TidBits July 25-31 Farm Safety Week In Eastland County

By H.V.O.

THE TRAUMA of converting a newspaper production from letterpress (not metal) to offset (cold type) must be somewhat akin to submitting to a heart transplant.

However, everything appears to be on schedule and in spite of the fact that there's still a lot to be done, the pros keep telling us we'll make it.

The 19,000-pound press arrived and is virtually installed. Training is underway. Getting the giant out of the van it came in and into our building was a real chore — and probably wouldn't have been accomplished had not just about everybody and their fork lift in town gotten involved. All within the narrow confines of the alley, it was a 11-hour job, and what a glorious relief, once it was inside on our floor.

Building Contractor Wayne Webb and his crew went above and beyond the call of duty directing and unloading under extremely unpleasant conditions. Frank Sayre had a crew of TESCO men and a truck. Larry Blacklock provided a big fork lift and a man all day. That lift plus a hand-operated one from Victor Cornelius did the trick for everything but the biggest (8,000) piece. Jonah Finley, Jr. and Sr., came up with a trailer truck with a winch that did the trick on the big piece. On hand to help were Parks, Poe, Elwood Ragland and a great number of others, the names of whom we probably failed to list in our own confusion. Mr. A. E. Cartledge was a re-assuring force as he kept telling us, "Sure, it can be done." There were many moments when we needed that.

Mr. Gene Morgan, installer for the NewsKing Co. was on hand to advise and guide handling of the oh-so-delicate, but oh-so-heavy prize press. He's busy installing the 12-pager and our people, Pressman Ted Riggs and Assistant John Morris are just as busy learning about it from the floor up.

Steel-Bulger Jimmy Young has installed an overhead beam to support the electric hoist that lifts the 1,000-lb. rolls of paper into their places.

Plumber Emmett Morren & electrician F. L. Bond get in on the press act too, as they help provide the necessary utilities to power and run the NEWSKING.

Of course, in this business, the other work goes on too, because each of these craftsmen is busy getting other parts of the operation in working order. Working hand-in-hand, the carpenters, plumbers and electrician and equipment installers have virtually gotten the darkroom ready and the plate-making section is on the brink of going.

Upstairs, the computerized type-setting equipment is in place in a snug little cubicle and the operators completed their formal training Friday, to go into a week of further study and work to be ready to start production soon after August 1.

The equipment people who have come here, to a man report that they've never worked with more cooperative craft people and are enthusiastic in their appraisal of our town, this area and its people.

Course this is the reason we all call this home, and why we're doing everything we can to provide the best newspaper possible.

And during this traumatic experience, it is necessary to beg indulgences on the part of our staffs and crews. We're all trying to continue every service and to maintain as near normal production as possible, but with many of us in training and working with new equipment in strange surroundings, there's bound to be some mis-cues here and there, so be assured that we do appreciate your understanding.

We think it will be worth it!

County Judge Scott Bailey proclaimed July 25-31, 1971 as "Farm and Ranch Safety Week" in Eastland County, at the request of Jack Cozart, Eastland County Farm Bureau president. The local farm organization is coordinating activities within the county for the special farm safety campaign.

The county farm leader said the accidental death rate for farm and ranch residents in Texas averaged over 250 per year during the decade of the sixties.

"If this 'Unwelcome Harvest' is to be reversed and the needless suffering and losses substantially reduced, each of

Cisco To Host Annual Northeast Boy Scout Swim Meet Monday

60 Boys Will Participate In Contests

Cisco will host the annual Boy Scouts Swim Meet of the Northeast District of the Comanche Trail Council Monday evening.

Some 60 boys representing 12 Boy Scout Troops from Cisco, Breckenridge, Eastland, Stephenville and other communities in the four-county area of Eastland, Stephens, Comanche and Erath will us must have a renewed effort," Mr. Cozart continued. He emphasized that farming remains one of the most hazardous occupations in the country today; but added, many of the present losses could be prevented with the use of safety "Protection" tools such as seat belts, fire extinguishers, SMV emblems, and tractor roll-guards and crush resistant cabs.

In his proclamation, Judge Bailey said "the citizens of Eastland County are proud of our abundance of food and fiber; therefore, our citizens are deeply concerned about the safety and well-being of this segment of our population as they go about producing the commodities needed by the entire population."

The proclamation said the week-long special farm and coordinated effort by Farm Bureau and various local and state agricultural and safety groups.

The judge urged farm families "to become more safety conscious, not only during the 'Farm Safety Week,' but every day of the year."

President Nixon and Governor Smith have previously designated the same period as "Farm and Ranch Safety Week" nationally and in Texas.

Ken Payne, the Eastland County game warden had already had an encounter with the bird. He had been the first to find the animal. Payne had taken the bird home with him. While he was at work, the pelican made the warden's pond of fish his dining table. After the bird finished off the fish in his pond, still hungry, he made his way up the road to find other means of fulfilling his appetite. This is when the Brenemans stepped in and rescued what was their "summer visitor."

Dr. John Foster, veterinarian of Ranger, was the attending physician. He showed the bird's new family shots after administering treatment.

Chester H. Breneman, Eastland County Surveyor, his wife Pauline, and three children: Karen, 13; Leon, 11; Jon 9 and Marian 7 have become quite attached to

Lost Pelican Finds New Friends and New Home

By TERRESA HERRIDGE

Heart warming stories of a pet and those who love him seem to be only found in a fiction book or a Disney film.

Eastland county sets the scene for a real-life non-fiction story with all the heart warming ingredients of an animal lover could ask for.

About three months ago it was reported that a peculiar looking animal was making its way up the road about a mile northwest of the Colony Cemetery. It was rescued from gun point by the Chester H. Breneman family after they received word that the animal was about to be shot by a man fearful of what it might be.

That "peculiar animal" was a wounded pelican with a height of about five feet. It had been shot in the wing and foot and was unable to fly. The Breneman family loaded every inch of the wounded bird into their family car, took it home, and called the game warden for instruction as what to do with it.

Meanwhile the children were taking their new found friend into their yard where they had a horse trough full of minnows they used to fish with. Immediately the bird made its way to the trough and devoured every minnow in the trough with almost one dip of his bill.

When a summer wind would come up the family would watch the bird as it tested its wing for flight. They would say "Good bye, C. D." in knowledge that one day the bird would be strong enough to fly off.

When the problem of eating and feeding the bird began to grow, the Brenemans sought an unselfish way to correct it. They contacted the Abilene Zoo and found the directors there were more than happy they were offering to share their friend. The zoo was very eager to have such a bird among their other menagerie.

If ever you are visiting the Abilene Zoo and see a white pelican with black wing tips, and stands about five feet tall, say hello to him.

His name is "C. D."

Tell him the Chester H. Brenemans family sent you!

participate in the contests. There will be a senior and a junior Scout division and in each division there will be eight contested events. The boys will compete in basic swim strokes, team events and other contests. There will be no diving, however.

Ribbons will be awarded in each contest.

Harold Dehon, Brownwood, Scout executive for the Comanche Trail Council, will be in charge of the meet, assisted by scoutmasters of the various troops, including Vernon Honea of the Cisco Troop.

Use of the pool for the contests is being furnished by Truman Kirk of K-Park Recreation.

The contests will begin at their friend whom they call "C. D." (after the ex-fire chief at Ranger).

Saturday was a day filled with memories and sadness. "C. D." departed for the Abilene Zoo.

The huge bird was becoming very expensive to food. The family made special fishing trips every two days to obtain enough fish for the bird's appetite.

Pauline Breneman caught 92 fish one afternoon and "C. D." had them all eaten the next day.

The bird can easily eat a 12 inch bass. Pauline became a very good catcher of fish. She is able to catch a large number of fish any time of the day while people around her are unable to catch anything. In awe, they wonder what her secret might be. It very well could have been an attachment to a huge white pelican with black wing tips.

The family unanimously loves the bird. Since it is against the law to keep the bird in captivity, the Brenemans let the bird run loose with the dog, cat, a pet crow and everything else that make their yard home. Each evening the bird would make his way to the chicken house as one of the children would open up the barn lot. There the pelican would sleep in his "sanctuary at night."

Making his only sound of what sounds like the grunt of a pig, the bird would nest and fall asleep.

When a summer wind would come up the family would watch the bird as it tested its wing for flight. They would say "Good bye, C. D." in knowledge that one day the bird would be strong enough to fly off.

'Tell It Like It Is' Set Friday at Kendrick Theater

"Tell It Like It Is", a Christian folk musical about God, is to be presented by the Ranger young people, or "Jesus Pushers" a they preferred to be known, at the Kendrick Amphitheater on Friday, July 30 at 9 p.m.

"Tell It Like It Is" deals with three major subjects: (1) the belief and lack of belief in God, as creator and ruler of the universe; (2) the generation gap between young people today and "young people" of a time past, and (3) the revelation of God to man through Jesus Christ.

The purpose of the musical as stated by the composers, Ralph Carmichael and Kurt Kaiser is: "to plain talk kids into a confrontation experience with the truth about God's love and a relationship with His Son."

The musical appeals to all ages and has a message for everyone who listens. It is an exciting production offering everyone the finest entertainment as well as a solid, bold-faced challenge for Christian living.

There is no admission charged for the folk musical. Everyone is invited and encouraged to attend. Bring your own cushion!

14 Entries Are In Tomato Show

People who went to the courthouse at Eastland Friday morning were seeing "red". The red was that of tomatoes in the Eastland County 4-H Tomato Show. All totaled, there were fourteen entries in the show. Placing were as follows:

Nemates — Jerry Weathers, blue; Joe Heysler, red; John Marshall, white; Kevin Glenn, pink, and Donna Derbyberry, gold.

Pink Deal: Jerry Weathers, blue; John Marshall, red and Pattie Weathers, white.

Other varieties: Leshia Claborn, blue and John Marshall, red.

John Marshall also exhibited the "biggest" tomato.

Assistant County Agent Paul Campbell said that more entries would have come in if the show had been a week or two later. Dry weather was the main cause for late tomatoes through out the county. It is hoped that next year will be better for growing tomatoes and other crops.

John Marshall also exhibited the "biggest" tomato.

Healthcare Measure Will Provide More Benefits, Reports Burleson

FORT WORTH — Congressman Omar Burleson Saturday said his proposed National Health Care Act of 1971 will provide more innovative solutions to solving the nation's health crisis and do so without imposing heavy tax burdens on middle income persons.

Burleson, a member of the House Ways and Means Committee which will take up the question of national health insurance told the Texas Life Underwriters Association that solving National health crises "is not a simply problem that can be treated with a single prescription."

But he said his bill will provide a comprehensive approach to solving the health dilemma at a first year cost of $3.2 billion in additional federal taxes, compared to $77 billion for the proposed Kennedy-Griffiths bill.

The Texas Congressman said his bill won't destroy the system of health insurance which now covers 164 million Americans under age 65, but will improve it — so that all Americans can have equal access to quality health care, regardless of income.

He cited these innovations in his bill:

1. A program to encourage training and distribution of medical personnel in areas of critical manpower shortage — rural communities, small towns, urban ghettos.

2. A program to develop ambulatory treatment centers, which will encourage early disease detection, boost preventive medicine and reduce hospital occupancy.

3. Development of comprehensive planning for health programs which would extend from the local and state to the federal levels.

4. Establishment of cost controls aimed at holding down medical and hospital charges.

5. Use of state pool plans to guarantee health insurance coverage for the poor, near-poor and otherwise uninsurable, plus use of tax incentives to stimulate comprehensive coverage for employed individuals.

6. Development of federal standards for health benefits and creation of a national health policy board to conduct ongoing research in this field.

Burleson noted that his bill includes coverage for catastrophic illness, but said that America's health needs encompass far more than just covering this kind of emergency, or paying for the high cost of hospitalization.

Similarly, he said, a national health care plan which simply dumps federal dollars into the health delivery system without improving it will aggravate problems, not solve them. He said that this was one of the unforeseen consequences of the Medicare program.

Tortuga Tommy Turns Toward Texas Tech U.

A summer filled with fun, hardwork, and adventure has ended for Tommy Ford 19 yr. old son of George Ford and Mrs. Merle Ford, of Eastland. Tommy arrived in Eastland, Saturday, July 17, after six weeks on the island of Tortuga, a possession of Haiti, and lying about 20 miles off the northeast coast of Haiti. Tortuga, named after the Spanish word for "turtle", is under a 99 year lease to the DuPont Caribbean Corporation of Eastland. Don Pearson, Eastland business man, heads the far-flung interests of the giant Corporation, whose plans to make the island into a duty-free port.

Tommy left Eastland on May 30, flying from Dallas' Love Field to Miami, he, along with other members of the work party hired by the Corporation to assist in construction of Tortuga's first airfield, left Miami on an Air France jet that took them to Port Au Prince, capital of Haiti, and jumping off place for Tortuga.

Heading up the party was Jack Leibolt, former Lockheed test pilot, and Chief Pilot for DuPont Caribbean. Leibolt, his wife, and children, are still in Tortuga, where they plan to make their home.

According to Tommy, "Old Mother Nature really had the welcome mat out for us. The first night on the island, a storm came up and blew down our tent, so we had to spend the rest of the night in a native hut, with 12 natives." The hut, as Tommy described it, was made of grass, palm leaves, and small logs and bits of lumber, but served to keep the heavy downpour off its occupants. This storm, according to Tommy, dropped about six inches of rain in 15 or 20 minutes.

The next day, June 3, preliminary work got under way on construction of the runway, with the help of 200 natives, also hired by DuPont Caribbean to assist in cutting timber, hauling dirt, removing rocks, and tamping down the surface. The runway, which is now complete, is approximately 3600 feet long and 50 ft wide, and will accommodate planes as large as the Douglas DC-3, and C-46, both of which the Corporation owns, in addition to their Cessna Skymaster, and Jet Star. Pierson has stated that the Corporation plans to move in heavy construction equipment shortly in the C-46 for further construction work.

As has been reported in earlier news releases through this paper, as well as nation wide, DuPont Caribbean Corporation is in the initial construction period that will ultimately see large luxury hotels, casinos, shopping centers, and home sites. In order to do this, it was necessary to first hue out from the undeveloped land a useable airstrip.

When asked if any amusing incidents had happened during his stay there, Tommy said, "Well, yes, you could say that. One day, we left the natives to their own devices in the construction work, and they decided to make a 45 degree turn in the airstrip. I guess they did this to avoid some large trees and rocks."

Another incident happened that Tommy had rather forgotten, though. After nine days on Tortuga, he landed in the Prince Duvalier Hospital, in Port Au Prince, a victim of heat exhaustion, and dehydration. A result of having too little experience in working in the heat and humidity of the island. After a stay of five days in the hospital, he was advised by doctors to drink plenty of liquids, take salt tablets, and steer clear of the mid-afternoon sun, if possible.

Tommy said his stay in the hospital was rather enjoyable, with but one exception... there were no screens on the windows, consequently flies and mosquitoes were a nuisance. The hospital was very modern, and clean, according to Tommy, and all rooms were private with individual verandas that overlooked the court yard.

When asked for a "typical" daily menu on Tortuga, Tommy said it consisted mainly of fresh lobster and fish that they caught, cooked by a native, with "Stateside" canned food miles wide and 50 miles long, to help out. "All in all, we ate Tommy said, "It is very beautiful, the climate is wonderful, even though it is a little hot, even though it is a little hot."

"And, as for the natives", warm, and the island has all hard workers, very courteous, honest and friendly". Asked if he planned to go back, Tomy said, "I hope to be able to go back and do some more work before school begins". And, in the case of Tommy Ford, school... which is Texas Tech, at Lubbock... begins August 24.

Your Problems are our Business—
... or at least some of them are. For example, we Americans can't get along without the automobile. As a consequence, we have problems some of which may be very grave and expensive. So we look to insurance—which is strictly American—for what relief it will afford. It can't solve all of our troubles, but over the years, it has saved our customers an untold amount of money by simply having the kind of insurance that paid off when needed. Are you adequately insured?

Why Growth in Some Rural Areas Studied

SAN ANTONIO — Plans for a comprehensive research project to discover why some Texas rural areas have begun a population upsurge while many more continue a 30-year loss have been announced by the Texas Industrial Commission.

A preliminary commission survey of Texas counties shows 16 counties that consistently declined in population from 1930 to 1960 reversed this trend during the 1960's and showed population growth.

"Something happened in those counties to turn the population tide," said Jim Harwell, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission. "Our goal is to make it happen in all of them."

Commission personnel will measure quantities ranging from industrial location patterns to new tourist attractions, Harwell said, and a computerized analysis will determine factors responsible for increasing rural population.

"We already know that factors like new lakes or resort areas have affected several areas," he said. "But a thorough study can detect more subtle qualities which make for healthy population growth."

Current population trends are deleting the state's rural areas and concentrating people into huge metropolitan complexes, Harwell said. "Unless preventative action is taken, Texas could develop vast areas of vacant rural land and overconcentrated, unmanageable cities," he said. "This project marks the start of that action."

National 4-H Dress Revue Turns Dreams Into Reality

Every young girl dreams of being a storybook princess with a prince charming gazing at her in admiration.

And 51 young ladies may bring their dreams to reality in Chicago later this year. Representing their home state and Puerto Rico, each will glide across the stage in self-created ensembles at the 1971 National 4-H Dress Revue sponsored by Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc.

The event climaxes a year's activity in which more than 350,000 4-H girls have participated in county and state dress revues conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service. Theme of the 1971 revue, sponsored by Simplicity for the 25th time, is Storybook Fashions.

With a "Prince Charming" to open the gala event and a "Fairy Godmother" to introduce the winners and describe their ensembles, the Conrad Hilton ballroom will become a virtual dream castle.

At the close of the 1971 National 4-H Dress Revue, six winners will be awarded $700 scholarships. Selection of the scholarship recipients will be made on the basis of their 4-H records, leadership and work in the dress revue program.

Leading to this national event, 4-H girls are expected to earn more than 26,000 medals of honor at county dress revues. The company, through the National 4-H Service Committee, also provides these awards and gives added support through assistance of its 4-H stylists and publications on modeling.

For information about the program and locally scheduled dress revues, contact the county extension office or state 4-H leader.

Decision Made On Creel Transfer

Decision on a motion for a second change of venue in the trial of James Duke Creel, 32, charged with murder in the strangulation of a 10-year-old Abilene girl, rested with District Judge Earl Conner, Jr., following a hearing in 91st district court at Eastland last week.

Judge Conner took the case under advisement after the conclusion of the hearing shortly before noon Thursday and announced that he would hand down a decision as soon as he had had time to study testimony and papers.
