Pageant Tickets Now On Sale In Eastland

The Miss Eastland County Pageant in which eight girls will compete for the title of "Miss Eastland County" May 8, is much more than just a "beauty" contest, Mrs. Brenda Sandler, co-director with Mel Sandler, her husband, told the Cisco Rotary Club Thursday noon.

Mrs. Sandler presented five of the eight girls who will seek the title in judging to be done at the Cisco Junior College Harrell auditorium Saturday night.

The girls, she explained, will be judged more upon talent than upon any other consideration. There will be three areas of judging — swim suit competition, evening gown and talent, and the talent will be given 50 per cent of the consideration.

In the awards, likewise, educational values will be emphasized, she explained. Seven hundred dollars in scholarships and educational assistance will await the winners.

The first girls introduced by Mrs. Sandler are Pam Pierce of Eastland; Peggy Antilly of Clyde; Beddie McClaren of Clyde; Helen Rosales of Cisco and Eileen Taylor of Abilene. All but Miss Pierce are students at Cisco Junior College. Miss Pierce is employed by the Eastland Telegram.

Three of the eight contestants were unable to appear.

The county pageant is a sort of "stopping stone" to the Miss Texas and Miss America pageants, the club was told. Winner of the Eastland county contest will be eligible for the Miss Texas competition, and will receive an expense paid trip to Fort Worth for the state pageant in July. A $300 scholarship from the Cisco Junior College and a $200 scholarship from Ranger Junior College will also be awarded the winner and first runner-up.

Emphasis on the local, state and Miss America competition will be on poise, charm, personality and talent. Winners in these contests will express the best ideals of the upcoming generation, said Mrs. Sandler.

Mrs. Dorothy White, treasurer of the county pageant association, told the club that tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students, are on sale at the Cisco Chamber of Commerce, the First National Bank, Ronnie Ledbetter, who is vice-chairman of the county association, the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, the Eastland Telegram and other places in the county, and urged that the business men and citizens generally support the pageant both for its value as a publicity event and for its influence in encouraging high standards in young womanhood.

A special guest and entertainer for the contest Saturday night will be Miss Belinda Myrick of Lubbock, Miss Texas for 1971.

She and other special guests will greet the audience at a reception after the pageant.

Erin Ritchie emceed the Rotary program which was presented by Ernest Hittson, program chairman for the day.

$100,000 LOSS—This photo by Pat Collins of the Ranger Times, shows some of the damage to the Carbon School building done by a windstorm Wednesday night. One wall of the upper story was blown out. An assessment of the damage by an engineer found the building still safe for occupancy and classes were expected to resume Monday after temporary repairs.

"Go" Is Word For Carbon Schools After Storm Ruin

The word appears "go" for the resumption of classes at Carbon Public Schools Monday after a careful inspection and gigantic cleanup following storm damage, Supt. Jimmy Hughes reports.

Damage from tornado-force wind Wednesday is amounting to in excess of $100,000 it is reported.

All the windows on the west side were knocked out by wind and/or hail and the east wall of the third floor was knocked out, presumably from the wind pressure. The school auditorium is located on the third floor.

Bill Pope of the Abilene engineering firm of Boone and Pope, after a careful inspection, reported to Hughes that so far, he had found no structural damage. He was continuing his inspection Friday afternoon. A crew from Abilene was busy Friday on the third floor, using some fifty lifting jacks raising the roof to level.

The east space will be tarped until a decision is made on repair, Hughes said.

The tremendous clean-up began Wednesday night following the storm which hit about 6 p.m.

"This is the greatest effort I've ever seen," Supt. Hughes said, "the local people have just pitched in and helped in a way that it's impossible to explain."

Wednesday night youngsters began the sweeping up of broken glass and the mopping up of water from inside the building. By dark that night, they had the water out, and undoubtedly saved extensive damage to floors and ceilings.

Civic League Announces Home Tour For May 12

The ladies of Eastland are cordially invited to attend the Homes and Gardens Tour on May 12, sponsored by the Civic League and Garden Club.

Several of Eastland's loveliest homes are to be featured.

The tour will begin at 10 a.m. at the home of Judge and Mrs. Austin McCloud of 515 S. Lamar, then proceed to other homes including Mr. and

Most of Thursday was an all-out effort spent in community-fashion, with some 125 people helping get the windows boarded up. Women prepared food in the lunch room, and men were busy with saws and hammers, shutting up the windows. Some 100 sheets of plywood were used, and hinges were used to open for ventilation.

There was some comment as to whether there had been tornado funnels or just high winds, up to 60 miles an hour which did the damage. Apparently a little of both, according to statements from those who witnessed the storm.

Eddie Redwine, Carbon instructor, reported that he stood in the door of his apartment, about a block from the school, and saw a cloud with a funnel hanging down from it, over the school building, but that as far as he could determine, the funnel never actually touched the building.

Collin Campbell, downtown at his station at the time of the storm, reported that he saw funnels in the sky.

Three mobile homes were "blown away," and the occupants of one, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne McDaniel and one-year-old baby were treated at Eastland Memorial Hospital for minor injuries.

Carbon Trading Co.'s feed storage building was reported destroyed, as were other frame buildings in town.

Electric power and telephone service was off for some time, but was quickly repaired.

Supt. Hughes and the entire Carbon School Board expressed appreciation to all who had helped with the clean-up and emergency repair, and were unanimous in their thankfulness that the storm came when it did, when there was no one in the building, and that there were no injuries during the clean-up.

"We had fantastic organization," Supt. Hughes said, "and the people just worked together so well to get us weathered up in a hurry." The Thursday work began at 11 a.m. and was concluded by 5:30 p.m., he said.

CWO Alread Is Credited With Viet Sinking

Coast Guard Chief Warrant Officer Lawrence R. Alread, of Desdemona, Texas, participated in the sinking of a North Vietnamese trawler attempting to infiltrate South Vietnamese territorial waters. He was serving aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Rush when the action occurred April 10, 1971.

The Rush was operating with the Navy gunboat USS Antelope and the Coast Guard Cutter Morgenthau when the trawler was repeatedly challenged and received a warning shot across her bow in an attempt to halt her.

Rush fired illumination shells and directed the Antelope to take the trawler under fire. The trawler returned the Antelope's fire and sought to evade the U. S. craft.

All the U. S. units then engaged the trawler at a point about two miles off shore. Two Navy aircraft joined the attack. Finally a large explosion was observed aboard the trawler and the vessel disappeared from the radar scopes of the allied units.

Rush is credited with the sinking of another North Vietnamese infiltration trawler in November 1970.
