Made Financier By Papa Mellon

Tradition that children of the Mellon dynasty should be given fortunes to test their ability to handle large sums was followed by Andrew W. Mellon with his daughter, Ailsa Mellon Bruce, shown here in a picture from a Savely Horine portrait. Mellon's tax suit revealed he gave her and her brother $1,200,000 to buy an interest in a Mellon holding company.

DEFENDANTS IN SHIELDING CASE ARE DWINDLING

DALLAS, Feb. 25.—Defense attorneys rested and closing arguments began today in the case of being tried on federal charges of conspiring to harbor Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker during their crime career.

The case was expected to reach the jury by 5 p. m.

Mrs. Billie Mace, 22, sister of Bonnie, was the first defense witness to testify today. She told of having contacted her bandit sister many times while Bonnie was a fugitive, and of having nursed her after an automobile accident in which she was burned.

John Basden, one of the 13 defendants still fighting the charge, changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty shortly after court opened, reducing the number of defendants on trial to 12.

County Attorney Ralph Hood said the boy told him he shot his father, Rev. Earl Campbell, after being reprimanded for having obscene pictures in his possession. The boy was quoted as saying the pictures came to him from Oklahoma City. The minister was shot as he entered a bedroom at his home.

DOUBLE VOTE ON PROHIBITION BEING URGED

AUSTIN.—A double vote on statewide prohibition has been proposed to the 44th legislature by Representative Jap Lucas of Henderson county. The Lucas plan is embodied in a resolution calling for the first vote on repeal in August, 1935, with the second vote to be held in the general election of November, 1936. The motive behind the plan is to place the legalized liquor traffic on probation for a 14-month period.

The suggestion has been given favorable consideration by many drys and the wets are viewing the proposition with favor because a number of prohibitionists have signified their willingness to support the double submission idea but hesitate to submit repeal on any other basis. The resolution as drawn applies only to liquors containing in excess of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content.

Two-thirds vote of the members of the house and senate is necessary to submit repeal of constitutional prohibition now in force in Texas. A majority vote of the people rules in the referendum election.

Unless there is provision for such a double submission, Lucas said he and many other legislators from dry districts will be for repeal of the present dry laws.

"The wets," he explained, "say the bootleg situation is terrible and that legalized liquor will improve conditions and provide revenue for the state. The drys admit the situation is bad—but say it will be worse if hard liquor is legalized. I concede that legalizing liquor may either make the situation better or worse, which no one knows without a trial. I favor a trial with the second election being provided for in advance.

"If the people vote wet and the situation becomes repulsive, the condition can be remedied. Under my plan the liquor question will be returned to the counties under a 'probation' or 'suspended sentence.' If it has good behavior during the probation period, the electors undoubtedly will vote to retain it. If it turned out to be a 'bad boy' they would vote to rid themselves of it."

With the double submission plan Lucas said the dealers will be partitioned. If it is handled properly for a year, he believes such proper handling will become well established and there will be less danger of a relapse.

The Lucas plan has its appeal with a number of members because it would eliminate the necessity for formulating a liquor control and regulation plan as an enabling act to the constitutional amendment at this regular session.

"That could be done in a special session immediately following the first submission election in August this year and permit the present regular session to devote its attention to taxation, education and other important problems. Many prohibitionists feel that the wets working under a 14-months probation would put forth their best effort to properly control the traffic.

Patriot Missing Mysteriously

Department of Justice agents joined the search for Moses H. Gulelian, Armenian immigrant millionaire of Newton, Mass., who saved the historic frigate Constitution from destruction. He vanished after attending a banquet in Boston. Kidnaping and amnesia are advanced to explain the mystery.

Stephens	5,308	164,540
So. Young	3,840	119,052

BRECKENRIDGE, Feb. 25.—Coach Buster Brannon's Dublin basketball team dethroned the defending champion Cottonwood quintet 37 to 20 Saturday night here in a whirlwind finish of the Texas interscholastic league basketball District 6 tournament.

Carbon of Eastland county was defeated by Dublin 22 to 16 in the semi-finals. In a previous game Carbon gave Breckenridge a drubbing by a 53 to 39 count.

Sir John Simon Plans Big Mission To Promote Peace

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Sir John Simon, foreign minister, is laying plans for a diplomatic mission which may prove one of the most important since the World war and which might conceivably turn Europe toward peace or war, it was learned today.

Unless some unforeseen event changes the present aspect of the negotiations, centering around Nazi Germany for consolidation of European peace on the basis of French-British proposals, Simon is expected to visit Berlin, Moscow and Warsaw.

Disbelief of Alleged McBee Murder Voiced By Man Who Claims Attended Dance When Highway Worker Present

Expression of disbelief that H. L. McBee, Rising Star highway worker whose skeleton was found recently suspended from a post oak tree, had been murdered was voiced Saturday by a person claiming to have attended a dance at Rising Star at which it has been said he was wounded.

The man, a resident of a West Texas town, originally had been called as a witness before the grand jury during its investigation, but did not appear, would not reveal his identity.

He was en route Saturday from Baird to his home. His conversation was along the following lines: "You know, he said, people around Eastland county would not let anything like that happen. Especially at a dance."

"It's claimed he was stabbed seven times during that evening. No crowd would stand for that."

Asked his opinion why M. E. Tyler, once charged in the McBee case, was arrested and then released, he said the two had been together previous to the disappearance.

The information imparted was in confidence with restriction of divulging his identity.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Henry are indicted with murder in connection with the case. Trial for the pair has not been set.

CISCO, Feb. 25.—The death of J. B. Bostwick, postmaster at Dothan, removes one of the county's oldest citizens in point of residence. Mr. Bostwick died Saturday morning after an illness of about ten days, during which he had suffered heart trouble.

He had been postmaster at Dothan since 1920.

Much of Mellon's Fortune Invested To Avert Taxes

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 25.—A "huge amount" of Andrew Mellon's $97,000,000 personal fortune is invested in tax-free securities and the banker never reported them on his income tax returns, his confidential secretary testified today.

H. M. Johnson, who told the federal board of tax appeals of the investments as the hearing continued on the government claim of $3,000,000 additional income taxes, did not disclose the exact amount of the exempt securities.

Jesse Jones Sends Out An Appeal To Business Men

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 25.—Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, appealed today for public support of President Roosevelt's work relief program.

"The nation's principal remaining problem is that of unemployment," Jones told a convention of the National Educational Association.

Jones criticized as "short-sighted and unsound" business men who refused to borrow and expand "giving as their reason that they do not know what to expect from our government."

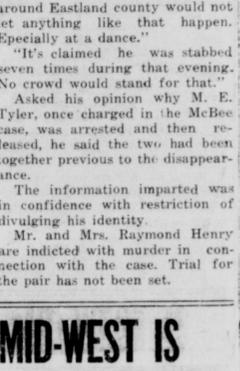

NEW OIL BILL SUBSTITUTED IN SENATE TODAY

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—A bill to end "star chamber" proceedings against state oil regulation was substituted by the senate today by the house oil enforcement bill.

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson objected to the state's "persecution of East Texas" when billions of cubic feet of gas are being wasted in the Panhandle.

His speech delayed passage of the senate oil bill, written by Senator Clint Small of Amarillo. It gives safeguards to the state oil regulation that the oil enforcement bill of the house.

An Also Rand

Joan Warner, American emulor of Sally Rand in glorifying nudity, discovered that Gay Paree is easily shocked, so here she is, all dressed up for court. Police nabbed her for "affronting the sense of modesty" of Paris diners in the restaurant where she danced.

MID-WEST IS COVERED WITH SNOW BLANKET

North Texas was covered with snow and sleet today, and the temperature dropped below freezing in all but the southernmost sections of the state as a cold wave blew in from the north.

Tonight, according to the forecast of the weather bureau, all of Texas, not excepting the lower Rio Grande Valley, will experience freezing weather.

At Amarillo today it was snowing and the mercury registered 10 degrees, coldest in the state. Snow and sleet were general over the Panhandle.

At Houston the wind shifted to the north today and the temperature began to drop. It was 50 there at observation time.

THIRD PARTY NOW FEARED IN POLITICS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Faint outlines of a national third party movement are developing in congress, where President Roosevelt is on the defensive after 24 months of successful political aggression.

Obstacles to third party success are almost insurmountable, regardless of the leader, but they are important when they draw important support from either major party.

It is becoming evident that the republican strategy is aiding Senator Huey Long's undisputed attempt to split the democrats.

If the "Kingfish" goes through with it he will bolt the 1936 democratic convention and nominate himself. Republican leaders might be neither surprised or disappointed. Theodore Roosevelt played that trick in 1912 on them with memorable results.

Materials For Relief Projects Is Not Allowed

AUSTIN.—Shortage of relief funds has caused the Texas relief commission to discontinue temporarily the practice of allowing funds for material and equipment on work relief projects, it was announced by Adam R. Johnson, state administrator.

"Until further notice," Mr. Johnson said, "projects will be approved only on the basis of the relief commission furnishing budgetary labor and the usual supervision."

This action has caused the number of projects approved daily to drop to approximately one-third the number approved under the former arrangement by which the relief commission paid for non-personal services a sum equal to 10 per cent of the budgetary labor costs.

Walter May of Desdemona Friday received his appointment as postmaster of Desdemona. He is a brother of C. E. May of Ranger.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 25.—Gov. Harold Hoffman today received a letter from a Brooklyn veteran offering to take Bruno Richard Hauptmann's place in the chair if the condemned murderer of the Lindbergh baby will pay $6,000.

The letter, purported to come from Stanley Prystup, CWA worker, of Brooklyn.

OFFICERS HOT ON TRAIL OF WOUNDED PAIR

CELINA, Collin County, Texas, Feb. 25.—Desperado Raymond Hamilton, wounded badly in the jaw, was in flight from pursuing officers today, with a wounded companion and three farm youths as hostages.

Constable L. F. Berry said he learned that Hamilton and his companion with two hostages spent the night at the farm house of Bill Mayes, four miles east of Celina and left at dawn in Mayes' car, taking Mayes' son, Buster, as a third captive.

Hamilton and his companion, a tall, dark-haired man, both were wounded when surprised by officers two miles north of McKinney last night.

Although their car, a 1935 model V-8 machine, was raked by officers' fire from machine guns and high-powered rifles and smaller arms, the desperados halted momentarily, then sped away.

Three miles west of Weston, 13 miles north of McKinney, a farmer saw them halt. J. C. Loftus, 16-year-old son of Clarence Loftus, farmer, abandoned their machine and drive on in Loftus' car, with the youth as hostage.

The elder Mayes said Hamilton, his companion, the Loftus youth and another farm boy had captured on the highway, suddenly appeared at his house at 9 o'clock last night.

Proponents of the Work Relief Plan Threaten March

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A mobilization in Washington of work relief supporters "that will make the bonus army look like a boy scout parade" was threatened today by Paul Bettors, director of the U. S. Conference of Mayors.

Bettors threw the support of his organization behind the work relief bill as the battle over the measure was carried to the country by both sides.

Administration leaders made no effort to bring the bill out from committee again until they could judge better the nation's reaction on the issue. The relief battle brought the administration to such a crisis that congress was brought to a virtual standstill. Leaders feared the revolt might spread to other legislation.

Two Bandits Rob A Houston Dairy

HOUSTON, Feb. 25.—Two bandits held up the office of a dairy here today and escaped with several thousand dollars in cash. They overtook $1,700 in checks.

The two entered the dairy with pistols drawn. One of them went to the safe and took the money. They then ran outside to a waiting car and drove away. The dairy was robbed in a similar manner two years ago.

Old Indian Burial Ground Is Found

KARNES CITY, Texas.—An old Indian burial ground was discovered near Falls City a few days ago by a crew of relief workers who were digging in a caliche pit.

The bones of human beings were found buried with bones of dogs. Each body had been placed in a rock coffin and covered with sand. A rock lid had been placed over each coffin and the graves filled.

Several of the skull bones were brought here and placed on display.

Good Social Training Is Need of Orphan

The orphaned child, like the poor, is always with us; and in these times when demands on the public purse are almost innumerable, we do fairly well when we provide such children with board and lodging.

But to go that far is only to scratch the surface of the problem. The orphan eventually will become an adult and take his place in the complex human society that has supported him; and if he is to be as useful a social unit as we want him to be, we must give him a great deal more than food and shelter while he is in our care.

All this was brought out not long ago, when members of the Welfare Council of New York City gathered for a conference on the care of dependent children. And these people agreed that society is only doing part of its job when it removes the orphan from the fear of hunger and cold.

Now this is an important thing to remember, because we tend to get a warped idea of the kind of training a child should receive in the institution which is caring for him.

The natural tendency is to establish a routine which will train him to get along in the institution; to give him such discipline and teaching, in other words, as will lead him to abide by the rules, to get along with the other children, and to refrain from those pranks and misdemeanors which put gray hairs on the heads of orphanage staffs.

Yet we can do all this and still fail in our main job— which is to prepare the youngster for adult life.

The child may learn how to adjust itself to life in the institution, as speakers at the New York conference pointed out, and still be unable to adjust himself to the life he will enter when he grows up.

And this, in turn, means that the intangibles are of paramount importance in this situation. We owe the child not merely a place to eat and sleep, but the best possible substitute we can devise for the kind of social training which luckier children get in their own homes.

The present moment is a good one for considering that point. It is harder than ever before to find money for these institutions; the simplest way is to eliminate the "frills" and concentrate on food, clothing, and buildings. But to do that is to defeat our own purpose.

These children in orphanages are going to be grown men and women in a few years. The kind of men and women they will be will depend in large part on the wisdom and generosity with which we approach the matter of their training now.

Mosquitoes Killed By Recent Blizzard

PORT ARTHUR, Texas.—The recent blizzard which killed almost 20,000 cattle along the Gulf Coast with a loss of approximately $250,000, proved just as disastrous to the mosquito crop.

Health officials said the pests will not be as worrisome as they were last summer.

Income Tax In A Nutshell

Deduction for Interest

Amounts paid or accrued within the taxable year 1934 as interest on indebtedness are deductible, with certain exceptions, from gross income in determining net income. Such items include interest on borrowed money to defray personal expenses, and on money borrowed for the purchase of real or personal property. If a person owes money on a lien or mortgage note on his home, the amount of the interest may be deducted. Indebtedness, however, need not be evidenced by lien, judgment, or mortgage to make the interest on it deductible. Frequently indebtedness is evidenced only by a note.

Interest paid on indebtedness incurred in the purchase of obligations (other than obligations of the United States issued after September 24, 1917, and originally subscribed for by taxpayer) the interest upon which is wholly exempt from federal income tax, is not deductible. Interest paid on loans on life insurance policies is deductible provided the amount of the loan is not used for the purposes previously referred to in this paragraph.

Interest paid on behalf of a friend or relative where there is no legal obligation on the part of the payor is not deductible. In such cases the amount is the same as a gift.

Miss Colbert, a fiend for popcorn herself, had Director Wesley Ruggles as a guest at her home one evening and served a big bowl of buttered and salted popcorn. Throughout the evening, as Miss Colbert and the director discussed pictures, they dipped into the bowl. Suddenly, Miss Colbert sat upright.

"Do you know," she exclaimed, "no one has ever immortalized popcorn on the screen and yet it's one of the nation's favorite confections. Everywhere I drive, I see popcorn stands and people buying it. And what is more, to any really confirmed popcorn eater popcorn is really something important. Let's do something about it."

And, in "The Gilded Lily," something has been done about it. The picture, which presents Fred MacMurray and Ray Milland opposite Miss Colbert, is the romance of two popcorn eaters who forego their Thursday nights to eat their popcorn and watch the world go by.

The intervention of another man whirls the girl, Miss Colbert, to dizzy heights, makes her the toasted darling of two continents. In the last sequences she tires of this new life and hurries back to the boy who is waiting on the park bench—to eat popcorn with her.
