US Troops Smash To German Anchor Spot

Fall Of Lessay Due; British Brace For Push

By GLADWIN HILL
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sunday, July 16 (AP)
U. S. troops rolling up the German western flank in an unspectacular but relentless advance yesterday smashed into the outskirts of Lessay and the fall of that axis coastal anchor town was expected soon.

German broadcasts said a big drive was imminent in the British-Canadian sector around Caen on the eastern end of the Normandy front, and a field detachment from that area said German demolition crews had begun blowing up smokestacks in the factories of Colombelles, three miles northeast of Caen.

The capture of Lessay on the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula probably would force a German withdrawal of several miles on a broad front.

Headquarters communique No. 80 issued at 11:30 p. m. last night said the north bank of the Ay river just outside Lessay had been reached on a front of several miles.

Front dispatches also reported other Yank forces had penetrated to within two miles of the important road junction of Perlers, and to within 2,000 yards of the bitterly defended mid-Normandy communications center of St. Lo.

Allied airmen despite the "worst weather" since D-Day bombed and strafed enemy troops and artillery positions around St. Lo from a minimum altitude.

One enemy E-boat was set afire and others damaged when intercepted in Seine Bay as they were attempting to make a foray westward from Le Havre.

A German broadcast Saturday night quoted the Nazi high command as saying a big push by General Montgomery from the Caen area was imminent and was being heralded by an intensified artillery barrage.

British and Canadian troops were building up their strength for a show-down battle around the wrecked city of Caen at the eastern end of the Normandy front.

The British in their salient across the Ordon river southwest of Caen again had seized Maltot, four miles below Caen, and also the nearby strategic Hill 112, or Crucifix Hill. Both points had changed hands several times.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery was jockeying for position before again trying to break into open country in this sector 120 miles west of Paris.

The Germans, it was disclosed at headquarters, had 11 or 12 divisions facing the Americans on a 48-mile front, and an overall strength of 20 to 25 divisions in Normandy compared to the seven which were on guard there on D-Day, June 6.

Asks Transfer Of Medical School

AUSTIN, July 15 (AP)—Removal to Austin of the University of Texas medical branch in Galveston and the school of dentistry in Houston was recommended today by University President Homer P. Rainey.

Money Parley Maps Big Fund

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 15 (AP)—The United Nations monetary conference laid before the world tonight plans for the creation of an $8,800,000,000 post war "prosperity" fund.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, announcing to a thrice-delayed press conference that a monetary fund "has been born," described the conference action as "an omen of the international cooperation we may expect when we sit around the peace table."

The fund, designed to stabilize world currencies and promote trade, would call for the United States to invest $2,750,000,000, Great Britain $1,300,000,000 and Russia $1,200,000,000.

Each of the 44 nations represented here must decide by legislative action whether to participate in the fund and a companion project—a $10,000,000,000 world bank for reconstruction and development—to be announced before the conference adjourns next Wednesday.

The conference action came at a day-long session of its monetary fund commission and followed an eleventh hour reply from Russia according to Anglo-American determination to oppose concessions for war-devastated areas.

Larger by $800,000,000 than originally contemplated, the monetary fund as outlined would place China in fourth position with a $550,000,000 quota, France next at $450,000,000, India sixth at $400,000,000 and Canada seventh at $300,000,000.

Officer Given Life Sentence

MARANA FIELD, Ariz., July 15 (AP)—Second Lt. Howard E. Sittsworth, 21-year-old Luke Field flier, must spend the rest of his life imprisoned at hard labor, a court martial board ordered today in convicting him of murder for decapitation of a motorist in an automobile-airplane accident.

Sittsworth, whose home is in Wakefield, Kas., was identified by witnesses during a two-day trial as the pilot of a plane that dipped within six feet of the pavement on U. S. highway 89 June 23 near Wittmann, Ariz., decapitating with a wing tip Earl W. Nepple, Los Angeles hotel man.

At a trial Monday his flying companion, Second Lt. Dean C. Fundingsland, 23, of Grand Forks, N. D., senior officer in the plane, was convicted of violating flying regulations and his dismissal was recommended.

regents, the proposal was part of a long range development program suggested by Dr. Rainey for guidance in post war progress. The suggestions included also an immediate building program for $13,000,000 in improvements at the main university here.

Relocation of the medical and dental branches and authorization for the building program would require a constitutional amendment, Dr. Rainey said.

He emphasized the medical branch proposal, asserting: "In my judgment if the medical branch is left at Galveston it is doomed to mediocrity."

"It is clear that the medical branch has simply not kept pace with the development of the rest of the university and it is continuing to lag far behind."

His complaint was that the medical branch does not operate under an arrangement which gives it adequate clinical materials for teaching purposes.

The recommendation was coincident with a proposal by the Sealy and Smith Foundation of Galveston that it grant $1,500,000 for building and equipping a new general hospital in connection with the medical branch on condition the board of regents allocate $250,000 toward the hospital.

Previously the foundation had proposed that the board of regents match a $1,000,000 grant for a new hospital.

Dr. Rainey also recommended: Several new branches of instruction for the main university. Cooperation in building up a fine system of elementary and secondary education in Texas.

Encouragement in the development of a fine system of junior colleges. Concentration of university energies and resources upon the higher branches of learning, research and graduate studies and professional education.

Big Aviation Gas Plant Is Dedicated

CLEVELAND, July 15 (AP)—A new $10,000,000 100-octane aviation gasoline plant was dedicated by Standard Oil of Ohio here today on the site where, 73 years ago, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., erected the first refinery of his oil empire.

Rolling down the hill past the pillbox to give the wounded man first aid. Then he took five grenades from him and crawled up to the pillbox.

The first one he threw was tossed right back and he kicked it out of the way before it exploded. Then he took one in each hand, pulled the pins with his teeth, and let go. "Dust came out this time," he said. "I threw the other two in for good luck." Seven of his Japanese were accounted for here.

On another occasion, he stopped to give first aid to a fellow soldier and a Jap bullet creased his head. He took the wounded man's tommygun and sprayed the tree from which he shot came. Three Japs dropped. Another day he got five Japs while on patrol.

Soviets Drive Within 8 Miles Of E. Prussia

Nazis Say New Offense Opened Below Poland

By TOM YARBROUGH
LONDON, July 15 (AP)—The Russians tonight announced sweeping gains on the north central Niemen river front, outflanking the German fortress of Grodno and reaching within eight miles of the Suwalki border of East Prussia, and the German command announced that a tremendous new Soviet offensive had begun in the south of old Poland.

The Russian midnight communique announced successes all down the Baltic-White Russian front, beginning with the capture of Opochka, 24 miles east of the Latvian border. The Russians announced Friday night they had taken the railway station and were fighting in the streets.

Moscow was silent on the southern Polish front. Westward in the big bulge that reaches along the lower Latvian border and deep into eastern Lithuania, the Russians announced extension of their outflanking maneuver against Daugavpils with capture of Onikshy and Pichany, railway towns 60 miles west of Daugavpils.

The Red army moved less than 10 miles from Kaunas, reporting the seizure of the railway junction town of Kataladorys and Alytus, 32 miles south of Kaunas.

In possibly the most significant development of the day announced by Moscow, the communique said Soviet troops had reached the Niemen river line on a 75-mile front north and south of Alytus and had crossed that historic water barrier at many points.

The process of clearing the Pripyat marshes around Pinsk continued, with capture of several towns and railway stations, the Russians said, but there they halted their announcements, saying that "on other sectors of the front there were no essential changes."

E Bond Deficit Is Cut Sharply

With plans to wind up the Fifth War Loan drive in good order next week, the local bond committee chalked off $7,931.25 from the total and looked at the gradually decreasing balance of $33,048 with a great deal more assurance Saturday.

Ted Grobel, chairman, reported the $7,931.25 sales were for Friday and Saturday and pointed out that 50 percent of the amount which was to have been raised, had been met.

"If sales continue as they have this past week, our worries will be over," Grobel stated. Ira Thurman, county bond chairman, reported that $9,000 toward the overall quota has been credited to Howard county by the Burr stores. He estimated overall sales were near $1,900,000.

Texan Killed 39 Japs

TEMPLE, July 15 (AP)—Pfc. Eusebio Garcia, a daring Texan who killed 39 Japs in the Admiralty islands, is back in his home state again—for surgical treatment at McCloskey General hospital.

Garcia, whose wife lives at 417 Prospect El Paso, Tex., was one of 24 veterans of the South Pacific to be returned to the huge army hospital here today.

The Texan, recommended for the Silver Star, said his unit went in on Los Negros Island, three days after it was invaded. He was on a second beachhead on Manus Island. Here he heard the groans of a seriously wounded American soldier some distance away at the bottom of a hill, an area menaced by a Jap pillbox.

He told of "playing dead" and

Guam Bombed By Yank Airmen

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—American warships and planes yesterday shelled and bombed Guam island, former American naval base south of newly-conquered Saipan in the Marianas, the navy reported tonight.

Gun emplacements and the airfield at Orate were hit during the two-way attack. Four Japanese planes were destroyed on the ground, the Pacific fleet headquarters announcement said, adding that our planes ran into "moderate" anti-aircraft fire.

Army, Navy and Marine bombers and fighters also hit Nauru, Truk and other enemy bases in the south Pacific on Thursday, headquarters reported.

Fight Looms For Second On Ticket

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—New contingents marched onto the democratic convention scene today ready for what their leaders said would be a "wide open" battle for the vice presidential nomination before a decision is reached next Friday.

Fresh arrivals included Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan and two of President Roosevelt's administrative assistants—James M. Barnes and Jonathan Daniels—and reservations were made for six cabinet officers tomorrow. But a much-advertised expression of a White House attitude on second place still had not made its appearance.

Texas Units Are Adamant

AUSTIN, July 15 (AP)—Texas' rival delegations to the national democratic convention stubbornly held to their conflicting viewpoints today on the eve of departure for Chicago.

A statement by National Committeeman Myron G. Blalock of Marshall, that he would recommend seating of the regular convention's delegates except those who do not intend to support the party's nominees drew sharp responses from individuals in the two competing delegations.

Said Joe C. Luther of Dallas, delegate-at-large for the pro-Roosevelt faction: "If the pro-Roosevelt faction is seated at the national convention, we shall insist upon a new democratic national committeeman from Texas."

Blalock has not kept faith with the pro-Roosevelt faction. Said E. B. Germany of Dallas, from the other side: "The Texas delegation can't pledge support of the nominees until it knows if the platform planks demanded by the Texas democrats are acceptable to the national convention."

Livorno Under Range Of Allied Artillery Fire

By NOLAND NORGAARD
ROME, July 15 (AP)—Doughboys brought the great port of Livorno (Leghorn) into artillery range from the mountain positions three and one-half miles away today and in a sweep along a 25-mile front occupied all important heights nine miles from the Arno river guarding Florence and Pisa.

It appeared that Livorno, potential base for a grand assault on the Gothic line above Florence and Pisa, could not be held much longer by the battered German fourteenth army, now in full retreat.

Advances were general along the 160-mile front except in the center, where British Eighth army artillery was banging away at the bottleneck Olmo pass, barring the way to Arezzo. This highway center on the road to Florence was in sight of advance elements.

German positions south of the Arno appeared hopeless, and it was possible the enemy's retreat would not halt until he had drawn back as much as 15 miles at some points to the heights northeast of Pisa across the Arno.

Doughboys following the withdrawal moved up the coast to within three and one-half miles of Livorno at one point last night. Americans here overran Pecoli, only nine miles from the Arno, and a gain of another four to five miles would put Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces at the edge of the broad Arno valley only 12 to 13 miles from Pisa. Belvedere, about the same distance away, also fell.

Italian troops on the Adriatic front occupied Cingoli, 22 miles southwest of the port of Ancona, and the village of Strade two miles beyond Cingoli.

REDS VISIT FRENCH FRONT

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—The Brazzaville radio said today three high officers of the Soviet air force, a general and two colonels, had visited liberated territory in France, the first Russian officers to visit the Normandy front.

Supposedly bringing an expression of the president's views, Hannegan went into seclusion on his arrival from Washington. His assistants said he was "not ready to talk."

There still were indications he had with him a letter from President Roosevelt to the convention, which opens Wednesday and is expected to renominate the chief executive for a fourth term Thursday.

Convention delegates expect the letter to voice a preference of Vice President Henry A. Wallace as a running mate but to leave it to them to make the final selection.

While there was no confirmation that the national chairman carried a rough draft of the party platform, resolutions sub-committee members said he might have some suggestions on its content and brevity.

Hannegan aides announced that Senator Tom Connally of Texas, senate foreign relations committee chairman, had agreed to serve as an advisor to the platform sub-committee because of his "long experience and expert knowledge in the field of foreign affairs."

Headquarters for Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia were opened at the Sherman hotel by J. G. Cramer of the Byrd-for-president committee. Wallace headquarters will open there Monday in charge of Harold Young.

Allied Fliers Give Answer In Flaming Rivers Of Oil

By LEONARD MILLMAN
Associated Press War Editor
nense in the Beola petroleum center of Ceram Island in a blazing answer by Allied fliers to an enemy broadcast hinting that Superfortress airmen had been executed for bombing Japan.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today (Sunday) attack planes flying in force from recently captured airbases off New Guinea split open storage tanks in the hills of the Dutch East Indies Island and the streams of oil enveloped "the whole target in flames."

MacArthur's bombers came out victoriously in air battles over Yap and Palau, and joined cruisers and destroyers in bombarding 45,000 Nipponese foot soldiers regrouping for another smash at American lines on the northern New Guinea coast. A spokesman said the intense bombardment had temporarily halted the enemy attempt to break out of a massive trap.

Imperial armies were in retreat on two other battlefronts and American bombers were ranging undisturbed over 800 miles of Japan's broken inner defense line when a radio program hinted at new executions of Yank airmen.

A propaganda broadcast from Singapore told how B29 airmen crashed to their death in the June 15 raid on Japan's steel center and added that others "balled out to meet with the same fate which was meted out to the raiders of Tokyo some two years ago."

In the 1942 raid, eight fliers were believed to have been captured, of which "some" were given commutations, according to an announcement by President Roosevelt a year after the raid.

The Office of War Information first issued a story based on the FCC recording quoting the Singapore radio as saying the captives had been executed, then followed with a lead that the broadcast suggested they might have been executed "or at least were being held for execution."

Brig. Gen. Kenneth B. Wolfe, commanding officer of the 20th Bomber Command, said at his home in Santa Barbara, Calif., said that he doubted if any of the participants of the first superfortress raid on Japan June 15, when four bombers were lost, had been executed. No bombers were lost on a second superfortress raid July 7.

Another airfield was placed at the disposal of U. S. aviators after Sixth army troops overran the Saurar strip in Dutch New Guinea. Its defenders fled into the jungles and swamps.

Remnants of Japanese armies which invaded eastern India four months ago apparently were fleeing back to Burma "after what Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten called "one of the greatest defeats the Japanese army has suffered in its history."

Chungking announced Japanese broke into the streets of besieged Hengyang in southeast China, but were annihilated by the encircled defending garrison.

Germans Warned Underground Is Part Of Allies

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower warned the Germans today that the French forces of the Allied forces and the steps already ready were being taken to bring to justice the nazis who have been illegally executing members of this patriot army.

The FFI, Frenchmen fighting behind the German lines for the liberation of their homeland, are a regularly constituted military force, Eisenhower pointed out, and are entitled to the protection of international law and usage governing combatants.

The Germans have been treating them as "Francs-tireurs," civilian irregulars who may be shot when caught.

In an official statement, Eisenhower said the French fighting interior France constitute a combatant force, commanded and directed by Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, and forming an integral part of the Allied expeditionary force. Their numbers have been estimated as high as 500,000.

They are bearing arms openly and are operating against the Germans in accordance with the rules of war, Eisenhower said, noting that "they are provided with a distinctive emblem and are regarded by General Eisenhower as an army under his command."

Super-Fortress Chief Dubious

By The Associated Press
A Japanese propaganda broadcast from Singapore to American forces in the Southwest Pacific said yesterday (Sat.) that an unestimated number of U.S. airmen from superfortresses which raided Japan had "balled out to meet with the same fate which was meted out to the raiders of Tokyo some two years ago."

In the 1942 raid, eight fliers were believed to have been captured, of which "some" were given commutations, according to an announcement by President Roosevelt a year after the raid.

Romanian Oil Plants Bombed

By NED NORDNESS
LONDON, Sunday, July 16 (AP)
Five oil refineries and a pumping station at Ploesti, Romania, were blasted by 750 U. S. heavy bombers yesterday as the worst flying weather ever encountered over western Europe kept the great Allied air forces in Britain virtually idle until late in the evening.

The weather finally improved sufficiently for Eighth air force fighter-bombers to strike at railway targets in Tours, Orleans, Nevers-Orleans and south of Paris. They claimed three locomotives destroyed and 250 cars destroyed or damaged.

The Normandy-based fighter-bombers of the Ninth air force operated under a 500-foot ceiling as they dropped bombs and strafed German troops and artillery in the St. Lo area. They also bombed a railway yards near Cherisy and Bruex, reporting 23 direct hits.

Indicating a possibility that the Russian air force was joining in a night Allied air offensive, the German radio warned at midnight that enemy planes were over East Prussia as well as western Germany.

In the Ploesti bombing, returning fliers said their bombs raised smoke columns 20,000 feet high and visible 100 miles away.

The group in charge of W. D. Berry was detained at Clearwater, N. M. due to mechanical trouble on the truck and only made Clovis, N. M. Saturday evening. Getting an early start today, they were due to arrive between 1 and 3 p. m., said Dr. W. R. Hardy, district chairman.

Gary Cooper Stars In "The Story Of Dr. Wassell" Featured At The Ritz Theatre Sunday And Monday

AUDIENCE SLANT: (Family) show values assure mass audience appeal, with war from the screen Gary standpoint subordinate to heroics and romance of victims of warfare in a struggle for survival under the guidance of a former country physician now a Navy doctor.

BOX-OFFICE SLANT: Typical DeMille attraction from every angle of spectacle, heroics and romance; seems certain to fare even better in the mass situations than at key city theaters.

Cast: Gary Cooper, Laraine Day, Signe Hasso, Carol Thurston, Dennis O'Keefe, Stanley Ridges, Benny McEvoy, Elliott Reid, Melvin Francis, Joel Allen, Paul Kelly, Oliver Thorndike, James Millikan, Mike Killian, Philip Ahn, Carl Esmond, Barbara Britton, others. Credits: Produced and directed by Cecil B. DeMille. Screenplay by Alan LeMay and Charles Brackett. Based upon the story of Dr. Wassell as related by him and 15 of the wounded sailors involved and also upon the story of James Hinton. Photographers, Victor Miller, William Snyder.

PLOT: Dramatized story of an American country doctor whose research as a medical missionary in China was promising success, in the isolation of a germ, when war broke out and who responded by becoming a Navy doctor, in which capacity his heroism (both as a practitioner of his profession and as a Naval officer) resulted in a rescue for nine seriously wounded American sailors and world-wide fame for his distinguished service in the current war.

COMMENT: Following both his instinct and experience as a showman, Cecil B. DeMille here translates into terms of screen drama the true story of one of the great examples of heroism in the present war. The result is that romance and spectacle, adventure and suspense, comedy and tragedy crowd a screen that glows with color—literally, thanks to exceptionally good Technicolor photography and background. The Story of Dr. Wassell, as related first to the public by President Roosevelt in a fireside chat, remains substantially accurate to accounts authenticated from many sources, including that of the Navy doctor himself and members of the wounded men he rescued from Java.

It is biography, the attraction. Star Gary Cooper; the most decorative Laraine Day (as the love interest); Miss Hasso, the Swedish actress; Dennis O'Keefe, dramatically effective in a very dramatic part; the comedy antics of Benny McEvoy, and the newcomer, Carol Thurston as the Java girl named "Three Martini," all turn in the kind of acting performances that register solidly with picture theatregoers. Advance, or pre-release runs, will serve to develop the style of campaigning best suited to sell patrons of individual theatres at later runs—as well as to demonstrate the drawing power of this attraction; which seems strong and sturdy with the sinews of powerful box-office potential.

'Follow The Leader' Showing At Lyric Sunday, Monday

Starting Sunday at the Lyric theatre, those riotous screen-scraps, the East Side Kids, will be seen in their newest comedy-drama for Monogram, "Follow the Leader." Leo Gorcey, Hunts Hall and Gabriel Dell are once more teamed with their latest recruit, tousle-haired Billy Benedict, in a free-for-all funfest, but with additional thrills in action and suspense thrown in.

Heading the supporting cast are such well regarded names as Jean Marsh, Jack LaRue, Mary Gordon and J. Farrell MacDonaid. There's a bit on the musical side, too, as supplied by Gene Austin and the Sherrill Sisters.

The story opens with Gorcey and Hall, on a short furlough from the army, making a visit to their old neighborhood. They decide to make good use of the time by pledging their aid in freeing one of their young cronies from a theft charge, of which they believe he is innocent. The charge involves a series of warehouse robberies. Gorcey obtains permission to pose as a dishonorably discharged soldier to further investigate, and eventually enlists the aid of the police, the F. B. I. and the entire East Side Kids gang to clear up the situation.

"Follow the Leader" was produced by Sam Katzman and Jack Dietz, and was directed by William Beaudine. Wm. X. Crowley and Beryl Secks wrote the screenplay from an original by Ande Lamb.

'Hers To Hold' With Deanna Durbin Shows At State

Deanna Durbin's experience is unique because it was after playing her first roles that she decided acting was "easy."

Deanna's roles have always been written to fit her personality and her age at the time. She says it was largely a matter of "being herself," and feels that in her case the device was intelligently used to enable her to grow up realistically and logically throughout the course of various pictures.

Work Is Simple
On a broader scale, Deanna believes that acting is easy for any youngster. Regardless of the manner in which a juvenile role is handled, it's "be yourself." The general audience will accept any "kid" role, she asserts, because "after all, he or she is just a child," even though the performance may have its shortcomings.

Now, with her portrayal in "Hers To Hold," Deanna arrives at the point where she is re-adjusting her opinion. In the new picture she is co-starred with Joseph Cotten. The romantic drama comes Sunday to the State theatre and Deanna's role is far the most serious one she has ever attempted.

"From now on, it won't be so 'easy,'" she says. "Adult roles are not tailor-made for anybody. You are not 'yourself' unless you want a short career, playing the same role until the public tires of it.

Deanna frankly admits that, although essentially she played "her-self" as a child, she also adopted many "tricks" of acting which must now be forgotten.

Tricks Abandoned
"I have to remind myself time and again that I'm playing a 'grown-up' role and there can be no 'tricks,'" she says. "But 'adult' roles are more fun as well as more work, because they offer a "challenge."

Frank Ryan directed "Hers To Hold." Other prominent players in the cast are Charles Winninger, Evelyn Ankers, Gus Schilling, Nella Walker and Ludwig Stossel.

"Are These Our Parents" Shows At Queen Theatre

(Monogram)
Producer: Jeffrey Bernard. Director: William Nigh. Players: Helen Vinson, Lyle Talbot, Noel Neill, Richard Byron, Addison Richards, Ivan Lebedeff, Robin Raymond, Emma Dunn, Jean Carlin, Jimmy Strand.
Lrama—This story pins the blame for child delinquency directly on the parents. It deals with parents of a boy and a girl, too busy with their grownup play to pay attention to the kids. The girl, although attracted by the youth, vies for the affections of a rascally musician with whom her mother had been going out. He is murdered and the girl and boy are suspected, but exonerated after an entertainer confesses the murder. The parents, sobered by the affair, are eager to make amends.

Little Precinct Parley Interest

Presiding officers for each of the 15 precincts in Howard county have been appointed and other preparations are being completed for the first democratic primary to be held next Saturday.

Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m., said L. S. Patterson, county democratic executive committee chairman.

Although considerable interest was being manifested in precinct conventions over the state because of the recent rift between those favoring and those opposing delegates instructed for a fourth term, there was little indication of a renewal of the precinct level battle here. Patterson knew of no precinct convention schedules, although Saturday is the day for them. Howard county democrats instructed their delegates for President Roosevelt in the spring.

With political rallies a thing of past pre-war days and traveling cur to a minimum because of gasoline and tire shortages, campaigning by the county's candidates is comparatively mild.

The ballot lists 35 candidates for state offices and 35 for district, county and precinct offices.

Monday will be the last date for filing notice of transfer from one county to another or one precinct to another. Inter-county transfers may be filed in the office of county tax assessor-collector in cases where voters have lived in the county as long as six months.

Tuesday will be the last day for citizens to cast absentee ballots. A total of 102 ballots had been cast Saturday in the office of Lee Porter, county clerk, and only a few more absentee ballots have been issued and not yet returned. Absentee ballots from soldiers will be accepted until 7 p. m. election night.

The precinct chairmen will obtain election supplies, which will be available Friday afternoon in the county clerk's office, Patterson said.

"The precinct chairmen, who will serve as presiding officers at election boxes, are: Precinct 1, Big Spring, G. C. Broughton; precinct 2, Big Spring, W. L. McCollister; precinct 3, Big Spring, George White; precinct 4, Big Spring, S. P. Jones; precinct 5, Vincent, Willis Winters; precinct 6, Gay Hill, C. B. Lawrence; precinct 7, Big Spring, H. H. Wise; precinct 8, Big Spring, L. R. Mundt; precinct 9, Coahoma, Leroy Echols; precinct 10, Forsan, Mrs. H. H. Hilliard; precinct 11, Center Point, E. L. Bynum; precinct 12, Moore, A. K. Merrick; precinct 13, Knott, Earl Castle; precinct 14, Morris, Lloyd Brannon; precinct 15, Soash, R. N. Adams.

A total of 5,648 persons paid poll taxes in Howard county for 1944 and, in addition, 1,153 exemptions were issued.

Scouts Return With Laurels

A filled tooth and several scratches and bruises were major casualties reported by H. D. Norris, local scout executive who returned Saturday from Philmont Scout Ranch in northern New Mexico with a group of "fun weary" Boy Scouts and leaders.

The party which included 75 scouts and 18 leaders began arriving Saturday noon and with them came new honors for the Big Spring district. A camping provisional group headed by Hayes Stripling won second place award for camping, and troop No. 1 under the direction of Elra Phillips and J. R. Manion copped the camp baseball title. At a mass court of honor held Thursday night, troop No. 2 from Big Spring was recognized for the most advancements.

Other towns represented were Snyder, Colorado City, Roscoe, Rotan, Stanton, Loraine and Sweetwater.

Norris reported that scouts were "wrecked" out of one day's horseback ride by wranglers at Philmont who went on a strike but difficulties were straightened out.

Leaders accompanying the group were particularly enthused over mountain trout in a good stream near the main camp site.

Whooping Cough Case Load To 21

Twenty-one cases of whooping cough have been reported by local doctors to the Big Spring Howard county health unit, Ann Fisher, county health nurse, reported Saturday.

A large number of these cases were reported just recently and health officials are urging parents to see that infants get immunization against the disease.

Four cases of gonorrhea and two of syphilis were reported by doctors, but despite rumors that venereal diseases are more prevalent in Big Spring, reports from military authorities at the Big Spring Bombardier School and statements by city and county officials show the diseases are on a decrease compared to other months.

Sad Picture; Woman Cries For 'Medicine'

By HELEN WILSON

Beads of perspiration stood out on her ruddy neck which pulsed from hysterical moanings as the little old woman walked the cell like a caged animal.

Her face was scarlet, and spasmodically she wiped a magazine page, which she was using for a handkerchief across her inked forehead.

Presently she began screaming again as a policeman stepped into the cell to adjust the windows in order that she could get more air.

"I want my medicine," she wailed and her hoarse voice trailed off into nothingness.

"Come 'ere, Mister," she shouted. "I 'ast you, were it any reason to take a body off the bus just cause I wanted a drink of water? I want my medicine."

She shook the bars violently, crying that her "medicine" would straighten her out in an hour. The officer shook his head and walked away: "Dope head," he muttered ruefully.

HELD PRISONER

The Mayans smoked pipes about 2,000 years ago.

CAR-TRUCK COLLISION

A U S postal truck driven by Terence Hamm and a car driven by Dr. R. B. G. Cowper figured in a collision which occurred at the corner of 8th and Gregg street Saturday at noon. Neither of the drivers were hurt but the automobile driven by Dr. Cowper, who was on an emergency call, was badly damaged.

Interpreting The War News— NAZI BROADCASTS SOUND SOMBER NOTE REFLECTING LOWER MORALE

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst
Monitored German broadcasts were sounding a somber note at the mid-July weekend that could be more significant of an impending crisis in the war in Europe than even reports from its roaring triple battle fronts, gloomy as they seemed for Nazi authors of the conflict.

Whether voiced by authorized military commentators from Berlin in realistic appraisal of the unfavorable trends of the war, or emitted in hysterical outgivings by Nazi propaganda dispensers calling for a "maelstrom of destruction" and indiscriminate blood-letting, they had this in common: there was a foreboding note of realization of impending doom to be read into them. Yet to what extent they also reflect a rising tide of public despair in Germany as the walls of Hitler's fortress Europe crumble under Russian-Allied pressure can only be conjectured.

There is no warrant yet to believe that the German army has lost its will or ability to fight on. The toll of unwounded prisoners taken by Russians and Allies alike runs high; but if any substantial number have surrendered voluntarily while still there was chance of escape it has not appeared in official or unofficial reports from the battle theaters.

Nevertheless it can never be forgotten that German collapse in the first world war began at home, not at the front. And it is from the home front that the air waves now are carrying dark-hued pictures of the situation that hint at wavering public morale that only the rigid repression of Nazi police measures may be holding in check.

Perhaps nowhere in the nation do people gauge the catch in a lake by inches as here. Nevertheless, the 18 inches running into Powell creek means several million gallons of water for us, and more important still means extension of the respite of our overtaxed water wells.

Ann Fisher, nurse for the city-county health unit, wisely advises pre-school check-ups for children. However, it cannot be stressed too much to start now with those checks and don't wait until two days before school. Doctors already are rushed to death.

El Paso Marine Has Part In Jap Capture
By SERGEANT JACK VINCENT
MARINE COMBAT CORRESPONDENT
SAIPAN, Marianas Islands (Delayed) (AP)—A young marine from El Paso, Texas, played a leading role today in capturing 31 Japanese prisoners during the battle of Saipan.

He was Marine Private First Class Ariel Hernandez, of 411 South Ochoa Street, El Paso, a member of a marine engineering unit which was used for front line combat duty.

Hernandez, who speaks Japanese, crawled to the mouth of a large cave on Magicienne Bay while other marines covered his advance with rifle and carbine fire. Once there, Hernandez called on the Japs to surrender.

Thirty-one forlorn-looking Japs came out with their hands in the air. The El Paso marine refused to take any credit for the capture. He said: "They were scared."

good wife, Eleanor, who said: "It's news to me."

This week about 50 soldiers under command of Lt. J. P. Williams will move in for an intensive 30-day salvage drive in Howard county. They have 54 trucks and go out and get the scrap. They'll come up with over 150 tons in that time or we miss a guess. . . . and it will be a help to Uncle Sam's war effort.

The train was stopped at Bangs due to the derailment of another train here. After a wait of seven hours, the Russian sailors were on their way again.

Of the group, 11 are officers and only one speaks English.

El Paso Marine Has Part In Jap Capture
By SERGEANT JACK VINCENT
MARINE COMBAT CORRESPONDENT
SAIPAN, Marianas Islands (Delayed) (AP)—A young marine from El Paso, Texas, played a leading role today in capturing 31 Japanese prisoners during the battle of Saipan.

He was Marine Private First Class Ariel Hernandez, of 411 South Ochoa Street, El Paso, a member of a marine engineering unit which was used for front line combat duty.

Hernandez, who speaks Japanese, crawled to the mouth of a large cave on Magicienne Bay while other marines covered his advance with rifle and carbine fire. Once there, Hernandez called on the Japs to surrender.

Thirty-one forlorn-looking Japs came out with their hands in the air. The El Paso marine refused to take any credit for the capture. He said: "They were scared."

Daniels Calls For "Clear" Platform

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—Joseph Daniels, who as secretary of navy in World War I was President Roosevelt's boss, today called for a "crystal clear" democratic platform that will condemn isolationism and "straddlers" and cause "all lovers of peace to rejoice."

Arriving in Chicago as a member of the convention resolutions committee, the 52-year-old North Carolina newspaper publisher, one of the party's elder statesmen, declared in an interview:

"The platform the democrats will adopt will ring no crystal clarity for winning the peace after victory that no wayfaring man can mistake its meaning. The declaration will be anathema to the isolationists and straddlers and will be the sure promise of the day envisioned centuries ago by the Prince of Peace."

B. F. Vance, state agriculture representative and war board chairman in Texas for the United States Department of Agriculture, said some spoliage is possible unless additional freight cars are available to move the South Texas crop.

Vance stated that he had been assured by C. D. Walker, AAA director for the southern region, that the War Food Administration, working with the Office of Defense Transportation, would make every effort to get needed cars.

Railway sleeping cars were introduced in America by Andrew Carnegie.

Big Car Demand For Grain Movement
COLLEGE STATION, July 15 (AP)—Two hundred and fifty to 300 cars a day are needed to move 5,000,000 bushels of grain sorghum which remain to be harvested in the Corpus Christi-Sinton area in South Texas, a government crop specialist said here today.

B. F. Vance, state agriculture representative and war board chairman in Texas for the United States Department of Agriculture, said some spoliage is possible unless additional freight cars are available to move the South Texas crop.

Vance stated that he had been assured by C. D. Walker, AAA director for the southern region, that the War Food Administration, working with the Office of Defense Transportation, would make every effort to get needed cars.

For Sailor And Wife
PASADENA, Calif., July 15 (AP)—A letter from crooner Frank Sinatra with a word of encouragement—bolstered by an enclosed $100 check—was received today by J. T. Ross, 20-year-old honorably discharged sailor, and his bride, Rosemary, 22.

Ross, who holds a presidential citation for participation in 10 Pacific battles, was married last Saturday but on Thursday he and his bride were arrested on a shoplifting charge.

They pleaded guilty to the charge of taking $32.50 worth of women's clothing from two stores, explaining that they were without funds and Mrs. Ross wanted something decent to wear for a new job she had obtained.

Police Judge Harry M. Hunt suspended a 30-day jail sentence. Mrs. Ross told a reporter the money from Sinatra would be banked to pay for the birth of their first baby. If a boy, she said it would be named Frank Sinatra Ross.

Tropical Storm Nears No. Carolina Capes
MIAMI, Fla., July 15 (AP)—The weather bureau warned that a tropical storm in the Atlantic appeared to be increasing in intensity and apparently will pass near the North Carolina capes Sunday afternoon.

Small craft on the North Carolina coast should remain in port and other preliminary precautions should be taken. Winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour—near the hurricane velocity of 75 miles an hour—were reported.

MOORE - MORIT A POOL GAP IS CLOSED BY 2 HAWLEY WELLS

Closing of the gap between the Moore pool southwest of Big Spring and the Morita pool directly west was an accomplished fact this week with tests on the John B. Hawley, Jr., No. 1 Allison and the John B. Hawley, Jr., No. 1 Guitart estate.

The Allison test had a daily pumping potential of 30 barrels of 29 gravity oil with a 390-1 gas-oil ratio. It topped pay at 3,090 feet and shut to bottom at 3,134 with 780 quarts in two shots. Location is 2,316 feet from the south and 1,654 feet from the east line of section 6-33-1s, T&P, five and a half miles west and a mile and a half south of Big Spring. One mile to the north in section 2, B&C survey, the Hawley No. 1 Guitart was completed for 31 barrels. This is a mile and a half southeast of the Hawley No. 1 J. W. Cook in section 23-34-1, T&P, which opened the Morita pool as a small producer.

In the Moore area the Hawley No. 2 Thompson, section 14-34-1s, T&P, last of the drilling wells which John B. Hawley, Jr., has had underway in the area, was shot Friday with 510 quarts from 3,278-94. The nearby Hawley No. 1 J. O. Rosser, a producer, was being cleaned out. Hawley No. 4 H. D. Cowden, a deepening job in section 19-33-1s, T&P, acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Northern Ordinance No. 1 Spalding, deep wildcat in the Knott area, section 7-33-2n, T&P, was below 4,630 feet in shell. The J. C. Karcher, et al of Dallas No. 1 J. C. Caldwell, northern Howard wildcat 32-32-3n, T&P, was shut down awaiting new equipment. In south central Borden county Northern Ordinance No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, section 31-32-4n, T&P, was at 7,676 feet in black shale.

Cosden No. 1 Foster, section 43-20-1n, T&P, extreme eastern Howard wildcat, was below 570 feet. North of the Latan-East Howard area, the wildcat Hunt Oil No. 1 A. L. Wasson, section 18-29-1n, T&P, was reported below 500 feet.

Skelly's location for its No. 1 W. L. Wilson was given as 2,006 feet from the north and 1,985 feet from the west line of section 16-27, H&TC, northern Howard county. It is projected for 9,000 feet.

Magnolia No. 22 Mary Foster, a scheduled 9,000-foot wildcat in western Mitchell county, was waiting for cement to set around surface string at 409 feet. Location is 2,008 feet from the north and 2,008 feet from the west line of section 17-29, W&NW.

Phillips was due to move in soon on its No. 1 McDowell, section 21-34-4s, T&P, Glasscock county, a section south of the John L. Moore No. 1 L. S. McDowell which had promising shows as an Ellenburger test 10 years ago.

They Wondered Why—

The Husky Young Man Was A Civilian

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—It was the last bus home, the 1 a. m. bus.
The tall young man in the brown suit stared out the window. He always did that. I had seen him other times day and night, and he always did what he was doing now.
I had often wondered about him. He was tall, husky and he was a civilian. I wondered why. I guess everyone nowadays wonders about that when he sees a strong young man not in uniform.

I wondered about the expression on his face, too. I never could make up my mind about that look on his face. It was an innocent expression. It was an expression of a man forever just emerging from a deep sleep.

There were two drunks on the bus. They sang and tried to push each other onto the floor. A policeman sitting across from the drunks didn't like them or their antics.

The young man, staring out into the darkness paid no attention. A soldier and his wife tried to kiss each other quietly. The drunks said something about "lovey-dovey." The soldier and his wife ignored them and went on kissing.

The bus stopped and the wife kissed her soldier-husband quickly. "See you again," he said and squeezed her hand, which bore a shiny wedding ring. She left the bus. I guess she lived nearby and her husband was going back to camp.

The drunks started singing louder than ever but the policeman told them to keep quiet. The soldier peered through the bus window after his wife. There was a girl sitting in front of the soldier reading a magazine.

Suddenly the tall young man got up and went over and sat down beside the girl. He had a paper bag in his hand. He rooted in the bag and brought out a picture in a frame.

He turned shyly to the girl and showed her the picture. She looked at the picture and then at him. She looked at him steadily, in a searching way.

But the young man turned and handed the picture to the soldier behind him. It was a picture of the tall young man himself in soldier uniform.

"Yes?" the soldier said, holding the picture and waiting for the young man to say something.

"That's me in the picture," the tall young man said with a smile that was like a child's proud smile. "That's me when I was a bombarrier." the soldier said. "Yes."

"Yes," the soldier said. "Yes." He looked at the young man.

The smile faded from the young man's face as if night was setting in upon him. He put the picture back into the paper bag and got up and went over to his own seat and stared out into the darkness again.

Cotton Continues Its Steady Upward Trend

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Cotton futures finished 5 to 20 cents a bale higher today after moving unevenly and at one time showing losses of as much as 35 cents a bale.

Weekend liquidations weighed on prices most of the short session but, toward the close, buyers became more active. Early selling had been based on disappointment over June cotton consumption figures. Buying was mostly weekend covering.

Futures closed 5 to 20 cents a bale higher.

Colorado Seeks Water Storage

COLORADO CITY, July 15 — Preliminary plans for the building of sufficient ground storage tanks to relieve the threatened water shortage in Colorado City were discussed this week at a meeting of the city council. Critical for the first time in a generation, the water shortage became apparent a month ago. City officials blame increased use of water by citizens raising gardens and continued dry weather. The city is supplied by deep wells and has in the past had an abundance of water.

Residents have been requested by the mayor, J. A. Sadler, to conserve the supply as much as possible and are limited in watering yards and gardens for an hour and a half period in the late afternoon. The municipal swimming pool, supplied by its own wells, has not been affected by the shortage.

New storage tanks, the council went on record as saying, will greatly relieve the present low pressure.

Stocks Hold On After Week Of Vacillation

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—Stocks just about held their own in today's brief market after a week of indeterminate shuffling which put many favorites in the new high division and lowered quotations for numerous leaders. The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 56.3 and on the week was down only .1 of a point. Transfers of 420,640 shares compared with 855,360 last Saturday.

Today's stocks touching best levels for the year or longer with gains of fractions to a point or so included Morris & Essex, Baldwin, General Outdoor Advertising, Fjardo Sugar, Consolidated Leundries (on an increased dividend) and Lehigh Valley Coal preferred.

Top-Flight Stars To Participate In $10,000 Texas Victory Open

DALLAS, July 15 (AP)—Texas' richest golf tournament—a $10,000 victory open—will be held here September 7-10 under sponsorship of the Lakewood country club and personally underwritten by A. F. Simons, Dallas linksmen.

It will be a war bond tournament and benefits derived from donations, ticket sales, programs advertising and other sources will be used in constructing a nine-hole golf course at the Ashburn General hospital for wounded veterans at McKinney.

War bond prizes will be bought from receipts of the tournament.

Simons, general chairman of the tournament, said today he already had the assurance that Harold (Jug) McSpaden, the year's leading money winner; Byron Nelson, runner-up in prize winnings; Sammy Byrd, Harry Cooper, Ed Dudley, Ellsworth Vines, Ky Laffoon, Johnny Revolta, Tony Penna, Hermon Barron, Jimmy Hines and Denny Shute of the professional brigade would participate.

It will be a 72-hole affair with the exact apportionment of prize money—all in bonds—to be fixed by the Professional Golfers association.

Under the contract entered into by Simons and the PGA, the golfers' organization has agreed to sanction no conflicting events on or near the dates specified and to exert its influence to assure participation by as many leading professionals as possible.

Simons negotiated the contract with PGA tournament manager Fred Corcoran during the recent Chicago national victory open and while there personally contacted many of the star performers.

In addition to those who already have signified their intentions of coming here for the tournament, Simons also hopes for many stars now in the service including Lieut. Ben Hogan, Lieut. Lawson Little, First Mate Sammy Sneed and Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison.

The program for the tournament calls for 18 holes each of the four days in order that, should bad weather force postponement of one day's play, it would be possible to double up with 36 holes the following day and still complete the event in the scheduled period.

Tony Freitas Winning For Ellington Field

HOUSTON, July 15 (AP)—To the rugged life of an aviation mechanic on one of the nation's busiest flying lines, Cpl. Tony Freitas, former professional baseball pitcher, adds the job of helping win games for the Ellington Field Flyers, current pacesetters in the South Coast Semipro Baseball league.

After work hours, Freitas spends much of his time on the mound for the Ellington Flyers, where until last Sunday his tireless outpouring pitched had prevented an earned run in 53 consecutive innings with South Coast league opponents.

Pitching achievements are not new to Freitas, who has seen action in the American and National leagues, the American Association and the Pacific Coast league.

Officer Softball Team Has Busy Schedule

Officers of the Big Spring Bombarrier school will play the cadets of class 44-10 Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. under the lights at the city park to touch off an active schedule.

They follow up Thursday by going to Carlsbad, N. M., to contest the officers softball team. On July 28th a return match will be played here by Carlsbad, and on Aug. 5 Corsicana officers come here for a return engagement. Big Spring is ticketed to go to Monroe, La., on Aug. 12 and possibly other games will be booked.

Last Wednesday at Corsicana, Big Spring triumphed 6-4 with Lt. Dick Bradbeer tossing five hit ball while his mates collected eight. Big Spring played slightly steadier ball at field, making four miscues against seven errors for Corsicana. Corsicana had a fat third inning and Big Spring tied it with a two run rally in the sixth and then won with a pair in the ninth.

CHICAGO, July 15 (AP)—John Marsch, Chicago contractor, drove convincingly toward the 1944 futurity championship today when his sleek brown colt, Free For All, cake-walked to victory in the $61,425 Arlington Futurity.

The two-year-old son of Questionnaire, ably ridden by jockey Otto Grohs, scored an amazingly easy two and a half lengths triumph over Sir Bim, owned by Don Ameche of radio and screen fame, with Spartan Noble, entry of William Heils of New Orleans, third. Errard, running as Free For All's stablemate, finished fourth, with the eastern challenger, Flood Town, fifth. Darien was sixth and last.

Free For All paid $3.20 to win and $2.20 to place. Sir Bim paid $3.60 to place. There was no show wagering.

Mighty Mire Back On Yale Coaching Job

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 15 (AP)—Albie Booth, Yale's mighty mite who shot into the nation's headlines over a decade ago as an athletic hero, today joined the Blue's football coaching staff. He'll assist Howie Odell and direct the junior varsity squad.

College football coaching won't be exactly new to the 36-year-old Booth, but 10 years have elapsed since he last had a hand in it. During the 1932 season Albie aided Dr. Mal Stevens here and in 1934, when Stevens shifted to N. Y. U., Booth went along as his backfield tutor, and remained for only one campaign.

the Big Spring Bombarrier school Saturday stretched their winning streak to three games with a 6-4 victory over the Poyote AAF baseball team.

Stewart limited Poyote to five blows, including a fifth inning homer by Ward, which scored one man aboard.

The Bombers and Poyote meet again at 3 p. m. today at the West 5th and San Antonio street diamond.

The Bombers went to work early, gathering a pair of runs in the first. Myers sewed it up with his circuit crash in the third and Millard completed the conquest with his homer in the eighth.

Ramsey for the Bombers and Cargile for Poyote each gathered doubles to spark the hitting parade.

Stewart whiffed six Poyote batters and passed only two while Moran and Hogan, who took over in the fifth for Poyote, struck out seven Bombers. They walked five between them.

Poyote recently copped fourth place in the semi-pro baseball tournament at El Paso where some of the leading teams of the southwest participated. The win Saturday gave Big Spring eight for the season against six losses.

Browns Lose Third In Indian Series

CLEVELAND, July 15 (AP)—Supported by the heavy bats of Pat Seery, Roy Cullenbine and Ray Mack, rookie pitcher Ed Killeman held the St. Louis Browns in check today as the Cleveland Indians romped in with a 13 to 2 victory, their third in four games played with the American league leaders in the current series.

Seery ramed his ninth homer over the left field wall in the sixth, and added a double and two singles and tallied four runs. Cullenbine got a double and three singles, driving in four runs, and Mack, who plays baseball only in his off-hours— from an aircraft parts plant, blasted a triple and a double.

Every member of the Indians hit safely at least once, with the exception of freshman catcher Norm Schleuter, who got into the credit column by driving in the Tribe's 13th run on a long fly.

Killeman, in trouble only once in the game, yielded only eight scattered hits, all of them singles. Al Hollingsworth started for the Browns and was routed in the midst of a five-run third inning. Sam Zoldak finished for St. Louis, giving up 10 of the Tribe's 15 hits.

basal Permian lime, in West Texas in Mid-Continent Petroleum Corp. No. 1-7 University, northwestern Andrews county wildcat, highlighted developments this week.

The Todd Deep field in north central Crockett county was assured a pipeline outlet. Wildcat locations included two in Upton county and one each in Yoakum, Concho and Pecos counties.

Mid-Continent No. 1-7 University in Andrews county on a 50-minute drillstem test from 8,461 to 8,685 feet recovered 2,700 feet of oil-cut mud, next 1,170 feet of 38.6 gravity, pipeline oil, then 360 feet of oil-cut mud and last 450 feet of sulphur water cut with oil.

It drilled ahead on a contract providing exploration to 10,500 feet unless the Ellenburger is tested higher.

Location is the C SW SE 20-13-U, 1 1/2 miles southwest of the most southeasterly Clear Fork lime production in the Fullerton field. The wildcat failed in the Fullerton pay zone in drilling to 7,500 feet, but being on a quarter section for which Mid-Continent paid a $225,000 cash bonus at a University land auction, amid other high-priced leases, support for deepening was obtained from Gulf, Stanolind, Frankel Bros. and Champlin.

Frankel Bros. No. 1-D University, C NW NE 3-13-U, broadening the southeast sector of the Fullerton field 1 1/3 miles east, flowed 34 barrels of oil hourly after acidizing upper pay with 6,000 gallons in two stages. Bottomed at 6,886 feet, it retreated with 6,000 gallons and was testing.

Woodley Petroleum Co. prepared to drill to around 5,200 feet on the northwest side of the North Cowden field in northern Ector county to explore the Holt pay zone. Its 6-B Holt will be 440 feet out of the southwest corner of the SW NW 18-A-psi.

Stanolind No. 1 Thos. S. Riley estate, prospective discovery in eastern Gaines county, was testing after acidizing the San Andres with 1,500 gallons following plugback from 5,176 to 5,141 feet to shut off bottom-hole water. It is in the C SW NE 69-H-D&W, seven miles southwest of the Cedar Lake (San Andres) field.

Humble No. 1 J. A. Jackson, southeastern Lamb county wildcat C NE NW 119-A-R. M. Thompson, recovered more oil-cut drilling mud on a drillstem test from 5,893 to 5,980 feet and drilled ahead below 6,094 feet in hard brown dolomite.

Pratt-Hewitt Oil Corp. of Corpus Christi applied for permits to drill a test in each corner of labor 8-62-Midland CSL in eastern Cochran county, its No. 1 Winn & Alexander in the southeast corner of the labor to be about 4,000 feet north of San Andres No. 1 Clouser, a discovery well.

Skelly awarded contract to Frank Brahaney of Abilene to drill No. 1 W. S. Hodges, scheduled 7,800-foot wildcat in west central Yoakum county, C NW NW 446-D-John H. Gibson.

Superior of California and Wiggins & Hyde of Dallas filed for a permit to drill another scheduled 11,000-foot wildcat in southern Reagan county four miles south of the Big Lake field. Their No. A-1-B University will be 330 feet out of the southeast corner of section 12-1-U, 4,620 feet north of their No. 1-B University, intended Ellenburger test, which shutdown at 4,335 feet.

Magnolia was rigging up No. 1 American Republics Corp. slated 6,000-foot wildcat in north central Upton county, C NW NW 4-40-S&T&P. E. E. Barrett of McCamey and others spudded No. 1 Grace O'Harrow, proposed 4,500-foot

Views Of Class 43-3—

1st Lt. Herbert Robinson Helps Knock Three Zeros From The Sky

Three Zeros were shot out of the sky by gunners on the B-25 on which 1st Lt. Herbert I. Robinson, Warwick, R. I., is bombardier-navigator on a raid on the Hankow airdrome last July. Operating with the 14th Air Force in China, Lt. Robinson's formation, with an umbrella of P-40's, tore holes in the runways and scattered bombs over the dispersal areas and airport buildings. In the battle with the Zeros, 13 of the defending planes were shot down. All the bombers returned safely, only one carrying a single bullet hole.

Flying Fortress bombardier Lt. Austin Adams, Jr., of Brockton, Mass., was wounded Jan. 25 in action over Italy, after seeing action in both Italy and Africa. He holds the Air Medal with several clusters and the Purple Heart, and has been hospitalized in four different hospitals in Africa and Italy. Last reports indicated he was expected home in April for further hospitalization before returning to active duty.

Holder of the Air Medal with seven clusters, 1st Lt. Clifford W. Breakiron, Pittsburgh, Pa., veteran of the North African and Italian campaigns, has been missing in action over Germany since February 25. Lt. Breakiron was serving with the 15th Air Force as squadron navigator, having received a navigator's rating after his graduation here.

Little is known of Lt. L. W. Adams, Jr., of Tupelo, Miss., other than information indicating that he has seen plenty of action during his eleven months in the Southwest Pacific.

Lt. Max J. Lukaz, Benwood, W. Va., also seemed to be doing all right for himself over in the Italian theater where he is now serving.

Lt. Alexander D. Allen, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lloyd F. Allen of Pittsford, N. Y., was transferred from Libya to Corsica last February, and is blasting the Axis from that area these days.

Modest Lt. Lamond J. Bailey of Pocatello, Idaho, holds the Air Medal with an undisclosed number of clusters for action from a bomber base in England, but refused to divulge other details of battle activities.

First Lt. John H. Terry has flown as bombardier-navigator in a B-25 from bases in Africa, Italy and Sicily, and at last reports was enjoying a well-earned rest leave in Cairo, Egypt.

The Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters have been won by Lt. C. J. Antonio, Two Rivers, Wis., for operational missions from Africa and Italy. Hospitalized after completion of half his required number of missions, Lt. Antonio was expected back in the States in April.

Bombardier-navigator Lt. Edwin V. Smart, Montello, Wis., left the States in April for a combat zone and nothing has been received concerning his action. He had received special training in Washington and Kansas after graduating at San Marcos.

Lt. John G. Welch, Jr., of Flushing, L. I., arrived at his Pacific base during the first part of the year and is attached to headquarters of the 13th Bomber Command. At last reports he was expected to move into the forward combat zone at any time.

Bombardier Oath Works In Reverse

In keeping with the tradition of American bombardiers, Lt. Harry Scarborough of class 43-4 at the Big Spring Bombardier school swore to protect the famed bombsight with his life.

In Scarborough's case, however, this protective business worked the other way around, for the bombsight protected the bombardier's life at the expense of its own.

It all happened on Scarborough's 12th mission over Nazi-held Europe. His 8th Air Force Fortress was dropping its load on the German North Sea port of Emden, and the skies over the target were swarming with German fighter planes who were lobbing deadly aerial rockets into the Fortress formations.

Suddenly, a rocket exploded violently just a few feet from the nose of the plane and one huge fragment, heading straight for Scarborough, crashed through the nose—and was stopped cold by the bombsight. The bombsight was smashed to bits, but Scarborough wasn't even scratched.

"For a moment," said the lucky bombardier, "I thought I saw my name written all over that hunk of shrapnel. Almost shook hands with the old reaper that time."

Lt. Scarborough, who graduated from Big Spring in March of '43, returned to the States recently with the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with several clusters. He is a native of Philadelphia, Pa.

June A Bad Month For Fires In Big Spring

Big Spring had another bad fire record in June, records from Fire Marshal F. W. Bettle indicate.

Although the insured loss is not yet known, insurance on building amounted to $6,100 and $3,000 on contents. There were 21 fires, nine of them in dwellings. Four were caused by defective wiring, one by an electric motor, one from leaking gas on a truck, another from a match tossed into trash, still another from a kerosene stove explosion and one from children playing with matches. Lightning caused two, cigarettes produced six others and two were listed as unknown.

Brighten Up That Dull Tan With Glowing Makeup

MATCHING MAKE-UP
Should be used on face and shoulders.

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Beauty Editor

If your tan is taking on a dull negative hue, colorlight your face with glowing makeup. Whether you are a vibrant brunette or a year-round suntanned blonde, a tan makeup base and a rose-rachel English complexion powder will give a radiant and soft, rosy look to your face.

Older women, too should rely on a warmer, rosier shade of powder. It will give a more youthful look than paler shades and will contrast becomingly with either grey or white hair.

Spread the base very sparingly with lotion or with water-moistened fingers. Fluff the powder on generously and whisk some lotion over your powdered face. Pat dry with a tissue, and fluff on more powder. Brush excess off with cotton.

Be sure to do the same thing for your neck and shoulders, particularly if you are wearing an abbreviated bathing or play suit.

Your makeup base will help prevent rouge from clogging the pores and it will be easier to blend if put on over the base. Always apply rouge before powder.

Nipping Bad Possibilities

Action of Gov. Coke Stevenson in revoking a reprieve granted to Cowboy Henry, because it was learned a considerable sum had been deposited to the account of an attorney interested in the case, merits applause.

It makes no difference whether the money was actually brought into play. Certainly its presence indicates something more than a coincidence. And even if it happened to be merely a coincidence, we believe the governor was correct in taking the course of action he did as a matter of principle.

There was a time in the memory of most adults when money changed hands in Texas and the pardon rate soared. Whether any of it ever got to responsible hands was never officially established. It is to the everlasting shame of Texas, however, that we fell into the situation, but that we permitted it to exist and never did drag it into the open and air the stench.

Certainly, we never want to drift back into any condition like that again, and any step which hedges against any possibility however remote has our sincere commendation.

Know Your Choices

Perhaps it is too early to urge people to vote in the primary Saturday, for those stirred to good intentions now may forget within the week. However, it is not too early to begin to think about the problem for whom you will cast your ballot.

This is a thing which ought not to be entered into blindly or carelessly. In today's Herald you will find a complete primary ballot. If you are unfamiliar with the names for some officers, make it a point to investigate the candidates before Saturday, selecting the one you believe is most competent. If possible, do not go to the polls to be faced with the prospect of pulling a name out of a hat. The choice might be an unfortunate one.

We Can Make It With Your Help

During the past week the city has renewed its appeal for water conservation. In a talk before the Kiwanis club, City Manager B. J. McDaniel gave a clear analysis of the supply situation. In a nutshell it is this: The rate of production can be maintained almost indefinitely at 1,250,000 gallons daily. Beyond that it creates what could be a damaging and dangerous strain on reserves.

We have on the way what promises to be an adequate supply for Big Spring, but it will not be available before late September. With that element of hope before us, we ought to have determination to do what we can to hold on until that time. We have faith that we will make it. Two providential showers have helped, and if we have to have them, we may get more. Meantime, everyone ought to do all he can toward helping meet the emergency.

There is a clear prospect that the home front armies (management and labor) will mobilize and march against each other as soon as the war of liberation is won.—Donald R. Richberg, former NRA chief.

It's all right with us if the weather man decides right now to go crazy with the heat.

Hollywood

DeSylva Is A Success Story, All Right

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Buddy DeSylva is thinking it's about time he wrote another song. Or a musical comedy. But B. G. DeSylva has two more years to serve on a contract as Paramount's executive producer.

He leans back at his big desk and grins: "Maybe I'll have the distinction of being the only executive producer who ever walked out voluntarily. I'm tired." Or a result, town talk now says he's only going to do three pictures a year. At 49, he looks much younger, still seems to have the bounce that waltzed him, in 25 years, from amateur to hit song writer and producer, to film producer, finally to his present post. He's a success story, all right.

"I took this job," he told me, "because I was curious. I wanted to find out if I could do it." He seems to have done it, without becoming big-shot in his attitude. "I couldn't see any point in paying people $3,000 a week and making them do things my way. We talk things over.

Y. Frank Freeman, Paramount's vice-president, has the final o. k. on story properties bought, but gives DeSylva free rein. Almost the first day in his new job, DeSylva had to make a quick decision on "Lady in the Dark" — going $10,000 higher than the screen rights, then a record price. "I was a gamble that will pay off," DeSylva estimates the film will gross six to eight millions. Last year the studio completed, besides "Lady in the Dark," a record number of "colossals," — "Freaky Chman a Creek," "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "The Story of Dr. Wassell," and "The Hitler Gang."

The last-named is DeSylva's pet movie. "It's a sincere war project," he says. "I can name eight or 10 pictures we have as sure hits, but I don't know about this. Joe Sistrunk (producer) and I never take screen credit, but our names go on this — not for credit, but as taking responsibility."

DeSylva works an average of 15 hours a day, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. and comes back several nights a week after dinner. And apart from pictures? "I don't do anything but," he laughs. "That's the trouble. I'm getting tired. I hardly ever see my wife. I'm thinking about writing a song."

If he does, it'll be about his 501st. 50 of which have been smash hits.

Last Throes Of Hitlerism

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Staff Writer

There is not the slightest doubt that the Nazis have used real and imaginary dissensions among Germany's top leaders for propaganda purposes. Everything is grist that comes to Joe Goebbels' mill. Most of these stories never get to the German people; they are put out solely for foreign consumption.

There has been just enough truth in these rumors to whet the public appetite and fertilize the ground for the reception of whatever additional red herrings the Nazis may decide to draw across the consciousness of impressionable allied peoples.

As the going gets tougher for Hitler's gang the number and luridness of these yarns of turmoil in the Third Reich will increase. While their incidence rises, while the probability of their being true increases, we can adopt the attitude of wary waiting, and follow the slogan, "Interesting, If True, But Don't Forget To Keep On Shooting."

Now we are told Hitler has ordered the execution of any general who orders his men to surrender. If so, this is a progressive deterioration from his previous standing order to them to shoot any common soldier who refuses to fight. It is significant that General von Schliebel surrendered himself at Cherbourg, but when asked by his American captors to order his men to surrender, his answer was an emphatic "Nein!" Perhaps von Schliebel was thinking of his family.

We have heard tales that Himmler, the master hangman, has more than half a million elite troops in Germany trained especially for use against the German civilian population when the showdown comes. It would be unlike any well-organized gang not to have an ace in the hole of this sort. They started as a gang shortly after the armistice of 1918, they rose to power in Germany as a gang, they came very near conquering the world as a gang.

The last of their victims may well be the German people themselves, reserved as a sort of sacrifice to lay on the altar of Nazi gangsterism. That is the plain meaning of Himmler's elite troops. They are reserved for the last great infamy—the mass slaughter of their own people when the moment of revolt arrives.

Allied bombers have done a lot of damage to the German landscape, but it may remain for Hitler's private bodyboys to turn Germany into the greatest charnel house in the history of the world.

If Nazidom and the greater part of Germany die in this fashion, it should not for one minute deter us from our determination to disarm that trouble-making country completely and to make it impossible for it ever to rearm again, regardless of who succeeds the Nazis. They are a people who cannot be trusted with firearms. They will always dominate unless they are dominated.

That is a fact in Nature that we can never afford to forget.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Capitol Comment: Newspaper Work More Like Strange Disease

By GEORGE STIMPSON

WASHINGTON (Sp) — Washington has the reputation of being a hand-holding town. Even old couples stroll along Pennsylvania Avenue and F Street holding hands.

The gossip among the neighbors is that Mrs. Roosevelt, the wife of the President, not only doesn't do the White House washing but even has a hired girl to do the ironing.

Washington, to use a Shakespearean quotation, is full of people who are as busy as bees "stiffing the ears of men with false reports."

Glancing through "Who's Who in America" I notice that unemployed newspapermen generally list themselves as "free lance."

The average public official never expresses a thought with one word if there is any possible way to use ten. That may be one reason for the paper shortage.

Every now and then a Washington newspaper correspondent quits his job and becomes "a business representative." Although he calls himself a "Washington business representative," everybody who knows him calls him a lobbyist. He gets big money and at first feels fine about life. At last, poor man, he thinks he is able to have many of the things he has always wanted.

Seldom, however does it work out that way. When the former newspaperman, now lobbyist, comes around the National Press Club and the Capitol Press gallery he finds that being stripped of his newspaper credentials has done something to him. Although he looks, acts and feels the same, the newspaperman eye him askance and treat him coolly, as if something terrible had happened to him. They shun him and no longer confide in him the secrets of their trade. He reminds one of a dog that has been associating with skunks. Somehow, without realizing just what it is, he has lost his social standing.

I have known dozens of good reporters who have done this. Very rarely are they ever happy again until they get back into the newspaper business. It proves that money is not the only essential to happiness. The best lobbyists are those who do that kind of work because they like it. To a successful newspaperman it is generally a snare and a delusion. Of course, there are exceptions. The same thing is often true of newspapermen who take jobs with the government as "public relations men." At first they seem to like the change, the bigger money, and the apparent security, but three times out of five they soon become discontented with it and come back among the newspapermen with their tails between their legs asking whether there are any newspaper jobs open.

Newspaper work is more like a disease than a profession. Certainly it is not the best paid business in the world. It generally means long hours and hard work. It burns up a lot of energy. Yet there is a fascination about it that is hard to explain. Once a person has become thoroughly inoculated as a newspaperman it is hard to adjust himself to other work.

Washington is full of broken-down newspapermen. Many men in the profession are slow to recognize the fact that, generally speaking, actual news gathering, reporting, Leg work, eternal activity, going places and seeing things, are just as essential to a reporter as intelligence, judgment and ability to write. A strong back, a steel constitution and a cast-iron stomach are among the qualifications of a good reporter. I have attended the funerals of a lot of men who have lacked these qualifications. It saddens me when I look around at White House press conferences and in the Capitol Press Galleries and do not see the familiar faces of a few years ago. Nowadays men who have covered Washington for 10 years regard themselves as out-timers. A lot of reporters here think: Franklin D. Roosevelt has always been President and always will be.

Today And Tomorrow Money Parley And Sen. Taft

By WALTER LIPPMANN

It has been impossible for the general public to obtain any idea of what the Bretton Woods conference is about. Though it is concerned with questions which will affect men's lives deeply, the language of monetary policy is understood by very few men in any country. It is a little as if a conference to examine arrangements for buying and selling goods across frontiers, for relating international trade to domestic employment and social welfare were to conduct its proceedings in the Sanskrit language.

In addition to approaching matters of vital importance in a form which is not only unintelligible to most, but riddled with the popular superstitions connected with money, the conference has had to compete for attention with the invasion of Europe and with the Presidential election. Moreover, however wise it may have been to let the experts come together and think without distraction in so pleasant and so remote a place as Bretton Woods, the disadvantage has been that they have been isolated in an ivory tower from the men who have to understand their work if they are to explain it.

We must hope, therefore, that this conference will be regarded as one in a continuing series, and that somehow arrangements will be made to continue the discussions and negotiations through permanent delegations working in some accessible place like Washington or New York.

For the real problems cannot be made clear through a few press conferences, even such well-conducted ones as there have been at Bretton Woods.

That the conclusions reached at Bretton Woods will be tentative is recognized by all. But they will at least begin to focus the issues and to crystallize the discussion which will then run on for a considerable time before the matter is presented to Congress. For the purpose of study and eventual solution, it is infinitely better to have a specific plan, however imperfect, to discuss, than to have everyone advocating his own theories and no one listening to anyone else's.

Such a temperate and open-minded, and in spirit scientific, approach will be all the easier if we clear our minds of the notion that the conference is discussing a raid on the United States Treasury, and that we must rush frantically to stop it.

Senator Taft, whose record in understanding what is going to happen is not distinguished, but just now the burglar alarm. He sees the proposed monetary fund and reconstruction bank as a subtle device by which "our money is, in fact, to be loaned away by a board in which we have only a minority interest."

That is a way of stating the matter but it obscures the real issue. For, as Senator Taft knows and admits, the United States is going to have to loan money abroad. The Republican platform recognizes this necessity. What he argues for are direct American loans to foreign nations in which the United States, as the leader, fixes the terms for each of the borrowers.

When I say that he has obscured the issue, I mean that he is making the unproved and very dubious assumption that the other great financial powers would accept plans of this kind. That may at first sound like a startling thing to say but I believe that this is very nearly the essence of the whole problem, and that until our people understand its tremendous significance, they will be making about unrealities.

To Senator Taft it is probably unthinkable that the creditor should not be in a position to call the tune on the debtors. But in fact this is more nearly the true position of affairs than the American experts have cared to discuss or than foreign governments have wished to say bluntly: For in a world where there is only one great power capable of extending large international credits, the creditor-borrower relationship of normal private affairs does not prevail. The other great financial powers are in a position to have a very great deal to say about the terms on which they will accept credit. That is the fact which we have soberly to comprehend.

Why are they in a position to have a lot to say? Because if the great creditor does not offer terms which fit their internal needs and their sense of national dignity they have an alternative to the system which this country desires. The alternative is government-controlled trading on a bilateral or barter basis.

It is not a good alternative, and the world will be a poorer and more troubled place if it is adopted. But let us have no illusions whatever: the other great financial powers will surely think this poor alternative the lesser of two evils if they cannot get credit to restore general trade except on terms which they regard as dictations of their domestic policy by the United States, and as humiliating.

This may be deplorable. But it is one of the facts of life, and the sooner we face it the better.

Files Bulge With Pathetic Letters

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Some of the saddest of men must be those who years ago in some youthful folly caused themselves to be discharged under a shadow from their nation's armed forces.

Service files bulge with some of the most pathetic letters ever written — pleas that the writers be allowed somehow to clear their names, and perhaps once again serve their country. Here are some extracts from letters sent to the Marine Corps:

"The first is from a man who drew a bad conduct discharge in 1929 after being convicted of theft.

"Since that day I have felt like a convict," he wrote, "and when I see the Marines on parade it makes me feel like there is something gone, especially when a man was proud to wear the uniform of the Marine as I once was and am still proud that I wear it.

"Sir, isn't there some way I can show you that I am worthy of an honorable discharge? Don't you think that I have paid enough for something that I swear I did not know I was doing wrong? Can't you see how I feel? Won't you consider my case and see if you can help me?"

This is from a man who walked out the gate of the Washington Marine barracks in 1924 in civilian clothes, leaving his uniform behind:

"I want to clear my conscience, as that (his desertion) is the only foolish mistake I ever made. I have been a law-abiding citizen, have married and am the father of three children, a boy 11 years and two girls, one nine and the baby two years. . . . Every place I go people ask me was I ever in the service, and I say 'No,' as I have no proof, but if and when the United States does go to war (the letter was written in 1939), I will be willing to die for my country."

A man given a bad conduct discharge whether he could "obtain a discharge with the bad conduct part removed." Sadly he wrote:

"I am now of an age where employers do not care to employ me, and about my only salvation is civil service. It is doubtful if I could claim veteran's preference with a bad conduct discharge, notwithstanding the fact that I paid by far to Canada in 1915 and enlisted in the Canadian infantry and served three years and seven months. . . . I am married and have a daughter. Can furnish proof of exemplary conduct from past employers."

The really sad part is that nothing can be done about any of these cases. If a dishonorable discharge, or a bad conduct or "undesirable" discharge once gets on a man's record there is no possible way under the law that it can be stricken out.

Caught With Their Carburetors Down

BRIGGS, Idaho (AP)—Les Fisher missed gasoline periodically from a drum in which it was stored. So he drained out most of it, diluting the rest with water.

Some time later three cars stalled on the road leading from the ranch, and their youthful occupants were arrested—caught with their carburetors down.

Seeks Bread, Gets Cake

MADISON, Ind. (AP)—Drilling for water on his farm near here Willard Cashman struck a pocket of gas at 160 feet which, he figures, will heat his home, refrigerate his food and cook his meals for years.

But today he started drilling elsewhere for water.

SERVICEMEN'S NEWS DIGEST

(From the files of The Daily Herald July 7-14)

LOCAL: Politics are beginning to warm up with the first primary (July 22) just around the corner. Rev. E. C. Lee resigned as Main Street Church of God pastor. Soash has been restored as a voting box. Jean Porter, starlet whose latest picture is "Bathing Beauty" with Red Skelton, visited her dad, H. C. Porter. Flea hoppers are beginning to attack some cotton, while most of county is in need of another rain despite a pleasant shower early in the week.

The US Employment Service is a busy place with inquiries mounting over the priority referral program which requires all male help to be secured through USES. Addition of new air schedules gives the city 14 daily mail outlets by air, rail, bus and truck. A big county-wide salvage collection by a detachment of 50 soldiers with 12 trucks has been announced for July 18. FDR's announcement he would accept the democratic nomination created no great surprise here.

Coahoma School Votes Teachers Pay Increase

COAHOMA, July 15 — A raise of $5 per month across the board has been voted to teachers by the Coahoma Independent School district.

This brings the starting salary in the system to $1,305 with adjustments based on training, experience and tenure up to $1,440, according to Supt. George Boswell. The salary level is well above the average.

Only four vacancies are to be filled in the faculty, said Boswell, who is looking for a high school English-Spanish teacher and for a commercial teacher, and for elementary teachers in public school music and elementary Spanish.

Plans are to open school on Sept 4, and indications are that the enrollment of around 470 last year will hold good again this season. Contracts have been closed with the R-Bar, Green Valley and Vincent districts to bring children from those districts to Coahoma. Pending is a contract with the Willow Valley district in southern Borden county.

Transportation may grow to be an increasing problem this year, the superintendent believed. Recently an application for new buses was rejected in Washington because replacements could not be made on models later than 1933 and on machines with less than 100,000 miles. Nevertheless, bus breakdowns last year caused 2,500 student day absences and considerable more tardies, said Boswell.

Lt. Jimmy Oppenheim, whose wife, Gertrude Griffin Oppenheim is now a WAC captain, was officially given up for dead. He was missing since 1942 in the Philippine campaign. Don Thomas was reported wounded in Italy. Lt. Bernie L. (Bossy) Scudday, Foran, was reported missing over France. Pvt. C. C. Rumpf, second Big Spring man to receive a Silver Star in this war, visited his wife and baby, whom he had not seen, here.

In case you haven't heard, the National league beat the American league 7-1 for its fourth victory in 12 years of the all-star dream game.

For First Time Post Graduate To Bring Talk

A bombardier, who packed more than his share of adventure into five short months of combat in the European theater, will be the principal speaker at the graduation exercises of class 44-10 to be held Saturday, July 22 at the Big Spring Bombarde school.

He's Lt. Grover E. Myers, Jr., a native of Portsmouth, Va., and he graduated from the Big Spring school with class 43-7 in May of '43. A veteran of only five combat missions against Hitler's Europe, he nevertheless achieved the distinction of having completed one of the longest missions on record—a forty-one day mission.

Taking off from its 15th Air Force base in Italy to blast a Nazi war plant in Steyr, Austria, it took Myers' B-24 just five hours to reach the target. But it took Myers forty-one days to walk back.

Of course, Myers and his shipmates don't go in for forty-one day walks just for the fun of walking. Their long hike back from Austria was strictly for health purposes. They figured they'd be a lot healthier outside of a Nazi prison camp than in one. So when their stubborn Liberator could no longer hold out against enemy gunfire, they bailed out and started the long walk back. Exact details of his journey are not yet available.

Recently returned to the States, Lt. Myers is attending the bombardier instructor's school at Midland. He is wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and the Purple Heart.
