STUS SAYS HAMILTON TO BE RUN DOWN

DALLAS, Feb. 7.—Raymond Hamilton continued to evade officials today but the search for him is believed drawing near a climax. "It will be only a matter of time," U. S. District Attorney Eastus said confidentially. "I'll get him." He made it plain that no quarter would be given. He said the government was determined to take Hamilton and did brook no interference from any quarter. City police ushered a man into the morning and their names indicated their belief in the arrest was of major importance. They indicated the man's alibi solved him of any connection to the robbery of a Carthage Monday, attributed to Hamilton, but declined to say whether ever had any connection with Hamilton. He was held incommunicado.

Cotton, Elmer, Tobe and Gorman Morton, Morton Valley; Lee Middleton, Morton Valley; Milton Newman, Butler, Eastland.

Ohio Potteries On A Business Boom

A 25 to 30 per cent increase in business this year over last is anticipated in the entire district. A large portion of the orders received by potteries were obtained at the 55th annual trade exhibit of the Pottery and Glass Manufacturers' Association, in Pittsburgh.

AN LAW TO BE TESTED IN DALHART CT.

DALHART, Tex., Feb. 7.—Texas' new statute, the Dean law, will be attacked as unconstitutional in two cases coming up in court this spring, it was learned today by A. Schlofman, Dalhart lawyer. The law will be challenged on the ground that proper publication was made before it was voted throughout the state. A man, whose firm is handicapped, said the Texas constitution required that proposed laws be published three months before voted upon, and such publication was in all the 254 counties in that reminds me...

Mellon Heir Weds

Getting a license in New York, marriage and sailing on a honeymoon trip to Europe took only a few hours for Paul Mellon (top), only son of Andrew Mellon, Pittsburgh financier, and Mrs. Mary Conover Brown (below), who surprised friends with their speedy nuptials. Mrs. Brown was divorced last summer.

Millions of men and women throughout the nation over 60 years old are focusing their attention on Congress, as to the fate of the old age pension. The Townsend bill which would make the monthly allowance to the tune of $200.00 per month with the insistence that every nickel of it must be spent during the month. In other words when the next check came in he must be absolutely broke.

Of course the idea of making the pension $200.00 a month for each individual is out of line with any consistency. However when the author of the Townsend plan conceded the amount as proper, he no doubt took into consideration the cost of maintaining poor farms, old ladies, and old men's homes, free hospitals and all the other things that are maintained by the city, county, state and national government at the tax payers expense which maintenance costs many thousands more than would be paid at the rate of $200.00 per month for all those over 60 years old. He no doubt feels that these institutions would be wiped out of the picture.

But we will always have the poor with us, no matter what the government does about it. Some individuals cannot live on a thousand a month, others can live comfortably and stay out of debt at $30.00 a month. Some of the old age pensioners would find a way to spend the money as fast as they got it and probably be broke the next day. . . others could try, as hard as they wanted to spend it according to their normal demand needs and have a considerable sum left over. That's just the way things work out and why the law of averages is the basis of existence.

Everybody has their own ideas of how much the pension should be. Some say twenty dollars a month. . . others two hundred. Fifty dollars a month would take care of any man or woman over sixty years old if public hospitals are still in existence in the event of sickness. There are several thousands of men and women over sixty years old who are comfortable financially and do not need the pension at all. Just how that would be worked out, we don't know.

FISCH'S BEST FRIEND TAKES WITNESS STAND

FLEMINGTON, Feb. 7.—Henry Uhlig, who was Isador Fisch's "best friend in America" today began a recital of the activities of Fisch, which the defense hopes will clear Bruno Hauptmann of the murder. Uhlig was on the stand only a few minutes before the noon recess interrupted his story of a trip to Germany he made with the "poverty stricken fur-buyer." Fisch died in Germany, four months after he and Uhlig arrived. Uhlig testified to various enterprises including a pie business in which Fisch had a hand. Hauptmann, who insists Fisch left a shoebox with him containing the ransom money, later found in his garage, looks to Uhlig to prove his statement that Fisch had all the ransom money in 1932. The witness remarked that Fisch had a "very bad cough" in 1932. Dr. John Condon described the man who negotiated with him for the ransom as having a cough. Fisch borrowed large sums from his friends to use in various business enterprises, the defense showed. The evidence was used to support Hauptmann's assertion that he lent Fisch considerable money and Fisch owed him $7,500 when he left for Germany.

Miami Enjoys Boom Rivaling The Days of 1926

MIAMI, Fla.—Not since the boom days of 1926 has Miami enjoyed such a record flow of tourists, according to Mayor E. G. Sewell. The hotels, railroads and steamship lines, travel agencies and business houses report an increase of over 30 per cent above last year, which was then an all-time record, according to Sewell. This exceeded by nearly 50 per cent the volume of tourist traffic during the boom days of 1925-26. The city's record of close to one million and a half visitors in 1934 brings America's fourth largest industry, the tourist business, back to its normal rating, Sewell said.

Two Nations Stand Pat On Decision On Armaments

PARIS, Feb. 7.—France and Great Britain stood pat today on their decision that Germany must make the first move toward negotiations on rearmament and formation of an aerial defense league. Roland Koester, German ambassador, left for Berlin yesterday to report to Adolf Hitler and he was believed Hitler would seek reports from other ambassadors. French and British leaders hoped Hitler would submit to them a counter proposal to the French-British agreement outlining his objections and making suggestions for changes.

Farmer Lets Wind Do Heavy Jobs

CLEBURNE.—L. F. Sharp lets the wind do most of the work around his farm. An ingenious arrangement that attaches to his windmill gets the following things done: pumping water, lighting the farm, turning the cream separator, churning cream into butter, ironing clothes, curling his wife's and daughters' hair, and fanning the whole bunch on hot days. With a few old automobile parts, some sticks of wood, a hinge or two and some springs, Sharp built the apparatus which runs an electric generator. Storage batteries are charged and provide current when the wind stops.

Clarence Brown, Stalcup's companion, also is charged with murder in connection with the sheriff's death. They were recaptured after the killing.

The report was filed by Mary Myers, AAA legal official, and former Chicago justice agent, after a survey of cotton regions west of Memphis, Tenn. The red-haired woman agent said conditions among poor tenants and share croppers were "beyond words." She charged wholesale violations of acreage control provisions expected to protect tenants from eviction.

Our Ideas Reflected By College Youth

Flaming youth may have built a pretty hot fire on our college campuses during the frenzied post-war decade, but the fire has gone out now and the ashes are cold and forgotten.

So, at any rate, says Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the University of Chicago. The present collection of undergraduates, Dr. Gilkey says, is "the best generation of college students I have seen in 30 years of contact with students."

The Chicago dean finds the improvement manifest in several ways.

For one thing, there is a greater attendance at chapel services, and a wider expression of interest in religious discussions. For another, students are serious-minded and realistic in their attitude toward current events. They are at last awake to the fact that something must be wrong with a social scheme which offers them so little.

"Students are not at all convinced about the solution of our situation, but they are convinced that something is wrong," says Dr. Gilkey. Yet they are not turning red on us.

Communism, the dean reports, attracts the smallest of all campus groups, "because it is a dogma, and if there is one thing a college student can't stand, it is a dogma."

All in all, then, this college generation seems to be in much better health mentally and spiritually than any of recent years; and that, when you stop to think about it, is simply a reflection of a corresponding improvement on the part of the older generation.

For young people in college are not a race apart, born in some cloudy vacancy beyond the stars and transported suddenly to earth to perplex the graybeards. They are, in the main, what we have made them.

They have grown up in a world for which we older folk are responsible, and the things they do and think and say simply mirror conditions which we have created.

If they acted in a distressing way during the great boom years, so that higher education became more or less of a mockery on some campuses, they were just doing as we might have expected them to do—for we older ones likewise acted in a distressing way, and we're still paying for it.

If flaming youth became a by-word, the fault really lay with flaming youth's elders.

So if college youth has grown quieter, more serious, and more thoughtful of late, it is a sign that a similar change has been coming over the nation as a whole.

The depression has been a hard school, but we all have learned something in it; one of the surest and most hopeful indications is this new spirit that Dean Gilkey finds on the university campus.

It is said that a pessimist is one who finds a difficulty in every opportunity, and an optimist is one who finds an opportunity in every difficulty.

We hear much about the right and left way. There is an old Chinese saying, "In the middle way lies safety."

LIES HURT HALF HOUR

By United Press CLEVELAND.—Mrs. Tena Callahan, 67, lay with a brown arm 30 minutes on an icy sidewalk in stream of automobiles passed within a few feet on a busy boulevard. For half an hour Mrs. Callahan waved her injured arm and called vainly for help until a pedestrian, hearing her, took a few seconds of time to call police, though he was en route to take a train.

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop)

Income Tax In A Nutshell

Who is the Head of a Family A taxpayer, though single, who supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation, is the head of a family, and entitled to the same exemption allowed a married person—$2,500. Also he may claim a $400 credit for each dependent, a total of $3,300. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to the wife or husband of a taxpayer, though one may be totally dependent upon the other.

Several factors are involved in determining whether a person who files a return as the head of a family is to be thus classified. The element of either legal or financial dependency must exist. A taxpayer who supports in his home minor children over whom he exercises family control is classified as the head of a family, even though the children may have an income of their own sufficient for their maintenance. If he does not support them, by reason of their own income, but does exercise family control, he cannot be classified as the head of a family.

If an individual supported is an adult and rests upon the taxpayer a moral or legal obligation to provide a home and care for such individual, the exemption as the head of a family is allowed, provided the individual is financially dependent. If the individual is not financially dependent, the exemption, even though the taxpayer maintains the common home and furnishes the chief support, does not apply.

For income-tax purposes there can be only one head of a family and the exemption cannot be divided. Not infrequently claims for the $2,500 exemption are received from two or more members of a family.

It should be remembered that a single person, whether or not the head of a family, is required to file a return if his or her net income for 1934 was $1,000 or more, regardless of whether the return is nontaxable by reason of the $2,500 exemption.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON.—Crowded off the front page by Mr. Hauptmann and many new varieties of local excitement, the Senate munitions committee nevertheless resumed its hearings with some of its most important revelations. Its new disclosures were designed to discredit in advance the ineffective, half-way measures for "taking the profit out of war" which it felt would be advocated by E. M. Baruch and Gen. Hugh Johnson, key members of the presidential war profits committee. And when time comes to propose legislation, this groundwork will be used in argument for more radical legislation than Baruch or Johnson would agree to. What the committee showed, with almost no publicity, was that war profits taxes were an unsafe and uncertain means of reducing war profits. The New York Shipbuilding Company, one of the "Big Three" which has made large profits in its business with the navy in both war and peace, reported taxes for the 1918-21 period of only $2,941,625. Bureau of Internal Revenue agents claimed the company owed the government $14,561,091. The final settlement came in 1928—$5,705,308. It was shown that the navy had made wartime contracts with the New York company under which the government paid all taxes and some preferred stock dividends for the company—whose officials said it was the navy's own idea. Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri asked: "Then the more taxes assessed against you, the more profit you made, since you got cost-plus pay on the basis of total cost, including taxes?"

BENEATH THE TROPIC MOON

To the rhythm of jungle drums and the humming of guitars, the elaborate choruses of Paramount's "Rumba," coming Friday and Saturday to the Lyric Theatre, step the paces of their native love dance, the scene is Havana, and George Raft and Carole Lombard are starred in the picture which features a Ralph Rainger dance score and over a hundred Latin-American Rumba dancers brought to Hollywood especially for the production. DANCER MARGO IN RAFT SHOW, NEW FILM FIND

Already famous in Mexico, Spain and a few select places in the United States, Margo, the petite Mexican dancer, brings her unique talents to the screen in the principal featured roles of Paramount's "Rumba," starring George Raft and Carole Lombard and coming Friday to the Lyric Theatre. Daughter of a prominent Mexican family, Margo learned her dancing in Spain and Mexico and made her professional debut at Agua Caliente. Later she ap-

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

TALK about pie pretty often on the theory that it's impossible to overdo a really good thing. I am completely convinced that well-made crisp flaky crust, luscious filling and meringue that melts in your mouth have kept many a home from falling to pieces. It's an axiom that men prefer pie, and I believe in axioms. They are the result of the race's experience! Most plain everyday meals find a pie their perfect ending. A pie made with a filling of milk and eggs contains many calories and much actual food value, too, so it precede it with only a sandwich and a glass of milk you have a well-balanced, nourishing meal. One-Crust Pies Richest

It's the one-crust meringue-covered pies mostly that supply the food value and nourishment. Most of these pies are nothing more nor less than delicate cornstarch puddings, served in pie crust and topped with whites of eggs beaten until stiff with sugar. Even little children may have the filling, although the crust should be denied them. When you bake your crust and hen fill it there's no danger of a soggy crust. Also, you can bake the crust several days before you plan to use it and fill it with the filling that best suits the main course. For example if you're having fish choose a lemon filling. pork chops would precede a chocolate filling, after a praline or raisin filling is delicious and helps to balance the meal.

Chocolate Cream Pie
Three squares baking chocolate, 1-2 cups milk, 1 cup granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 baked 9-inch pie shell. Add chocolate to milk and heat in double boiler, beating with a wire beater as chocolate begins to melt. Beat until blended. Mix and sift sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add enough hot milk to make

Tomorrow's Menu

mixture of pouring consistency, stirring to keep smooth. Add to hot milk in double boiler and cook, stirring constantly until thick. Then continue cooking about ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour a small amount of mixture over egg yolks, stirring vigorously. Return this to double boiler and cook two minutes longer. Remove from heat, stir in butter and vanilla and beat with spoon until slightly cooled. Cool. Turn into pie shell and cover with meringue made with whites of eggs. Or you can cover the chocolate filling with whipped cream.

A meringue is best to cover a lemon pie, however. I like red cabbage with pork in any form and, of course, apples are traditional. So why not cabbage and apples?

Red Cabbage and Apples.
Three cups shredded red cabbage, 3 cups thinly sliced red apples, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons currant jelly, 1-4 teaspoon white pepper, 4 tablespoons vinegar.

Wash and core apples. Cook cabbage and apples in just enough water to prevent burning until tender. Toss the mixture lightly with a fork to insure even cooking. Add butter, salt, pepper, jelly and vinegar and cook and stir until jelly and butter are melted, and mixture is very hot. Serve at once. You can use white cabbage if red cabbage is not available.

ed at the Ambassador Coconut Grove in Los Angeles and the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, where she was engaged when Hecht and MacArthur "discovered" her.

In "Rumba", Margo, Carole Lombard and Iris Adrian are the dancing partners of George Raft and appear in versions of the eight separate Rumba steps which are introduced in the picture.

Over one hundred expert Latin-American Rumba dancers, assisted by an equally large Hollywood chorus, dance to the fascinating and syncopated rhythms of the Rumba in the picture.

Directed by Marion Gering, "Rumba" tells the dramatic love story of a beautiful heiress and a tempestuous dancer against the tropical background of Havana. Lynne Overman, Monroe Owsley, Gail Patrick and Akim Tamiroff appear in principal supporting roles.

know. If the man that needs it, receives it, but must spend it during the month . . . then of course the only angle of the thing to keep from discriminating is to make those who have any thing when it becomes a law, spend every dime of what they have so all would start out equally and alike. It wouldn't be fair to let one keep a lot of money he had on hand and not let the other fellow, if he or she can, save it for investments and otherwise. Any way, some kind of old age pension is needed and it will be a God send when it goes over . . . but a fifty dollar check to any man or woman over fifty years old would certainly look good, in good times or bad . . . and will take care of them too.

Johnny Burke, manager of the Lyric, and always doing things worth while in the manner of entertaining folks, brought a full view picture of the daily lives of the Dionne Quintuplets to his Theatre this week. Wednesday and Thursday. And what an inspiration those wonderful Quints are. It's no wonder that the theatre was full of patrons . . . and will be until nearly all have seen them almost in the flesh.

Eastland Wednesday evening and during the night. Can't have too much of good old rain just at this time. It isn't a question of not being satisfied with a little bit . . . it's a question of needing a whole lot . . . we are grateful and thankful however for even a tiny drop if that's all we can have.

States Planning Taxation Meeting

WASHINGTON.—State governors and delegates from state legislatures throughout the nation will meet here late in February to consider a report of the Interstate Commission on Conflicting Taxation dealing with better distribution of tax resources between the states and federal government.

The Commission is one of three bodies of state legislators and administrative officers whose executive boards have been studying the tax question. The others are the Council of State Governments and the American Legislators' Association.

The Interstate Commission on Conflicting Taxation was created two years ago by the Interstate Legislative Assembly. It has been making a comprehensive survey designed to arrive at a better method of distributing tax resources between the states and the federal government.

Material gathered will enable the forthcoming assembly of the states to submit definite proposals to the federal government for a better distribution of tax load.

BABY'S food needs the protection of Electric Refrigeration in winter as well as in summer, for Nature is a poor substitute for an electric refrigerator in this part of Texas. Milk, the main item on Baby's menu, spoils quickly unless refrigeration is used, and one warm day or keeping food in a warm kitchen without refrigeration may cause trouble and illness. Electric refrigeration costs less in winter than in summer, for during cool nights the refrigerator has less work to do, and is always protecting food with a 50-degree temperature or less on those days when the temperature in the kitchen or on the porch climbs above this safety mark. Be safe and let your electric refrigerator give you year-round food protection.
