KIDNAP VICTIM RELEASED IN RANGER

That reminds me...

This weather is funny, and lots of folks are all hot and bothered about mosquitoes, in fact it is said there are so many mosquitoes that there isn't any room for any other kind of bug just at this time. A small complaint was registered against the city commission this morning, against the menace and the city has been asked to check up on stagnant pools and creeks in the city. Mrs. E. E. Layton head of the health committee of the city league are active in the endeavor. Mosquitoes are little fellows but they have a dagger on the end of their nose that certainly does business and about the most irritating buzz is when the said mosquito begins his usual nightlyenade. Getting rid of mosquitoes is now an easy problem if their lairs can be located.

Which reminds us that now is the time to pay taxes and it must be remembered that on Dec. 1 the interest and penalty is added. This applies to the first installment. Naturally it takes money to run a city and we have a good one, and those who can possibly do so are urged to go and pay them now. City Manager Guy Parker is ever alert on the job for the best interests of everybody and he is backed by one of the most conservative bunch of commissioners in this section. Eastland has benefited by having such efficient management of its affairs. Go and

Lions Sponsoring Motorcade Friday

The Eastland Lions club will sponsor a motorcade to Ranger on Friday when the Mavericks play the Bulldogs. It was announced at a club meeting Tuesday by F. J. Kenny. Lion McGlamery addressed the group on one of the amendments to be voted on in the November election which is of concern to the club. Sixteen Lions were at the meeting.

The Brat' Possible Cast Practice Parts

Possible cast members of "The Brat," the first play to be presented by the recently organized Eastland Little Theater, practiced their parts at a meeting held Tuesday night. The meet was held in the Rhodes building, east side of the square. Mrs. Hazel Carter Ammerman, director for the play, will call a meeting this or next week and definite cast selections for the cast will probably be made.

Sailor Speaks to School Students

Monday's assembly at Eastland high school was featured by the speech of Clifford Arnold, a sailor from Honolulu, United States base of submarines.

Mrs. R. D. Mahon, chairman for the Civic league poetry contest, invited the high school to take part. She stated the subject of the poem would be "Texas," and that the contest would close Jan. 15, and prizes awarded winners.

TWO FACING GOVT. CHARGE ON CATTLE SALE

LUBBOCK, Oct. 17.—Carroll E. Cannon, son of E. L. Cannon, Hockley county relief administrator, and his father-in-law, J. F. Brown, principal of the Lovelland, Texas, school, today faced federal charges in connection with alleged sale of government property.

A complaint was issued charging the younger Cannon and Brown with sale of cattle purchased by the government in the drought relief program. Federal Commissioner Victor Lindsey said cattle inferior to those purchased were substituted in shipments. Four sales were said to have been made Saturday. The Lovelland school board asked Brown for his resignation.

This Isn't Just Talk!

For nearly a year, now, rumors have been coming from London regarding the intimate friendship of Gertrude Lawrence, British actress, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Who can be blamed for considering this friendship a serious love affair, when confronted with this new picture of the couple?

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED FOR ANNUAL CLASH BETWEEN THE MAVERICKS AND THE BULLDOGS

One of the largest crowds to witness an Eastland-Ranger football game in several years is expected to be on hand Friday afternoon at Lillard field, Ranger, when the two teams clash in their annual conflict. The game has been called for 3:30, it was announced today. A large crowd from Eastland is expected to make the trip to Ranger, as this will be the first game the Mavericks have played so close to their home field this season, though they played their first conference game in Breckenridge last Friday afternoon.

The Ranger fans are expected to turn out in large numbers, because Friday will be the first time many of the fans have had an opportunity to see the Bulldogs in action when they played 0 to 0 tie with the McMurry college freshmen from Abilene.

Tickets for the game have been printed and are now on sale, with the price for adults being 50 cents and student admissions being 25 cents. A large block of tickets has been forwarded to Eastland where they will be on sale up until about noon of the day of the game.

The bands from the two schools and the pep squads have been drilling almost daily for their demonstrations between halves and both are expected to have some pretty formations to show off before the fans.

In previous years the Bulldogs have been seen in action on the Ranger gridiron several times before the opening of the conference season, but due to the fact that many fans have been unable to see either team in action, the game is expected to draw many fans, not only from the two towns, but from other sections of the county.

John Garrison, Maverick quarterback, passer and punter, is back at practice with his teammates, and is reported to be getting along so well that he is expected to be able to start in the Ranger game. However, his injuries are expected to be such that he will not be at top form, if he is able to play, though he is considered one of the most dangerous threats in the Oil Belt, even when he is crippled.

The Bulldogs suffered few injuries in the San Angelo game, though several are playing with bandages on their legs, and the two teams are expected to be evenly matched for the game.

The Mavericks will be slightly outweighed, but the slight weight advantage of the Bulldogs is about overcome by a fast-charging line and a fast, shifty backfield that is expected to give plenty of trouble at all times.

The Mavericks had little trouble pushing over a touchdown against the strong Breckenridge Buckaroos, which is an indication of their real strength when they have their team intact. Against San Angelo Eastland pushed over two touchdowns, indicating that they have plenty of power on the offense and lots on the defense, with one of the best passing attacks in the Oil Belt.

Attempt Was Made To Burglarize a Store In Ranger

An attempt to burglarize Bill's Dry Cleaning Plant, 311 Main street, Ranger, was made late Tuesday night, the Ranger night patrolmen discovered on making their rounds. The burglars attempted to break into the rear of the building, evidence left on the rear doors and windows indicated, without success.

It was thought that they might have been frightened away before they could break into the building.

News Reel Plane Crashes at Sea And One Is Lost

ABOARD STEAMSHIP WASHINGTON, At Sea, Oct. 17.—A news reel plane with six men aboard, which flew 650 miles out to sea to pick up films of the Marselle assassination, was wrecked in sight of the ship today, with the loss of one man.

Capt. George Fried, hero of various sea rescues in the past, sent out a lifeboat in the fairly heavy seas and the other five were brought aboard. The man lost was mechanic Harry Johnson of New York, who was thrown overboard when the plane dove into the water. He was not seen again.

KIDNAPER OF MRS. STOLL IS BEING SOUGHT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 17.—The kidnapers of Mrs. Alice Stoll, 28-year-old society beauty, became excited when government agents began closing in on him and threatened to kill his victim, it was revealed today.

The kidnaper, identified by the government at T. H. Robinson, Jr., former inmate of an insane asylum, announced his decision to slay Mrs. Stoll after an argument with his wife. She persuaded him to leave the captive unharmed and flee.

The wife, an attractive young woman, seized when Mrs. Stoll was released at Scottsburg, Ind., last night, is in custody.

Robinson, fleeing in a stolen Ford sedan and carrying a 450 of the $50,000 ransom money, is the object of a manhunt in Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan.

Mrs. Stoll was severely beaten over the head by her degenerate abductor as he raced over Southern Indiana highways to a hideaway in Indianapolis a week ago today.

Mrs. Robinson finally succeeded in persuading her husband to leave and take with him all but $550 of the ransom money which she had brought him from Nashville.

The money had been sent there by Berry Stoll, husband of the kidnaped woman, in accordance with demands of the original ransom note naming Robinson's father as intermediary.

It was reliably reported Mrs. Stoll pleaded for leniency in disposition of the case of Mrs. Robinson. "This woman saved my life," Mrs. Stoll was reported as saying.

Police Aid Refused By the Father of a Kidnaping Victim

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Refusing the aid of police or department of justice agents the family of Louis Esposito, 23-year-old law student and grandson of a wealthy junk dealer, held their own counsel today concerning negotiations with kidnapers who spirited the youth away Monday night.

Only the elderly father of the victim ventured to discuss the case and he, in halting English, pleaded with newspapermen to stay away from his home.

He denied there had been a demand for cash. Reports said, however, that $20,000 had been demanded.

BRAZOS RIVER BILL AMENDED IN THE SENATE

AUSTIN, Oct. 17.—A bill proposing a $30,000,000 development program in the Brazos river valley, embracing one sixth of the state's area, today threatened to capsize overloading.

An attempt was made by Senator John Reditt of Lufkin, opponent of the bill, to amend it so as to remit state taxes to all water conservation districts in Texas.

"This amendment will be a death warrant for the bill," warned Senator Tom Holbrook of Galveston. The Senate recessed without taking a vote on the Reditt amendment. The Colorado river bill was passed by the senate by a vote of 24 to 6 with little debate. The bill creates a lower Colorado river authority to administer a $4,500,000 PWA loan for completion of a dam above Austin.

Fourth Quarterly Conference to Be Held at Flatwood

On Saturday, Oct. 27, Dr. O. F. Sensbaugh, the presiding elder of the Cisco district of the Methodist Church, South, will preside over the fourth quarterly conference for the Ranger circuit charge. The program for the day will be as follows:

10 a. m.—Devotional service, led by the P. E. report of pastor and other officers and committees. 10:45—Special study of new educational program, led by Rev. E. R. Stanford.

11:30—Sermon by the presiding elder. Dinner served by local church.

1:30 p. m.—Quarterly conference business. 2:00—New financial plan, Rev. J. M. Bond.

2:30—Reports of stewards and other conference business. 3:00—Election of stewards and their consecration; financial business of the conference.

Adjustment. There will be special music. Programs have already been mailed to the members of the several churches of the Ranger circuit charge, namely, Bullock, Mt. Zion, Staff, Kokomo, Flatwood. The entire membership of the whole charge are urged to be present. The success of each of these rural churches depends upon the whole hearted co-operation of every person participating in the complete program of the church.

Written reports are to be presented by the Sunday school superintendents, trustees, and stewards. The entire membership of the churches are urged to co-operate with the stewards in closing the financial support of the year.

Trial of Sheriff Set For Oct. 22nd

QUANAH, Texas.—Trial of Que R. Miller, former Foard county sheriff and tax collector, on the last of four charges of misapplication of public funds has been set for Oct. 22, when 46th district court convenes in Vernon, following a change of venue ordered by District Judge W. N. Stokes. District Attorney Ed Gossett sought a continuance of the trial until February, contending that "conviction would only be a fore-runner to a pardon." Miller is already under concurrent sentences ranging up to seven years on the first three cases. He has been granted three furloughs since his initial conviction here over a year ago.

Funeral Held For Nola Lois Sharp

Funeral services for Nola Lois Sharp, 19-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharp, Ranger, route 2, who died in Ranger at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, were conducted in Olden Wednesday afternoon, with burial in the Eastland cemetery following the services at the church. Rev. K. C. Edmonds of Ranger conducted services at the Olden church.

Pythian Convention Plans Completed For Gathering On Nov. 5

Plans for the district Pythian Sisters convention to be held in Eastland Nov. 5 were completed this week in Eastland. Members were present at the organization's meeting in Eastland Monday from Mingus and Breckenridge.

Those from Breckenridge were Meses. Etta Mathias, Agatha Chastain, Mae Zinn, Rachael Vallas, Mary Pellizzari and Mae Pruitt.

Borger Slaying to Come Before Court

STINNETT, Texas, Oct. 17.—The trial of Arthur Huey, charged with murder in the slaying of A. P. Borger, today was set for Dec. 10 at Canadian, under an order by District Judge E. J. Pickens for a change of venue. Borger was fatally shot in a duel with Huey, Hutchinson county tax collector, in the Borger postoffice Aug. 31.

YOUTH ADMITS EXTORT PLOT ON EDESEL FORD

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 17.—Edward Lickwala, 20, confessed to the Department of Justice today that he threatened to kill Edsel Ford unless the millionaire motor manufacturer paid him $5000.

Lickwala was arrested as the author of a note directing the younger Ford to leave the money, in $5 and $10 bills, in a candy box on the rear porch leading to the first floor flat of a house there.

The note was mailed here Oct. 8 and instructed Ford to leave the money at 11 p. m., Oct. 12.

The agents established a watch around the house. Last night as several of them were stationed outside the house, Lickwala walked up to the car. He revealed the entire plot admitting he wrote the notes.

Hauptmann Carries Fight to Appeals Court in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Bruno Hauptmann carried his fight against extradition into the appellate court today coincident with hints the state of New Jersey was concealing important evidence linking him to murder of the Lindbergh baby.

The prosecution won a victory in the proceedings to extradite Hauptmann when the court denied the request of the suspects counsel for a writ of habeas corpus which would have nullified the extradition warrant.

Youth Trapped As He Attempted Extortion Plan

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Department of Justice agents today announced the capture of an 18-year-old Italian youth, trapped as he sought to extort $3,000 from Isaac Hoagland, 52, general sales manager and vice president of Armour & Co.

The chief of the federal bureau of investigation at Chicago, said the youth, Dominic Bausano, wrote to Hoagland threatening to "blow your daughter's brains out, and yours, too" if the money was not left in the drive of a vacant factory building.

Pausano, the chief said, confessed to writing the letter.

County Relief Committee and Heads Of Organizations to Meet Saturday

Work projects should be submitted Saturday at a county-wide relief meeting to be held in Eastland, H. E. Driscoll, county administrator stated Wednesday.

The county administrator stated the following regarding the meeting: "On 10 a. m. Saturday Oct. 20 there will be held a meeting in the county commissioners court room at Eastland to which have been invited to sit in with the Eastland County Relief Committee and the county commissioners the following: the mayor of each community in the county, the president and secretary of each Chamber of Commerce, president of all Rotary and Lions clubs, all school superintendents and prominent business men of the county, for the purpose of advising ways and means wherein applications for work relief projects may be made up and submitted to the works division of the Eastland County Relief Board.

"It is very imperative that more work relief projects be available at once. Due to the fact that the new state relief law was adopted by the fourth called session of the 43rd legislature provided that: "At least thirty-five per cent of the state funds allocated to any county shall be expended on the construction, repair or main-

Housing Program May Become Part Of Relief Setup

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—President Roosevelt today gave the first inkling of the form his relief and social legislation plans for the next congress may take.

He indicated the housing program would be developed through legislation to the point where it will be a coordinated part of a relief setup designed basically to make those now on relief rolls self sustaining.

The subsistence homestead idea now being experimented with, appeared likely to be brought into the housing program, probably through allocations of new PWA funds by congress.

Ranger Home Was Robbed Tuesday

The home of Y. A. Wright, Main street, Ranger, was burglarized Tuesday night and several articles of clothing was stolen, it was reported to the Ranger police late Tuesday night.

After a checkup it was reported that a suit of clothes, six shirts, a hat and a number of handkerchiefs were missing.

Rev. J. Stuart Pearce of Cisco spoke before the group on "I Am An Optimist."

The club endorsed the crepe myrtle as the flower for Eastland.

Two Cars Stolen In Ranger Tuesday

Two automobiles were stolen in Ranger Tuesday night, according to police reports. A 1928 model Chevrolet coach belonging to F. A. Able was stolen from in front of his home on West Main street, while a 1928 model Chevrolet cabriolet belonging to Sam Thomas was stolen from Main street, where he had parked it.

The Able car bore a Wichita Falls license, No. A11-255, while the Thomas car bore Eastland county license plates.

After telling his story to the police he telephoned his company and some of the employees started to Ranger, arriving about 6 Wednesday morning. They picked up Teasley and started on a search through cities in this vicinity, hoping that they would find their car, if not the kidnapers.

Teasley, who is a small, slender man, said to the Ranger police that he was thoroughly frightened throughout the trip, and that he was afraid to try to get even a short glimpse of the kidnapers. He said that he could identify them only by their voices. Teasley spent the time between (Continued on page 2)

FT. WORTH CAB DRIVER TELLS OF EXPERIENCE

Was Driven To Granbury and Thurbur Before His Release.

R. L. Teasley, driver for the Burt & Steve Cab company, of Fort Worth, who was kidnaped from in front of the Texas hotel at Fort Worth Tuesday night by two bandits, was released five miles east of Ranger on Highway 1 about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, according to a story he told Ranger police upon his arrival in Ranger.

According to the story told by Teasley he was summoned to the Texas hotel in Fort Worth about 9 o'clock. Two men quickly entered his cab, which was a 1934 model Plymouth sedan, stuck a gun in his ribs and told him to start driving.

The two warned the driver that if he so much as tried to get a glimpse of their faces during the ride he would be knocked in the head and left on the side of the road.

With the gun in his ribs Teasley drove to Granbury, where gas was purchased at a filling station. The driver was warned, as they neared the town, that if any questions were asked he was to say that he was a service car driver who was driving his two fares on a regular call.

Between Granbury and Stephenville, the man said, they had a puncture, and the two men made him put on the spare wheel. One of the men stood behind him with a flashlight, and when he turned toward him the bandit would throw the light in his eyes so he could not see.

One of the bandits then took the wheel, with Teasley beside him on the front seat, and the two made sure that he kept his head turned so that he could not see them. Teasley said at the police station early Wednesday morning that he was not able to get even a glimpse of either man's face, but that he knew one of the men was wearing light trousers.

Just outside of Stephenville the two bandits, with the driver still with them, turned off toward Thurbur and had another flat. They stopped at a filling station and had the flat fixed, but the attendant at the station was so deaf that Teasley had no opportunity to say anything to him without his kidnapers hearing him.

Driving through Thurbur the trio turned toward Ranger and when about five miles from town they stopped the car and prepared to tie Teasley up to a tree. He told them that he had just had a bad case of pneumonia and that it was his first night on duty since his illness and prevailed upon them to let him out of the car. They searched him and found $2.50 in his pockets, and asked him how much of the money was his. Teasley replied that 40 cents belonged to him and they returned that amount, keeping the $2.40 belonging to the company.

After the kidnapers drove off Teasley started walking east, as he remembered that he had seen lights at the filling station at the top of Thurbur Hill. He walked about 200 yards and saw either a coyote or a large dog in the road ahead of him. When he yelled at the dog it did not run, but looked as though it was going to approach the kidnap victim, so he turned west again. Just outside the city limits of Ranger he saw a light in a house and got a ride to Ranger and was taken to the police station.

After telling his story to the police he telephoned his company and some of the employees started to Ranger, arriving about 6 Wednesday morning. They picked up Teasley and started on a search through cities in this vicinity, hoping that they would find their car, if not the kidnapers. Teasley, who is a small, slender man, said to the Ranger police that he was thoroughly frightened throughout the trip, and that he was afraid to try to get even a short glimpse of the kidnapers. STALIN GIVES US CLEAR VIEW OF NEW DEAL

Josef Stalin's remarks about the predestined failure of the New Deal make interesting reading—not because Mr. Stalin's opinion of Mr. Roosevelt matters particularly, but because his statement forms a sort of looking-glass in which we can get a new slant on the American recovery effort.

For, by stating the Communist position so clearly and flatly, the Russian leader simply throws our own position into greater relief. By making a blunt declaration of things we do not believe, he helps us see what we really do believe.

The essence of his theory is that the New Deal—or any other effort to improve conditions upon the capitalist foundation—must fail, in the very nature of things.

Unemployment is inherent in modern capitalist society. The ill against which workers protest cannot be cured without putting society on a new foundation.

The division of human beings into exploiters and exploited is fundamental, and the only possible solution is to give the exploited complete control.

It would be hard to find one paragraph which expressed more precisely the exact opposite of the sentiment which animates the New Deal.

We are dedicated, that is, to the theory that the ills that have afflicted us in the last four years can be cured within the framework of capitalism.

We believe that unemployment is not a necessary accompaniment of modern, mass-production capitalism. We believe that the workers and the consumer can be given a decent break without destroying the rights of employer and investor.

We believe that co-operation can be substituted for exploitation in such way as to help all hands and not just one class.

We believe all these things so firmly that we have room for a great diversity of opinions as to the way in which our goal can be reached. Most of the time we overlook the fact that we are actually at a crossroads in our national life.

The Russian leader's remarks remind us that we are making a great fight to prove that the traditional American way of life can be preserved. That is the real stake at issue in the recovery program.

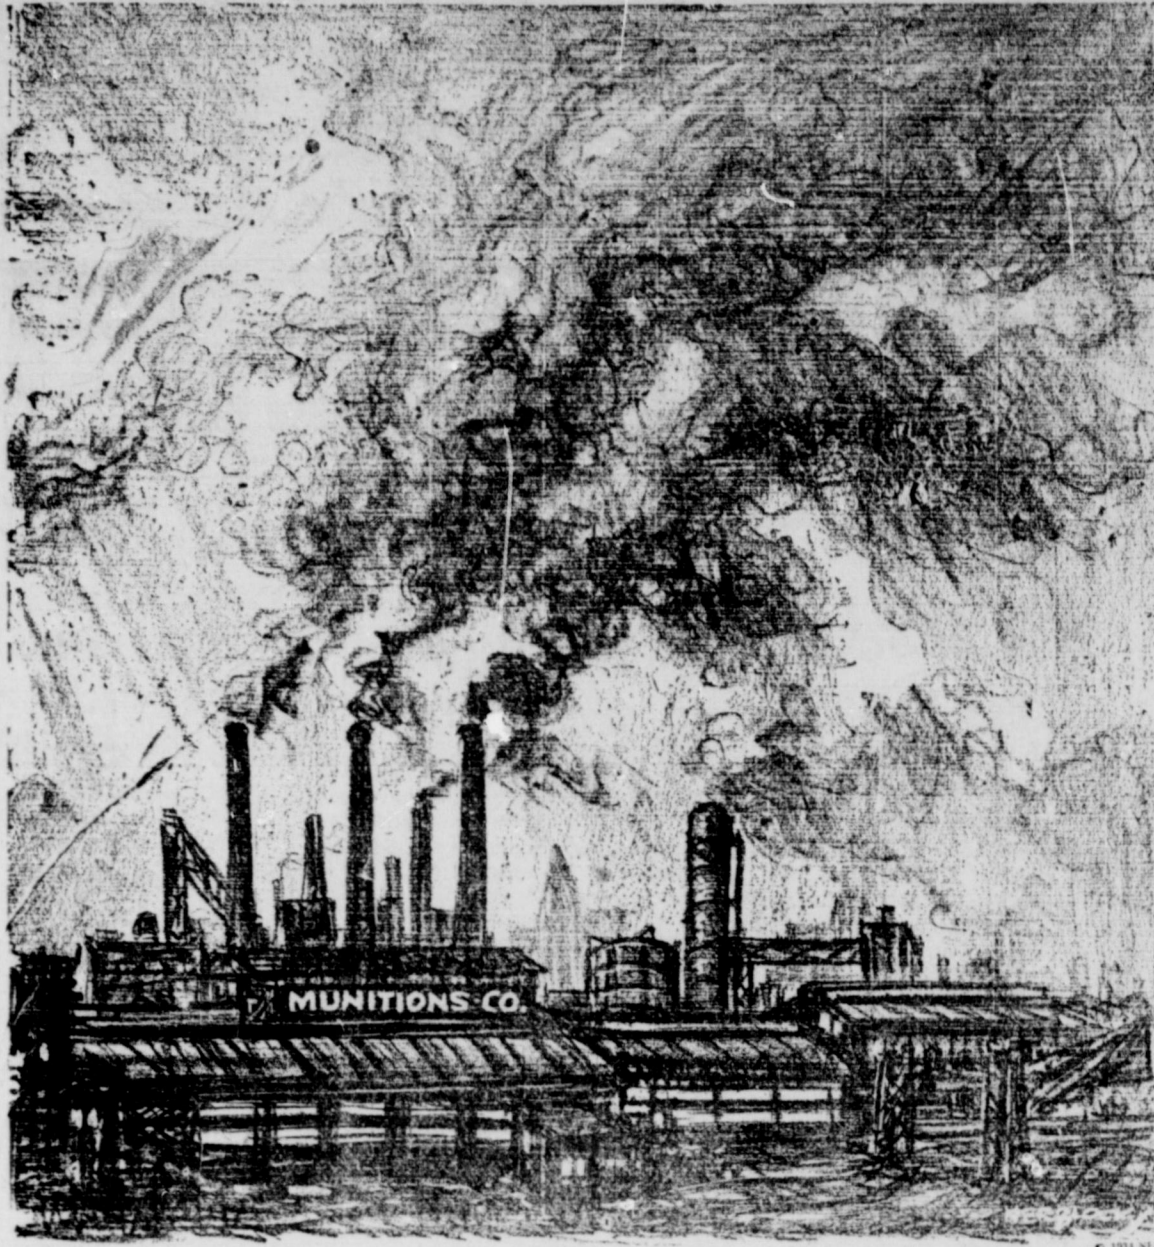

The way the battle is fought—whether via the New Deal or some other kind of strategy—is relatively unimportant. The big thing is to prove that we have the intelligence and the determination to win it.

New Census Rule In Effect In Texas

AUSTIN.—A new ruling by the Federal Bureau of Census has just been put into effect in Texas and will be of interest to every community in the state, according to Dr. W. A. Davis, registrar, state Department of Health.

The towns in Texas that have a reputation as health centers have been unduly credited with more deaths than have occurred among their citizens. Now, whenever a health-seeker dies away from home, the place of his residence will be charged with the death.

Police Etiquette Has Been Relaxed

DALLAS.—Dallas police etiquette has been relaxed. Officers now may address one another by "harmless nicknames" such as Joe, Tim, Bill, Mike and the like, although they still are forbidden to indulge in "unseemly horseplay."
 Use of nicknames was salvaged by Chief C. W. Trammell from an order by a captain which forbade such familiarities along with horseplay.

Professor Making Oil Field Pictures

FORT WORTH.—Prof. S. P. Ziegler, head of the Texas Christian university art department, has an artistic viewpoint of the East Texas oil fields.
 The professor has been working since 1927 on a series of lithographs and etchings which cover various phases of the oil industry in Texas. His purpose is to make a permanent record of the methods by which the oil industry is carried on today.
 "To date," Prof. Ziegler said, "the subjects for the pictures have been rather broad and general. I hope soon to add to the series more intimate and detailed subjects, such as men at work in the various processes."
 He won first prize in the Southern States Art League exhibition in 1929 with a lithograph of the Eastland discovery field. Included in more than 50 lithographs and etchings are such items as a burning slush pit, a refinery, derricks and "gassers."

CARLETON KENDRAKE
 CHARLES FISHER clamped his lips together and shook his head. He smiled tolerantly at the criminologist.
 "I'm afraid, Mr. Griff," he said, "you'll be drawing me out before I know it. I think, perhaps, you're rather an adroit cross-examiner."
 Griff laughed. "I talked with Dr. Cooper this morning, but I couldn't draw him out any."
 "Dr. Cooper," said Fisher grimly, "will probably find himself called before the medical board to explain his rather strange statements. Particularly in view of the fact that he made those statements in the presence of a newspaper reporter."
 Griff seemed completely uninterested in the future of Dr. Cooper.
 "I would," he said, "like to see Mrs. Cathay."
 "It's impossible," Fisher said. "She's prostrated. She isn't seeing anyone. She talked with me over the telephone and her voice was so choked and broken I could hardly understand what she said."
 "That," asked Griff, "is the only way you knew she was prostrated?"
 "Fisher's eyes grew hard. He said, "Don't misunderstand me. I'm her attorney. I'm also her friend. I was her husband's friend. Her husband's generosity was responsible for my success. I worked for Frank Cathay when he was in South Africa. Then he sold out his interests and came here. He sent for me to join him. He put up the money which put me through law school. He loaned me the money which established me in my law practice. I would cheerfully have died for him. I'd do anything for his widow. I say she's prostrated and I know what I'm talking about. Cathay's death was entirely due to natural causes. Those causes were brought about by a dastardly libel which was perpetrated by a metropolitan newspaper."
 "A newspaper published a retraction," Griff said.
 "In a way it was a retraction," Fisher admitted. "It was skillfully worded. It wasn't an apology—not by a long way. The newspaper admitted the mistake in the previous story, however, but it did it under the guise of publishing an additional item of news. Whatever retraction there was, was merely incidental and by way of background for a new story."
 "Will you," asked the criminologist, his eyes fastened intently upon the lawyer's lips, "claim that it did not constitute a retraction?"
 "Certainly not," Fisher said. "In the first place, I believe that the action died when Cathay died which, of course, was a break for the newspaper. However, the matter had been amicably adjusted prior to Cathay's death. I handled the adjustment personally."
 Griff raised his eyebrows in interrogation.
 "Can you tell me about that?" he asked.
 "Unfortunately," said Fisher, "I am not in a position to disclose the exact terms of the settlement. I can assure you, however, that they were in every way satisfactory to Mr. Cathay. However, the settlement came too late."
 "What do you mean?"
 "I mean that the shock had prostrated Cathay. He was a very sick man from the moment the slanderous attack upon his character was made by the newspaper."
 "When was the settlement made?" Griff asked.
 "On Thursday afternoon."
 "Why was it made?" Griff asked.
 "Because," Fisher said with a feeling, "I could see that my client was on the verge of a complete collapse. I took Mrs. Cathay with me. We went to the Palace Hotel in the city and got in touch with the newspaper's publisher. We reached an amicable settlement of the entire matter upon terms which were quite satisfactory to all concerned. I returned to make a report to Mr. Cathay. It was too late. He was unconscious. He never regained consciousness until he died. He died without knowing that his good name had been vindicated and the newspaper had published a retraction."
 "He was then," said Griff, "sick when you left for the city?"
 "Certainly. That's what I am telling you."
 "And that was one of the reasons you made such a hurried trip?"
 "Yes," Fisher said. "I don't mind admitting that was one of the reasons for rushing the matter to a conclusion, rather than going through the formality of filing suit and negotiating a compromise afterwards."
 "Was there any other reason for expediting matters?" Griff asked.
 "Fisher toyed with the lead pencil. His eyes turned away from the criminologist's face.
 "I don't know," he said slowly, "as there is any reason why I should tell you. I take it that you might, however, get the information from the newspaper if I didn't give it to you."
 "I don't want you to betray any professional confidence," Griff said. Fisher whirled to face him.
 "That damnable newspaper," he said, "as soon as it learned that its slanderous attack upon my client would probably furnish the basis for a libel suit, sent a reporter to this city. A reporter who made no secret of the fact that he was about to engage in a most extended investigation to ascertain facts which would be embarrassing to my client. Facts which would be sufficiently embarrassing to bludgeon Mr. Cathay's reputation if they were brought out in court and skillfully presented with all of the innuendo and sneering insinuations which could be commanded by some clever attorney."
 "Did that fact have a tendency to expedite the settlement?" Griff asked.
 "It had a tendency to put my client on his death bed," Fisher snapped.

A CHANGE Doctors are Recommending

The usual care that a thoughtful mother gives her child, can be offset by this one mistake. Don't make it!

Read about a test which has told parents a lot.

Why does a mother's watchfulness and care sometimes fail to help the boy or girl whose bowels are not regular?
 Often it's because the average mother gives any laxative the family may be using.
 The doctor would give a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.
Are You Making This Mistake?
 It is not wise to give laxatives of adult strength to a child, just because you give them less frequently or in less amounts. Stomach upsets and bowel troubles of growing boys and girls can often be traced to this unwise practice.
 Try this, instead: Stop all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic strong enough for adults.
 Give that bilious boy or girl a gentle liquid laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.
What to Use
 Use a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not harm or upset a child's system.
 Once you change to pure, unadulterated California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too. Those little upsets and complaints just disappear, as a rule when this treatment is followed.
THE "LIQUID TEST"
 This is the way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipation in a child of any age.
 First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until bowels are moving without any help at all.
 An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

Program closed with hymn, and prayer by leader.

Ladies Auxiliary Met At Church of God

The members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Church of God which was conducted at the church last Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. E. W. Barnett. The program opened with two Missionary songs, followed by the inspiring message given by Mrs. Barnett. Among the many interesting points that were brought out was the encouraging fact that the Church of God is filling a great place in the field of foreign missions. Mrs. Barnett, using a map of the world, pointed out the different places where there were Church of God missionaries, stating the population, number of missionaries, helpers, etc. Places where there is no missionary were also noted by the ladies.

Next Tuesday the ladies will meet with Mrs. H. A. Perry, 208 East Hill street, as soon as possible after one o'clock, to quilt. The quilts mentioned last week were sold and the ladies of the auxiliary express their sincere appreciation to the newspapers for the announcement made last week.

Princeton reinstated the two students accused of drinking beer against college rules, before any of the German universities could get to them.

OLDEN PERSONALS

By OLIVE STEPHENS, Special Correspondent

Special Correspondent

Miss Nanell Canafax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Canafax of Millsap, visited over the week-end with Jean Adams and Mary Ford. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Russell are moving to a lease near Throckmorton, where Mr. Russell has been transferred by the Magnolia Pipe Line company.

Polk Valliant of Pampa is visiting friends in Olden at this time.

A delightful surprise birthday party in honor of Pauline Gullett was enjoyed by the honoree and a number of friends at her home in Olden Saturday night. The guests had assembled when Pauline and her mother returned. During the evening many new games were played and delicious refreshments were served. Pauline received many birthday gifts to remind her of the occasion.

Among the many Olden folks who enjoyed the Eastland county singing convention at Mangum Sunday were Messrs. and Meses. T. M. Maxwell, J. P. Park, Robison, Jim Woods, Charles Gullett, Jack Stephens, Meses. V. M. Hamilton, Gorman Morton, and the Meses Doris and Katherine Stanton, Flaminia Reeves, Pauline Gullett, Carlette Watson, and Jackie Lee Koch and Mr. Walton Branscum. All reported an enjoyable time and exceptional singing. At the meeting Sunday afternoon the date for the next singing convention for Eastland county was set for Jan. 5 and the place New Hope, which is about half way between Carbon and Gorman on the old road.

Mr. and Mrs. Doxie Tate and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chamberlain of Baird were Olden visitors Sunday for a short while. They stopped en route from Stephenville, where they had spent the week-end visiting relatives, to Baird where both Mr. Tate and Mrs. Chamberlain teach in the Bell Plains school. They visited the L. V. Ford family here.

Mrs. J. D. Fielding of Rising Star, who has been staying here with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Burke, who has been ill, expected to return to her home at Rising Star the first of the week if her daughter's health permitted.

Mr. and Mrs. George Humphrey of Conroe, who visited relatives here and in Ranger last week, have returned to their home in Conroe. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Buckley were Dallas Fair visitors Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

A peculiar fire burned the redwood lining in a water well here one day last week. Mr. Teatsorth of Eastland discovered the fire as he drove along the highway, seeing smoke rolling up over the wooden derrick of the water well on the Jack Stephens place. He investigated and found the entire interior lining of the well in flames, down to the water level. John Ford and Mr. Teatsorth worked rapidly with fire extinguishers and were able to save the pump jack and engine but the derrick and wooden lining of the well were completely destroyed. No one has an idea as to how the fire originated.

J. P. Park killed a young rattlesnake in a shed at the back of his home here Monday afternoon. The snake was stretched out on a rafter, evidently sunning itself when Mr. Park discovered it. Little James Park, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Park, had been playing in the yard and near the building most of the day, but luckily never happened upon the reptile.

The Church of Christ here is being improved by new painted seats and other work.

The new brick building, in which the first grade pupils will meet, is nearly completed. It stands apart from the original Olden school building, is built of red brick, as is the large building, and is a much needed improvement of the school, owing to the crowded conditions under which the school has operated in the past few years. Mrs. Timmons, first grade teacher, has been holding the classes in the Methodist church this fall and until the new building is ready.

Earl Miller of Batou Rouge, La., arrived Sunday for a visit with the G. L. Russell family. Mrs. Miller, who has been visiting her parents here for some little time, will accompany Mr. Miller back to their home in Batou Rouge soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Matlock left for a brief visit in Dallas Sunday.

Eastland Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Reid left Eastland Wednesday for their home in Pampa.

Mrs. Minnie Foster of Flatwoods was an Eastland visitor Wednesday.

Douglas Jones and Joe Simmons were Ciske visitors Tuesday. Mrs. J. C. Stephen and son, Rodney Dale, born last Thursday, left Payne-Lovett hospital Monday for their home at 500 East Foch.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

There are 134 ways to cook potatoes. The Consumers' Service Division of New York City's Public Markets says so. Doesn't that make you ashamed of being such a stick-in-the-mud as to know only the eternal boiled, baked, mashed and fried varieties?

There are at least fifty-seven kinds of scalloped potatoes alone, done with bacon, ham, clam, cheese or sausage, for instance. And cheese, onion juice or bread crumbs will make something brand new of an ordinary creamed potato.

The lack of individuality in favor of this old stand-by makes the potato an excellent fat carrier. And that, with the large amount of starch the potato itself supplies, makes it one of the most valuable of the energy foods. Remember, too, that the potato has more iron than we credited it with a few years ago, and that it's efficient in reducing body acidity. In short, the combination of meat and potatoes which our mothers used instinctively is recommended now by scientists—some of them anyway.

Potatoes scalloped with bacon. Three cups thinly sliced raw potatoes, 1 small onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk, 6 slices bacon.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Grapes, cereal, cream, baked French toast, honey, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Potatoes scalloped with bacon, head lettuce with chionaze dressing, canned strawberries, butterscotch cookies, milk, tea.
DINNER: Breaded veal cutlets, potatoes au gratin, spinach in lemon sauce, pineapple upside-down cake, milk, coffee.

Line baking dish with 3 slices bacon. Put onion, peeled but not sliced, in center of dish. Add a layer of potatoes and season with salt and pepper. Dot with bits of butter and flour rubbed together. Continue adding layers of potatoes and seasonings until all are used. Pour over milk and put remaining bacon on top. Bake 1 1/4 hours, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). If you keep the dish covered during the meal the potatoes will keep appetizingly hot for second servings.

Butterscotch Cookies
One-half cup butter or butter substitute, 2 cups light brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 3 1/2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

If the shortening used in place of butter is not salty add another half teaspoon salt.
Cream shortening and sugar and add eggs beaten un-d light. Mix and sift several times flour, salt, soda, cream of tartar. Add with vanilla to first mixture and mix well. Shape into rolls about 2 inches in diameter and let stand in the refrigerator over night. When ready to bake cut slices about one-eighth inch thick and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.).

Mrs. Stoll, victim of an alleged former inmate of an asylum kidnaper, is now safely back home. That is good news and the entire nation will rejoice. Although there has been a serious penalty attached to the art of kidnapping, there are still some left that will tackle the dangerous procedure. The problem is had Mrs. Stoll been killed, and even in the instance as it is now if the accused is of insane material, what could have been done about it. He seems to have a wife that knew all about it. In spite of all preventative measures murder, kidnapping and robberies continue. We are wondering if the fault lies in the childhood background of the offenders. Evidently our social atmosphere when tots are tiny and at the age when everything is most impressed is crumbling and becoming indifferent as to what the future means to their lives and the lives of their fellow man. It's about time we were taking stock of ourselves.
