FISH OUT OF WATER TRUE

BALTIMORE.—Nellie has made a fallacy of "like fish out of water." Nellie is a walking and diving fish from China who apparently is able to remain out of water for hours without ill effects. She is the property of the Fish Culturists of Maryland. Chinese walking fish (Chana fasciata) inhabit rice fields and in the dry season when only shallow pools remain, they are said to walk or wiggle over the ground to more suitable pools.

This Bump Started the Row—

Climax of the rough and tumble that featured baserunning of Tigers and Cardinals in the World Series came in the sixth inning of the deciding battle at Navin Field, when Ducky Medwich hurtled against Third Baseman Marvin Owen as Medwich went into the third sack on his triple to right, as shown here. The pair squared off, then thought better of it. Everything seemed to be peaceful, but—

City wide enthusiasm and patriotism for the E. H. S. Both Teams Vigilantly Practiced This Week

P. E. Shotwell, head man in the Buckaroos camp, has drilled his charges almost daily on their pass defense tactics, which many consider the possible nemesis of Breck. Another weakness of the Breck team practiced this week was tackling. Time after time it is said in Breckenridge, Buckaroos have charged through the opposing line, grabbed the ball carrier, and then let him go for gains. The Breck team wasn't injured in last week's game. All came out with only minor injuries. James Magness, brother of the Oil Belt famous Boyce, is expected to take the position left vacant by Elton Hodges, ruled ineligible this week because of unsatisfactory grades.

LAW MUST HAVE FACTS TO TRY HAUPTMANN

Consider the pleasant ins and outs of the law's technicalities. New York lawyers, who have studied the case against Bruno R. Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnaping suspect, point out that what the general public has taken for a very strong case against him is really pretty weak. To begin with: Is Hauptmann to be tried in New Jersey for kidnaping? By New Jersey law, kidnaping is a felony, and no indictment on a felony can be drawn there if two years have elapsed between the time the crime was committed and the time the grand jury takes the case. But this statute is voided in cases where the prisoner has been a fugitive from justice. Very well, then—from what was Hauptmann a fugitive? There was no charge against him at any time before his arrest. No kidnaping indictment was ever handed down.

Can New Jersey try him for murder? To do so, the state must prove that he was at the scene of the crime—which, unless the authorities have important evidence at whose existence they have not even hinted, may well be quite impossible. They must prove that the Lindbergh baby was murdered, which may also be difficult. Indeed, some lawyers assert that as the evidence stands now, there is actually room for doubt whether Hauptmann could even be extradited from New York to New Jersey. Suppose, then, that he stands trial in New York for extortion. It is reported that Dr. John F. Condon is unable to identify Hauptmann definitely as the man to whom he gave the ransom money. In that case, say the lawyers, the New York extortion charge might not survive a session in court.

All of this indicates that the road to a conviction in the Lindbergh case may be a rocky one. The fact that a man is found in possession of money definitely identifiable as the ransom money may be damning, in the eyes of the general public; in a court of law, more evidence is needed. Now this does not necessarily mean that the law is, as Mr. Bumble once remarked, "a ass." The law is quite properly devised so that an accused man gets the benefit of every doubt. A man must not be convicted on mere likelihood; the jury must be certain. But it does throw a light on some of the difficulties that lie in the path of a prosecutor. A case that looks strong to the man in the street may look weak indeed to the lawyer.

The carelessness of some automobile drivers shows that they hold human life at a very cheap price.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

BEGIN HERE TODAY CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, telephones his newspaper an exclusive story about FRANK B. CATHAY of Riverview, wealthy and prominent...

"The police have found a body. They think it's that of Charles Morden."

"I," said Bleeker, "sent that boy to his death."

CHAPTER VII THERE was no answer from Bleeker, publisher of The Blade, but an abrupt, negative nod of the head...

"Take Sam Lane with you. Go down to headquarters and get on the job. Contact the homicide squad. Tell them that Morden was working on an important matter and that we're going to move heaven and earth to get the thing cleaned up..."

slowly on the desk. "I," he said slowly, "sent that boy to his death. I didn't know it, and he didn't know it, but that's what it amounted to."

KENNEY whistled. "There's more on this case," Bleeker went on, "than appears on the surface."

disclosed them in three days. "Well," Kenney remarked, "Griff can tell us more about it. He's good—the best criminologist in the country today. When you're talking with him, try and get some information out of him about a man by the name of Thomas Decker..."

DAN BLEEKER, seated at his desk, set Ethel West on the telephone and said, "Get me Sidney Griff, the criminologist. Tell him that I want to see him upon a matter of major importance..."

it and when, within a matter of a minute and a half, the telephone rang, he snapped the receiver to his ear with a quick motion. "Hello," he said, "is this Bleeker of the Riverview Chronicle? This is Dan Bleeker of The Blade. We sent a man up to look over your clippings on Frank B. Cathay..."

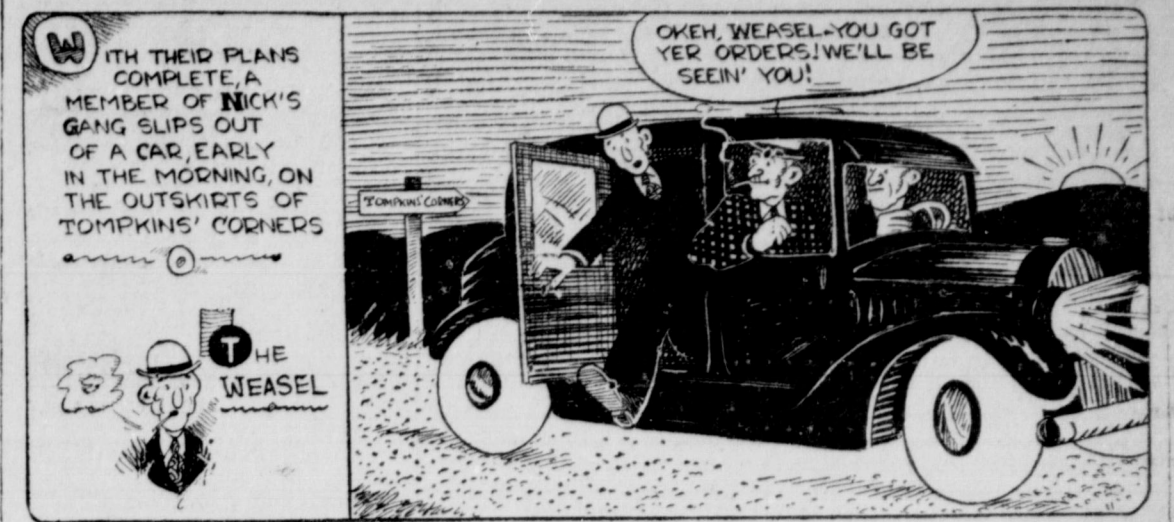

BLEEKER dropped the receiver back into position, left his private office and pounded through the outer office with swift, nervous strides. He turned to the right in the corridor, walked down a long, musty passageway...

"I telephoned Bleeker of The Riverview Chronicle," he said, "for a report on Cathay. He tells me that Cathay was taken very suddenly and seriously ill yesterday morning and has been in bed ever since. I told him to verify it."

Dan Bleeker visits Sidney Griff the famous criminologist, in the next installment.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—The federal government rice crop reduction was a total flop in Missouri. Only one rice grower applied for a contract. He refused to sign.

CONVICTS ARE HUNGRY
By United Press
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The 4,700-odd convicts in the Missouri penitentiary here eat 150,000 pounds of meat, 40,000 loaves of bread, 200,000 pounds of vegetables and drink 1,500 gallons of milk every month. Policy of the prison to raise most of its food on state-owned ground cuts down the cost of feeding each inmate to .1471 cents a day.

Mavericks Go Up-Town With New Jerseys, Letters

Past Performance Nothing When Mavs Play Buckaroos
In Breckenridge, past performance of the Mavericks means nothing. Mavericks usually gives the Bucks one of their hardest contests of the year, even though they might bow before other teams.

In one year, Breckenridge had the best team they ever put out. It had beaten Big Spring 58-0, Brownwood 59 to 6, Abilene 28 to 1, Ranger 40-7, but it received a big scare on the Mavericks field before winning by a 12-0 count.

The probable lineup: Eastland—Taylor and Tully, ends; Bagley and Brown, tackles; Frost and Shoopman, guards; Hart and Upton, halves; Mackall, full.

Breckenridge—Collins and d. Sterenberg, ends; Holt and O'Rear, tackles; Morris, center; Taylor, quarter; Magness and Clark, halves; Hall, full; Pitzer and Ellis, guards.

That Reminds Me

day, October 12. In fact the largest crowd of homefolks attending an out of town game is expected to leave Eastland for the event. That is a fine spirit and will do more to encourage the home team than any thing we know of—and besides it is good for the school as a whole. And remember there is no better school and no better faculty anywhere than we have right here in Eastland.

Which reminds everybody that this is school tax paying time. Every time a citizen walks up and pays his school taxes he is doing something worth while for the kiddies of the land and what other medium of consideration is worth more than our children? Pay your school taxes now and have it over with. If folks just knew what an agonizing time the members of the school board have in keeping the schools running on time and efficiently when there is no money to do it with—they would pay them promptly. School board members have a thankless non-paying job and they deserve every cooperation in their unselfish work to do what they feel is a duty imposed upon them. We've got a good school board, as good as the best. Give them the break they deserve and pay your school taxes now.

What to Give a Child
There is a better way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipation in a child of any age:

Avoid all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic strong enough for adults.

Use a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not harm or upset a child's system.

When you change to California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result. Those little upsets and complaints just disappear as a rule and the child is soon normal and happy again.

UNIVERSITY BUILDING FAST
By United Press
AUSTIN.—University of Texas' building program has been so fast that a lot of students are all mixed up. One freshman co-ed applied for a vaccination certificate at a boys' dormitory. Another co-ed confronted a pajama-clad young man in a corridor early one morning, and demanded to know if her Old enough for strong drugs?

What the doctors say about giving children a medicine of adult strength.

Doctors advise liquid laxative and hospitals use the liquid form. And a child who has been constipated in the hospital usually comes out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch.

Give that headachy, bilious California Syrup of Figs. Constipation in children can be relieved, in this manner:

THE "LIQUID TEST"
First: select a liquid laxative of proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suitably to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose if repeated until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs, which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is genuine product, with "colony" blown in the bottle.
