VOTES TAKEN FROM ENTIRE STATE LISTED

Witt Is Second With Hunter But a Few Votes Behind, McDonald Fourth.

By RAYMOND BROOKS AUSTIN, June 30.—As of July 1, a cross-section of Texas political sentiment puts, James V. Allred well out in front in the governor's race, with Tom F. Hunter holding a slight lead over C. C. McDonald for a place in the run-off and Clint Small near them for fourth place.

This sample of July first preferences reflects the attitude of 5070 voters, or about one-half of one per cent of the expected first primary votes July 28.

In each county, voters were polled personally. Care was taken to poll a correct proportion of rural voters in each county.

Table listing vote percentages for candidates: Allred (1627), Hunter (851), McDonald (704), Small (476), Hughes (436), Witt (874), Russell (34).

Bob Ray Sparr Critically Ill

Concern was experienced Saturday by relatives of Bob Ray Sparr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sparr of Eastland, who was taken to the Payne & Lovett hospital Thursday for an appendicitis operation.

There are some set rules for any business to "die young" and among them are: to fail to keep merchandise departments intact; to have a musty indifferent looking conglomerated store; to have soured clerk wait on the customer; to have clerks snap at a customer who takes a little longer to select their needs than the clerk thinks they should; to have an employer strut around the store and butt in on the clerk while waiting on a customer, with suggestions; to be cleaning up stock while customers are in the store; to make a customer wait until they get good and ready before being waited upon; to have clerks fiddle around in a group while customer is waiting for them to get through calling signals; to fail to have a convenient place where customers these hot days can quench their thirst with ice water; to fail to suggest to a customer that you will get the item asked for and didn't have if they were not in a hurry for same—and be darn sure that you get it.

Among other things of importance in holding customers and some folks at home to do their buying is to see that the customer gets every attention while in the store. That is truly the boss' business. Calling down clerks in front of a customer to the height of ill breeding and sounds a death knell to any future business that a customer who had the unfortunate experience may give that firm. When complaints come from customers about the service rendered by a clerk, give a considerate ear and assure the customer that you will remedy it. Don't abuse the clerk in question to the customer, because it may be one of your best salesmen or women, and to do so simply kills off the very thing you should make your customer believe and that is that it expects to render the best service at all times. Don't let your clerks expose petty jealousies among each other. The employer should keep a watchful eye on such and get them together as soon as possible. The minute that it comes to an employer's ear that his clerks are talking shop outside and knocking on their fellow worker, it's a good time to get rid of the knocker. Clerks are either sold on the business and its force or they are against it. They must be made to choose between the two.

When many of these things are taken care of any many others too numerous to mention, the business interests of any community need worry about whether the home sales will trade at home or not—they will. The very fact that home folks are intimately close in contact with the community stores and lend a willing ear to any kind of gossip is a most important reason why employers and clerks alike should hold themselves in check regarding detrimental shop talk. Above all don't knock your competitor. If a business cannot stand on its own footing then the quicker it is out of the way the better.

Not long ago we went into a store in another town to see the employer about a business matter. This store had a stock of merchandise.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

In these days of high pressure business and scientific competition, cities can go ahead by being careful students of economic forces and fundamentals.

One of the greatest insurances against business depression of a city is a diversity of its sources of income; such as farming, manufacturing, jobbing and retail businesses.

A city can take what comes its way without an effort and be a good city sometimes. Occasionally some valuable industry will drop in unasked, but that does not happen often.

But the city with vision, energy and a go-getting spirit is the one that has a consistent growth and creates new wealth and happiness for its constantly growing population.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

It was Mark Twain who said, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it."

Nowadays something is being done about the weather. Weather by wire is a common place happening in most of our larger cities. Thanks to the development of moderately priced air conditioning equipment by manufacturers.

Air conditioning is more than merely cooling the air. Modern air conditioning equipment washes the air, thus removing all particles of dust and pollen; provides the correct temperature and, perhaps more important, regulates the humidity.

Working in an air conditioned room is like standing on the porch after a spring shower and reveling in the freshness and purity of the air. Air in an air conditioned room is more pure than the air supplied by nature.

Air conditioning equipment is now available for every home, store or place of business. One room of a cottage or an entire building can be air conditioned.

It takes little imagination to appreciate the hundred and one ways in which improved efficiency is achieved in both summer and winter months by air conditioning.

Every manufacturer of air conditioning equipment should advertise in the newspaper and inform the people fully as to just what air conditioning a house or place of business means for health, comfort and business.

I note that over in Jugoslavia a duel was recently fought—not with pistols as one of the participants, an Army officer, wished, but at a table, as his civilian opponents who had the choice of weapons demanded. The Army officer vindicated his honor by eating and drinking his opponent under the table. This kind of duel would be very popular in this country if tried. No doubt many duels of this nature could be started everywhere in this country and dueling would become very common.

Heritage Aids Track Stars

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Heritage and training are as essential to success of a track star as they are to development of race horses, Charles Hornbostel, Indiana University Olympic athlete, told the I. U. Alumni Club here. "A track star needs the fine body which only his parents can give him," Hornbostel said. "He also needs training that can be obtained only from an excellent coach," he added in tribute to E. C. Hayes, I. U. mentor. Hayes spoke briefly on his development of Hornbostel and Ivan Fuqua as international track stars.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY When HOWARD JACKSON, young geology professor, comes to the small middle-western town of Marburg, JANE TERRY, the prettiest girl in town, determines to win his heart. Howard is attracted by Jane's friend, AMY LOVE, but Jane schemes to keep them apart. Then one evening Howard calls on Amy and almost immediately they fall in love. Later that night Jane confronts Howard and accuses him of breaking her heart. When he tries to calm her she interprets his words as a declaration of love and announces their engagement. A day later Howard is trying to explain to Amy what happened when Jane sees them together. She flies into a rage. Howard tells Jane he does not and never did want to marry her and that it is Amy he loves. Jane leaves. Amy admits her love for Howard and agrees to marry him. Jane goes to New York and enrolls in a secretarial school. Meanwhile Howard and Amy set the date for their wedding to Jane.

Jane looked at the pencil's point. "Go ahead," she said.

CHAPTER IX "IT'S a great opportunity," said Miss Jardine, "even if it isn't exactly what you want. I'm more flattered than I can say that they've asked me to send someone. In those big organizations there's usually someone right in line to be moved up when a vacancy like this occurs." She looked at Jane thoughtfully, and went on: "Of course, you may not get it. My sending you won't guarantee that. They may have a dozen other girls applying. Then there's the difficulty that you haven't quite finished here." "I've practically finished," Jane reminded her, "and I've done the whole course in a little less than eight months." "Oh, you've worked marvelously. They said there was no use sending anyone who wasn't exceptional. Kandel's is the liveliest real estate firm in the city, even if it isn't the biggest—but you don't even know the real estate vocabulary." "It ought to be easy enough to learn. Miss Jardine's reluctance whetted Jane's desire, as Miss Jardine intended it to do. Now that Jane was eager for the job Miss Jardine became a little serious. "I want to talk to you first. You're young. You're only starting. If you get it, this will be your first job and a first job often sets the trend of one's whole business existence. You must look it over carefully, from every possible angle, and make up your mind whether or not it's the right line for you. Don't be one of these women who simply work for the week's salary and never look beyond the nose. Now, after you're there a while and know the ropes maybe you'll discover that you haven't any flair for real estate. Maybe you won't like it. Maybe you'll be dumb about it, though I don't think that. But if it doesn't suit you, if it doesn't work out so that you like it, and you want to go on with it, you must drop it, cut it off clean and dry and try something else. "Miss Jardine, do you honestly believe I can get this job and do things—in business—like a man?" "I honestly believe that you can and that you will—unless—" "Unless what?" "Unless you get yourself mixed up in some sentimental mess. That's where the average business woman loses out." "What do you mean, exactly?" "I MEAN unless you have a love affair that distracts you from your work and makes you unreliable and trifling, and inefficient. There's no danger of my falling in love, or marrying. I'm all right with that sort of thing."

forever." Miss Jardine smiled. "At your age that statement's a joke. However, it's better than longing for romance and I'll do you the credit of believing that you aren't looking for a job merely as a raft to float you into matrimony. Now you dash along over to the Kandel Building and let me know what happens." She called after Jane. "It'll be a nice Christmas present to yourself to land this job or did you intend to go home for Christmas?" "Whether I land it or not, I'm not going home." Go home! Something of her first rebellion and fury came back to Jane as she thought of that. Whether she got the job or not, if she were starving, if she were dying and could only live by going home, she wouldn't go. She came into the Kandel office with her coat flaming, her eyes defiant, and spoke to the important youth in the reception room so imperiously that he leaped to announce her. And she entered Mr. Ovid Kandel's presence far more like Queen Vashit at her height than an anxious applicant for a plum of a job. Mr. Kandel was unaccustomed to such an approach and it interested him. He asked the usual questions and Jane answered them almost offhand. Yes, she could type. Yes, she could take letters at any speed. Certainly she could write them without dictation given the gist. She could file, she could suddenly she came alive to the situation, grasped the force and intensity of the man before her even as he recognized in her some of his own characteristics. Now she knew she wanted to work for him, that he could command her loyalty and aid and her blind ambition. "All of those things you've asked me," she said, interrupting him, "they're the usual secretary's stuff. Anyone can do them. You certainly require much more than that." "As for instance?" asked Mr. Kandel, still more interested. "You want someone who can handle people whom you don't want to see, but also don't want to antagonize. You want someone to supplement your memory, to save you time and effort and labor, to relieve you of detail. You want— you want another pair of hands and another brain that will be, as far as it's humanly possible, an extension of your own hands and brain."

she concluded triumphantly, with out the least recollection that she had stolen that speech entirely from Miss Jardine. "Well, by gad!" exclaimed Mr. Kandel. "You've got the idea. You're hired." "Oh no, I'm not," said Jane. "I don't know yet what the salary is." "Thirty dollars to start. More in a year if you make good on that hands and brain stuff." "No, that's not enough for me." "But you don't know anything about the real estate business. That woman over at the school told me so. You've got a lot to learn at no expense." "Then you'd better make it worth my while to learn it." Mr. Kandel whistled. "What do you want?" "Forty dollars to start and a $10 raise at the end of a year if I'm worth it." Mr. Kandel settled himself for the pleasure of a dicker, with the double purpose of finding out whether the girl knew how to bargain, and of saving himself a third of the salary he had paid her predecessor. By dickering and by saying Mr. Kandel had largely made his great financial success out of Jane, in his own phrase, set up to him. He was to her no more than Mrs. Berwyn trying to buy for half price the left-overs of the china booth of the annual Marburg Hospital bazaar. At the end of an exhilarating 20 minutes they came to an agreement, somewhat above his intention. Mr. Kandel was to pay $37.50 a week for six months. Then if satisfactory Jane would receive $40 and a $5 raise each six months after that until she had reached a maximum of $60. "And by that time," said Mr. Kandel, "you'll probably own this business and I'll be out on the street panhandling for a cup of coffee. When can you start?" "Now. If you want me." "There's your desk. Hunt up a notebook and pencil and we'll get going." Jane put her coat and hat on the chair nearest the desk, opened by instinct the exact drawer where the notebooks and pencils were concealed, looked at the pencil's point and came over to Mr. Kandel's side. "Go ahead," she said. When they were nearly through a tall young man stuck his head in at the door and said: "We've got the Three-Sixteen matter straightened out."

VOTE FOR THOMAS L. BLANTON For Congressman 17th Congressional District of Texas

This advertisement paid for by friends and supporters of Tom Blanton and run without his knowledge or consent because he remained at his post of duty in Washington looking after the people's interests while his opponents were campaigning against him.

REMAINED AT POST OF DUTY Since reaching Washington last December and until Congress adjourned, Thomas L. Blanton was actively engaged in his official duties, working long hours each day, and giving little or no thought to his approaching campaign for re-election.

speech in the House on April 25, 1934 (Record, page 7792) said: MR. CANNON: "Mr. Chairman, no reference to the personnel of this Congress would be complete without mention of the other of the two brilliant Texans to whom I have just referred. It has been my privilege to serve in various capacities on the floor of this House for 23 years this month. In that time I have observed no Member who has rendered able or more conscientious service than the gentleman from Texas, Judge Blanton. In the legislation which he has supported, in the legislation which he has opposed, and especially in the vast sums of money which he has saved the Federal Treasury, no Member of the House in the last quarter of a century has surpassed the wise and courageous and resourceful gentleman from Texas, Thomas L. Blanton. (Applause.) And speaking in behalf of the people of my State—and expressing, I am certain, the sentiments of those of every other State in the Union—I desire to thank the citizens of the Seventeenth District of Texas for sending Judge Blanton here and keeping him here all these years. His services to the House and to the country have been invaluable." (Applause.)

The Speaker's Rooms, House of Representatives, United States, Washington, D. C., April 15, 1933. Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, House of Representatives. Dear Tom: Congress has been running at a very high rate of speed. I am warned by the House physician that a number of members are overtaxing themselves. I have been watching you and your work. You are overworking. You are rendering a splendid service. I know of no one who works harder than you. For the next few weeks there will not be so many important measures coming up, so I suggest that toward the end of the month you take a rest. I sincerely hope that you will accept this suggestion in the spirit in which it is intended. Very truly yours, Henry T. Rainey, Office of the Majority Leader, House of Representatives, United States, Washington, D. C., June 5, 1934. Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. My Dear Tom: As we approach the close of the session, I do not wish to fail to express my deep appreciation for your kindness and valuable support. In this connection, may I say that during all my long service I have never served with a Member who was more diligent in his effort to render real service to the people, not only of his district but of the entire nation, and who watched appropriations and expenditures more closely than yourself. It will never be known just how much money you have saved to the people by your watchful care, your ability, as well as your close knowledge of parliamentary procedure and governmental affairs. It has enabled you to render a real and a great service. With best wishes, I am, sincerely yours, JO BYRNS, House of Representatives, United States, Committee on Appropriations, Washington, D. C., June 17, 1933. Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, House Office Building. Dear Tom: I am familiar with the splendid record you have made in Congress and as a member of the Appropriations Committee for economy, and I wish to join with our Democratic majority leader, Hon. Jo Byrns; Democratic Chairman Cannon, of the subcommittee; and Hon. John Boylan, of New York, in their commendation of your services. You will recall that just before the Republican administration expired, on March 3, 1933, the District appropriation bill was pending in conference and you refused to sign the conference report because you thought the amount carried in the bill constituted too great a burden upon the taxpayers of the Nation. The night before Congress adjourned you led the fight against this bill and succeeded in defeating the approval of the conference report. Your act in that fight has been vindicated by the President and by the Democratic Congress, who reduced the Budget and this appropriation bill in accord with your contentions, thus saving over $6,000,000 in this bill alone. I am not unmindful of the fact that you and I have never agreed upon prohibition, that you are a pro and I am an anti, but this question should be relegated to second place when it comes in conflict of the crying need of reduction and retrenchment of the enormous expenditures of our Federal Government. I commend you for your many accomplishments and your great energy in the interest of economy. Your friend, JAMES P. BUCHANAN, Chairman Committee on Appropriations. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, United States, Committee on World War Veterans' Legislation, Washington, D. C., June 23, 1933. Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, House Office Building. Dear Tom: When you go home, I want you to tell those ex-service men for me that they will make a serious mistake if they turn against you after all you have done for them, and especially will do themselves an injury if they help to deprive themselves of the benefit of your services in the future. Assuring you of my very kindest regards and best wishes at all times, I remain, Sincerely your friend, J. E. RANKIN, Chairman of Committee. From Postmaster General James A. Farley: Democratic National Committee, Washington, D. C., June 16, 1933. Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, House Office Building. My Dear Congressman: I want you to know that I greatly appreciate the support you gave the administration during the session just closed. I feel certain the people of the country generally realize that more beneficial legislation was passed at this session of Congress than ever before in the Nation's history. For the part you played in those remarkable accomplishments I want you to know that I am personally grateful. With best wishes, I am, sincerely, JAMES A. FARLEY, Chairman. United States House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., May 27, 1933. Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, House of Representatives. My Dear Mr. Blanton: I realize you hardly know me, as my first service in Congress began last December, when I succeeded Judge Crisp as Representative from the Third District of Georgia. I have carefully considered and critically analyzed all proposed legislation and listened attentively to practically every argument and colloquy occurring in the House since my entry into Congress, and it is my candid opinion that your untiring efforts in behalf of economy during this period of our greatest distress deserves grateful recognition by the Nation and the plaudits of our people. May you live long to continue the splendid service which so few are disposed or capable of rendering. Very truly yours, B. T. CASTELLO, Political Advertising.

SENIORITY IN CONGRESS COUNTS MOST John Garner is now vice-president because Uvalde kept him in Congress 30 years; Henry Rainey is now speaker of the House because Illinois kept him in Washington 30 years. Jo Byrns is now Democratic majority leader because Tennessee has kept him in Congress 26 years. Buchanan and Blanton now help to handle all appropriations, and Hutton Sommers controls the Judiciary committee, Sam Rayburn the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee, Fritz Lanham the Public Buildings Committee, and Marvin Jones the Committee on Agriculture, which means much to their districts and Texas, because their districts have kept them in Congress.

Monday, June 12, 1933 HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, Washington, D. C., May 26, 1933. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. My Dear Colleague: As I told you on the floor of the House a few days ago, I am planning to retire from Congress the 1st of next January to accept a judgeship in my own State; but at the time I told you of my contemplated plans it had not occurred to me that it would be but a few days until our active service together shall have ended. Under these circumstances I cannot refrain from expressing to you what is in my mind and heart concerning your services in Congress as a Representative of a great constituency and to reaffirm my appreciation of your never-ceasing diligence, industry, and fearless devotion to duty at all times and under all circumstances. In my public and business career of nearly 40 years I have not known any man more faithful and devoted to the interests of his country than you have been in all these trying years of these terrible economic times in which we are living. Often have I been amazed at not only your parliamentary skill and cool, deliberate judgment, but I have wondered at your never-failing skill and ability in overcoming the opposition. I wanted to say to you from the very depths of my heart and in all sincerity that, in my judgment, no district in the United States ever had a more faithful or honorable Representative in the Congress than the district you have so ably represented. I do not know your plans for the future, but in parting may I say that I shall devoutly hope you may continue to represent your district here; that the masses of the common people of America may continue to have at least one great champion of their cause continue in Congress; and that the Treasury, where the people's money is deposited, may have a real watchdog. With kind regards and best wishes, I shall continue always, Very cordially and sincerely yours, A. J. MAY, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, Committee on Labor, Washington, D. C., May 31, 1933. Hon. M. B. Harris, Adjutant Vernon D. Hart Post, No. 100, The American Legion, Stamford, Tex. Dear "Buddie": Because I am a veteran of the World War, am a member of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, am Chairman of the Committee on Labor, and am thoroughly familiar with all veterans' legislation here, your Congressman has just shown me your letter to him of May 28. You condemn him because he backed the President and voted for the economy bill, and I note your threat that you intend to fight him and the President, and unless Blanton appoints you postmaster, you will use your influence as district congressman of the American Legion to defeat him for re-election. Thomas L. Blanton and I have served together here for years. He has always been a loyal, staunch friend of the veterans of all wars. When he voted for the President's economy bill he was assured that the Bureau would do justice to any veteran. In the last Congress Blanton was the third Member to sign the petition that forced the Patman bill to be passed in the House to pay the bonus in cash to veterans. At his own expense Blanton spent months investigating Col. Charles B. Forbes, former Director of the Bureau, whom the Department of Justice afterward indicted and sent to the penitentiary. At his own expense Blanton investigated numerous hospitals in the United States, including old Hospital No. 25 at Houston, and on one day caused about 200 tubercular patients to be transferred to Prescott, Ariz., and Fort Bayard, N. Mex. At his own expense Blanton made the Staples and McNorris investigations to insure justice to veterans. At his own expense Blanton spent his entire vacation investigating Col. Frederick A. Fenning, and he personally conducted the trial of Fenning before the Judiciary Committee, and forced Fenning to resign and make retribution to several hundred shell-shocked veterans put in insane asylums and robbed by Fenning. At his own expense Blanton spent several years investigating the inequities and injustices carried on in the Bureau by Maj. William Wolff Smith, general counsel, and conducted the trial of Major Smith before the Committee on Military Affairs, forcing Smith to resign, and to return to the Government money he had unlawfully collected. I mention the above to show that you are in error when you say that Blanton "has had a change of heart." Thousands of veterans scattered in every part of the United States have appealed to Blanton, and he has never yet turned one of them down. Blanton is helping now a committee that is conferring with the President to remedy injustices, and he is a personal friend of mine, and of Patman, Rayburn, Snowling, Jeffers, Mrs. Rogers, and others who handle veterans' affairs. Very sincerely yours, WILLIAM P. CONNERY

EDITORIAL By Crandal Mackey Former Commonwealth Attorney of Va. (The Chronicle, Clarendon, Va.) OH! RARE TOM BLANTON The recent statement of Frederick Vinson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, that Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Texas would not be overpaid if his salary were raised to fifty thousand dollars per year, is no more than others in congress have said about that remarkable man. Blanton during his long service in congress has blocked more bad legislation than any other member. Nothing escapes his vision. He has put through more good legislation than any other member. Blanton is always in his seat when congress opens and has never been known to miss a roll call. He is always the first to arrive at a committee meeting, and always knows to the greatest detail every matter that comes up for consideration. It was Blanton who discovered that insane World War veterans were being robbed by many of those appointed their guardians. In one case a guardian for 155 insane World War veteran was charged with having gotten more out of their estates than they had gotten. Blanton got legislation through putting the matter of the estates of insane World War veterans under the Veterans Bureau and knocked out the exorbitant fees that unconscionable attorneys, acting as guardians, had been getting. There is no man in congress more familiar with parliamentary laws, practice, and procedure, and Blanton uses this knowledge often with surprising results. Blanton knows more ways for obstructing and defeating bad legislation than any member of the House. His achievements along that line would fill a big book. He is the terror of the treasury raider. With Blanton everything is open and above board. With him cannot be the course of the soul. To know him is to hold him in the highest esteem and respect. Few men in public life are as unselfishly working for the good of others. His example is exalting and inspiring to those who seek honesty and purity in public and private life. His influence in congress has steadily grown until he is now one of its most powerful leaders. EDITORIAL In the Washington Post Wednesday, May 23, 1934 George Terrell is going back to Texas when Congress adjourns, and he is not coming back. He decided last night it is not worth the candle. "At my age, I could not hope to remain in Congress long enough to reach a prominent position on any of the important committees," he told newspapermen. "And no one can command much influence until he has been in Congress 10 years or longer and has become chairman of some important committee." When George Terrell who has been Commissioner of Agriculture for the State of Texas, and has held other important positions after serving here two years, admits that a new member is helpless, and cannot expect to perform service of value until he has stayed here ten years; it is quite an argument against sending a new man to Congress. Through years of hard work Blanton has already acquired his influential position on the most important committee there—the Committee on Appropriations—which frames the big supply bills of the nation. THANKS 17th DISTRICT FOR BLANTON Congressman Clarence Cannon, of Missouri, Chairman of the Committee handling certain appropriations, with 23 years of experience in the House of Representatives, and author of the new Revised Rules and Precedents in 12 Volumes, in his recent

PER THRILLS IN NEW "TROUBLE" FILM Although side-splitting comedy romance between two eleventh men and their sweethearts take first place in the story looking for "Trouble," the latest Century picture which is being to the Lyric Theatre 11 p. Tuesday, there is also plenty of excitement and rapid-fire action. There are a few of the situations involving plenty of adventure for the starring team of Spencer Tracy and Jack Oakie in this current Artists release: The Long Beach, California, earthquake of 1933—walls falling, people stricken crowds. Telephone poles swaying and being off in the tremor. Streets and pavements splitting open, making huge crevasses extending far down into the interior. Search steeples and skyscrapers swaying and crashing to the ground. High voltage wires in a hopeless spitting death on all sides. Double shooters' working up friendships in mud, and ending in suffocation in gas-channels. With wire-tappers and telephone men solving murders, mystery deaths and fighting.

Just as if that were not enough adventure for any two "trouble shooters" Tracy and Oakie manage to get involved in serious adventures in gambling clubs, and get fixed up with robbers and the police. This is Miss Tanner's first visit since the death of her father, the late Dr. H. B. Tanner, when she was here for a short time. Friends are gladly welcoming her and quietly entertaining her with informal breakfasts and foursome lunches.

Seated Tea Honors Bride
Mrs. Jimmie King, 482 Pershing street, and co-hostess, Mrs. John Burke, entertained this week-end with a charming seated tea from 3 to 5 p. m., honoring the bride, Mrs. William W. Vavter, Jr. The attractive rooms were beautifully decorated with roses. At intervals arriving guests were served iced punch that centered a Normandy lace laid table, and with Mrs. Morgan Myers and Mrs. Ross Crossley presiding over the delicious content and the small individual wedding cakes. A tray of charming gifts was presented the honoree at close of the afternoon. Among these gifts was the Lion's club compliment of an electric toaster and covered dish.
Guests were Meses. Morgan

Brilliant Pageant Of Wedding Gowns

Glamour and romance featured the Pageant of the Wedding Gowns staged by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church Thursday night against a background of flowers and shrubs in tall baskets; brilliant lights and the stately facade of the south portal of the Eastland county courthouse. The lawn was an attractive auditorium, with seating capacity taxed and aisles leading to the wide steps of the stage forming effect of an out-of-door theatre. Mrs. Ed F. Willman, groomed in Colonial effect was the reader for production. The ushers, William Leslie, James Turk Pipkin, Fred Gary, Carl Garrett, Conard-Reeves and Fay Ernst in white togs marched up the aisle and stood on either side of the long granite steps. Mrs. Wayne Jones, president of W. M. S. opened the Pageant, in stating purpose and introducing Mrs. Willman, who prefaced the Pageant in charming verse, "Backward, Oh, Backward Oh Time in your Flight" and in a poetical allegory of a supposed conversation between hats and wedding gowns and other styles of the past decade. Mrs. W. A. Martin modeled a hat of 1890 belonging to Mrs. Anna Townsend's mother, and dress, of Mrs. Bob Truly of 1892.

Pre nuptial solo by Mrs. Grady Pipkin, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" prefaced the appearance of Cecil Hibbert in the wedding suit of forty years ago of Henry Skinner, Mrs. Ralph Kallenberger for her mother, Mrs. V. A. Thomas; Miss Florence Perkins for Mrs. Peden; Miss Ima Ruth Hale for Mrs. J. R. Bogguss; Miss Anna Belle Lohaupt for Mrs. T. J. Haley; Miss Virginia Neil Little in all bridal attire of veil, shower bouquet and train, for her mother, Mrs. J. F. Little.

Miss Bennie Kate Wood for Mrs. Dan Childress; Miss Bessie Marlow for Mrs. Robert Gann; Mrs. E. R. Townsend in her own wedding gown; Miss Lewai Chance for Mrs. Alexander Neill, and Miss Gwendolyn Jones in quaint frock and veil of Mrs. J. E. Hickman. Miss Bernice Johnson for Mrs. G. T. Boles; Miss Lahoma Turner for Mrs. Wesley Beard, a brown satin, long coat and skirt; Miss Kathleen Cottingham for Mrs. Frank Hightower, a more modern gown; Miss Frances Harrell for Mrs. M. J. Pickett; Miss Carolyn Doss for Mrs. Ed F. Willman; Miss Olivette Killough in Mrs. Charles Terrell's brown satin, knee length in front, and to the ankles in back; Miss Doris Lawrence for Mrs. Garner Kinard; Miss Jane Ferguson in a hip ruffled pink satin for Mrs. Arthur Vaughn.

Mrs. Cecil Hibbert in a white crepe de chine with eight breadths shirred into deep skirt yoke, bridal frock of Mrs. Howard Peacock, and a charming pink ensemble of the bride of today, Mrs. W. W. Vavter, Jr.

The veil worn by Miss Woods, bridal veil of Mrs. Grady Owen had been worn by two other brides. The hair-coif ribbon rosettes of Mrs. Kallenberger were worn by Mrs. Ross Crossley at her wedding thirty years ago.

An original and touching effect was introduced in the appearance of the little Red Cross girls, Julia Brown and Kathleen Collie, carrying our flag, who stationed themselves either side of steps as Mrs.

Wedding March by the Drago Octet, as all characters marched down the aisle.

Credit should be given Mrs. Wayne Jones, chairman of bridesmaids and flower girls; Mrs. D. L. Houle, chairman of groomsmen; Mrs. F. L. Drago, chairman of music; Mrs. W. A. Martin, of decoration; Mrs. F. A. Jones of publicity; Mrs. Ed F. Willman, reader; Meses. Hickman and Leslie, costuming and brides, and Mrs. F. M. Kenny, general chairman.

The proceeds of Pageant will be used toward the support of Missionaries in the Foreign Fields.

District Banquet Monday Night

A Million V-8 Followers

... for the Ford idea of low-cost transportation

ON June 20th the millionth Ford V-8 was produced—finest of a long line of nearly 22,000,000 Ford cars.

26 years ago Henry Ford said, "We will build a motor car for the great multitude".

This basic idea has never changed. The name Ford is synonymous with dependable, sturdy low cost motor cars. The V-8 was the answer to the need of the modern motorist for greater speed and flexibility.

Without sacrificing one whit of traditional Ford owner economy and lasting performance, the V-8 has brought to a million owners the power and comfort previously found only in the most expensive cars.

New low prices for 1934 were put into effect June 15.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 1.

The Golden Text is: "Laying aside all malice, and all guile, and typocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby" (1. Peter 2:1, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit" (Matthew 7:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science awakens the sinner, reclaims the infidel, and raises from the couch of pain the helpless invalid. It speaks to the dumb the words of Truth, and they answer with rejoicing. It causes the deaf to hear, the lame to walk, and the blind to see. Who would be the first to disown the Christliness of good works, when our Master says, 'By their fruits ye shall know them?'" (page 342).

A military dictatorship is predicted soon for Germany, the present type being only of the Boy Scout order.

Dance at Connellee Hotel

July 3

Another unusual scoop has been made by W. E. LaFon Jr., manager of the Connellee hotel, for the dance lovers of this entire section. After much persuasion, Don Irwin and his famous 12-piece orchestra has consented to come to Eastland and play for the dance to be held on the cool roof of the Connellee hotel Tuesday night, July 3, from 9:30 until 1:30. Don Irwin is well known in the southwest for his broadcasts over NBC during their stay at the Terrace Gardens at the Morrison hotel in Chicago. His orchestra was featured for an entire year's contract at the Cingress hotel in Chicago. If the style of Jan Garber is dominating music to the ears then those who go to the dance Tuesday will more than enjoy Don Irwin. Mr. LaFon doesn't do things half way and makes it his business to see that the patrons who come to the Connellee hotel roof get more than their money's worth and a good time thrown in.

Another feature for the Sunday, July 1, program at the Connellee will be a beginning of Sunday evening from 6:30. A la carte service is also in order. A specially prepared wholesome dinner will be served those who take advantage of this additional service that the hotel management is inaugurating.

That Reminds Me

... that looked like around thirty or forty thousand dollars. Nobody was in the store and it was three o'clock in the afternoon. It was five minutes before anyone showed up to ask what we wanted, and that was the only salesman in the store and he happened to be the boss. All we've got to say is that when a merchant with that kind of stock finds it necessary to cut off his sales force, he is slated for the scrap heap, and it won't be long. Can one imagine what that town suffers as a result of such inactivity? And the worst part about it, that every other store in town suffers some regardless of how active they may be. Every store should be active, alert and on the job, whether one man or twenty, because people as a mass hate to wait. Oh y-o-a-h—who said the only quintuplets were in Canada? Well we've got them right here in Eastland. Born to Mrs. "Paddy" kitty cat, sometime during the early morning hours of this Saturday morning, five yelling healthy kitty-cats. Mother and children doing fine—no incubator necessary. Oh, "Paddy" is just an ordinary cat, no medal or pedigree papers and all that. She came up one night on the front porch when a tiny kitten, nearly starved and cold, but she turned out to be the out-lovenest cat we ever saw. Not knowing who the father of these babies are we have no way to notify him of the "blessed event." But even though this is her first, she took hold of the thing like a veteran. So why worry what "Tommy" thinks about it? More signatures are needed for the bank plans. They simply must be attended to by those who have thus far failed to cooperate with the committee to make the plans go through. Now is the time to attend to it. The depositors are the ones that get the major benefit from an immediate standpoint, the community will profit as the years go by as a result of the organization of a new bank. This is the most serious problem before the people of Eastland and surrounding community that has come before them. No depositor can afford to treat the matter with unconcern and indifference. SIGN UP NOW!

which was announced to begin July 8 has been postponed until after the Gorman camp meeting which starts July 22. The young people of the Church of God had a very good attendance and a wonderful program last Sunday evening at the usual hour. The program, under the able leadership of Miss Lena Buchanan, consisted of the usual opening prayers, followed with sentence songs, a Bible quiz contest was carried on splendidly and the Bible drill, immediately afterward, was enjoyed also. The business session was conducted by Clyde Hunter. The group decided to begin reading the New Testament this week. Each member will read the Book of Matthew and write five or more quotations on this book, to be discussed next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. This system seems to be a very interesting one and all young people are especially invited to these services. The last meeting was dismissed by Charles Hunter.
