Karl Hoblitzelle, president of Texas Consolidated Theatres, is one of the most experienced theatre men in Texas and southwest theatre business. Mr. Hoblitzelle, known also for his connection with the Interstate Theatre Circuit, brought variety entertainment in past years to Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio, which had been denied them for a long period of time.

Mr. Hoblitzelle, although his major time and industry is required by his many duties as president of Texas Consolidated Theatres, occupied for many years responsible positions in public and civic organizations.

Currently he is devoting time and energy in Texas' great centennial, being a member of one of the important committees.

OPENING TO USHER IN NEW ERA FOR FAMOUS SHOWHOUSE WHICH IS LARGEST IN COUNTY

Latest and Best Films Booked to Play First Week

Headline amusement news to showgoers of this section will be opening of the Connellee Theatre Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p. m.

The famous and historic showhouse this time is opening under the direction of the Texas Consolidated Theatres, known over theatrical circles over the nation for its efficient and public catering policies.

A new era comes with the opening of the Connellee Sunday, it is the conviction of Eastland business men and observers of theatrical enterprises in this section.

Texas Consolidated Theatres' opening of the Connellee, which will afford more spacious and comfortable quarters for the exhibition of current film releases, is being lauded by all Eastland business enterprises.

Opening film attraction is "Don't Bet On Blondes," one of Warner Brothers latest successes. Featured in the initial production for the Connellee are Warren Williams and Claire Dodd, Vince Barnett, Hobart Cavanaugh, William Garzan and Guy Kibbee. The picture will play Sunday only.

Entertainment values register high in this picture, John A. Burke city manager for Texas Consolidated Theatres, states in choosing "Don't Bet On Blondes" as the Connellee opening picture.

The picture is believed the comedy treat of the season. All the elements that make for the perfect screen entertainment will be seen by the showgoer.

Care was exercised in selecting "Don't Bet On Blondes" was also used in choosing a balanced number of short subjects. Programmed as shorts on the Connellee bill Sunday are "Strings and Strings," a musical revue with Hal Le Roy, popular star of stage and screen in "Main Street Follies," and Paramount News.

Schedule of prices for the Connellee has been set at 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. The Texas Consolidated Theatres

HISTORIC SHOWHOUSE TO REOPEN ON SUNDAY

The Connellee Theatre, originally opened in 1918, will reopen under direction of Texas Consolidated Theatres Sunday. When opened in 1918 the theatre was the largest between Fort Worth and El Paso. Stage and screen stars of note have appeared at this theatre, now the largest in the county. Remembered as playing the Connellee is Raymond Hitchcock, famous stage star, and many other luminaries. The Connellee again opens its doors—to an era as great and greater as the historic past on Sunday. It was built by the late C. U. Connellee, founder of Eastland.

R. J. O'DONNELL

General manager of the Interstate Circuit and Texas Consolidated Theatres, Inc., new operators of the Connellee Theatre, which is to re-open on Sunday, Aug. 18.

SOUND EXPERTS IMPROVE SOUND OF CONNELLEE

"See" and "hear" are two very vital words in the theatre business. For the success of any theatre, one factor even more important than the film itself is that the projection and sound equipment must be mechanically perfect.

For the past two weeks sound engineers under the supervision of Mr. E. G. Zrenner, chief sound engineer of the Texas Consolidated Theatres, have been testing and adjusting the Connellee sound and projection equipment in preparation for the opening of this theatre Sunday, Aug. 18. Everything possible is being done to bring this equipment up to the highest degree in efficiency. Many changes have been made to improve the tone quality and with the completion of this work, the Connellee should rank as one of the best sound theatres in this section.

This equipment will be operated by skilled projectionists and theatre patrons can be assured that they can enjoy in this theatre the relaxation necessary to the complete enjoyment of the screen programs, as they will not have to be under a mental strain due to distorted sound or faulty projection.

Warren William mourns passing of cane carriers. "Carrying a cane is rapidly becoming a lost art."

This nonchalant hero of "Don't Bet on Blondes," which comes to the Connellee theatre on Sunday.

The Warner Bros. star still regards the walking stick as part of his character make-up.

"For many years, the kind of cane and the manner in which a man carried it were unfailing marks of character and position," he said.

"The man of affairs would stride along, striking the walk with a heavy malacca. The dandy swung a split bamboo. The dignified old gentlemen tucked gold headed teak under their arms."

In "Don't Bet on Blondes," the Warner Bros. comedy, Warren Williams plays a gambler who becomes a business man. His devil may care manner of flicking a showy malacca is definitely an index to his character.

Showgoers Will See Unusual Set Of Short Subjects

On the opening week's programs at the Connellee theatre exceptional short features surround every feature attraction. On the opening program with the feature picture, "Don't Bet on Blondes," there is booked "Main Street Follies," starring Hal Leroy. This is a two-reel musical short, full of entertainment with several dance numbers by Leroy, who has become known to Hollywood as one of the leading tap dancers of the screen. Also on this same program is a Paramount musical variety, "Strains and Strains," and the latest news events in the Paramount news reel.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with the feature, "Every

Colored Citizens to See Films Again as the Connellee Opens

Opening of the Connellee theatre will mean resumption of entertainment for colored citizens of this section, it is pointed out by the management of the showhouse.

From the balcony of the theatre, pictures may be viewed with the same clarity as offered patrons in the lower auditorium.

Prices of 25 and 10 cents in the balcony will prevail for colored citizens.

Acoustics in the balcony are as good as that in the lower section of the theatre. Seats will prove comfortable. The treated air in the summer time reaches to every recess in the higher sections, it is pointed out.

What minds me...

Johnny Burke, popular and energetic manager of the Lyric Connellee theatres, said "How column?" Well, Johnny, in the first place Johnny never found wanting. He is at more places at one time than we ever knew of as well as getting out and in for his fellow man and in general. When such should come to pass that he be busy doing something while, that would be the end and a nice quiet place on with his head turned to the world be his lot. He is a man of being fussy, good-natured and gets around so fast reminds one of a jumping sparrow probably knows more about the book about it. He practically every woman in the city. He can keep the book excited with the book-keeping especially for yet he can keep them in there are one or a thousand. He knows the kind of element that suits folks in this community and when he bosses book a picture in scrutinizes it and decides if it be proper picture, no matter how much business it may have elsewhere, he wires in and change up; can't use this.

Out comes another one its place according to his because the "big boys" that he knows what he wants at his patrons want. So though about our friend and Johnny Burke.

Next question that comes up question of patronage. The theatre is a big theatre. It is to take care of both element and stage attractions, will see that stage attraction be brought here that of class and real entertainment has brought to Eastland the best of pictures, many of which shown for the first time in any other Texas city. To his everlasting faith in the city and the people that live its borders there is an adoring door with a nominal waiting the citizenship to a two-hour entertainment that will make them feel better after see-

Denies Rumor He Is Fashion Fop

By reports that his wardrobe is a grand array of the well dressed man will George Raft emphatically deny the rumors during an in-while working in "Every Eight," the Walter Wanger musical comedy to show at the Connellee Monday, Tuesday and day, with Alice Faye, Frances Langford and the Radio Rogues.

"What source," demanded amount favorite, "came snuff about me having 400 neckties, 200 hats, hundred or so pairs of shoes, and a trunk full of somebody trying to appear as though I'm a fop for 'best dressed' honor of film capital?"

For the past two weeks sound engineers under the supervision of Mr. E. G. EASTLAND MERCHANTS JOIN IN CELEBRATING OPENING

THREE FILM FUN MAKERS

Claire Dodd, Warren William and Vince Barnett who are among the six "laff" stars appearing in Warner Bros. Comedy of big business and rackets, "Don't Bet on Blondes," at the Connellee Theatre. The others are Guy Kibbee, William Gargan and Hobart Cavanaugh.

Connellee Books New Warner Hit

Fughter and drama, combined with a real love story, characterize the new Warner Bros. comedy "Don't Bet on Blondes" which will be the feature production at the Connellee theatre Sunday.

Warren William, for the first time cast in a light comedy role, and Guy Kibbee, have the principal parts. They are supported by a big cast of film favorites which includes Claire Dodd, William Gargan, Vince Barnett and Hobart Cavanaugh.

"Don't Bet on Blondes" is the story of a big time gambler, Warren William, who discovers that the insurance business not only offers all the thrills of his old profession, but is entirely respectable. So he opens a miniature "Lloyd's," and undertakes to write insurance on or against anything presented to him. One of his customers is Guy Kibbee, portraying a lovable, but worthless, old scamp who is supported by his daughter, Claire Dodd. Guy insures her against marriage for $50,000, and William, to protect his investment, adopts racketeer methods to scare off her suitors. How he failed to frighten one of them away, and how he was compelled to pay $50,000 to his father-in-law, form but a few of the many strange and laughable situations which feature the plot of the story. Claire Dodd, heretofore a screen menace, is said to reveal new and delightful talents in a sympathetic "good woman" role. Others in the cast are Mary Treen, Spencer Charters, Herman Bing, Clay Clement, Errol Flynn, Maude Eburne, Walter Byron, Jack Norrton and Eddie Shubert. Robert Florey directed.

SUCCESS AT LAST

Success comes at last to George Raft, Alice Faye, Frances Langford, Patsy Kelly in this scene from Walter Wanger's Paramount romantic musical comedy "Every Night At Eight" at the Connellee Theatre. The film is the first to glorify the amateur radio hour. Showing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Stanwyck Stars In Thrilling Play at Connellee Thur.

Barbara Stanwyck comes to the Connellee Sunday in her latest Warner Bros. production, "The Secret Bride," which is said to be the most powerful and dynamic picture in which she has yet appeared.

The picture, based by Leonard Ide, is a drama of political intrigues which involves serious murders, a sub-impachment of the state. In addition to the tions and the b there is a glamor which Miss Stanwyck of the secret bride of attorney general who to investigate her charges of accepting a

Glorifies Radio's Singing Trios

The Boswell Sisters, the Brox Sisters, the Pickens Sisters and many other trios of girl singers have attained popularity on the air waves, the stage and on the screen.

The careers, adventures and love affairs of three world famous, singing sisters have been glorified in Walter Wanger's Paramount picture, "Every Night at Eight," at the Connellee Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story of "Every Night at Eight" centers around three girls, Alice Faye, Frances Langford and Patsy Kelly, switchboard operator, stenographer and bottle packer respectively in a mint julep factory. They have convinced themselves that as a harmony singing trio they are better than the Boswell Sisters. Having lost their jobs they enter an amateur radio contest hoping to win a prize. However George Raft, leader of an amateur orchestra wins the prize, but takes them under his wing after he hears them sing. Under Raft's direction the three girls climb to the top of fame's ladder as radio stars known the world over as the Swanee Sisters.

Romance, comedy, music and plenty of it are all rolled into this exciting, up-to-the-minute musical production. "Every Night at Eight" is the first picture to dramatize an amateur radio hour on the screen. It is one of the hilarious sequences of the film, with Walter Catlett and the Radio Rogues contributing to the comedy in this scene. Raoul Walsh directed. Dorothy Fields, James McHugh, and Ted Rio Rito wrote the music.

"S-Men" Annoying Traffic Violators

BEAUMONT, Tex.—Motorists here are wary of "S-Men" who anonymously observe and report their traffic violations.

Police Chief L. B. Maddox who devised the "S-Man" plan because there weren't enough traffic officers to go around, reported the system is working well.

An "S-Man," Maddox explained, means "Safety Man" and he may be your next door neighbor or your boot-black.

'That reminds me...

Albert B. Fall, who has had a varied career from a powerful figure in national political circles to serving a sentence for the episode of the famous Teapot Dome scandal, is now again in the limelight of further troubles of an attempt to evict him from his ranch home. Mrs. Fall, who has stood by him through the years of his successes and his downfall, is again on the firing line to protect the man she loves and the home that has been theirs. She says that she will seek the courts for redress and is not going to be driven out without a fight. In a manner she cannot be blamed, and no doubt the periods of humiliation she has gone through has toughened her for most any ordeal. Those who would take her home away from her must realize that they are having a woman to deal with, strong in determination, and she is fighting for her husband who has been weakened by illness and remorse. Woman is more deadly than the male when she is aroused and more to be feared.

BOTH DIE INSTANTLY AS FOG AND MISSING MOTOR CAUSE A FORCED LANDING

Body of Rogers Is Thrown From Plane While That of Post Is Crushed Between Controls In Cabin

(Copyright By Frank Daugherty, United Press Correspondent)
POINT BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 16.—Wiley Post, round-the-world flier, and Will Rogers, cowboy humorist, were killed at 8:18 p. m. Thursday, 2:18 a. m. Friday, Eastern Daylight Time, when their plane crashed 15 miles south of here.

Lost in a fog and with the engine missing, Post nosed the plane into the tundra, striking frozen hummocks of moss. Its right wing broken, its nose and engine driven into the cabin, the crash instantly killed the occupants.

They became lost in the fog about 5 p. m. and landed their plane at Walkpi, an Eskimo village. Post made repairs to the plane's engine which had been missing, and asked the way to Point Barrow.

The fog was lying almost to the tundra and they decided to wait for it to rise. Post and Rogers ate dinner with Eskimos camped on the river and then decided to take off despite the fog.

Natives said the engine on the plane quit when it was 50 feet above the ground. Post had the ship in a right bank over the water. The ship spun on the right wing and plummeted to the tundra.

Rogers was thrown clear of the plane, which hit the ground and looped onto its back. His death was instantaneous. Post was pinned in the cabin by the force of the impact.

LINDBERGH MAY FLY BODIES OF VICTIMS HOME

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh may fly on a tragic mission to Alaska to supervise return of the bodies of Will Rogers and Wiley Post, advises today indicated.

While the capital mourned the death of the famous actor and the equally famous aviator, advisers to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Stephen Gibbons indicated that a telephone conversation would decide whether America's premier flier would undertake the mission.

Gibbons planned to talk to Lindbergh, now at North Haven, Me., by telephone. It was believed they might decide if Lindbergh would fly the bodies back or left indefinitely at Point Barrow.

Post's watch stopped at 8:18 p. m. The humorist's watch was still running when Sgt. Stanley Morgan, U. S. Signal Corps, Point Barrow station, and I reached the scene.

Morgan was notified by excited natives at Point Barrow and we reached the scene in a whale boat manned by natives.

Post's body was pulled from the wreckage, where it had been smashed among the controls.

Rogers' body was placed with Post's in the whaleboat and returned to Point Barrow and turned over to Dr. Henry Griest, superintendent of the Presbyterian Mission hospital. Both bodies were crushed. The plane was demolished.

Gasoline spewed over the water between the moss hummocks, caught fire and blazed for several minutes.

While natives and whites struggled to reach the boat carrying the bodies, an ink-stained piece of paper fell from Roger's pocket into the sea. It was discovered to be a newspaper picture of Roger's daughter, Mary.

Bits of wreckage in the current of the river floated down into the Arctic ocean.

The complete report of Sergeant Morgan was as follows:
"At 10 p. m., a native runner reported a plane had crashed 15 miles south of Barrow. I immediately hired a fast launch and proceeded to the scene. I found the plane a complete wreck, partially submerged in two feet of water. I recovered the body of Rogers and found it necessary to tear the plane apart to extract the body of Post."
"Natives camping on the river claim Post and Rogers landed, asked their way to Point Barrow and on taking off the engine misfired on a right bank, while only 50 feet over the water. The plane, out of control, crashed, tearing the right wing off and toppling over, forcing the engine back through the plane."
"Both apparently were killed instantly. Both bodies were bruised. Post's wrist watch was broken and stopped at 8:18." Signed "Morgan."

Hopson Defends Expenditures By Utility Company

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Howard Hopson hotly defended his company's expenditure of nearly $900,000 to fight the Wheeler-Rayburn utilities bill by charging the measure would destroy 6,000,000,000 worth of utility securities.

"That is about half the utilities securities issued," the Associated Gas & Electric head told the house committee today.

Hopson, who contends he isn't wealthy, told the committee he received 300,000 to $500,000 last year from his "personal companies" plus the $50,000 salary from A. G. & E.

Texas Cotton Growers Are Interested

Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly signed an order at Houston which, in effect, will enable ginners to obtain bale tags under the Bankhead act and to move their cotton to buyers. Judge Kennerly held that the temporary injunction granted by Federal Judge Randolph Bryant at Sherman on July 19 restraining government agencies from compelling cotton ginners to comply with the Bankhead act was "inoperative." He ruled that the plaintiff who obtained the injunction had failed to place bond of $100,000 fixed by Judge Bryant. This very important order was signed after Judge Kennerly named a committee of attorneys representing two factions of ginners and the government to work out an agreement. In directing the attorneys to find a solution for the problem satisfactory to all concerned, Judge Kennerly said to former Gov. Dan Moody, representing ginners favoring continuation of Bankhead act rule:

"Try to work out a plan so that the ginners can get their bale tags and stop this trouble about the cotton crop being held up. I don't think injunctions against collectors do any good. Try to get together."

Well, Moody and his fellow waterways drafted an agreement which contains a four-point pact.

Secretary Henry A. Wallace is not worried over unexpected increase in production. Indeed, he is in a very optimistic mood. He sees no reason why producers should feel any uneasiness over the first estimate of the cotton crop predicted by his department of a total production of 11,798,000 500-pound bales, or 2,100,000 bales more than last year. He gave positive assurances that "adequate credit facilities would be made available for adequate marketing of the crop." He declared that if world consumption were maintained at present levels, foreign and domestic mills could be expected to require considerably in excess of 11 million bales of American cotton. In addition he said that the stocks of cotton held by the government, amounting to approximately 5,000,000 bales would not be available to purchasers except at a price in excess of 13 cents a pound.

Caustic critics of the New Deal policies of the Roosevelt administration appear to be lined up against the Bankhead act as well as all acts involving processing taxes. It was ever thus. "The hit dog always howls."

Textile kings at home and abroad demand cheap cotton. Exporters of cotton demand cheap cotton. For 75 years cheap cotton was furnished to the foreign textile kings in the days of slavery. On and after the close of the war between the states white and black cheap labor produced cheap cotton for the textile masters of New England and Old England as well as the textile kings of continental Europe.

Now why should the growers furnish the land, the seed, the labor and do all the sweating and gambling to fatten or batten the coffers of those far from the land where the fleecy staple grows? Why not a division of the profits?

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—The tax bill is about as popular as a can of sour milk at a picnic. Your correspondent cannot find anyone who is even mildly enthusiastic over any tax program which is likely to emerge out of this Congress.

Nevertheless, President Roosevelt, despite all the horrible mismanagement of the program, remains relatively serene, and the chief secret of his serenity is this: Roosevelt has high hopes of going into the election next year with a balanced budget.

As soon as the derisive laughter has subsided, your correspondent will proceed to admit that such hopes are not shared by everybody in the administration. But the president has a very distinct idea that business is going to pick up very rapidly, that the national income will go booming, that unemployment and its costs will be materially reduced, and that the yield from current tax rates plus those of the new schedule—which would bring in less than $300,000,000 additional revenue, under last year's conditions—will produce a Treasury status to which he can point with pride.

The idea is that as corporation and individual incomes begin to rise, a geometrically enlarging proportion of the increase will be scooped off in taxes.

But it is still worth remembering that the revenue was only incidental in Roosevelt's mind when he called for "soak-the-rich" tax legislation from a startled Congress.
