He was opposed by Robert Taft, son of the late President William Howard Taft, who had the support of the senate republican organization. FORT WORTH, May 12.—Halle Selassie isn't worth $50 a week, beard and all, in the estimation of Billy Rose, Broadway producer in charge of the Frontier Celebration. "A dethroned monarch is a dime-a-dozen. He's like yesterday's newspaper. I wouldn't give Selassie $50 a week," Rose said today.

ITALY LEAVES LEAGUE MEET WITH THREATS

GENEVA, May 12.—Premier Mussolini today withdrew his delegation from Geneva and warned the league it must consider the Ethiopian-Italian conflict a closed issue if it wants Italy's co-operation in Europe. At the same time Chile appeared as an ally of Italy when the chief of the Chilean delegation demanded the lifting of League sanctions against Italy.

Immediately after receiving Mussolini's orders, members of the Italian delegation packed their bags preparatory to boarding an afternoon train for Rome. League circles speculated as to whether the Italian departure is intended to represent a final warning to the League that Italy henceforth will not tolerate intervention in Ethiopia.

It was understood that when Baron Pompeo Aloisi's departure from yesterday's private council meet failed to impress other delegates, Mussolini decided to show his determination to settle the Ethiopian problem without League interference.

ROBINSON CONFESSES TO TORTURING MRS. STOLL IN STATEMENT TO HIS CAPTORS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Thomas Robinson, Jr., admitted after his capture in California, it was learned today, that he subjected Mrs. Alice Stoll to merciless violence while he held her captive. This admission, under the new federal kidnaping law, makes Robinson eligible for the death sentence. Department of Justice head, J. Edgar Hoover, quoted Robinson, also, as saying: "I paid plenty for protection."

This evidently was an indication that the ransom money had been largely dissipated in Robinson's flight from the law. It also carried the inference that perhaps Robinson had been, in some manner, connected with the underworld, despite the belief that he was a "lone wolf."

However, Hoover flatly denied a report that a tip from Alvin Karpis had led to the capture of Robinson. California Department of Justice agents advised Hoover that under questioning Robinson told them he was forced to use a lead pipe to beat Mrs. Stoll into submission, according to the confession as transmitted to Hoover. Robinson said he was forced to beat his victim to make her obey his commands. Under the federal kidnaping statutes the death penalty is provided where victims are physically harmed during captivity. GLENDALE, Calif., May 12.—Thomas Robinson, Jr., accused kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll, was seized in a "love nest" he was occupying with a pretty young woman. While refusing to release all details of the capture here, agents admitted a woman was with Robinson when they forced their way into a house where he was hiding. The woman was not held and agents said information indicated she played no part in the abduction and had joined Robinson later, coming here from the coast.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12.—Thomas Robinson, Jr., kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll, stepped from a big TWA Douglas airliner today into the hands of G-Men who have been searching for him for 19 months. The government agents accompanying Robinson were met by six other agents at the airport. As Robinson hurried down the lane formed by G-Men and photographers, he lowered his smirking face. He wore a blue hat and a brown suit. A crowd of 200 had gathered at the airport.

Laugh This Off! Sheriff Drinks With Desperado

Sheriff James O'Reilly of Lucas county, Ohio, is having a big laugh here—at his own expense. The sheriff has revealed that he drank beer in Toledo with Harry Karpis gang suspects arrested, under the impression that Campbell was "Bob Miller." A picture of Campbell as "wanted" has been posted in the county jail for months. The sheriff says he won't resign.

The route is in accordance with the "trade territory" bus routing system of the county school board.

Gov. Alfred Urged Pardon Power Be Vested In Board

AMARILLO, May 12.—Gov. James Alfred told the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce today that he would like to see the pardoning power taken out of the governor's hands. "Administration of this power by a state pardoning board would make for more uniform handling of convict cases. It would be fairer to the convict and to society. Moreover, it would enable the governor to turn his attention to other matters," he predicted. He added his belief that "the changing ideas of changing governors should not be made a standard for the respectability of a criminal after he has paid his debt to society."

Corporate Surplus Tax Revisions Are Given Approval

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The new deal today gave its blessing to senate finance committee revision of the controversial corporate surplus tax proposal of the new $803,000,000 tax bill. Changes in the corporate proposal were urged directly by Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC. At the same time word came from the white house that revision of the measure would be acceptable so long as its yield was maintained and the underlying principle of distribution of corporate surpluses as taxable dividends was continued.

WELL NORTH OF CISCO IS ALSO A HUGE GASSER

Gas Production Is Placed At 25,000,000 Cubic Feet By Company.

The Lone Star Gas company's well on the R. W. Brooks lease, north of Cisco, was today reported to be making an estimated 3,000 barrels of oil and 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, according to officials of the company. The well was drilled in at 3,512 feet in the Caddo lime, about 12 miles due north of the Lake Cisco dam in the southwestern portion of Stephens county, in territory where the Lone Star Gas company already has a producing well "almost within a stone's throw."

Much interest was being created among oil men throughout this section of the country Tuesday when the reports of the well were heard. The well was drilled by Gallagher and Lawson, drilling contractors, under the supervision of P. W. Sutherland, superintendent of the drilling department of the Lone Star Gas company, from Dallas, and H. C. Kelly, district drilling superintendent of the company. Work was reported to be progressing nicely on the deeping of the well on the Taylor tract, west of Ranger, which is being deepened with the hopes that it might be brought back into paying production.

Don't Hate Mussolini For African Victory

Unless all signs fail, Haile Selassie's number is up. The Italians seem to be mopping up faster than anyone expected, and the Lion of Judah is just about due to go the way of Abd el Krim and Siting Bull and all the other barbaric chieftains who got in the way of ambitious white men.

Ethiopia is a long way off, and the death of men in its muddy valleys has made little impression on our emotions. We read the dispatches, struggled with unpronounceable names, feel a little flare-up of sympathy for the frail, strangely degenerated monarch of the doomed empire, and then turned our attention to baseball, the presidential campaign, or some other domestic concern.

It isn't a pretty spectacle. No one can enjoy watching a husky bully move in on a weakling to possess himself of the weakling's goods and chattels. But it is an old, old story and we ourselves have contributed several chapters to the writing of it.

Mussolini's assault on Haile Selassie has all the earmarks of a New York or Chicago gang sending its muscle men in on a rival's territory; it is as direct, as unarmored and as ugly as that.

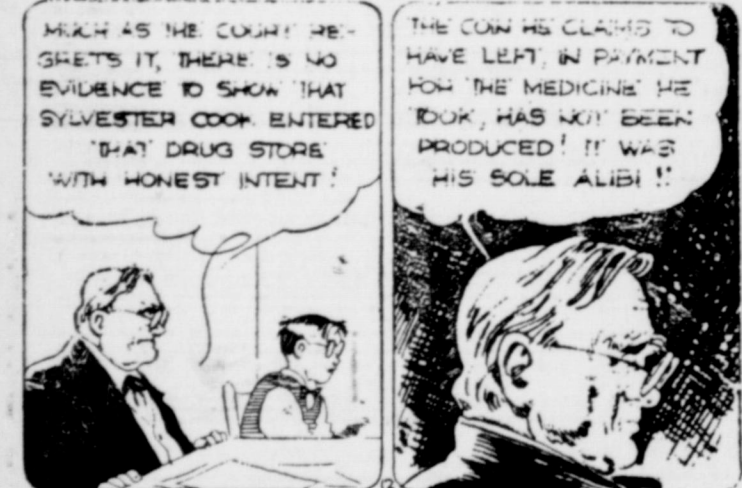

Granted. But we delude ourselves mightily if we blame it all on the rapacity and greed of Mussolini himself. Every great nation has done the same sort of thing. It is war itself that is ugly.

A disinterested observer back in the 1840's might have seen our own war with Mexico in precisely the same light. Certainly, our ruthless obliteration of the western Indian nations would have looked no better. And the English conquest of South Africa, the French seizure of the Sabara, and the maneuvers by which the Dutch flag rose over Java are cut out of the same cloth.

What it comes down to is that we have no cause to work up a lather of moral indignation over what is happening to the emperor of Ethiopia. We live by a system which drives stronger nations out to conquer the weak. We are today reaping the profits of that system. Can we afford to adopt a holier-than-thou attitude toward Italy?

If the conquest of Ethiopia disturbs you, with its dark implication that might does make right, after all, in this modern world, your cue is to hate—not Italy, not Mussolini but war itself, and the world system which enables nations to profit by war.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON—Some heed finally has been paid to frequent complaints that it has become relatively unsafe to go to sea or up in the air under the administration of shipping and aviation by Secretary of Commerce Dan Roper.

Legislation providing for 17 new supervising inspectors and traveling inspectors for the Bureau of Navigation and Steamship Inspection has been so revamped that these officials will be under civil service. They will have to pass examinations to show that they're qualified.

The Commerce Department has insisted that the jobs be exempted from civil service. The only apparent reason for that was that the salaries involved ran up to $5000 and $6000, which comes in the class of desirable political patronage.

Without the protection of civil service, it would have been easy later to fire any of the 17 officials in case they became "too severe" in enforcing safety regulations.

(CREDIT for covering the 17 jobs under civil service goes to the Senate, which ordinarily is eager to reserve such plums for political uses. And also, it is reported, to the White House, which is said to have decided the men should be appointed on a merit basis for the benefit of the sea-going public.

This slight change for the better, however, probably will do little toward cleaning up the mess for which Roper's critics hold him largely responsible.

The delegation of 75 seamen which recently waited on Roper after his attempt to have sailors

Padre Island Park Development May Open Wonderland

CORPUS CHRISTI.—Plans for the development of Padre Island, which extends down the Texas gulf coast line from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, as a park form a Centennial year project which will give Texas one of the most unusual parks in the world.

The island park will give the Lone Star State a great natural playground on the Gulf of Mexico and also will be one of the greatest scenic attractions of the state for tourists and visitors.

Plans for the development are far advanced and are being promoted through the interest and cooperation of the entire South Texas territory. It is proposed to construct causeways at each end of the island and to develop a scenic highway along its length which would allow the motorist to travel for approximately 150 miles along the surging surf of the Gulf of Mexico.

Q. Where were the first Spanish missions established in East Texas?—O. B. H. Cuero.

A. Mission San Francisco de la Tejas was built in the spring of 1690 by Father Damian Massane and associates about 10 miles west of the Neches and northeast of the present town of Crockett, and Santa Maria, on the Neches a few miles distant, was constructed a few months later. A. Fort Croghan, established in 1819, was in Burnet county of Hamilton creek, six miles from its mouth. Robert E. Lee, George F. McLellan and John B. Hood were stationed there before the Civil War.

"Texas Empire Builders of '36" Every man, woman and child in Texas should know the principal events of this momentous period of Texas history (March 1 to April 21, 1836)—events which changed the shape and the destiny of the United States.

The facts essential to this understanding are briefly set forth in a 32-page booklet entitled "Texas Empire Builders of '36" telling of the struggle which all Texans, native and adopted, are celebrating in 1896.

The booklet will be mailed postpaid for 10 cents. Send all orders to Will Hayes, Austin, Texas.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
LINDA BOURNE, 29 years old, pretty, is left almost penniless by the sudden death of her father. PETER GARDNER, newspaper reporter, helps her get a job writing society news. Linda is in love with DIX CARTER, but he goes abroad to study singing. When Peter asks Linda to marry him she agrees, but postpones the wedding.

HONEY HARMON, film star, comes to Newtown, making a "personal appearance" tour. She buys a scenario written by Linda. Later Linda goes to Hollywood and, by expressing ideas that are really Peter's, acquires a reputation for being able to discover new stars. Soon she is a celebrity.

Dix Carter comes to Hollywood to marry Linda. An actor, Linda tries to help him. To please Dix she invites HARRY THORNE, director, to her home, although she dislikes and distrusts Thorne.

Peter Gardner writes a successful play and later comes to Hollywood. Linda spends an afternoon with him. He tells her Dix is using her as a stepping stone to success and Linda becomes furiously angry.

with another girl and she would lose her head and give her heart over to torture. Linda had never experienced that feeling, but she was woman enough to anticipate it with all its devastating pain.

It took Linda less than a minute to go to pieces, thinking of it. When Dix arrived he found her hands cold, her eyes dark and shadowed.

"What's the matter with my little girl?" he asked, folding her in his arms.

Linda didn't try to be gay. Her eyes searched his face, expecting to find she knew not what. It was the same face with the same laughing eyes, the same easy smile, the same impatient eyebrows.

She laughed nervously. "I'm tired, darling, and in a talkative mood. I want to play Questions and Answers. Would you like to?"

"Anything you want to do is always all right with me," he answered, dropping to the sofa.

She lit a cigaret for him. "You shouldn't smoke. Think of your voice! And is there anything new about the voice?"

"Yes, I dropped in to see Thorne today. Thought I might have some trouble getting in, but he remembered my name and asked me in. Nice fellow. He's going to make a sequence of his last picture over, and he might give me a chance to do two songs."

"But that's wonderful! Dix, darling, when he sees the rushes you'll be made and I . . ." Linda didn't finish her sentence; she was about to say that her work would be done. She sighed with sheer relief. The last day that she had to see Thorne could not come too soon. She was afraid of him. Afraid that he would make an overt gesture, and she would not know how to handle him.

Dix captured her hand. Her other stroked his hair. "What are the questions and answers?" he asked.

Linda was glad that he asked that. It made it easier for her to begin. Nonetheless, she wondered if her voice was as bright and gay as she meant it to be when she answered.

"I'll ask the questions, and you supply the answers. Do you love me?"

"Certainly. Next?"

"Do you think you always will?"

Dix laughed. "Don't you read the movie titles, woman? Don't you know that no one knows the answer to how long he will love?"

"How much do you love me?" Linda persisted.

"Linda, you sound like a character out of a children's book. Am I supposed to spread my hands 'so high' or something like that? Or would you like me to fall on one

CHAPTER XVIII

THE things Linda couldn't think of to say to Pete Gardner she remembered when she was dressing for Dix that night. Brushing her hair with swift, angry strokes, she finished Pete forever and found her eyes sparkling and her cheeks flushed. Dressed in scarlet satin pajamas, she marched up and down the small area of her living room, darting quick glances at the clock until she laughed in pure amusement. She had been going to vent her anger on Dix!

Dix had always the power to change her mood. She couldn't be mad or angry when she was with him. She couldn't be independent or herself. It was disquieting to think she couldn't be herself, that she was always playing being gay, happy, helpful. Thinking again of Pete's words, her anger rose in Dix's defense. It wasn't because Dix was weak. It was only that Dix was supposed to live up to. She felt the strain of the situation—a strain that is almost unavoidable when courtship is delicately balanced on the wires of two careers.

Courtship was an old-fashioned idea. Linda thought, and wondered what new word there was for it. Courtship was a lovely word for never-to-be-repeated days before marriage.

Waiting for Dix, Linda found herself thinking of marriage. That she was going to marry Dix, she did not doubt. He had once asked her to wait for him. Waiting for what? Then he had come back and told her that he loved her. When a man loved a woman he wanted to marry her, didn't he?

Linda wondered, and suddenly she had to know. She could not go on for years waiting for Dix, knowing that the day would come when she would begin to dread losing him, the day when she would hear that he had been out

PLANT EATS HAMBURGER

SALT LAKE CITY—A local restaurant manager feeds his two plants a monthly ration of raw hamburger, slightly seasoned with paprika. They are daintions, carnivorous plants which live on insects and meat.

Ford Exposition to Show How Southwest's Products Are Employed in Manufacture of Modern Motor Car

The opening in Dallas June 6 of the great Ford Exposition will show to the Southwest how its own products make the Ford, the Lincoln and the Lincoln-Zephyr automobiles possible. This unusual photograph well pictures the vast proportions of the Ford Exposition building, in which will be housed an exhibition showing how importantly Southwestern raw materials enter into the making of modern cars.

The huge Ford Exposition building, erected especially for the Centennial Exposition in Dallas, Texas, opening June 6, will be devoted largely to showing how importantly enter into the manufacture of Ford V-8, Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars.

Forty-three thousand of a total of 55,000 square feet in the great air-conditioned structure will house an interesting group of manufacturing and testing exhibits, a pageant of transportation, dioramas showing the use of raw materials in the Ford plants, and an exhibit of the Henry Ford trade school at Dearborn, Michigan.

Displays carrying out the principal theme of the Ford Exposition show how such Southwestern products as cotton, mohair, wool, corn, cattle, soy beans, resin and rice are employed in the making of Ford and Ford-sponsored automobiles.

Five hundred and fifty-eight thousand acres, producing 160 pounds to the acre, raise the cotton used in each one million Ford units. A working exhibit at the Ford Exposition will show how cushion tops for Ford V-8's are stitched at the average rate of one every five seconds—consuming annually more than 57,000,000 pounds of cotton. How some of the millions of pounds of cotton used by the Ford Company is processed in its final stage at the factory will be shown in the demonstration of the machine known as the "multiplier."

Used in making seat cushion tops and backs, the multiplier can sew at one time as many pleats as desired. In producing Ford V-8 cushions, eight pleats are made simultaneously. At the same time, cotton batting is fed into the machine, sewed into place, and the cushion cover is sewed to the cotton sheeting. The machine in regular production makes 24,000 stitches a minute and turns out 12 to 14 cushion tops every sixty seconds. This machine is but one example of how Southern agriculture contributes to the automobile industry.

With the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company exhibit in the Ford Exposition building showing another important use of cotton, the making of fabric for tires, it further revealed that for one million Ford units, 25,000,000 pounds of cotton are required. It has been estimated that in production of Ford units this year, approximately 116,000,000 pounds of cotton will be used.

Electrically driven, the new regulation will not need the slightest touch. It is so sensitive that an earth movement two or three thousand miles away will cause slight variation in its accuracy.

Valley-Wide Dairy, Poultry School Is Held At Mercedes

By United Press

MERCEDES, Tex.—The first annual Valley-wide dairy and poultry school was conducted here under the sponsorship of the Mercedes Chamber of Commerce and County Agricultural Agent R. G. Burwell, with 2,000 to 3,000 farmers attending.

The school was arranged as a means of educating farmers of the Valley to possibilities of farm profits in dairying and poultry raising.

The school precedes the opening of the Cudaby Packing Company's $20,000 dairy products plants in Mercedes by only a few days and is designed to better acquaint farmers with the better breeds of cattle and poultry and improved methods of raising and feeding the animals and fowls.

Attendants at the school will be welcomed by L. F. Boling, manager of the Mercedes Chamber of Commerce, and County Agent Burwell will explain the objects of the school.

FAMED DRAMA OF GREAT LOVE NOW IN FILMS A dramatic story, rich in its sympathies, eloquent in its unusual photography and dealing with the fundamental story of a girl who has erred and her right to love again, "Way Down East," is now at the Connellee Theatre, with Henry Fonda and Rochelle Hudson co-starred in the leading roles.

Derived from the play whose force and appeal have made it America's greatest melodrama for more than forty years, the picture tells the story of two who fought bigotry and hatred for the right to love.

The locale of "Way Down East" is the New England of the 1890's. Its principals are Russel Simpson, who acts a stern, principled squire and his sensitive dreamy son, Henry Fonda, and the girl, Rochelle Hudson.

Miss Hudson secures work in Simpson's household, but tells nothing of her past. Through the seasons, the barn dances, skating parties and various other festivities of the New England country, love grows up between Miss Hudson and Fonda.

Only one thing menaces that love, mysteriously, and that is the occasional appearance of Edward Trevor, their suave and worldly next-door neighbor.

As the picture approaches its climax the reason for this becomes apparent. Gossip reveals that Miss Hudson had been the victim of an unfortunate love affair, and that Trevor had wronged her.

Following a stormy scene in the Simpson household, Miss Hudson attempts to flee over the icy river, is caught in the breaking of the ice jam.

In the heroic scenes that follow and that bring the story to its happy close, "Way Down East" reveals one of the most moving and suspenseful climaxes which have ever been brought to the screen.

Winfield Sheehan, producer of "Country Fair," and "The Farmer Takes a Wife," produced this new picture of the rustic scene, which was directed by Henry King.

In the supporting cast of "Way Down East" are Slim Summerville, Andy Devine and Margaret Hamilton.

Trail Of Dinosaur In Construction

AUSTIN, Tex.—A trail made 50 millions years ago by a prehistoric, three-toed dinosaur wading in the tidal flats of what was then a gulf covering half of Texas is being reconstructed at the University of Texas.

The trail—the longest of dinosaur tracks known—shows plainly 17 footprints of the monster. The trail was found in Cowhouse creek in Hamilton County.

Other dinosaur tracks were discovered in the vicinity, but none equaled the find of Cowhouse creek in scientific importance.

The footprints, extending 7 feet along the bed of the creek had been made by the 25-foot animal as it took steps five feet in length while searching for food.

Dr. G. B. Stenzel, geologist, said the tracks left by its feet were preserved for scientists of the 20th century.

W. S. Strain, field man for the division of geology for the University, supervised the work of quarrying out the footprints. The stones have been shipped to Austin, and 11 of the 17 tracks will be exhibited at the University this summer in connection with the Texas Centennial Exposition.

While embers glowed the reconstruction started Before the flames had reached the telephone switchboard in the little Arkansas town—before the swirling wall of smoke had driven operators from their posts—plans for rebuilding the fire-doomed office were under way. At a great warehouse in a distant city, men were loading a new switchboard, new telephone cable, new office equipment, into express cars. Nearer to the spot, cable splicers and workmen skilled in telephone construction were being taken from their jobs and rushed toward the office about to be destroyed by fire. While embers still glowed in the fire-twisted skeleton of the old office, the work of reconstruction was under way. One advantage of the Bell System's far-flung organization is this: When disaster flattens the telephone system, men and money and materials are instantly available for the prompt repair of the damage.
