

TORNADOES, SNOW AND RAIN TAKE 11 LIVES

That reminds me...

Figures sometimes are dry and don't cause much interest, but here are some figures that not only should be of interest but also reflect the wonderful improvements that have been made throughout the county by the efficient cooperation of H. E. Driscoll, county administrator for work and direct relief. Beginning for the month of January, 1934, there was spent through the Eastland office as follows: direct $3,259.10; work, none. February, direct $12,670.87; work, none. March, direct $12,652; work, none. April, direct $10,969.73; work, $43.20. May, direct $11,886.12; work, $73.05. June, direct $10,313.47; work $2,937.57. July, direct $15,740.07; work, $5,395.54; August direct $19,459.76; work $6,762.90. September, direct $20,298.83; work $8,646. October, direct $23,215.78; work $9,780. Now watch this next month on work relief after Mr. Driscoll had called the citizens of the county together on October 23rd, and told them what a bet they were missing by not taking advantage of the work relief projects. Here it is: Direct, $26,995.29; work $17,783.30. December, direct $14,670.41; work $27,046.05; January 1935 direct $19,934.11; work $23,332.93. February direct $18,927.03; work $20,780.07. March direct $19,697.01; work $16,753.85. April direct, $19,940.77; work $20,160.80

And the possibility is an increase for May. There have been 146 projects in order since April, 1934. There are now 63 projects working. There has been an expenditure of finished projects since April, 1934, of $153,405.93. Mr. Driscoll states that only 80 per cent of the general relief budget asked for was allotted the county for this month.

A good promise of rain for today to settle the dust covered area was in the atmosphere. That's fine and here's hoping that we get a good one—we need it.

Harriman (left), of the United States Chamber of Commerce, seems to be devoting his entire attention to the important business of eating. Talking with him between bites at the luncheon opening the chamber's convention in Washington is Lawrence M. Judd, former governor of Hawaii.

COMMITTEEMEN ELECT EASTLAND COUNTY FARMER TO MAKE TRIP TO WASHINGTON IN A DEFENSE

Thought Flier Was At Eastland Port; Feared of Safety

Anxiety over safety and whereabouts of Roscoe Turner, world flier, who had a speaking engagement in Breckenridge Thursday, was expressed in messages received here after the flier was long overdue at the former city. Reports were transmitted by some that the flier was forced to land at Eastland, because of non-visibility in the air caused by dust storms. It was later learned that Turner, starting from Dallas, landed at Fort Worth, then continued to Breckenridge by automobile.

Six United States Navy and Army fliers found refuge from grit during the sandstorm Thursday when they were forced to land at Eastland American Legion airport. The fliers departed early this morning after spending the night at Eastland. They were J. B. Kneip and O. R. Sanborn, Philadelphia; Stanley E. Herbert, O. M. Hawkes, Philadelphia, and L. L. LONG GIVEN COLD SHOULDER BY SENATORS

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Administration leaders gave Senator Huey Long another treatment of "cold shoulder" today by ignoring his latest radio attack on President Roosevelt. Administration leaders said they did not remain up to hear his reply to the President's fireside chat. Leaders stood by their announced intention of ignoring Long and his attack in the administration. His radio address followed a similar attack in the senate. Long asserted Mr. Roosevelt was misleading the people when he told them conditions are improving. He criticized the president's vacation.

That Eastland county farmers are in accord with AAA policies and want enactment of legislation to guarantee its life for a long time was demonstrated at a called meeting of county and local production control committeemen at Eastland Thursday. Committeemen voted to send Joe McNeely, farmer who resides 12 miles southeast of Eastland, to Washington with other Texas farmers to urge the administration for benefits received. Edgar Alton of Pleasant Hill, near Cisco, corn-hog committeeman, was elected alternate. Over 35 local and county committeemen voted to send McNeely to Washington to make the trip of demonstration of faith of the administration's agricultural policies. McNeely is a member of the peanut committee. Expenses of the trip will be borne by members of the committee mutually. McNeely will leave from a Texas point with hundreds of Texas farmers May 12. Insurance of support of Eastland county farmers in support of the program, recently the attack of some, will be made by McNeely. McNeely promised that every senator and member of the house of representatives will be presented a horned toad from the county. "I appreciate the honor," McNeely thanked committeemen after his election. "I feel like I'll enjoy the trip if everything is favorable. I appreciate you thinking I'll make a good representative whether I will or not," he responded to his election. In conversation with the committeemen, C. Metz Heald, county agent, said he expected that cash benefits of the programs this year will approximate $200,000. Figures given showed that 950 have signed peanut reduction contracts, 290 the corn-hog papers and 1,110 for the cotton program were expected to be secured. O. W. Ewing, in charge of the cotton program, presided at the meeting. A publicity committee to arouse interest in the trip was appointed in H. C. Davis, S. M. Doss, Eastland; June Hendricks, Kokomo, and Joe McNeely.

Illinois Relief Crisis Is Grave

CHICAGO, May 3.—The Illinois relief crisis verged on a famine today as many families besieged private charities with appeals for food. The Illinois emergency relief commission, its flow of federal funds cut off, admitted the situation was becoming "really desperate."

KIDNAPING OF WITNESSES OF THOUGHT HOAX

GALLUP, N. M., May 3.—The sheriff and the chief of police today openly expressed doubt that David Levinson and Robert Minor, who came here to aid the defense of 10 accused rioters, were kidnaped. They indicated the kidnaping report was a hoax designed to attract attention to the trial of 10 men charged with murder in the eviction riot here April 4, in which the sheriff and two unemployed men were slain. There was only one witness to the reported kidnaping by a "gang of hooded men." That witness was Mrs. Julia Bartol, wife of one of the defendants. She said the hooded men seized Minor and Levinson while they were sitting with her in a parked car downtown discussing the riot cases. A night-long search failed to reveal a trace of the three car loads of abductors. Texas Convicts Are Held In Illinois

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 3.—Authorities today attempted to link Olin Tyler, John Bratcher and Tom Bryant, escaped Dallas prisoners, with a $5000 bank holdup Tuesday at Iberia, Mo., and with several other crimes in Missouri and Arkansas. When captured last night as they sped out of the city the fugitives had guns, ammunition and burglar tools. The arsenal included an automatic pistol, two shotguns, a rifle and 300 rounds of ammunition.

UTILITY BILL FAILS TO GET ENOUGH VOTES

AUSTIN, May 3.—Governor Allred's "brain trust" utility bill, which Dr. R. H. Montgomery, University of Texas economist, promises will have Texas' light and gas bills, today had become the chief issue of the legislature. The bill was thrown into the foreground last night in a stormy senate session. The session was one limited by agreement to local bills and "uncontested bills." Each senator prepared a list he wished to take up. If three hands rose in objection he had to withdraw it and suggest another. When the name of Senator Allan Snivers, Beaumont, was reached he called up the bill. It still bore the name of the measure drafted by Dr. Montgomery and passed in the house. A senate committee had recommended a substitute which prohibited cities from installing utility in competition to existing private plants, without first buying the private plant at a price to be fixed by a state commission. Shouts from protesting senators brought crowds flocking to the senate galleries. A larger attendance at the next meeting was appointed in George Harper, chairman; John Burke and George Uttz. Brief talks were made by Albert Taylor, J. A. Beard and E. M. Threet. Highway 89 celebration at Eastland was one of the major topics discussed under leadership of Milburn McCarty, general chairman, H. C. Davis, secretary of the chamber, reported. Compliments on Eastland's airport was given by Lieuts. J. B. Kneip and O. R. Sanborn of Philadelphia, who were spending the evening in Eastland, after having been forced down because of dust storms.

A smoker committee to work on

Pipe Line Bill Is Apparently Killed

AUSTIN, May 3.—Defeat of the proposed $59,000,000 natural gas pipe line from the Panhandle to Detroit and St. Louis, seemed likely today as the hush refused to take it up out of order. The bill cannot be reached in regular order before the session ends on May 11. The vote was 76 yes and 57 no. Two thirds vote is necessary to suspend regular order. Another attempt to get two-thirds vote may be made.

35 TRUE BILLS RETURNED BY GRAND JURORS

Grand jurors of 88th district court headed by O. L. Duckett, foreman, ended their March labors late Thursday afternoon when they returned 35 indictments to Judge B. W. Patterson. At a previous session, eight other "true bills" were reported, totaling 35 indictments returned for the March term. All charged offenses were felonies. Most of the indictments returned, District Attorney Grady Owen said, were for liquor offenses. A majority of the reported offenders have been arrested, it was reported. Commendation for assistance of Grady Owen was expressed by the investigators who examined 86 witnesses. After a lookover of the jail the foreman reported it was in a clean and sanitary condition.

Leslie were in Dallas the major part of the week, when they heard arguments in 31 cases at the 5th court of civil appeals. Dan Children, clerk of the Eastland appellate court, accompanied the trio on the trip.

PANNING NEW DEAL CAUSES A NEW BREAK

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A break in the ranks of the nation's business leaders developed today over the United States Chamber of Commerce's harsh denunciation of the new deal. New groups split over two of President Roosevelt's primary recovery measures, NRA and social security. The Chamber of Commerce closed its convention with a boisterous denunciation of the entire new deal program. A group of 23 leaders went to the white house to assure the president of their support of his two important recovery measures. The liberal leaders comprising the business advisory council of the department of commerce offered the president their support of the extension of NRA and enactment of a security program for aged indigent and unemployed. The council was accompanied by Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper, who had defended the new deal before the chamber. Included in the group was Henry Harriman, retiring president of the chamber, who presided at the convention.

Employable Farm Families Are Not Eligible For Relief

County Administrator H. E. Driscoll has been instructed that it is not permissible to extend any form of relief, payable from general relief funds, to any employable farm family. A farm family is defined as a family residing outside the limits of incorporated or unincorporated cities, towns, or villages, and who depend upon farming operations for the major portion of their income. General relief funds may not be used for extending aid to farm families. They may receive aid in the form of advances through the rural corporation. This regulation is effective May 2, and if work cards have been issued for work relief to such families, such work cards will be recalled, and relief given in the form of advances secured by notes and mortgages, through the rural department. All families affected by this change will be classed as Group 3 rural rehabilitation families, and will continue to receive aid from our rural subsistence funds when such funds have been received. Such families will execute notes and mortgages for all advances they receive after this date, but up to the present time, no rural subsistence funds have been received, although daily expected. If a client transferred under these regulations receives subsistence advances, executing notes for same, and later it develops a waiver form cannot be secured from the landlord or other creditors, then the case shall be dropped completely, as provided in previous instructions covering Group 3 clients, and the client shall receive no further advances after the date creditor refuses to execute waivers.

Tex Thornton May Not Have Chance To Produce Rain

DALHART, Texas, May 3.—As though blocking the attempts of Tex Thornton, explosives expert, to bomb rain from the skies, heavy clouds gathered over the Panhandle as Thornton planned to send more bombs upward. Weather-wise residents regarded the clouds as the vanguard of storms which have advanced to Clovis, N. M., and were expected to reach Amarillo by mid-afternoon.

FLEET LEAVES TO WORK OUT "PROBLEM 16"

ABOARD U. S. FLEET FLAGSHIP PENNSYLVANIA, May 3.—Behind a shroud of wartime secrecy, the U. S. navy moved in combined force into the Pacific at dawn today, beginning the biggest war game in its history. From San Diego on the south to the Aleutian Islands in the far north, the battle forces swept to sea to engage in problem 16. A majority of the heavy battleships nosed out of San Francisco bay and cruised off from Puget Sound. From the maneuver is expected to come knowledge America safe from foes.

Wistful Juliana

Holland's future queen, Princess Juliana, is wistful and lonely in this informal picture, just received in America. Though she'll one day have a throne, romance has steered a wide course, all attempts to arrange a royal match for her having been without avail.

SHORT NRA EXTENSION IS NOT FAVORED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Speaker Joseph W. Byrnes said today he doubted the house would accept a temporary eight or nine month extension of NRA as proposed in the senate. "It seems to me that if it is extended it should be for more than a few months, if it serves a good purpose," he said. A distinct change in sentiment has occurred in regard to NRA, Byrnes and Chairman John O'Connor of the house rules committee, said. Each said their mail from business men failed to uphold the stand of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and appeared to favor extension "with some modifications." Byrnes indicated the house would accept the two-year extension proposed by the president.

State Cotton Growers Await New Staple

EDINBURG, Texas.—Farmers in this area await the appearance of a new variety of cotton which is said to attain a height of 10 feet and produce an extra-long fiber. It is known as "Aztec cotton." Seedlings already have sprouted, but they have not developed sufficiently to enable farmers to determine the nature of the plant. Approximately 30 farmers have planted acreage in the new variety. The "Aztec" seed is rare and Edinburg growers are under contract to return all seed from the 1935 crop to the original owners. According to reports, the seed was found in an Indian cave in Colorado. The discoverer planted the seed and was amazed to find that the stalks grew 10 feet tall.

FLOODS BRING HAZARDS TO SOME AREAS

Seven Killed in Arkansas and Four in Kentucky By The Storms. Tornadoes, electrical storms and wind-driven snow brought death to 11 persons, injuries to scores and caused untold property damage in the middlewest today. Floods brought additional hazard to the area. Seven were killed by tornadoes in Arkansas, four others in Kentucky and property damage ran into millions of dollars. The twisters were accompanied by rain and at historic Churchill Downs, slight damage was reported and it appeared the race would be run in the mud. A snowstorm whipped across Wisconsin. Five inches of snow covered the ground and it still was falling. The storm amounted to almost a blizzard near Lake Michigan, borne on a 40-mile wind. Meanwhile torrential rains sent rivers to near the flood stage in Indiana and Illinois. Both the Wash and White rivers in Indiana were rising rapidly and railroad service on two lines was disrupted by washouts near Peoria, Ill. Communication disrupted by a half million dollar sleet storm in Minnesota has been restored. Conditions are extremely favorable for general rains over the Panhandle area tonight and tomorrow, the Dallas weather bureau reported today. "There is a low pressure area over the high plains areas today, Dr. J. L. Cline, federal meteorologist, said, and snow and rain is falling to the west of the plains in New Mexico and in Colorado. The sky was overcast at Amarillo today and for the first time in many days the dust had subsided. A moderate cool wave bring the temperature to 38 degrees at Amarillo. If rain should fall in the area as predicted it would mean the first precipitation since last March when .92 of an inch fell. Elsewhere over the state the sky was overcast today with the exception of Brownsville.

We can't understand why a rich man should object to the share-the-wealth program, since eventually his daughter would share it, anyway, with a titled foreigner.

(This essay was submitted to us so we decided to use it in place of an editorial.—Editor.)
Before writing this brain spasm I bought an India rubber arm, as an extension is needed when my imagination runs away with me.

Track meets are very foolish occurrences which most people go crazy over. To my idea they are the most foolish of all games because there is always one individual who stands out more than others. There is no chance for teamwork. One man must run his own race, and if he wins he is either big-headed or ashamed of his weakness of running too fast.

He should be ashamed because if he wins his race, he shows up the weakness of his opponents and takes upon himself all the glory.

I'm hooking up my rubber arm now, for I sadly perceive that I am going to be carried far off.

The throwing of the shot, the heaving of the discus and the putting of the javelin (please excuse if the terms are slightly mixed) probably all come from Africa, Australia, or No-Man's Land. The javelin was first used as a toy for baby alligators to play with, but a savage found one and thought immediately of having a track meet with no events except cross country runs.

As for the other weights, a monkey dropped a head on a Chinaman's cocoanut, rendering him completely sensible, and making his wish to start competition in the 100 yard dash.

Back in the good old days, when our dusty forefathers heard the cheery roar of the dinosaur instead of the dreary crow of the Chanticleer, which is seldom heard now, the weaker portion of the twin would sometimes take a peculiar idea that running away from home would be smart. This is easily shown to be true, for some women are now inclined thusly, and why are they inclined so if they do not inherit it? This seemingly small incident has caused a part of this track meet to be held. When our forefathers went after our foremothers, it was said to be a running fight, but is known as the cross country run.

The next point is shocking, very, very shocking indeed. The running of the hurdles was caused by a little ant. Yes, sir, a little black stinging ant can cause a lot of mischief if he is squeezed in the right place when squeezed. As it happened, a full grown Indian maiden with long white whiskers sat down on a poor little stinging ant. As she arose (very fast, indeed) he began to attain speed and perceiving a stump in front of him he tried to hurdle it, but not being big enough, he had to crawl around it. By the way I missed the point and began talking about the ant. Anyway this finally established track driving in the track meet.

The reason sweaters are given for track, they are sort of a diploma for a very essential part of one's education.

HOOK CAUGHT FISH HAWK
By United Press
RICHMOND, Va.—A fish hawk, swooping over Boy Scout lake in Chesterfield county, dived for a wriggling minnow. Too late, he learned the minnow was wooden and had hooks attached. James M. Hayes, Jr., Richmond, had the hawk—and told the story.

"CRACKED ICE"
Theres Bennie Kate Wood who says all boys are saps. Well, I guess everyone has the right to express opinions.

As Carl's Model A comes knocking by we hear a terrible noise. On second look we find Boyd singing lustily while Jane looks very indifferently out the window toward the better things of life.

These Gorman girls in no way seem to please Donel Gann or they at least didn't on his last visit to the fair village.

I think it about time Richard Nunn decided to start going with Eastland girls. One more trip to Ranger and the school will be getting a half holiday and be going to Dick's funeral.

We have at last found a girl who wanted to know what that good looking Mackall boy's address was. The only thing that bothers us is the Mackall shes talking about. Its a cinch it wasn't Ben.

Why in the world should "Shady" Lane learn the following verse:
Gentle modest little flower
Love me but for half an hour.
I know good and well he isn't that versatile.

Wesley Lane is hereby declared the worst bed partner this side of the dear old Atlantic ocean.

John Hart just has to start learning his lines by the ninth of May so don't any of you girls ask him for a date that night. I know its gonna be hard to keep from asking him, but theres Sammy and he'll do just as good for one night, surley.

Frank Hatten's latest and driest joke—Theres cheers over my left shoulder.

Ouida Sanderson and Katherine Utz seem to be meeting each other with raised heads. So you won't talk eh?

Everyone can be assured of perfect safety when you step across a street down town now. Harrison has gone and there is no green chevy to come tearing around the corner making about 50 on two wheels.

These junior high boys start out early. Look at Bob Keasler or I guess you could ask him about (if you have a good insurance policy). Williams and Chance are on the up and up. I mean they are getting along O. K.

Just who is Bill Bagley making love to? Thats about as clear as a cup of mud in a two pound oat meal box in the northern part of Alaska with a black sheet over it covered with snow.

Mike Williams and Earline Harvey—best play directors this side of New York. Their presentation of "The Captain's Predicament" was the most thrilling production ever produced on high school stage. If Williams had been teamed with Lewai and Earline with Frost the production would have been probably greater than ever.

Understand of course that Frost would have nothing to do with the directing proper, but he could be used for pulling the curtain or something like that.

"Nub" Hinton will find himself on the stage proper in the coming senior play instead of the man behind the set. Alex Clarke will be running the back stage for this year's senior play instead of "Nub."

NOTICE—Students interested in learning the best method of the hunt and peck system on a typewriter see Edmond Herring before noon Saturday. This is a special offer to high school students only.

Wanted—One good book that guarantees you how to waltz. Bob Dwyer (best boy golfer in the Dwyer family).

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

HERE'S the menu that my bridge club has voted the best eating that has been served to us so far this year: Veal birds, all savory in cream gravy; new green peas; timbale to bring a breath of spring; stuffed orange salad for color; chocolate roll, which a good many of us feel we oughtn't to eat, but do because we can't resist chocolate; coffee.

We had hot rolls, too, and a very good home-made tomato relish, but we're skipping the salted nuts and mints this year and feeling very virtuous thereby. It's a good thing, though, because chocolate, you know, contributes a good many calories to any dish to which it is added.

Remember, chocolate and chocolate mixtures score high. For this reason don't try to melt chocolate over direct heat. Put the chocolate on a piece of wax paper in a saucer and place over hot water until melted.

If you've had trouble combining chocolate and liquids, try melting the chocolate in the top of a double boiler over hot water; then add the liquid which should be warm or about the same temperature as the chocolate. Add very slowly beating constantly.

Chocolate Roll
Six tablespoons pastry flour, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup sifted sugar, 4 eggs, 2 squares baking chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, few drops vanilla.

Sift flour once and measure. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Sift several times. Beat whites of eggs until stiff. Fold sugar gradually into stiffly beaten whites. Fold in yolks of eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Melt chocolate over hot water. Fold flour into first mixture and then carefully beat in melted chocolate and vanilla. Line a pan 15 by 10 inches with oiled paper.

Stuffed Orange Salad
Allow one orange for each person to be served. Cut through the skin three-quarters of the way down in inch strips, being careful not to break strips apart. Remove orange pulp and cut in neat dice. Combine with avocado and grapefruit dice and fill orange shell with mixture. Drop a spoonful of heavy mayonnaise on top of each salad and garnish with a maraschino cherry.

Another good mixture to stuff the orange shells with is a combination of orange sections, dates stuffed with cream cheese and nuts. Mask with mayonnaise.

Woman, 108, Takes No Chances When Ill
By United Press
HOUSTON—Sarah Jane (Grandma) Gillis, 108, doesn't believe in flouting fate, or flying in the face of providence.

When she became ill recently with a mild attack of bronchitis, she promptly went to the hospital. She wasn't "really sick," but she was taking no chances at her age.

Grandma Gillis has outlived three husbands and eight children, and she is proud that her father, S. P. Morly, helped defeat Santa Anna and his Mexican army at the Battle of San Jacinto to win the freedom of Texas.

Morly was 102 when he died. Grandma Gillis has no recipe for longevity. She uses snuff and has since she was a small girl. She got the habit when she lived on a farm as a girl. Her father raised tobacco and the "women folks" ground up the weed and "dipped" it.

Keep Your Eyes Open For That 'Corner'

We have been watching so long for that famous "corner" which must be turned before we pass from depression to prosperity, that our eyes may be getting a little glassy. It is entirely possible that we may get 'way past it before we even see it.

All of which is just another way of saying that a business revival could easily steal upon us unawares. It cannot come overnight; there will be no abrupt transition from depression to boom. Instead, the pick-up must begin a little bit here and a little bit there.

Bearing all that in mind, it is worth glancing at a size-up of the situation just made by the National Industrial Conference Board. This presents a picture which, while somewhat spotty, is preponderantly bright.

The auto industry, for instance, continues to expand. Auto production for the first quarter of 1935 reached a higher level than any in the last eight years with the exception of 1929.

Steel production, on the other hand, slipped nearly 5 per cent from February to March, although it remained 6.5 per cent above the 1934 level. Bookings of fabricated structural steel, meanwhile, rose 34 per cent from February to March, and machine tool orders jumped sharply, giving the first quarter an average 18 per cent above that for 1934.

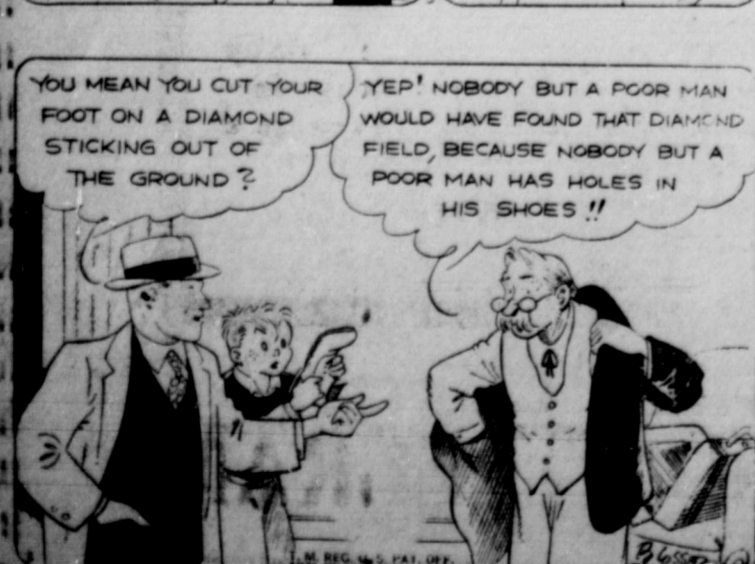

Another encouraging factor is to be found in the fact that building and engineering contract awards rose in March by more than the usual seasonal amount. Residential contracts, in particular, made a gratifying gain.

Electric power production in March declined slightly from February, but the decline was somewhat less than seasonal and the March output remained 4 per cent above that for March, 1934. Bituminous coal production was up in March—possibly because of fear of a strike—and department store sales rose.

It is hard to add all this together and get anything very definite. In the main, however, it may be said that the picture is encouraging.

A slow current of business expansion seems to be at work. How far it will carry us may be another question; but for the moment, at least, we seem to have genuine grounds for optimism.

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop) — By Cowen

The DARK BLOND — By CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY Millicent Graves, secretary to George Drimgold, finds her employer in his office dead. Jarvis Happ, a stranger, offers to help her. She sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a brunette, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets Happ's son, Norman; his stepson, Robert Caise; Mrs. Happ; Dick Gentry, Happ's partner; Vera Duchene, Mrs. Happ's maid. In Happ's home Millicent sees the mysterious woman in black ermine whom she believes has some connection with Drimgold's death. The chauffeur is found dead. Later Happ is kidnapped. Millicent and Norman learn the car driven by the woman in ermine belongs to Phyllis Faulconer. They go to her apartment, find the missing suitcase of books showing a shortage of $200,000 in Gentry's accounts. Millicent and Norman leave and later return. Norman enters first. When he does not reappear Millicent enters. The place is in wild disorder. A policeman arrives. Millicent escapes. She goes to a nearby garage, asks to see Phyllis Faulconer's car and goes to the second floor. She gets in the car and someone grabs her arm. Now Go On With the Story CHAPTER XLIV Millicent's scream was swallowed up in the vast emptiness of the dark concrete room with its parked automobiles, gloomy, sinister and silent, as sole witness to that which was taking place. The man's hand that had clutched her shoulder held her in a vice-like grip. She screamed again, clawed at the man's wrist. As well as tried to claw at one of the concrete supports of the big garage. She tried to bite but could not get her teeth around far enough to catch the wrist. She felt the man's other hand clamp about her own wrist, suddenly felt the bite of steel and heard the ominous click of handcuffs. "You're under arrest, Phyllis Faulconer," a man's voice said, "and anything you say will be used against you." Half an hour before the sound of the voice would have filled Millicent with dread. Now she gave a quick gasp of relief. The voice was that of Detective Buchanan. She whirled around in the seat. "You!" she exclaimed. Detective Buchanan moved with deft skill, pinioned her other wrist, snapped the other wristlet of steel about it. "It happens," he said, "that I'm Detective Buchanan from headquarters. I've been trailing you for some little time. Let's have a look at you and see if you're the same person I think you are." Her eyes were blinded by the sudden glitter of a flashlight. She heard Buchanan's exclamation. "Good heavens!" he said, "So you're Phyllis Faulconer!" "No, I'm not." He laughed sarcastically and said, "You can do a lot of explaining young lady, before you talk yourself out of this mess. I knew for quite a while that Phyllis Faulconer must be someone who had access to the Happ residence, but I'll admit that you certainly had me fooled. That trick of yours of giving Sergeant Mahoney the license number of your own automobile was one of the cleverest dodges I have ever known in all my years of trailing crooks. You certainly pulled a fast one. "I suppose you thought he couldn't remember the license number of the automobile, but that's where he fooled you. He's trained himself to remember license numbers. Later on he pretended that he'd only partially remembered the number, transposing the figures and asking questions of everyone so that the real owner would figure he was hot on the trail and try to dispose of the automobile or conceal it somewhere. "When he figured he had the trap sufficiently baited he made arrangements with the garage man to say nothing, but let me watch the car." "No, no!" she said. "You're making a mistake. I swear I'm not Phyllis Faulconer. I found out where she lives. I figured she must keep her car here. I made inquiries downstairs. You can prove it by the night man." "I'm sorry," he told her, "that I can't believe you. Phyllis Faulconer is a very mysterious person. She keeps her car here and maintains an apartment at 3829 Barton avenue. Once or twice a month she takes her car out. No one seems to know very much about her or what she looks like. "But I'm not Phyllis Faulconer. I can prove it to you. I tell you I'm trying to trail her (and Norman Happ has disappeared, and "What's that?" he asked sharply. "Norman Happ," she said, "He's disappeared." "Just what do you mean by that?" "He went up to try to cross-question Phyllis Faulconer in her apartment. I was with him—that is, I waited outside in the taxi cab. I can take you to the cab driver and prove it. And something happened to Norman. The apartment was in an awful mess. There had been a fight and there were blood stains." "Blood stains?" he asked. "Yes." The detective gave a low whistle and said, "You're telling me news, if it's true." "But it is true. I can prove it—every word of it. The cab driver is still waiting in front of the apartment house." "Wait a minute," Buchanan said slowly. "Norman Happ went to the apartment. You knew he was going. Is that right?" "Yes, of course. I went with him." "Yes, I believe you told me that before. And you waited down in the taxi cab while he went up to the apartment. Is that right?" "Yes." He laughed significantly and said, "That simply clinches the case against you. You were clever enough to have arranged it just that way while you telephoned your accomplices to take care of Norman when he came to the apartment." Millicent lost her temper. "As a detective," she said, "you are a frost! I love Norman Happ. I tell you I love him! I love the ground he walks on. I love every hair in his head! If you want to know, Norman Happ asked me to marry him tonight and I was never so happy in my life." There was sudden doubt in Detective Buchanan's voice. "Asked you to marry him?" he inquired. "Yes." Detective Buchanan remained silent for a moment while he seemed to be deliberating. Suddenly the beam of the flashlight moved down to the purse which lay in Millicent's lap. "I'm just going to check up on this," he said. "Go ahead," she told him. He took the purse in his hands, snapped open the catch, let the beam of the flashlight play upon its contents while he said musingly, "Phyllis Faulconer—I wonder if your story is true. I hope it is. I wanted to believe you. I would have sworn that it was another who..." He took a folded paper from her purse. Her eyes, blinded by the flashlight, failed to recognize the paper. She saw only the glitter of the light from a folded square of paper. "I don't know what it is," she said. He unfolded the paper, and she would have given much to have recalled her words, for suddenly she recognized it. At that moment Detective Buchanan gave a low, taunting laugh. "Oh," he said, "so you don't recognize it, eh?" She made some stammering attempt at speech but Buchanan interrupted her, reading in a slow, mocking tone of voice the contents of the letter that she had taken from Phyllis Faulconer's apartment. When she had first seen that letter she hadn't appreciated how utterly damaging it would be if found in her possession. Now, as she heard Buchanan's voice making a damning accusation of every sentence, a black despair engulfed her. "YOU'VE GOT TO DITCH THE CAR, SERGEANT MAHONEY HAS THE LICENSE NUMBER. HE'S GOT IT TWISTED BUT I WON'T BE LONG UNTIL HE GETS THE RIGHT NUMBER. I TRIED TO GET A CHANCE TO TALK WITH YOU BUT THEY WERE WATCHING ME TOO CLOSELY AND I DON'T WANT THEM TO SUSPECT YOU. SO FAR YOU'RE ABSOLUTELY ABOVE SUSPICION. "NO ONE SUSPECTS ANYTHING UNLESS IT'S THE GIRL. I'M GOING TO TAKE CARE OF HER. WHAT'S MORE, I'M GOING TO GET THAT NOTEBOOK—THE ONE THAT CONTAINS DRIMGOLD'S CONFESSION. IT WILL CLEAN UP THE LAST PIECE OF EVIDENCE. YOU DITCH THE CAR. LEAVE THE GIRL TO ME—BOB."

When Two Fall Recklessly in Love

TEAMING HARLOW AND WILLIAM POWELL GLORIOUS EVENT

Jean Harlow and William Powell, two of screenland's most famous and colorful stars, become a co-starring team for the first time in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Reckless," which opens Monday at the Lyric theatre.

The union of the two popular stars takes place in a lavish musical production against a dazzling background of theatrical Broadway. It introduces many new songs and dance ensembles.

The story, written originally for the screen by Oliver Jeffries, was adapted by P. J. Wolfson. The musical score was written by Jerome Kern, celebrated composer of "Show Boat" and "Cat and the Fiddle," in collaboration with several other successful composers.

Although they have been seen together frequently in public life during the last few months, the teaming of Miss Harlow and Powell as co-stars smote Hollywood as a complete surprise because the name of Miss Harlow in the new film was never hinted until the actual work began before the cameras.

Miss Harlow is cast as the bewitching dancing star who introduces the new songs and dances in the production, and Powell appears as the front-page promoter of everything from flagpole sitters to trained fleas.

Franchot Tone plays the reckless socialite son of a grumpy millionaire and falls in love with the dancer.

David O. Selznick is the producer and Victor Fleming the director. May Robson, Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton, Robert Light, Rosalind Russell, Henry Stephenson and Louise Henry, also have prominent parts in the picture.

FROM BEST-SELLER
Film corporations have spent approximately $5,000,000 within the last year in acquiring the screen rights on best selling novels. The newest of these to come to the screen is Paramount's "Private Worlds," starring Claudette Colbert and coming to the Lyric Theatre Sunday. Phyllis Bottome is the author of the story, a psychological love drama in the setting of a hospital for the insane.

BACK IN FILMS
Coming out of a retirement of several years due to illness, Mabel Forrest returns to the screen for a role in Paramount's "Four Hours to Kill!," starring Richard Barthelmess at the Lyric Theatre Wednesday.

"FORGIVE ME, LADIES!" MAESTRO OFFERS ALIBI FOR LASSES IN MOVIE

The ladies of the ensemble have finally crashed Ben Bernie's band! Here they are as they appear with the maestro and George Raft in their new starring Paramount picture, "Stolen Harmony," coming today to the Lyric Theatre. Mack Gordon and Harry Revel wrote the tunes for the picture.

ENTERTAINMENT GUARANTEED IN NEW SEASON PICTURES

Manager Burke of the Lyric announces a new departure in theatre offerings with the announcement of a Texas Consolidated Theatres "May Festival of Certified Entertainment" in which he guarantees the film fare offered at the Lyric theatre.

"I have no hesitation in recommending a guaranteeing the pictures which will play the Lyric theatre during the coming weeks," said Manager Burke. "Certified milk, certified bread and other certified products are familiar to us all and the distributors for these products are able to give this guarantee because they know the quality of their goods. A theatre's merchandise is moving pictures, and we know that during the coming weeks there will be available the greatest number of fine motion pictures ever produced, and so it is with certainty that we can offer certified entertainment to our patrons.

"The motion picture companies have searched the world for outstanding merit in screen stories—from distinguished authors, favorite books and modern writers. Down-to-earth human interest stories will be joined with spectacles and important musical pictures. Many of the new pictures will be from the works of authors universally accepted as setting the standard in literature. There will be many treats, new surprises and new thrills for those attending the May Festival of Certified Entertainment at the Lyric theatre."

On Friday and Saturday the attraction "Solen Harmony" starring George Raft and featuring Ben Bernie and all his lads will be presented. Raft has made to order roles as the ex-convict who turns straight to join Bernie's orchestra on a transcontinental tour but runs into trouble when the band's fund is stolen and he is suspected of the theft. Grace Bradley, as the dance and entertainer with Bernie's band, registers well in the picture and with Raft furnishes the romantic interest. In selecting this picture as the initial attraction of the May Festival of Hits Manager Burke stated that after seeing the film he considered it one of outstanding merits and well worthy of the honor of being the initial picture in this list of special attractions.

On Monday and Tuesday the attraction "Reckless" will be shown. This attraction co-starring Jean Harlow and William Powell is everything to make it one of the outstanding attractions of the year. Of first importance the picture introduces Jean Harlow and William Powell as co-stars for the first time, and Miss Harlow as dazzling Broadway dancer has role well suited to her natural talents. William Powell as the sports promoter is excellent. Supporting cast include Francis Tone in his first attraction since his outstanding success in "Life of a Bengal Lancer," May Robson, Rosalind Russell, Nat Pendleton and Ted Healy. The introduction of four big song hits and the musical background lend much to the entertainment furnished by this attraction.

On Wednesday and Thursday the attraction "Four Hours to Kill!" will be shown. This picture is an adaptation from the successful Broadway play "Small Miracles" and the action of the story takes place almost entirely in the lounge of a Broadway theatre. It depicts the unusual drama that occurs the lives of a group of people in the space of four hours. Headed by a well rounded cast are Richard Barthelmess, Joe Morrison, Gertrude Michael, Dorothy Tree, and Helen Mack.

Some of the other outstanding attractions that will be presented during the May Festival of Hits are "Go Into Your Dance" co-starring Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler, George Straton Porter's immortal story "Laddie," co-starring Gloria Stuart and John Beal, Paul Muni's "Black Fury, Star at Midnight" starring Ginger Rogers, and William Powell, "Sequoia," "Clive India" and "In Caliente."

STAR OF MELODRAMA

Richard Barthelmess plays the leading role in Paramount melodrama thriller, "Four Hours to Kill!," coming to the Lyric Theatre.

COLBERT IN ROMANTIC ROLE

Paramount's "Private Worlds," a dramatic film which explores woman's fear of love, stars Claudette Colbert in her first role since the winning of the Motion Picture Academy Award for the best performance of 1934. The picture at the Lyric Theatre, 11 p. m., Saturday night and Sunday. It was adapted from Phyllis Bottome's widely-read novel.
