We Lose War Profits, But Gain Peace

The plight of the Simple Simon who wants to eat his cake and have it too is as nothing compared to the difficulties besetting a nation which wants to have both war profits and neutrality.

President Roosevelt's neutrality stand has already brought some anguished squawks. The loudest has come from the Conference on Port Development of the City of New York, Inc., an organization of shipping and exporting firms which has protested vehemently against the trade restriction as "hasty and ill-advised."

This organization declares that American trade with Italy has given jobs to thousands of citizens, especially in the New York area, through which 90 per cent of our exports to Italy flow. After asserting that the neutrality proclamation "virtually abandons America's traditional insistence on neutral trading rights and freedom of the seas," it adds:

"Our exports to Italy have exceeded those of other nations, and are now at stake unnecessarily. . . Italy offers us a market for our surplus and she buys more than she sells us on balance.

All this is probably quite true—and it just goes to remind us that peace, like every other blessing attainable by man, has its price.

For the one thing that ought to be clear, in any discussion of neutrality legislation, is this: we can keep our skirts clear and avoid the danger of being drawn into a foreign war, or we can make hay while the sun shines and cash in on war orders—but we cannot possibly do both.

Living up to the arms embargo will be costly; make no mistake about that. It will prevent us from selling many a bill of goods. If the present war spreads and involves such nations as England and France, our loss will be even greater.

Nations at war need to buy many things and they are things which we are peculiarly well equipped to sell them.

But self-denial of that kind is the price of peace. If we are determined not to get drawn into another European war, our one hope is to forget about the profits.

The lesson of 1917 is unmistakable. When you set yourself up as warehouse and granary for a warring nation, you are simply leading with your chin; sooner or later you find your own fortunes inextricably tied up with the fortunes of the army of your chief customer.

The anguish of these New York exporters is natural and understandable. Our embargo, even though it is incomplete, is costing them money. What we need to keep in mind is that any sound neutrality program is bound to be expensive.

But you might remember that the profits we would have lost if we had refused to sell goods to England and France during the World War would never have amounted to a tenth of the money we actually did lose by going to war on their side.

It's strange. Italians are building roads throughout Ethiopia, and yet Haile and his countrymen are pitied by us taxpayers.

Helping Mothers to Cut Down On Family's Colds

Unique Formula for Nose and Throat Helps to Prevent Colds—And to Throw Off Head Colds at the Start.

SOON CLEARS "STUFFY HEAD"

Mothers are so often worried about their families' colds that they find special comfort in this unique aid for preventing colds—Vicks Va-tro-nol.

Especially designed for nose and upper throat, where most colds start, Va-tro-nol stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Used in time—at the first sniffle, sneeze or nasal irritation—just a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol spreads through the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

A Practical Guide for Mothers Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds, shorter colds and milder colds by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use throughout the country.

Full details of the Plan come in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol.

Seale, at Relief School, Succeed Jewell Reaves

Mrs. Jewell Reaves, connected with relief work in Eastland county since its inception in 1932, has assumed position of case worker in charge during the absence of Wortham Seale, who is attending a social service institute in Dallas for six weeks.

Mrs. Reaves began her connection with the Eastland County Relief Board in 1933 as a file clerk at general headquarters in Eastland. After serving in that position for five months she was assigned case work, in which she was occupied for eight months.

Later Mrs. Reaves became manager of the Eastland zone relief office and held that position for four months. Following re-organization of relief work in Eastland county when staff personnel was reduced, Mrs. Reaves was assigned to the Carbon office where she served as intake secretary and manager.

The Carbon relief office was closed recently and consolidated with county headquarters at Eastland, where she continued as intake secretary, this time for the county.

Attendance by Seale at the Dallas institute which is sponsored by the Texas Relief Commission marks his second instruction this year as relief entertainment. Lake Cisco.

County Relief Load Lower at Dalhart

DALHART, Texas. — Largely because of the Soil Conservation Service project, 20 miles east of here, the Dallam County relief load is 120, lowest in history of the office, Administrator A. E. Roark said. The drop was from 245. Twenty more clients are to be given permanent work through a visiting housekeeper project, said Roark, with about 65 clients unable to do any kind of work. Peak load of the office about two years ago was 758. The conservation project is demonstrating how to control wind erosion and uses the former relief laborers for removing fences from fence-row dunes and planting trees.

diphtheria, to take them to the family physician and have this done at once. Last month there were 265 cases of diphtheria in Texas reported to the state department of health. This is an increase over the month of August and shows the need of stressing immunization of the children in this age group. It was not so long ago that parents dreaded diphtheria because of the inability to prevent or cure this scourge. Now that we not only know the cause but also the remedy there is no reason why this disease cannot be completely eliminated. As diphtheria is most dangerous to the very young children, it is of the highest importance that immunization be given yearly. What is more, in young children there is practically no reaction to the injection. Immunization has been proven to give absolute protection. It is in the power of the parents of this state, cooperating with their physicians and the health department, to eliminate the disease. Most children can be protected against diphtheria by a single treatment—with what is known as Toxoid. However, 5 months the child should Schick test to determine treatment is immunization is a sure cure adopted by many your family physician community and immunization a regular treatment—
