Conditions Make a School Important — Be Financed Without Assessing Taxes, It Is Feared.

Upon a petition bearing forty names of taxpayers of Eastland Independent district, the board of education for the district, has called for a bond election for March 23 for the purpose of raising $15,000 in bonds with which to purchase a building for the district.

Announcement

The Eastland Telegram and the Ranger Times, published by the Times Publishing Company, are included in the six daily newspapers managed by the newly-organized Texas Newspapers, Inc., a holding company for the management and control of the corporations publishing the newspapers of Eastland, Ranger, Cisco, Breckenridge, Mineral Wells and Cleburne.

Directors of the Texas Newspapers, Inc., include Walter Murray, O. D. Dillingham, E. S. Fentress and Chas. E. Marsh. Stock of Texas Newspapers, Inc., is of no par value.

The six newspapers are under the general management of Walter Murray. Each newspaper will of course maintain its individuality and will serve its community to a greater extent than in the past.

In this age, the trend of business in many fields is toward group operations.

The advantages of this development as applied to newspapers are many. Perhaps the greatest is greater buying power, with corresponding economy. The six newspapers are able to purchase news service, news features, paper, and comics at a big saving. Special discounts are received on metals and other supplies. Only the best features will be purchased by Texas Newspapers, Inc., thus assuring each community of a newspaper that will be up to the highest standard in every respect.

In the realm of national advertising, the new arrangement will be of vast value to each of the six newspapers, for the Texas Newspapers, Inc., is associated with the Southwest Newspapers, Inc., which operate the papers of Waco, Austin, Wichita Falls, Port Arthur, Orange, Laredo and Brownsville—including both the afternoon and morning dailies of Waco, Austin and Wichita Falls. National advertisers like to deal with units representing big circulation and large areas, consequently the revenue from this source will be greater than where each newspaper seeks to deal for itself alone in this respect.

In the event of emergencies—such as a breakdown of machinery or a rush of business that could not be handled with the normal staff—the Eastland Telegram can now call upon the other newspapers to rush over supplies or men and thereby keep the flow of business continuing uninterruptedly, thus assuring the public of the maximum of service at all times.

The effect of the new arrangement will be to strengthen financially the position of the Times Publishing company and the other publishing companies affected by giving association with one of the nationally-recognized major factors in American newspaperdom. Further, the various newspapers are protected in their respective fields from any encroachment that might possibly have otherwise arisen in the future from other cities in Central West Texas.

While the deal has been pending for some time, due to the magnitude of the matters involved, considerable time has been required and even yet some of the details are being perfected but the charter has been issued, the new arrangement has been put in operation and the Eastland Telegram makes this announcement in full confidence that its readers will recognize the importance to Eastland of this development.

Woman Flees From Bank; Robbers Go

By United Press.

BURKBURNETT, Tex., March 2.—Mrs. Joe Morris, 30, wife of an oil field worker, was conceded to be the bravest woman in Burk Burnett today by everyone but herself.

She says fear, not bravery, prompted her to flee from the First National Bank Friday afternoon while a holdup was in progress and spread the alarm.

A dozen officials and customers were in the bank when three armed men entered and ordered everyone to lie on the floor. All heeded their command but Mrs. Morris. She started to scream and bolted for the front door.

"Stop in your tracks or I'll shoot," shouted one of the bandits. But Mrs. Morris continued on her flight. She reached the street and gave the alarm. Meantime, the bandits, fearing capture, left the bank and fled in an automobile toward Oklahoma.

Officers of both states took up the chase.

"It wasn't bravery," Mrs. Morris said today. "I was simply scared to death and didn't know what I was doing when I ran from those terrible pistols."

EXPECT LARGE CROWD

Interesting Program to Be Rendered At Joint Meeting of Groups Monday At Noon At Connelle Hotel

A large attendance is expected at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon to be held Monday at noon on the roof garden of the Connelle Hotel, according to Walter N. Hart, president of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce. Tickets for the luncheon have been on sale at the various drug stores in the city for the past several days and a large number have already been purchased. Those who have not yet secured tickets are requested to get them from any of the drug stores in town before 9:00 o'clock Monday morning.

The program arranged for the occasion has not been announced, but those in charge of this phase of the meeting give assurance that the program will be a good one, and snappy.

The Rotary and Lions clubs will meet with the Chamber of Commerce at this luncheon, and while each of those organizations will have their individual business meeting, a joint program for the occasion has been arranged.

Four weeks ago a meeting of this kind was held and the program rendered was a very interesting one.

West Texan Urged For State Office

The name of a former Eastland man is being mentioned for the attorney generalship of Texas.

Gib Callaway, former district attorney and one of the best known members of the bar of West Texas, is being urged by a large number of friends to make the race.

Judge Callaway engaged in the practice of law in Eastland for several years as the partner of Judge Allen D. Dabney. He is now living in Brownwood.

Geographical considerations, which play an important part in any race in a territory as vast as Texas are favorable to Judge Callaway, his friends point out, declaring that he would roll up a magnificent vote in Eastland county, in Comanche county, his old home, in Brown county, where he now lives, in the neighboring counties of Erath, Mills, Lampasas, Callahan, Coleman—in short throughout a tier of populous counties in Central West Texas which would enable him to pile up an impressive total before swinging out into the remainder of the State.

It is believed that Judge Callaway has the matter of entering the race under advisement.

Survivor, in Critical Condition, With His Feet Burned Off—Rail Tragedy Causes Death of Two Trainmen.

By United Press.

STEBENVILLE, O., March 2.—Four persons were burned to death today when the home of William Prim, 46, at Goulds Station, 11 miles west of Steubenville, was destroyed by fire.

Prim was brought to the Ohio Valley hospital here with his feet burned off.

Those burned to death were: Mrs. Dora Prim, 45, wife of William Prim.

Mrs. Annie Crawford, 22, daughter of the Prim.

Charles Crawford, husband of the daughter.

Otis Crawford, 8 months old. Searchers headed by Coroner A. L. Bell have been unable to find any trace of the four victims. Their bodies are believed to have been completely cremated in the flames.

By United Press.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 2.—Two men were instantly killed at St. Clair, near here, today when 35 heavily loaded freight cars ran wild down a steep incline and crashed into an engine and caboose standing in the Reading railroad yard.

The dead: Guy Drantz, 33, Reading railroad engineer.

Joseph Hartnett, Schuylkill Haven, brakeman.

John Howells, 24, Port Carbon, another member of the train crew was taken from the wreckage of the caboose and rushed to a hospital here in a critical condition.

Inauguration To Be Heard Here

George Harper, local distributor of several nationally known radios, announces that he will receive over radio Monday the Hoover inauguration program, which will be broadcast from Washington over Fort Worth stations. Accommodations for as many people as possible will be provided at Mr. Harper's place of business.

Mr. Harper also stated that he would gladly install radios in the schools, hotels, courthouse and places of that kind where crowds could be accommodated.

Deceased Sheriff Formerly Lived In Eastland County

By United Press.

LAMESA, Tex., March 2.—A woman today succeeded her husband to the office of sheriff of Dawson county following the death Friday of Sheriff Joe L. Kay. Within four hours after her husband's death, Mrs. Kay was appointed by the commissioners' court to fill out his term. As secretary - treasurer of the West Texas Sheriff's Association Ray was well known in Texas. He came here ten years ago from Scranton and Cisco where he was constable and deputy sheriff. Funeral services were held today. Ray was 42 years old.

The president, cashier and a former president of the bank, also have been indicted and are now under heavy bonds.

FLASHES

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President-elect Hoover's cabinet was completed with the announcement that Robert Patterson Lamont of Chicago, head of a large steel foundry, will be secretary of commerce.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Col. Robert W. Stewart brought his campaign for re-election to the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana to a close today with an appeal to "the voters" that savored of the day-before-election-statements of candidates for the presidency. With the vigor of a William Jennings Bryan, he attacked the "greatest accumulation of wealth on earth"—the Rockefeller's—and he "pointed with pride" to the fruits of his administration.

BOVINA, Tex., March 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth N. Shelby, widow of Gen. J. O. Shelby, Missouri Confederate leader, was dead here today.

LOCKHART, Tex., March 2.—Death followed soon after Mrs. Eugene Van Meter, 38, drank a large dose of carbolic acid at the home of her parents here. Despondency over separation from her husband was believed responsible for her act.

SEVILLE, Spain, March 2.—King George V of England may spend his convalescence at some retreat on the sun-drenched coast of Southern Spain or the Canary islands, it was disclosed here today.

Delightful Party Enjoyed By Class

The J. O. Y. class of the Baptist Sunday school were the guests of Misses Aileen Williams, Margaret Armstrong, and Irene Williams at the B. Y. P. U. cotage Friday night at 7:30 o'clock on the occasion of a delightful party. The hostesses were assisted in entertaining by Mrs. B. M. Hays, teacher of the class, and Mr. Hayes, superintendent.

The room was beautifully decorated in blue and white. Several games were played. Music and singing by Mr. and Mrs. Hays and a talk on "Why We Should go to Sunday School," by Mr. Hays, concluded the program.

Refreshments were served to the following: Ruth Bishop, Eva Armstrong, Lucile May, Mary Ida Stafford, Anna May Mathenie, Ruth Mary, Merle Crockett, Jesse Todd, Woodrow Jackson, Raynes Pope, and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Hays.

Fight May Be Made Against 2 Appointees

Hoover's Selections For Agriculture and Attorney-General Portfolio Cause a Rumble of Opposition In the Senate.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Rumbles of opposition against two of President-elect Hoover's cabinet selections were heard at the capitol today.

Whether the dissatisfaction in some Senatorial quarters against these two men—James W. Good, Chicago, secretary of war, and William D. Mitchell, attorney general, will develop into real fights against confirmation could not be determined today.

Some Southern Senators, interested in Muscle Shoals legislation, have criticized the Good appointment on the ground that he is friendly to the so-called "power-trust." The opposition against Mitchell is by those who claim he had a part in suppressing a grand jury investigation into the Jackson Barnett case in Oklahoma last summer.

Ordinarily, cabinet appointments by an incoming president are confirmed perfunctorily at the short special session of the Senate called for this purpose after the inaugural ceremonies. A fight on confirmation would be unusual.

The Senate waged a successful fight against one of president Coolidge's cabinet appointments, the nomination of Charles Beecher Warren, of Detroit as attorney general, but this did not come at the time of the inauguration, as he retained the Harding cabinet.

In recent years, the Senate has taken a different view about cabinet appointments. Previously a president's cabinet was confirmed without question. Recent years have brought a careful scrutiny of these selections.

MUSICIAN KILLS DOG, THEN SELF

By United Press.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Unable to hear the music he loved, Harrison Major Wild, organist and for thirty years conductor of the Apollo Musical club here, committed suicide, taking with him a small dog to which he was attached. Wild led the dog to the basement of his home, fired a shot through the animal's head and then shot himself.

Strange Penalty For Dry Violators

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A new law providing a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for liquor law violations, intended to curb bootlegging, came into experience today when President Coolidge signed the Jones bill.

Federal judges are specifically directed in the new act to discriminate between criminal or habitual violators and casual or slight violators, in imposing sentences thereunder.

The measure is effective at once. Together with the $3,000,000 anti-prohibition appropriation for next fiscal year, it will make supreme prohibition enforcement effort on the threshold of Hoover administration.

WAS A SECOND COUSIN

Carl Springer Is One of 27 Heirs Each of Whom Will Receive $7,000 Except Three Who Get Twice That Sum.

The Springer heirs of Texas will receive a large share of the $1,250,000 estate of the late William R. Meredith noted Indiana pioneer, who died almost two years ago.

Carl Springer, attorney of Eastland is among the 34 second cousins and his father, A. W. Springer of Aspermont is one of the three first cousins among the heirs.

Meredith, who was married to his first and second cousins, had no kin nearer than he will his entire fortune.

Almost a million dollars—$927,000 to be exact—was in government bonds and the remainder of the estate was in farm land and city property and bank stock.

It is estimated that Carl Springer's share of the estate will be $7,000 and 33 other second cousins will receive a like amount. His father will receive $14,000 as will his father's sisters, Mrs. Orlean Moore of Gustine and Mrs. Barbara Anne Castleberry of Slaton.

The law firm of Turner, Seaberry & Springer—of which Carl Springer is a member—represented the Springers heirs in the court proceedings which have just culminated in a ruling by the judge of the circuit court in Indiana that the Texas heirs would share in the estate.

The story is a most interesting one. In 1844, Edward Fayette Springer left Jeffersville, Ind., for Texas. He landed in Galveston on Jan. 1 1845 and he and the other settlers proceeded by ox team to McKinney. Albert Sidney Johnson, who was destined to win immortal fame as a general in the Confederate army, was in the party of settlers. Springer was in the War with Mexico, seeing action at the Battle of Buena Vista.

His sister was Emily Springer Meredith, the millionaire. Springer 1 however before the birth and never saw Meredith's brother or daughter Fayette in his lifetime.

Letters, dating 1840 and extending important link of kinship of with Meredith's Meredith.

posed to authorize not exceeding $175,000,000 of bonds of which $25,000,000 or so much as may be necessary shall be used to refund to counties and road districts

nate the constitutional provision which permitted any kind of tax to be collected to the state and sinking fund and. At the instance of Senator John W. Hornsby a new clause was inserted in the measure which provided that there shall never be any tax on real estate to the obligations arising from state highway

As thus changed by the Hornsby amendment the measure will be confined exclusively to the income from gasoline, one-fourth of which is to continue to go to the state available school fund and three-fourths to the highway account.
Now is the time for the friends and the foes of the original bill to get together, in senate and house. Enact the measure and submit the bond issue to the people for the qualified voters of the state to return their verdict at the ballot box.
A vast majority of the people of Texas are ever demanding modern highways and that the users of the highways shall pay the cost. They are the masters, the ballot is the thing and the verdict at the polls will tell all the story.

build a new Junior high school building. The election will be held at the City Hall.

Finding the schools of the city
badly crowded and gradually becoming more congested, the Board of Education set about to find a remedy. The plan finally decided upon was to refinance the outstanding bonds of the district, thereby making it possible to float an additional $75,000 worth of bonds without an increase in the amount of taxes being paid

at this time by the taxpayers for school purposes.

The proposition of rebuilding
the old high school building and using it for a Junior high school
was abandoned when engineers and architects, who inspected the building, advised against it, stating that it would cost almost as much to rebuild this building as it would to build a new one, and furthermore the rebuilt building would not be modern and would not be safe.

All of the schools in the city
are badly crowded. In fact complaints are being heard that pupils are not doing the work they should do because of the overcrowded conditions.

If a new Junior high school is built, students of the ward schools,
who have advanced sufficiently,
can be transferred to the Junior high and there continue their work until such time as they are ready for advancement to high

MRS. J. M. PERKINS HAS WITHDRAWN

By Mrs. W. K. JACKSON Eastland friends were deeply disappointed when it became known that Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins has decided to withdraw her acceptance of the action of the Thursday Afternoon Club of which she is President, and which has unanimously endorsed her for President of the sixth district Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. The Eastland County Federation also unanimously endorsed Mrs. Perkins and every favorable indication of friendship was received from the Breckenridge Federation. At the time of accepting, Mrs. Perkins had been assured there were no contestants in the field and had been especially informed that Mrs. Green Leaf Fisk of Abilene who was first vice president of the district, did not care to try for a higher office. After Mrs. Perkins left Eastland to visit in San Angelo and her acceptance of the program to sponsor her for the post of the sixth district president, was opened Mrs. Perkins was notified that Mrs. Fiske was announcing her candidacy for the office. Mrs. Perkins' friends regret her decision and feel that she is the logical person for the post. As District chairman of Fine Arts, she has come in contact with club women over the sixth district who have thus become acquainted with her genius, clear mind, courage and initiative. This might be said of her in her office as sixth district president of the Texas Federation of the Music Clubs. This work alone has given her an insight into the possibilities of aligning more closely the T. F. W. C. and the Texas Federation of Music Clubs and bringing a better pronounced musical atmosphere into the presence of the T. F. W. C. organization. Harmony is always a delightful thing and never more so than in club work. As Eastland women have expressed themselves many times, Mrs. Perkins is well informed, thoroughly master of all the elements that go toward the making of a successful federation. She is a finished musician, knows good art, is young, has health and strength, and best of all, is kind and just, dealing with everyone with whom she comes in contact in a christian spirit.

Speaking of Highway Bill.

As now written, speaking of the state highway land bill, it is proposed to authorize not exceeding $175,000,000 of bonds of which
$25,000,000 or so much as may be necessary shall be used to refund to counties and road districts
the amount spent on state designated highways. The remaining $140,000,000 would be the basis of all highway construction and maintenance.

commended the author eliminate the constitutional provision which prohibited any kind of tax to be collected from the state and sinking fund for the highway fund.
At the instance of John W. Hornsby of Texas, a new clause was inserted in the measure which provided that there shall never be any real estate tax on real estate arising from state highway
construction.

As thus changed by the Hornsby amendment will be confined exclusively to the income
from gasoline, one-fourth of which is to continue to go to the state
available school fund and three-
fourths to the highway account.
Now is the time for the friends of the highway to get together in house. Enact the measure and submit the bond issue to the people for the qualified voters of the state to return their verdict at the ballot box.
A vast majority of the people of Texas are ever demanding modern highways and that the users of the highways shall pay the cost. They are the masters. The ballot is the king and the verdict at the polls will tell all the story.

build a new Junior high school building. The election will be held at the City Hall.

Finding the schools of the city
badly crowded and gradually becoming more congested, the Board of Education set about to find a remedy. The plan finally decided upon was to refinance the

outstanding bonds of the district,
thereby making it possible to float an additional $75,000 worth of bonds without an increase in the amount of taxes being paid
at this time by the taxpayers for school purposes.

The proposition of rebuilding
the old high school building and
using it for a Junior high school
was abandoned when engineers
and architects, who inspected the building, advised against it, stating that it would cost almost as much to rebuild this building as it would to build a new one, and
furthermore the rebuilt building
would not be modern and would not be safe.

All of the schools in the city
are badly crowded. In fact complaints are being heard that pupils
are not doing the work they should do because of the overcrowded conditions.

If a new junior high school is
built, students of the ward schools,
who have advanced sufficiently,
can be transferred to the Junior high and there continue their work until such time as they are ready for advancement to high school.

a full size 5c package of mints.
So popular are these high quality mints that last year over 55,000,000 packages were sold through this automatic mint vender.
To make these mints 1,250,000 pounds of sugar was used. These facts are simply stated to prove the great popularity of Dyer's Mints. We suggest that you buy three or four packages at a time so that you will always have a package in your pocket. You will enjoy this delicious confection—absolutely pure, deliciously flavored and conveni-

Courthouse Will be Opened to When Furniture Is In

Following letter, which is a copy of the letter from County Judge C. L. Perkins, called to my attention by many citizens from the county who have been through Eastland court house have come to Eastland on Sundays to see the building and were sorely disappointed in that they could not go through the building because same was locked.

I wish to say that it is the desire of the commissioners' court that every citizen of the county have an opportunity to see all through the building at the earliest date possible, but due to the fact that practically none of the new furniture for the building has arrived; many of the officers and all of the court-rooms practically unfinished; all offices closed on Sundays and nothing but the bare lobbies to be seen, the court felt that temporarily the building should be kept closed on Sundays, however, it is the court's sincere hope that it will only be a matter of a few more weeks until all new furniture and equipment has been installed (including 'Old Rip,' now dead, who has been embalmed, a special casket having already been made and tombstone now in the making) at which time due notice will be given through the press and the courthouse will be thrown wide open to the public and every citizen cordially invited to come and see the building.

"In this connection I desire to state that the bronze tablet on which will appear the names of 'our boys' who enlisted in the world war has been completed and will be shipped about March 5th and it will be installed as promptly as possible. This bronze tablet is five feet, six inches high and ten feet long and weighs 1,200 pounds and will be placed in the main lobby."

President's Oath Contains 35 Words

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Exactly 35 words make up the oath of office of a president of the United States. The constitution prescribes it and it has been repeated by every executive in the history of the country. It is: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

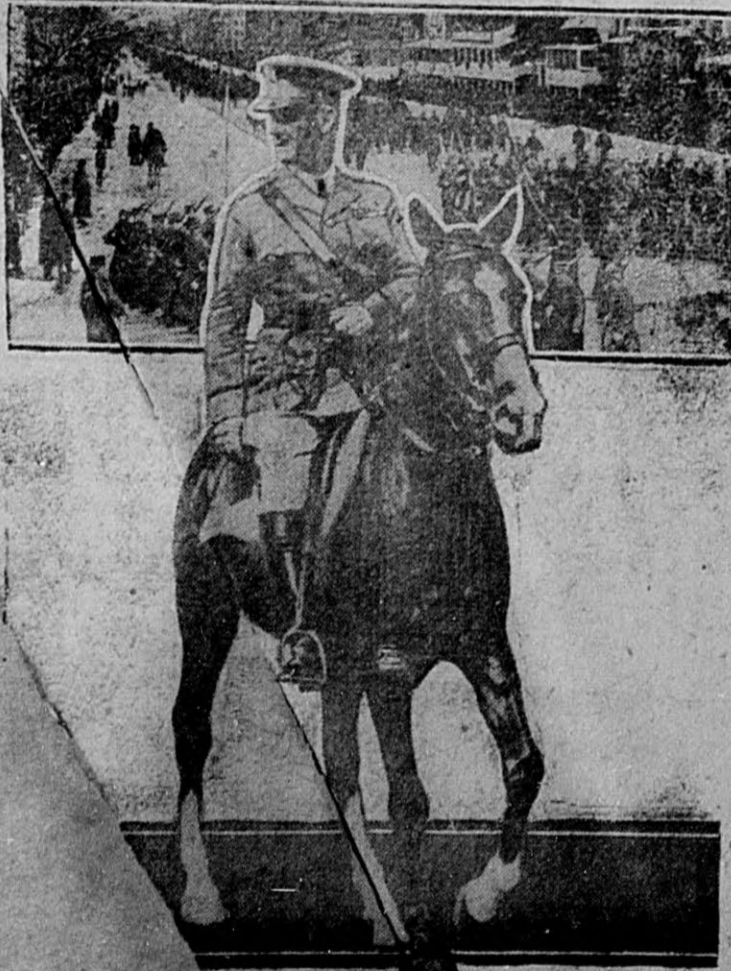

Herbert Hoover

Here is the United States' presidential family for the next four years. At the top are Herbert Hoover and his two sons, Herbert Hoover, Jr., left, and Allan Hoover. Below, at the left, is the country's new "first lady"; at the right is Mrs. Herbert Hoover, with her two children, Herbert and Peggy Ann.

From the time of Washington, the first act of a chief executive, after he has taken the oath of office, is to kiss the Bible. The book used by George Washington (above) at his first inauguration, now is in possession of a New York Masonic lodge.

More Bills To 120 Days

$10 a Day Constitutional Passed By Submission to

By United Press.
 HOUSTON, March 2.—The State legislature today adjourned to San Antonio while Governor Lindbergh stayed in Austin for the mass of bills already passed and ready for approval.

As sent to them late today, the bill disapproves the state titles of West Texas owners whose grants cross river beds, based on an opinion by general that the bill is unconstitutional.

The bill called it "oil sharks." Its supporters a bill to protect the oil fields from "oil sharks." It is to be given to Austin next House will be faced on the proposed $175,000 road bond issue, which passed since passing came yesterday when it was sent to a House subcommittee.

A speedy favorable bill has been sought as the state drawing to a close. The bill passed finally the search and seizure clause on one of the two search and seizure bills, which search on probable cause without warrant, except premises which is another bill.

The bill to place commercial under the State railroad under a plan regulating motor buses passed finally by the clause prohibits the any truck line competing railroads.

The bill was taken to constitutional amend-ment legislators pay to and hold sessions of. The first thirty days will be fore intro-duced and emergency mat-

Other bills finally passed by the House in Friday night's session were the ginning regulation bill; the bill making wife and child desertion a felony; a confederate pension bill embodying the terms of the recent constitutional amendment; a bill requiring physical education in State schools and a bill to require affidavit that automobiles have been rendered for taxation when the auto license is issued. An attempt to pass finally the bill reducing the liquor law violation penalty from a felony to a misdemeanor got 53 votes to 42. The vote went unrecorded as it disclosed lack of quorum.

The measures finally passed by the House have yet to go to the Senate.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY FRIDAY

Tickets for "The New Co-Ed," which is being presented by the Junior Class of Eastland High School, are now on sale by members of the class. The play is to be given in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, March 8, at eight o'clock. The price of admission will be 50 and 75 cents.

Persons who provide themselves with the advance tickets now on sale will have an opportunity to make seat reservations when the reserve seat diagram is opened next Wednesday afternoon at the Corner Drug Store. This should make it easy for all who so desire to provide themselves accordingly and thus have preferred choice when seat reservations are made.

Rehearsals for "The New Co-Ed" are going on under the direction of Juan P. Mason, of the English faculty, who announces that the cast will be made up of the following members of the Junior class:

Letty Willis, a new student from the country — Thelma Reasor.
 Madge Stevens, Letty's friend and champion—Dolores Tanner.
 Estelle Doolittle, a spoiled beauty—Nell Rosenquest.
 May, Rose Grace, inseparable college chums—Faye Crossley, Wilda Frost, Martha Frances Thomas.
 Dick Bradley, the athletic star of the class—Frank Laurent.
 "Punch" Doolittle, the mischievous, work-hating brother of Estelle—Jim Golden.
 Jim Young, a coach of the dramatic club—William Spencer.
 George Washington Watts, porter at Miss Rice's, a gentleman of color and "peace" — Weldon Raines.

BY THE WAY

Eastland is exceptionally rich in speakers and artists.

A number of cities in this territory—not blessed with 52 lawyers—do not have as many capable after-dinner speakers as Eastland. It is quite likely that some of those cities would be pleased, from time to time, to have as the principal speaker at the session of their luncheon clubs, a man such as Virgil Seaberry, John D. McRae, T. J. Pitts, Harry Brelsford, John R. Stubblefield, Dr. Wilson or N. N. Rosenquest—to name only a few of Eastland's eloquent.

Then there are singers and musicians and readers who could provide the aesthetic part of the program—in contradiction to the intellectual part.

If the secretaries of the clubs at DeLeon, Gorman, Rising Star, Baird and other cities in this territory were invited to call on Eastland occasionally for program personnel, excellent programs could be provided. The general good will between Eastland and those cities would also be advanced.

'I'm No Celebrity,' Says Capt. Hawks

By United Press.
 HOUSTON, Tex., March 1.—"I'm no celebrity." Those words spoken by Captain Frank M. Hawks, holder of the non-stop transcontinental flight record, offer a better description of the flyer than any purple phrases.

Hawks, the Beau Brummel of the air, came home at 4:45 p. m. Wednesday flying from Fort Worth in an hour and forty minutes in the Lockheed Vega monoplane in which he set his west to east record of 13 hours 21 minutes.

He wondered at the reception Houston accorded him. He wore the same raccoon skin coat at which New York wondered; and spat. More than that, he carried a cane.

Told of Colonel Lindbergh's mishap at Mexico City, he expressed his pleasure that no one had been injured and added, "well, it will happen in the best of families."

Hawks spoke to the Rotary Club Thursday and will be given a testimonial dinner tonight.

Find Weapon In Dallas Jail Cell

By United Press.
 DALLAS, Tex., March 1.—Sheriff's office today prevented what authorities believe was a well planned scheme among hardened criminals in the county jail to make a daring dash for liberty.

A ten-inch knife and four pairs of scissors were taken from the cells of criminals, one of whom is under death penalty.

An investigation of how the knife and scissors reached the prisoner is being made by Sheriff Hal Hood and the district attorney. Officers believe that persons on the outside are responsible.

CITY IS SUED FOR DAMAGES

Damages amounting to $6,250 were asked of the City of Eastland by Mrs. B. H. Hughes and husband Abilene in a suit filed in the district court.

Plaintiffs allege that on July 3, 1928, Mrs. Hughes sustained personal injuries when she fell into a ditch left open for a gas line connection on the east side of Lamar street between Patterson and White streets, and that it was through the carelessness and negligence of the city that the place was left open and unmarked.

Mrs. Hughes asks for $6,000 and her husband $250, which amount she alleges he lost by reason of the fact that he had to be away from his work in attendance upon his wife.

GORMAN

GORMAN, March 2.—Keudell et al No. 1 Collins, north of Gorman, have set the eight-inch casing and are drilling around 1,200 feet. The Collins tract has been found to have a fair pay sand.

The States Oil Corporation is rigging up for a well on the McDonald place near Kokomo.

Work was started first of the week on the new building which is to be occupied by the Gorman theatre.

On Tuesday of this week, 25 bales of last year's cotton were marketed here. Peanuts are also coming in to market.

Plans have been perfected for the first cream route to be operated out of Gorman. This route was established largely through the efforts of the vocational teacher of the Gorman schools. J. J. Brown, farmer living between Gorman and Carbon, will furnish the truck and drive the route, taking up cream and delivering ice.

A hail storm, accompanied by a severe electrical storm, struck this section last Monday morning. No damage was reported.

The farmers of the Gorman trade territory have been extended an invitation to become regular and active members of the Gorman Chamber of Commerce.

At a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, the accomplishments of the organization for the past year were recounted and plans for this year discussed.

Authenticity of Milo Arms Is In Dispute

PARIS.—The announced plans of certain Greek archaeologists to search for the broken but beautiful arms of Venus de Milo has precipitated an international controversy between the art circles of Paris and Athens. French museum authorities contend that such a search is ridiculous since the arms in question are in a glass case at the Louvre, just a few inches away from this statue of the Goddess of Love.

According to the French version, the statue of Venus de Milo was bought by a French consul back in 1820 from a Greek peasant named Yorgos who had found it in a rocky ledge on the Island of Milos. It was hidden by a thick growth of shrubbery and there is no definite knowledge as to how long it had been there. The statue at that time had arms and no one has ever been able to explain positively how they were broken.

It is this one weak link in the history of the statue on which the Greek archaeologists base their claims that the arms are now resting at the bottom of the sea near Milos. According to some Greek accounts, the arms may have been wrenched off following a quarrel between the consul and the peasant over their bargain.

M. Jules Flandrin, noted French artist, relates in a press interview how he carefully measured both the fragments and the statue at the Louvre and found them to fit perfectly. He declares there is no doubt in his mind after having made this minute examination.

"The result was perfect," he says. "The arms fit the body exactly. Their lines blend entirely with those of the shoulder, the abdomen and the muscles. If they were attached to the statue there would be complete harmony."

M. Tienne Michon, member of the French institute and well-known authority on statuary, declares in another interview, "I am told that Greek archaeologists are to make a search for these arms in the waters near Milos on the supposition that they were broken off during a struggle between Yorgos and the French Consul just before the statue was taken away to France by boat. Such a search is certainly ridiculous."

Other champions of the fragments recall the opinion arrived at by M. Salomon Geskel, member of the Academy of Stockholm, who in 1880 wrote that the "fragments are in perfect accord with the forearm and with all the rest of the anatomy of the statue." They emphasize that his observance was entirely unbiased and based on the most careful study.

Mrs. W. K. Jackson, Editor

They'll Figure in Inauguration

Inauguration day will be particularly eventful to those pictured here. To Matt Glaser, upper right, original Curtis-for-Vice-President boomer, it will mean that Curtis, left, will wear this fine silk topper which Glaser is giving him to wear in ceremonies. To Senator George H. Moses, lower left, of New Hampshire, secretary of the inaugural committee, it will mean the honor of riding from the White House to the capitol with President Coolidge and President-elect Hoover. To Charles E. Cropley, lower right, youthful chief clerk of the U. S. Supreme Court, it will mean the privilege of holding the Bible for Chief Justice Taft when Herbert Hoover is sworn in as the chief executive.

phero, Pinero, Shaw, Berry, Galsworthy, were all discussed by Mrs. Townsend in the light of the influence of science and invention on fine arts. Mrs. Townsend always delightful, was especially so at this time.

Mrs. Semple, in Literature, showed the effects of Darwinism on Tennyson, and Geo. Elliott, Huxley and Spencer and their influence on literature. The development of printing increased circulation in magazines and books, showing results of science. Realism as in Dickens, Thackeray, Hardy, Kipling, the Romanticist, Stevenson, the Poet Browning and Tennyson, all show the effect of the influence mentioned; modernism and literature and the increased interest in psycho-analysis and psychology, biography, and science, concluded the contrast. The greatest feat of Science, however, the speaker declared was the making of Light and yet more light so that people could see to read, to study, to work, to play.

The business session of the program was conducted by Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins with Mrs. J. C. Patterson acting as recording secretary in the absence of Mrs. Carl Springer. Mrs. Steel Johnston was unanimously elected to membership. New window draperies for the club library were voted and the president appointed Mmes. W. E. Stalter, Theodore Ferguson, Harry Semple and J. M. Armstrong as committee to provide this and to have the davenport and two chairs re-upholstered. Announcement was made that stunt show money covered all indebtedness. It was voted to investigate the possibilities for the club, presenting a home talent play and chair appointed as committee Mmes. H. Semple, B. M. Collie and James Horton.

The Thursday Afternoon club will endeavor to be represented in the Poetry, One Act Play, "Essay, Best Club report, District Song, and Essay "Why Should I Vote" by a high school student) in the contest of the T. F. W. C. of the sixth district. Announcement of the district prizes to be awarded will soon be published. Mrs. Perkins, who is president of the Thursday Afternoon Club, is chairman of fine arts of the Sixth district and is anxious that the Eastland Women be represented. Mrs. James Horton has been invited to send in her one act play given recently at the stunt show and Mrs. W. K. Jackson has been asked to send selections of verse. Mrs. Kelly of Cisco, Americanization Chairman of the Sixth district, offers a personal prize of five dollars for the best essay on "Why Should I Vote." (By a high school student.) The successful contestant will have the privilege of reading the essay before the Brownwood convention, she stated.

The club was informed by Mrs. Perkins, that since Mrs. Fiske had at a late hour, decided to announce her candidacy for the presidency of the sixth district T. F. W. C. that she had considered it best to annual her acceptance of the endorsement of the club for her candidacy for this office and thanked them for the compliment they had paid her.

The Thursday Afternoon Club regretted Mrs. Perkins' action, but had no recourse save to leave the decision with her.

Those attending the club were: Mmes. W. T. Leslie, E. R. Townsend, Joseph M. Perkins, F. O. Hunter, J. C. Patterson, James Horton, Koester, T. A. Bandy, B. M. Collie, John Turner, Earl Johnson, Grady Pipkin, G. G. Hazel, F. Corzelius, Mullings, Harry Semple, W. E. Stalter, J. M. Ferrell, and Miss Juanita Hazel, a guest.

WARD SCHOOLS WORKING ON INTER SCHOLASTIC LEAGUE EVENTS: Interscholastic League work for the Junior Spelling, Senior spelling and sub-junior students is now in progress, the three sections representing forty or fifty students in charge of Mrs. Boles. Miss Somers and Mrs. Amis are coaching in spelling.

Miss Ruth Mitchell is in charge of the Essay Writer with eight in that section.

Mrs. Speer is working with the declaimers, with thirty - five or forty in that class.

Mrs. A. F. Taylor and Miss Green are working with the Music Students.

Principal E. E. Layton has charge of twenty - five students in Arithmetic and Mr. Wilmoth is coaching the boys' athletics. Miss Somers has the girls' volley ball work, Mrs. Speer, the girls' play ground. The school all around championship cup for most points in literature and athletic events which has been awarded South Ward school for two years is being earnestly prepared for to keep it this next year.

The West Ward school is entering into preparation for the Interscholastic League work with unreserved vim and interest. Mr. Boles the principal stated. Miss Alfrely, has charge of the Music memory work. Miss Dever of the Arithmetic, Mrs. Herring of the Junior Spelling, with Miss Fay Blankenship substitute assistant; Miss Kellum, the essay writing and Sidney Smith the track work.

Mrs. W. K. Jackson the District Chairman of Music for the Sixth District Texas Federation Music Clubs whose office expires shortly, has notified principal Layton of South Ward and principal Bogos of West Ward School that she is turning over to them five dollars in gold for each school as a prize to be awarded the pupil who makes the best record in the Eastland Music Memory Contest.

The list of selections used in the memory contest is reproduced here: excepting the three selections in the Music memory contest that are sent from official headquarters on the day of the contest and not to be opened until that day and then under a strict supervision.

REBEKAHS PREPARING FOR CONTEST:

The Rebekah Lodge is holding intensive drill work and practice in preparation for the Odd Fellowship and Rebekah Association in Cisco to be held Thursday March 7.

McDOWELL JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB RE-ORGANIZED:

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins was house hostess to the McDowell Music Club Friday Afternoon, entertaining these charming young girls at 4:30 p. m. A re-organization was effected and the following officers were elected.

Miss Loraine Taylor, president; Miss Mawvine Davenport, vice president; Miss Evelyn Hearn, secretary; Miss Virginia Neal Little, treasurer; and Miss Terressa Vernon, reporter.

A delightful social hour was enjoyed and a clever contest called "Birds." Piano solos were given by Misses Mawvine Davenport and Virginia Neal Little. The hostess, incoming president of the music club, Mrs. T. J. Pitts president, Mrs. Grady Pipkin and Mrs. T. J. Haley served a dainty refreshment of hot tea with cake and delicious candy.

ALPHI DELPHIAN CHAPTER:

The Alphi Delphians will present a program dealing with the writings of Maria Edgeworth and Sir Walter Scott as well as Jane Austen at their session this week which has a general title for a program "The English Novel" 1800-1830, and evidently suggests these authors or representatives of that period of English fiction. There are but two text reports that of Ivanhoe to be sketched by Mrs. Carl Page and "Kenilworth" sketched by Mrs. Grady Owen. The points to be discussed include the particular phases of English Social life depicted in the story. What is the Historic Basis Kenilworth Story. The general discussion "What enduringly Popular Qualities Have Scott's Novel" which will be given by the President Mrs. N. N. Rosenauet.

Roll call response will be an Irish joke or historical fact. Miss Donaho of Olden will give two delightful musical numbers.

EASTLAND COMMUNITY CHORAL CLUB:

The Eastland Community Choral Club held a delightful rehearsal Friday night in Community Club-house with some twenty members in attendance and two new members, Mrs. W. E. Stalter and Dr. J. H. Caton. The practice was brisk and covered the last five numbers of the oratorio Saint Cecilia which has now had its first "going over" and from now on will be trained in shading and expression.

Some single numbers were rehearsed with good results. The Choral Club is filling a long felt want in Eastland and will be of special opportunity and beauty for the music week annual occurrence of Eastland Music Club.

FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB:

Mrs. W. K. Hyer was a delightful hostess to the Friday Bridge club at her attractive home, when St. Patrick designs and colors were observed in the tallies and bridge tables appointments, and further noted in the bouquets of white roses that adorned the attractive home. A dainty tea was served at close of the game, of celery salad, cheese biscuits, olives potato flakes, white cake with green cocoanut topping and hot chocolate with whipped cream. Guests were Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. Oscar Chastain, Mrs. Earle Johnson and Mrs. O. C. Funderburk awarded high score favor an Italian pottery box Club members present: Mrs. Earl Conner, Mrs. W. E. FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

NOW I WONDER JUST WHAT UNCLE HARRY MEANT YESTERDAY WHEN HE SAID "I HAVE AN IDEA."

YOU DON'T SPOSE HE'S GOING TO TAKE YOU OVER TO AFRICA AGAIN, DO YOU, FRECKLES?

YOU'LL ADMIT THAT THE DOCTOR WON'T LET THE BOY GO BACK TO SCHOOL BECAUSE HE'S STILL IN A WEAKENED CONDITION—NOW WITH THIS CLIMATE HERE.....

OF COURSE I KNOW HE CAN'T GET STRONGER VERY FAST, SITTING AROUND THE HOUSE, AND IT'S TOO RAIN FOR HIM TO BE OUT IN THE AIR THIS TIME OF YEAR....

THAT'S JUST IT! NOW IF HE'D BE SOMEWHERE WHERE THE WEATHER IS EVEN TEMPERED, HE'D COME BACK FAST—THAT'S EXACTLY WHAT WOULD BE THE BEST THING FOR HIM....

THAT'S ALL PERFECTLY TRUE BUT DO YOU REALIZE THAT ALL THAT COSTS MONEY?

WHAT'S MONEY WHEN IT COMES TO A BOY'S HEALTH? NOW I'M GOING TO PUT A PROPOSITION UP TO YOU.....

SEVEN CATS? NOT IN THIS HOUSE. YOU'LL HAVE TO GET RID OF TWO OF THEM AT LEAST.

ME, DROWN A CAT? NOT ME! I'VE HAD ENOUGH BAD LUCK.

DROWN THE LITTLE KITTIES?

WAH!

I DON'T WANT THE KITTIES DROWNED.

WELL, BLESS YOUR HEART! POP WON'T LET MOM DROWN THE KITTIES—THERE NOW.

YOU'RE MAKING ME FEEL FINE, TAKING THAT ATTITUDE. IF YOU'RE SO ANXIOUS TO START A BOARDING HOUSE FOR CATS YOU CAN TOTE THEM DOWN TO YOUR OFFICE EVERY DAY AND PLAY NURSE-MAID TO THEM. I WON'T!

TAX NOTICE

Whereas, in fairness to citizens who have promptly paid their taxes and due to the fact that the county is badly in need of said taxes, the collection of which would not only permit the county to reduce its indebtedness but would enable it to substantially reduce the tax rate, it is the earnest desire of the court that all delinquent taxes be collected at the earliest date possible, and in the passing and publishing of this order, giving due notice of the court's action, it is to be hoped that those who have not paid their taxes will promptly make arrangements to pay same thereby saving themselves much additional expense in the way of court costs and attorney's fees.

It is therefore ordered by the court that the county attorney be and is hereby requested and instructed to proceed at once to file suits and prosecute same to a final sale on such property as is now delinquent on the tax rolls of Eastland County up to and including the year 1927.

Yacht Used to Transport Rare Tropical Blooms

MIAMI, Fla.—A floating flower conservatory is now on its way to the Windward Islands for a four-months' plant gathering expedition.

Aboard his private yacht, the Utowana, Allison V. Armour, of New York, collaborating with the United States department of agriculture, is slipping southward in quest of rare plant specimens. The plant collector indulges his hobby in a manner that would bankrupt any but a person of means.

The botanist purchased his 1,000-ton vessel in 1924 and converted it to a spacious private yacht, probably the largest ever to visit Miami. The fittings on the boat are not the luxurious trappings found on smaller yachts, but are comfortable and serviceable, the kind one finds around a person who does not make a display of his possessions. With the exception of the yacht having a glistening coat of white paint and a crew extremely neat in appearance, the boat would be mistaken for a freight vessel inadvertently tied up at a yacht mooring.

The boat is 230 feet long, overall, has an extreme breadth of 34 feet and draws 11 feet six inches when fully loaded. It is powered by two 350-horsepower Atlas Diesel engines, giving a cruising speed of 10 knots an hour. The fuel capacity is 272 tons of high grade distillate fuel oil, allowing the ship a cruising radius of 12,000 miles or six months without touching port.

The unusual feature is the plant propagation room that has been made in the former cargo hold of the boat. This compartment enables the owner to transport rare tropical plants to northern botanical gardens without injury to the specimens.

Armour, since purchasing the yacht, has cruised the Baltic, North Sea, European, African and Asiatic waters and has completely circumnavigated the globe in his travels. Captain James H. Williams is in command of the crew of 32 men.

Do We Appreciate Our Grocerymen?

Do we appreciate the service our local grocerymen give us? We wonder if we do.

Our grocery stores here in Eastland are the community supply depots. Without them our community would be hopelessly handicapped.

And by reason of the fact that every family is a buyer of food supplies, the groceryman faces problems not faced by any other class of merchants.

The requirements of his service are rigid. He must carry complete stock. He must sell on an extremely narrow margin of profit. He must be courteous and obliging under very trying circumstances at times.

So, the next time our groceryman forgets to include that package of pepper in your order, or the bananas are not quite ripe enough to suit our taste, let's remember that our order is only one of dozens of others, and that the groceryman—being human—is prone to an occasional error the same as the rest of us.

Here in Eastland we are served by an unusually fine group of grocery stores. We should appreciate that fact instead of continual complaints, therefore, let's surprise our groceryman with an occasional word of commendation. He needs it.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . . By Laufer

Brother acts are not so novel in the big leagues these days, but it was up to the "Poison Boys," Paul and Lloyd Waner, to show a new wrinkle in this kind of combination. The Waner brothers form the most valuable brother combination doing big time today. They are outfielders for the Pittsburgh Pirates and, despite the fact that they are young in years and experience, they are among the best in the big top.

When it came time to sign their contracts this year, the Waners singly and collectively told Barney Dreyfuss that the amount offered wasn't enough. They wanted $35,000 between them and they intended holding out until they got it. If Dreyfuss saw fit to meet Paul's demands, Paul wouldn't sign until the boss dealt satisfactorily with Brother Lloyd. And the same held true with Brother Lloyd—Brother Paul had to be fixed up also before he would sign.

bounds. The tobacco will be held for "aging" in the new warehouses, one of the most important features in cigarette manufacture, preceding the toasting process. The leaf is packed by hydraulic pressure into giant wooden hoghead, 1,000 pounds in each. The warehouses have metal roofs and the sides are shuttered to allow air to circulate within, while the flooring is elevated to keep out dampness. To further prevent excess moisture, terraces are constructed on raised terraces with special drainage facilities. The tobacco stands for at least two years before sufficiently mature for the factory, and a constant supply of approximately 2,000,000 pounds is maintained in each of the sheds.

task of canvassing the electoral votes by which George Washington was elected the first president. Washington was not inaugurated until April 30 of that year. The first law passed by that special session was a tariff law. It also passed laws creating the three executive departments, which have gradually been increased to the present 10.

Harding's Record. The 21 special sessions have been held in 20 different congresses. Harding set a record by calling two special sessions of the sixty-seventh congress, in addition to the two regular sessions. The first one enacted the Fordney-McCumber tariff law, and in the second Senator La Follette and a group of insurgents blocked the ship subsidy proposal of the administration.

suffrage amendment of the constitution. Congress operates during special sessions under the same rules as during regular sessions. The president by proclamation, emphasizes the subjects upon which legislation is desired, but this in no way binds congress which, once in session, may do what it pleases.

Of the recent presidents, only Roosevelt and Coolidge called no special sessions. The administrations of each have been marked by notable conflicts with the legislative departments. Special sessions are usually called to meet in March or in April following inauguration. McKinley, succeeding the democratic Cleveland regime, called congress to meet March 15, 1897, and that body enacted the famous Dingley protective tariff. Taft called a special session to pass the Payne-Aldrich tariff, which increased "protection" still further. A second Taft special session was called to deal with proposed Canadian reciprocity, but it failed to accomplish its intended purpose.

The United States entered the world war during a special session called by Woodrow Wilson to meet April 2, 1917. It adjourned in October. In the next regular session republican filibusters prevented passage of several essential appropriation bills, and Wilson had to call another session in 1919. This session saw the death of Wilson's Versailles treaty ratification, and the adoption of the woman

EXTRA SESSION TO BE 22ND IN HISTORY OF U. S.

By HERBERT LITTLE, United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON.—Herbert Hoover's special session of congress will be the twenty-second special session in American history. Like its predecessors it will be of tremendous importance to the nation's economic life, because of the tariff and farm relief changes which are scheduled to be enacted. It will be the first special session since the one in 1922 called by President Harding, likewise for enacting an agricultural tariff. The very first session of congress was a "special" session. It met in New York, the national capitol, March 4, 1789, and its first action was the imperative

Specially Built Warehouse For Lucky Strikes

REIDSVILLE, N. C. March 3.—Ten new warehouses to hold 20,000,000 pounds of Lucky Strike complete the largest community of tobacco buildings in the world. The sheds are being built by the American Tobacco Company to supplement a present group of 18 warehouses for aging tobacco used in Lucky Strike cigarettes. The greatly increased demand for these cigarettes, resulting from the improved purity and flavor due to the toasting process, necessitates expanding the capacity of the store-houses from approximately 30,000,000 to 50,000,000

Boss Wrigley Meets Some of His Cubs

When William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, arrived at Catalina Island, Calif., where the club does its spring training, he found a lot of new faces. Strangers on his ball club would never do, so he enlisted Manager Joe McCarthy's aid and went right down the line meeting the newcomers and tolling the old-timers hello. Wrigley, in golf knickers, is shown here, with Manager McCarthy at his elbow.

MALONEY NOT JUST BALONEY

By United Press. BOSTON, March 2.—The comeback attempt of Tom Heenev, New Zealand heavyweight, was checked here last night when Jim Maloney, Boston, outpointed him decisively in ten rounds.

A crowd of 18,000 saw the bout and cheered wildly when the verdict was awarded to Maloney. Maloney had the New Zealand badly spent and bleeding in the final rounds.

It was Heenev's first fight since Gene Tunney scored a technical knockout over him in New York last July. Although he started strongly and shook Maloney with stiff jabs early in the bout, he was unable to stand up under a steady rain of blows.

Heenev, a year ago, knocked Maloney out in the first round.

From Capitol-To-Capitol Hop Tried

By United Press. MEXICO CITY, March 2.—Joaquin Gonzalez Pacheco and C. E. McMillan started on a non-stop flight from Mexico City to Washington at 6:47 a. m. today and made a brilliant take-off with 500 gallons of gasoline. By lifting their Stinson - Detroit into the air with such a heavy load, they set a record for this altitude. The plane started from the Valbuena civil field and ran for a mile, gathering high speed, before it rose slowly into the air and began to climb.

Pacheco and McMillan expected to follow Capt. Carranza's route to Mexico City, going through Tampico, Brownsville and Galveston, Texas, New Orleans, Atlanta, and Richmond, Va. They are using a Stinson - Detroit monoplane. The flier carried a letter from Provisional President Emilio Portes Gil to President-elect Herbert Hoover congratulating him on his election. It will be the first non-stop flight from Mexico City to Washington, is successful.

A flight from Washington to Mexico City was accomplished on Dec. 13 and 14, 1927 by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, making a distance of approximately 2,000 miles in 27 hours. Pacheco and McMillan probably will follow the approximate route of Lindbergh.

They had hoped to carry a letter from President Emilio Portes Gil to Herbert Hoover, congratulating him on his inauguration, but bore instead letters from Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow to Mr. Hoover and secretary of State Kellogg. The fliers should reach Washington at about 10 a. m. Sunday.

Between one and four o'clock Saturday afternoon, "HAND-SOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies, is shot. On Monday morning his secretary, RUTH LESTER, finds his body sprawled beneath the aircraft wind waf his private office. McMANN, detective sergeant, conducts the investigation in the office of the victim.

The first suspect is MRS. ELIZABETH BORDEN, estranged wife of the dead man and mother of his two children, who admits she called on him Saturday afternoon for her monthly alimony check, but insists he was alive when she left him. The next suspect is Ruth Lester. She confesses that Borden annoyed her with his attentions on Saturday morning but staunchly denies any knowledge of the crime.

JACK HAYWARD, Ruth's fiance, is questioned next. His office is directly across the narrow airshaft from Borden's private office. He tries to explain his return to the seventh floor Saturday afternoon by saying he left his and Ruth's mattress tickets on his desk. Jack's guilt seems emphasized by the testimony of MICKY MORAN and OTTO PELUGER, elevator boys, and BILL COWAN, friend, who tells of Jack's threatening Borden's life when he saw Ruth struggling with Borden in the opposite office.

McMann sends for MINNIE CASSIDY and LETTY MILLER, seventh floor scrubwomen; BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy, and CLEO Gilman, Borden's discarded mistress. Meanwhile RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, admits a week-end planned with Borden. She confesses her call to the office Saturday afternoon to get the torn half of a $500 bill Borden promised her, but insists she left him alive. McMann finds a 10-foot pole in Jack's office with which the window across the airshaft could be closed. ASHE, Borden's manservant, is shown in. He has just said he believes he knows who killed Borden.

The Highest Dam in the World

NEA Los Angeles Bureau
This remarkable birdseye view shows the highest dam in the world, just completed near San Fernando, Calif., by Los Angeles county as a part of a flood control district. It is called the Paicoma dam. The mammoth project required four years for building, cost $2,500,000, is 375 feet high and 660 feet wide across the top.

"Not frequently, but several times, sir. The first time, although she wouldn't give her name, I put Mr. Borden on the phone, and he told me when he'd hung up as quick as if the receiver burned his ear, that he'd fire me if I ever did it again. After that, the three or four times she called, I mean, I always said my master was out, for I couldn't mistake that voice. Once she changed her voice completely, so that I was fooled. Said she was Miss Gilman, and made her voice sound almost like Miss Gilman's, too. So of course I called Mr. Borden to the phone, but he didn't fire me, under the circumstances, though he bawled me out proper for having let him in for it."

"All right, Ashe. Get along with your story," McMann directed impatiently. "You're sure this was the same woman—I mean, that the woman who slipped in after you'd left the door unlocked was the woman whom Borden wouldn't talk to on the telephone?"

"Yes, sir. Sure of that, sir," the valet nodded emphatically. "As I was saying, I mixed the cocktails, and just as I was shaking them I saw, through the archway between the dining-room and the living-room, a sight that made me turn sick, sir." The valet paused dramatically.

"Well, what was it?" McMann demanded.

"A woman being half dragged, half carried, from the bedroom through the living-room to the foyer," the valet said impressively. "Mr. Borden holding her up by one arm, Mr. Bailey by the other. She looked like she was drunk or asleep, but it wasn't that, which Mr. Bailey wiped off twice as they crossed the living-room. Knocked out, she was, sir."

"What did she look like—hair, eyes, complexion, clothes?" McMann rapped out, thoroughly interested at last.

"I couldn't see so plain at that distance, sir, but I had the idea she was not old and not young, and her eyes were closed, so I couldn't say as to the color of them. She was wearing one of those little eight-fitting hats, but there was some dark hair—black, maybe—against her cheeks. Pretty white, they were, sir, in spite of her rouge. As to clothes I couldn't say, except that she looked like a lady, sir—dressed fine, but quiet, in a lark cloth coat, I believe, with a fur collar, but I couldn't be sure."

"They stopped at the door and I heard Mr. Borden say something to Mr. Bailey, then Mr. Borden held her up while Mr. Bailey came running for some of the brandy I'd just brought from the boot-legger. He spoke pretty rough to me, sir, told me to get into the kitchen and stay there till I was called for. When I came out, Mr. Borden having called me from the dining-room, he was alone. He took two or three drinks, one right after the other, and then Mr. Bailey came back. I gathered he'd taken the poor lady down and put her in a taxi, after she'd been brought to a little with the brandy."

"Any conversation between Bailey and Borden about the woman, that you overheard?" McMann demanded, when the valet paused.

"Yes, sir. While I was pouring out drinks for both of them, Mr. Borden said to Mr. Bailey: 'Jake, that was a rotten thing to do, but honest to God, I thought she was pulling a gun on me when she opened her handbag. And next time it'll BE a gun—if there is any next time.'

"And Mr. Bailey laughed, like he was trying to make Mr. Borden feel better, and said, 'You let Jake take care of HER, Harry, and there won't be any next time. Either that, or give her what she wants.' Mr. Borden slammed his fist down on the sideboard and said, 'I'll be damned if I do!' And then he noticed me and told me to run his bath. And that's all, sir, except that after that, until last Thursday night, Mr. Bailey slept in the apartment, and hardly let Mr. Borden out of his sight."

"Did the woman telephone again?" McMann asked, frowning mightily.

"No, sir. Nor come back either, so far as I know."

"Do you know Mrs. Borden by sight, Ashe?" McMann asked suddenly.

"Yes, sir. Mr. Borden sent me to his wife's home on Christmas Day with presents for the children, and I talked with her then. She sent Mr. Borden a gift, sir, though he hadn't sent anything with her name on it."

"You're sure Mr. Borden's visitor was not Mrs. Borden?"

"Absolutely sure, sir. There's no resemblance at all, sir, except that both the ladies may be about the same age," the valet answered positively.

For half an hour longer the detective quizzed the valet on every possible phase of Borden's life, but beyond the fact that Borden had entertained rather frequently, giving "wild parties" in his apartment, Ashe could tell nothing of importance. From him, however, McMann got the names of three of the dead man's male friends, though Ashe seemed dubious when asked to choose "friends" from among the murdered promoter's host of convivial companions.

"And where is Jake Bailey, Ashe?" McMann concluded his rapid-fire grilling of the valet.

"That I couldn't say, sir. He left Friday night for a bit of vacation, since Mr. Borden was to be away for the week-end. He had given up his room at the hotel, where he was staying, until Christmas Eve, and was staying with Mr. Borden nights, as I've told you. I expect he'll be back tonight, sir, unless he stays away to keep from being questioned. A man don't relish being a witness in a case like this, sir."

"You're right, Ashe, and thanks for coming in," McMann said, extending his hand with sudden heartiness. "Stay on at Borden's apartment for the present and let me know anything at all that develops. The police department will take charge of his mail, of course. Give my men any assistance you can when they go through Borden's apartment tonight. I may be along myself. Of course you know you're not to leave town until this thing is cleared up!"

"Yes, sir," the valet admitted gravely, as he sidled diffidently toward the door.

"Well!" McMann drew a deep breath and flashed a humorous glance at Ruth Lester. "There are enough women in this case to make up a Ziegfeld chorus. It shouldn't be hard to get a line on a woman with a voice like you and Ashe describe. I believe the poor old duffer fell in love with her voice. I thought he was going to bust into poetry. You say she called Borden at 10 o'clock Saturday morning?"

"Yes. Just before he was called, I said that the beautiful contralto called and he said, 'I've just remembered I'd rather listen to a chime,' and he shuddered thought of her fringed him—"

She was interrupted by the sound of a scuffle in the office, and of a body against the containing. A moment later the open and Benny Smith, boy, fighting off the hands of Detective plunger into the private office.

"I wanta see Miss you! Turn me loose, I gotta see Miss Ruth! Gee!" the boy, as Ruth ran toward her, put out his hands as if he were going to faint.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVII

Detective Sergeant McMann betrayed no surprise or pleasure when Frank Ashe, Borden's manservant, made his startling admission, but Ruth Lester leaned forward tensely, one hand trembling against her throat.

"So you think you know who killed Borden, Ashe... Well, who did it?" McMann asked matter-of-factly.

"I don't know her name, sir, but I do know he was in mortal terror of a woman, sir," the valet answered earnestly. ASHE, Borden's manservant, is shown in. He has just said he believes he knows who killed Borden.

three of them—Mr. Borden, Mr. Bailey and the woman—were in Mr. Borden's bedroom with the door closed when I got back. I could hear Mr. Borden's voice and the lady's voice and I knew they were quarreling, but I didn't hear what they said. I didn't want to be mixed up in any trouble, sir, so I went about my business—mixing the cocktails that Mr. Borden had ordered. That was in the pantry, right off the dining-room."

"But you did hear the woman's voice?" McMann interrupted.

"What sort of voice? High, low, harsh, soft?"

The valet hesitated, groping for words, and a faint flush crept up his anemic cheeks. "It's odd, sir, but I did notice her voice particularly, because I recognized it as one I'd heard over the telephone several times. A beautiful voice, sir, sort of—sort of like the deep notes of an organ, if you know what I mean."

Ruth leaned forward, too excited to keep out of it any longer. "A contralto voice, Mr. Ashe—musical, but low pitched?"

"That's it, miss, exactly!" the valet nodded gratefully. "Maybe she telephoned here at his office, too. I take it you were his secretary, miss? He mentioned that he had a little bit of a blond girl for his secretary, but he didn't—didn't say—"

"What a little beauty she is?" McMann helped him out, chuckling. "Yes, Miss Lester was Mr. Borden's secretary, Ashe. You say this mysterious female with the contralto voice telephoned Borden frequently before Christmas Eve?"

McMann sent me to his wife's home on Christmas Day with presents for the children, and I talked with her then. She sent Mr. Borden a gift, sir, though he hadn't sent anything with her name on it."

"You're sure Mr. Borden's visitor was not Mrs. Borden?"

"With Miss Cleo Gilman?" McMann interrupted sharply. "How do you know?"

"I heard him talking with Miss Gilman over the telephone about the party, sir," the valet answered readily. "He had had me call her number, as he frequently did. Miss Gilman was—the man coughed apologetically—"Mr. Borden's lady friend until recently, sir, until he took a fancy to Miss Dubois, the dancer at the Golden Slipper, sir."

"You didn't let much slip past you, did you, Ashe?" McMann inquired. "Well, I'm glad you didn't—what happened on Christmas Eve?"

"Mr. Borden came home about six o'clock to dress for dinner, and Mr. Bailey was with him."

"Jake Bailey?" McMann cut in.

"Yes, sir. Mr. Jake Bailey, Mr. Borden said to me, but I got the idea that Mr. Bailey was a sort of bodyguard to Mr. Borden. I know that Mr. Bailey carried a gun, for I have seen it in his hip pocket when he'd take his coat off to play poker with Mr. Borden late at night sometimes, when Mr. Borden couldn't sleep and wanted company. A nervous sort of man, Mr. Borden was."

"On Christmas Eve the two of them came together, and Mr. Borden told me to mix some cocktails. He wanted erome do mention them, and it happened that the valet, who's on the third floor of our apartment hotel, I hope, sir, you won't use against him—"

"The valet as—"

"And knowing that Mr. Borden, I—the latch—"

"To save the when I—the fall—"

"The other—"
