ALFRED LEADS IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

Returns in Early From Over the County

MOST RACES ARE CLOSE IN TABULATION

Davison, Lotief, White, Eldridge, and Davenport Lead

With returns from every box in the county complete, with the exception of Tudor, from which no report had been received and in which there were only about 30 votes expected, county candidates knew their fate earlier Saturday night than at any time in an election held in the county.

As there was no race in the county which the Tudor vote could change, it was apparent that George A. Davison, Jr., of Eastland had been elected as representative of the 106th district by a lead of 326 votes over E. A. Ringold of Bayley.

In the florial representative race with returns complete from Callahan county and Eastland county with the exception of the Tudor box, Cecil A. Lotief had a lead of 433 votes over Ed Curry.

John White was elected county treasurer, on the basis of unofficial returns, having a lead of 202 votes over Mrs. Frances Thornton Cooper.

Claiborne Eldridge appeared certain of victory over T. C. Williams, as he had a lead of 245 votes in the unofficial returns.

W. T. Davenport carried the largest lead of any candidate in the race, being elected county surveyor by a lead of 1,556 votes.

PENNSYLVANIA CONVICT RIOT IS SUBDUED

GRATEHPFORD, Pa., Oct. 25.—Rioting convicts in the Eastern Penitentiary, today caused thousands of dollars of damage before they were subdued by state troopers with machine guns. They set fire to seven buildings.

Two hundred and fifty of the 1,000 prisoners engaged in the riot. The troubles started in a kitchen and spread to the yard.

A group of "bad actors," armed with clubs, stones and pieces of machinery, ran to a hill and defied prison guards for two hours. Finally 50 state troopers and five high patrolmen trained sub-machine and riot guns on the rioters and threatened to fire if they did not surrender. Suddenly they submitted to capture and were placed in solitary confinement.

The fire, which got out of control for a time, damaged the new industrial plant, a cell block, a barn, the prison kitchen and destroyed three abandoned wooden barracks.

George A. Davison, Jr., of Eastland, who will represent Eastland county in the next regular session of the legislature, having been elected by the voters of the county in the election Saturday.

George Davison Is Representative From the County

George A. Davison, Jr., of Eastland will represent Eastland county at the next regular session of the legislature, according to unofficial returns compiled Saturday night with 26 of the county's 27 boxes showing complete returns.

Davison polled a total of 3208 votes in the county, the unofficial tabulation showed, while E. A. Ringold of Ranger, his opponent in the race, was only 326 votes behind, polling 2,882 votes in the second primary election.

Both candidates ran well in their respective towns, Ringold carrying Ranger by a commanding lead, while Davison carried Eastland by an equally large lead.

FIRE ON POLICE CAR

FORD CITY, Pa., Aug. 25.—Three men, police believed may be linked with the $50,000 Butler mob robbery yesterday, poured a fusillade of shots into a police patrol car as they hurried by in a sedan bearing Ohio license plates, here today.

HOUSING PLAN WILL BENEFIT SOME FARMERS

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—The drought stricken farmer need not think he is left out of the picture under the federal housing act, according to Walter Cline, regional administrator of the act, who came here to start the machinery rolling.

"His pastures may be the color of a baked potato and his cattle may be in cans, but he still can get a loan to put up a new barn or put a pillar in his front porch if he's a good farmer," Cline said.

The new administration explained that under the provisions of the act a "character" loan may be made at the discretion of the lending agency.

"If the applicant had the reputation of paying his bills and of being a good farmer, a reasonable loan of $200 to $300 is possible," Cline said.

Key to Textile Walkout Is Held By Labor Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The national labor relations board today held the key to the question of whether 600,000 workmen will drop work at the looms of the textile mills.

The board was designated by Frances J. Gorman, chief spokesman of the United textile workers, as the only agency which can prevent a strike.

With the board indicating nothing of what action it might take the strike plans were pushed with vigor. The union plans a walkout before Sept. 1, unless an acceptable answer to demands is received.

The strike, if called will be the largest the new deal has seen.

New Plans for NRA Are Discussed At Long Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt and Donald Richberg, chief NRA counsel, today wound up their discussion in connection with NRA reorganization, pending a meeting in Hyde Park in two weeks.

Richberg, who insisted the conversations were general-involving also work of the executive council of which he is the temporary head—said he would have a report ready Monday which will be a follow up of an earlier one presented by Mr. Roosevelt.

The conference today was a follow-up of those held yesterday by the president with Richberg and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson.

Reports of sharp conflicts on NRA reorganization between Johnson, Richberg and Labor Secretary Frances Perkins, met vigorous denials from Johnson and Richberg. They said there were no "fundamental" differences.

Man Now Says His Daughter Is Not Kidnaped

MINERAL WELLS, Aug. 25.—James Butler, Palo Pinto tourist camp proprietor, today abandoned the theory his daughter, Hazel, 14, had been the victim of kidnapers.

Butler, who advanced the theory yesterday asking department of justice aid in seeking the girl, now believed she may have started to Hollywood to carry out her oft-expressed wish to become a movie actress. The girl disappeared Monday night after she left her home at the "Millionaire Tourist Camp" for a walk.

Butler said he believed if the girl had been kidnaped he would have heard from her captors.

Man Now Says His Daughter Is Not Kidnaped

ST. PAUL, Aug. 25.—With the body of Homer Van Meter traveling in a baggage car toward the home of his brother in Fort Wayne, Ind., for burial, police and federal agents concentrated today on a quest for George (Baby Face) Nelson, last important survivor of the John Dillinger gang.

They again questioned Opal Mulligan, red headed young waitress, whose parents reportedly gave the tip that led Van Meter to death. What police learned they refused to say. Principally police hoped to locate Van Meter's hide-out. There, they thought, they might find a clue to Nelson.

CAMDEN, N. J.—Overcrowded conditions in the Camden jail recently proved a boon to 20 or 25 prisoners arrested on drunk and disorderly charges. The score of men were released because there wasn't room in the jail for them.

Schall Attacks Roosevelt For His Request For Facts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Sen. Thomas D. Schall, Rep., Minn., today launched a bitter attack on President Roosevelt in answer to the president's request for information regarding an alleged proposal for establishment of a government news service.

The attack climaxed a series of similar statements by Schall charging the president planned to establish a press censorship and contending the administration was endangering the freedom of the press.

Schall's statement was a declaration of the president's request suggested a "constant effort to mislead and fool the public."

He said the request was motivated by a "desire to make yourself appear before the people as a champion of a free press."

Liberty League Is Criticized For Its Statements

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt feels the American Liberty League shows too much concern for property and not enough for its neighbors.

"This was the way the presidential attitude was generally summed up after one of the most newsworthy White House press conferences in months.

Mr. Roosevelt explained he was all for the principles and defense of the American constitution, as expressed by the Liberty League. However, he indicated, that while concern for these principles was fine enough, there were others which should not be ignored.

The tone of the president's comment was noted by observers as somewhat acid.

Officers Had a Busy Day Friday

Federal and county officers had a busy day in Eastland county, Friday.

Three large stills were confiscated and a filling station was raided, resulting in the arrest of three men. In the "official" party were Deputy Marshal C. S. Brown from Abilene, Sheriff Virge Foster and Deputy Woods of Eastland county, and Garner Moorman and George Bryant, investigators of the alcoholic tax unit, United States internal revenue department.

One of the men was lodged in the Taylor county jail. Friday night, and will be taken to San Angelo today to face charges of possession of unpaid tax whiskey. The other two were charged in justice court in Eastland.

Two of the stills, all located in the woody section of the southwest part of the county, were of 100 gallons capacity. Several 1,000 gallon mash vats, wooden and steel fermenters, coils and a quantity of kegs were included in the equipment taken. Twenty seven gallons of whiskey were confiscated and large quantities of mash destroyed.

LONG MACHINE IS INVOLVED IN INQUIRY

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—A federal grand jury investigating income tax payments of politicians directly involved the Long administration is inquisition today.

It subpoenaed all records of the state highway commission and all members of the commission.

The highway commission has spent more than $60,000,000 since the Long political machine took charge of the state government. Enemies have charged that its record would reveal unprecedented irregularities.

Informed President Roosevelt had decided on a "hands off" policy in regard to the present political war, Sen. Long commented.

"Roosevelt is no damned fool. He's running his business and I'm running mine. He knows his place."

Party Lines Begin to Sag Some Believe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Political mass maneuvers today indicated old party alignments may vanish if the new deal splits the nation between liberals and conservatives.

Party lines already are shifting. By the time Franklin D. Roosevelt leaves office there may be an answer to this question:

"Shall a conservative-liberal party be substituted for the Democratic-Republican label?"

The bi-partisan liberty league is the latest evidence of differences between conservative and liberal thought. The league must challenge many new deal policies.

Division now is principally on these points:

1. Money and credit policies.
2. Government expenditures.
3. Federal regulation and interference on individual action.

A third party movement succeeded in Minnesota, where farmer labor is the dominant political label. The LaFollette progressives in Wisconsin have bolted the Republican organization after years of inside battling to launch their own state machine.

With returns from 232 counties out of the 254 in the state, 122 of which were complete, James V. Allred, Attorney General of Texas, was leading his opponent, Tom F. Hunter, by 39,173 votes.

When the tabulation was made by the Texas Election Bureau, a total of 815,813 votes, of the estimated 950,000 that some expected would be cast, showed Allred had 427,494 votes, while Hunter had 388,319.

Walter Woodul, candidate for lieutenant governor, was leading Joe Moore by more than 100,000 votes and seemed assured of election, while John McCraw had a comfortable lead over Walter Woodward for attorney general.

Lon A. Smith, present railroad commissioner, was leading John Pundt by almost 100,000 votes to be safely in the lead for re-election.

The race for associate justice of the supreme court was more closely contested than any other state race, with less than 19,000 votes separating the candidates. In this race John Sharp was leading H. S. Lattimore, the former having polled 384,845 votes to 366,397.

The vote on the state offices was as follows:

Lotief Elected to Legislature Again

With complete returns in from Callahan county and returns from all Eastland county boxes complete with the exception of Tudor, in which there are but a few votes, Cecil A. Lotief was leading Ed Curry for Representative from the 107th, or florial district, by 443 votes.

The vote from Tudor would not possibly change the outcome of the race, should it all go to Curry.

Callahan county gave Curry a total of 1,668 votes, while Lotief got 1,218, but Eastland county's vote for Lotief was enough to overcome the lead Curry piled up in Callahan county.

In Eastland county Lotief polled 3,482 votes, while Curry polled 2,604 votes, the lead of Lotief in the county being 878 votes.

14-CENT COTTON FACES THE SELLER

According to the report of the agricultural department of the federal government the yield this year of American cotton will approximate 9,195,000 bales on 27,000,000 acres. The market response was an immediate rise of $2.50 a bale or to 14 cents a pound. All authorities in New York and New Orleans declared there was no shortage of cotton because of the 10,836,000-bale carryover. This August estimate is a forecast of the smallest crop since 1896 with the one exception of 1921, and the Texas yield of 108 pounds per acre is the second smallest in 60 years, with a forecast of a 2,382,000-lb Texas crop in sight this year.

Fourteen-cent cotton will place a lot of money in the pockets of Texas growers. It will place a lot of money in circulation. It will lighten the load of the taxpayers. It will enable the delinquents to contribute to the revenues of state and county and municipal government. Japanese textile manufacturers are rapid travelers. They report 170 per cent increase in Japanese cotton goods exported to South America in the seven months ending July 31 compared with the same period a year ago. Their exports to the Philippines gained 236 per cent and to Central America 654 per cent, and an all-time record for Japanese cotton cloth exports was made, according to the department of commerce report.

Mussolini has his own troubles. Italy is said to be losing its cotton trade to the Japs. Germany is surrounded by a wall of fire and steel and there is something happening every day in a trade sense the world over. This is a marvelous history-making age and the specialists and the prophets and the economists continue "up in the air." They don't know where they are going but they do know that "the commercial world is on its way—somewhere."

LIVERPOOL CONTINUES TO FIX PRICE OF WHEAT

World grain prices are moving upward. Wheat at Liverpool edged over the dollar mark for the first time in nearly four years, and at Winnipeg, Canada, reached that summit for the first time in more than a year. Shoe leather is going up. Midwestern tanners have asked the government that hides of cattle killed under the federal drouth relief program be withheld from the market until the price reaches 9 cents a pound. A famous federal commander in the war between the States long years after the coming of peace sent a book from the press. It had an interesting title: "War Is Hell." Well, a combined depression and drouth appears to be hell in many of the agricultural states of America.

WHEN a pitcher is not as fast as he once was, it isn't advisable for him to go around strutting about like a peacock. That, at least, is how Burchell Grimes looks at it, and why he isn't picking the National League winner for publication.

"If I say one team is going to finish in front all I do is create a lot of trouble for myself," explains Grimes, who on Aug. 18 celebrated his 41st birthday as a member of the Pittsburgh club, with which he launched his major league career 18 years ago.

"A couple of other outfits probably won't agree with me, and the next time I work against them they'll say to themselves, 'So this is the guy who thinks we're out of the race, eh?' Then they'll bear down on me a little bit extra, and the next thing I know they'll be hitting the shirt off my back."

"I have definite ideas about most things in this game, but it's bad business for an active player—and I'm not through with baseball yet—to know the manager's mind. I'm not through with baseball yet, though with me—to express opinions. I know what hitter is easiest for me to get out, but do you believe I'd tell him? If I did, he'd probably become the hardest. So Grimes thinks I'm easy, eh? Wham!

Sea Serpent Was Huge Sturgeon

HAILEY, Idaho.—This is a sea-serpent-fish story. But it's true—officially attested and signed by the United States Department of Forestry officials for this district. Because of the drought, the Salmon River, near Salmon City, is nearly dry. About the only deep spot left is the old swimming hole north of the city. Two boys, John Hall and Billy Harris, went swimming. They dived; scrambled to the bank and headed for town. "There's some kind of a deep-sea monster in the swimming hole," they shouted. Townspeople investigated, saw the huge shadow moving around in the bottom of the pool. They worked several hours and finally got a noose around it. Forest Service men identified the "monster" as one of the largest types of sturgeon, usually found only on the bottoms of deep and slow flowing rivers. It weighed 298 pounds and was 10 feet two inches in length. Although caught frequently in Snake River, sturgeon rarely are seen in the smaller tributaries.

VARIED ROLES LIFT BAXTER TO STARDOM

Some actors have to have hand-picked stories—but not Warner Baxter. Throughout his colorful career, Baxter has never avoided a role through belief that it might not suit him or his talents exactly. In a large degree, of course, this is due to the fact that Baxter is one of the most versatile film stars of all time. From dashing buckaroo to artist to theatrical producer, he has played nearly every type of role. And not one of them but has increased his popularity. As a reward for his success, he has been lifted to stardom. In his latest vehicle, "Such Women Are Dangerous," coming to the Lyric theatre on Sunday, Baxter appears as a sophisticated, romantic author. The play calls for both light, fanciful moods and intensely dramatic moments—and he again proves his ability to enact anything given him. A partial list of Baxter's successes under the Fox Film banner proves the point: "In Old Arizona"—a desperado character, with a humorous, lovable side. He spoke broken English to perfection. "6 Hours to Live"—a dominating politician. "Daddy Long Legs"—a philanthropist and social worker. "Cisco Kid"—another romantic bandit. "Thru Different Eyes"—a painter. "Stand Up and Cheer"—An emotional, high-strung Broadway producer. Playing opposite Baxter in "Such Women Are Dangerous" are three lovely feminine stars, Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson and Mona Barrie. Others in the cast are Herbert Mundin, Henrietta Crosman, Irving Pichel, Matt Moore, Richard Carle and Bodil Kosing.

FOUR MILLS BROTHERS SING FAMOUS SONG FOR RADIO ROMANCE

The Mills Brothers sang to a distinguished audience on a First National sound stage, during the production of "Twenty Million Sweethearts," the radio romance which comes to the Lyric theatre on Monday with Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell and Ginger Rogers in the featured roles. While the quartette's famous number, "Oh, I Heard, Yes, I Heard," was recorded by the cameras, listeners gathered from all around the First National lot. Other members of the cast, although not on call, were present including Grant Mitchell, Allen Jenkins, Joseph Cawthorne, Joan Wheeler and Henry O'Neill, as well as many other famous actors of the First studios who had heard the Mills Brothers were going to sing for the picture. The four boys, with their guitar, sing and play for the screen in their inimitable way. Close-ups show how the almost unbelievable orchestra music is produced by simply blowing through cupped hands. The Mills Brothers furnish one of the thrilling numbers in this comedy romance that is filled with specialties. The picture is based on the story by Paul FINDER Moss and Jerry Wald which was adapted to the screen by Warren Duff and Harry Sauber. Ray English directed the picture. The catchy airs sung by Powell and Miss Rogers are by that ace song writing team of Warren and Dubin.

OWNS ROCKING PONY

AMHERSTBURG, Ont.—Earl Hunt owns a live rocking horse—well, a pony with curling horns for hoofs that resemble skis. Inhabitants from neighboring towns come almost daily to see the strange shetland pony with ram-like horny hoofs. Zula, as she is called, rocks like a toy horse when she walks on smooth pavement, the rounded hoofs giving her little stability. However, she can run much like any other pony in an open field, Earl said.

How Niagara Looks After Biting Its Lip Again

The famed Canadian Horseshoe falls of Niagara presented a new face to sightseers after hundreds of tons of rock pitched with a deafening roar from the lip of the crest to the gorge 160 feet below. At the point shown in the circle, the water is plunging over the brink in the new curvature formed by the rock collapse, this new recession being about 100 feet deep and 150 to 200 yards long. The section that fell extended beyond the first notch of the horseshoe from the Canadian side and was close to Goat Island.

TRAIN LEAVES THE TRACK

Advocates of the "air train" for the development of commercial aviation have proved their idea feasible, although bad weather halted the initial flight at Philadelphia. The three "cars", motorless gliders, loaded with 100 pounds of mail for Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, are shown as they took off from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, attached by thin steel cables to the airplane "locomotive." One glider was scheduled to land at each city on the route, the "locomotive plane" making a non-stop flight to Washington.

FEDERATION OF LABOR IS TRYING TO REVISE POLICIES FOR EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP

By H. O. THOMPSON, United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1934, United Press) WASHINGTON—The American Federation of Labor, recognizing the necessity for changes but hampered by its form of organization, has been endeavoring during the last year to revise its policies for a more effective form of labor leadership. The most significant change has been to encourage industrial unions. Industrial unions are those in which all workers in a given industry are accepted to membership in one union, regardless of the type of work they do. The traditional A. F. of L. method of organization is by crafts—machinists, plasterers, electricians—formed into unions without regard for the industry in which they are employed. This issue of industrial versus craft unions will be fought out more thoroughly in the federation's annual convention beginning Oct. 1 in San Francisco. It was broached at the convention here last October, but smothered before it flared into a sizeable row. John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, is the champion of industrial unions. "We have a flexible policy and can change as conditions warrant," he said. "The whole question will be discussed thoroughly in San Francisco." The federation's difficulty over industrial unions goes back to the form of organization. The federation is a grouping of 108 national and international unions consisting of 29,988 local unions. The heads of the industrial unions are jealous of their power. A big organization of industrial workers might throw new elements into control. And so, even though industrial unions are being organized in rub-

It Pays to Advertise

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Willman entertained in an original and novel fashion on the spacious lawn of their delightful home an evening mid-week event both attractive and unusual. The motif of the entertainment, "It Pays to Advertise," was cleverly developed in the playing appointments for the eight tables in "42," the tallies having written slogans completed, by matching with those at other tables, developing lines about breakfast foods, soaps, cigars, motors and other advertising facts. These clever cards were made by Miss Agnes Boron of Carthage, house guest of the Willmans. Table places were found by matching advertising cutouts. Each table wrote a slogan with one to this effect: "A 42 party is a place where dumb bells gather." As guests entered they were served delicious punch from a table on the lawn which was lighted softly with electric garlands in the trees. Punch was served throughout the evening and at the close the host, Mr. Willman, in the guise of an agent distributed samples to each guest, of a package of grape nuts as favors. At close of evening a dainty coffee was served of pineapple sherbert and small cakes to Messrs and Mmes. E. E. Layton, W. W. Kelly, Guy Parker,

Interesting News

Of Eastland Artist
Word received here from our Eastland artist, Wilda Drago, vacationing and studying violin in New York City, is of an extremely interesting nature. She was the recent guest at the New York home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hughes and other guests were David Guion of Dallas, Harlan Pettit, head of the piano department of C. I. A., and Mrs. Frances Miller Crenshaw of Graham, who accompanied Miss Drago to New York City. Miss Drago was a dinner guest of Mrs. Katherine Peoples of California, who is vice-president of Austro-American Conservatory at Montse, Austria. Mrs. Peoples is giving lectures in New York City this summer.

Miss Drago was also a luncheon guest of Miss Ruth Quames, a member of the faculty of Columbia University. Miss Quames is a cousin of Dr. C. B. Beams of San Angelo, the brother-in-law of Miss Drago.

Miss Drago is making wonderful progress in her violin work and is forming many social and musical contacts that are making her stay pleasant in the extreme.

In a card received from Miss Drago, of recent date, she states she wishes her friends could enjoy with her all the lovely things she is doing and seeing in New York. That she is working hard with her music but it is not a task as the weather is very cool.

Miss Drago will re-open her studios at the usual time this fall.

Making Love To "Twenty Million Sweethearts"

One of the uproarious scenes from the new musical comedy "Twenty Million Sweethearts," coming to the Lyric Monday. Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien, Ginger Rogers, and Allen Jenkins are in the cast.

Pittman Is Facing A Hard Test In The Fall Primary

CARSON CITY, Nev.—President Roosevelt's "right hand man," Senator Key Pittman, will face the bitterest fight in his 22 years in the upper house of Congress when Nevada voters ballot in the primary election Sept. 4.

Although the Democratic newspapers of the state are supporting Pittman, a word-of-mouth campaign against him has been reported.

He is charged with being allied with the bi-partisan machine of George Wingfield, Nevada capitalist and Republican national committeeman. Also dissatisfaction has been reported with Pittman's efforts on Nevada's behalf at Washington.

Should either H. R. Cooke, Reno attorney, or Dick Moore, Las Vegas, defeat Pittman for the Democratic nomination, it would mean Nevada's renunciation of "New Deal" policies of the national administration. Both Cooke and Moore are pledged to support President Roosevelt.

Pittman won the senatorial post in 1912. It was his first effort in public office. He is president pro-tem of the Senate and chairman of the powerful Foreign Affairs Committee. In addition, he is recognized at Washington as an expert on silver questions. He was given credit for negotiating the international silver agreement.

The national administration is supposed to be supporting Pittman's efforts for re-election. Postmaster General Farley visited Reno and during the course of his speeches there praised Pittman's work in Washington.

Republicans feel that because of the division in the Democratic party over Pittman, the G. O. P. cause has a "good chance" to triumph. August Frolich, Reno justice of peace; George Malone, Nevada state engineer, and Clyde Souter, Reno attorney, seek the Republican nomination.

Boquillas Rugs Are On Exhibition

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Eight Boquillas rugs, handwoven on primitive looms from the wool of Mexican flocks in an isolated section of the Big Bend country of Southwest Texas, have been brought here for exhibition in the Memorial Museum.

Rug making has been the primitive art of Mexican craftsmen for centuries. The weavers live with their flocks in a region 120 miles from a railroad, separated from civilization by rugged mountains and desert wastes. Bright dyes of red, yellow, blue and green are taken from native herbs and are permanent.

Lone Wolf Navigator To Sail Seven Seas

LONG BEACH, Cal.—Captain Harry Pidgeon, the "lone wolf navigator," is getting ready to sail the Seven Seas again. In 1921, he pushed off in a 34-foot yawl and didn't return for four years after circumnavigating the globe. Seaman herabouts still hail the feat as one of the greatest exploits of daring and skill in modern times.

Reigns in Land Of Watermelons

A queen to whom 25,000 merry-makers paid homage here wears the crown of Watermelonland, smiling on her happy subjects. She is Miss Kathryn McCormack, of Coffeeville, Miss., who reigned over the fourth annual watermelon festival at Water Valley, Miss., attended by visitors from many states.

Should either H. R. Cooke, Reno attorney, or Dick Moore, Las Vegas, defeat Pittman for the Democratic nomination, it would mean Nevada's renunciation of "New Deal" policies of the national administration. Both Cooke and Moore are pledged to support President Roosevelt.

Snake Skin Demand Threatens Production

LONDON.—There may not be an awful lot of snake-charmers outside of circuses in the Old World these days, but British women are falling hard for the snakes as an aid to their charms just now, according to Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, the British Colonial secretary.

As a result of imperial preference duties large quantities of python skins are coming to England from Nigeria to be made into shoes for the women of Britain, Cunliffe-Lister stated in a debate on the Colonial office estimates.

In fact, the trade in pythons is making things so hot for the large snakes of Nigeria that the Emir of one district in the protectorate informed the Colonial secretary that he was going to institute a closed time for pythons during their breeding season.

Animal Blood Is Aid to Humans

MOSCOW.—Radical experiments in transfusion, whereby the blood of dogs and other animals is introduced into the human system to counteract certain diseases, are being carried out by the Central Institute for Blood Transfusion, here.

Professors of the Institute claim recently that a patient, too weak to undergo an operation for the removal of a stomach ulcer, was cured of it by having a quantity of dog's blood injected into his body. Similar successes are claimed in other experiments with the blood of lower animals.

It has long been known, the Institute points out, that in cases of pernicious anemia and loss of blood, a patient may be saved by injections of human blood of the same type as his own.

However, recent research has convinced the Institute that in other types of illness, wherein the entire constitution is not affected, but only isolated parts of it, as in true of certain infections and inflammations, the diseased parts may be benefited by blood radical.
