Public Safety Department is Formed in State

That reminds me...

Still, improvements continue to go on. This time it is Jess Williams, who is doing the good job of remodeling the building on Main street, formerly occupied by Superior Garage, completely inside and out. When finished it will be one of the most attractive buildings in the city. It will be occupied by Harvey Chevrolet Motor Company as soon as ready for occupancy. In line with the constant strides that Eastland is making and the foresight and faith he has in his community Jess went after the thing to do it right. Such foresight is commendable and speaks worlds for the good things that are in the offing for Eastland.

Then up the street a little piece, Guy Patterson has placed one of the most modern and up-to-the-minute Neon signs in front of his place of business and at night it turns that section into daylight and can be clearly seen and read from all directions. On the sign is "Patterson's Firestone Tire Service." It is a wonderful and attractive piece of work and adds to the beauty of Main street which is directly connected with the Broadway of America. Congratulations to Guy for his civic interest in making Eastland as attractive as possible. He also has faith and believes in the future prosperity of Eastland.

Eastland gets a hundred percent purity mark on its water supply from the state and Dallas laboratories. That's great and speaks well for the city officials in seeing that the health of the community is guarded. So drink lots of water. It's good for folks, at any time, especially Eastland water. In the event that folks would like to get the hardness content of Eastland water, it is 12.2 U. S. grains. That's another thing in Eastland's favor as to water, which means that clothes, body, hair and all can be washed without injury to fabric or the skin.

Deposits in the Eastland National Bank continue to climb, and that's something to brag about. It shows confidence in the bank and that things in general are improving. Talk of more industries coming to Eastland is in the air. New projects are in the making, that will start spending that four billion, and Eastland will certainly get her share of it. The new post-office will no doubt be included in that part of the money.

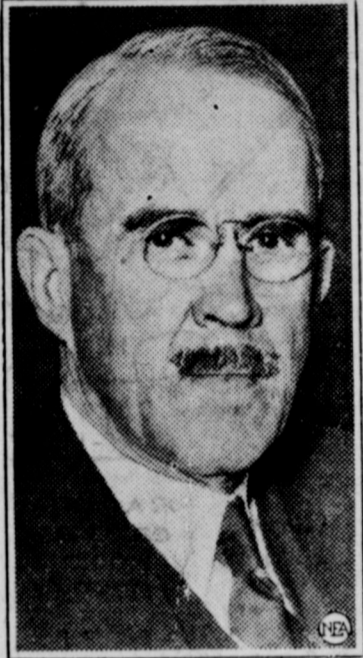

Next Sunday is Mother's Day. It's the one day set aside for man's greatest bulwark to lean upon for everything that he needs in life to make it sweet and beautiful. Every mother has a right to expect something as a token for her existence, if living, and even one tiny little flower placed at the tomb of those in the land of God, will do much to feel again the sacredness of her presence. Merchants in Eastland have made special preparations to take care of all gift needs for mother on Mother's Day. Eastland has one of the best home made candy factories in this section at the Palace of Sweets and special orders are given careful attention. Parker Floral Company are in position to wire special plants or sprays anywhere in the United States if mother is not in Eastland. If she is special orders are given careful attention. Mr. Parker knows how to please in beautiful flowers and pot plants.

All this month is confined to special showings of unusual motion picture features and popular Johnny Burke has joined the parade in celebrating the May festival of certified entertainment. Every feature is personally guaranteed by Mr. Burke and backed by the Consolidated Theatres. There is a good one on today—Jean Harlow and William Powell and other stars in "Reckless," and more coming.

SENATE SNAPS COMPROMISE BONUS PLAN

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The senate today scrapped the administration bonus compromise plan and expressed a preference for the Vinson-American Legion bill, with full cash payment.

On a motion to substitute the Vinson bill for the compromise plan, the Vinson measure won 54 to 30.

Rejection of the compromise by Senator Pat Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, made inevitable a clash between the white house and congress on the bonus.

During debate Harrison said his bill was the only bonus bill which would escape veto.

A decision remained to be made between the Vinson bill and the Patman "greenback" bill. Thousands of telegrams in support of the latter measure had been received since Sunday.

Such usual administration stalwarts as Senator James Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina, and Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, democrat, Illinois, deserted white house leadership on the vote. Senator James Couzens, republican, Michigan, announced before the vote he was opposed to all three bonus proposals.

No Action Taken By Prison Board On Committee Probe

HOUSTON, May 7.—The prison board today completed its regular meeting without taking notice of the legislative committee report on alleged brutality at Retrieve prison farm.

A member of the board said no action should be taken on the report because it had not been submitted to the body. All the members "to go by was the newspaper account of the committee findings," it was said.

It was understood that tension was high among members because of rumors the board would discharge Lee Simmons, general manager of the prison system. The rumors, apparently, were without foundation.

"Water is standing in pools near my home, and you know it takes a lot of rain to do that on sandy soil," he said.

Chicken thieves have been prevalent in this community, Carnaday stated, who cited recent arrests as a warning to would be thieves.

Since the state democratic platform approved such a department, Governor Allred is expected to sign the bill.

Objectors to the bill, who earlier criticized the ex-swinging activities of rangers, today continued their assault.

"It's the setup we are opposed to, not the purpose," said Representative J. C. McConnell of Palo Pinto.

West Texas to Celebrate Airline Fete

A new road has been opened—West Texas will celebrate at Eastland May 30.

Opening of the Weatherford to Ranger cutoff marks something that the county and section can well be proud of and doff their hats to the ones responsible.

Perhaps on no other occasion in the past 10 years has there been a celebration in this section that has been attended by as many dignitaries that will be at Highway 89 Airline Celebration.

The county and section can well pride itself that men of experience are at the helm of the celebration which assures its success.

Appearance of W. R. Ely is enough to warrant attendance at the fete. Unlike other speakers to oblige friends and say words that fill gaps of time, Ely is one who delivers a message when his turn comes to mount the rostrum.

The former highway commissioners who was at the helm of the Texas body—greatest of any group in the United States—realizes the importance of the occasion.

Harry Hines who has identified himself as a leader of civic moves in Texas, and new member of the commission, will attend.

Senator Grady Woodruff, Judge B. L. Russell, Judge Sam Russell are others who will attend, the first and latter slated for addresses.

Speaking, however, interesting as it will prove will be one of many features of the celebration. The wave of the baton and blare of horns will be heard. Bands of the section will likely turn out en masse for the observance.

And least of all there is a hidden significance in the affair. It marks the evidence of sincere cooperation of towns in the county and section.

Eastland, Ranger, Thurber, and Cisco—as well as the others of the section—are giving earnest help to put the fete over. It is not Eastland's celebration, not Cisco's, not Ranger's—it is a celebration of the section, the highway commission.

"Gone is the time when there is no co-operation between the three towns of the county," was the assertion of a speaker at a civic club recently—surely this is a sign of actuality of the spirit.

The celebration bears the hearty endorsement of this paper. A celebration in its full sense—festivity, patriotism and co-operative spirits of towns in this section will be shown.

And not to be forgotten will be the unselfish town of Thurber. They, originally slated as location of the fete, will take part in the celebration as others.

Thurber deserves the plaudits of the section for its work on the cutoff. It gave until it hurt—financially, physically and mentally.

Hats off to Thurber and two of the many important workers on the project—Dean Hiatt and Bates Cox.

And will the celebration be a success? A needless question, what with its assurance given by all. Let's make it a great occasion!

Dr. Tugwell Suggests a "Third Economy"

New ways of looking at the unemployment problem are rare. Rexford Tugwell seems to have provided one the other day in his speech at Rochtster, N. Y., when he suggested that the unemployed constitute in themselves a great national resource which the country might as well start using.

Mr. Tugwell's point is simple. In addition to depression unemployment, we have technological unemployment—men displaced from their jobs by improvement in productive technique rather than by hard times.

Even when prosperity returns, a large number of these men won't be able to go back to work. They'll be with us in good times as well as bad—skilled and industrious workmen who want nothing under the sun except a chance to work.

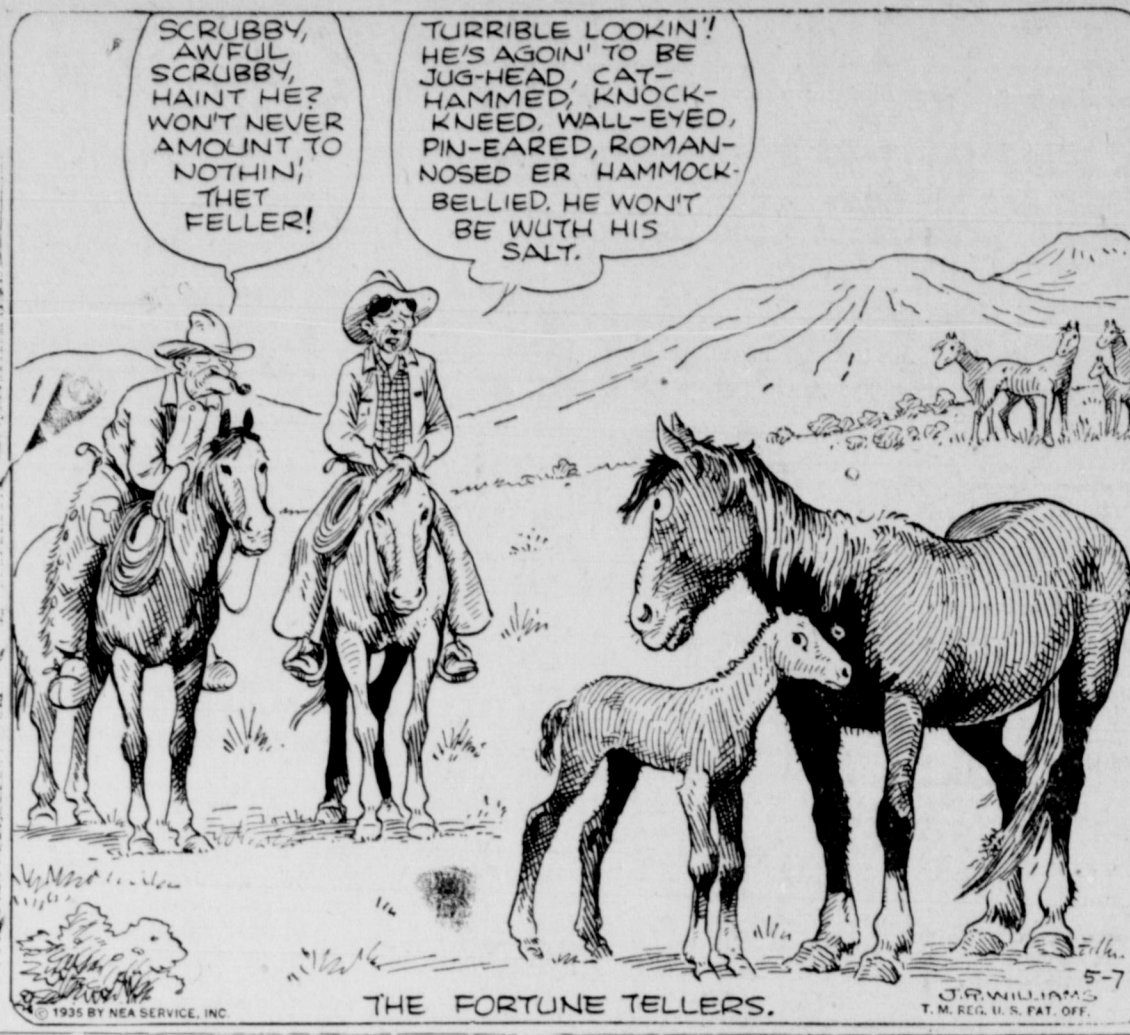

It is Mr. Tugwell's idea that these men be used in what he terms a "third economy"—a system half way between Socialism and individualism. The government would put them to work on projects which would not be done by private enterprise, and which would be of benefit to the country as a whole.

Such projects would include the Civilian Conservation Corps, a gigantic slum-clearance program, checking of soil erosion, provision of sanitary and recreational facilities that are now lacking, development of reclamation works, and possibly some large-scale scheme for resettlement of the under-privileged.

All this is worth thinking about, because it reverses our ordinary attitude toward unemployment. We look on it as a sad and expensive responsibility; this plan would have us see it as a great opportunity.

This country is enormous, and it is more richly blessed by nature than any similar place on earth. It can be turned into a veritable garden spot, where human life can be richer and freer than anything we have yet dreamed of. The possibilities are here; all we need do is exploit them.

"OUT OUR WAY" ———— By Williams

And that is just another way of saying that there is work enough in America to keep us all busy for generations to come. All we need do is go after it.

Until every American family occupies a modern, up-to-date home, until every region is served by broad, smooth highways, until every river has been harnessed and controlled and every farming region has been freed from threat of flood and wind, until our marvelous productive plant has given an abundance of necessities to very citizen—until that day comes, it is silly for us to say that there is no work for the jobless.

Mr. Tugwell's idea calls our attention to this fact. The work is waiting to be done, and we have millions of men who ask nothing but the chance to do it. Seen in this way, unemployment is a challenge and an opportunity.

concerned, overwork has had little if anything to do with the situation.

"Actually, work of a normal amount, or even above average, is not prone to do one any real damage. On the other hand, certain practices associated with the work or with living are likely to be the real offenders. Those who, for example, are victims of impure air, illogical diets, auto-intoxication, worry, lack of exercise and insufficient sleep are usually the first to blame work for their sorry condition. And, no doubt, even an average amount of work can easily turn into a sense of overwork when one's capacity to do the job has been weakened, by enervating habits.

"The best bulwark against ill effects from hard and sustained work is the conscientious adoption of a well-rounded and properly balanced health program. And by this suggestion is not meant a fanatical adherence to a long set of fancy rules, but only a reasonable sense of the primary duty every one owes to himself to get plenty of fresh air and some exercise, to eliminate the excessive use of stimulants, to obtain an average amount of sleep, to eat moderately; in short, to treat one's body with the respect that it demands."

The DARK BLOND

By CARLETON KENDRAKE ©1935 NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Millicent Graves, secretary to George Drimgold, finds her employer in his office dead. Jarvis Happ, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a beauty, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets Jarvis Happ's son, Norman, the nephew, Robert Caise; Happ's partner, Dick Gentry; Vera Duchene, Mrs. Happ's maid.

In Happ's home Millicent sees the mysterious "woman in black ermine" whom she believes has some connection with Drimgold's death.

The chauffeur is found dead. Later Happ is kidnapped.

Millicent and Norman learn the car driven by the woman in ermine belongs to Phyllis Faulconer. They go to her apartment. Norman enters first. When he does not return Millicent follows. The place is in wild disorder and Norman is not in sight.

Millicent escapes. She goes to the nearby garage where Detective Buchanan accuses her of being Phyllis Faulconer. Sergeant Mahoney arrives and takes Millicent away. She tells him all that has happened. He says Norman is in great danger, asks if she will help try to save him. Millicent eagerly agrees.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER XLVII

Sergeant Mahoney stopped the car in front of the apartment house. "I have been thinking," he said, "about Gentry. You say that he tried a key to apartment 309 and it wouldn't work?"

"That's right."

"In that event," he said, "he must have used the key to get into the apartment house. In other words, he must have opened the door with that key."

"She stared at him, her forehead showing lines of bewilderment.

"In other words," Mahoney said, "someone gave Gentry a key to apartment 309. That someone had another apartment in the house and must have given Gentry the key to that apartment instead of apartment 309. Both keys would open the door of the apartment house itself. The peculiar knocks were merely a signal so the conspirators couldn't be surprised by anyone with a pass-key.

Millicent recognized the logic of his remarks. "Good heavens, yes! And perhaps that other apartment is where..."

"Exactly," he interrupted. "Now that apartment must be on the third floor. Norman was carried from apartment 309. He would never have left it voluntarily. They would hardly have taken him up or down stairs."

Sergeant Mahoney stepped from the car, rang the bell of the apartment marked "MANAGER." At the third ring a speaking tube whistled. A woman's voice said, "If this is some tenant who's forgotten a key, I'll open the door. If it's someone who wants an apartment, come back at a decent hour."

"It's the police," Sergeant Mahoney said. "Open the door and meet us in the corridor with a pass key."

A moment later the door buzzed open. Sergeant Mahoney pushed his way into the apartment house. Millicent saw a big, blond woman with a white, frightened face, hugging a kimono about herself.

Sergeant Mahoney showed her his badge. "Give me a pass-key," he said.

She handed him the pass-key. Sergeant Mahoney escorted Millicent to the elevator, slid back the door of the cage, pressed the button for the third floor.

"When you get to that floor," he said, "get out and run up and down the corridor screaming. 'Norman, where are you?' After that, no matter what happens, act naturally—that is, be frightened. Don't let on that you know the police have the place surrounded. For your information, I have men placed where they can come to your rescue whenever I give the signal, but I don't want to do that until I've got some incriminating evidence."

She nodded.

"Good luck," he told her, stepped from the elevator and let the door close.

As the closing door made the electrical contact, the elevator lurched upward. It jolted to a stop at the third floor. Millicent saw a deserted corridor. She screamed, "Norman, Norman! Where are you?" and ran the length of the corridor.

Some man shouted through a closed door, "Pipe down. I want to sleep."

A door opened. A strange man stepped into the corridor.

"Are you looking for the man who was hurt in apartment 309?" he asked.

"Yes," Millicent said, and such was her eagerness to locate Norman that for the moment she entirely forgot she was bait for a death trap.

"I found him in the corridor," the man said. "He was unconscious. I took him in here and have been waiting for him to regain consciousness so I could find out what happened. He's not badly hurt."

Millicent ran swiftly to the door of the apartment. The man stood to one side. Looking past him, Millicent saw a couch. On the couch, covered by a blanket, lay Norman Happ. There was a gash on his forehead on which dry blood was encrusted. His eyes were closed.

"Norman!" Millicent screamed. Norman shouted, "Run, Millie. Call the police!"

A woman's voice screamed an epithet, a gun roared.

Norman Happ had flung himself off the couch as he called his warning. Millicent saw that his hands were tied behind his back as he dove, head first, to the floor. A bullet ripped the davenport where his head had been. Another bullet tore through the upholstery, ripping cloth, sending up a shower of dust and exposing wire springs.

The strange man who had stood in the doorway struck at Millicent's head with a blackjack. Some how—she did not know how—she avoided that blow and sped toward Norman Happ.

Through an open door which led to the kitchen she saw Dick Gentry, an automatic in his hand, his lips twisted into an evil leer, taking deliberate aim at Norman Happ's struggling figure.

Millicent screamed, lunged forward. The gun roared. She heard the impact of a bullet striking something solid as, with a savagery which surprised her, she flung herself upon Dick Gentry and realized she was holding his wrist, struggling with him for the automatic.

"You little she-devil!" he exclaimed, as her teeth sank into his hand. "Take that!"

He kicked at her. The gun roared again. Something struck her in the side with numbing force. She heard a terrific roar, felt Dick Gentry grow suddenly limp. Sergeant Mahoney's voice, sounding deadly ominous, said, "Make a move and you'll get the same dose. Stick 'em up!"

Millicent broke free as Dick

Gentry collapsed to the floor. She saw Sergeant Mahoney cutting at Norman's bonds with a clasp knife, saw the strange man with his hands high above his head.

Millicent ran to Norman screaming, "Are you hurt?"

He grinned at her and said, "No. Why didn't you run when I warned you? Gentry was holding a gun on me. He said he'd shoot if I didn't lie perfectly still. I knew what they wanted. They wanted to get you in here. When I shouted I dove forward to dodge the bullet. A woman was with him. She ran. I couldn't see her clearly."

He straightened, rubbing his wrists. Sergeant Mahoney stepped over to Dick Gentry, slowly shook his head.

"I'm sorry, boys," he said, "I had to do it. He'd have got the girl."

Millicent looked up then and saw that grim, silent figures had filed into the room, figures who moved with swift efficiency, jerking down the hands of the man who had lured her into the apartment, snapping handcuffs around his wrists.

"What happened, Norman?" she asked.

Sergeant Mahoney sat down beside Norman Happ. "It's important," he said, "for us to get everything you know and get it fast. Give us the bare facts and give them quickly."

"I went to 309," Norman Happ said. "I knocked. No one answered. I started toward the elevator. This man," nodding his head toward the handcuffed prisoner, "stepped into the hallway. He asked me if I was a friend of Phyllis Faulconer. He said she had instructed him to let her friend in to the apartment. It was a trap. I fell for it and said, 'Yes.' He let me into the apartment, struck at me with a blackjack. I was stunned but managed to tackle him."

"Dick Gentry came in. We fought all over the apartment but they got me finally. They dragged me down to this place and have held me prisoner. I think this man is a hired thug. That's all I know."

"And, by God!" said the handcuffed man, "that's all you'll ever

a new premium fuel now Public Tested

... and approved as a major improvement in motor fuels

Laboratory technicians told us that Aerotype Esso marked a major improvement in motor fuels. Road tests confirmed their statements. But we were not satisfied until we knew, definitely, that the public approved this new Humble product. Now we can tell you that it does; Aerotype Esso has been public-tested, and the results reported on check cards in our files tell us positively that it fills a public need for an outstanding motor fuel, worth every penny of the small extra cost.

So it is with added confidence that we again ask you to test Aerotype Esso in your own automobile, to prove to yourself that it is definitely superior to even the best of the premium fuels of the past. Test its power, its anti-knock qualities, its acceleration, its easy starting. You can demand of it as nearly as possible what the aviator demands of his motor fuels; put it to any road or traffic test; we are confident that Aerotype Esso will please you, and you will agree with other Texas motorists that it is a premium fuel in performance as well as price.

GERMANY'S NEW U-BOATS RAISE SPECTRE OF PEACE-WRECKING LUSITANIA TRAGEDY

WAY IS SOUGHT TO PREVENT REPETITION

By WILLIS THORNTON
 Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON. — Exactly 20 years ago, diplomat, statesman man-in-the-street halted in tracks to devour the extras screamed the sinking of the Lusitania.

Today the attention of certain here, more thoughtful than they read the horror of 1915 men, women, and children went down with the Lusitania, was fixed on two things: the efforts of the munitions committee and the State Department to carry out a presidential direction to find ways to keep the Lusitania of some future from dragging America into a second, an ominous but aptly well grounded rumor that any is assembling and has building for six months, a submarine flotilla.

Memory of the S. S. Lusitania (top) causes statesmen uneasiness as they reflect the momentous effect of its sinking (sketched below), when torpedoed by a German submarine—a tragedy that set the stage for America's entry into the World War.

...the bones of 14 Americans were whitening on the bottom of St. George's channel, and 1-eyed fish poked their way through the gilded saloons so silhouetted 20 years under their 40 years of water, a new generation of Americans has grown up, do not remember the tragedy when the Lusitania sighted Old Head of Kinsale near Newtown, Ireland.

...had been a rather carefree age, without accident. But of the 1257 passengers carried newspaper clippings of the Lusitania warning, published in New York papers just before the Lusitania sailed: (it read) are read that a state of war existed in the waters adjacent to the British Isles; that the vessels flying the flag of Great Britain... liable to destruction in those waters, and that travelers sailing on war zone on ships of Great Britain or her allies do so at their risk."

IMPERIAL GERMAN EMBASSY

...berg stove in her plates. But in 18 minutes the Lusitania went down by the bow. Nobody knows even now why she sank so quickly. Only 761 were saved, including Captain William Thomas Turner, who stood on his bridge until carried away by the rising water.

The German submarine U-20, Commander Walther Schweiger,

...had fired the torpedo. Schweiger's torpedo did more than any one thing, perhaps, to bring America inevitably into the World War. After the first wave of horror, indignation mounted, newspapers shouted for a firm stand, neighbors discussed hotly the rights and wrongs of a neutral country when others are at

...war. Few went far as to suggest there were fewer neutrals in America after May 7, 1915. Three days later, President Wilson made his famous speech in which he said "There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by

Named to Probe Virgin Isles Row

A one-man investigating committee, Senator Robert R. Reynolds, above, of North Carolina, will start hearings about May 10 into charges against the Virgin Islands administration of Gov. Paul Pearson, which have stirred up a bitter battle in Washington, with cabinet members and congressmen taking sides in the affray.

diplomat and statesman study the possible means of redefining neutrality so that it becomes really possible.

The Lusitania, we know now, was unarmed, and carried no troops, despite German contentions at the time. But we also know that she carried 4200 cases of rifle cartridges and other military supplies destined for the Allied troops. This was quite legal at the time. Was it wise to back up neutrals who sailed on such a ship?

Twenty years later, munitions committee members and state department diplomats are wondering.

Farm Population Largest In History Of United States

WASHINGTON. — The farm population—now the largest in the nation's history—is estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as of Jan. 1, 1935, at 32,779,600 persons.

This is 270,000 persons more than on the same date in 1934. The increase is attributed to a surplus of births over deaths rather than to any marked farmward movement from cities.

The bureau says the movement away from farms last year was larger than the movement to the farms. It is estimated that 783,000 persons moved out of cities, towns, and villages to farms last year, but that 994,000 persons moved from farms to cities, towns, and villages.

The net migration from farms was 211,000 persons, but this loss was more than made up by a surplus of 481,000 farm births over deaths. The net gain of 270,000 persons in the farm population is reported to have been only 3,000 persons more than the gain in 1933.

The bureau says that although the net change in farm population as a whole was about the same in 1934 as in 1933, more pronounced differences are indicated by the estimates for the various major geographic divisions.

Whereas in 1933 each of these areas showed small net gains ranging from 1.4 per cent in the South Central States to 2 tenths of one per cent in the Mountain and Pacific States, in 1934 the Pacific States gained 1.7 per cent, the Mountain States lost 1.2 per cent, and the West North Central States lost 1.1 per cent. The drought, it is stated, was responsible for some of these contrasts.

The bureau says the reduction in migration from cities, towns, and villages in northern and north-eastern industrial states "was probably the combined result of a farm housing shortage, somewhat better employment opportunities in non-agricultural industries, and the larger cash relief payments generally available to urban residents as contrasted to rural dwellers."

The bureau's estimates do not include so-called subsistence farms to any extent since local correspondents furnishing information to the bureau tend to overlook most of these non-commercial enterprises.

Add people who can dish it out, but can't take it—the politicians handling work relief billions.

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop)

By Cowen

ALLEY OOP

By HAMLIN

...to the 1959 souls aboard Lusitania, all this seemed unreal seemed the long struggle over the rights of neutrals, the constant infringement, both sides on what were then derided neutral rights. Far seemed the straining naval blockade of Germany by Britain, the ever more ruthless German submarine campaign against shipping.

...e 1919 Americans among them have remembered Wilson's three months before, promise to hold Germany to "strict accountability" if American lives were lost. Six weeks before, the American life had been lost, the sinking of the British ship.

...it the trip seemed to have made in safety. The Irish looked comfortable close, 10 miles off. The great ship sped from a fog bank before and at 2 p. m. was steaming knots through a smooth sea bright spring weather.

...ddenly a lookout cried out, many eyes glimpsed a seething white streak snaking its way around the ship. Almost before a word could be uttered, the torpedoes struck home. There was a terrific explosion, debris leaped to masthead, and the ship felt as if it were being slammed.

...Some said there were two torpedoes, but this has not even been settled with finality. The great ship listed almost instantly to starboard and began to roll. There was no confusion, no panic.

...was hard to launch the lifeboats, though they had previously been uncovered and swung out on the starboard side hung out from the ship; those on port side rasped and splintered on the side of the ship as they were lowered. The engine rolls having been put out of commission, headway of the big ship could not be stopped, adding to the difficulty.

...and the time was so horribly slow. Even the Titanic floated for three hours after the ice-actual and immediate war. But force that it is right."

To this shining standard, few rallied. The people demand was plainly for more drastic action than the series of notes that throughout the summer passed between America and Germany.

As these few increasingly severe, the Pacifist Bryan, Secretary of State, resigned, saying: "Why should an American citizen be permitted to involve his country in war by traveling in a belligerent ship, when he knows that ship will pass through a danger zone? . . . It is a very one-sided citizenship that compels a government to go to war over a citizen's rights and yet relieve the citizen of all obligations to consider his nation's welfare."

For such views and for resigning his office to maintain them, Bryan was vilified as an "unspeakable traitor." But they are views that are getting the most careful study in Washington today as Meals cost less when food is not wasted...

One way to beat the rising cost of food is to reduce the wastage that is caused by food spoilage. Little bits of left-over food that are thrown in the trash, the half-bottle of milk that sours before it can be used, the other food that cannot be used amount to several dollars by the end of the month.

You can reduce this waste with an electric refrigerator. The constant low temperature keeps perishable foods fresh and wholesome until they can be used. This food saving will go a long way toward making the small monthly payments.

"SOMEBODY TO SEE YOU!"

IF EVERYBODY with something to interest you should come and ring your bell, what a nuisance it would be! Think of the swarming, jostling crowd, the stamping of feet on your porch and carpets!

Every day we know of many callers who come to see you. They never jangle the bell—they don't take up your whole day trying to get your attention. Instead, they do it in a way that is most considerate of your privacy and your convenience. They advertise in your newspaper.

In this way you have only to listen to those you know at a glance have something that interests you. They make it short, too, so you can gather quickly just what you want to know. You can receive and hear them all without noise or confusion in a very few minutes.

In fairness to yourself look over all the advertisements. The smallest and the largest—you never can be sure which one will tell something you really want to know.

Wednesday
Civic league presents Better Homes-Music Week program, 8 p. m., community clubhouse.

Informal Afternoon
To the keen disappointment of the Better Homes-Music Week committee, the feature of the program for the week, the cantata by the Methodist church choir of Waco, for Sunday night, was canceled late Saturday night, by the expected guests, on account of the rain storm and bad roads.

The chairman in charge of concert Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite, and Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Stanford immediately arranged for an informal afternoon of hymn practice at the home of the Stanfords, and at close of the afternoon, the refreshments prepared for the visitors were served.

Those entertained were the members of the Methodist church choir of Eastland, and those of other churches, who had assisted in the Easter cantata, given in the Methodist church.

After a sing song practice by the 40 or more attending, a brief business session was held, and plans were made for choir rehearsals, to be held Thursday night; two anthems a month were planned, and special music in the between Sunday services until fall.

Booster Bible Class
The Booster Bible class of the Methodist church held their usual session Sunday morning, opened by W. W. Kelly, their president, with the hymn, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," with Mrs. P. L. Crossley, song leader, and Mrs. W. W. Kelly as pianist.

Announcement was made that there will be no meeting of the Booster class next Sunday morning, as the invitation to attend the 9:49 class Mother's Day program that morning has been accepted.

The Martha Dorcas Mother's Day banquet on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock was announced.

There was but a small attendance and no guests.

The lecture by Judge W. P. Leslie, subject, "The Fugitive Slave," brought a fine discourse on this subject and home training.

Class closed with the Booster benediction.

Recital Tonight
Mrs. F. O. Hunter extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend the recital given under her auspices tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

A splendid program of a variety of music will be presented.

Martha Dorcas Class
The Sunday morning session of the Martha Dorcas class of the Methodist church was opened by their president, Mrs. Mack O'Neal, with hymns, with Mrs. June Kimble as song leader, and Mrs. C. J. Germany, pianist.

The Lord's Prayer in unison prefaced a short business period, in which plans for the mother-daughter banquet, sponsored by this class for Thursday evening in the assembly room of the Methodist church were discussed; the chairman, Mrs. C. W. Hoffmann, made her general report.

It was announced that the members of the Men's 9:49 Bible class will serve the menu.

Mrs. W. P. Leslie brought the lesson, "The Forgiveness of Sins," based on Luke 15:11-24.

Twenty-five members were present, and a guest, Mrs. Tom Todd of Dallas, who is visiting between the homes of Mrs. J. C. Shupe and Mrs. D. J. Jobe.

Civic League Program For Tomorrow
The Civic league will hold its last meeting for this season at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in community clubhouse, which is being arranged for the occasion by the home committee, Mmes. P. B. Bittle, H. L. Hart, and S. D. Phillips.

The session will be opened by the president, Mrs. W. K. Jackson, and then turned over to Mrs. Eugene Day, the presiding chairman.

Home Makers Class
The Home Makers class of the Baptist church opened their Sunday morning session with their president, Mrs. W. P. Palm, in charge of the business period.

Mrs. Earl Dick led the morning prayer, the preface to a fine lesson brought by Mrs. W. H. Muston of Durango, Colo., formerly an active worker in the local Baptist circles.

Mrs. Muston was the guest speaker for the meeting, and in compliment the Fidelis Matrons class attended this session.

Mrs. Muston was the former teacher of the Fidelis Matrons class.

The report of the attendance contest was stated. There was a difference of only 100 points between the winning side and the losing side. The losers will entertain the winners at some coming date.

The Mother's Day seated tea, to be hosted by the officers of the Home Makers class, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in community clubhouse was announced.

Each member is entitled to a certain number of guests. There were 24 members in attendance.

Young Peoples Epworth League
The Young Peoples Epworth league enjoyed a big attendance at their Sunday evening session, held in the Methodist church and conducted by their president, Bob Sikes.

Following the business routine, Parker Brown, took charge of the program, which opened with the ensemble singing of "In My Heart."

The subject for discussion, "Friendship," brought an interesting talk by Frank Hatten, "What Friendship Means to Me."

Miss Mary Frances Hunter gave the several points of "The Good Qualities of a Friend."

A hymn closed the program. Mrs. J. E. Hickman, their director, announced the Mother's Day program in which the Young Peoples league will present a program in the church next Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Eastland, San Angelo Artists Presented in Breckenridge Concert

SPRING party luncheon
A should give a lift to the spirits of everybody, including the hostess. The only way to get the hostess in on this is to have a meal that can be mostly cooked the day before.

There's nothing like a jellied salad to add charm to a luncheon plate. Vivid colors set in a pool of translucent jelly against a background of varied greens look almost too good to eat, but everybody does. Knowing that the salad is reposing in the ice-box at least twenty-four hours before it will be needed is what adds to the hostess' joy of living.

Meats for Slicing
Paper thin slices of baked ham, delicately seasoned veal loaf and cold boiled tongue are good for the cold plate, but cold breast of chicken is best of all. Cook fowl in boiling water well seasoned with pot herbs, until tender. Add salt the last half hour of cooking. Let cool in stock. Then remove breast and divide in two parts entirely free from skin and bone. Wrap in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Although one chicken furnishes only two filets and one meat plan with this in mind, the rest of the chicken and the stock will make many delicious meals for the family.

Serve sliced cucumbers in green pepper rings and garnish the plate with radish roses.

Jellied Vegetable Salad
One tablespoon granulated gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 1-2 cup vinegar, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, few drops black pepper, 1 cup boiled beets cut in fancy

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Shredded fresh pineapple, cereal cooked with dates, cream, fried dried beef, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Waffles with creamed salmon and buttered peas, rhubarb compote, cottage cheese, toasted crackers, milk tea.

DINNER: Roast shoulder of lamb, browned new potatoes, gravy, mint sauce, asparagus on toast, frozen tomato salad, Spanish cream, milk, coffee.

shapes, 1-2 cup sliced carrots, 2 hard cooked eggs.
Cut eggs into eight slices and put a slice in the center of each individual mold. Fill with prepared jelly and let stand in refrigerator over night to chill and become firm.

To make jelly: Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Add sugar, vinegar, lemon juice and salt. Let stand until cool and beginning to stiffen. Then add tabasco sauce and vegetables.

Unfold on a bed of lettuce and garnish with watercress and parsley.

Serve the cold plate with a variety of hot muffins—tiny whole wheat, cornmeal and rye muffins make a good assortment. Or, if you're a popover expert, have them piping hot with plenty of butter and add to your culinary reputation.

For dessert nothing can surpass strawberry ice-box cake or pineapple charlotte. Both the desserts are seasonal and must be prepared the day before wanted for serving.

MANY THRILLS IN "FOUR HOURS TO KILL"
Richard Barthelmess, absent for months from the screen, returns to play the gun-fighting desperado who lays down his life to get a squealer in Paramount's "Four Hours to Kill," coming Wednesday to the Lyric Theatre.

An escaped murderer on his way back to the noose, Barthelmess makes a successful break in a theatre where he and a detective are spending the time between trains.

While police search frantically for him, Barthelmess makes a call that lures his victim to the theatre, and lies in waiting for him.

In the meantime, other small life dramas work out in the theatre. A rich woman has met her sweetheart in the theatre and plans to run away with him; a cloakroom boy steals and faces arrest.

All of these dramas center on that of the escaped convict when his victim suddenly enters the theatre and stands before his hiding place.

A crashing, lightning-like climax changes the figures in the drama and brings it to its conclusion.

Joe Morrison, Helen Mack, Gertrude Michael and Dorothy Tree appear in the principal supporting roles of "Four Hours to Kill!"

Texas' Quota For CCC Is Doubled

AUSTIN.—Texas' quota of young men to join the Civilian Conservation Corps has been nearly doubled by an increase from 14,200 under the old program to 26,880 under a new program, it was announced by Neal Guy, enrollment supervisor for Texas.

Enrollment under the new quota will take place between June 15 and Aug. 31, Guy stated, at which time county relief administrators will receive applications from young Texans desiring to go to a 10-year bracket of from 18 to 28. Part of the men accepted will be sent to camps in nearby states, the rest to camps in Texas.

"Application should be made to the county administrators," Guy instructed applicants, "and not to the Texas Relief Commission. The administrator is the selecting agent for his county's quota, and the delay entailed in making application through this office invariably lessens the applicant's chances of acceptance."

Baking Powder Use Explained

Because of the increased efficiency of K C and some other baking powders in use today, representing about 80 per cent of the baking powder consumed, they should be used properly to produce best results.

Knowing that baking powder leavens cake it is natural to assume that adding an extra half teaspoon to the amount specified in a recipe will give a cake greater lightness. The fact is that too much making powder may cause sinking in the center, tough, gummy crust, coarse dry crumb, or cake that runs over the pan.

For best results it is a good plan to follow two simple rules: First, always use the amount recommended on your baking powder can. With K C one level teaspoonful to a cup of flour is sufficient. This proportion has been worked out as best for that particular type baking powder. Second, measure carefully—an excess amount of any baking powder does not produce best results. A level teaspoonful means that you must level off with a knife.

K C baking powder, which is advertised regularly in the columns of this paper, is manufactured by baking powder specialists who make nothing but baking powder—under supervision of expert chemists of national reputation. The quality is always uniform—K C is dependable.

Used according to directions it will produce the finest of baked goods, K C is one of the most economical and efficient products entering the kitchen. You will be convinced of this by giving it a trial and observing the results obtained.

The manufacturers will mail, postpaid, a copy of the K C Cook's Book if you will send them your name and address with a certi-
