STATE WOULD FIGHT THOMPSON INSANITY PLEA

Why a State Income Tax? This is the title of a very readable article by Peter Molyneux in the Texas Monthly for June. Peter Molyneux is the editor of the Texas Monthly. First he asked the question and then answered it, giving about a hundred reasons why a state income tax should not be enacted.

Long before the appearance of the monthly state income tax measure had been put to sleep by a close vote in committee. Gov. Moody is for a state income tax. He would discard the state ad valorem tax.

This proposal mustered surprising strength. It is certain to bob up again. There will be a special session held in the winter months for consideration of the report to be submitted by a special commission on a site for a new prison relocation plant. At the same time the proposal for public utility control will bob up again.

There are economic problems involving state supervision and taxation which are not dead. They are sleeping for the summer months.

Back to the Molyneux article, which is a biting criticism of the state income tax proposal; this is the conclusion of the argument: "In order to relieve the country and city landlords of all responsibility to support the state government and dole out a pittance to 39 percent of the working farmers of the state, it is proposed practically to double the taxes of the corporations and some 63,000 families in the counties of the state."

Rep. Mouritz of Jackson county would like his typewriter in hand and let the editor of the Texas Monthly know, you thoroughly realize that there is a statesman in the wilderness who knows what the people need. Discussion is the order of the day.

Wet-Dry Issue May Be Feature Governor's Race

Love's Announcement Believed to Definitely Bring the Issue Into the Campaign.

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN, July 7.—Senator Thomas B. Love's announcement for governor this week definitely puts the race, so far as he can force the issue, upon the wet-dry issue which split Texas democracy last year.

Senator Love announced he will ask the democratic nomination for governor. His activities in supporting Herbert Hoover electors against Alfred E. Smith last year, and his speeches in the Texas senate have shown that despite his aspiring to a democratic nomination his light will be one upon which John J. Raskob, democratic national chairman.

The big news, as seen here, is not that Love will be in the race, as was virtually assured by circumstances, but whether the democratic state executive committee will permit his name to go on the party ballot.

Senator Love must take his request for having his name put on the primary ballot, to State Chairman D. W. Hoover, of Georgetown, who last year served notice that those who quit the party would be kept out of it in future. A majority of democrats in Texas then voted against the party nominee for president, though few in Texas forsake those nominees for whom they had voted in the state primaries.

That will be the supreme test of the party's attitude toward Hoover, before election day.

Observers here contended that it will only add fuel to the flames of Senator Love's campaign if the party organization attempts to rule him off the ballot.

He occupies the technical position of majority leader in the party, by virtue of the majority that he has for Hoover; though his friends have made no pretense that he can carry the votes in his own race that were cast along with his negatively in the Smith-Hoover election.

But it is conceded he is a spokesman for a large element of the Texas bone-dry.

Senator Love has been exceedingly busy during the legislative sessions. His handiwork is upon important measures, even though he did not individually carry the fight through them.

For instance, this week Senator Love by parliamentary strategy, put two state senators on record as refusing to support the plea of Congressman John C. Box that the party take control of its affairs out of the hands of the reputed national chairman, Raskob.

Then Senator Love succeeded in putting through the legislature, to win Gov. Moody's immediate approval, his bone-dry bills for repeal of the search and seizure law and the "evidence clause." These laws attempted to prohibit searches without warrant, and to penalize unlawful searches, and to prohibit use of evidence illegally obtained.

Lawyers say the repeal measures simply made the law conform to court decisions, but this victory is excellent campaign fodder.

In these bills, Senator Love enlisted the support of Miss Margie Neal, woman senator, and her name appeared first on them, by custom designating them as the "Neal bills."

Camera Catches Rescue From Blazing Plane

This remarkable picture of an actual rescue from the blazing wreckage of an airplane shows how Henry R. Goldsmith, Freeport, Long Island, student flyer was dragged, fatally burned, from the flames that also killed Francis Phillips, wealthy son of the late John M. Phillips, "sewer pipe king" of New York. Goldsmith was thrown from the tiny Moth plane when it crashed and caught fire at Roosevelt Field, but landed in the wreckage and died later from burns received. Phillips, who was piloting the craft, was trapped by the flames and could not be reached by rescuers.

Murder Charges Filed In Fort Slaying Cases

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 6.—Murder complaints were filed against a third man as a culmination of two parties, one on the south side and the other at a Lake Worth camp, Friday night.

Hugh L. Watson, 24, is held in connection with the accidental fatal shooting of his uncle, George L. Brown at a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. McFalls.

Cecil O'Neals, 27, and Philo Hooper, 21, were charged in Justice Faulkner's court with the murder of Audie Fentress, 18, during a party at Sunset Park about midnight.

In a statement by Watson to officers, his uncle was killed when Watson's shotgun was accidentally discharged as he handed it to his mother.

Watson said he and his wife had quarreled at the party and that he had left and brought back the shotgun with the intention of scaring his wife.

As he was handing her the gun, it struck the automobile door and was discharged, the shot striking Brown.

Justice Pritchard returned a verdict of accidental death in his inquest.

According to accounts given the district attorney's office, Fentress was shot when he resented O'Neal slapping a girl at the Lake Worth party.

Hooper and O'Neal got out of the car and approached Fentress, but who fired the fatal shot has not yet been determined.

According to O'Neal's version of the shooting, he was sitting in an auto with a girl and another couple when he heard a shot. He went to the scene where others in the party had gathered and on striking matches found that Fentress was dead.

Pair Deny Love Piracy Charges

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 6.—Minnie G. Martin, alias Ruth Killian and A. C. Killian, of Oklahoma City, will deny "love piracy" charges on which they were indicted by a United States grand jury here Friday.

The pair is charged with swindling Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, wealthy Gray county ranch woman out of $35,000 in 1927.

Killian was said to have made love to Mrs. Hopkins, a widow, and to have obtained $10,000 from her. Later, "Mrs. Killian," filed an alienation suit for $100,000 damages and is said to have purloined several letters of the widows. Before they had finished, they were charged with obtaining $35,000 in settlement.

Mrs. Hopkins settled on her Pampa ranch four years ago and since her husband was killed by lightning while harvesting in 1917, has operated the ranch. Oil was discovered several years ago.

The discovery has made her and her children wealthy. In September, she will go to San Francisco to contest for a share in the fabulous $350,000,000 fortune left by Mark Hopkins, 49-year-old, who died intestate in 1878.

Her husband's father and the miner were said to be brothers.

FEW NOTICES OF INTENTION FILED

SNYDER, Tex., July 6.—One marriage in twenty-five days is since the new marriage license law went into effect, June 13.

The law, requiring the filing of "intentions" three days in advance accompanied by a health certificate of the bridegroom, has been made applicable to only two couples and only one of these has obtained the certificate.

During the first twelve days of June, under the old law, the county clerk issued nine licenses. It is believed that now most prospective newweds in this section cross over into New Mexico to avoid the three day wait.

Cureton Urges Adoption Court Amendment 16th

AMARILLO, Tex., July 6.—An appeal to the people of Texas to go to the polls on July 16 and, as a humanitarian act, vote to adopt the nine-member supreme court constitutional amendment was made by Chief Justice C. M. Cureton, in addressing the members of the Texas Bar Association, in convention here.

"We are at the turning point. The question is, shall we erect a body of law in this state and the properly erected court, large enough in size to properly tend to the business of this state?"

In other words, we have a nine-judge state. Shall we have nine judges?" Justice Cureton said.

"We can't do nine men's work with three judges, and keep it up. Do you know how many judges of your supreme court have died at the top before they died in their bodies? Do you know what it is that killed them which caused the apoplexy of which so many of them have died? I will tell you. They have gone on with this work, too proud to quit, too poor to quit, perhaps, and have stayed there until the great labor entitled has killed them, as certainly as you are in this hall."

The Justice said that last year the three judges entered almost 1,700 orders, everyone of which required judicial consideration and joint action on the part of all three judges.

Roosevelt's Independence Day Speech Starts Political Talk

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN

TRIAL MAY BE HELD IN SEPTEMBER

Thompson Now in Dallas County Jail for Safe Keeping—Officers Believe He Is Feigning Insanity.

DALLAS, Tex., July 6.—Clyde Thompson, 18-year old Eastland county murderer is now occupying the cell in death row of the Dallas county jail which, for the last eighteen months has been occupied by Henry Helms until his removal to Huntsville.

Thompson, together with Thomas Davis, was given the death penalty at Eastland several months ago in connection with the slaying of A. L. Shook and Leon Shook, brothers. His case was reversed and remanded by the court of criminal appeals at Austin two weeks ago. A second trial has not been set but may be held in September in Judge Elzo Bean's eighty-eighth district court at Eastland.

Ranked as a desperate character by Eastland county officials, Thompson was brought here yesterday afternoon for safe keeping. Testimony at the trials of both Thompson and Davis disclosed that the Shook brothers, were lured from their home on a "wolf hunt" and were brutally beaten and shot.

Upon his arrival here Thompson persistently walked back and forth in his cell while uttering incoherent sentences—feigning insanity according to jail officials and according to the District Attorney at Eastland who has declared that the state will fight an insanity plea if it is entered at the second trial.

Democratic Party

Democrats see in the construction of Roosevelt's speech a pointed appeal to the Republican-Insurgent group in the senate, which has expressed dissatisfaction with President Hoover's farm and tariff policies on the ground they favor the industrialized East and North to the detriment of the agrarian West and South.

With McNary-Ranganism removed from the political arena by passage of the administration's $500,000,000 farm bill, these democrats point out, the opposition to republican policies must crystallize under a new slogan. And Roosevelt's assault upon our "new feudal system" with his appeal for "a new declaration of independence," seems to provide this battle-cry at least for the democrats who fought for Al Smith, Roosevelt and Rankin in the presidential campaign last year.

Moody Has Many Appointments To Make This Year

Gov. Moody also is to appoint the third member of the new board of pardons and paroles, and reappoint the two present members of the pardon board. These appointments will be made about September 1.

Gov. Moody will also appoint the nine-member state game commission, replacing the present one-man administration of the game department, will be appointed before September 1, and former Senator A. E. Wood of Austin is known to be scheduled as chairman of the new commission and Will J. Tucker, present commissioner, as executive secretary.

Gov. Moody will also appoint the nine-member state board of education created under authority of a constitutional amendment to replace the present three member ex-officio board of education of which the governor is chairman.

When he names this board he will officially abolish the state textbook board, the new law providing for an advisory book commission to be named by the board of education.

A provision that would have barred State Supt. S. M. N. Harris from re-election as superintendent of education from the last legislature from a corrective department of education bill. That said no individual who "heretofore or in future" accepted campaign contributions from representatives of textbook companies would be eligible. The "heretofore" was stricken out, Supt. Harris said a representative of a book company had personally made a contribution to one of his former campaigns, without his knowledge.

Gov. Moody will have the appointment of a six-member board of pharmacy.

Next Jan. 1 will be called upon to appoint a member of the board of control to a six-year term. This for the first time will give him a majority on the control board. Term of R. B. Walthall, original Neff appointee, will expire.

More than a hundred persons were injured and six streets closed since the strike was called Monday.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 6.—Five thousand striking car men today fired seven street cars at the Canal barns today. The strikers repelled firemen and clubs allowed the street cars to be continued.

The firemen and police were unable to approach the fire at the Canal barn, a stick of dynamite was hurled into the barn. The dynamite exploded and the fire however, was repelled by firemen and clubs allowed the street cars to be continued.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 6.—The strikebreakers were lined up with revolvers ready to shoot. Governor, it was hinted in the circles would be asked to declare martial law today.

The strikebreakers reached the Canal barn early today after 4,000 strikers and their sympathizers had a train load of incoming strikebreakers. Warned by threats of violence the strikebreakers did not disembark, but moved on to Bayou, Miss., as their intended destination.

Officials of the New Orleans Public Service company, owners of the street car and bus lines, are declaring they had agreed to fight and demand a complete surrender on the part of the strikers.

Attempts to operate street cars with non-union men, of the company said, would be "discontinued" if the time being, at least.

The company did not plan to attempt to operate additional strikebreakers, the statement said.

STORIAN ASKS NEW MONUMENT FOR A. LINCOLN

NEW YORK—Agitation to tear down the Abraham Lincoln monument at Springfield, Ill., and to replace it with a structure more appropriate to the memory of the president, probably will gain impetus by the publication of "Myths After Lincoln," a book by Lloyd Lewis of the New York Times, and strange beliefs which followed the assassination of the president.

The opinion of Lewis, the president of the Lincoln monument is so saturated with dark and gloomy superstitions and memories that it impresses most visitors with the idea that Lincoln was a supernatural being, from the very human states who saved the union.

In his book, Lewis sets down in a series of chapters, the tragic series of mishaps, accidents and strange, secret legends that have taken place at the Lincoln monument. In 1865, when Lincoln's body was placed in a temporary vault in the town of Springfield, the townspeople of the city were so terrified by the dead man's body as to where the corpse should be buried.

Two years later, one near the Lincoln monument in a lot of the state capitol now stands; later, at Mrs. Lincoln's command, the body was placed in Oakridge cemetery two miles from town. The dispute continued until Mrs. Lincoln threatened to take her husband's body back to Springfield; then only did the townspeople capitulate to her demands. The monument was erected at Oakridge cemetery and dedicated in 1874.

A series of accidents occurred at various caskets in which the body was laid, the mishaps culminated in a nearly successful attempt of ghouls to steal his body from the sarcophagus in 1876. Although the ghouls were driven off, several loyal union men of Springfield were fearful that the body would be again, and to ward Lincoln's remains, nine men organized the Lincoln Monument of Honor, a secret band which, at midnight, secretly reburied the body from the sarcophagus and hid it in an underground cellar in another part of the capitol. There it remained for years, sometimes hidden under a pile of lumber, sometimes merely covered by a blanket, and sometimes buried in a shallow grave in the damp earth.

Meanwhile John C. Power, the custodian, tried to keep up the fiction that Lincoln's remains really lay in the official catacomb above ground where the visitors were told the martyr slept. But Power's own attempts to carry out this "pious fraud," as Lewis calls it, only served to heighten the suspicion that Lincoln's body was stolen or missing. The actions of the Guard of Honor, so elaborately mysterious, added to the popular belief that something strange was afoot at the tomb. Partly to still these nation-wide whispers and partly to give the dead man decent burial, the Guard of Honor in 1886 exhumed the body from the cellar and placed it in the catacomb where a stronger tomb had been prepared. This grave, however, was abandoned in 1899 when the whole monument had to be torn down because of faulty construction.

Robert Lincoln's Gift.
When the rebuilt monument was ready in 1901, Robert Lincoln, only surviving son of the dead man, gave funds so that his father might have a burial place from which it would be impossible ever to move him again. Placed in a steel cage and walled in with cement, the casket was placed where it remains today, in the heart of a great boulder 10 feet underground.

"The memory of the ghouls, the tragic errors and confusions at the monument, have associated the structure in the folk-mind of America with an uncanny feeling, one almost of dread," Lewis writes. "The 135,000 people who annually make pilgrimages to the tomb—a greater number than visit any other burial place in Christendom—deserve to see an inspiring memorial which will not reflect the gloomy ghosts of a superstitious past. The constantly increasing number of foreign visitors who come to Lincoln's tomb should see a monument that would express Lincoln's character. The original monument was erected by popular subscription taken all over America and the new structure would be most fittingly financed by the same method. At all events the new monument should be erected by and belong to the nation."

Tired of School, Sets House Fire

BELVEDERE GARDENS, Calif., July 6.—Nine months of "reading" and "rhythmic" were enough for 10-year old Morrell Pileman. He set fire to the school house. Then he turned in the alarm. Firemen arrived to find Morrell running about the blazing building shouting "fire."

A fire captain, questioning the boy, obtained the admission that Morrell, in the hope of dodging summer school, had climbed into the attic and touched off some old papers. Morrell was turned over to his parents while authorities scratched their heads figuring just what they could do about it.

The schoolhouse was only slightly damaged. Morrell's dad says he will see that his son is on hand when the first bell rings.

It Is So Easy To Get Into Trouble

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 6.—George W. Hollar, 30, is in city hospital suffering from self-inflicted knife wounds, and when he gets out he'll have to face charges of bigamy—all because he introduced his two wives to each other.

Hollar, according to the story the wives told police, brought wife No. 2, Mrs. Myrtle Hollar, out to the home of wife No. 1, Mrs. Rose Hollar.

The two wives compared notes. They cornered Hollar. He confessed.

Later he came to the home of wife No. 2 and threatened to kill her, she said. She called police. While the police were phoning the station for the patrol wagon, Hollar slashed himself with a pocket knife.

RULE MEN WILL SHOOT CROQUET

GALVESTON, Tex., July 6.—A cross country marathon rivaling the efforts of C. C. Pyle, began today when two Rule, Texas, men, a tailor and a barber, turned their faces toward New York and began batting croquet balls.

G. C. Hart and Luther Rose were the principals in the latest marathon started the 1,700 mile "batting spree" early today, with Dickinson, 20 miles distant, as the first day's goal. They plan to average 15 miles a day.

The men were accompanied by Frank Walton, also of Rule, who drove the supply car.

Fort Worth's Pilots Glad of New Record

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 6.—Reg Robbins and Jim Kelly are satisfied to let the new record of 174 hours, 59 seconds in the air, made by Pilots Roy L. Mitchell and Byron K. Newcomb in Cleveland, stand, so far as they are concerned.

"I am sorry it was not broken by more time and I believe a greater record will be made soon," declared Robbins, who piloted the Fort Worth plane to 172 hours in the air here recently.

"I hope to be able to get to Cleveland soon to see Mitchell, whom I know personally."

Kelly said he was glad to see a new record made, but hated to see it leave Texas.

"I hope some Texas boy will get it back soon," he declared.

Both said they had spent enough time in the air at one time and did not expect to go up again.

Let 'Schoolmarm's Smoke, Teachers Say

CHICAGO, July 6.—If the 'schoolmarm's' want to smoke, that's their business, the American Federation of Teachers, decided in the closing session of its annual convention.

Bobbed hair, dancing, card-playing and getting married also are permissible, the delegates insisted.

"There is no reason," said resolutions they adopted, "why teachers should be subjected to restrictions in their personal lives, not imposed upon women in other professions. They should not be kept in constant fear of losing their jobs because school boards frown upon their modes of dress and living."

Miss Cleveland Sets New Record Endurance Test

By CLAUDE M. BURCKY
United Press Staff Correspondent.
CLEVELAND, O., July 6.—A new world's refueling endurance flight record today crowned the efforts of Byron K. Newcomb and Roy L. Mitchell, co-pilots of the endurance ship "City of Cleveland."

They established a sustained flying time of 174 hours and 59 seconds, eclipsing the former mark of 172 hours and 32 minutes made by Reg Robinson and Jim Kelly, Texas cowboys. The "City of Cleveland" landed at 12:39:59 a. m. today, after having been aloft since 6:38:51 p. m. Friday, June 28.

Cleveland endurance flight statistics:
Time in air: 174 hours, 59 seconds.

Previous record: 172 hours, 32 minutes.
Plane: Stinson-Detrolter, single motor, monoplane. (Same plane in which Eddie Stinson and George W. Halderman established non-refueling endurance flight record of 53 hours, 26 minutes).

Refueling crew: Ernie E. Basham, pilot; Jim Hayden, Dale Dryer. Number of refuelings: 24.

Fuel consumed: 1,993 gallons gasoline; 87 gallons oil.

KARACHI, July 6.—The airplane Southern Cross took off for Bender Abbas, Persia, today, continuing its flight from Australia to England.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Brief radio messages received by the Chicago Tribune from its Berlin-bound amphibian, "Untin" Bowler, reported the plane today was at Great Whale, a Hudson Bay trading post on the east shore of Hudson Bay, awaiting favorable weather for the 600-mile hop to port Burwell, Cape Chidley, Labrador.

CULVER CITY, Calif., July 6.—California's endurance flier, Loren Mendell and Pete Reinhart, were shooting at a new record today as they entered their fifth consecutive day in the air.

Fully 125 people, many of whom were from Gorman, Cisco and Ranger, representing congregations of the Church of God of those cities, were guests of the Eastland Church of God congregation on July 4, at the Warner Memorial University, now in course of construction, where a generous dinner was spread on a long table, that extended the length of the hall in the main building.

Rev. H. M. Sell, in the welcome address, and Rev. J. T. Wilson, president of the university gave an address, introducing Prof. O. E. Bailey, the dean, who made a stirring talk on "Patriotism."
Rev. J. W. Bators of Cisco, spoke on the "Needs of the Hour," and Rev. Work outlined the proposed activities of the university.
Two piano solos were given by Mrs. Ruth Hosenk of Dallas, and a quartet, "When I Walk the Last Mile of the Way," was rendered by Mrs. J. T. Wilson, L. D. Spaw, Rev. J. W. Bators and Mrs. Ruth Hosenk, with Miss Mildred McDowell at the piano.
The program opened with prayer by Rev. Fulerton of Gorman.

It may seem the airplane has been found an almost ideal method for scouting for oil deposits. Practically all the major companies of the south and west now use the aerial method as a standard means of gathering information, and one company has already mapped four different areas from the air.
No longer does the geologist saddle his mule and go forth to spend many weary weeks in solitude, splashing through swamps and fighting his slow and painful way over towering mountain peaks. No longer is it necessary for him to wander hither and yon, hoping to find some clue which will support a theory of subsurface oil deposits. Formerly he spent 90 per cent of his time merely looking. Now he goes and gets.
The aerial pictures which have been furnished him before hand show him the natural formation and layout of all the features in the district. If he makes a field study at all, he knows where the geological formations he desires to study are located, and if they disappear suddenly into the bosom of mother earth, these pictures help him visualize their subterranean appearance and direction.
For instance, in California a definite slope of a rock ledge suddenly disappeared into a flat, un-cultivated valley where all trace of it was lost to ground investigators. It was plainly traced in the aerial pictures, however, and followed four miles out into the valley, and the angle of decline was projected this same distance, much to the relief of the geologist in charge of the work.
In hundreds of cases where all surface indications are lost, the aerial view will show the geological formations beyond question. A contact between formations, for example, has been traced in spite of a standing field or grain three feet high.
In some cases the airplane has saved the entire situation for more than one oil company, and accomplished results which could have been achieved in no other way. In Mexico, for example, with important oil developments delayed and interfered with due to revolution, with many lines of communication with the United States cut off and making it obviously impossible for a surveying party to operate, the aerial camera has brought back its pictures and maps; completed its contracts on schedule and told geologists who sat at mahogany desks in New York, three thousand miles away, the story of the surface of the earth in a war-torn, turbulent republic. In spite of a delay of six days due to investigations by Mexican officials, two photographic crews have gone ahead with their map-making schedules and brought back the completed product.

Will Study Dairy Farms of Mid-West
STAMFORD—A number of West Texans will no doubt be numbered among those who will take a dairy study trip through Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois soon, which is to be sponsored by the Waco Chamber Commerce.
W. V. Crawford, secretary of the Waco organization, is soliciting farmers, merchants, and bankers interested in furthering the development of dairying in their localities to take the trip, and has invited members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce staff to join the party and lend their influence toward getting the attendance of other West Texas. The trip has the indorsement of the Borden company and the agricultural agencies of the state, which will have representatives on the tour.

Points will be visited where dairying is successfully conducted on both a large and a small scale. While there will be visits to nationally known and perfectly equipped dairy farms, there are also going to be visits to farms on which there are small herds and where dairying on a small scale is conducted profitably and successfully. The man with a few cows or no cows at all who wishes to engage in milk production on a small scale will receive benefit from this tour just the same as the man who is planning a more extensive and elaborate dairy development.
While the Waco Chamber of Commerce is taking the initiative in promoting the tour, it is to be, in fact, a Texas educational tour, and all Texas points interested in the intensive development of dairying are invited to join in the enterprise. Special rates for the trip have been made with the railroads, so the trip may be made by anyone interested at a very moderate cost.

The round trip railroad fare, including Pullman lower berth will be $75.95 and the schedule provides for departure from Waco at 3:10 p. m., Sunday, Aug. 11, and arrival on the return 11:50 a. m., Sunday, Aug. 18.

Before Ill Luck Beset Swedish Flyers

New York seemed only a few hours away, by air, when Capt. Albin Ahrenberg, noted Swedish aviator, and his two co-flyers posed for this picture just before their take-off from Stockholm. But a leaky gasoline feed line forced down their big seaplane Sveridge on the south coast of Iceland, necessitating a long delay in their projected ocean hop. Right to left are Lieutenant Axel Floden, with an American flag over his shoulder; Captain Ahrenberg and Hans Ljungland, mechanic.

which he distills eau-de-vie, which translated, means "water of life," a highly tasty alcohol about twice as strong as whiskey.

Expert Marksmen
Fallieres and Loubet will go down in history as the two finest marksmen who ever entered the Elysee. When Loubet was President, Fallieres was a Minister and they were always to be found at the forest of Rambouillet where the French government maintains a country home for its President.

Fallieres used to win all the laurels for shooting rabbits, while Loubet went in for pheasants and bagged more than any of his guests. Fallieres was a real sportsman, even as President he used to leave the Elysee every morning for a two-hour walk. In the country he still potters around his vines, shod in the wooden sabots of the French peasants. He is still beloved of his neighbors, but both he and Loubet disappeared long ago from political life and lost all power.

With the exception of Poincare, none of the Presidents ever figured largely again in politics after leaving the Elysee. Loubet sought to serve his country again when war was declared against Germany and he organized the National Aid Society, but when the war ended he went back to his farm.

Millerand a Senator
Millerand is still a Senator, but takes a very little part in Parliamentary life. He is also a lawyer and has created a good fortune by practice in commercial cases.

None of the ex-Presidents are in poor or even ordinary circumstances, for all have private incomes. Poincare is probably the least wealthy and has had many acres of rich farmland in Lorraine. Fortunately they have means, for the salary of the President of France is not great and there is no pension.

Among the ex-Premiers, Briand and Poincare figure most prominently. Poincare was Premier five times, but Briand has headed nine cabinets and been Minister in five others. Painleve, present Minister of War, was also Premier three times and Clemenceau and Herriot each twice. Barthou, Caillaux, Leyguse and Francois-Marsal as well as President Doumergue and ex-President Millerand and Loubet have each been Premier of one Cabinet.

There is now a movement to pension former Premiers, but it has obtained little support. Every ex-member of Parliament now receives a Parliamentary pension from a fund to which every Senator and Deputy contributes a portion of his monthly salary. The ex-Presidents have all shored in Parliament, so in need could draw from that fund.

Editors Favor 9 Members For Supreme Court

Resolution Is Passed At Recent Convention of Texas Press Association.

Cut off commission of appeals, vote for larger supreme court, no additional office holders, no increase in taxes, just court efficiency, it is declared by the Texas Press Association.

In 1875 when the present State constitution was framed Texas had perhaps a million inhabitants. The new constitution provided for a supreme court of three justices.

In 1928 Texas had five and a half times as many people as in 1875. In property values—increases in which naturally contribute to litigation—the growth has been even more remarkable. From the $249,000,000 assessed values in 1875, the total has steadily climbed until it is nearly $4,000,000,000 or 16 fold. Population and property increases, bringing human beings into closer contact than when Texas was largely a pastoral State, have increased the possibilities of litigiousness by geometric rather than arithmetic progression.

But the number of supreme court justices remains the same—just three.

In other words with five and a half times the population and 16 times the property values and with the increased likelihood of litigation that comes from the growth of such factors, three supreme court justices are still striving—to the best of their ability, it is only just to say—to dispose of the vitally important litigation that ultimately must reach them for final adjudication.

It is virtually a matter of course that in spite of efforts to aid them through commissions of appeal, they are falling so far behind with their labors that citizens of Texas, vitally concerned in speedy and final adjudication of their legal controversies, are materially suffering.

That in brief is the genesis of the pending constitutional amendment to be voted on July 16 next and back of which is the strength of the Texas Bar Association and the Texas Press Association membership, together with the support of many thousands of other thoughtful citizens of Texas who believe in the axiom that justice delayed frequently means justice denied.

From the Texas of 1875 to the Texas of 1929 is a far cry. Today it is one of the greatest States in the Union in population and wealth; probably the greatest in its possibilities for future development. And the attainment of that development, very many well informed and thoughtful Texans believe, is being delayed and hindered by an unsatisfactory court system out of which has grown a very general demand for court reform. One of the first and most essential steps toward that reform, lawyers rather generally agree, is the adoption of the pending amendment which would increase the justices of the supreme court to nine, abolish the commissions of appeal (with their six judges) and require the supreme court to remain in session continuously 12 months in the year instead of the nine months it is permitted to sit under the present constitutional provision.

Even in the constitutional convention of 1875 a strong minority, headed by John H. Reagan, was able to envisage the Texas of future years and insisted on a larger membership of the supreme court. But they were out-voted and ever since Texas has been trying by one means or another to meet a situation that has grown constantly worse. An amendment in 1892 created the Court of Criminal Appeals, and authorized the legislature to establish Courts of Civil Appeals, but it left the membership of the supreme court unchanged. The makeshift of commissions of appeals had been tried in the meantime and found wanting, but the same attempted method of relief was resorted to in 1918 when the supreme court docket became so congested as to make emergency relief imperative. But opinions of these commissions are not binding unless and until approved by the court itself, which thus misses the oral arguments brought out.

No permanent relief, lawyers rather generally contend, can come from any other means than a constitutional amendment under which nine judges, with co-equal authority, can handle the ever-increasing litigation that must go eventually to the court of final resort.

Today there are 11 courts of civil appeals, whose decisions may be taken to the supreme court for review; these courts in turn are fed by 253 county and 108 district courts. And because of increased litigation there is constant effort to increase the number of civil appellate courts further to deluge the supreme court.

Confronted with a serious situation and impressed by the urgent need of action to protect the rights and properties of the citizens of Texas, the Texas Press association has gone, by resolution, on record as urging the people to vote on this amendment—an action taken only after scrutiny of the entire amendment and inquiry as to its purposes and effect. Fearing that lack of interest or information might cause its defeat, the Press association decided to ask its members to make a special and diligent effort to advise their readers of the amendment and to urge their vote in line with the association's earnest desire to further the cause of court reform in Texas.

Amazed At Improvements

"Orgatone Beats Any Medicine I Have Ever Tried; It Has Certainly Been a Relief to Me," Says Abilene Farmer.

W. Jones, living on rural route 3, Abilene, Texas, is still another who has cause to be glad he was induced to try Orgatone. In discussing his benefits, Mr. Jones said: "Orgatone is building me up fine and is the only thing I have been able to get that has given me any strength and energy," he continued. "I was extremely nervous and had no appetite and just felt so bad; all the time that I could hardly keep going. Food soured on my stomach and would cause a hard lump to form in my stomach that would hurt me something terrible. At times, I had gas on my stomach and dizzy, bloating spells. My sleep didn't do me any good, and I would get up in the morning just as tired as on going to bed at night. And I hardly got over four hours of sleep at night. I was badly run-down and weak.

"Seeing Orgatone recommended so highly I decided to try it, and now can say it is just wonderful. I have taken two bottles now and am feeling stronger and better in every way. I don't have that tired worn-out feeling any more and my appetite is just splendid. I eat anything I want and am not bothered at all with stomach trouble. I enjoy a good night's sleep and feel refreshed and ready for a day's work in the morning. I don't believe there is another medicine like Orgatone and I have recommended

Arabia, Once Medical Center, Turns to U. S. for Drugs

Arabia, one-time medical center of the world, is now turning to the United States for help in solving its health problems.

King Ibn Sa'oud, ruler of the provinces of Hejaz and Nejd, through his consulting physician, Dr. L. P. Dane, has placed an order with a Philadelphia drug manufacturer for a large quantity of dry vaccine. The dry vaccine, made by a pioneer biological laboratory, will keep for a long period of time in the hot, moist climate of the Hedjas section of Arabia. It is to be used for inoculations against smallpox.

This is just one of numerous health reforms on the part of the Arabian ruler, according to Ameen Rihani, of New York, Arabian poet and author, who has just returned from the Near East.

"The annual pilgrimages to Mecca mean an influx of from 75,000 to 200,000 followers of Islam during two months of the year," Mr. Rihani said, explaining the chief of Arabia's health problems. "They come by boat, train and camel from India, Java, Persia, the Russian Caucasus, Syria, Egypt, North Africa and Arabia. These visitors mean 'big business' of the desert, King Ibn Sa'oud has to Hedjas; but they also mean danger of disease epidemics.

"The Feast of Sacrifice, for which the pilgrims come to Mecca, in re-lican aid in solving its health prob-lem years, has occurred in sum-leims."

it to many of my friends and neighbors, and since it has done so much for me I can understand why so many others are praising it." As has been stated before, there is nothing more invigorating to a rundown system than Orgatone and it has proven invaluable to thousands suffering from the same troubles, stomach ailments, Orgatone begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. It overcomes, it is said, that great exciting cause of disease—weakness. It renders the body vigorous and elastic, keeps the mind clear and energetic and throws off the symptoms of nervousness and indigestion.
Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland by Tommix & Richardson, who are the direct laboratory agents.—Adv.

The honoree, Miss Bridges, was presented a pair of silhouettes in colonial design in black frames.

High score favor was a handsome silver vanity, and the cut-for-all, was a crystal box, with packages of bath powder in pastel tints.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN CALLED TO ORGANIZE CLUB

Mrs. Scott W. Key, chairman pro tem, has called a meeting of the business and professional women for Monday evening at eight o'clock in the ladies' lounge room of the new court house, when, following an address by the noted artist-musician, Mrs. Thalia White of Shreveport, La., who will lecture on "Personality," the organization of the club will be perfected.

One of the prime objects of the new club is to stress the need of a fuller acquaintance with art, music, history, travel, in order that these elements of life may keep pace with the business path.

Study will give a wider vision, and a few helpful minutes each day, devoted to the series in the work to be undertaken will prevent the member from falling into a single track mind attitude.

The course of study proposed is furnished by a national organization.

Several women have already ordered their books, and are anxiously awaiting for the club to swing into definite action.

Mrs. Key asks that each member bring a guest to the meeting.

MRS. JOSEPH M. PERKINS COMPLIMENTED

The recently received Texas Federation News of June states in a description of the Fourteenth Annual convention of the sixth district T. F. W. Drowning Victims Taken From River

KALISPELL, Mont., July 6.—

Rescue parties who, after hours of under water search succeeded today in recovering the bodies of five persons drowned in the Flathead river, could not determine definitely what caused the sedan of Floyd Ripke to plunge off a ferry boat into 50 feet of water.

The machine broke through the guard chain of the boat yesterday. It was believed that Ripke stepped on the starter while the car was in gear, or had the engine running and accidentally meshed the gears before the ferry reached the bank. The ignition was turned on when the car was dragged from the bottom of the river.
