Texan's Fate Before Supreme Court

Whether Arthur Gooch, Paris, Texas, outlaw, will be the first man executed under the stringent Lindbergh kidnaping law, hinges on the U. S. Supreme Court's interpretation of his case, set for formal arguments in Washington Jan. 13. Gooch is shown, right, in his most recent picture as he left the Muskogee jail for death row in the Oklahoma state penitentiary. Shown accompany him is Detective Ben Belton, since killed by fugitive bank robbers. Gooch is appealing from his conviction for abducting an officer who attempted to arrest him in Paris. Defense attorneys contend Gooch's offense is not covered by the Lindbergh law.

ALLRED ENDS FIRST YEAR AS GOVERNOR

By United Press
AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—Gov. James Allred completes the first year of his term today. Two worries interfered with enjoyment of the day. He hunted a cure for hay fever and pondered the need of a third special session of the legislature.

Otherwise he was in good spirits for congratulations.

In a year he had seen many of his measures triumph. Most of those he opposed were defeated.

On the favorable side of his year's work he entered:
Creation of the State Department of Safety and a drive by it against big-time gamblers.
Defeat of a sales tax, which he calls a "tax on poverty."
Enactment of an old age assistance law.
Enactment of a chain store tax (its validity is now being tested).
Entries on the other side of the ledger were:
Failure to elect his choice for speaker of the house.
Defeat of his proposed public utility commission bill.
Defeat for a publicly owned Panhandle-Detroit gas pipeline.
An increased deficit in the state treasury.

Roosevelt Scored By House Member

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Rep. Charles Eaton, Rep., N. J., shouted a charge on the house floor today that President Roosevelt scrapped the democratic platform of 1932 for new deal legislation.

Eaton made a blistering attack on the Roosevelt administration especially in regard to spending. The government, he said, is spending $2 for every $1 in revenues.

He termed Postmaster General James A. Farley the whitest political lily ever nurtured in the Tammany tradition since Boss Tweed went to jail.

Clearer Definition of Range of Pay Sought in Staff Community Is Sought In Drilling of Section's Third Well

Seeking to determine a clearer definition of the sand from which pay was produced at the 1,451 foot stratum by the pool opener near Staff recently, Ray T. Hoff's No. 1 P. G. Wright was being drilled at below 600 feet Tuesday.

The new pool opener was drilled on the White lease, lot 42, leagues 3 and 4, McLennan County school lands, and the railroad commission's proration umpire for this district determined it had a potential production of 159 barrels per 24 hours. It was reported as flowing satisfactorily by heads.

The No. 1 Wright is in Lot 49, leagues 3 and 4, McLennan County school lands. It marks the third operation of Hoff in the Staff section. First well was the No. 1 E. Roper and H. L. Taylor, lot 39, leagues 3 and 4, McLennan County school lands. It was drilled to 1,500 feet and later abandoned as a failure.

Hoff of Comanche and associates have 650 acres in the Staff section.

Since the wells are drilled with a spudder at what are considered low depths with the resulting comparative low cost, oil men point to showing of the Staff activity as the brightest in this section for a long period.

HAUPTMANN TO APPEAL TO FEDERAL JUDGE

By United Press
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 14.—Bruno Hauptmann's lawyers today laid plans to appeal directly to a judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in one of their last efforts to save him from execution Friday night.

To J. Warren Davis, a judge of the third circuit court, they planned to present an application for a writ of habeas corpus charging Hauptmann's constitutional rights had been violated in his trial at Flemington for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

The application to be presented to Davis in his office here will be signed by Hauptmann himself.

With time growing short the condemned man's attorneys decided to skip the federal district court.

Refusal by Judge Davis to issue the writ will leave an application to a United States Supreme Court Justice as virtually the only remaining legal maneuver available to the Hauptmann defense.

Governor Harold Hoffman said today that he did not know whether or not he would issue a 30-day reprieve to give the doomed man's attorneys a chance to uncover further evidence.

Discrimination Is Charged In Suit

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The government today charged the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company with a price discrimination with Sears, Roebuck & Co. in tire sales.

The government contended in final arguments that the Goodyear company charged with violation of the Clayton anti-trust act, in reality sustained a net loss of more than $14,000,000 on its Sears business. Company attorneys asserted Goodyear made $9,505,000 profit.

Varied Activities, Resources of District May Present Problem on Exhibit Plans

What will counties and cities of District No. 5 of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce favor as depictions of their activities and industries in the Centennial exhibit this year?

Milburn McCarty, district 5 director, and H. C. Davis, district secretary, pondered this question Tuesday as plans were made for the meeting in Eastland at 2 p. m. Wednesday when 22 representatives of towns affiliated with the WTCC in this district will meet to discuss the exhibit.

"Perhaps," said Davis, also secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, "Eastland County will want to tell of its past history as one of the world's greatest oil fields. And Eastland county, too, will perhaps wish to express to Centennial visitors that it has been called the 'Egg Basket of Texas.'"

"Abilene's colleges, Jones county's high cotton production, Stamford as the headquarters of the world's largest regional chamber, Colorado and its new refineries—these towns and counties will want those industries and honors impressed upon Centennial visitors.

"Ray H. Nichols, president, and D. A. Bandoen, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be at Eastland to aid representatives of the towns in their selection of industries and activities which they want depicted in the space allotted by the regional chamber.

"I haven't contacted the Centennial Board for Eastland County, but I am sure they have given some thought on what Eastland county wants in their exhibit space."

"Cisco's dam and Ranger, 'City of Flowing Gold' are not to be forgotten either."

Centennial Body Urged to Attend Exhibit Plan Meet

Ranger and Eastland members of the Eastland County Centennial Board are expected to attend the District No. 5 West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday afternoon at Eastland when the division's exhibit at the Centennial in Dallas will be planned. Ray H. Nichols, president, Vernon, and D. A. Bandoen, general manager, Stamford, of the regional chamber will attend the meeting, Milburn McCarty, district director, has announced. Representatives of 22 towns affiliated with the WTCC are expected.

Centennial board members of Ranger are W. H. Mayes, Jr., Mrs. M. H. Hagaman. Eastland members are Mrs. C. C. Robey, Mrs. W. K. Jackson and N. N. Rosenquest.

The Eastland group are urging members of civic clubs also to attend the meeting.

CISCO DEALERS SEEK HEARING ON 3.2 PERMIT

Privilege of Political Subdivision Arises Arguments Heard.

Promising a decision Wednesday on whether a writ of mandamus compelling County Judge Clyde L. Garrett to hear the application of C. E. and W. H. Mayhew of Cisco for a license to retail beer, 91st District Court Judge George L. Davenport took under consideration arguments presented by the relators and respondents Tuesday morning.

Petition of the relators was filed Monday afternoon. Commissioners court had on the same day canvassed and declared results of the county-wide beer election of Jan. 3 as showing 1,235 votes against legalization of the sale and 1,038 in favor.

Argument of the relators was presented by F. D. Wright and Don Traynor of Cisco while Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen appeared in behalf of the respondent.

Arguments revolved on the right of political subdivisions to prohibit or legalize the sale of beer in keeping with privileges of a county.

Attorneys for the Cisco beer retailers referred the court to a decision of a higher court last year in which it was reportedly held that under the 44th legislature laws were passed that the sale of beer could continue in justice of peace precincts whose voters had legalized the sale under provision of laws passed by the preceding legislature.

The county judge, as respondent, stated Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen, is bound by the supreme court's holding in November that a wet area can not legally exist in a county that was dry under local option laws prior to prohibition.

Necessity for the Jan. 3 election arose because of that holding, it was stated at the time when a petition was received for the voting by the commissioner's court.

The retailers set out in their petition that voters of Justice Precinct 6, which is in Cisco, legalized the sale of beer in 1933.

Question arose in proceedings Tuesday whether the supreme court had taken into consideration that decision of the higher court which attorneys for the relators referred to in which it was purportedly held sale of beer could continue where justice precincts voters legalized the sale in elections under provisions of laws passed by the 43rd legislature.

BONUS BILL IS VOTED BY A SENATE GROUP

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The compromise soldier bonus bill providing payment in bonds which could be cashed immediately or held as an investment, was speeded toward senate enactment today when the finance committee voted to report it favorably. The vote was 15 to 2.

By a unanimous vote the senate committee decided to substitute the measure of Pat Harrison, Dem., Miss., for the "united front" measure passed overwhelmingly by the house last week. The house bill provided for immediate cash payment but did not provide means of raising the money.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, appeared before the committee at which the action was taken.

Morgenthau would not reveal what he had told the committee. Chairman Harrison likewise refused to make public the secretary's views.

Asked if Morgenthau had said that the bill would call for increased taxes, Harrison replied: "In my opinion it won't."

The bill may be passed by the senate before the end of the week. Indications were that it would receive a favorable reception in the house.

Veterans' organizations which united in support of the house bill indicated they approved the compromise senate measure.

From other sources it was learned Morgenthau told the committee the matter of new taxes was "up to congress."

The secretary took no definite position for or against the bill, saying it was a legislative matter in which he did not desire to express an opinion, it was understood.

Nice Modern Warships Too Costly To Fight

If the gentlemen who are inhaling the London fogs at the current naval conference really want to do something for their respective countries, they might try to find some way of making warships less expensive.

A modern warship is just about the most costly contraption, pound for pound, that man has ever invented. Indeed, it is so very costly that admirals don't dare to risk it by doing any actual fighting with it.

For illustrations look at the record in the World War. When this war began, Great Britain had the mightiest fleet ever built. As the war went on she added to it, so that at the end it was ever so much larger and more powerful than at the beginning.

Yet from first to last the guiding thought of her naval strategists seemed to be that these marvellous ships were so extremely costly, and took so long to build, that they must not under any circumstances be risked in actual combat if it could be avoided.

The first example of this timorousness came at the Dardanelles. The British admiral Sir Roger Keyes is authority for the statement that the straits could have been forced by the British fleet if the British admiralty had not been afraid of losses.

An effort was made, only to be abandoned when Turkish mines sank three old battleships; and it is noteworthy that at the moment the fight was given up the Turks had resigned themselves to utter defeat.

The next example came at Jutland. Jellicoe interposed the British fleet between the German fleet and Germany, and could have wiped out the foe vessels in toto; but he held off for fear of torpedoes, the German fleet got away—and the war dragged on for two more bloody years.

A few weeks after Jutland, opportunity knocked once more, and the story was repeated. Again a bit of daring would have brought overwhelming victory, and again a safety first policy prevailed.

Here, as Admiral Keyes points out, were three occasions on which the British fleet could have forced a speedy ending to the war. Each opportunity was missed; not because the British admirals were cowardly or incompetent, but simply because the weight of those hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of cunningly fabricated metal was too much for them.

In the old days of wooden ships admirals were less cautious. A Nelson could lose four or five ships without putting a dent in the national budget; a Jellicoe could not.

If the conferees at London want to enable their respective countries to get real value for their naval expenditures, they might find some way of making warships cheaper. As it is now, they are too expensive to be used.

In its drive to electrify farm areas, the government might try stopping AAA checks.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON—There are several possible enouements on the especially tense European crisis—and don't let anyone tell you your guess isn't practically as good as the next fellow's. One outstanding possibility which has become much likelier in the last month, however, is collapse of the League of Nations. Although it did appear for a while that the league had been greatly strengthened by its unexpectedly firm attitude toward the aggressor Italy—an appearance to which Britain contributed much substance—there is now a distinct chance that the western European powers may agree to ditch the league and form an old-fashioned imperialistic alliance. The object, sought earnestly in certain European capitals, would be a four-power pact entered into by England, France, Germany, and Italy. Objective of this pact would be preservation of the status quo—and of peace—for England and France and simultaneous realization of the arm German and Italian ambitions for expansion. Soviet Russia and Ethiopia would be the goats. TERMS of the ill-fated Hoare-Laval peace plan demonstrated that neither the British nor the French government is afflicted with sentimental regard for the league and its principles or its assurances of protection for small nations. If the plan had been adopted, the

Connally Urges Export Debenture To Aid Farmers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Senator Tom Connally has revived the export debenture farm relief plan as a substitute for farm relief legislation in view of the decision of the Supreme Court holding unconstitutional the Agricultural Adjustment Act. His plan is not exclusive but may possibly be linked with other farm legislation in order to make a complete program. A bill embodying the export debenture will be introduced in the Senate by Senator Connally this week. The export debenture for farm products is based upon the same principle as the protective tariff except that it is made applicable to exports rather than imports. Since the farmer must pay a tariff on manufactured goods and must sell his exportable surplus in a world free market, it is the Senator's theory that on the exportable surplus of farm products the farmer should receive compensating benefits in order to lift the price of farm commodities to a fair level with manufactured and industrial goods. The bill provides that the Treasury shall issue Treasury certificates for cotton, wheat, and other farm products which may be exported. Such certificates are redeemable by the Treasury and are negotiable and may be used for the payment of duties on imports. The amount of the certificate on each pound of cotton or bushel of wheat will be fixed with a view to giving the farmer an increase of his price. By thus lifting the export price of such commodities the price in

Rail Accidents Fatal to 4,652

WASHINGTON.—The average railroad passenger in 1934 could count on riding the equivalent of 26,725 times around the world without meeting accidental death, the Interstate Commerce Commission reported today. It advised that 27 train passengers were killed accidentally or an average of one per cent 668,076, 03% miles traveled. persons were injured compared with 16,472 in 1933. Grade crossing accidents took a slightly larger toll than in 1933, but 38.36 per cent less than in 1929. The total of grade crossing accidents was 3,728, resulting in death of 1,554 persons and injury of 4,300. Automobiles were involved in 3,317 of these accidents, 1,320 persons being killed and 4,099 injured. Such accidents caused derailment of 49 trains, resulting in the death of 47 persons and injury to 57. Elimination of highway grade crossings is steadily underway, the commission reported. In 1934, 2,109 such crossings were eliminated but 999 were added, a net decrease of 1,110 for a total of 234,820. In 1933, 2,029 crossings were eliminated, 788 added for a net decrease of 1,241. Net decreases were shown in each of the past four years, reversing a steady trend of increases in years prior to that. "The number of deaths and injuries resulting from grade crossing accidents," said, "is excessive in view of the material reduction in the number of crossings. The commission is confident that the elimination of grade crossings will result in a further reduction in the number of deaths and injuries resulting from such accidents." FORD CENT CHASE here. Child-Actor Who Inspired Tears In Jolson's "Sonny Boy" Making Appearance At Local Theatre

The child actor, Billie Vallie, better known to theatre fans as Sonny Boy, due to his work with Al Jolson in "Mammy," will appear in person on the Connellee Theatre stage this afternoon and tonight.

On his return trip to Hollywood after making a personal appearance tour in the east, Billie selected Eastland as one of the cities in which he will stop.

A veteran troupier although he is barely nine years of age, he will sing and dance and give impressions of many Hollywood stars and will tell how he broke into the movies.

In addition to "Mammy" Billie has appeared in many other films including "Sunshine Up" with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, "Bishop Murder Case," with Leila Hyams, "Harmony at Home," with J. Farrell McDonald and has also appeared in many Our Gang Comedies.

During his stay in Chicago during the World's Fair the youth was crowned "King for a Day" and was a guest of Admiral Balboa and many other notables including Floyd Gibbons and Ralph De Palma.

Billie will make two stage appearances at the Connellee, one in the afternoon at 4 p. m., and one tonight at 9 o'clock. Immediately after each of these appearances he will be in the lobby to meet fans.

The curriculum offers principles of sociology, ethics and problems of industry; ethics of the individual, family and state; social and political movements on American history; theories of human knowledge; religion in the modern world; special studies in religion; modern systems of education; public speaking; modern aspects of literature and natural theology.

In addition, the course is supplemented by lectures on current American problems, such as criminology, social legislation, banking, labor unions, community problems, the youth problem and international affairs.

Students of All Ages The "student body" itself offers an interesting picture of how much interest the "school" has aroused. Ages of students range from 18 to 70 years, with the average between 30 to 35 years.

There are traffic managers, clerks, teachers, paperhangers, machinists, librarians, housewives, engineers, architects, physicians, labor union men, textile workers, stenographers—a "surprising number" of these—and even a payroll clerk. A faculty of 38 forms the teaching staff of this unusual experimental school. The only cost of the course is a $1 registration fee.

Explaining the purpose of the classes, Father McKeon said: "All current courses are intended for the important task of adult education whereby men and women may receive sound education in social principles."

That the "school" idea will spread seems to be a certainty. Already Father McKeon has received scores of letters from every section of the country asking for information or praising the idea. "The questions are," Father McKeon said, "are Americans ignorant of the true facts and principles of Communism? Are Americans too confident that their liberties will be preserved? Is there a sound program of social order promoting the common good?"

School Is Opened In Order To Guard Tradition Of U. S.

By WILLIAM KERR United Press Staff Correspondent PHILADELPHIA.—A "School Against Communism," believed to be the first of its kind in the United States, has been opened by the Jesuit Order at St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia.

Already more than 1,100 "students" from all walks of life have enrolled. It is the hope of the founders of the institution that the idea will spread from coast to coast.

"We see the danger of Communism," the Rev. Richard M. McKeon, S.J., A.M., dean of the college, said in explaining why the classes were inaugurated. "Why don't the others wake up?"

Understand, we are not what you would call merely 'anti-Communist.' Rather, say we are pro-traditional American and we feel that Communism is a menace to government and should be stamped out."

School Speedily Advanced The school opened in December and grew out of a meeting of Jesuit Fathers in October. At that gathering, the subject of Communism and the inroads it is making in this country came up.

Father McKeon happened to chance the question—"wouldn't it be nice if we had a school to teach people the real dangers of the movement?"

The Very Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S.J., Ph.D., president of St. Joseph's College, agreed that it would. The plan was worked out and a tentative schedule drawn up.

Ford Company to Have An Exhibit At Centennial

DALLAS, Jan. 9.—The Ford Motor Company will enter the Texas Centennial Exposition when it opens here in June with a building and exhibit investment of $2,250,000. Announcement of the Ford Exposition program was made from Dearborn, Mich., after a conference between Henry Ford, Edsel Ford, Nathan Adams, chairman of the exposition directorate, and Paul M. Massmann, director of exposition exhibits.

Plans for a $1,200,000 Ford building for the exposition have been drawn by Albert Kahn, New York architect.

Work is to start on or before Feb. 15, with completion date set for May 1. The structure will be of steel and concrete, with wide patios and exhibition spaces. It will include an amphitheatre for a series of elaborate musical and entertainment programs which the Ford company will present during the progress of the exposition.

A feature of the Ford plans will be "Roads of the Southwest." This will consist of a series of replicas of historic southwestern roads and trails which will be constructed around an ornamental lagoon near the Ford building. Each section of historic road will be appropriately landscaped and Ford cars will carry exposition visitors across the trails with the compliments of the company.

The Ford exhibit will feature a display of raw materials used in the manufacture of their cars including cotton, mohair, wool, hides, soy beans, resin and rice. The exhibit will be the largest on the grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition, the building occupying 55,000 square feet.

Yeggs Had Contempt For a Burglar Alarm

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—Thieves stole a part of D. F. Kelly's gasoline station burglar alarm.

Kelly rigged up a system involving a water-filled garden hose laid in a square just beneath the surface of the station's drive. Compression on the hose sends a plunger into a mercury switch that rings the bell.

Somebody dug up the hose and stole it.

Mexico Planning New Hospitality

SAN ANTONIO.—Stirring activity on the other side of the Rio Grande is going on now with Mexico completing plans for hospitality when Texas Centennial visitors start pouring into the country, according to Thomas Sinclair Gore, president of one of Mexico's leading hotels.

Completion of the Pan-American highway was given by Gore as one of the reasons why Mexico is going ahead with plans.

Gore has just completed a two-month tour of the United States and indicates that Texas and Mexico may expect a wealth of "company" during the celebrations next year.
