focal point of the tourist business, building permits totaled $1,734,226 in the first three months of 1934 compared to $415,388 for the same period in 1933. Postal receipts for the same period advanced from $269,043 last year to $332,064 this year. Postal deposits soared to $6,029,680, the first over-six-million month in Miami's history. There were 5,767 property transfers recorded for the first quarter of 1934 compared to 3,579 last year, and March, 1934, showed more activity in the recording clerk's office than any month since May, 1931.

Couples Set New Record for Peace
ST. LOUIS.—Two sisters and their husbands living here claim to hold the "world record" for friendly relations as neighbors.
The story began 31 years ago when two room-mates married sisters. One sister became Mrs. George Bullerick and the other Mrs. Louis Kroemer, in a double wedding ceremony.
The couples started housekeeping in adjoining flats and since then, with the exception of two brief periods, they have lived as neighbors.
At one time, when the families lived in the same flat—one upstairs and the other down—the mother went to live with one daughter on the first floor, and the father lived with the other upstairs.
Their romances began about the same time and the sisters announced their engagements jointly.
Although one is several years older, the two, as girls, dressed as twins. They attend the same church, the same social organizations and during the daytime, the women are constant companions.
And, the women say, "we've never quarreled."

Thorough Cleaning of the Republican Party Is Suggested
WASHINGTON, May 5.—A thorough cleaning of the republican party is all that can save it from extinction, Senator William Borah, Idaho's independent republican, said today in discussing the political situation.
"Although without any special candidate to succeed Everett Sanders as chairman of the republican national committee, Borah expressed vigorous views to the course he believed the party should pursue. He demanded a complete separation from recent leaders. He did not mention names, but it was apparent he was talking of the republican party leadership during the Hoover administration."

Signal Device Is An Aid to Fliers
WASHINGTON.—A device for visually interpreting signals of aeronautical radio range beacons has been developed by W. E. Jackson and L. M. Harding, radio engineers of the Commerce Department's Aeronautics branch, according to Rex Martin, Assistant Director of Aeronautics.
Signals, Martin explained, are received through headphones by airmen who rely upon them for guidance during periods of poor visibility.
The device features an indicator which, fitted in the instrument panel, is similar to the contrivance used for blind landings. It is open-faced and has two needles—one vertical and one horizontal.
The vertical needle, Martin explained, is chief indicator and when a plane leaves the course defined by a radio beacon, this needle will move accordingly. However, he added, if the plane veers exactly on course, the vertical pointer will remain in center of the dial.
The horizontal indicator, the official revealed, shows the volume of received signals, which the pilot may adjust as he sees fit.

Patriotic Cubans, he announced, are organizing for a revolution, which they intend to effect even if it means armed intervention by the United States.

Ministers to Start Anti-Horse Racing Move in Texas

By United Press
 FORT WORTH.—Fort Worth ministers have started a concerted drive against horse racing which they declare will be carried into the next legislature in a fight to repeal the law which now is only one year old.

The ministers are basing their fight both on the moral issue and the contention that betting at the Arlington Downs track has proved detrimental to business conditions in Fort Worth.

A survey of merchants here shows that business slumped considerably during the recent 21-day meet, according to Rev. M. H. Applewhite, president of the General Ministers association. People also refrain from paying their bills during the racing season, merchants claim, evidently using the money for the pari-mutuels.

"We were told that collections also dropped off during the racing meet," the Rev. Mr. Applewhite said. "The only concern which benefitted from the races were the hotels and cafes."

Ministers of all denominations have joined in the battle. Many of them have issued tirades of denunciations from the pulpits.

A resolution, condemning race horse gambling, was to have been taken up by the association at its regular meeting, April 30, but a quorum was lacking and the meeting was postponed until May 7.

The ministers plan their campaign along educational lines, to acquaint the public "with the evils of horse racing," the Rev. Mr. Applewhite explained.

Dr. J. Frank Norris, widely known Baptist minister, has announced he will start a series of talks over radio against horse races. Dr. Norris predicted a strong fight on the floor of the next Texas legislature over the issue, with repeal "sure to come."

Axmen Will Lead Long Expedition

By United Press
 NEW YORK.—Leading a string of heavily laden pack horses, six veteran axmen headed by E. C. L. Lemarque soon will attempt to cross the ice-clogged Peace River and plunge into the forest north-west of Fort St. John, B. C. They will mark a route through the upper Canadian Rockies for the Beaulieu-Canadian Sub-Arctic Expedition, which will penetrate and explore 15,000 square miles of unknown wilderness south of the Yukon.

Their destination was approximately 400 miles from Fort St. John, where Lemarque hopes in the next three months to discover a pass through the Rockies and establish Cache No. 2 for the 30 men, 75 horses and five caterpillar tractor cars of the main expedition.

For the first 175 miles Lemarque will follow a trail blazed by Thomas Wilde and another crew of hikers, who set out from Fort St. John to chart the first stage of the expedition's route and establish Cache No. 1.

The expedition, in command of Charles E. Beaulieu, industrialist and explorer, will travel a route more than 1,100 miles long, extending from Edmonton through Fort St. John to Telegraph Creek and traversing heretofore impregnable sections of the Cassiar, Stikine and Rocky Mountains.

Early this month an amphibian plane, with its observation cockpit occupied by John B. Boeck, second in command of the expedition, will fly from Vancouver or Stewart, B. C., northeastward to search out a passable route for the exploration party from Cache No. 2 to Dease Lake and Telegraph Creek—the final and most difficult stage of the venture.

Leaders of the expedition have

More Safety For Drivers Assured By New G-3 Tire

Increased safety for drivers of modern high-performance automobiles is assured by a new tire, known as the "G-3," according to Guy Patterson, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company.

"The tire got its name," says Mr. Patterson, "from the symbol that was used to identify it in the laboratory and on the Goodyear test feet during the years of its development to perfection. The G-3 All-Weather proved in all the rigorous tests to which it was subjected that it would average 43 per cent more non-skid mileage.

"Good tires are more important to automobiles today than ever before for several reasons. The modern automobile is faster than its predecessors, has smaller wheels, will start and stop more quickly, and needs tire traction to show its best performance.

"With 'G-3' tires, an automobile will have the advantage of non-skid safety for 43 per cent more miles than with any tire ever offered previously by the Goodyear company.

"The difference between the new 'G-3' All-Weather and any previous tire may readily be detected by the naked eye. The 'G-3' has a wider and flatter tread, which is the primary fundamental of its increased non-skid life. The tire, in any given size, has more of its tread in contact with the road.

"This distributes the load and wear over a greater surface of tire and at the same time increases the traction efficiency factor," Mr. Patterson said.

Blind People Get New Talking Book

By United Press
 HARRISBURG, Pa.—Distribution of 450 new "Talking Book" machines to blind residents throughout Pennsylvania is being arranged by state officials and the Pennsylvania council for the blind.

The machines are adapted for blind persons who have not mastered Braille reading, and are intended to enable the sightless to enjoy the latest and best books.

Developed after several years of research in the laboratories of the American Foundation for the Blind, the "Talking Books" read aloud, chapter by chapter, by means of discs, each of which bears 7,200 words. The "reader" has only to turn the discs at intervals of 18 minutes. The records of a whole book of average length weigh about 14 ounces.

Publication costs of the record discs are covered by a federal appropriation which was granted several years ago for yearly publication of books for the blind. Like the books in Braille, the discs of the talking books are circulated through 24 public libraries which have departments for the blind.

The sole cost to communities, or to individual blind persons, is merely the cost of the reproducer which records the "Talking Books."

Victim Must Have Trust In Swindler

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The Illinois state supreme court recently held that a swindle does not constitute the crime of confidence game unless the victim trusts the swindler.

The ruling was made in a case where the court reversed the judgment of a lower court convicting Oscar Parker, alias Pepper Parker for operating a confidence game. He had been sentenced to imprisonment for allegedly taking $120 from Mrs. Lydia Bills of Marissa.

Evidence in the case showed that Parker was selling Mrs. Bills four cases of cigarettes, understood by all to be stolen property, for $120, a price less than the market. While Mrs. Bills got the money Parker brought the cases into the business establishment, took the money from the woman's hands and fled.

Mrs. Bills testified she intended to examine the cases before paying the money. Later when she opened the boxes she found them to be empty.

"A swindling operation does not constitute a confidence game unless the element of confidence be comes a part of such swindling," the court's opinion said.

"The evidence shows Mrs. Bills indicated that she not only had no confidence in the plaintiff, but that the money actually was grabbed from her hands before she had opportunity to make the investigation she wished.

"The evidence thus shows not only that the element of confidence is lacking as is also the further necessary element of voluntary parting with her money, as the result of such confidence."

The book, which is one-sixteenth of an inch in height and sixteenths of an inch in width, weighs a grain and a half, of the type used on each of three-thirty-seconds of an inch height and five-thirty-seconds width.

It is a translation into verse of parts of the Kuba Omar Khayyam and was given by the Commonwealth of Worcester, Mass.

New Zeppelin Has Modern Quarters

By United Press
 FRIEDRICHSHAFEN.—Save for the finishing touches, the passenger accommodations of the new Zeppelin now under construction, the LZ 129, have been completed.

Their spaciousness alone would merit giving the new dirigible the title of "Flying Hotel." They are four times as large as those on the "Graf Zeppelin," which for all its guests had not more than 100 square meters of floor space.

Passenger accommodations in the LZ 129 are arranged within the dirigible's body instead of underneath it. They form two decks. The upper, or A deck, contains on the port side a dining room and on the starboard side, lounge, writing room, and a lobby. Between these two suites of rooms are the 25 double-bed passenger cabins, each equipped with a wardrobe and running hot and cold water.

The dining room is about 15 meters in length, affording ample room for 50 passengers. Along the outer side of the dining room, and its counterpart on starboard, runs a kind of miniature promenade deck—inside the body of the airship, of course—with spacious windows. To save weight, the entire flooring of the upper deck is made of light metal instead of wood.

On the lower deck, which is connected with the upper deck by a real staircase, are situated the kitchen, bath, purser's office, bar, the mess rooms for officers and the crew, and, last but not least, the smoking room, the first of its kind on a dirigible filled with hydrogen gas. The lower deck is slightly smaller than the A deck.

All rooms in the new dirigible are well ventilated by a new device. The air in the bed-chambers, for instance, is changed automatically ten times per hour.

Aft of the passenger accommodations are the sleeping quarters of the crew.

BARGAIN SEEKERS CROWD PARIS FAIR

By United Press
 PARIS.—The annual Ham and Iron fair is drawing exceptional crowds in Paris, and bargain hunters report more than usual luck in finding rare old shotguns, false teeth, cuckoo clocks, stuffed birds, as well as exotic species of ham, sausage and pork pies.

In olden days it is said that the fair took its name from the fact that along with the hams objects in pig-iron were offered for sale, but today it has become a glorified junk shop featuring the two products of its inception.

A recent purchaser, however, elated with the purchase of a rare and dust-covered figurine of a Neapolitan fisherman, experienced a severe shock on reaching home and discovered his treasure to be painted on zinc and inscribed at the base with the sad news that it was "Made in the United States of America." That the purchaser should have been an American himself, made the incident doubly sad.

Congress is anxious to end the present session in a hurry, but not any more anxious than the public is.

"LAUGHING BOY" A VIVID DRAMA OF THE REDMAN

The romance of glamour of Indian life in America has been filmed with stirring realism for the first time in "Laughing Boy," Navajo drama starring Ramon Novarro with Lupe Velez as the fiery feminine lead. The picture is the current attraction at the Lyric theatre.

Previous Indian stories have been concerned with the tribesmen in action as participants in raids, battles, and other white and redmen struggles. Now the Indian is presented as a definite personality! His hope, fears and most intimate feelings are portrayed in this picture based on the famous Pulitzer Prize winning story by Oliver La Farge.

A Restraint Portrayal
 Ramon Novarro "reverses" the light and exuberant type of role in which he has often scored and even surpasses his past screen efforts in a restrained portrayal as a young Navajo Indian. The sparkling vigor of Lupe Velez was never more vividly presented than as "Slim Girl," the Indian girl who knows love in the civilized reservation towns but still craves the primitive men of her tribe.

More than a thousand Navajos were used in action filmed on the actual locale of the story on the reservation near Cameron, Ariz., with backgrounds of buttes and vast desert canyons adding to the impressive realism.

Scores as the "Heavy"
 Minor roles of tourists are capably played by Ruth Channing and Ferdinand Munier, with considerable "punch" put into the "heavy" role by William Davidson.

Again showing his masterful handling of native stories, Col. W. S. Van Dyke has directed the new film with the full vigor of his experiences with such pictures as "Trader Horn," "White Shadows in the South Seas" and recently "Eskimo."

Random Shots

By I. B. NOWIS
 There seems to be a tendency just now for some of us to "just lean back in our chair" and accept what the NRA and its various plans are doing for us as if it were justly due. Certainly some are legally entitled to all they receive, and perhaps more, and that is certainly not the point. But as for now, the poor fellow who is down and out and is receiving aid through one of the "good Samaritan" organizations set up by the federal government and has given up and set down on the "stool of do-nothing" as if this aid was to continue indefinitely, must remember that this aid is just a boost. A lift. A pull. It is given for encouragement to get started again; an opportunity to begin anew.

Your "Uncle Sam" is glad to furnish you this help and he expects you to use it as a means to get back to self-sustenance. He wants you to throw off the lethargy (that load of despair) and kick into real action that has remade construction for its purpose. Let's make use of the opportunity by getting something started that will make us self-sustaining. Just take hold of something and push and keep pushing and push the same way other folks are pushing and you will move, and when you once get moving you will find help coming from other sources besides the FERA. Don't be a quitter; be a stayer. A soft toadstool has been known to push its way through solid concrete. A tiny, tender blade of grass will push through the ground to the surface, sometimes lifting many times its own weight, and you are stronger than either. Plant something if you have to plant it in a box and set it on the front doorstep or the big bay window, and then make it grow. Be careful, be a helper, be a co-operator, be a doer of things. It's uphill now, but the top is in sight. Then we'll rest in the shade of the trees.

Breckenridge Dog Good Snake Hound

By United Press
 BRECKENRIDGE, Texas.—This is the story of a snake dog—not that famous fish dog who was so good he dived into the river after his master's silver dollar and brought up a five-pound bass and 50 cents in change.

One morning recently Old Baldy and his master, F. B. Williams, started to the field to work. In their path they found Mama and Pappa Kattlesnake and their proud brood of offspring. Leaving the dog with the snakes, Williams raced home for his shotgun.

When he returned, the snakes and Old Baldy were gone. Presently a barking called him to a ravine. There stood the dog, "pointing" the snakes. Williams killed them.

CITY DUMP EGGS HATCHED CHICKS

NAMPA, Idaho.—Did you ever see a dream walking? Well, Elmer Beutler, caretaker of the city dumps, did. While he was lazily gazing across the vast acreage of waste, building air castles from piles of ashes, Beutler suddenly was jerked to his feet by some unexplainable impulse as he saw baby chicks—50 of them—emerge from the dumps. Eggs thrown out by housewives of Nampa had been hatched by the sun's warmth.

From a representative of Mrs. Maud Lee Flood and her son it was learned so many expressions of regret were received following announcement the house would be dismantled that the two now are undecided whether to proceed with the wrecking.

Read this headline forwards or read it backwards—it gives you the same, sound advice.

You have certain fixed living expenses—rent, food, clothing, light, and other necessities. You save money every week so that these bills can be paid at the first of every month. Whatever else you buy must come from surplus savings, over and above those set apart to cover living costs. To make those savings buy the utmost value for the money is the essence of true economy.

Save to buy—then buy to save. Know what you need to buy before going to the store. Know what you can afford to pay before you start out to make a purchase. This is the one sure way to get the most for your money.

Make it a habit to read the advertisements in your newspaper every day. By doing so you will learn where to buy the things you need and where your dollar will buy the greatest value. The advertisements will show you where to purchase better food, better clothes, and yet save you money. They will help you live better and enjoy the good things of life. Vivisection Has Embroidered Town

MEDINA, O. — A vivisection argument is embroidering this Ohio town. Beginning with the censuring of Medina County commissioners by the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Anti-Vivisection Society, Inc., for sale of dogs to Western Reserve University Medical School in Cleveland, the issue has spread to include the writing of a supposed "Crank" letter to one of the commissioners. The letter was written to R. A. Auble, commissioners' chairman, and warned him to "either quit selling dogs for vivisection, or go out some place and jump off, before the gang gets you." Almost the same mail brought Auble a letter from Carl J. Wiggins, chairman of the medical school's committee on animal experimentation, commending commissioners for a firm stand on the matter. It branded complaints of the humane societies as "figments of imagination." Auble's warning letter was written either by a poorly educated person, he thought, or one able to disguise the letter with poor spelling and handwriting.

duction has been the Buick key-note. In the achievement of this, the finest manufacturing facilities in the industry have been assembled in the Buick factories. "It is Buick's manufacturing policy now to use this great wealth of experience, organization, manufacturing facilities and engineering skill to bring out a Buick car of the same quality that has built the company's reputation over the years, but a car to sell considerably below the present lowest Buick price. "Up to this point, Buick has been building cars for that group of buyers constituting only 8 per cent of the entire automobile market. In the price field we are about to enter we will be competing for approximately 27 per cent of the automobile market. "While no one can predict the portion of this market that Buick will secure, it is probable that we will exceed the average we have attained in the higher price brackets. If we do, it means an annual production of from 100,000 to 125,000 of the new cars. "Buick has an enviable record for 'repeat buyers.' During prosperous years, eight out of 10 owners of Buick cars made their next purchase a Buick. There are, therefore, thousands of 'traditional' Buick owners who have changed cars only when it became impossible to purchase Buick cars in the price class of the last few years. "The program is significant from the standpoint of Buick's dealer organization, which is one of the soundest in the industry. The forthcoming new line of motor cars will enable these dealers to reach thousands of new customers, hitherto unavailable to them, and to carry Buick back to the motoring public that acclaimed these cars when they were financially able to purchase them."

Budget Loans Save Farmers Interest

HOUSTON.—Farmers and livestock men in Texas who are borrowing from production credit associations are saving money on their production costs this season by obtaining their loans on a budget basis, according to figures released here by the production credit division of the farm credit administration. The figures show that production credit associations in Texas, although only recently organized, closed about 2,040 loans amounting to approximately $440,000 during the month of March. Only 270,000 of this amount was paid out immediately to farmer-borrowers. The remaining $170,000 of this amount was reserved for the budget accounts of individual borrowers who will be paid the proceeds of their loans as they need it for production purposes during the season. Farmers who have arranged to obtain this $170,000 in future advances will not be charged interest on this money until they start using it. Interest on loans made by the production credit associations are payable when the loan is due. Loans now being made by the associations bear 5 1/2 per cent interest. The farmer-borrower may apply for a loan to finance his production costs for the entire season and receive an approval for the full amount, but as a result of his anticipating the approximate dates of his necessary expenses he is able to arrange for a series of payments to be made by the production credit association to take care of his production expenses as they arise during the season. He pays interest on each advance only for the length of time he actually has the money. Borrowing on a budget basis rather than obtaining all the money at the beginning of the season should ordinarily reduce a farmer's interest charges from one-third to one-half.

up only half as much space in the hood as they would if they were strung out in a long straight line. Less space for the engine naturally means that more of the car's length can be used for body room in front and rear compartments.

THE wheel-base of a car is not always an indication of its body room. Cars of similar wheel-base may vary considerably in the amount of interior space available for the comfort of passengers.

But the roominess of the body is even greater than you would expect in a car of this size. The reason is plain and easy to see. But it is not something you usually associate with body room. It's the V-8 engine.

There need be no doubt about the roominess of this car. It's something you can check-up definitely and exactly. Your own tape measure will show you how much more leg room, seat room and head room you get in the New Ford V-8.

That's the difference between wheel-base and room-base. One is the outside distance from the front hub to the rear hub. The other is what you get inside the car—the room from the dash to the

BEER AND CIGARETS AS REVENUE PRODUCERS

State Treasurer Charles Lockhart is swinging around the political circle. He married a while in Texarkana while the East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention was on. He was interviewed by a reporter of the Texarkana Press. Well, the custodian of the state cash said at the present rate the sale of state beer stamps will realize $1,000,000 in Texas this year; that cigar stamps would sell for an aggregate $4,500,000; that he was responsible for the saving of $50,000 that formerly went to Eastern banks (in commissions and interest); that this was effected by the state treasurer officiating as paying agent and ex officio county treasurer of the board of county and district road indebtedness.

Racing appears to be a popular sport away down here in Texas. There is a heavy rakeoff of the betting money which swells the revenues of the state. There are patriots who say that the revenue from the racetracks alone will go beyond the $500,000 mark at the close of the season. There appears to be a new Texas far different than the Texas of old.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

The sudden switch from the old customs established by our forefathers to the thundering of new ways came as a great surprise to most of us. In fact, it was such a surprise that quite a few people do not as yet know what it is all about and why. Of course, some men think that we are smarter than our forefathers, but that is a debatable question.

For the past few weeks we have been watching a decided tendency on the part of many to swing back to the old customs. Powerful politicians are advocating a return to a one time system of cutting down taxes and the reduction of the public debt.

Most people realize that the first call on the regular income of the government is to pay its ordinary running expenses, interest on the public debt and liberal payments and care for its disabled war veterans; then extra taxes must be raised to take care of the needs of those who, on account of the depression, are in need.

We have all been excited. New deals came along so fast that the average citizen was up in the air most of the time. We believe that the slow but sure return to better times has started. The American people are stopping to think.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, today. The golden text is: "Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?" (Genesis 18:25). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night" (Revelation 12:10). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The destruction of sin is the divine method of pardon. Divine life destroys death, truth destroys error, and love destroys hate. Being destroyed, sin needs no other form of forgiveness. Does not God's pardon, destroying any one sin, prophesy and involve the final destruction of all sin?" (page 339).

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER
© 1934 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL are circus trapeze performers who have a friend, CON DAVID, the animal trainer, in love with Donna who regards him merely as a friend. Madeline, in love with Con, has been flirting with TED TRAFFORD, boss canvasser. When Madeline's grandfather, AMOS SIDDAL, asks her to spend the week-end on his farm she persuades Donna to take her place. Donna is much attracted by BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin.

Two weeks later Donna falls from the trapeze and is taken to a hospital, badly injured. Madeline sends word to Bill that "Madeline" is ill. She leaves a note telling Donna to continue the impersonation until she is well. Bill arrives and tells Donna that his soon as she is strong enough he is going to take her to the farm.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX
"I WOULDN'T surprise me if I never saw hide nor hair of Bill Siddal again." Mrs. Planter said, emphasizing her words by planking a dish of string beans before her son, Nub. Planter, a tall, well-boned, square man of 40, had taken Bill's place after the young man's hasty departure. Nub was thoroughly enjoying the three square meals a day that went with the job. Usually he had "to search" for one meal.

He grinned slyly, exposing to bare-stained teeth and a cavity where two molars were missing. "That'd suit you proper, old lady, eh? With that young upstart outa the way you'd about do as you please with the old geezer, huh?"

"Tain't fittin' for you to talk that way to your Ma," retorted his mother, but she smirked like a school girl. "Amos Siddal is right fond of me. If I do say it myself. And sometimes it's better for all concerned for old folks to marry than to be beholden on their kin. That stuck-up circus piers ain't ever gon' to bother with him and if Bill don't show up again I reckon Amos will appreciate what a good friend I've been to him."

"Friend! I reckon you've been paid and paid plenty for everything you've done. You're too smart a woman not to git everything that's comin' to you. Listen, Mom, if you do hitch up with the old man, what are you goin' to do for me?"

Mrs. Planter scowled. Since her husband she had pampered and spoiled her son, destined from birth to be a ne'er-do-well and all-around rascalion. Though she adored him (the only person she ever had loved) she knew him to be untrustworthy. She knew, too, that if the management of the farm were left to Nub those abundant acres would soon be in the hands of receivers and she herself reduced to the poverty she had known before Amos Siddal hired her as housekeeper.

"We'll cross no bridges until we come to 'em," she muttered.

THE rural delivery postman, driving a shining new car, appeared at the bend of the road. In a lusty, genial voice he called a greeting to Grandfather Siddal. "That you, Lem?" the aged man answered. "How are you?"

Whiskey No Spring Fever Cure, He Says

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Whisky is no spring fever tonic. So ruled accidents do happen. Bill said "I was a play with death all the time and when we get too far into something happens."

But Bill was not Donna's only caller. Some of the town's elite, drawn partially through curiosity but more through kindness, came to help pass the tedious hours.

Lulled into security, Donna almost forgot her own identity. When she was with Bill she felt she was Madeline. Only once did she come close to giving away her secret. She had begun to tell him of her father's death and the carelessness of this escape made her watch her tongue more carefully than ever.

She wondered what Madeline's father and mother had been like. Madeline had said once that she resembled her mother but she had never shown Donna a photograph. An enlarged portrait of Rosa Siddal hung in the farm house dining room but it was a grave a stately and Donna discounted it as a likeness. Madeline's father had died of pneumonia and his wife had lingered for years afterward, making her home with her father-in-law. That was all Donna knew.

Two short, cheerful notes had come from Madeline but they contained almost no news. They were nothing about Madeline's state of mind, the real cause of the accident, or any reference to the deception she had forced on her partner. The notes did speak of Con David. He had a new cat—a huge, untrained tiger that was a beauty. Con was taking Madeline to dinner almost every night now. Had Bill arrived yet? "Do have Bill or someone write to me," Madeline wrote. "I'm frantic for news."

The day Bill announced to Donna that they would depart for the farm on the morrow she summoned courage to ask him to write a letter for her.

Her voice was low and strained as she dictated:

"My dear Donna:—Bill and I are leaving for the farm tomorrow. I have to go on a stretcher and I understand they will have to shove it through the car window to get me inside. It will be good to get out of the hospital. They have been very kind to me here and my bones have healed quickly, but being in bed so long is pretty hard for anyone as active as I have always been."

Babe Didrickson Training for Golf At Mineral Wells

By United Press
MINERAL WELLS, Tex.—Miss Anniola Gorceyca and Mrs. Dan Chandler, perennial attractions in Texas golfdom, are going to find a hardy competitor this year, at least in fan-interest, in none other than Babe Didrickson.
Miss Didrickson, the wonder-girl athlete from Beaumont whose sports prowess is as complete as the signs of the Zodiac, has been in golf training here under capable tutelage.
Her goal is the Texas women's tournament to be held in Dallas a few weeks hence and the Southern Association tourney at New Orleans.
Whether the babe can rival the two state stars in golfing ability as well as she is certain to do in gallery-attracting power, is another question. Both Miss Gorceyca of Fort Worth and Mrs. Chandler, of Dallas, are nationally recognized.
The Babe's practice rounds here have shown much ability. Her driving power is sufficient. She has been getting from 200 to 275 yards on her tee shots. When she is in form she hits them 300 yards, her manager, Col. M. J. McCombs, said.
