Crawford Hotel Observes Anniversary

HOMETOWN TALK

By Beddy
Big Spring has much to be thankful for today as the nation observes what in many ways is the most laudable and useful holiday any nation observes.

Economic conditions are not so good as they were a year ago. More people are without jobs. More children and their mothers are suffering.

Big Spring, however, may be thankful not only because she has been spared the heavy misfortune meted to many communities but also for the horizon ahead that gleams merrily with unmistakable promise of better things to come.

During the past year many things of utmost importance have transpired here. Many things have "broken our way." Things here could be very much worse.

Since last Thanksgiving Day the Texas & Pacific's new terminal facilities were finished and put in service.

The Settles hotel was finished and is drawing an increasing patronage. The Douglass hotel was completed and is one of the most popular in West Texas.

The people voted bond issues, the proceeds of which are being used now to build the things they were supposed to build—more water and sewer service, a sewer disposal plant.

Need For Community Chest Urged

Thanksgiving Day finds several score Big Spring people preparing to take active parts in a project that is designed to alleviate human suffering, save business men as well as all residents much time and trouble and provide means for improving the character and brightening the ambition of the boys of the community.

The Community Chest plan, adopted here this year for the first time, calls for raising a total of $10,000 for support of public charity, administered by the Salvation Army, for necessary funds for the Boy Scouts and for the Howard county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Business men, professional men, mothers, and many in other groups are expressing their approval of the Community Chest plan. It is designed, first, to make more economical and more efficient the administration of funds for organizations necessarily depending upon public subscription.

It does away with a number of "drives" by combining in one appeal solicitation for each organization making an annual community-wide effort for funds.

It places administration of public charity in the hands of men and women who have made a study of that work. In Big Spring this will be done by the Salvation Army.

Funds of the Community Chest will not be issued in lump sums to the three participating organizations. It will be transferred from the chest to those organizations at various times during the coming year, as it is needed.

All funds will be issued only on authority of a standing committee and a complete financial report by each organization to the chest, in turn, by the chest committee to the entire community will be made at the end of the year.

Reagan Operators Given More Time For Tubing Wells

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—An order extending thirty days the time in which operators of the deep wells in Reagan county might have to prevent gas waste was being circulated for signatures of the Texas railroad commission today.

The following counties have registered: Nacogdoches county, asking award of contract for paving 1488 feet of Highway 21 from west city limits of Nacogdoches east; award of contract for paving 700 feet of Highway 21 from Lanana Creek bridge to Nacogdoches city limits and award of contract for paving 2250 feet of Highway 33 from south city limits.

Cooke county, to discuss Highway 5 through Cooke county. Houston county, to discuss Highway 19 across county and to request the state to take over maintenance of Highway 106, the county to build all bridges and as much of Unit 1 as possible.

Falls county, asking award of contract for paving 1500 feet of Highway 129 in west part of city of Marlin.

Jefferson county, seeking extension of Louisiana Evangeline Highway on Texas Highway 8.

Cass county, seeking gravel surface for nine miles of Highway 44 from Linden to west line of Precinct 7, using local labor as much as possible; improvement of 18 miles of Highway 45 from Linden to Hughes Springs.

Williamson county, asking re-routing of four miles of Highway 24 from a railroad crossing west to precinct Nov. 4 to miss railroad crossing and widen highway.

Depression In Dallas Means Construction

DALLAS, Nov. 27.—There is an amazing paradox existing in this city. Twenty-seven million dollars worth of construction is under way in a period which some local enthusiasts pessimists term a time of depression.

The state is noted for riveting guns break the concentration of business men in the downtown district where more than seven million dollars worth of office building construction is in progress. Trucks, laden with structural steel, block traffic. Pedestrians in the main streets, are constantly looking aloft to see whether the rivets are flying through the air.

The Tower P. troleum building, 22 stories, costing $1,500,000 is almost ready for the carpenters. The 28-story National Building, costing $300,000, 15-story Y. M. C. A. structure is under way.

The Atlantic and Pacific Company is building a four story warehouse which is costing $350,000. The Oak Cliff Y. M. C. A. is costing $250,000. A new in. Oak Cliff is surely needed. It is costing $200,000. The ground space will be utilized for business purposes in addition to providing an entrance to the theatre.

Early in 1931 a new hotel will be built near the present Baker hotel. This will cost $2,500,000. Plans are ready for this undertaking. The proposed 28-story National Building, costing $300,000, is being financed. Work is expected to get under way by March, 1931.

The Dallas Power and Light Company is constructing the first unit of a dam at Mountain Creek Lake. This is costing $500,000. The second unit will be let shortly.

The Trinity River reclamation project, which is costing $20,000,000 is providing employment for 2500 men. The city commission let a million dollar storm sewer contract last week. Underpasses and approaches to the viaducts which span the Trinity river are under construction. Industrial Boulevard, which runs the entire length of the reclamation district, a distance of nine miles, has been started. Railroad companies are relocating their lines. Public utility companies are installing power, light and gas mains. Industry is humming in Dallas.

Year Marked By Numerous Improvements

Thanksgiving Day has a double meaning for Big Spring, and more especially for the Crawford hotel. For today is the third anniversary of the opening of this famous hostelry.

In the days when Big Spring was first feeling the activity caused by discovery of the "deep pay" in Howard and Glasscock counties, the community was sorely in need of a modern hotel.

It was A. J. Crawford, Carlsbad, New Mexico capitalist, with whom the Chamber of Commerce effected an agreement that resulted in erection of The Crawford.

The hotel perhaps filled a need more actual and more immediate than any built in West Texas within the past few years.

To make the institution more useful to the people of the city and the traveling public Mr. Crawford sent to Big Spring as manager of the hotel a man who has been continually more esteemed and appreciated. He is Calvin Boykin.

"Cal" has become a friend of thousands, and they are all his friends. The clientele of the Crawford is characterized by a loyalty seldom manifested. Those who stay at the Crawford because he makes them feel at home and sees that their comforts are plentiful may be found anywhere in West Texas.

The Crawford is celebrating its third birthday with some improvements and enlargements effected since last Thanksgiving Day. An addition to the building, one floor and basement, 50 by 120 feet ground space contains an automobile storage garage and filling station operated by Jack Ellis.

East Texas Negro Wins Acquittals Without Lawyers

TEXARKANA, Nov. 27. (AP)—Sol Henry, 45-year-old typical negro farmer of Miller county, says he doesn't know anything about law, but several members of the Texarkana bar declare he is a legal opponent to be feared and cite his record in Miller county courts.

Sol Henry's latest appearance in court involved a charge of cotton theft. Acting as his own attorney the negro heard Judge Louis Joseph rule that the state evidence was insufficient to hold him to the grand jury. Sol questioned every state witness closely, successfully impeaching the complaining witness, and then took the stand in his own behalf to tell what the judge termed "a straightforward story," which state cross-examination failed to shake.

"This is nothing new to Sol," said Judge Joseph. "I remember a case in circuit court where Sol made the argument before the jury instead of his attorney and won acquittals."

The case to which the judge referred was one in which Sol was charged with assault. He admitted hitting the nose of another negro during a fight, but contended that he was fighting to save himself.

In his most recent case, Sol and Walter Hardin, another negro, were charged with stealing 1,070 pounds of cotton from a neighborly farmer.

The complaining farmer said he found wagon tracks near his barn like those made by Sol's wagon. Sol countered by proving by another state witness that his wagon was "so broken-down that it wouldn't haul that much cotton." Another state witness testimony that Sol had sold him 200 pounds of cotton was countered with a receipt from the gin. Sol was successful in having ruled out testimony that Hardin, accused with him, had said the cotton was given to him by Sol Henry.

Edison Attempts Bringing Planes Out of Fog Threat

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 27. (AP)—Thomas A. Edison is trying to bring aviation out of the fog. He has been experimenting with rockets to circumvent flying's greatest enemy. His rockets would give off light by night and a black smoke by day to locate airports and determine the depth of the fog.

"It seems to me that aviation can't see the mountain for the mole-hill," he remarked in stating his belief that the solution of the problem was much simpler than it appeared.

"Radio, at the present time, is a bit too delicate for fog work," he said in disapproval of the radio beacon for blind flying. "I personally prefer to work up something much more simple, involving, perhaps, sight or sound." Edison disclosed his experiments in a talk with Richard Aldworth, director of the Newark airport.

The Crawford is celebrating its third birthday with some improvements and enlargements effected since last Thanksgiving Day. An addition to the building, one floor and basement, 50 by 120 feet ground space contains an automobile storage garage and filling station operated by Jack Ellis.

On the ground floor are the Greyhound bus station, the Crawford Cleaners, a spacious dining hall and ballroom and one of the most beautiful rooms in this section—the ladies' lounge.

These additional facilities have enhanced value of the Crawford to the community and, in turn, its popularity with the traveling public.

Wet Leaders Feel Chances Are Not Good

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—In spite of all the flurry and discussion over prohibition in congressional circles, a number of wet leaders are convinced there is no chance of altering dry laws at the coming session.

Some of them are organizing, however, for a drive to modify the Volstead act when the new congress comes in—some time after next March 4.

Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, who has opposed prohibition in and out of session, predicted today votes would be taken on modification proposals in the next congress. On one point, however, he intends to continue his anti-prohibition drive this session.

That is the elimination of any poisonous denaturants from industrial alcohol. He favored, also, "some effort to soften the more harsh stringent provisions of the Jones law."

Utterances of leaders in both Republican and Democratic parties, meanwhile displayed the widening spaces between wets and dries in their respective ranks.

Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, yesterday advocated a referendum to determine popular sentiment, although maintaining his belief the country still is for prohibition. Senator Euss of Ohio, now Republican national chairman, has spoken emphatically for no let up in the dry position.

Profit Seen For Ranchers By Marfa Man

Market Supports Quality Cattle, Says Mitchell
SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 27. (AP)—W. B. Mitchell of Marfa said here recently that he saw nothing but prosperity for the man who was feeding sheep and cattle today. Mitchell had just returned from a tour of the corn belt states, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska and Missouri, where he held several auctions of highland Herefords from his large holdings in the Big Bend country of Texas.

"There has never been a time when the market has supported quality cattle as it is doing today," Mitchell continued. "Feeders throughout the corn belt are having no difficulty in securing finances to carry them through, and they are showing increased interest in good cattle with which to fill their feed pens."

"There is, in my opinion, a scarcity of finished cattle throughout the entire feeding territory and the demand for feeding cattle is picking up. Very little corn is being sold and indications are that approximately 90 per cent of the corn is being cribbed as the feeders seem to feel that with corn bringing 60 and 65 cents a bushel their best outlook is in feeding cattle. We will send approximately 10,000 head of choice Highland Hereford calves and yearlings out of the Big Bend, or about the same number as we send every year."

"While the feeders have been rather conservative in their buying, our auction sales have been satisfactory. The class of cattle the feeder wants depends to a great extent on how long he plans to feed them, but in the main the demand is for steer calves or light yearlings. This is true for two reasons: first, the initial cost is lower due to lighter weights; and second, after he has fed them for 10 or 12 months the animals go to market weighing 900 to 1,100 pounds. This is the class of beef he pocker wants."

Confidence In Bell Expressed By Dean Of Texas A.M. College

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 26 (AP)—Dean Charles E. Friley, chairman of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College athletic council, today said there was no foundation of fact for a report that Matty Bell, former coach, would be replaced.

"Coach Bell was appointed head of the department of physical education at A. & M. in 1929 to succeed D. X. Bible and in this capacity he has supervision over the entire program of physical education," Dean Friley said. "The physical education department is organized as one of the regular teaching divisions of the college and the members of its staff have the same academic status as other teachers, both as to tenure of office and recognition in the college education.

"A. & M. college simply has passed the stage where the mere winning or losing of athletic contests is the criterion for the retention or dropping of any member of the athletic staff. Federal Judge Called As Witness in Trial

FORT WORTH, Nov. 25 (AP)—Federal Judge James C. Wilson deserted the bench today to assume the role of witness in a criminal case.

In the midst of a trial here, he adjourned the morning session, to go to Wichita Falls to testify in the case of John Tyson and Bill Logsdon, former prohibition agents. They are under indictment for conspiracy to obstruct justice and for acceptance of a bribe.

The indictments, one returned at Amarillo and the other at Wichita Falls, resulted from the circumstances following the sentencing of Pleasant H. Hill of Abilene by Judge Wilson in October, 1927. Hill was sentenced to 30 days in jail and application of the sentence was deferred for 40 days by the court.

He never served the sentence. The indictments against the two former dry agents allege, that a fraudulent order was sent to Hill releasing him from serving the jail term. It alleges further that a $500 bribe was paid. The two men are now standing trial in United States district court at Wichita Falls before Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas.

Judge Wilson was to testify he did not issue the release order.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

In a larger measure and similarly effective will be the expected decision of the voters of Howard county in the December 23 road bond election.

Construction of more than 85 miles of road bed in the county is bound to provide employment for a number of men. Paving of that mileage will further improve employment conditions and consequently have an effect upon the pulse of local business.

Slaton Woman Makes Unusual Record With Home Canning Work

SLATON, Texas, Nov. 27 (AP)—Believed to have set one of the outstanding records in the state for home demonstration projects, Mrs. E. R. Slater of near here this fall canned 1,507 quarts of fruits and vegetables, valued by government estimates at $344.10, from a half acre plot irrigated from a shallow well and a windmill.

In addition, Mrs. Slater sold during the season vegetables which brought her $101.42 bringing her revenue from the half acre to $454.52 while the family table and neighbors were also well supplied. Cost of production was $34.45.

Inaugural Ball Again In Charge Of Peeler

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Chairman of the inaugural ball committees for Texas governors "since Hogg," Col. John Peeler of Austin will head the committee arranging for the ball in honor of Governor-elect and Mrs. Ross S. Sterling January 20. Colonel Peeler has been head of the inaugural ball committee for more than 30 years.

The committee will start a campaign soon for 1,000 patrons to defray expenses of the ball, planned to be one of the most entertainment fund without any campaign.

Mother And Baby Die Of Starvation And Exposure In Cabin

BUFFALO, Wyoming, Nov. 27. (AP)—A story of death by starvation and exposure during recent severe storms was pieced together by officers today after the discovery of the bodies of Mrs. Pearl Fenton, 25, and her two-year-old son in a lonely homestead cabin 40 miles south of here in the hills of the Bandido country.

Another son, four years old, was found near death from starvation. He had subsisted for days on a sack of sugar and water, officers believed.

Although the bodies of the mother and children had been mutilated, apparently by wild animals, authorities found evidence they had been burned. They believed the woman had poured coal oil in the cabin and it had exploded.

The bodies were found by sheep herders. Neighbors said they had not seen members of the Fenton family for two weeks.

The husband, Pearl Fenton, had been working at Sheridan. He was preparing to leave for the homestead today to spend Thanksgiving with his family when he was informed of the tragedy.

Five Longhorns Play Final Game

Graduation Doesn't Hurt University Eleven Very Mortally

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—Graduation, the bug-bear of football coaches, will be particularly easy on the Texas Longhorns this year, for Clyde Littlefield will see but five of his squad members play their last game against the Texas Aggies next Thursday. This is the lightest attack of the disease in several years, and will leave the Texas coaches with a wealth of material for their hard 1931 schedule.

Captain Dexter Shelley, Austin halfback; Milton Perkins, Bastrap; halfback; Lester Peterson, Taylor, end; Rut Vining, Pine Bluff, Arkansas, end; and Nick Gattoura, Austin, are the men who will complete their eligibility Thursday. Several other members of the team were on the championship squad of 1928, but were not used in order that their eligibility might be preserved until they were more experienced.

Shelley Through

The loss of Captain Shelley, 190-pound triple-threat artist of the Longhorns, will be the greatest single loss, for the slashing captain has been a mainstay of the Texas team since his sophomore days of 1928. During the latter part of 1929 and the early part of this season, he was not as spectacular as he was in his first year of competition, but since the Texas-S. M. U. game of this year, he has returned to his old form. His defensive work and his blocking will be sorely missed next year.

Milton Perkins, 175-pound halfback, is one of the most versatile backs in the conference, but he is another of the veterans who have been forced to yield to the pressure of the Longhorn sophomores, and has not been seeing as much service in the last few games as might be expected. Peterson and Vining, veteran ends, have been playing a steady, consistent brand of ball this year, and their experience will be missed when the going gets rough next year. Gattoura, reserve center, has yet to earn his letter, and he has had little chance to break into the Texas lineup this year because of the fighting qualities of little Walter Howie, regular pivot man. Howie is a junior.

Replacements

Replacements for the losses, with the possible exception of Shelley, can be named almost at once. Peterson and Vining have had plenty on their hands this season in trying to keep Price and Dabose, a couple of husky sophomores, out of the regular end jobs, and the two youngsters should be ready to take the positions over next year. Perkins has not been quite so successful in keeping Harrison Staffe, another sophomore, put of his job, and consequently has been forced to sit on the bench at the start of the last three conference games. Gattoura never had a chance at the starting pivot job after Howie hit his stride, and as a result, his loss will not be as heavy one. Several freshman centers of merit promise to give Howie quite a fight next year for the same job.

DECEMBER 4 AND 5

Our Prayer of Thanksgiving

Three hundred and ten years ago, our Pilgrim Fathers gave thanks for the blessing of laboring here... with brawn and with brain... in a land filled with hope and promise.

Three hundred and ten years later, we offer our gratitude for the privilege of continuing that labor in a land of hope justified and promise fulfilled.

From the depths of our hearts, we, therefore, give thanks—

That we are living in the best country in the world and overjoyed to be included in its citizenship;

That the present depression is but a momentary veil obscuring our country's fundamental prosperity;

That conditions are not any worse than they are;

That we have the courage and the hardihood to face these conditions, and in true American fashion, fight them through, standing up;

That we are able to understand the philosophy behind the signs which some blind men carry as they amble along in their dreadful darkness—

"Keep smiling, it might have been worse";

That we have had strength enough to resist doing the many shady acts which "wise" men regard as clever;

That we have never defaulted on a contract, no matter how it hurt;

That we have been fair and square and on the level with our customers, who are so vital and important a part of our legion of friends;

That we have been able to retain the loyalty and faithfulness of our employees by treating them humanely;

That we pledge ourselves to do our bit toward promoting human welfare;

That we are here today to offer this earnest and sincere prayer for our host of friends throughout the land and for our country at large.

May all the goodness of life be theirs. May they find happiness on the paths they traverse. May joy and the blessings of life ever surround them. AMEN!
