Blind Mother Fights for Baby

NEA Cleveland Bureau
"They shan't take my baby; I'll die first!" says Mrs. Julius Fedor, above, a blind mother of Cleveland, Ohio, who has gone into court to resist efforts of the juvenile court to take six-week-old Robert Fedor from her on the ground that, being blind, she is incompetent to care for the infant. Mrs. Fedor and her husband, Julius Fedor, also blind, point proudly to their two other children, Agnes, 8, and Margaret, 9, both of whom are normal.

Mitchell slammed down the telephone. "It's that Shields!" he exclaimed. "Blind fool—why didn't I guess. Good God, they may be anywhere! Evelyn, Evelyn—Mrs. Parsons sprang to her feet. "John, dearest, don't take it so terribly! Everything may be all right. Please! For my sake!"

"He pushed her aside," Mrs. Parsons said. "Where does Shields live?" he demanded. "I haven't any idea!"

The man stared at her. "You promised to be responsible for my daughter," he said harshly, "but you know nothing about her goings and comings in the house. You are unable to name any of her friends who might tell me what's become of her. And you say everything is all right. Bah!"

Mitchell turned away. Evelyn Parsons started and for an instant her eyes flashed with unalloyed malice. Then she began to weep. The man apologized. He begged her to help him find Celia.

"But I've been trying to do everything," "I've been trying to do everything I can and now I know you hate me!"

In desperation Mitchell swore he meant nothing of the kind. He urged her to stop crying and aid him in locating Barney Shields.

French Reveal War Blacklist

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The refusal of a French visa to the former German general, Count Conrad von Moltke, has brought to light that the Surete Generale possesses a secret "black list" containing the names of 63 German and Austrian war criminals that will be barred from France forever.

The former Kaiser tops this list, but Hindenburg is not. Mostly, the undesirable are minor officers, accused or convicted in absence by French courts of criminal acts during the German occupations of France during the war.

Many of the names are those of regional commanders held responsible for unusually atrocious crimes during the occupation.

The book has been used but few times before the Von Moltke case, for most of those named have been sentenced to French prisons by French courts, and if ever caught in France they can be sent to serve their terms.

Now, statisticians are bringing forth figures which they claim tend to show a serious minded citizenry that this fad has become an industry worthy of respect.

In July there were 5,846 of these midget links, all of which had settled down to do business on some piece of real estate, according to real estate men.

On August 11, according to figures released by the Department of Commerce, there were more than 25,000 pigmy courses in operation with an investment of $125,000,000.

Since that date no official estimate has been made, but real estate men believe the business is growing steadily. They offer as evidence the fact that leases for as long as three years have been signed.

in the opening. "Get the apartment number," he said sharply. Mitchell read down the list of names.

"Here it is—24B." They found the number on a second floor door. John Mitchell knocked.

"Who is it?" a man's voice called. Mitchell knocked again. There was a shuffling noise, then the door opened and Tod Jordan appeared.

"What do you want?" he demanded crossly. (To Be Continued)

Baby Golf Now Huge Business

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Many of those who came to scoff at the pioneer miniature golf courses in July, remained to praise when it was discovered what a giant the unnatural child of the grand old game had become in a few months.

Cartoonists, columnists and non-professional wise crackers brought forth by the score puns, jokes and synonyms applicable to the new game.

Now, statisticians are bringing forth figures which they claim tend to show a serious minded citizenry that this fad has become an industry worthy of respect.

Royal Table Linen Is Worth $40,000

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The royal table linen at Buckingham Palace is valued at $40,000, experts whom she called in, have notified Queen

Mary. The "mother cloth," woven for the wedding breakfast of Queen Victoria and rarely used, is the most remarkable piece in the collection. It is large enough to cover a table at which 220 places can be laid.

According to a legend ill-liked will befall anyone spilling liquid upon this cloth. The more superstitious recall that after the funeral of King Edward, a banquet was given to visiting royals and their suites and a German dignitary accidentally spilled wine on the cloth.

They place some significance on this incident and the world war. Another famous cloth is one made for the coronation dinner of Queen Anne. It is said to be valued at $2,500.

"An Old Fashioned Mother" To Be Given

Rapid progress is being made on the play, "An Old Fashioned Mother." This play is to be presented at the new W. M. U. auditorium near the first of December. The play is a dramatic parable of a mother's love in three acts. The cast includes the following: Deborah Underhill, played by Beatrice Smith; Wilbur, played by Luella Warren; Miss Lorway Loring Custard, played by Venice Bell; Isabel Simpscott, played by Elizabeth Day; Gloria Perkins, played by Frances Ward; Sakey Pindie, played by Frances June Seth; John Underhill, played by Kenneth Parker; Charley Underhill played by Dean Turner; Brether Jonah Quackenbush, played by Wray Gibson; Jeremiah Gosling, "Terry" played by J. W. Greenhouse; Enoch Rone, played by Ed White and Quintin Todd, played by Aubrey Forrest.

Concert Given By W. M. U. School of Music The musical recital and concert given by the Misses Grace Bailey, dean of music, and Mrs. H. T. Reynolds, vocal teacher, of W. M. U. on Friday evening, November 7th at the Methodist Church was well attended. The audience appreciated the talent of these two artists very much. The auditorium was well filled and many expressions of appreciation and admiration were heard through out the evening. The stage was beautifully decorated with palms and fall flowers and the setting was well adapted to the program which followed. The numbers given both by Miss Bailey and Mrs. Reynolds were well received. At the conclusion of the second group of selections, both Miss Bailey and Mrs. Reynolds were recipients of beautiful arm bouquets of carnations, chrysanthemums and ferns which were carried to the platform by one of the ushers. The musical reading "Cremona," which was given by Dean Turner, also pleased the audience. This reading was given in a very splendid and impressive manner and was one of the most enjoyed numbers on the program. Warner Memorial University school of music has reason to be proud of its faculty and their abilities.

Chemistry Class Steps Out On Thursday afternoon, November 6th, the Chemistry class walked over to the Gulf Refining plant in order to see how the gasoline was refined. The men working there were very courteous and showed the class all around the plant and explained everything in detail. The following are a few of the things which the class learned: First, that the water had to be taken off from the natural gas as it came from the wells. Second, that it was put through an oil bath in order to take off the volatile gas. Third, it was then cooled and the last bit of water vapor drawn off. It was then ready for use but usually has to be mixed with a lower grade of gasoline.

Academy Notes The students of Warner Memorial University Academy take part in all the extra curricular activities of the University. Four of its members are captains of the University basketball team. Henry Miller plays forward, Charles Foster plays center, Sherman Simpson plays guard. Kenneth Crose is the baby of the university. He is the youngest student. Bill Mohr and Sherman Simpson are night watchmen at the university. Lillie Mae Graves is assistant secretary of the university. Frances June Seth has an important part in the play, "The Old Fashioned Mother," which is to be presented soon. W. E. Hallenbeck was forced to quit school in order to work but is continuing his work by correspondence. Other members of the class are Marvin Peterson, Lela Morgan, Dennis Larabee and Sybil Smith. They are all loyal members of the class and loyal workers. Whenever the university puts forth any project the academy students are loyal workers and boosters.

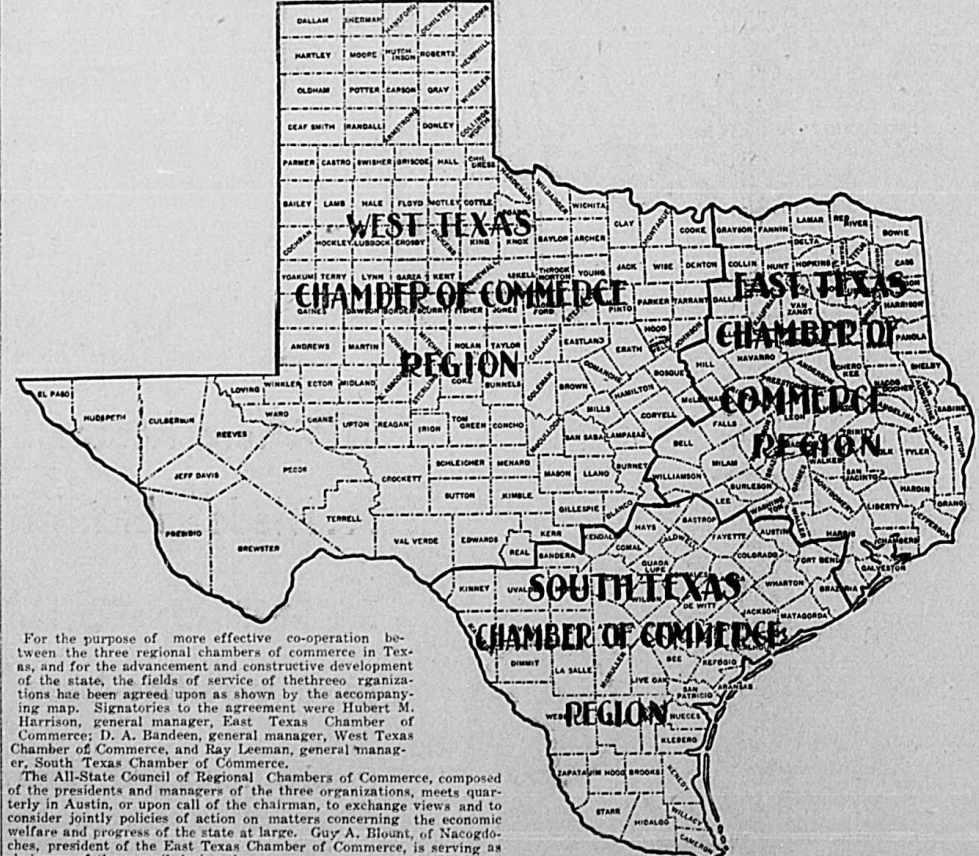

New Books in Library 1. Robinson Crusoe—DeFoe. 2. Cappy Ricks—Peter B. Kyne. 3. A Man for the Ages—Bachelier. 4. A Man Without a Country—Hale. 5. The Covered Wagon—Hough. 6. Economic Biology—Weldon. 7. Vanity Fair—Thackeray. 8. Last Days of Pompeii—Bulwer Lytton. 9. Les Misrables, 2 volumes—Victor Hugo. 10. Sense and Sensibility—Austen.

Boys Move to Dormitory The boys of the university moved to their new dormitory last Saturday. This is located in the north section of the second floor of the administration building. This dormitory space has been just recently completed. Practically all plans have been made for the state young people's convention of the Church of God which is to be held in Eastland, November 28, 29 and 30.

Campus Notes Dean and Mrs. Bally and Prof. and Mrs. H. T. Reynolds spent Sunday afternoon at the home of J. W. Greenhouse. Dr. J. T. Wilson has gone to Stratton, Colorado, to hold a revival.

Chapel Notes "What the Freshmen Think of W. M. U." was the subject of a very interesting talk given by Wray Gibson in chapel Friday morning, November 7th. This talk expressed the thoughts of every freshman and we hope that they can continue to hold this high opinion of W. M. U. Professor H. H. Ward gave a very helpful and interesting talk in chapel Monday, November 10th. "Improper Attitudes" was the subject of his discussion. His discussion was very helpful in that it went so far as to show the possible result of improper attitudes toward any organization. The assembly greatly appreciated his advice. Rev. S. T. Brogdon editor of the Protestant Herald spoke to the W. M. U. student body on Wednesday, November 12th, about the Holy Land. Rev. Brogdon has recently returned from a trip to the Holy Land and his talk was very interesting. He gave a brief outline of his survey of the Sea of Galilee, and its surroundings. He showed many curious relics that he had collected while in the Holy Land.

TERRITORY OF REGIONAL CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE

For the purpose of more effective co-operation between the three regional chambers of commerce in Texas, and for the advancement and constructive development of the state, the fields of service of the three organizations have been agreed upon as shown by the accompanying map. Signatories to the agreement were Hubert M. Harrison, general manager, East Texas Chamber of Commerce; D. A. Barden, general manager, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Ray Leeman, general manager, South Texas Chamber of Commerce. The All-State Council of Regional Chambers of Commerce, composed of the presidents and managers of the three organizations, meets quarterly in Austin, or upon call of the chairman, to exchange views and to consider jointly policies of action on matters concerning the economic welfare and progress of the state at large. Guy A. Blyant, of Nacogdoches, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, is serving as chairman of the council during the present quarter and Mr. Harrison, general manager, as secretary. More extensive use of Texas-made products, on a basis of equal quality, price and service, is being advocated by the All-State Council through a campaign recently inaugurated. The council also voted in favor of a "See Texas First" Campaign. Referring to population, the council of its initial meeting in Austin several months ago adopted the slogan "Texas—Third State in the Union by 1940."

selections. The Choral Club under the direction of Miss Wilda Draxco rendered two pleasing selections. Mrs. Lexie Dean Robertson of Rising Star read nine original poems which were greatly enjoyed and appreciated. Mrs. Robertson is known as the conference poetess. Mrs. J. E. Hickman, who is the secretary of the Cisco District took charge of the meeting and each conference officer was introduced. Mrs. J. H. Steward, of Arlington, who was to have given an inspirational address was unable to attend on account of the illness of her daughter. Mrs. C. A. Boaz of Fort Worth who is known as the conference singer, sang a beautiful solo. This is the Twenty-third Sunday after Pentecost and the gospel read in the Mass today is taken from the Gospel of St. Matt. IX. 18-26. The whole public life of Jesus consisted in teaching, praying and working miracles. He was constantly going about and teaching everywhere, in cities and in the country, in the temple of Jerusalem, and in the synagogues, on the mountains and by the lakes, in the presence of a few persons and of great multitudes of people, before his high and the low, before friends and enemies. At the same time he practiced prayer with the greatest fervor. He very often visited the Jewish places of prayer; he prayed in secret and in public, and it frequently happened that, after having labored all day for the salvation of men, in the evening he retired into a place of solitude, or to a mountain, and there spent the whole night in watching and praying. That people might believe in him he worked countless miracles; he healed the blind, he stilled the storm at sea, he fed several thousand people with a few loaves of bread, he cast out devils, cured sickness of every sort, and raised even the dead to life. In today's Gospel we are told he performed two miracles: the healing of the woman troubled with an issue of blood and the raising to life of the dead girl. He can also raise to life the soul dead in sin again with God's help. (REV.) M. COLLINS.

Mine Owner of New Mexico is Ranger Visitor
RANGER, Texas, Nov. 15.-Carl S. Degner, owner of mining properties, and James S. Williamson, his associate, were in Ranger today.

Some Progress Made
In my own circle of friends are some Christian men and women trained in the south, whose forbears were owners of slaves and defended the institution of slavery, who to-day among the foremost leaders in seeking justice for all without regard to race or color. The problem of black and white in America has been so acute that we have not, perhaps, realized that even in this day of prejudice is found outside that particular area, but as our American commonwealth has grown in population, the heterogeneity of its 120,000,000 inhabitants racial prejudices manifest themselves in various ways and with various degrees of acuteness. In some sections it is strongly marked against the Jew, in other sections it discriminates against the Italian or other peoples from the southern Mediterranean area. There are still places where it operates against the Irish in the majority, manifest it against those who have come to America in succeeding waves of immigration.

Is it true that the problems of overthrowing race prejudice and of building up a society in which it does not exist is not by any means as simple as the principles upon which it rests. But because the problem is difficult is there any warrant for our failure to solve it, or any warrant for our establishing in our personal lives courses of conduct that are at variance with the high principles of love and justice to all?

Much can be done to establish right relationships through law, but after all the true solution will come as individuals have courage to practice in their own lives the Gospel of Jesus in all its breadth and inclusiveness, and as they strive through their individual conduct and influence to make this ultimately the law and custom of the society in which they live.

Must Practice Godliness
How are we going to overcome these prejudices except as they were overcome in New Testament times. The New Testament is, in fact, a very instructive document in dealing with all these things. What is needed today is to give new meanings in belief and practice to what we call godliness. How can a man be godly and yet have prejudice in his heart toward his neighbor because that neighbor is of a different color or speaks a different language? Does God have these dislikes and prejudices? Is he really the God of all men, or is he the God simply of white Anglo-Saxons?
