Definite assurance that redesignation of Highway 89, from Weatherford to a point near Strawn, as State Highway No. 1 does not pend its completion was received Wednesday afternoon by Milburn McCarty of Eastland in a telephone conversation with a highway commission member at Aus-

It had been reported previously that redesignation was conditional on the cut-off's completion.

Highway markings on No. 89, however, McCarty learned, will not be changed to State Highway No. 1 until its completion.

The commission on Tuesday recommended to the executive committee of the American Highway Association of State Highway Officials that United States Route 80 be changed to the state designations.

McCarty stated that the commission not only expressed willingness but appeared anxious for the completion of the Weatherford-Strawn cut-off. It was suggested that the competion of the road might proceed under the Works Progress Administration.

Efforts for the completion of the road will proceed unabated and plans will be announced later,

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 .- An old age nsion bill was passed finally by the Texas house of representatives today by a vote of 135 to 5.

It differs matrially from an old age pension measure already passed by the senate. Leaders for the house bill did not expect the senate to accept changes but to ask for a conference committee to harmonize the two.

In general the house bill follows the federal security requirements for federal participation. It allows pensions not to exceed $15 a month for persons over 65.

Single persons with $720 annual income or $4,000 worth of property and couples with $1,000 income or $5,000 in property are excluded.

Payment of the pensions is proposed out of a special fund revenue bills to be passed later are being counted upon to provide the money. Administration is placed in a director and five assistants, all to be appointed by the gover-

Washington's New Tax On Imported Goods Is Watched

By United Press

By United Press OLYMPIA, Wash. — Approved by the state supreme court as within the bounds of interstate commerce laws, Washington's new-est tax—a 2 per cent "compen-sating tax" on merchandise "im-ported" into the state to avoid the 2 per cent retail sales tax—is bewatched with interest by tax thorities over the nation. The tax was enacted by the 1935 legislature to protect cities along Washington's border which would suffer from large purchases being made from Oregon merchants instead of in Washington. To get around federal constitutional bars against taxing inter state commerce, the legislature levied the compensating tax or "the privilege of using" these purchases like automobiles and washing machines within the state. The supreme court held the tax legal on grounds it was not a tax interstate commerce, but on

"MyselfandMe"

"I'm the best pal I ever had; We never have a fuss: We like to sit and talk about What's best for both of us." -Adapted

Come to think of it, haven't we all dual selves? ... One to acquire and one to bestow; one to work and one to play; one self to provide what the other self needs.

It isn't selfishness to think about yourself. It isn't arrogance to take pride in your appearance. It isn't egotism to strive to impress others. It's just good sense in the direction of self-progress-especially in business....

So, tell You to give You more consideration. Scruce up! This is the season to buy new clothes. And the surest way to get the best styles and values is to "shop" through the advertisements in this newspaper-because:

The merchants and manufacturers who thus put their wares on exhibition and their prices in black-and-white cannot afford to risk their reputation by making extravagant claims for doubtful merchndise. Read and trust the advertisements. They'll help you find what you want -and save money!
