HEAT AS HEAT WAVE ROLLS OVER THE NATION

MANY CITIES HAUL WATER FOR CITIZENS

Mercury Soars Almost to 120 Degrees Over Northern and Eastern States.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Death, famine and new afflictions for millions of farmers rolled eastward today in the air of a record heat wave.

At least 70 deaths were traced to heat. Thousands were prostrated in western fields as farmers sought water for their families. Crops burned in a dozen states. Winds became so hot human skin cracked and blistered at its touch. Thermometer columns boiled over the 100 degree mark, in several places almost to 120 degrees, from Utah almost to the Atlantic coast and from Canada to Port Arthur.

Thousands of farmers and even cities fought for drinking water. Five thousand citizens of Falls City, Neb., were in need of water. Creston, Iowa, planned to enlarge daily shipments of 46 car loads of water by rail from Council Bluffs. In Chicago and Kansas City authorities pleaded for water conservation.

Many died here of sunstroke, heat prostration and heart disease activated by the temperature. Well into its fourth month of drought, Texas faced a week-end of continued excessive heat with no relief in sight.

Lawyers Urging A Press Censorship

NEW YORK, July 21.—Partial censorship of the press was recommended in a report prepared today for the American Bar association meeting.

The report was formulated by the New York Lawyers association committee on criminal law. It urged that courts sue their powers and cite newspapers for contempt which carry accounts of lurid or sensational crimes. It urged courts to punish newspapers which carry such accounts and articles which appear to show prejudice.

Sloan Well Is Given a Shot

Injection of three shots of nitroglycerin, recently, varying in quantities ranging from 20 to 40 quarts, to the Sloan well, four miles south of Gorman, section 33, block 2, H. & T. C. survey, Comanche county, which is being drilled by Routh and Faurouth, has resulted in the flow of 50 barrels a day and is making an actual test over 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas. The well was treated to 80 quarts at 2,590-2,612, 20 quarts at 2,612-2,715 and 40 quarts at 2,716-2,742. The gas came in between 2,565-2,742.

Electric Cooking School to Be Held Beginning Tuesday

An electric cooking school and electrical refrigeration show is to be conducted in Eastland for two days, beginning on Tuesday, July 24.

The free cooking school is to be conducted Tuesday and Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to 11 o'clock and all the women in this section of the county are invited to attend. The school is sponsored by the Texas Electric Service company of Eastland.

Mrs. Ethel J. Warren, cooking authority and home economist, will conduct the classes and will tell the women how to make summer cooking a pleasure in a cool kitchen.

JUDGE HAMLIN IS SPEAKER IN RANGER FRIDAY

Judge Carl O. Hamlin of Breckenridge, candidate for congress from the 14th congressional district, spoke before a fair-sized crowd in Ranger Thursday night in the interest of his candidacy.

The candidate was introduced by Judge L. R. Pearson who spoke briefly on Thomas L. Blanton's tenure in office and suggested that a change might be good for the district.

All arrangements for seats, lights, the speaking platform and other details in connection with the speaking were handled by the Ranger Fire Department.

Judge Hamlin deplored the use of the Congressional Record and the franking privilege for political purposes and said that he would, if elected, attempt to limit these franking privileges.

"Of course a congressman should have franking privileges," he declared, "but it should be limited."

He made reference to the present congressman, Thomas L. Blanton, and brought up several of the issues for which Blanton has stood and worked, or which he has fought while in office.

"Tom will tell you that you must vote for him," he said, "because he is supporting the president and his program, yet, within the last days of congress he voted to override the president's veto of a bill providing a 10 per cent restoration of the pay of government employees, which was cut 15 per cent in the economy program. That means that he voted to increase his own salary $1,000 and this is not time for a congressman to be getting generous with himself."

He explained Blanton's criticism of him in a bulletin sent through the mails for drawing compensation for physical disability. He told of his service record, stating that he had two years in the infantry with the rank of captain when he was discharged and had accepted compensation at the end of nine years of ill health and following two major operations, which left him permanently disabled.

He closed his talk with a pledge to support the president and his economic program, to keep an open mind and to lend an ear to the voice of the people of his district.

Ousted Governor Attempts Comeback

BISMARCK, N. D., July 21.—Acting Governor Ole Olson struck again today at William H. Langer, suspended governor, whose seat he took, by removing Langer's principal appointees from office. Meantime every political resource of the ousted governor was bent toward removing Olson.

LIONS-ROTARIANS PLAY

Olds are close for both Lions and Rotarians as being victors in their burro softball game, which was played Monday afternoon at Welch field at 6.15. Burros of the players have been especially trained for the game and their knowledge of the game is expected to surpass that of the players. Lion club members have announced that proceeds of the game are for the benefit of afflicted and crippled children.

Agent Rebuked In Shooting

Leat B. Reed, above, federal department of justice agent, was criminally careless in the shooting to death of Mrs. Dessie Masterson of St. Louis, a coroner's jury decided in holding Reed for the grand jury. Mrs. Reed, mother of four children, was struck by a bullet when federal agents raided her home on a tip that gangsters were hiding there.

COURT BARS NEGROES FROM JULY PRIMARY

AUSTIN, July 21.—Negroes were without standing in the democratic party of Texas today under an opinion of the state supreme court which drew a dividing line around democratic primary voting booths.

Beyond that line negroes may not step because a resolution adopted by the state democratic convention in Houston in 1932 limiting party membership to white persons was a valid exercise of privileges and authority guaranteed the people by national and state constitutions, the court held.

Application for permission to seek mandamus actions to force election officials to permit them to vote was denied two negro property owners in Jefferson county.

T. H. Chaffin New Assistant Manager Montgomery Ward

T. H. Chaffin of Pampa, who has been with Montgomery Ward and Company of Pampa for the past four years arrived in Ranger today to serve as assistant manager of the local store.

Md. Chaffin replaces Moorman Wagner, who has been transferred to Monroe, La., where he will be connected with the company at that place. Mr. Wagner has been with the store for the past three years and his friends wish him much success at his new location.

Oscar Chastain to Speak In Ranger

Oscar F. Chastain of Eastland, candidate for congress, will speak in Ranger Friday night, July 27, it has been announced. The speaking will take place on Rusk street, between Main and Walnut, where all speakings have been held this year.

Chastain will make the third, and last, candidate for congress, to speak in Ranger, Judge Thomas L. Blanton having spoken here first, followed last week by Judge Carl O. Hamlin of Breckenridge.

OPTIMISM'S PEAK

An Eastland merchant Saturday dug a ditch at the rear of his store for drainage of water from land in case rain falls during the week-end.

STRIKES OVER NATION ARE ABOUT BROKEN

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21.—While 1,000 guards waited in barracks, Portland's waterfront hummed with new activity today, the 10-weeks deadlock imposed by the maritime strike apparently broken.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—This city, which a week ago plunged headlong toward industrial chaos, today rushed toward peace. Union teamsters dealt what may be the final blow forcing maritime workers to return to work.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 21. Fearing new riots in the blood-spattered city markets, Governor Olson threatened martial law.

More than 4,000 national guards were massed in barracks within a stone's throw of the spot where 49 striking port truck drivers and passing pedestrians were shot yesterday by police. Governor Olson criticized the part police played in the brief but furious clash and said martial law might be necessary to enforce a "rule of reason."

Debt Negotiations Between Nations To Be Continued

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Negotiations for a debt agreement between the United States and the Soviet government will be resumed next week, it was announced today. The announcement was made following a call by the Russian ambassador.

Failure of a settlement has been said to hamper establishment of the commercial activity between the two countries which had been anticipated at the time of Russian recognition.

Threat Letters Sent Eastland Business Firm

Certain Eastland business men have, during the past few weeks, received anonymous letters through the mail from persons who have apparently appointed themselves censors over the business and operated by the other fellow and are attempting to tell him how to conduct his business, what lines of merchandise to handle, when and how to employ help, etc. Some of these letters contained mild threats.

Not only were these letters mailed to the business men in question, but some of them were mailed to newspapers with the request that they be given publicity. It is a violation of the law to send threatening letters through the mail.

Jury Says Order to Lower Gate Rate Is Unreasonable

AUSTIN, July 21.—The Texas railroad commission's order, requiring the Lone Star Gas company to reduce its gate rate for natural gas supplied to Texas cities was today held by a district court jury to be "unfair and unreasonable."

State's attorneys immediately announced they would appeal the case to a higher court. Pending the appeal the present rates will remain effective.

The suit has been attracting much attention throughout the state as it is the second time a district court jury has been called upon to determine the fairness of utility rates.

AGENTS STILL WORKING ON URSCHELL CASE

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 21.—The kidnaping of Charles Urschell—the crime that led to the first organized federal drive against kidnaping—was perpetrated a year ago tonight.

Today 16 men and women, convicted on charges in the case, are serving time in federal prisons. Federal agents still are trying to unravel all the particulars of the crime, including the whereabouts of $80,000 of the ransom money. Leaders of the kidnaping outfit were George (Machine Gun) Kelly, Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates, serving life sentences at Leavenworth, and soon to be transferred to the new Alcatraz Island penitentiary off the coast of San Francisco.

NATURE SAVED YOUTH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 21.—Nature found a way even when physicians were puzzled, and little John Stringfellow, owes his life to the fact. After repeated efforts by physicians to remove a peanut lodged near the child's throat, Nature stepped in with a first class case of pneumonia. This served to wash the peanut away. John is now well on the road to recovery.

DOG EARNED LICENSE FEE

BLYTEVILLE, Ark.—Bill Helm's dog, paid its own license fee. When the tax notice was received Bill, who is the town clerk for several merchants, decided his dog would have to earn the money. He painted a banner advertising a store and tied it on the dog's side. Later Bill went around and collected the dog's pay and turned it over to the city clerk for the tax.

Political Edition To Be Issued By Paper Before Primary

As usual this paper will issue its annual political edition this week just before the primary. Interest in all the races for precinct and county offices always is greatest just as the time comes to go to the polls each election year. It has therefore become a custom for us to contact all the aspirants for office and by making a special political rate on display advertising and by giving free news stories using the pictures of the candidates make it possible for the people to review at the last minute the platform or issue each man or woman is running on and go to the ballot box prepared to vote intelligently.

These advertisements and stories will be of interest to everyone who has the interest of the county and public good at heart and through a special arrangement will appear in four papers: The Ranger Daily Times and the Eastland Daily Telegram on Thursday, July 26, and the Ranger Weekly Times and the Eastland County Chronicle, the last two named are printed on Thursday night and put in the mails the same night so as to reach the readers before noon Friday—ample time to study and reflect and decide a good twenty-four hours before voting time.

The special combination of the two Ranger papers and the two Eastland papers will total over 7,000 circulation in the county—right where the candidate wants it.

Be on the look-out for these special political papers and read them carefully, know for whom you will vote and WHY.

'INSIDE STORY' OF LINDBERGH CASE IS TOLD

JOLIET, Ill., July 21.—A convict in state prison turned over to Warden Frank Whip today what he said was the "true story" of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping. He named Frank Nash, slain in the Kansas City union station massacre, and Al Capone, now in Atlanta, as the men behind the plot.

The convict, John Pawelek, said the kidnaping was planned to free Capone, then in jail at Chicago, following denial of his appeal from an income tax conviction.

At the time of the kidnaping, Capone offered to aid authorities in finding the child and said he had "friends" who could trace the kidnapers.

The information has been turned over to federal authorities. The prisoner said he met Nash while both were in Leavenworth prison. At that time, according to the story, he and Nash communicated by means of a code which later appeared on a note left at the Lindbergh home.

He named as the actual kidnapers, Nash, one Bob Sandwich, and a woman friend of the latter, named only as "Tessie."

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Federal secret service agents, who have run down every possible clue in the still unsolved Lindbergh kidnaping mystery, will check fully every angle of the story told by a prisoner naming Al Capone and Frank Nash as the master minds of the kidnaping. Whether the story bears any promise of a genuine clue, none could say.

Roosevelt Names Mediation Board

ABOARD U. S. S. NEW ORLEANS, July 21.—President Roosevelt, aboard the U. S. S. Houston, bound for Hawaii, interrupted his vacation today to announce appointment of the membership of the national mediation board.

The board, created by amendment to the railway labor dispute during the closing days of congress, is intended to be a supreme court of rail controversies. The presidential appointees were: William Leiserson, Ohio; James Carmalt, Washington, D. C., and John Carmody, now chief engineer of the federal emergency relief administration.

Cotton Growers In South Texas Wait For Cotton Tags

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, July 21.—South Texas cotton growers and buyers today were in a foment of discontent, because of government delay in delivering tax exemption certificates and bale tags. Of 12,000 bales ginned, 10,000 remain in gin yards. In the lower Rio Grande valley cotton area 6,000 bales are held from market because certificates and tags are not available.

Stored cotton, shippers pointed out, is a serious fire hazard and a source of worry to owners. Hundreds of protests over delay in distribution are being received at internal revenue offices here and at Washington authorities said.

Earth Shocks Are Felt In Panama

PANAMA, July 21.—Renewed earth shocks of extreme violence shook houses into ruins in the gold mining town of David today and brought requests for government aid.

The wharf used by the United Fruit company at Puerto Armaules was totally destroyed and one United Fruit company building collapsed, with the reported death of several persons.

A locomotive, hauling a train of banana cars, plunged into the sea.

Mrs. McAdoo Wins Divorce

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo was speedily divorced by Eleanor Wilson McAdoo, above, daughter of former President Woodrow Wilson, in unexpected proceedings in Los Angeles superior court. McAdoo, junior senator from California, was President Wilson's secretary of the treasury. Incompatibility was the charge.

COTTON AND WHEAT MAKE BIG GAINS

NEW YORK, July 21.—The cotton market advanced more than a dollar a bale in the short session today as a steady stream of outside buying orders flowed into the trading ring.

Closing prices were 17 to 21 points higher. Locals sold and professionals opposed the advance, but the offerings were readily absorbed as speculators' imagination were fired by the rapid deterioration of cotton in the southwest.

FORT WORTH, July 21.—No. 1 hard wheat advanced 1 1/2 cents today, closing at $1.10 a bushel. The closing price marked a 3 1/2-cent increase during the week.

Blanton Spoke Friday Night to Crowd at Cisco

CISCO, July 21.—Introduced by Judge Eugene Langford, prominent local attorney, Congressman Thomas L. Blanton delivered the fourth speech for the day here Friday night in the interest of his re-election to congress. A large and attentive crowd listened to the speech.

Judge Blanton, although showing the strain of the whirlwind campaign he has made since his return from Washington following the adjournment of congress, spoke for more than an hour, reviewing his record in congress. His address was frequently applauded and at the close of his address large numbers of people went forward to shake hands with the speaker.

Judge Blanton explained the old thirteen year old charge made against him when the Republican leader, Frank Mondell of Wyoming, endeavored to have Blanton thrown out of congress and said that Mondell, the next year after he tried to throw him out of congress, was repudiated by his own state, carrying only one county in the entire state.

Eastland Zone Baptist Meeting

The Eastland Zone Baptist Training School, will meet in the Eastland Baptist church at 2:30 this afternoon, with towns represented from all over this zone. A special feature of the program will be the Life Service Band of Howard Payne College of Brownwood, in a playlet, bearing on the work of the zone.

ANOTHER ARGUMENT FOR STORAGE OF FLOOD WATERS

A Bay City correspondent is responsible for the following news item wired on July 10: "Famished rice fields of Wharton and Matagorda counties absorbed billions of gallons of water today which tumbled 500 miles down a riverbed from Brownwood on its errand of relief. Over 334 miles of the largest private canal system in the United States the water poured today, laying a six-inch covering on rice fields."

This special news item comes from Brownwood on the date of July 11:

"Torrents of precious stored water spilled into the Colorado river Tuesday through a jammed floodgate in the Brownwood dam as workmen struggled with the huge 16-ton gate in a frantic effort to close it before the reservoir is drained completely. The level of water in the dam already had been lowered 14 feet. Farmers around Brownwood took the loss of their water with deep concern. Their only consolation was that the dam probably will refill quickly as soon as the next rainy season begins."

Object lessons are practical lessons. Three hundred years ago the Franciscan fathers knew the value of catching the flood waters and maintaining a mighty reserve of the precious fluid at all times for the protection of their people and their agricultural ventures in time of drouth. Sufficient precipitation comes to Texas in a twelve-month to irrigate every acre of tillable land under the skies of the Bluebonnet commonwealth. Harnessing of the rivers and streams and the building of great storage basins or lakes would add hundreds of millions of dollars in a dividend sense to Texas farmers and ranchmen and there would be a reserve great enough at all times to defy the ravages of drouth and its financial losses "to the people now on earth."

Just now the rice growers are happy. Just now the citizens of Brownwood and the trade territory of Brownwood are unhappy. They stand to lose thousands of acre feet of water which was not sold to the rice producers of Wharton and Matagorda counties.

Congressman Blanton's Stephens County Friends Present Official Records

The time has come for Blanton's friends in Stephens county to give the public the following indisputable facts authentically taken from the official records in Breckenridge. Tonight Blanton concluded 69 speeches since he reached Texas all based upon his record in Congress with pledges fulfilled, and in none did he even mention an opponent. Both Carl Hamlin and Oscar Chastain, have been following in behind him every where he has been, scattering cards showing votes Blanton hasn't carried, but failing to mention their own losses in campaigns. Hamlin has made vicious attacks on Blanton, and is again broadcasting over the district the attack Republican Leader, Frank Mondell, made on Blanton years ago, when Mondell caused Blanton to be censured and tried to put him out of the House, simply because Blanton was fighting to take off of the pay-roll barbers, masseurs, manicurists, chiropodists, cooks, and waiters, and stop them from drawing government salaries, to reduce mileage, to abolish the free distribution of cedar-chests, and to stop allowances for stationery to be used in buying all kinds of merchandise then kept for sale in the Stationery Room.

Hamlin's circulars fail to show that following his attack on Blanton, Frank Mondell was repudiated by Wyoming, where for 26 years he had been the only Congressman, and carried only one county in the entire State, and was kicked out of office, and has long since been forgotten.

Breckenridge Repudiated Carl Hamlin in the Last Two Regular Primaries

Judge Carl Hamlin left his home in Missouri to come to Texas. He has lived in Breckenridge ever since he became District Judge. He received his appointment originally and in due time came before the people of his county as a candidate for election. In the regular Democratic primary for July 1928, the following is the official vote in the four boxes in Carl Hamlin's home city of Breckenridge:

	Bill	Bowers	O'Connor	Hamlin
S. E. Breckenridge	44	86	155	116
N. E. Breckenridge	84	97	143	184
N. W. Breckenridge	76	186	240	197
S. W. Breckenridge	67	170	200	178
Total	70	538	738	675

Note that with four candidates running, O'Connor got more votes than Hamlin, and that in Breckenridge where he lives there were only 675 votes for Hamlin, and 1546 votes against him. There was a run-off in the second primary in August, 1928. Hamlin was then drawing a salary of $5,000 from the State and in addition was drawing $150 per month from the government, based upon presumed disability. Although during the war he was never out of the United States. Being better able to manage financially, he won in the run-off.

Breckenridge, Hamlin's Home, Accepted Him in Last Democratic Primary of July 1932. The following is the official vote in the four boxes in Breckenridge in the Democratic primary in July, 1932:

	Welch	O'Connor
S. E. Breckenridge	114	78
N. E. Breckenridge	131	137
N. W. Breckenridge	189	208
S. W. Breckenridge	148	140
Total	582	563

I NOT ONLY NEED THE JOB OF COUNTY TREASURER

But I Have Given Eastland County My Best Efforts To Make You An Efficient County Treasurer.

First I want to brand any rumors that have been spread from one end of the county to the other that I am a rich woman and own property that is valued at high figures and that I have a large bank account or even any available cash as absolutely false and misleading from every standpoint. Those that know me and my private affairs know that there is not a word of truth in these malicious statements.

Above everything the people of Eastland County are entitled to demand something more from their county treasurer than a specific need for the job. Efficiency and ability are also absolutely necessary. I feel safe in saying that I do not believe that there is one human being in Eastland County that will say that I have not made you an efficient County Treasurer and that I have not at all times applied myself diligently to every duty entrusted to my care and at the same time extended every courtesy to those who have business with the County Treasurer's office. I am entitled to your vote and consideration on that service if nothing else.

I will own a building in Eastland, if I get it paid for. It hasn't paid me any revenue in many months. It is heavily involved. I do not have as much as fifty dollars in any bank. I depend upon my salary alone to make my living. I own my own home, and no voter would deny me that comfort if I have denied myself and saved to have something to show for it and a place to stay. When it comes to needing the job I think I can justly claim consideration against any others who would claim the office on the same ground. But need alone has no just claim for any public office. It takes diligence, efficiency and experienced qualifications to render the service required to be your County Treasurer. I believe you will agree that I have never violated your confidence and measure up to those standards.

Mississippi's Refusal to Repeal Beer Measure

Mississippi's Refusal to Repeal Beer Measure

Mississippi's refusal to repeal the prohibition law is the subject of a special issue of the Texas primaries. The majority of Texans, like those who have been in the state "wet" must repeal the law.

E. K. Russell has been an out-and-out prohibitionist throughout his campaign. "I cannot change my convictions on that," he said.

Maury Hughes and C. C. McDonald are recognized as wet candidates. McDonald directed the campaign for beer amendment. Hughes tried to get prohibition repealed and a return to local option submitted as a proposed party pledge in the primary. Hughes' proposal was side-tracked by a sub-committee. The governor, Ferguson, launched an attack on McDonald as Mrs. Ferguson's successor.

Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt was the first Texas major official to come out for repeal of the present prohibition clause of the state constitution.

Sen. Clint C. Small, as a candidate for governor four years ago, said that prohibition was a fundamental principle that must "never" be disturbed. This year he is for submission of the liquor question but would repeal the law permitting race track betting.

Tom F. Hunter is accused by Candidate Hughes of being "dry in English and wet in Bohemian." His favors submission.

Effect of the prohibition issue on Allred's campaign is particularly interesting. Leading prohibitionists seem satisfied with his attitude. It is noticeable that it is other candidates that are making attacks on him for not padlocking places where hard liquor is sold.

Maury Hughes leads such an attack, - picturing open saloons with whiskey advertised and on display while Allred's campaign signs look down upon them from a neighboring building. Small makes a similar attack on the attorney general. Hunter, too, accuses Allred of failure to act.

Just what the attorney general could and should do under the situation is much discussed.

Article 5107 of the revised civil statutes, under a title dealing with intoxicating liquors, defines any place where intoxicants are illegally sold as a nuisance.

Article 5108 says the attorney general of any county where such a nuisance exists may bring an action for abatement of it. If an abatement order is issued, the place may be padlocked for a year unless bond of $1,000, forfeitable on future sales, is posted.

Article 1109 says that any corporation violating any of the provisions against intoxicants shall be subject to penalty, recoverable in an action in the name of the state to be brought by the attorney general in Travis county, or by the attorney general or the county or district attorney in the county where the violation takes place.

Article 1110 says in addition to all other remedies, the attorney general is authorized to enjoin the violation of any article dealing with intoxicants.

But is Texas wet or dry? Wets cite the vote for the 32 beer amendment adopted last August. They point to the numerous local elections in which former dry territory permitted beer sales under that amendment.

Drys draw a distinction between the beer amendment and repeal of the prohibition against hard liquor. Many drys in the state legislature voted for submission of the beer amendment.

Abuse of the beer amendment, leading wets admit, has hurt their cause. Before the amendment became effective, chiselers began their sales over protest of the wet advocates. Now, hard liquor is sold in all the leading cities along with beer.

In most places it is done openly. After a minor liquor gang war, San Antonio ordered hard liquor sales stopped. The whiskey bottles went under the bar instead of upon it. San Antonio grand juries did not indict for liquor sales. They used to but no conviction ever resulted.

Officers in other places say convictions are impossible to obtain, partly because of the harsh fact that conviction under present Texas law means a prison sentence.

SELECT B. E. McGLAMERY COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

- 1. Because he is better qualified through training and experience to serve a second term.
- 2. Because through a careful budgeting of the school's funds they are today on a sounder financial basis than when he began. This has been done in spite of the two hardest years ever faced by a county superintendent.
- 3. Because he has co-operated with the State Department of Education to bring the largest amount of State Aid Funds into the county that has ever been granted. State aid has increased from $15,000 in 1930 to nearly $29,000 the past year.
- 4. Because he co-operated with the Federal Government to bring into the county for teachers' salaries the sum of $12,000 additional funds for this year.
- 5. Because he has encouraged the raising of standards of training among the teachers of the county until today we have a higher type of teaching than when he began his term.
- 6. Because he believes that by working with the State Department of Education he will be able to give to the county the best educational program to be obtained. Co-operation with the State Department and not criticism of the Department is his practice.
- 7. Because he has sought to serve the teachers of Eastland county by making available to them, when it could be secured, money to pay warrants. He is now making efforts to secure funds to pay at least 4 months salary for next year.
- 8. He has found the office of county superintendent to be a clearing house for all the schools in the county. As such he has sought to render prompt and efficient service to all alike.
- 9. With a greater percentage of children in school last year than at any time, with a sound financial program, with better qualified teachers and better taught schools, with larger grants of funds from both State and Federal Governments, he comes to you asking for a second term.

CLINT SMALL Candidate For Governor

Subject to the Action of the Texas Democratic Primaries, July 28

State Senator Clint Small has had 18 years service in public activities. During that time none have ever questioned his honesty, integrity or ability. An enviable record such as that is a splendid recommendation for a man who aspires to be the Governor of Texas.

DEAR CITIZENS:

The first "heat" of the Governor's race is drawing to a close. I have tried to conduct my part of the race on a clean conservative basis that will merit the approval of the best citizens of Texas. I now take this means of personally soliciting your vote on election day.

I have had considerable experience in public life and I feel that I have a good knowledge of your government all the way from the little town up to the State as a whole. It is my hope to give a safe, practical, administration with governmental cost held down to the lowest possible dollar consistent with efficiency.

During the six years I have been in the Senate it has been my pleasure to handle a great many bills in which Eastland county is interested. One of these measures took more than two millions of bonded indebtedness off of your county and caused it to be paid out of the gasoline tax. I also handled the marginal well bills that materially aid the petroleum industry in your county. Ask your county officials about the benefits derived from these bills.

I think my experience and official service will enable me to make this state a useful and efficient governor and I respectfully solicit your support with the promise that I shall do all in my power to materially improve conditions in Texas and give you a government that all people will respect and commend.

Yours very truly,
CLINT SMALL.

Houston Chronicle
The Amarillo candidate has put forth a thoughtful presentation of state affairs. He has a philosophy which can win respect if not full agreement from all informed people. . . His speech is encouraging in that it shows a genuine interest in the facts concerning our economic system.

Fort Worth Star-Telegram
Senator Clint Small has something to say about taxes which rings true to the ear of every man. . . "With millions of dollars in delinquent taxes, the bulk of which can be collected, Texas does not need additional taxes."

Houston Post
In opening his campaign for governor Clint Small sustained his reputation of being a man who thinks deliberately, possesses clear-cut convictions on public questions, expresses himself definitely and fearlessly, and avoids prodigal promises.

Dallas News
In the platform on which he is running for governor, Senator Clint Small declares for governmental economy and for tax reduction, but he avoids making rash promises, and says, in effect, that the amount expended for government must be determined, finally by the people.

Amarillo News-Globe
The platform of Senator Small in its entirety is worthy of careful study by the people.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

JANE HEARD EDGAR'S voice in New York determined to show her home town, Nebraska, and especially AMY JANE, that she was making a success of her life. Amy had been her best friend until HOWARD JACKSON broke the engagement. Jane had turned upon him and married Amy.

When America enters the world she has a new order to enter in the social groups. Amy heard that Jane was coming home to Nebraska to play hostess to a dinner party at which she had to reveal the marriage.

AMY wished they would stop talking. She wished they would go. She had felt Jane's antagonism when she was leaving, but it could not touch her. It did not matter. Tomorrow was so near, when she and Howard she forced herself away from that "Jane's very sweet," she said wearily. "I'm glad she's looking after Miss Rosa's affairs. She's got a good head for business. Miss Rosa's not been up to much since she was sick in the spring."

"You're tired, and no wonder," said Edgar suddenly. "Well, run along. It was a swell dinner. Amy, and we were proud to be among those present."

"I was proud to have you, but don't thank me for the dinner. That all came from the dean's, as you know. I'm not really tired. Don't go."

Care in the Use of Glass Jars

Jars are easily broken when hot and care must be taken when removing them from the cooker. Always let the pressure get to zero, by letting the cooker set, and then the contents of the jar will be hot and the air striking it will often break the jar and your trouble and products wasted. Another precaution, when you take the jars out, set them on a cloth on the table and this will help to prevent breaking. Often you have left a drop or two of water around and when you set the hot jar on this you will have breakage. The table is sometimes very much cooler than the jar and this will cause the jar to break. Mrs. Floyd McCormick, farm food supply operator of the Bass Lake demonstration club gives this advice to help others when canning in the pressure cooker, using glass jars.

Made Over Garments Using Foundation Pattern

Attractive dress at little cost made from old linen duster using the foundation pattern (individually fitted pattern). Mrs. Louis Pitecock, clothing cooperator of the Ranger Co-Workers home demonstration club, says do not throw the old garments away and do not waste them by cutting into smaller garments. Mrs. Pitecock's mother straightened the attic, found the linen duster and sent her to make a child's suit. The material looked good and the foundation pattern was brought out and placed on the material found to work out fine for a dress. The foundation patterns are made to fit and no extra material has to be used in allowing for seams, fittings and such and with this, no waste having to be allowed for the dress was cut and made. Mrs. Pitecock spent 10 cents for dye. Buttons from an old dress was used. "I have an attractive dress and an inexpensive one and can buy several suits for the boys for what a dress would have cost for myself. The foundation pattern is worth all the time you spend making it just to be able to take old garments and make up in this way."

Use of Foundation Pattern To Fit Commercial Pattern to Individual

Mrs. J. C. Hudson, clothing cooperator of the Bass Lake Home Demonstration club says her foundation pattern made it possible for her to use a much smaller commercial pattern to work out a waist pattern for a dress. "I took the part of the waist of the commercial pattern I wanted, cut a pattern of it and fitted on the foundation pattern. I used a 36 commercial pattern to fit on my 42 foundation pattern. Without this individually fitted pattern I could not have made this adjustment." In cases like this the commercial pattern is of no use without the other. I have a dress I like and one that is a perfect fit. Could not get my sewing done without the foundation pattern.

Comfortable Sleeves and Sleeves Long Enough

The first time I have had a sleeve pattern long enough and sleeves long enough and comfortable in every way, since I made the foundation pattern, states Mrs. W. I. Dixon, clothing cooperator of the Bass Lake Home Demonstration club. The sleeve pattern alone has been worth the time and any trouble in the making.

Things To Do Now Along the Gardening Line

Take a hoe and cut all burned up vegetables from the garden, as diseases are harbored on these plants and are certain to cause trouble next year. Plow the garden shallow to prevent summer weed growth, then lay low and wait for the first fall rains for planting the late summer or fall garden.

If your tomatoes are producing well but the weather is still dry, build an artificial brush arbor over two dozen plants and keep them watered every other day. One of the leading gardeners in Brazos county put a shade over his tomato plants and it worked satisfactorily. Simply drive down some stakes 4-5 feet in height, tack some poles across the top of the stakes, and lay brush, weeds, or any other type of material that will allow circulation of air but will provide shade from the extreme rays of the sun during July and August.

We'll bet that wall of "force rays" invented by Dr. Nikola Tesla to prevent invasions couldn't keep the Japanese from China.

Hunting Stamp By 'Ding' Will Help to Restore Waterfowl

WASHINGTON—When hunters plunk down a dollar for the new Federal hunting stamp at their nearest post office, they will receive no ordinary carrier of mullage. Nearly twice the size of a special-delivery stamp, the hunting stamp shows a waterfowl scene which is the work of J. N. (Ding) Darling, who was a nationally known cartoonist long before he became chief, a few months ago, of the Biological Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"No one, however," says Mr. Darling, "is under any obligation to kill a duck just because he owns a Federal hunting stamp, nor is there any rule to prevent a man who wants to help restore the migratory waterfowl from purchasing several of these duck-saving stamps. Every dollar will be devoted to the cause of conservation."

Authorized by the recent Congress and to be issued shortly by the Post Office department, the new stamp will be on sale at post offices in all county seats, in all towns with populations of 2500 or more, and in certain waterfowl centers. The sale of stamps will provide funds to help conserve ducks and geese and other migratory waterfowl by the establishment of sanctuaries. Everyone over 16 years of age who hunts migratory waterfowl is required to have a Federal hunting stamp in his possession, affixed to the regular state hunting license or to a special certificate furnished by the postmaster if a hunting license is not required. The distinctive qualities of the stamp, it is believed, will also stimulate its sale among stamp collectors as well as sportsmen and conservationists.

Over-shooting and the effects of the prolonged drought, the Biological Survey explains, have seriously decreased the supply of waterfowl. Drainage operations in past years have destroyed millions of acres of marsh and water areas formerly inhabited by waterfowl, fishes, and fur-bearing animals. Much of the land so drained has turned out to be practically useless for farming or for any other purpose. The money received from the sale of the new hunting stamp will be used to remedy these mistakes of the past by restoring some of this wasted land to the country's wild life and to purchase other marsh lands not yet destroyed.

Not all the money for this restoration program, the bureau points out, will come from the pockets of the sportsmen, however, for the President, recognizing that wildlife, like the forests, is a valuable national resource, is planning to devote additional sums, to extending the sanctuary system. The stamp sale will probably provide funds ranging between $600,000 and $1,000,000 annually, according to estimates by the Biological Survey.

"I GOT THE RECIPE FROM AN ADVERTISEMENT IN YESTERDAY'S PAPER"

COOKING is a science in which discoveries are constantly being made. Even the most colorless food staple is liable to have the spotlight turned upon it. Take salt pork for example—wouldn't it surprise you to know that it is a wonderful basic ingredient for a savory tomato sauce?

It is not necessary to buy cook-books to keep up with new culinary secrets and recipes. By means of newspaper advertisements, they come to you regularly from the kitchens of food manufacturers and distributors. And because these recipes are tested over and over again before they are released to the public, you can follow their instructions with complete confidence.

As you study these recipes you will be impressed by these facts—they are appropriate for the time of the year in which they appear; they call for inexpensive ingredients; they are in harmony with modern rules of health and nutrition; and finally, they are not difficult to follow.

Yes, it pays to read food advertisements for the facts they contain. It pays to read the recipes for new ideas. You'll be wise if you cut them out for your recipe file. But above all you'll be delighted if you try one of those recipes right away.

Fair Is Fair

Editor's Note: The following is an editorial taken from Variety, a theatre trade paper, and which should prove of interest to the Telegram readers in view of the fact that there is much comment at this time about "cleaning up the movies." The editorial does not necessarily express the views of this paper, whose columns are open at all times to discussions of questions of interest and contribution will be run, wherever possible, if they are properly signed by the writer. No anonymous communications will receive any consideration, however.

There is every indication that the church campaign against the picture business is getting out of hand. The extremes to which some churchmen and newspapers are going to emphasize the "menace of the screen" seem out of all proportion to the case at hand.

It's getting to be a race to break into print, with pictures the springboard behind which the boys and girls are lining up in single file and down which they run to take off to see whom can make the biggest splash. There are two institutions which can put a quietus on this free-for-all which has reached such exaggerated dimensions—the Catholic Church, which instituted the campaign, and the press. It's a long leap, a deplorable leap, from the well considered Cincinnati conference on the subject, held by a committee of bishops, to the matter which is now breaking into print despite the bishopric round table only took place last month.

There can be no doubt that the picture producers have been guilty of errors but they are taking definite steps to correct those errors and have so pledged themselves. If those closest to the situation from outside the business committee of bishops, are satisfied with the producing companies' sincerity as to making correction, and realize that proof will be invested or lacking in those pictures scheduled for fall release, it casts a doubt upon the true purpose of those who continue to broadcast anti-film statements almost promiscuously. The committee of bishops said their say direct to picture men and have said no more. Those who are trying, with no little success, to bathe in the reflection of that meeting must remain in poor light with anyone giving the subject a modicum of reflection.

It is unfair for Cardinal Dougherty, of Philadelphia, to have commanded an outright boycott of all pictures by his diocese just before taking a boat; it is unfair for Archbishop Curley to have made his statement just before taking a boat, and it is unfair for Dr. S. Parkes Cadman to deplore the screen also just before taking a boat. They hit and run.

There is no condoning Cardinal Dougherty's action in Philadelphia. It was and is an unjust and extreme measure. Such an edict as such an affront and overt act as if some studio were to deliberately rush into production and release an indecent picture. It is a gesture which is unnecessarily harsh. Stay away from all pictures. Why?

The attitude of the press in this campaign against pictures is difficult to fathom. Have the newspapers of the country a grudge against pictures? The way the press has hooked to the campaign, the space it is giving to practically everyone and anyone with some kind of organization title who cares to berate the screen, makes it seem as if editors are paying off a grudge of years' standing. Yet the best explanation would seem to be that the dailies deem the campaign a hot story and figure it for circulation.

But in playing up the film agitation the papers have also been opening their columns to the professional reformer, other offshoots of the original Catholic intent and publicity grabbers. It's amazing what the desk men are letting get by. Anyone familiar with the picture business can spot the blundering stories immediately. Some of the yarns which delve into block-booking flagrantly reveal that neither the spokesman, the writer, or desk man know what they're talking, writing or reading about.

Maybe the papers believe they are giving the picture business an even break. But that must remain their own conception so long as they hang it on the line for the professional reformer and the publicity hound. It's not difficult to discriminate and normally the press bunch do smell a phoney block away. Nevertheless they seem to look upon the present situation as a set-up and are hungry for anything which pertains to the matter.

Both the Catholic Church dignitaries who are closest to the picture exigency and film men realize the danger of the professional reformers and the limit to which they may go. Neither side wants RANGER, Texas, July 21.—Officers for the coming year were installed Thursday night by the Ranger chapter of Royal Arch Masons at their regular meeting. Elective officers installed were F. O. Buchanan, most excellent high priest; D. L. Jameson, excellent king; J. P. Donley, excellent scribe; R. O. Bundick, treasurer, and B. C. Johnson, secretary.

Appointive officers were A. W. Hubbard, captain of the host; R. H. West, principal sojourner; J. F. Dreinhof, royal arch captain; J. W. Harman, master of first veil; R. E. Harrell, master of second veil; F. M. Moffett, master of third veil; John McCleary, guard; A. F. Hartman, installing officers, and J. F. Dreinhof, marshal.

Officers for Ranger Council of Royal and Select Masters installed Thursday night were: F. O. Buchanan, thrice illustrious master; D. L. Jameson, right illustrious deputy master; J. F. Donley, illustrious principal conductor of the work; R. O. Bundick, treasurer; B. C. Johnson, recorder.

Appointive officers were B. E. Rigby, captain of the guard; J. W. Harman, conductor of council; R. H. West, steward; John McCleary, sentinel; A. F. Hartman, installing officer, and J. F. Dreinhof, marshal.

BARBIE REAL VETERAN George Barbier, in his thirty-five years on stage and screen, has played more than 800 roles.

PRYOR MUCH EXPERIENCED Roger Pryor, Mas West's next leading man in Paramount's "Belle of the Gay Nineties," embarked on the stage as a boy, having a total of 14 years of footlight experience behind him.

This aspect to creep in but the newspapers are making it easy for a third angle where there are only two. There is a certain element which has joined in the current movement whose presence may be inspired only by what it sees to be gained from the effort, and that doesn't necessarily mean clean pictures.

This all makes it the more difficult to understand the position the press has taken for practically all newspapers are wary of the professional reformer and do not like anything for which he stands. Meanwhile, the picture business rates an even break before the public—but there has been no beacon to date.

It cannot be denied that the film producers have been wrong many times and in many ways. But their mistakes have not been malicious. Rather have they been on the side of bad judgment or poor taste and a bad error has been in ignoring for so long a warning which was sounded as far back as 1932. And beyond that the most grievous mistake has been their failure to realize their responsibility to the public.

Whether they choose to think so or not those who make pictures have a responsibility to the public. It amounts to their unwritten license to make pictures. The obligation is to the community and if going back over the record it will be found that the producers have also done much to uphold that trust, although this aspect has become buried in the barrage of violation citations.

People forget very easily but there is no reason to overlook that the picture business gave to the screens of the world "Ben Hur," one of the finest presentations of a religious story ever conceived and worthy, as to sincerity and delicacy of handling, of ranking with the Passion Play of the Oberammergau Players, and, incidentally, witnesses by hundreds of thousands—more people. That was a long time ago, but before and since "Ben Hur" there have been films of national import which, for instance, have helped the east understand the west, make the north realize the situation in the south; historical and educational films of inestimable value in bringing home to a public such subjects more vividly than books and particularly to a people not given to concern themselves with such matters after leaving the schoolroom. Nor has there been anything finer on stage or screen than "Cavalcade," probably the highest tribute ever paid a foreign nation by the amusement business anywhere and a picture of international significance in aiding the world to understand England. Is there any question that the picture business is basically a national asset and, from the commercial angle, can it not be said that the American business owes a debt to American pictures? For the screen has been his silent salesman in many things. In view of these things it is going too far to figuratively brand the picture men as wolves in celulooid clothing and publicly make them the targets of irresponsible accusations. In not taking cognizance of their responsibility the film men have often gone off the track, too often, but they have said that correction will be made and there is plentiful evidence that measures to this end have been inaugurated. Anyone is entitled to a hearing but there is no let-up in the in of condemnation. Granted that severe measures were necessary to make the producers see their mistakes, nevertheless this has now been achieved. What more is to be gained by the hounding until Hollywood has had an opportunity to demonstrate what it is going to do?

Neither has a belligerent attitude by film men a place in the situation. That is only asking for more trouble and plenty of it. Any business can ill afford a fight with the church of any denomination. With the professional reformer, yes, but not the church when the latter's purpose is well founded. The closing of theatres in Philadelphia, and then blaming it on the boycott by that Catholic diocese, would be equally as wrong as Cardinal Dougherty's action in telling his people to abstain from all pictures. Corrective measure to the Cardinal's action must come from the other side of the fence for the film industry will but further jeopardize its position in trying to force the issue. It goes back to the old adage that two wrongs don't make a right.

It is also deplorable that even producers from the legitimate theatre are rushing into print with denunciations of the picture people. One such producer and manager got himself some easy publicity by terming a leading film executive the country's "highest priced nit-wit." Which is bad enough without knowing that this picture official rejected one of the same producer's plays as unfit for the screen. It's no time to be washing dirty linen.

There can be no questioning the right of the Catholic, Jewish or Protestant churches to tell their people to stay away from pictures which they deem objectionable. That is their right.

Wallace Turns 'Golf' Referee

It's a ticklish decision that faces Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, as he ponders here, with horsehoes close to the peg. Just to prove that he's an all-around farm expert, the cabinet member acted as referee in this game of barnyard golf at a Madison, Wis., farm meeting, where he stopped on his mid-west tour.

There can also be no doubting the sincerity of the Catholic Church in the present campaign as judged on the meeting of bishops in Cincinnati. That meeting brought forth rational and constructive suggestions to which picture men agreed and have paid heed. Those bishops stated that they do not desire that the studios only make pictures for the Church, that they remain vehemently opposed to censorship, do not want to tell the picture business how to run that business and are only concerned with obscenity on the screen. They further agreed to give Hollywood time in which to keep its promise during which period they would go ahead with the formation of the Legion of Decency. They also seemed well satisfied with the results of that meeting.

It is regrettable that the campaign has gotten out of the hands of these four men and that they, as bishops, have no authority over some of the other bishops in the matter. There are 103 bishops in this country all ruling their individual diocese. It is, of course, not known whether the Cincinnati committee can or would care to step into the breach but it is to be lamented that other Church dignitaries have not seen fit to allow this committee to handle the campaign.

As one priest put it, and was so quoted in a New York newspaper, "Each Bishop is running his own show." And that now appears the keynote of the entire campaign and the situation the picture business is up against. It's become too much of a show.

The picture business in making correction, has devised the best system for self censorship it has ever had and is entitled to a truce until results can be judged on the screen. An answer to those who think and say block-booking forces 'objectionable' films into the theatres will probably be generally released this week.

The anti-film campaign is being allowed to go to extremes for which there is no excuse and the press can do much to sift the chaff from the wheat.

Fair is fair.

Try a WANT-AD!

To The Citizens of Eastland County I am appealing to you as one friend to another. You are aware that your schools are facing a situation on account of finances. You know that your cities are not able to meet their obligations. We can never make any progress in Eastland until we get these matters adjusted. I am asking every man, woman and child to please go to the Legislature and let all in my power to bring you some relief from the burden of the tax burden off of your shoulders and take some of the tax burden off of the shoulders of the law-abiding body of citizens and to all in my power to order that we may have a better and more equitable distribution of labor under. Let's reduce the cost of government, by abolishing and reducing salaries. Let's help the needy old people. Let's provide work for the unemployed men and women. Let's see that labor as well as capital get its share. If the idle labor could all go to work, the market for everything they grow and the would be over. This is my earnest appeal to you for your July 28th, 1934. E. A. RINGOLD, Candidate for Representative of Eastland County (Political Advertisement)

Annual Picnic at Colony Draws a Crowd Saturday

RANGER, Texas, July 21.—The annual July picnic in the Colony community was an unusual success this year both from an attendance standpoint and from the standpoint of fun for everyone.

The people of the Colony community have been preparing for this event for several days, fixing the barbecue pit, erecting a serving table, clearing ground for the ball park, building the backstop, etc. Everything was in readiness for the gala day when Friday came. Beginning at eight o'clock with a hard ball game which lasted until just at ten o'clock after which the crowd gathered around the speakers stand to hear the political addresses by the candidates for precinct and county offices who had been given a special invitation to come enjoy the picnic and talk in behalf of their races.

As previously arranged a group of the Ranger business men and women gathered at the Chamber of Commerce at eleven-thirty and left promptly at eleven-forty-five in a body, with Fire Chief Murphy and his little red wagon in the lead, for the picnic grounds which were on the Stewart place a few miles from the Colony. The Rangerites each had bread and butter with the barbecue. Colony folks and with some red sauce the bottle, made a meal. As soon after another ball game and played, fun for the spectators. A playoff between the morning noon game followed.
