Mavs Stampede For 28-7 Win Over Cisco

LOBO SUFFER FIRST DEFEAT BY MAVERICKS

Two Thousand Fans See the Mavericks Shatter the Threads Old Tradition.

By J. T. COTTINGHAM
Red Petty's Mavericks topped the Cisco Lobos in a hotly contested game Friday evening before a crowd of 2,000 people. The contest was fought out on Eastland's new Welch field on the Ranger highway east of town and the fans filled almost every seat in the park. Eastland chalked up the long end of a 28 to 7 score, making the first victory over Cisco for the entire duration of the conference organization.

Captain John Garrison played the entire game, with the exception of a few minutes out of each quarter to enable the doctor to examine his shoulder, entirely disregarding a collar bone broken in the Breckenridge game three weeks ago. He was unable to tackle at all but he made up for this by spectacular blocking. Garrison has the gift of leadership and his very presence in the game went a long way toward making the team; he was also able to furnish the little extra power necessary to cop first downs.

Darrell Tully was the outstanding star of the contest. He has developed into a triple-threat back, Petty formerly carried him as an end and only shifted him into the backfield as an emergency move. His development was a surprise to everyone. He made the first touchdown on a pass from Garrison; intercepted one of Caffrey's bullet passes and ran 70 yards to score the second and his off-tackle runs and passes accounted for a large portion of Eastland's total yardage gained.

Sikes stood out for his tackling and stopping of Beasley and Caffrey. He intercepted a pass intended for Collum and made an 85-yard run through a broken field to score but even without this spectacular play Sikes had starred on account of his defensive play.

John Hart and Brawner also made remarkable showing and in fact, the play of the entire squad was good enough to make star picking difficult. The most remarkable showing in comparison to past performance was from Butler. The showing made by Eastland's lanky center during the first three games was only fair, due to lack of experience in football, but each of the next three games showed Butler contributing more to the advancement of his team. Against the Lobos, Butler made several tackles, broke up five passes and he pulled Stansbury down from behind when he was entirely through and headed for the goal line.

Caffrey, the Lobos' triple-threat fullback, was Cisco's star. He made any number of bullet forwards but the eligibles were too well covered to permit aerial success. Beasley and Rylee on off-tackle plays were more than fair ground gainers but Cisco's single tally was mainly due to a 60-yard run by Stansbury.

Barnes kicked for the Lobos. Received by Mackall who was stopped by Beasley on Eastland's 30-yard line. Tully off left tackle for five yards; Tully thrown behind the line for a five-yard loss; Tully punted but ball was called back and Cisco penalized five yards for offside, making a first down for Eastland. Tully was stopped off-tackle with no gain; pass, Tully to Mackall incomplete; Tully punted. Caffrey received but was downed by Mackall after only a five-yard return. Collum went through center for 10 yards and a first down. Beasley was thrown behind the line for a five-yard loss. Caffrey punted to Tully and it was returned to the Eastland 35-yard marker. Pass, Tully to Mackall incomplete. Hart through center gained four yards; pass Tully to Brawner completed for 25 yards and a first down. Brawner went around right end for two yards; Garrison goes in to replace Horton. Garrison around left end for two yards; pass, Garrison to Tully, completed for 25 yards and a touchdown. Tully

INSULL TRIES TO JUSTIFY EUROPE TRIP

By United Press
CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Rising to the climax of an almost unparalleled court ordeal, 74-year-old Samuel Insull attempted to justify his flight to Europe in 1932 while his $2,000,000,000 utility empire crumbled behind him.

"I refused to return from Paris to Chicago," he shouted at Special Prosecutor Leslie Slater, "because I did not want to be pulled through the streets in chains as politicians here promised I would be."

"Self-preservation is the first law of nature and I would have been crucified if I had been returned there. A man slapped on one cheek ordinarily does not go 8,000 miles to get slapped on the other."

In his last retort at the questions shot at him for 90 minutes, the former monarch of millions denied he stooped to dishonesty in an attempt to ram stock of the giant Corporation Securities company into the investment portfolios of the public.

Cross-examination, ended on a high note as court was adjourned until Monday with Insull shouting "the public trusted me and still would trust me if my acts were the sole basis of judgment."

DEMOCRATS TO HAVE POWER IN CONGRESS

By United Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Democrats have the election won three days before the polls open but there is no assurance President Roosevelt will be able to control the congress which is to be voted into office Tuesday.

Surveys reveal new deal prestige diminished, but still sufficient to assume what will look like steamroller majorities in house and senate. Democratic majorities of two-thirds in both houses may be counted after Tuesday's elections. House democrats now number 308 to 115 republicans, five farmer-laborites, and seven vacancies. The democrats could lose 18 votes and retain the two-thirds majority. A gain of four senate seats would give the democrats a two-thirds count in that body.

But there is more prestige than utility in the majorities which will be present in the 74th congress. The party is under internal strain. Opposition will be almost powerless acting alone. But with assistance from democratic bolters the republicans may be able to cause serious trouble.

H. Walker Returns From Attending the Bankers Meeting

RANGER, Texas, Nov. 3.—Hall Walker, who has just returned from a trip to Washington and Chicago, where he attended the convention of the American Bankers association and the World's fair, was very much impressed with the meeting, which was attended by the leading bankers of the United States.

Of particular interest, he said Saturday, was the talk by Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, who was one of the principal speakers. His talk was very impressive and he gave an optimistic view of the future of banking in the United States. He urged the co-operation of the bankers in extending credits and in making long-time loans and recommended an examination of banks a year by one group of examiners, instead of the federal reserve, the state and national examiners making separate examinations.

He said that the country, at this time, was well supplied with capital stock, and that a broader system of credits would aid materially in restoring prosperity.

President Roosevelt, who was also one of the principal speakers, made an interesting talk, in which he accused the bankers of not co-operating as thoroughly in the past as he hoped they would in the future. He said that when he went into office practically all the banks were closed because of lack of confidence of the people in the banks, and that now the banks were on a sound basis, but the banks should have more confidence in the people when it came to extending credits.

After leaving the convention at Washington Mr. Walker went to Chicago, where he was joined by his mother, Mrs. Nannie Walker, and they spent four enjoyable days there. The weather throughout his stay, he said, was enjoyable, ranging around 40 to 45 degrees, and he and his mother returned to Ranger feeling much refreshed.

The desperadoes will probably be removed to Lubbock, officers said, as feeling at Dickens was reportedly running high.

EASTLAND TO OBSERVE THE BANK OPENING

The Celebration in Eastland Calls For Many Big Features.

The Eastland National Bank will open Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Deposits will be accepted and other forms of business that falls in the banking line will be transacted.

Bankers from Fort Worth, Dallas and Ranger will have parts in the program to be rendered Monday in Eastland in observance of the bank's opening.

The program is slated to get underway at 1:30 on the south side of the bank with delivery of the invocation by Rev. E. R. Stanford, pastor of the First Methodist church at Eastland. Hall Walker, president of the Commercial State Bank, Ranger; Fred Hoopes, Mercantile National Bank, Dallas, and another from the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas will be on the program.

The Tickville band of Ranger will deliver several numbers in the first portion of the program. The rodeo on North Seaman street will start at 3 o'clock. The bank opening is coincident with the holding of the Eastland merchants' monthly trades day.

Eastland Monday will not be known as "the town without the bank," business men assert, who declare that the opening should increase business in most lines fully 25 per cent. The date will mark the resumption of banking facilities which have been non-existent since 1931.

The opening is the consummation of months of work by civic leaders who realized well the importance of a bank for Eastland. W. C. Campbell will head the institution as president. Mr. Campbell has been connected with the Sinclair Prairie company for

SOLONS MUST HURRY TO GET BILLS PASSED

By United Press
AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—Texas legislators must hurry to finish the special session program mapped out by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson. The session will enter its final week Monday.

In the three weeks they have acted finally on one of the five topics submitted; they are apparently deadlocked on two; dubious on another; and apparently have decided to ignore the fifth.

The enacted bill authorizes a Brazos river district to negotiate a federal loan of not less than $30,000,000 for construction of 13 dams along the Brazos and tributaries. The governor has it, unpassed, on her desk. She is waiting to see what else is done.

The tax penalty remission bill still had the house and senate divided on treatment of city and school district taxes.

The senate adjourned yesterday until Monday while the house failed to muster a quorum today.

PARDON IS GRANTED
By United Press
AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—Governor Ferguson today granted a full pardon to C. J. Leckhart, convicted in Johnson county on charges of misapplication of funds and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Need Seen for Better Highways

An immense highway construction job still faces the American public. Accidents and high cra driving costs, fostered by lack of adequate highway improvements, extract tolls that far exceed the money expended for highway and street improvement.

Accidents, with the deaths, injuries and damaged cars that follow in their wake, annually cost $2,500,000,000, or $1,000,000,000 more than is spent each 12 months for highway repair and betterment.

High driving costs, too, vastly swell the highway transportation bill. American motorists annually travel more than 20 billion miles. Naturally the good roads and streets in service have largely reduced car driving costs. Yet conservatively estimating excessive driving costs on the poor roads and streets at one cent a mile, motorists yearly spend $1,500,000,000 in excess of what they would pay if the bulk of them were provided with traffic facilities better suited to the motor vehicle.

That continued highway improvement at an accelerated rate would pay for itself is indicated by the fact that the costs of driving cars today is probably more than one-third less than it was 15 years ago when good road building got under way.

The large road job ahead is indicated by the condition of the main state highway systems. These roads, totaling 383,000 miles, are only one-eighth of all the roads in the United States. These roads, the through routes, carry upwards of two-thirds of all country travel. Yet one-half of these roads are still classed as mud or dust roads.

At present, 120,000 miles of the main street highways are paved. In view of their importance to commerce, which means to everybody, at least another 100,000 miles should be hard surfaced in the immediate future. Improvement of these roads would mean cheaper driving costs, fewer accidents and employment equivalent to 550,000 men working for nearly three years.

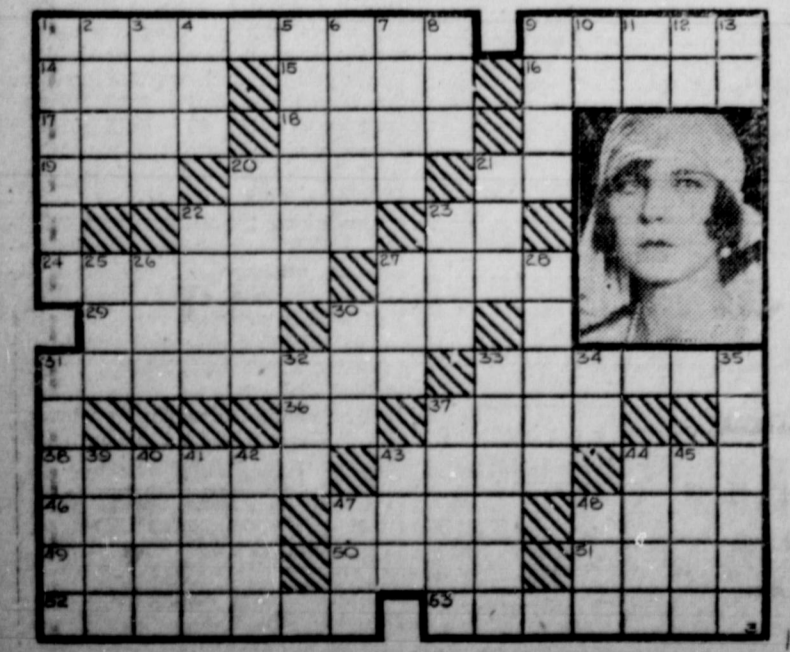

A Fitting Memorial

The Texas State Bar association has dedicated its effort to building a great memorial to the earliest supreme court; a monument commensurate with the dignity of the conception, and one that finds its expression in service to the present and the future.

The association, through a committee now at work, would enlist federal public works support for erection of a useful, dignified building, to be dedicated in Centennial year, and to house the two court of final jurisdiction and the department of the attorney general, chief law officer

Eastland County Farmers Will Receive $211,458 This Year From the Federal Government

By J. C. PATTERSON County Agent

The agricultural adjustment administration is paying Eastland county farmers a sum of $211,458 to restrict their crops this year as an aid in adjusting market surpluses. Three hundred seventy-eight hog raisers will receive a total of $31,770 for producing 1,864 less hogs and 928 acres less corn than their 1932-33 average. The second payment should be received during the month of November.

Four hundred seventy-eight cotton producers will receive $50,150 in rental and parity payments for agreeing to plant 5,255 acres less cotton than the five-year average on their farms. The second final checks should be received late this month.

Five hundred thirty-four cotton producers who participated in the plow-up last summer pooled 1,311 bales of cotton on which they received $20 per bale advance last spring totaling $26,227. Now an additional advance is offered on this pooled cotton of two cents per pound less accrued expense, making available another $9,966 to cotton producers.

Twelve-cent loans are available to any cotton producer on this year's cotton crop where stored in a bonded warehouse. Just recently this loan was also made available to non-contract signers who will agree to execute a 1935 cotton acreage reduction contract. Those who stored cotton last year and received 10-cent loans may now cancel out the old loans and borrow 12 cents per pound on it.

Wheat raisers were offered a reduction contract but only three Eastland county men availed themselves of this opportunity. Through the drought relief cattle purchasing program 756 producers sold 7,561 head of cattle for $92,531. During this program 1,174 producers owning 30,723 head of cattle listed 13,120 for the year. The buying program apparently is at an end producers are coming in continuously to list their cattle for sale to the government.

It may be of interest to note the numbers purchased from producers owning different numbers of cattle: purchases were made from 11 producers owning five head or less, from 148 owning six to 10 head, from 251 owning from 11 to 25, from 128 owning from 26 to 50, from 68 owning from 51 to 100, and from 43 producers owning over 100 head of cattle.

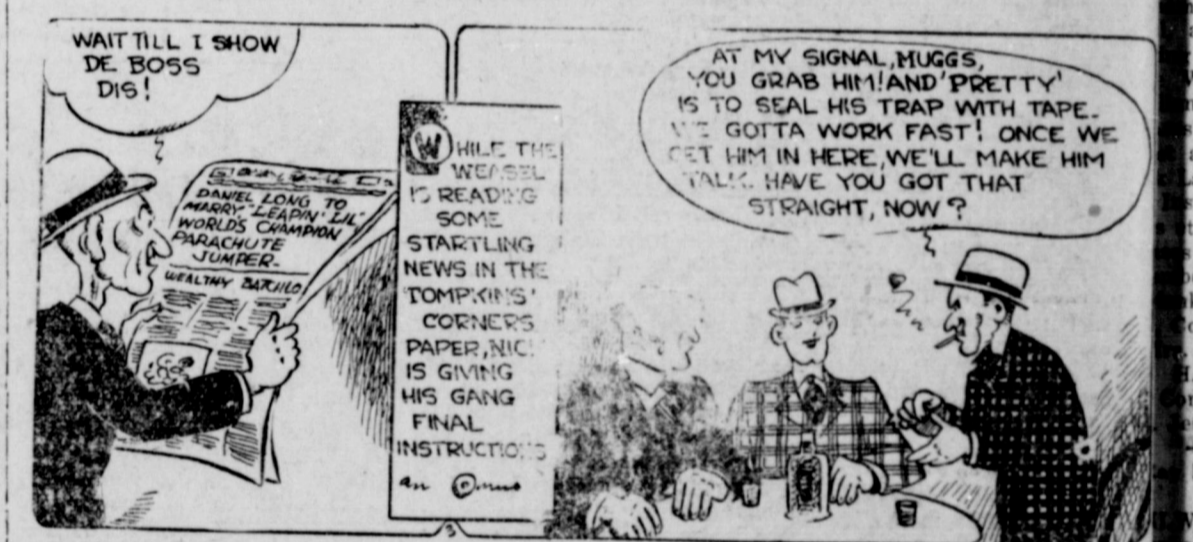

Sheep purchases have been made from all producers offering for sale only 56 head were sold under the program at $2 per head. Goat buying in this county has not been started as yet but the county quota is 494 head and the price to be paid is $1.40 per head. A referendum vote has been conducted among corn-cob contractors to determine whether or not they desired the privilege of executing reduction contracts in 1935. Voting for contract in 1935 were 104 and voting against a new contract were 85.

The agricultural adjustment administration has indicated that the referendum will probably be held early in December on the administration's cotton adjustment program at which time all cotton producers will be given an opportunity to vote their opinion of the government effort to advance cotton prices.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES IN TEXAS SHOWING A GAIN OVER SEPTEMBER

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—October department store sales in the principal cities in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District showed marked gains over the preceding month. The basis for the report is the Federal Reserve Bank showed today.

Department store sales show an increase of 41 per cent over the preceding month and are 29 per cent in excess of sales for the corresponding month last year.

The Eleventh District comprises all of Texas and parts of New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Dearest spot in the report is the condition of agriculture, which has been relieved by adequate rains in only a few "more favored sections," the report says.

Moderate to heavy rainfall during the month broke the drought in many sections, but absence of subsiding moisture makes need for additional rain acute in many parts of the district.

The indicated cotton production for the district is 2,865,000 bales, a decline from the estimate issued earlier of 3,000 bales, and comparing with 5,114,000 bales produced a year ago.

Feed crop prospects in the district continue unchanged or show only slight improvement for the month. The indicated production of tame hay in Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico showed gains, but the prospects in Texas declined sharply.

Cattle ranges show some improvement but are still very spotted. The favored sections are along the coast and in South Texas where heavy rains have insured winter grazing.

The average condition of cattle ranges in Texas is rated at 54 per cent of normal by the Department of Agriculture as against a rating of 50 per cent normal last month.

Crude oil production in the district totaled 32,484,000 barrels in September against 33,108,000 in August and 34,501,500 barrels in September a year ago. The decline was more than accounted for by the shorter month as the daily average production gained 14,800 bbls.

There were 765 oil wells completed in September of which 526 were producers of oil with an initial flow of 1,900,000 bbls, showing only a slight decrease from the preceding month. The daily average increase was reflected in all fields but the North Texas, but most of it was in the East Texas field.

The valuation of building permits issued in principal cities in the district during September was 12.9 below August but it exceeded the low figure of September, 1933, by 81 per cent.

Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Galveston, Port Arthur and Shreveport all showed increased building for September over August, while Wichita Falls and Beaumont showed losses of nearly 81 per cent from the preceding month. Both Wichita Falls and Beaumont showed substantial increases in building for the first nine months of the year compared with a similar period a year ago.

Textile milling in the district showed the effects of the general strike and the consumption of cotton in the United States during September was only 295,960 bales compared with 420,040 lbs last year.

September cotton receipts at Houston and Galveston showed seasonal expansion compared with August but were considerably smaller than for last year.

Cotton exported from the United States during September amounted to 479,861 bales compared with 267,562 bales in August and 869,244 bales for September, 1933. During the current season exports of cotton to all countries which are important importers of American cotton showed large declines from a year ago.

Wholesale trade in the district was about the same for September as for August whereas normally September sales show a considerable decline.

The daily average of combined

net demand and time deposits of member banks again reflected substantial expansion compared with the previous month. Loans and investments in member banks in selected cities showed noticeable gains between September 12 and October 10. The demand for reserve bank credit remained light and the loans to member banks of the middle of October amounted to only $57,000.

MIRIAM HOPKINS HEADS NOTABLE CAST IN NEW FILM

Enacting the glamorous title role in "The Richest Girl in the World," Miriam Hopkins heads the brilliant cast of this comedy drama which is Wednesday's attraction at the Lyric Theatre. The story of the film concerns an heiress and her efforts to find a man who will love her for herself alone, uninfluenced by her great wealth. The several gorgeous gowns worn by the star are a feature of the production.

Miss Hopkins was recruited to the screen from the New York stage, where she scored signal successes in "An American Tragedy," "Fanny Bragance" and "The Affairs of Ansel." She has notably excelled in "Dancers in the Dark," "Two Kinds of Women," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and "All of Me," among others. Returning to New York, she again scored in the stage show, "Jezebel."

Her leading man in "The Richest Girl in the World" is Joel McCrea, who has been seen in such successes as "Chance at Heaven," "Rockabye," "Born to Love," "The Common Law" and "Gambler's Lady." Co-featured with McCrea is Fay Wray, in the role of Miss Hopkins' secretary-companion. It is an important part, acting as a foil for McCrea to test his love for her boss. Miss Wray recently scored a sensational success in the leading role of "Viva Villa." She is also remembered for her magnificent performance in "King Kong."

Henry Stephenson, one of the most polished character actors of the screen, also plays an important part in "The Richest Girl in the World," as does Reginald Denny. The former enacted the role of Mr. Laurence in "Little Women," and Denny scored in "The Lost Patrol." Others in the cast include Beryl Mercer, George Meeker and Edgar Norton.

"The Richest Girl in the World," RKO-Radio Picture, was directed by Wm. A. Seiter from a screenplay by Norman Krasna.

VERSATILE

MRS. ELVIE H. JACKSON, society editor of the Eastland Daily Telegram, linguist, clubwoman, musician, poet, and who is one of the personalities of Eastland.

Society Editor of Daily Telegram One of Town's Outstanding Persons

(Editor's note: The following is an article on Mrs. W. K. Jackson, Telegram society reporter, which was written at request several years ago.)

Some one asked me if I wasn't going to write a history of myself for our special Music Week Edition as I had the honor and responsibility of ram-rod-ting the Annual benefit for the Music Clubs, and I answered that if Mrs. C. G. Norton's write-up of me was too passe in point of time, then I supposed I would accept the general invitation of the friends with whom I worked on this Annual and tell a few glittering facts of my existence.

I came from a long line of people who studied and who walked hand in hand with things that make for refinement. My great grandmother, named Entretien, came from near old Entretien Pass in Scotland, and from her may be traced some of my dogmatic stubbornness.

When a child of ten, I wandered into verse writing and dabbled at this for several years. My parents had me taught by an elegant French woman, a daughter of nobility, from the time I was ten until my seventeenth year. Several English studies were taken in French and I acquired an intimate knowledge of the best writers in French and German prose and verse, in the original.

During the various periods of my life, when sorrow has come, I have resorted to study and to writing and music as my inspiration and encouragement to carry on.

I assisted in organizing the Civic Department of the City Federation of St. Joseph, Mo., a department of one hundred and twenty-five women, for whom I was chairman. We established a free milk clinic, a free dental clinic, and mission work station for the Pollacks and Slavs in the packing house district of this city. This brought me into more intimate relation with community work and interested me in church activities. I then accepted chairmanship of a quilting committee in King's Daughters of Presbyterian Church and developed business articles to be made and sewed for enough to support a Missionary we had stationed in Korea.

At this time I married W. K. Jackson and we moved to Paul's Valley, Oklahoma, where Mr. Jackson was doing expert tax work in Indian records for the county. Prior to moving, I had been reporting special happenings in St. Joseph for two years, having drifted into newspaper work through having reported the Run-club of St. Joseph, one of the oldest Federated Clubs in the United States. My paper sent me on special assignment work and I will never forget the thrill of seeing my description of the Masonic Temple and its furnishings and the pictures of same that were published in our home town paper.

I had kept up versifying and the paper had paid for every poem they accepted. I continued writing verse and upon settling in my new home in a year or so, I acquired an interest in the only daily in Garvin county, of which I became city editor, serving for three years. Daily reporting on this little sheet inspired the running of a daily Jackson Jingles column which met with favor and proved popular. In Paul's Valley I organized the Art Club, assisted Mrs. O. W. Patchell in organizing the Music Club, was acting president and vice-president of the former for two years, president of the Woman's Study Club when I left Paul's Valley, and State chairman of Literature of Oklahoma Federation of Woman's Clubs. In addition I was pianist for the Presbyterian Church services for three years.

Our Eastland residence eleven and a half years ago brought me into newspaper correspondence with the Roundup, in Cisco. After three months I was engaged by Frank Jones, then editor-owner of the Eastland Chronicle and went on that paper.

Ten years ago I put through the Armenian Syrian Campaign for the county at request of Mr. Sanger of Dallas and raised thirty-five hundred dollars in three weeks. A few months afterward I served as chairman of the Liberty Loan Drive and went over the top.

Of course I did my part in the Presbyterian Church choir music after that church was organized, and until then, was pianist for the Methodist choir for two years. My club life was full, but still, daily newspaper work and the occasional verse claimed my time. I organized the choral department in the Civic League and ten years ago, with the assistance of Mrs. P. S. Wolfe, more members were added and the club resolved into the Music Club of Eastland. I was president of the Civic League five years, a minor officer in Thursday Afternoon and Music Clubs and editor and manager of the Special Music Week edition each year with the exception of one season when the task was carried on by Mrs. Charles G. Norton. My work as chairman of Eastland Salvation Army Advisory Post included putting on three successful money raising campaigns for three years' support. I have been a State chairman of Music Week of T. F. M. C. I have organized numerous Junior clubs some of which have stood and others have fallen. I am now serving my fifth year chairmanship of the Better Homes Committees and have a most capable group of women as assistants.

My men has been at the disposal of many friends for special stories or for a last account of some loved one's going, and the final rites of their departure. Many of these have been written at request of sorrowing families.

My musical studies began at four years of age, and French and German at six, and the study never ceased until my first marriage. When I became widowed, I returned to my father's home and resumed my French studies with my former governess. The study of pipe organ began at fourteen years of age. This art is almost lost as there is no pipe organ in our city. The Presbyterian Church had pipe organ services when meeting in one of the boom day picture show houses, which I used, but which, after two years, was returned to the factory.

I have been asked many times to speak on chosen subjects and have had no hesitancy in complying. My public speaking began many years ago before ever coming to Texas. I have no fear of an audience and have never had stage fright.

My only requirement of womanhood is that she be honorable, virtuous, and honest. Given these three attributes I get along with any woman living. I have believed in giving every person full credit for everything they do of a constructive or pleasing nature. Have used publicity as a powerful weapon in helping women to that recognition which was justly theirs.

Good old Missouri, my home state, has taught me in the history of her founders, that the roots of a tree, if deep and firm in the soil of adoption, support the trunk and fruitful branches with firm and tenacious strength.

I love Texas next to Missouri and my eleven and one half years

Turns New Leaf In Fashion Book

A one-leaf costume to win the O. K. of the strictest censor is this one, worn quite becomingly by Miss Lowell Winter, dancer, on a sunny beach at San Francisco. Lowell's all dressed up in a philodendron imperialis leaf that blends or does it?—epaulets with a split skirt.

BENNETT AND MARCH NEW FILM LOVE TEAM

Hollywood's newest and most glamorous romantic team makes its debut in the persons of Constance Bennett and Frederic March in "The Affairs of Cellini," the gay new 20th Century comedy, depicting the more colorful romantic escapades of the great artist and greater lover of 16th Century Florence, which United Artists brings to the Lyric Theatre Sunday.

When producers Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck selected this popular pair to co-star they established what promises to become one of those happy Hollywood combinations that are the answer to every producer's prayer.

Pauline Lord, noted stage actress who makes her motion picture debut in Paramount's "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," coming Monday to the Arcadia Theatre, has been on the stage for over thirty years, yet never has played an ingenue role.

Making her screen debut in the title role of the pictureization of Alice Hegan Rice's noted classic, the distinguished stage star is cast in the same type role that she has played so often, and so brilliantly, in the theatre.

In all of her best plays Miss Lord has enacted character parts, though the role often was the leading one in the play. "Anna Christie," "Samson and Delilah," "The Knew What They Wanted," "The Late Christopher Bean," and other successes found her portraying what one prominent critic has called "images of feminine desolation."

The stage star flatly rejected a number of offers from various motion picture studios until Paramount asked her to play "Mrs. Wiggs," a part in keeping with her stage roles.

NAVAL MEN PRAISE WORK OF ACTORS IN FILM OF U. S. NAVY

The latch-string is out from now on at the U. S. Naval Training Station in San Diego for Jimmy Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh, Lloyd Bacon and any of the other Warner Bros. troupe who were concerned with the making of "Here Comes The Navy," the production at the Lyric Theatre Monday.

The company spent nearly a week in San Diego, shooting scenes at the Training Station, depicting Cagney and McHugh as a pair of raw recruits being licked into shape for their debut on a U. S. man-of-war.

Gloria Stuart, Dorothy Tree, Willard Robertson are other principals in the cast. The story combines thrills, laughs and romance in a drama of the U. S. Navy, with 3,000 sailors taking part.

Arlington Man Was Once Expert at Scalping People

ARLINGTON, Nov. 1.—Lifting scalps is a lost "art," but once upon a time W. M. Hall could do it with the speed and finesse of a Comanche brave.

There really wasn't much to it, Hall will tell you—just a circular swing with the knife, a jerk at the top-knot or scalplock, and the thing was done.

To moderns, that may seem a cruel and cold-blooded thing, but to the old-time frontiersmen it was a custom to meet the Redman at his own methods. Now 80 years old, Hall recalls the day when the practice was something of an outdoor sport in Texas.

Hall has carried home several scalps himself, six or seven, he doesn't remember the exact number. But there's one in particular he does remember. He collected it when a lad of 15.

In 1871 he was with a group of settlers taking wheat to mill when a band of Comanches attacked the party, 22 miles south of what now is Comanche, Tex. The settlers succeeded in putting the Indians to flight after young Hall, with his last shot, felled the chief.

The next day the settlers returned with a larger party and took up the Comanche's trail. The party found the chief's body hidden under a rock.

"We pulled him out and I scalped him," Hall said. "And I was glad to do it, for the Indian was wearing several scalps on his belt that didn't come from Indian heads."

Humming Bird Routed Huge Eagle

KERNVILLE, Calif.—His Highness, the large golden eagle, who is often seen floating majestically high above the hills in this section, hung his head today and brooded.

The reason for his sorrow, according to H. M. Calkins, local resort owner, is a good and sufficient one.

While in the mountains recently, Calkins observed the eagle perched high up in a pine tree, twisting about, flapping its great wings and giving vent to an occasional "squawk." Approaching, it was discovered that the huge bird was attempting to fend off the vicious attacks of a humming bird, smallest of feathered creatures.

The David and Goliath battle evidently had been going on for some time, Calkins reports, as the eagle fled shortly in complete rout.

We Would Have A Roundelay
The result of peeping up the school crowd may be largely due to the original parody on "Good Old Summer Time," written by W. P. Palm, principal of Eastland high school, and sung to that rhythmic air, which was diligently practiced by the students en masse at the high school assembly Thursday afternoon.
The song was adopted by the school as their "song slogan" for all Eastland, and otherwise ball games.

The words run:
"That good old Maverick line,
That good old Maverick line,
O where will be Cisco Lobos be,
When our stars begin to shine?
They'll wish they were at home again
Done up in turpentine,
When our boys come down the field,
That good old Maverick line."
For next week's ball game, the ditty will be changed to "Where will the Abilene Eagles be," etc.

The program opened with selections by the high school band, that presented a medley of school songs, "Our Director," "On Wisconsin," university song, and two marches, directed by R. S. Raley.
