Moore... ABOUT Eastland

By VIRGIL E. MOORE

Thanks to Coaches Carrol Shelton and Jon Tate and the Mavericks of Eastland High School for a wonderful football season. Eastland is proud of the great season just turned in by the Mavs and we are proud of the way the Mavs stayed in the game and fought Stinnett every play Saturday.

We read somewhere that the Stinnett coach "emptied his bench" against Eastland. He really did! His second team ran four offensive plays against the Mavs in the entire game. Their net yardage: minus 26 yards and one blocked punt.

We have failed to mention it before, but Eastland should thank Cross Plains—the team the Mavs downed in bi-district play—for their great interest and support. Here's what the Cross Plains Review had to say about Saturday's game: "The Eastland Mavericks continue their successful climb toward the Class A football championship, and local grid fans are wishing them luck in their semi-final game against Stinnett which will be played in Childress next Saturday."

Christmas shopping picked up a lot the first part of this week. With minds off football now, Eastland and Eastland area folks can start thinking seriously about Christmas. And not a bit too soon either.

Can't remember if we have mentioned the huge tree they have up at the hospital or not. Anyway, it's sure pretty and you should go by and show it to the kids. The bank has come up with a fancy Yuletide front themselves, and a number of homes are among the prettiest we have seen in a long time.

Mal Elliott, who writes his Sports Kaleidoscope column for the evening Abilene Reporter - News, had some mighty nice things to say about Eastland's Mavericks and Coach Carrol Shelton yesterday.

In case you missed it, here it is: "Coach Carrol Shelton's Eastland Mavericks have just finished their football season—a season of showing fans just what a coach means when he preaches teamwork."

"The gussy little Mavericks didn't leave it at home when they went to Childress to play the formidable Stinnett Rattlers Saturday; either. They opened strong and marched well before seeing their first touchdown hopes stymied as halfback P. A. Cox lost his balance and looked like a touchdown pass.

"And they fired back the second half in an exhibition of determination despite a 34-0 reading on the scoreboard. But they were finally outclassed.

"They finally lost, 55-20, but behind them they left a string of 10 victories and four defeats, two of these by one-point margins. All this without the services of the usual three or four real spark-plugs you find on a team in Texas playoffs.

"They had started slowly, got their bearings and finished strong, knocking off some of the real big ones in the process. The Mavericks refused to believe their press-clippings as they averaged an earlier loss to Cross Plains, rolled over such teams as Henrietta and finally..."

Ira L. Thurman, Former Ranger Banker, Dies

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church in Big Spring for Ira L. Thurman, brother of John Thurman of Ranger, who passed away at 8 a.m. Sunday in a Big Spring hospital after being critically ill of a bronchial condition since last Thursday. However, he had been seriously ill for the past two months.

Mr. Thurman was one of the most prominent citizens of Big Spring where he was vice president of the First National Bank and president of the Chamber of Commerce. He had held many offices of distinction in Big Spring since he moved there to make his town his permanent home around 1928.

Prior to that time he had lived in Ranger where he was assistant cashier of the Peoples State Bank here, and was well known all over this section of the country.

Survivors include his wife, Doris, one daughter, Mrs. William N. Thornhill of Anaco, Venezuela; three brothers, John Thurman of Ranger, who is manager of the Terrell Ranch south of town; Jess, of Glen Cove and George of Del Rio; four sisters, Mrs. Eula Bradley and Mrs. G. F. Gibbings of Coleman, Mrs. Edgar Huey of Talpa and Mrs. W. R. Stigler of Christoval.

Tanner Says 'We Are At War With Accidents'

"We're all in the war on accidents! The outcome is up to us!" In these words H. J. Tanner, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, called on all Eastland citizens to join in the nation-wide Back The Attack on Traffic Accidents program. Officials, safety organizations and individual citizens all over the country are uniting in an all-out effort to wipe out the traffic accident menace.

Tanner stressed the importance of citizen support. "The war on traffic accidents involves every one personally—actively," he said. "Each time you drive, each time you walk, you are in the fight. No enforcement program can do the whole job; the final success of this life-saving campaign depends on you, the individual, and on your actions."

Pointing out the dangers created by the holiday season, Tanner urged extra caution in every traffic situation. Last year the death toll over the Christmas week end, according to the press associations, was an appalling 609 pedestrians and motorists whose celebrating was permanently ended by their own or others' careless traffic habits.

"Any time you are tired or in a hurry, you are apt to forget safety precautions," he warned. "The holidays come at a time of long nights, with rain or snow likely, and these conditions plus the seasonal rush can be a deadly combination."

"The only safe conduct in the war on traffic accidents," Tanner said, "is the safety insured by the cooperation of every citizen. Help Eastland win its fight. Back The Attack On Traffic Accidents!"

Whether he comes by land, sea or air... byoxen or whirlybird, kiddie car or surfboard, fear not: SANTA SHALL RETURN!

Youth Has Birthday Cake Made For Jesus

With Santa's visit just a few short days away, it's getting close to the deadline for getting letters to the North Pole.

Here are a few of the latest forwarded to Santa headquarters: Dear Santa Claus, I am a girl seven years old. Please bring me a "Glamour Ann" doll with clothes, a birthstone ring, a baking set and a leather notebook and paper.

Love, Eric Turner

Dear Santa, I want a bb gun and a football and a football helmet and a pair of holster guns and anything else you have to bring me.

Love, Harry Glenn Justice Jr. Carbon

Dear Santa Claus, Please bring me a bride doll with clothes, a birthstone ring, a baking set, a leather notebook with lots of paper. I am nine and in the third grade.

Love, Nancy Justice Carbon

Dear Santa, Please send me a doll and doll clothes and a suitcase. Thank you. I love you Santa. By the way, I am in the first grade at South Ward.

Police Get... ...Late Wishes

Christmas has a way of bringing back fond memories and adding new ones.

The Yule season brought back a memory to Phil Goldfaden of Long Branch, N. J. and gave Eastland policemen more reason to think highly of their fellow man.

The police force received a Christmas card this week, and written on the flap was the following message: "Back in 1933 I'm recalling how nice I was treated by your police department and people and I wish to send my late wishes and thanks."

White Elephant Opens Thursday

The White Elephant Cafe will re-open Thursday morning, it was announced today.

"We will be open in time to serve breakfast," a spokesman said.

A new wing has been added to the cafe, greatly expanding the seating capacity of the cafe.

Ranger Man Walks Off With Grand Champion Pecan Honors

Ellis Cooper of Ranger walked off with Grand Championship honors at the 4th Annual Eastland County Pecan Show held last Friday and Saturday at Cisco. Cooper's champions were of the Burkett variety and his exhibit produced 59 per cent kernel to the pound of whole nuts. It required 47 whole nuts to produce a pound of kernel.

Eastland Teams See Cage Action Tonight In Olden

Basketball action is on tap tonight at the Olden gymnasium. Three games are scheduled, with the featured game of the evening matching the Eastland girls against the Olden girls. In the first game, the Ranger B team will play the Olden B team beginning at 6:15. Eastland Grade Schoolers will then play Olden's grade school team.

Alfred Baker Funeral Rites This Afternoon

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Hamner Funeral Home Chapel for Alfred C. Baker, 62, with Rev. Roy Turner, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating. Mr. Baker died Sunday in the veterans hospital at Dallas. He is survived by his wife; three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Graham of Vilonia, Ark., Mrs. Edna Castleman of Mason and Mrs. Vena Maples of Cache, Okla.; and a number of nieces and nephews. His wife is the former Minnie James of Rising Star. Mr. Baker was a World War I veteran. Burial will be in the Oak Wood Cemetery at Cisco.

produced 57.1 per cent kernel. The show, which was sponsored jointly by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce and the County Extension Service, broke the 1950 mark in attendance, and brought out 49 producers entering 119 exhibits of nuts. Twenty-five women also entered 32 culinary items in which pecans were used. Cooper, who produced the grand champions, was also elected vice-president of a new Eastland County Pecan Growers Association that was formed last Saturday. B. B. Freeman of Ranger was elected secretary-treasurer. Oscar Schaeffer of Nimrod, was elected president.

Mrs. A. Kalkhoff Funeral Services Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice E. Kalkhoff, 79, were held at Killingsworth Chapel at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday with the Rev. Herman Boyd, pastor of the First Methodist Church in charge. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery. Mrs. Kalkhoff had been a resident of Eastland County for the past 37 years, and died at 9:45 a.m. Sunday in a Ranger hospital. She had been in failing health for many months. Mrs. Kalkhoff was born April 13, 1880, in Bowling Green, Ohio. She is survived by her husband, Frank Kalkhoff of Ranger, and one daughter, Mrs. Leo Bow of McLean, Texas.

Straw Native Promoted To High T&P Post

James G. Tucker, a native of Strawn, has been named to replace Wilbur C. Foster as general superintendent of the Eastern Division of the Texas & Pacific Railroad. Foster has moved up to Superintendent of Transportation. Born on the T & P mainline, Tucker is the son of a railroad, and has been railroading himself since the age of 14, having started as an extra clerk on the old Fort Worth Division. He is being promoted from superintendent of the Louisiana Division.

Mavs End Best Season In History

A Stinnett Rattler team that "doesn't pass" passed the Eastland Mavericks to death Saturday afternoon, winning a 55-20 semi-final decision in the state Class A playoffs in their "second home field" at Childress.

The Rattlers passed for two touchdowns and set up three other tallies via the air route, made one other on a pass interception and got off two long runs for another pair. Stinnett showed championship form all the way except for one momentary defensive blunder, however, and kept the Mavericks off balance all the way. The Mavs started things off as though they meant business.

but stout defensive work on the part of Stinnett and a bad break on the part of the Mavs turned the situation into disaster. The Mavs took the opening kickoff pass for their own 31, and on third down Harvey Lewis found Halfback P. A. Cox floating all by himself on the Rattler 33. He loated a beautiful pass that fell into the waiting arms of Cox, who was 20 yards in front of the nearest Rattler. But then the pattern of the game was set. Cox twisted himself off balance and fell at the spot he caught the pass. Lewis got three, however, to move the ball to the Stinnett 20. A wild pass off Lewis's arm fell into wrong hands in the endzone on third down, and Sammy Roberts raced it out to the 15. From there it took the hard fighting Rattlers just three plays to score. Dale Keedale, the number two to his arms. Hicks carried to three on the play and then three plays later Dawson went over from the one. This time a bad snap on the extra point try ruined Dawson's chance for a conversions. Still in the second period, Dawson passed to Thompson for 22 yards and still another touchdown. It followed a 36 yard completion setting up the play. Dawson's extra point try was good this time, making the score 27-0. The Mavs got defenced again on the next series, and Lewis sought something new to throw at the Rattlers. He sent Cox out on a pass play, but Keedale intercepted the toss and weaved through half the Mavs on a 59 yard run. Dawson converted to make it 34-0 at halftime. Coach Don Seymour of Stinnett, who has lost only one game in his two years at Stinnett, still wasn't satisfied. He gave orders to build up the score during the intermission and the Rattlers came out determined to humiliate the Mavericks. The Rattlers quickly marched for their sixth touchdown. In seven plays they moved from their own 34 to the Mav 43 and at that point Keedale raced 43 yards to paydirt. Dawson's conversion made it 41-0. But Eastland got a little fire at 41 points. Coach Seymour still sought blood, and he left his starting eleven in the game. Eastland, who hadn't been held scoreless all years, still wasn't in a give up mood, however, and the Mavs fought back gamely.

Regaining some of their lost luster, Eastland moved the ball from their own 29 to paydirt in 13 plays. A pass from Bill Upchurch to End Dale Slatton for 26 yards out did it. Slatton out-jumped two Rattler defenders and came down with the ball for the score. Lewis converted. Stinnett struck back quickly after holding the fired-up Mavs on downs on their own two. Eastland's Clint Humphreys jumped on Dawson's fumble on the 16. Martin took it to the seven, and then Cox picked up a first down on the six. A loss of three threw the Mavs back to the nine, but Saul Pullman bulled to the five on the next play. Lewis passed incomplect and then Martin carried to the two on fourth down. Stinnett moved the ball out to the 17 and then Dawson found a pass to Roberts and the speedster raced 83 yards to paydirt. Dawson again converted.

The Mavs, who matched touchdowns in the final half with the Rattlers, marched back again, still against Stinnett's starters. Lewis completed two passes to Johnny McMahan to do most of the damage in the 64 yard drive, the touchdown coming on a seven yard pass to McMahan. Lewis converted. Slatton blocked a Rattler punt on the next series and then jumped on the pigskin on the seven. Martin carried to the three and Lewis went over. The extra point try was block. The Rattlers, using their starters with less than two minutes to play, scored again. Three completed passes moved the ball from their own 38 to the Eastland two, and from there Hicks went over. Dawson then converted.

The Mavs came out of the game in the worst physical shape they have been in all year long. Tackle Duard Turner suffered a broken arm, Neal Pogue has a painful pulled shoulder muscle, Lape Herrera injured an arm, Wayne Durham has an injured ankle and Cox has a swollen hand. Stinnett will take on Hondo in the state finals.

OUR "BILL OF RIGHTS"
 With December 15 being observed as "Bill of Rights Day" throughout the land, many persons are (or should be) thinking about what this important "document" means to them. This column will attempt a brief explanation of its meaning.

The American "Bill of Rights," consisting of the first ten amendments to our federal constitution, all adopted at one time in 1791, specifies in some detail a number of basic civil rights of the individual citizen. Unaltered by subsequent amendments and jealously guarded by our courts, these privileges must still be respected by our governing bodies today.

Among the most familiar of our constitutional guarantees are those relating to freedom of religion, speech, and of the press. The same article protects the rights of peaceable assembly and the privilege of petitioning the government for redress of grievances.

Another amendment secures our persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and specifies that no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, and unless supported by oath or affirmation.

The due process of law amendment encompasses not one but several guarantees. Every American is secured against being placed twice in legal jeopardy for the same offense; against being compelled to be a witness against himself in a criminal case; and against having his private property taken for public use without just compensation.

He is also secured against being held for trial for a capital (death penalty) or other infamous crime, unless upon a presentment or indictment of a grand jury. And, of course, no person may be deprived of life, liberty or property without orderly court procedure, on due process of law.

The right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury, in the locality where the crime was committed, the right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, and the rights to compel attendance of defense witnesses and to have the assistance of defense counsel in all criminal prosecutions are secured by another section of the "Bill of Rights."

Excessive bail and fines, and cruel and unusual punishments, are prohibited in Amendment VIII. Other articles insure the right to bear arms and ban quartering of soldiers in private homes during peace time.

Then, to make quite clear to our governing bodies the underlying intent of the preceding provisions, the Ninth Amendment states: "The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

The Tenth Amendment further emphasizes this basic theory by providing: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."
 Thus, that fundamental philosophy expressed in the Declaration of Independence, that men are endowed with certain unalienable rights, and that "to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed," has been carried forward into the highest law of our land.

INCOME TAX AIDS

One of a Series of 12 Articles Prepared by The Internal Revenue Service

This is the second in a series of 12 articles prepared by the Internal Revenue Service to assist taxpayers in avoiding errors that cause tax audits. Here are the 12 most common reasons for the Internal Revenue Service having to disallow or adjust Travel and Transportation Expenses:

- (1) The cost of transportation between the taxpayer's residence and his place of employment is not deductible for tax purposes. This is true even though he may have to carry working tools to and from the job.
- (2) Where a person has two posts of duty, his principal post of duty is his home for tax purposes; and only the expense of transportation between the principal and minor posts of duty is deductible. The expense of traveling between his residence and his principal post of duty is not an allowable deduction.
- (3) Where an automobile is used for both personal and business use, an allocation between the two uses must be made in arriving at the amount deductible for tax purposes.
- (4) Where the taxpayer's employer makes transportation available but the taxpayer chooses to furnish his own, the expense incurred by him for transportation is not deductible.
- (5) Where a taxpayer's employer will reimburse him for traveling expenses, but the taxpayer does not claim all the reimbursement that he is entitled to, no deduction is allowable for the amount of such expenses for which reimbursement was not claimed.

(6) The cost of meals is deductible only if incurred in travel away from home overnight in connection with the taxpayer's work. If he did not travel away from home overnight in his work, no deduction is allowable for meals expense.

(7) Where a taxpayer's work involves travel over a regular route, such as in the case of railroad employees or truck drivers, and the taxpayer spends only a short time at the turn-around point but is not released in order to secure necessary sleep or rest, he is not entitled to deduction for the cost of meals to or from or at the turn-around point.

(8) In the case of an itinerant worker who customarily moves from one job to the next, and does not maintain a fixed place of abode and is not regularly associated with any particular locality, his tax home is considered to be wherever he happens to be working. No travel expense is allowable.

(9) Where a person is employed at a location away from his home for an indefinite or indeterminate period, such location becomes his home for tax purposes. Employment of expected or actual duration of a year or more at a particular location is generally considered indefinite employment there, and travel expenses in connection therewith are not deductible.

(10) In the case of an employee, only an outside salesman may deduct business expenses other than transportation expenses, (such as for telephone, entertaining, etc.) on page one for computing adjusted gross income. An outside salesman is defined as a salesman who solicits for his employer away from the employer's place of business, and who devotes his full time to such efforts.

(11) Travel expenses do not include cleaning and laundry, which are non-deductible, personal expenses.

(12) Under Section 162 of the Internal Revenue Code, a deduction claimed for traveling expenses must be substantiated by evidence showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses. If the taxpayer does not substantiate the amount of expenses claimed, nor the number of days he traveled in connection with his work so that we can make a reasonable determination of the amount, if any, that is allowable, the entire amount claimed is disallowed.

Thousands of Dallas District taxpayers made these errors. The law requires the Internal Revenue Service in cases like these to reduce the amount of the refund the taxpayer has claimed in the case of a "Pre-Refund Audit" or to assess additional tax in regular audits.

The Internal Revenue Service has a publication entitled "Travel and Transportation Expenses"—IRS Publication 300. If you need additional information after reading your tax instructions, you may secure a copy of his publication from your local Internal Revenue Service Office. You may find it advisable to consult a qualified tax practitioner on complicated problems.

In the next article we will present the reasons for disallowing sick-pay exclusions claimed by taxpayers.

EGBDF Music Club Holds Yule Party In Smith Home Saturday

Members of the EGBDF Music Club met for a Christmas program Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Smith with their daughter Shirley as hostess. The meeting was opened with the group singing "Joy To The World" accompanied by Julie Frost at the piano, followed with a short business session presided over by the president, Miss Frost.

Collin Cagle was named as a new member of the club. The program, with Sharon Sayre as leader, began with Cheryl Brown leading the group in the Junior pledge and collect. The story of the carol "Away in the Manger" was told by Shirley Smith after which she accompanied the members in singing the carol.

Luke 2:7-22 was read in unison and "It Came Upon A Midnight Clear" was sung accompanied by Nora Jean Jordan. "A Christmas Poem" was recited by Sharon Sayre and Marsha White and Gretchen Hailey told the story of "O Little Town of Bethlehem." "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" was sung by all members accompanied by Julie Frost. Cheryl Brown told the story of "Deck the Halls" and Janet Kimbler played the piano while the group sang the carol. The story and singing of "Silent Night" told and accompanied by Sue Koch was the final number for the afternoon. The program was closed with a prayer by Mrs. F. L. Drago and silent prayers by the members. Gifts from under a large beautifully decorated Christmas tree, were exchanged by those attending. The Christmas motif was dominant throughout the house. Refreshments of fruit cake, cookies, chocolate cup cakes, roasted nuts, candy and Cokes were served from a lace covered table centered with Christmas candles resting in styrofoam. Those present were Marsha

Valuable Income Tax Tips Speed Returns

This is the first in a series of 12 articles prepared by the Internal Revenue Service to assist taxpayers in avoiding tax errors that cause "Pre-Refund Audits." Every year when income tax returns are filed, approximately 60 per cent of the taxpayers are due a refund check from Uncle Sam. However, some of these tax returns must be audited before the taxpayers can receive their refund checks. These audits are called "Pre-Refund Audits" and are necessary because the returns contain questionable items. The "Pre-Refund Audits" begin in January and go through September 30th. If your return has questionable items, then you will probably be notified that your return must be audited before your refund check can be mailed to you. Many of the "Pre-Refund Audit" returns were examined because of erroneous dependency deductions. Here are the 13 most common reasons for the Internal Revenue Service having to disallow a dependent:

- (1) The dependent had gross income of $600.00 or more during the year and was not the taxpayer's child, who was either a full time student or was under 19 years of age at the close of the taxable year.
 - (2) The dependent was not a close relative and did not live in the taxpayer's home as a member of his household for the entire taxable year.
 - (3) Cousins and other lateral relatives more distant than nephew or niece are not close relatives as defined in the Internal Revenue Code.
 - (4) The dependent filed a joint return with his husband or wife.
 - (5) The taxpayer did not substantiate that he furnished more than 50 per cent of the dependent's total support for the entire year.
 - (6) The taxpayer failed to substantiate that the dependent's gross income for the taxable year was less than $600.00.
 - (7) The taxpayer failed to furnish multiple support statement from all the other persons who contributed over 10 per cent of the total support of the dependent.
 - (8) The dependency credit was not allowed under the multiple support provisions of the Internal Revenue Code since the taxpayer did not furnish over 10 per cent of the total support of the dependent.
 - (9) The dependent was not allowed because another taxpayer furnished more than 50 per cent of the dependent's total support for the year.
 - (10) The dependent was neither a citizen of the U. S. nor a resident of the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Panama Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama.
 - (11) The taxpayer did not furnish information to substantiate the dependency credit even though he was given ample opportunity to do so.
 - (12) The dependency credit was claimed on the return of another taxpayer. Two taxpayers may not be allowed the dependency credit for the same person.
 - (13) The amount contributed by the taxpayer may not be considered as support for the dependent only, because the contribution was made to the family of which the dependent is a member. The total contribution would be considered to have been contributed to each member of the family on a pro-rata basis. Therefore, it could not be concluded that the taxpayer contributed more than 50 per cent of the support of any one member of that family.
- These 13 errors were made by thousands of taxpayers. The Internal Revenue Service was required by law to correct the taxpayer's return by disallowing the dependent, and to reduce the refund claimed by the appropriate amount. Read your tax instructions carefully before you file your return.
- In the next article in this series we discuss the reasons for disallowing travel and transportation expenses claimed by taxpayers.

Christmas Party Is Enjoyed By Baptist Class

Members of the Joy Sunday School Class of Bethel Baptist Church were entertained with a Christmas party in the home of their teacher, Mrs. Luce Pittman, 666 West Commerce, Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

On the arrival of each guest, their gift was numbered and placed under the tree. Games, fitting the occasion were played throughout the evening and prizes were given to the winner of each game.

The dining table was laid with a lace cloth, centered with a party tree decorated with small ornaments and surrounded by an arrangement of nuts. The centerpiece was flanked on either side with a nativity scene in ceramic and a small reindeer with Santa.

Preceding the gift exchange, all lights were turned out except those lighting the big Christmas tree and the guests sat quietly around it. While the hostess played records of the Christmas story and Christmas songs in the background, the spirit of Christmas was felt among all the members. Then the lights were turned on and one person was appointed to be Santa. The guests exchanged gifts according to the number they drew.

A large cotton Santa decorated the doorway that led to the refreshment tables laid with green and red cloths, where hot chocolate with marshmallows and chocolate fudge brownies were served.

The holiday theme was carried out on the plates, cups and napkins and plate favors were "Santa" boots filled with Christmas candies.

Those attending were: Sue

Post Office To Help USDA Count Livestock

Nearly 40,000 cards will be left at random in rural mail boxes throughout the state this week.

When filled out by farmers and ranchers and returned, these cards will help V. C. Childs, Texas statistician, Agricultural Marketing Service, determine how many livestock are on Texas farms and ranches.

Mr. Childs lauded the U.S. Post Office and rural mail carriers for their cooperation in making this annual survey.

"With this help, we're able to get an accurate picture of our state livestock holdings," Mr. Childs said.

Every farmer or rancher who gets a card is urged to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it promptly.

"The more reports we get, the more reliable our estimates will be," Mr. Childs pointed out.

This survey is the basis for the state and national inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. It includes

"MAN AND WOMAN OF YEAR" NAMED IN TEXAS AGRICULTURE

A man and a woman from College Station, whose works have been felt on every farm in Eastland County as well as throughout the state, have been named "Man and Woman of the Year in Texas Agriculture."

The Man is F. Z. Beanblossom, who was cited for his conspicuous service in poultry marketing, and the woman is Miss Sadie Hatfield who has brought "more than a million dollars worth of beauty to Texas farmsteads."

Beanblossom, poultry marketing specialist for the Texas Extension Service, Texas A&M College System, has made big contributions to the poultry industry since he began working in Texas shortly after World War II. Seeing the greatest need was for improvement in poultry marketing, Beanblossom began working to improve quality. He talked with farmers, poultry dealers, hatcherymen, poultry breeders, feed salesmen and processors explaining that "consumers will buy quality products."

One result of his promotional work was in the field of graded eggs. Ten years ago, there were practically no eggs sold in Texas on a graded basis. In 1955, over 40 million dozen were sold on a graded basis and Texas egg producers were paid over 2 million dollars more for their product.

Beanblossom has sold the idea of quality from the farm to the table. He has pushed chicken of tomorrow contests for better broilers, processors for cleanliness and

F. Z. BEANBLOSSOM attractiveness of dressed turkeys and broilers, restaurants to serve more eggs and poultry meat, truckers to be more careful in handling, feed men for better feed, handlers for more efficiency in their operations, etc. But whatever his job, you can be sure of one thing—he's trying to help Texans sell more Texas poultry.

MISS SADIE HATFIELD As extension specialist in home-stead improvement, Miss Hatfield has worked closely with the state department of health, Texas Forest Service, Texas Association of Nurserymen and Texas Garden Clubs. Hundreds of beautifully landscaped rural homes stand as testimonials of Sadie Hatfield's service.

Miss Hatfield extends her services further by training a n d recognizing rural leaders. During 1955, 1,490 leaders gave method demonstrations to 28,914 club members and gave individual help to 18,788. In 1955 the physical accomplishments of this work were valued at $1,280,840.

To help Texas 4-H'ers learn to identify shrubs and trees and learn their proper use, Miss Hatfield started the shrub identification contest in 1951.

Miss Hatfield has held offices of responsibility in State Garden Club, Texas Folklore Society, Pan-American, Roundtable, Brazos County Folklore Society, and Texas Chapter of the Epsilon Sigma Phi, fraternity of extension workers.

2-SPEED WASH AND SPIN

slow for delicate fabrics, faster for regular fabrics

MAYTAG All-Fabric AUTOMATIC

Wave goodbye to washbowl washing, for the new MAYTAG All-Fabric Automatic with two-speed action is here! It duplicates handwashing methods automatically.

Slower speed is yours by pushing the "MODERN FABRICS" button. Agitation and spin-speed slow by one-third. (Regular speed for regular fabrics, of course.)

Cold water wash and rinse is yours at the press of another button. Perfect for heat-sensitive modern fabrics. Warm or hot, too, of course. See it today.
